NATION'S DEAD AGAIN HONORED

TRIBUTES OF WORDS AND FLOWERS MEMORIAL DAY.

Patriotic Exercises By School on Friday.

Once more has the day of the nation's honors to the nation's dead come and passed, and once again have the people gathered together all over our great land to offer loving tribute to the memory of the thousands who sleep under the sod above which waves the red, white and blue, or beneath the ocean surges that guard the outermost portals of an undivided prosperous union.

All over the country the fast-thinking ranks of the veterans who are left have marched, though with slower step than of old, to the cemeteries, and with solemn ceremonial have led there the flowers that show the appreciation of the living for the services of the dead, and as usual the patriotic citizens of Northville and vicinity have had their part in the observance of the day set apart for this purpose.

On Friday afternoon the pupils of the school, under direction of their teachers, gave a very pretty program of patriotic songs and recitations in the Methodist church, the commander of the G. A. R. making brief remarks at the close of the exercises. On Sunday evening the union memorial service in the Presbyterian church was not held as intended, on account of the pouring rain and the uncertainty as to whether the accident to the electric lighting service would be repaired in time. The service will be held next Sunday evening instead.

Wednesday afternoon a large audience assembled in Princess park, to join with the G. A. R. in doing honor to their comrades gone before.

After preliminary exercises appropriate to the occasion the orator of the day, J. S. Pineson agent of O. A. Jones of Detroit a veteran of the civil war who gave an aim to the service of this country was introduced, and proceeded to entertain the audience in his well known, (the manner, giving a talk which proved to be instructive, reminiscent and pathetic by turns, and the frequent applause with which his remarks were received testified to the appreciation of his hearers. At the close of the address the veterans marched to the cemeteries, led by the Northville concert band, and the final ceremonies of the day were observed and the graves of the soldiers decorated with the flowers arranged, for the purpose, by the Woman's Relief Corps, the latter organization carrying out at the bridge the beautiful rite of scattering flowers on the water in memory of the soldier-sailor dead.

The visits to the outlying cemeteries had to be omitted on account of the rain in the forenoon.

VOTERS ATTENTION BEING CALLED

SECOND DISTRICT CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE GETTING VOTERS OUT.

Five Important Questions of interest to Voters of Wayne County.

The Second District Congressional committee is sending out circulars urging upon enrolled voters the importance of getting out to the primaries on June 12 and vote "Yes" upon the question of Congressional nomination by direct vote.

The committee also calls attention to a number of other important questions to be voted on at that time.

Following is the circular prepared for Wayne county.

The Second District Republican Congressional Committee desires to call the attention of the enrolled voters of this county to the importance of going to the Polls on June 12 next and vote upon the several questions which will be presented to them and in which they are certainly interested. The people are apparently desirous for the adoption of Primary Nominations for Governor, Lieut.-Governor and Congressman, and this can only be brought about by the presence of every voter so interested being at the Polls on June 12.

On that date you will Vote Your Choice for Nominee for Governor and Lieut.-Governor.

You will also be Required to vote "YES" or "NO" upon the Following Questions:

Shall the Governor and Lieut.-Governor Continue to be Nominated by Direct (Primary) Vote?

Shall the Congressman from this Second District be Nominated by a Direct (Primary) Vote?

In addition to this you will be called upon to Vote for Delegates to the County Convention to be held on June 18 which is to Elect Delegates to the State Convention which Nominates State Officers.

This Committee believes the interests of this District can be best served by the Nomination of Congressman direct by the people, instead of by Conventions as in the past, and to that end urges upon all enrolled Republicans the importance of going to the polls on the above date (June 12) and voting "YES" upon that question.

Remember, after these questions are once settled this Primary Work will not have to be gone over again.

Again we say it is not only important that you yourself attend but you should urge your neighbors to go with you.

A Kensington farmer plowed, fitted and planted to corn thirty acres of ground in twelve days. He deserves to be raised to the rank of kernel.

The Birmingham improvement society doesn't stop with making improvements on the outside. The society held a very successful food sale last week.

Oxford people will have to worry along without any band concerts this summer unless they import the music from somewhere else, as their local band has disbanded. It's a great blow.

The fact that Orion claims to be a particularly healthy summer resort makes it seem rather queer that two bran new doctors have just opened offices there. Maybe it won't be so healthful a place hereafter.

A carload of bees in hives shipped into Birmingham the other day made things very lively for the freight handlers. Some of the unfortunate men looked awfully swell that day, and they said things that weren't spelled with b's. Next time such a cargo as that comes to Birmingham the railroad employees will let it be.

