BLUE RIBBONS FOR GOVERNOR

EXTENSIVE EXHIBIT AT WEST
MICHIGAN FAIR.

Warner's Cheese Factory Products in Front Rank.

"One of the most interesting exhibits at the fair this year," says the Grand Rapids Press of Sept. 22, "was the cheese exhibit made by Governor Fred M. Warner."

"The governor brought thirteen cheeses out of the seventeen shown in the dairy department and the people were yesterday given a practical test of his delicious products. The governor stood in the state pure food exhibit and deftly carved and served samples of rich cheese, passing it out to hundreds of reaching hands."

Mr. Warner is one of the most extensive cheese manufacturers in the country. Besides his factory at Farmington, Mich., where he resides, he has nine other cheese factories in the state. His products are in the highest grade found in the markets and always command the top of the market prices.

Inspector Helmer Rabld of the state dairy and food department speaks in the highest terms of Mr. Warner's products and considers him one of the most progressive cheese makers in the country. The governor captured two first premiums, the judges awarding him the highest score, 87 1/2 on Warner's Michigan cheese, and 84 1/2 on the cheddar sample.

Almost a Fatal "Joke."

What very narrowly escaped being a fatal accident occurred on Rogers street early Sunday evening as the result of a thoughtless prank on the part of a party of our well known young men. The boys had picked up an old milk-wagon top and after carrying it a ways they placed it lengthwise on the sidewalk on the west side of Rogers street and left it there. A short time afterward Wm. Isham, who works on the Ed. Starkweather farm was returning there from town, riding a wheel along the walk at full speed and ran into the obstruction. He was frightfully wounded on the head, the scalp being nearly torn off. He was picked up unconscious and remained so for some time after his head had been sewn up by Drs. Burgess and Burgess, and it was first thought very doubtful whether he could live. It is now believed, that he will recover if no new complications ensue.

Took All the Premiums.

Governor Warner was the whole cheese at the fair Thursday. If that doesn't seem an elegant way to put it, try this: Governor Warner's cheese was the whole thing. The cheese exhibited by the governor took all the prizes there were to be taken, and this brought forth another one of the governor's genial smiles when he went around to take a look at the dairy department. He was accompanied on his trip of inspection by quite a number of politicians and prominent local men. —Grand Rapids Press

Suburban News.

Genesee county is experiencing a shortage in the fall crop of school-ma'ams.

The Oakland county W. C. T. U. celebrates its 25th anniversary at South Lyon October 19 and 20. Unlike some of its members, the organization is not afraid to have its age put on record.

The Orion Review has an exhibition a corn stalk 12 1/2 feet long which that paper intimates is a fair sample of the crop out that way. It's a pretty husky story and great shocks will result when it comes to the ears of the Review's friends.

A Pontiac autograph-fiend has just succeeded in securing the "sig" of Japanese Minister Kogoro Takahira, by sending that gentleman a letter and a poem. Possibly the poetry was so bad that the name was fired at the author in self defense.

Wm. Vannocker of Fenton knows how it feels to be struck by lightning as he had that experience during a recent storm. Both legs and one arm were temporarily paralyzed and Mr. Vannocker had no knowledge that electricity is a harder knocker than he is.

A recent operation for appendicitis on a Trenton youth revealed the fact that he had some time before perpetrated the pleasant little joke of swallowing a couple of carpet tacks just to be funny. The two hard tacks were a too hard tax for the internal revenue department of even a Trentonite.

The Oxford Leader is issued a day earlier this week so that the entire force could go to North Branch today to help "root" for the local ball team at the fair. Another instance of the way the average village newspaper is always ready to boom the industries of its town at any sacrifice of time, space or personal feelings.

A terrible accident happened to the Farmington Enterprise last week by which that paper was obliged to appear in public without its "middle." However, in these days of remarkable surgical and other achievement the "art preservative" is always up with the procession so the "patient" was only subjected to the internal vacancy for one week.

Plymouth Presbyterian ladies will go the ten-cent supper business one better this evening and serve a seven cent supper following a seven cent entertainment and a seven cent box sale. The entertainment and the boxes may not be worth any more than the price asked, but according to the menu given the supper would cost at least a quarter at a restaurant. Competition is the life of trade.

A Power show was held in Birmingham last week and the competitors for the premiums were the pupils of the public schools of the village, while the prizes were offered by the local women's club. Birmingham has the reputation of being one of the prettiest villages in Michigan, and some of the reasons are not far to seek. Even Grover Cleveland would be obliged to acknowledge that there are places where women's clubs are not altogether a delusion and a snare.

Services will be held as usual Sunday morning, but on account of the disarranged condition of the building the Sunday evening service will be omitted.

The interior of our church is being improved by having the woodwork handsomely grained and a new carpet is being made for the auditorium. The church is also to be repainted on the outside.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., SEPT. 29, 1905.

Why Not Northville?

While so many Michigan villages are suggesting themselves as ideal places for the location of the proposed new state tuberculosis hospital it seems to the Record as if exactly the right place could be found in our own pretty "Switzerland of Wayne county." We certainly seem to possess all the necessary requirements. We have the altitude to secure the freshest of fresh air, we have the purest of pure water in unlimited quantities, we have transportation facilities and easy accessibility from all directions, are surrounded by an agricultural and fruit district of the finest, besides many other inducements that might be enumerated. If some public spirited citizen or citizens could arrange to offer a building site on some of our surrounding hills we might possibly be able to secure a state institution that would mean a good deal for the future of our village and its business and property interests.

Dr. Christian Vs Mr. Ward.

Reference is made to the article published in the Record of Sept. 15, 1905, about Dr. Christian and Mr. Ward. The article was published in the Record of Sept. 15, 1905, about Dr. Christian and Mr. Ward. The article was published in the Record of Sept. 15, 1905, about Dr. Christian and Mr. Ward.

The above remark is in answer to the rather strong reply of Rep. Ward, Chairman of the Legislative Ways and Means committee, to Dr. Christian's criticism of the legislature in regard to the matter of appropriations for the I. M. A. It seems to the Record that the Gazette should go a little farther and explain in what right Dr. Ward or President an employee of the state should take the position of critic upon the action of the state legislature, the supreme authority that created his office and made possible his incumbency of the same. It is a case of poor taste, to say the least, leaving out the other phases of the question.

STORKS DEALT OUT JUSTICE.

Evidently Formal Proceedings Ended in Death of Culprit. In Germany where storks abound, they are in the habit of collecting in one spot before migrating in autumn. On one of these occasions an observer, who had concealed himself so as to watch their departure, saw that something important was on hand. About fifty storks had assembled, and suddenly a ring was formed—one bird in the center showing every sign of being in great terror. One of the storks then appeared to address the party by clapping its wings for some minutes. Then all the storks began to clap their wings, and with a sudden rush fell upon the culprit, and with a general thrashing of their long beaks, quickly put him to death. When this was done, they flew away to the south in their usual manner.

The "Towers of Silence."

Sir George Birdwood says this fine phrase, which gives their only halo of spiritual suggestion and serenity to the lugubrious "towers" on which Parsee bodies are cremated was coined by Mr. Robert Xavier Murphy. He had originally come out to Bombay as a master, under the auspices of the Native Education society, but became temporarily editor of the Bombay Gazette. "Towers of Silence" was first used by him. Touching the hearts of his readers, it was once "caught on," and not only Englishmen, but Frenchmen, Germans and Italians, and all Europeans, indeed, now always denominate the dhakmas of the Parsis, "Towers of Silence."

Oldtime Beggars of London. In the year 1700 John Cary had this to say about London and its beggars. "He that walks the streets and observes the faubues used by the beggars to make themselves seem objects of charity must conclude that they take more pains than an honest man doth at his trade. Beggary is now become an art of mystery, to which children are brought up from their cradles. Anything that may move compassion is made a livelihood a sore leg or arm, or, for want thereof, a pretended age."