Plymouth's council has passed an ordinance requiring the painting of all telephones, telegraph, electric light or trolley poles within the village limits a grass green ten feet up and pure white the rest of the way, and keep so Good paint is also specified. Looks like collusion with some painter or brush artists or manufacturer of "climbers" or sunblin.

One of the questions discussed at a recent meeting of a farmers' club over in Oakland county was "Resolved that a man should never be required to put down carpets in housecleaning." Of course not. It should be done by means of special tacks.

According to the Review an Orion resident has "recently purchased a fine bull pup" and has named it "Teddy". Seems 'sif it would be kind of embarrassing to a young canine like that to be considered important enough to have his name in the paper. Might make him conceited.

A learned professor of Smith College who was an Ann Arbor graduate twenty-eight years ago, has resigned her position because the college has accepted Carnegie and Rockefeller money "Taint" to be wondered at. The lady has been studying the heavens so long that to consider the soul or system of sordid creatures like money kings seems like an awful em-er-cent. She probably considers em-er-cent steel klags spelled with an a.

The new steel steamer, Michigan, which was launched Saturday in the Ecorse yards of the Great Lakes Engineering works for the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., was christened by Miss Edessa Warner, daughter of Gov. Warner. In her other arm she holds a handsome cluster of American beauty roses—Detroit News.

PENINSULAR MEN AND THINGS

PORT HURON PUPILS WERE ALL COOL AMID GREAT DANGERS.

SCHOOL BUILDING BURNS

Made Their Escape Without Injury of Panic, All Their Belongings Were Destroyed.

A New School Building.

The Port Huron High school building was destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon, nothing but the bare walls, basement and first story floors remaining. The fire started shortly after 2 o'clock, supposedly in the waste paper chute, a shaft about 3 1/2 feet, running from the basement to the attic, and spread with such rapidity that scholars on the third and fourth floors were forced to make their exit by the fire escapes.

In the excitement of the moment no fire alarm was sounded, but fortunately the smell of smoke was noticed so quickly by the teaching staff that everybody was gotten out of the building without a single mishap.

Most of the pupils lost their books and many their wraps and bags. The building was an old one, valued at about $40,000, and the loss, less salvage, is about $25,000 with an insurance of $20,750.

As there has been considerable agitation for a new high school building, the necessity for which has for some time been very apparent, the salvage will not be worth full value, as undoubtedly the walls will be torn down to make room for a new structure. The new building will cost about $100,000.

The behavior of some of the pupils when the fire was noticed was almost heroic. Though no fire drill has been held in the building for five years and with no arranged system of alarms, certain of the fellows showed themselves equal to the emergency. Stationing themselves at the doorways they forced the big boys to stand back and let the girls and smaller boys seek safety first.

The pupils in Mrs. Nauman's recitation room in the northeast corner of the third floor were especially hard pressed. They had no knowledge of the fire until the smoke burst into the room. Passing through an adjoining room in which the flames had just about burst out, they reached the stairway only to find that that way shut off by the flames and were forced to return through the burning room to reach the exits. Not a girl boy made it was an undivided gift of the elements.

Lower Insurance Rates.

The insurance rate on all policies of the State Mutual fire insurance company in this city has been lowered several per cent since it was raised last year.

It will prove interesting to read the report of the public demand for lower rates in this state. The company's losses in 1905 were one of the most prospective for the insurance companies in this state. With scarcely an exception the rates throughout the union are inflated to this extent. Low loss ratios prevailed everywhere.

Michigan with a loss ratio of 29 per cent the lowest in its history contrasted her full share to the favorable experience of the companies.

One year ago the attention of the companies was directed to the low loss ratio of the state for the preceding three years and the statement made that this situation warrants a due consideration on the part of the insurance companies of their duty to treat the insuring public with such fairness that the equities may be fully preserved.

As the result of this favorable experience and the competition due to the constantly increasing number of companies bidding for business, material reductions in rates have been made within the past six months.

Pumpmen To Be Called Out.

At a meeting of the executive board of the Michigan District Union of Workers of America it was decided to call out all pump men from the mines. This action will probably be taken in the near future although the executive date has not yet been decided on.

The question has been put to Pres. McNeill but it is given out that it is assured that the pump men will be called out.

Action was also taken relative to the Consumers Coal Co. This organization is sinking a shaft a few miles out of Saginaw, and is not paying the regular wages specified by the union by the order of the last district convention.

Wreck of the Mabel Wilson.

Buttered by a fierce storm that swept Lake Erie early Monday, the schooner Mabel Wilson of Detroit, sprang a leak and sank just outside the Cleveland breakwater. One sailor whose name was not learned was drowned. Seven other members of the crew were rescued after a hard fight, three of them being taken off by the tug Lark and four by the life-saving crew.