Water Course Through Overhoses. Some fifty cars, 20 in the town of Grand Rapids, there lived a man who was blessed with the remarkable name of Hateevil Colson. Whether the name had proved too much of a weight for the man is not known, but the general impression of Hateevil's brilliancy seems to have been confirmed by the following story of him.

One day he was found seated on his steps, a new pair of overhoses in his lap while he was industriously engaged in cutting large holes in the heels of a neighbor, passing became interested in the operation and inquired the reason.

"Why," said Hateevil, "so when the water runs in it can run out again."

His Biting Secret. My nephew, Horace, who recently graduated from the law academy, came out with a new and more powerful and considerable law case than he took in with him, and the old codger, with even more of his usual acidity, "announced that he will marry the girl of his choice despite all opposition. If the announcement kindly remain seated we will not have the pleasure of hearing from the young lady."—Puck.

THE ACCENT IN JULY.

Change From Proper Pronunciation Comparatively Recent.

How we came to pronounce July as we do now with the accent on the second syllable is one of the unsolved mysteries of speech. Named, of course, after Julius Caesar, it should really be pronounced to rhyme with "duly," and so our forefathers actually did pronounce it. Spenser, for instance, has the line, "Then came hot July boiling like fire," and even so late as Johnson's time the accent was still on the "Ju." It is one of those many words which would startle those ancestors of ours spoken as we speak their now. "Bacony," for example, used to rhyme with "pony," as it ought to do, in accordance with the Italian origin; and, although Swift once threw the accent on the "ba," it was not regularly done until about eighty years ago. The change to the modern pronunciation made Samuel Rogers "sick," he declared—London Chronicle.

TRANSLATOR OF OMAR KHAYYAM

Edward Fitzgerald's Appearance as Described by Biographer.

A recent biographer of Edward Fitzgerald, of Omar Khayyam fame, describes him as follows: "He appeared a tall, dreamy-looking man, blue-eyed, with large, sensitive lips and a melancholy expression; his face, tanned with exposure to the sun, moving his head as he walked with a remote, almost a haughty, air, as though he guarded his own secret; strong and active from much exercise, yet irresolute in all his movements; with straggling gray hair, and slovenly in dress, wearing an ancient, battered, black-banded, shiny-edged tall hat, round which he would in windy weather tie a handkerchief to keep it in its place; his clothes of baggy blue cloth, as though he were a seafarer, his trousers short and his shoes low, exhibiting a length of white or gray stockings. With an untarted shirt-front, high, crumpled stand up collar, a big black silk tie in a careless bow; in cold weather trailing a green and black plaid shawl; in hot weather even walking barefoot with his boots slung to a stick. He never carried an umbrella except in the heaviest rain."

THINK OF IT!

This Pretty Matron Had Headache and Backache, and Her Condition Was Serious.

PE-RU-NA CURED.

MRS. M. BRICKNER.

99 Eleventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

"A short time ago I found my condition very serious. I had headaches, pains in the back, and frequent dizzy spells which grew worse every month. I tried two remedies before Peruna, and was discouraged when I took the first dose, but my courage soon returned. In less than two months my health was restored."—Mrs. M. Brickner.

The reason of so many failures to cure cases similar to the above is the fact that diseases peculiar to the female sex are not commonly recognized as being caused by catarrh.

Catarrh of one organ is exactly the same as catarrh of any other organ. What will cure catarrh of the head will also cure catarrh of the pelvic organs. Peruna cures these cases simply because it cures the catarrh.

If you have catarrh write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Dragging Down Pains

are a symptom of the most serious trouble which can attack a woman, viz: falling of the womb. With this, generally, comes irregular and painful periods, weakening drains, backache, headache, nervousness, dizziness, irritability, tired feeling, etc. The cure is that wonderful, curative, vegetable extract, which exerts such a marvelous, strengthening influence, on all female organs. Cardui relieves pain and regulates the menses. It is a sure and permanent cure for all female complaints.