Capt. Gordon and Miss Gibson of the schooner were saved by a while being taken from the sinking vessel. They were taken to the marine hospital.

Since May 1 the Marquette county treasurer has issued permits to 124 saloonkeepers and in addition permits to seven wholesalers. The receipts have been $4,000, a record in this respect made in any year in the past five.

Edward Gruber, the young jeweler of Newberry who was accidentally shot by his fiancée, Miss Elizabeth Hall of Dollarville, while teaching her to shoot at a mark, died suddenly on Friday. He had been improving rapidly, until suddenly his heart failed and he expired. Miss Hall is in a state of nervous prostration.

MICHIGAN NEWS.

New Trial Granted.

Mrs. Carrie Collins, the Shiawassee county woman now serving in the Detroit house of correction a life sentence for the murder of George Leachman, has been granted a new trial by the supreme court. Two judges, Grant and Montgomery, dissented. The prevailing opinion is by Judge Ostrander. The case is a famous one. Mrs. Collins was convicted of killing her husband by administering arsenic. At the time of his death it was supposed he died of natural causes, the diagnosis of physicians being that his ailment was pneumonia. He was under a doctor's care ten days and a post mortem showed a diseased condition of the lungs. On the trial that a nephew of Mrs. Collins, a boy named Ira Wright, had died about four months before Leachman's death, and suspicion was cast during the trial that he had been poisoned. Error in admitting this testimony controlled the court in reversing the case. Mrs. Collins is remanded to the custody of the Shiawassee sheriff.

Death Was Instant.

Playing with other children in the playground before a school building near Rose City last Friday afternoon, Orville, the 3-year-old son of James Ingram, was struck by a bolt of lightning and instantly killed. An indescribable scene of confusion and terror ensued. The storm had not been violent, and the children had been running about in the light rain without thought of discomfort, much less of danger. A terrific thunder clap and a blinding flash was their first warning. Then the little Ingram boy was seen stretched out on the ground. Nearby lay a tin dinner pail ripped to pieces by the electric shock. It is thought that the pail is what attracted the lightning to this boy while others nearby escaped.

Traffic in Babies.

Traffic in babies was discovered in a gypsy camp in Muskegon Sunday. A white child, evidently stolen, was offered for sale in a house to gypsies and other babies. The party of 30 gypsies had been camping in the woods a short distance east of Muskegon for several days. They were here ostensibly to tell fortunes, but at many homes a ban, under 2 years of age was offered for sale for prices ranging from $5 to $100 according to the apparent circumstances of the prospective purchaser.

At other homes gypsy babies, some of them not more than 5 months old were offered for sale. They were asked for the white child.

Peculiar Poisoning.

The cause of death of Joseph St. John, a laborer in the west of Saginaw, is a mystery. On condition of a post mortem examination was made. An autopsy was held at the city hospital. The cause of death was found to be a peculiar poisoning. The patient had been in the habit of drinking a certain beverage which was found to contain a poisonous substance. The cause of the poisoning is still a mystery.

Horse and Bull Team.

An unusual runaway occurred in Camden, Mich. A team of four horses and a bull, owned by a farmer who hauls milk to the local cheese factory, drove into town with a team made up of one horse and one young fall-bred Durham bull. The bull became frightened and the team ran away, colliding with a large tree at the intersection of Bell and Main streets. Besides breaking the harness in several places little damage was done. Mr. Wigent uses the same team on his farm for all kinds of work.

Fireman Electrocuted.

Fred D. Austin, aged 34, a fireman in the central station here, was electrocuted this morning while at work with Chief Rose repairing a wire at the corner of Kearsley and East streets. Austin's body was burned on both shoulders, where two primary wires of a trolley of 2 1/2 volts touched his body. He leaves a widow and three young children, one but 7 months old. His parents reside in Detroit. He had been a member of the fire department for six years.

An Aged Suicide.

Lewis Barrence, aged 72, hanged himself in the orchard of his son a law, William Tillman, living near Dearborn, with whom he made his home. Mr. and Mrs. Tillman were away from home and the body was discovered by a 15-year-old son, who quickly cut the rope and called Dr. H. L. Burdette. The man to which the old man tied his rope was but four feet from the ground and he had to assume a sitting posture to effect strangulation.

Both Burned.

Orley Kizer, a farmer was heating a quantity of lard and tupperware on a gasoline stove, when the contents of the kettle caught fire. Kizer caught it up to throw it out of doors but collided with his wife, who was coming into the room. The two were covered with the blazing fluid and Mrs. Kizer was probably fatally burned. Kizer was also badly burned.