"I SUFFERED AWFUL PAIN in my womb and ovaries," writes Mrs. Naomi Baker, of Webster Grove, Mo., "also in my right and left sides, and my menses were very painful and irregular. Since taking Cardui I feel like a new woman and do not suffer as I did. It is the best medicine I ever took."

NORTHVILLE.

The City in Brief.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. King Allen, Sept. 13, a son.

Mark Willis is in Detroit working at his trade as a tailor.

Mrs. Will Predmore has been quite seriously sick this week.

George Rattenbury has been in very poor health for several weeks past.

The library rooms were subjected to a thorough "house cleaning" last week.

Mrs. Hubbard and family have moved back to Northside from Beal town.

Hiram Holmes, who has been very sick with typhoid fever, is now somewhat better.

Wilbur Harrington is again canvassing for holiday books for a Chicago house.

Will Carson has been very sick with appendicitis in the U.S. hospital at Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. McFarlin, formerly of this village are now at Alhambra, California.

Original (?) jokes about the ice man's exit and the coal man's in-lings are now in order.

A new cement walk has been laid along the west side of the Yerkes-Cohen block this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shafer are moving from Grace avenue to the Sinclair house on High street.

All officers of the L. O. T. M. M. are requested to be present at the next regular meeting to practice for work.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Ford of Plymouth entertained one night last week in honor of Mr. Alfred Fry of this place.

A private dancing party in the rink on Thursday evening opened the "terpichorean" season in Northville.

"Dan" McPherson of Milford, a former Northville resident, was married last week to Mrs. Lottie Marshall of that place.

Christian Science service Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock in library hall. Subject: "Are Sin, Disease and Death real?" All are cordially invited.

The lawsuit Saturday between Leonard Charter, Jr., and John Morse before Justice Gurr was decided by the jury in favor of the former.

Neighbor South Lyon's new co-operative creamery is nearly ready for business, and the machinery is expected to begin humming the first of next month.

The first meeting for the season of the Northville Woman's club is to be held this Friday afternoon in the library at two o'clock. The club has quite a large increase in membership this year.

The regular meeting of the King's Daughters is to be held next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Miss Harriett Skinner's. Members are requested to bring luncheon and to come prepared to sing.

T. G. Richardson, L. M. Stark, weather and J. E. Moore were appointed by Governor Warner as delegates to the Farmers' National Congress in Richmond, Va., last week but none of them attended.

It has been suggested that while the state hospital tuberculosis board is considering the many proposed sites for the state consumption sanitarium it wouldn't be a bad plan for Northville to get in the game as a candidate for the location.

The "Record" peaches so far are a pretty "little" pair brought to this office by James Chase, who picked them from one of his four-year-old trees. One measured 8 1/2 inches and the other 9 inches the largest way round (the peaches, not the tree).

Governor Warner was chased home from the Western Michigan fairs last week by a mild attack of tonsillitis, but kept right on being busy to such an extent that the disease failed to locate him with any thing like the severity reported by the Detroit Dailies.

Mr. and Mrs. Orr Webster leave tomorrow for Pennsylvania, where the former has accepted a good position in the employ of the Fish commission of that state. Mr. and Mrs. Webster are among Northville's most estimable young people and their departure from their home village will cause widespread regret, although everyone will rejoice in whatever success may come to them in their new location.

Remember the Millinery Opening at Mrs. F. V. Coates' Oct. 3, 5 and 7.

Tomorrow, Saturday, Sept. 30, is Memory Day, the day set apart by the state government for the cleaning up and beautifying of the resting places of the dead.

Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners will come rather closer together than usual this year as the last Thursday in November is the very last day in that month.

Carl, a little son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Van Valkenburg, fell and broke his arm Wednesday while at play. About a year ago the child broke the same arm just below where the present fracture is.

Lyceum Theater—Detroit.