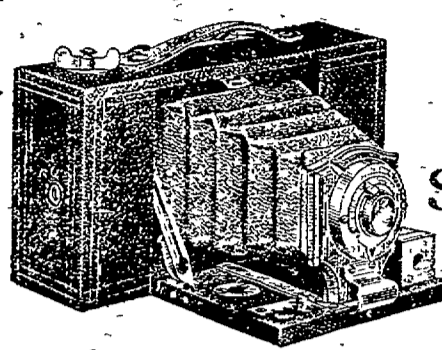

Midland is having a fund to secure new industries. Several thousand dollars have already been pledged.

Steps have been taken in New York for the formation of a national committee for the purpose of establishing a memorial to the late Carl Schurz.

The Onoko hotel at Berrien Springs is burned to the ground. It was one of the oldest buildings in Berrien county, and was moved to Berrien Springs from the deserted village of Bertrand in 1833.

J. A. Phillips, a Jackson butcher, is confined in a darkened room at his home, with a bandage over his eyes and some prospects that he may be blind. Phillips was struck in the eye by a flying piece of bone.

In the valleys of the Grand, Gunnison, North Fork and Roaring Fork Rivers and in the San Luis and Uncompaghe Valleys, of Colorado, and the Farmington district of New Mexico, farming, stockraising and fruit growing are carried on in a way that is a revelation to the farmer in the east.

For those who desire to make new homes, there is no other region that offers better advantages than western Colorado—a land of blue skies and sunshine, with a temperate and even climate, where the earth yields abundantly, but to be tilled and watered in order to verify "blossom as the rose." There is a great deal of latitude in the term "risque" and I am inclined to think it has geographical limitations. While you Americans regard the French people as the extreme, we are looking upon Americans as decidedly not risque—but more so.

James Edmund Scripps. In the death of Ex Senator James E. Scripps, the veteran publisher of the Detroit News, as his home in Detroit Tuesday, May 29, the journalistic world lost one of its most prominent figures and Michigan one of the most successful newspaper men the state has ever had.

His business career is one of the most striking examples possible of what can be done for unlimited success in life by means of ability, pluck, energy and perseverance.

And with all his material success he found time for the mental culture and research that made his personality so interesting and agreeable and himself an authority on all the subjects that go to make up the intellectual life.

County Conventions As Usual. In some counties it appears not to be fully understood that county conventions are to be held as usual for the election of delegates to the republican state convention.

Don't Want Endorsements. The desire of the candidates for state offices, from Governor to the last candidate on the ticket, to avoid complication through the coming state campaign with individual ambitions in the direction of United States senator, seems to meet the approval of most of the people in all sections of the state.

Twenty Thousand Saved. Twenty thousand dollars will be saved to the state treasury through Governor Warner's approval of the recommendation of the state military board, to have the next encampment of the Michigan troops held with the troops of the regular army near Indianapolis.

Mrs M Brock entertained a party of young ladies Wednesday afternoon in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Miss Edna Sterling. About thirty guests were present, and a very pleasant time was enjoyed.

The Methodist church people were certainly in luck. The Ladies Aid raised enough money to buy the paint and some unknown person or persons were kind enough to pay the painters for brushing it over the parsonage.

Several Northville and vicinity residents are planning to attend the thirty second annual session of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical society at Lansing next week Wednesday and Thursday, June 6 and 7.

A very interesting program has been arranged and everybody in Michigan is invited to attend.

Oel B Moore has presented the Northville High school with a fifteen volume set of Chambers' Encyclopedia. Mr Moore acknowledges that he hadn't yet learned all there is in the book himself, but thought he would put them where they would do "the greatest good to the greatest number."

The commander and members of A. M. Harmon Post G. A. R. feel very grateful to all who assisted them in the observance of Decoration day—those who solicited and those who contributed funds, the clergymen, the W. R. U., the teachers and pupils of the school, all who furnished flowers and any others who helped in any manner.

An electric light "famine" struck Northville Saturday night for the first time since the installment of the plant nearly six and a half years ago, but fortunately the trouble was remedied before Sunday night by the efficiency of Electrician Sam Wilkin, son who knew just how to go to work to fix things. The shutoff was caused by the burning out of an armature coil and it was at first thought another would have to be sent for before the light factory could be started again, which would have made things dark for several nights.

George Stanier is driving around with the swiftest harness in town, one of Catermole & Dart's best special made-to-order outfits that "can't be beat."

The Northville Foresters will observe Memorial day by attending service (in a body) held in the Baptist church Sunday, June 3. Meet at hall at 9:30 standard.

An unintentional error, the Record last week referred to the cement home being built by the American Bell & Foundry Co as belonging to the Globe Co.

Members of the L. O. T. M. M. will meet at Mrs C. A. McCullough's Saturday afternoon, June 3, to prepare flowers to decorate the graves of deceased members, which will take place Sunday afternoon.