It will be interesting to watch the aftermath of dissolution of the theatrical team of Ward & Vokes, and the progress of the separate tours of these popular players. Hap Ward will be the first to be seen in "The Grafters" at the Lyceum next week. The company is one of fifty people and contains many well known players, beside a large chorus of singing boys and girls. Everything is brand new and the production promised to please the eye, the investment of scenery and costume being most pretentious. The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

Whitney's Opera House—Detroit.

A melodrama of western life by Lincoln J. Carter, "The Hunting Arrow," will be seen at the Whitney next week. The story relates the adventures of a young chief of the Arapahoe tribe, "White Eagle," who has recently returned to his tribal home from an eastern college. Like most of the race, when he returns from civilization he dons the costume of his ancestors and once more to outward appearances is a savage. He falls in love with a Colonel's daughter, who in return loves him, and the trials that fall to these two young people form the plot of the play. Many of the dresses are striking examples of Indian art. The council fire and ghost dance was staged by old Chief Red Flash an Indian noted for many years on the plains as a close friend and companion of Sitting Bull. Matinees daily except on Wednesday.

FINDING OF ROSETTA STONE.

Priceless Gem Once in the Possession of the French.

In the summer of 1793 Alexandria fell into Napoleon's hands, and he set to work to make the coast secure. One August day, in 1793, it chanced that one of his engineer officers, Andre Bousard was directing the digging operations for a new fort between the town of Rosetta and the sea, when the picks of the sappers struck a black slab of basalt, 45 inches long, which was observed to be covered with three different styles of writing, of which the last was obviously Greek. When this stone was carried up the Nile to Cairo, and shown to Napoleon and his savants, the value of it was recognized at a glance. While it lay in readiness to be conveyed to Paris, a British force made its way to Egypt, laid siege to Alexandria, and captured the city in 1801. In the treaty of capitulation the victors insisted upon the delivery of all the monuments collected, and among them the slab, which was known as the Rosetta stone. This had been chosen by the vanquished Gen. Menou as his own, and was carefully wrapped in cloth and matted at his house in Alexandria. Either one Gav Turner was sent by his chief with a detachment of men who carted it away, amid the jeers of the French officers, and put it aboard a frigate, whereon the colonel conveyed it with care to the Thames. Thus one March day in 1803 the relic reached London—it is to-day one of the priceless gems of the British museum.

GOOD WORK OF SCIENTISTS.

Immense Sums Saved Through Bureau of Entomology.

Great sums are saved for the agriculturists of this country by the efforts of the government bureau of entomology toward the extermination of insect pests. The cotton worm before it was studied and the method of controlling it by the use of arsenicals was made common knowledge, levied in bad years a tax of $30,000,000 on the cotton crop. The prevention of less from the Hessian fly, due to the knowledge of proper seasons for planting wheat, and other direct and cultural methods, results in the saving of wheat to the farm value of from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 annually. Careful statistics show that the damage from the codling moth to the apple is limited two-thirds by the adoption of control, representing a saving of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 in the value. The rotation of corn with oats or other crops saves the corn crop from the attacks of the root worm to the extent of perhaps $100,000,000 annually in the chief corn producing regions of the Mississippi valley. The cultural system of controlling the boll weevil saves the farmers of Texas many millions of dollars.

How to Destroy Moths

Make a mixture of gasoline and one-fourth as much wood alcohol, in which has been dissolved as much corrosive sublimate (bichloride of mercury) as it will hold. Inject this with a syringe into the cracks of a wall and floor and spray "infected" furniture with it behind and under upholstered seats, etc. Take one room at a time, being careful to have no fire or artificial light about, and shut the room up closely for eight hours. The process may have to be repeated once a month for perhaps three months if the infestation be grievous, but if faithfully done it is sure death to all vermin.

CAL-CURA FREE

IF IT DOES NOT CURE.

So uniformly successful is Cal-cura Solvent, Dr. David Kennedy's latest and best in curing kidney disease, as well as ordinary rheumatism, that we feel there is no risk to us in offering to pay for the medicine ourselves should it fail to cure.