The accident at the lighting plant Saturday brought out the resources in the lamp line in full force. Everybody had lights this time, however, and all the business places were more or less well illuminated.

Once more there are prospects of a good factory for Northville but it will require something besides talk to build it. A number of Northville people who are plenty able to do so are very shy about investing in industries for Northville though they would be quite ready to help reap the benefits.

As expected, the home talent play last night was a great success. The attendance was large and the "company" proved itself an "all star" aggregation, the various members doing so well that it would be an injustice to the others to mention any particular one without speaking of all, which time and space will not permit.

Rev W H Gelston of Kalamazoo, brother of a former Northville pastor, has sued a New York life and accident insurance company for $10,000 damages because of the company's refusal to pay an insurance of $5,000 on the life of the former's son, a young physician who died last December. The policy was made in favor of the father.

Miss Hazel Perkins, who recited the beautiful poem "Sheridan's Ride," so nicely at the school exercises in the Methodist church Friday, won that honor in a contest participated in by the pupils in the seventh grade. The teacher, Miss Williams, had promised a reward to the member of the class who should learn and recite the poem in the best manner, the contestants not knowing what the reward was to be until after the decision was made as to who did the work best.

The little daughter who came to the home of Mr and Mrs Louis Hutton Jr last week is rather peculiarly situated as to her birthday. By standard time she was born May 2; and by sun time her natal day was May 24. The little lady will have to settle the question for herself perhaps, when she is old enough. If she finds that she likes her birthday pretty well she may decide to have both.

Whitney's Opera house—Detroit.

The Holden Stock company will be at the Whitney next week. For the opening bill they have the strong Western play, "Nobody's Claim" one of the best and most popular melodramas ever produced. The action takes place in the Rocky Mountains, and the story deals with the life of a young government officer sent to rid the country of a band of outlaws.

The play abounds with startling situations. There are several specialties introduced during the piece.

Matinees daily except Wednesday.

Lyceum Theater—Detroit.

"When We Were Twenty one" will be the fourth week's attraction of Vaughan Glaser and Company at the Lyceum Theatre. It is in this three act comedy that Mr. Glaser has scored one of his greatest successes.

Comedy and pathos have seldom been so delicately blended and the characters have personalities of far more than ordinary interest. The play is moral without being preachy and worldly without being wicked. It will be given under the personal direction of Mr. Glaser.

The INVISIBLES

A NOVEL BY EDGAR EARL CHRISTOPHER

COPYRIGHT, 1926, BY THE SAUNDERS PUBLISHING COMPANY

I was amazed at the enormity of Valdemere's reasoning, of its scope, the nature of which I had not properly estimated. I was relieved to know that this strange man was not the governing power that dominated the Order of The Invisible Hand.

Valdemere paused as we reached the edge of the cave.

As we moved we had passed beyond the white lights of the great pillar, and now descended to the bank of an underground river. I could hear the waters as they tumbled through the rocky crevices of the cavern, and when we drew nearer, I was amazed at the width of the stream.

On the opposite bank, a stone wall, almost perpendicular, rose to a great height, and near its summit a ledge of stone jutted out, and cast a dark shadow over the waters below.

"This," he said, "has ever been a mystery to our Order. I flow into the Tennessee, its waters falling and rising like other rivers and yet we cannot penetrate its source. It feeds the Tennessee, but is not affected by that river. It overflows its banks in the Spring and causes the rise of the Tennessee. We know where it goes, but we cannot discover whence it comes, though Coron, our founder, has spent many years in exploring these marvelous caverns."

"Are you not afraid that it will, at some time, submerge the cave and destroy our treasure?" I asked, in some concern.

"Such a thing is possible, but not probable, as the highest water mark for the last twenty years has not reached the face of the cave entrance, which is built, not lower than the floor of the cave, but higher than any of the rock above it."

As I looked toward the cave, a long rope ladder swung from the ceiling of the cavern, and I saw that it was made of a material which I had never seen before.

"What is that?" I asked.

"It is made of a material which we call 'phosphorescent cement.' It is a mixture of powdered rock, and is so prepared that it glows in the dark, and is so strong that it can support a man's weight."

"I have never seen anything like it before," I said.

"It is a discovery of our Order, and is one of our greatest secrets. It is so prepared that it will last for centuries, and is so strong that it can support a man's weight."

thousand warriors, as though they had just been commanded to halt.

"What in the name of hell, are these?" I cried, clutching at the arm of my companion.

"They are a small fragment of an ancient race of people, as I have told you in a former conversation."

"And are these the catacombs, of which you spoke?"

The same," said Valdemere, "but there is a question, whether or not these gigantic warriors are the lost race of Mound Builders, or a portion of a tribe of Indians, who were driven out of this land by another hostile race from the West, who in their turn were dispossessed by the whites, now occupying the country. The Indians of whom I speak," continued Valdemere, "were called the Moon-eyed Indians, because they could see only by night, and they were driven out of the country by the Cherokees, the last race that lived here previous to the whites, and who were finally left homeless by their continual concessions to the former, combined with the hostile attitude of Georgia."

"Did Coron discover by what means their bodies have been so wonderfully preserved?"

"Yes, the corpses were covered with a transparent cement, which caused them to petrify, and in this means, they became a part of the rock upon which they stand. You will perceive that the only irregularity that is visible is the shape of their feet, which seem to have melted into the rocks. This is supposed to have been accomplished by pouring the cement upon the bodies in position."

"What is this cement composed of?"

"Of the rocks themselves, which are powdered and afterwards reduced to a fluid by some process which even Coron and Gershon could not discover. Of course there must be other ingredients than the powdered rock, possessing great powers of absorption and transparency."

"I saw from these specimens that there were no small men among them."

"No, they were evidently a race of giants."

"Are there no women among them?"

No, for that I can see. I have tried to find out, but there were no other specimens. I have seen only the men, and I have seen them in various positions, as if they were engaged in some work."

of these caverns be recorded and given to the scientific world, what a stir it would create—how many theories it would destroy—how many wild speculations it would turn into ridicule! The man who could recite a history of these passages to an institution of learning—such institutions are numerous—would soon find himself decorated with medals, for I find no record of the race whose tombs we have left behind in the annals of the so-called scientific researches of any age.

"When you have completed this journey I am sure that you will say that Victor Denéau is now on his last trail," and Valdemere's eyes were again filled with that mysterious fire——that inscrutable light which was reflected from a soul too deep to fathom.

"Ah!" I cried. "I can see his trail end, even at the threshold of his clue."

"I believe as you do," said Valdemere, as he again turned his eyes upon me, "but, still, I feel a strange presentiment that he will yet cause us trouble, an idea that I cannot dismiss, though I know not its strength, for even should he discover our retreat."

The Phosphorescent Chamber.

he could scarcely effect an entrance, and should he enter, there would be the hope of his emerging from these vast caverns alive, as there are many, many passages leading in all directions. He might wander for days and yet not discover either our treasure or other valuable evidence. Thus he might die where he not hurried to death, as swallowed up by some vast abyss. Still I have a fear of that man, and had I not been sure of our resources I would have killed him long ago."

THE PACKERS ARE ALARMED

LAEOR COMMISSIONER NEILL CONFIRMS SINCLAIR'S 'JUNGLE' PACKERS ARE STARTLED

The Holding of the Report Depends on the Action of Congress on Meat Inspection Bill.

Wait if Suppressed.

President Roosevelt has the report of Labor Commissioner Charles P. Neill, on the condition of Chicago packing houses, reduced to concrete form, but is withholding it for the present. It is thought no consideration for the meat packers, however, who would suffer if the facts contained in the report are made known.

The packers are endeavoring to defeat the inspection rider attached to the agricultural bill. If they succeed Senator Carter says for the president: Mr. Roosevelt will be then constrained to make the report public and let everyone know what abuses exist in packing houses.

The beef trust is frantic. It's moving heaven and earth to prevent the publication of the report. And there is good reason for the report confirms some of the worst charges made by Upton Sinclair in "The Jungle."

Meanwhile Upton Sinclair has written to President Roosevelt begging him not to allow any considerations to stand in the way of publishing the findings. "When the people of the United States are fully acquainted with the conditions in the packing houses," he said, "public opinion will take care of any remedial legislation which may be needed."

Things that would horrify the public if known are done there as a matter of regular routine and under an established system. Adolph Smith, who has made a lifelong study of slaughter houses, said the Chicago stockyards were worthy of medieval barbarism and were a disgrace to American civilization.

One of the greatest evils of the present inspection system is that inspectors have no authority to enter the parts of the packing houses where the by-products are prepared. It is in these parts, the canning, pickling, and mixing and preserving departments, that some of the most complex and dangerous work is done. The work has now from them was over.

The meat was working a pump with a motor. Attached to the pump was a motor and a shaft which was a belt drive. It would run for a while and then stop. The pump was a centrifugal pump and was used for pumping water into the tanks.

BILLIONS.

The Foreign Commerce of the United States Breaks All Records.

The foreign commerce of the United States in April, 1926, was larger than that of the corresponding month of any earlier year, consisting of $107,000,000 in imports and $251,000,000 in exports, a total of a billion dollars in a single month.