Cal-cura Solvent's wonderful power to cure diseases of the kidneys, and under the happy result of the efforts of that skilled physician and surgeon, Dr. David Kennedy, to make a medicine that would dissolve and expel from the system stone, gravel, uric acid, etc., was Cal-cura Solvent, not only cures the disease, but also removes all irritating causes. It is not a patent medicine, it is a prescription used in the private practice of Dr. Kennedy, with the greatest of success.

Whatever risk there may be in allowing you to run the water over a Cal-cura Solvent, the only guaranteed cure for diseases of the kidneys, bladder and liver. A. C. Rogers, St. Paul, Minn., and other cities.

Might Have Had Serious Results.

Before now bad writing has been the occasion of whimsical mistakes—awkward ones, too, at times, as was nearly the case a short while back, when, on Mr. Justice Grantham discharging a soldier who had been on trial for manslaughter, he remarked that his difficulty in arriving at this decision had been removed by a careful re-reading of the accusations, when he had discovered that the prisoner, instead of being a man of bad character, was in reality of good record, the word "good" having been so accidentally written as to look like "bad"—London Telegraph.

A big strapping fellow, fully six feet tall, was brought to the jail last Tuesday evening by Supervisor Leavenworth and Dr. Holcomb of Novi. He gives his name as John Brown, no residence. When discovered he was eating hay in a barn in Novi. He seemed to relish the fodder and had made a large hole in the mow. Down on all fours he munched at the hay in a style that would do credit to a half starved horse. How long he had been in eating it no one can quite explain.

The Fall and Winter Hats will be on exhibition at Mrs. G. Tatham's, Northville, October 5, 6 and 7.

and just how long he had been in the barn is not known. The house on the farm is unoccupied. His shoes were at once a diligent search of the premises failed to find them. It is believed that he ate them. When first brought into the jail his only desire seemed to get away from the company of other people. He is probably demented. Sheriff Greer placed him behind extra heavy iron bars in one of the cells of solid masonry in the basement and is now in a quandary as to what to do with him. He has dark unkempt hair, brown eyes and a wart stands out prominently between the bridge of the nose and the right eyebrow. Pontiac Gazette.

REAL STONES WITHIN FALSE.

Customs Commissioner Tells of One Shrewd Smuggling Trick.

One of the best stories of diamond smuggling is told by Commissioner Toole.

Never have I heard a better story than this, which came to me on the authority of a veracious young man, an agent of the commissioner. "It is a fact," said the young man, "that certain large importers of precious stones in this country have in their hands certain manufacturers of imitation jewels in Europe, that they get the manufacturers to put a diamond or other gem of great value in each of the paste diamonds intended for export to this country and then that the fabulously valuable stones come in duty free, as no one but the importer has any right or authority to break up the fake gems of paste in the quest for the real gems upon which great sums could be collected in custom house duties. Of course the climax of this fine story is that the importers simply take their hammers when the consignments arrive, and by breaking up the paste gems get at the real ones, which roll out from their prisons in the paste and are sold by the importers at a profit that soon makes them financially rich."

Frakish Notions

If a dish towel falls from the hand to the floor you are sure to have company at dinner that night. This applies to the cool, the mistress of the house and the hubbub who helps his wife wash the dishes. When you wind the cuckoo clock be sure to pull the chain on the right first. Don't wind your watch at bedtime, as 999 men in 1000 have a habit of doing wind when you rise in the morning and start out fresh with it. When keys rust in your pocket it is a sign of low vitality—or salt atmosphere—or perspiration. Don't turn on your toes, it is a sign you are dead.—New York Press.

Magnificent Indian Building.

A curious instance of the magnificence of eastern ideas and admiration for things that are large is the grain "golah," to be seen at Bankipur, in Bengal, India. It was built as a granary in 1783, but never used as such. Its walls are of masonry twelve feet in thickness and it stands about ninety feet high, with a circumference of forty-three feet at the base, and would contain about 130,000 tons of grain. Access to the interior is obtained by a staircase on the outside leading to a platform on the top, where there is a stone placed in the center which can be removed. Now it is perhaps, the finest whispering gallery in the world.