In only one previous April in the history of our export trade has the total of our imports and exports reached as much as $200,000,000. The total commerce of the United States for the ten months ending with April is over $2,500,000,000, and should the monthly average for May and June be as great as that for the ten months for which the record is made, the total for the fiscal year 1926 will exceed $3,000,000,000.

CONDENSED NEWS.

The examination of the books and accounts of John R. Walsh, of Chicago, under bonds for misappropriating national bank funds, involves three banks, and many railroad companies, and it is thought that he had made threats against the president, Robert R. Lewis, a Hawaiian, has been sent to St. Elizabeth's insane asylum.

A Serpent in Eden.

It was only after several months' estrangement and his solemn assurance never again to dabble in explosives, that I consented to become reconciled to Jipson. No one can justly accuse me of an unforgiving or malice-bearing disposition, but really that foggy affair so shattered my nerves and faith in the inventor's actual sanity that it took all the tact and persuasions of our respective wives to reestablish amicable relations between us. The two ladies have long been on affectionately intimate terms, but with Jipson and me at loggerheads the customary frequent exchange of hospitalities necessarily received a check, in fact, I don't mind admitting that I was not altogether uninfluenced by this aspect of the regrettable squabble. Jipson's wines are really unexceptionable, and his cook a treasure.

For some time after the restoration of peace, I was, of course, very much on my guard; but as the weeks enghenred into months, and Jipson never even mentioned the void in vention I was gradually lulled into a feeling of pleasing security, and actually began to congratulate myself that he had taken the last severe lesson to heart, and perhaps altogether abandoned his foolish, expensive and fruitless experiments.

I was strengthened in this belief by the keen interest he appeared to have suddenly developed in garden work. Now I am not a little proud of my own knowledge of this subject and the modest acre of ground at "The Willows" is my pet hobby, my lawn and flowers the delight of my heart, and the envy and admiration of the whole neighborhood. I therefore rejoiced greatly at Jipson's newly awakened interest in matters horticultural for therein, I hoped to lay the way to his salvation.

For some years, it has been my custom to give a garden party in mid-June, when the majority of my flower are at their best. Usually, too, I take a brief holiday just before the event in order to help my man put everything into apple pie order. Great was my annoyance therefore at the unexpected protraction of a business visit to Scotland, which detained me in the north until a couple of days before the date of what had promised to prove the most successful of our enjoyable al fresco gatherings.

It was too dark to see how the garden looked when I finally returned home, but my wife's replies to my anxious inquiries were far from reassuring. Everything, it appeared, had gone well up to that very morning, when quite suddenly the lawn had begun to look

IN CONSTANT AGONY.

A West Virginian's Awful Distress Through Kidney Troubles. W. L. Jackson, merchant of Parkersburg, W. Va., says: "Driving about in bad weather brought kidney troubles on me, and I suffered twenty years with sharp, cramping pains in the back and urinary disorders. I often had to get up a dozen times at night to urinate. Retention set in, and I was obliged to use the catheter. I took to my bed, and the doctors falling to help, began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The urine soon came freely again, and the pain gradually disappeared. I have been cured eight years, and though over 70, am as active as a boy."

ALMOST A-CATASTROPHE.

Excuberance of Love Spasmodically Manifested Results in Mortification.

She was seated in the gloaming, a happy smile on her pretty, pensive face; when her elderly aunt entered. Then, as she looked upon the kind old face, a feeling rushed upon her that she must share her wonderful news with somebody—she must tell someone into the secret which till then had been the sole possession of herself and Harold. She sprang up and flung her arms about her aunt's neck. "Oh, auntie," she cried impulsively, "you do love me, don't you? Kiss me, auntie, and tell me you do—kiss me!" But only an alarming grimace came from the old lady for a moment. Then she said, gasping indignantly: "Kiss you, if you can't be careful! I'll shake the life out of you. You've nearly made me swallow my teeth!"

TORTURED WITH ECZEMA.

Tremendous Itching Over Whole Body—Scatched Until Bled—Wonderful Cure by Cuticura.

"Last year I suffered with a tremendous itching on my back which grew worse and worse, until it spread over the whole body, and only my face and hands were free. For four months or so I suffered torments, and I had to scratch, scratch, scratch, until I bled! At night when I went to bed things got worse, and I had at times to get up and scratch my body all over, until I was as sore as could be, and until I suffered excruciating pain. They told me that I was suffering from eczema. Then I made up my mind that I would use the Cuticura Remedies. I read them carefully, and very soon indeed I was greatly relieved. I continued until well, and now I am ready to recommend the Cuticura Remedies to any one. Mrs. Mary H. Haver, Sweetwater, Okla., June 25, 1915."

The Marriage of Muggsy

By W. H. ALBURN

(Copyright, by Josepa B. Bowles)

"So it happened that Muggsy and Mary Ann—the waitress became engaged. Muggsy was to borrow some money from a friend, and get a job, and be married."

Now, it is hard for a burglarious loafer to get a job. It is harder still for him to borrow money. But after five days of tramping the streets and visiting mills and factories, and striking old friends intermittently for pecuniary aid, he obtained the promise of work in a foundry, to begin the following Monday, and a former "pal" lent him $10 to begin housekeeping with. So he was to be married on Sunday.

It was Saturday night, and Mary Ann's fiance was strolling through the streets, reamless and happy. To-morrow he would be married. It seemed impossible, and yet there could be no doubt of it.

Muggsy found himself staring vacantly into a shop window. The shop was closed, for it was late, and the lights in the windows were dim. There were three gilded balls over the door. Then Muggsy's gaze fell upon a tray of rings in the window, and he started. The awful truth flashed upon him. When people get married they use wedding rings!—And he had forgotten the ring!

There was an old shoe lying in the street. In a moment he had seized the shoe, rested it on the glass above the crack, inserted his left elbow in the shoe, closed his fist and struck it a powerful blow with his right hand.

He took only one ring; once he would have taken the whole tray. He was triumphant, but he was in danger. He ran quickly down the street to a passageway he knew of, leading to an alley and thence to another street, where he would be safe.

But suddenly a blue uniform loomed up, and an excited voice ordered the fugitive to stop. A pistol shot added force to the command. Muggsy was frightened. He darted into the passageway, the patrolman after him in full chase. A fence had been built there since last he came that way, and he was cornered.

Muggsy was a man of peace. The game was up, and he surrendered. When the patrolman searched him at the police station he still had the ring. It went into an envelope marked "L. X. 1111 A."

There was a life dicker in police court on Monday morning. An endless line of drunks shuffled out of the room, but one man stood nervously expectant before the judge, where the man in the blue uniform, O'Rourke, dispensed fines and imprisonment for the protection of society.

"Well, well," ejaculated his honor, with a broad grin. "Not very cheerful this morning, Muggsy. What is it, my boy?"

"Jurying and fineing, your honor—at is old trial—finished a jewelry window and copped a ring—a wedding ring too. The court officer smiled indulgently and the prosecuting attorney inspected the ring, while the clerk read the affidavit and the spectators craned forward with interest for the prisoner had many acquaintances present.

The proof was too easy. The prosecutor frowned, and held up the ring for the inspection of the court.

"Why didn't you take the rest?" he asked. "This ain't worth much, and there was a whole trayful."

"I didn't need any more," muttered Muggsy.

"Didn't need any more?" repeated the prosecutor, while the court attaches and police reporters showed signs of interest. "Then you confess to the theft?" he shrewdly added.

WHY CHAMPAGNE IS HIGH.

Trouble Involved in the Making Makes the Wine Worth Its Price.

From egg-nogg the talk drifted to champagne. "It's worth the money," said the bartender, "considering the trouble it takes to make it."

First there's the blending of the grape juice. Three parts of black to one of white grape juice are blended with tremendous care. Expert, high-priced fasters do this work.

"Then the liquid is put in casks and refined—a long and difficult process. Next it is bottled and placed in a warm room to ferment. While fermenting it must be watched daily. At a certain stage in the fermentation, no sooner and no later, it goes to a deep, cool vat underground, and there it lies 18 months in a temperature that never varies one degree.

"Now the bottles are placed in racks and turned five times a day for three weeks to bring up the sediment. When the sediment has all mounted to the neck of the bottles, they are opened and the sediment is allowed to shoot out.

"Even now the champagne is not done. It is raw at this stage. To it a liqueur of brandy and sugar must be added—four per cent of liquor for the driest brands, 15 or 20 per cent for the sweet ones."

"Altogether, a bottle of champagne goes through 200 different operations and consumes in its perfecting 2 1/2 years of time. And still it is often kept two or three years longer in the vaults maturing."

TELEPHONE TIDINGS.

Glasgow corporation owns a telephone system covering 143 square miles.

The charge for five minutes' conversation between London and Brussels is four shillings. Guernsey was the first place to have a municipally-owned telephone service in the United Kingdom.

The first submarine telephone line was opened on April 1, 1891. It connected London with Paris.

The London telephone area, which covers 600 square miles, is the largest local exchange area in the world. London Wall exchange contains 3,500 direct telephone lines for subscribers. They are worked by 90 operators.

There are 60 national telephone exchanges in the metropolitan area, and a dozen belonging to the post office. Three hundred people telephone daily from London to Paris, each paying eight shillings for the privilege.

The post office telephone plant in London has a capacity for 40,000 subscribers, but in 1914 only 15,292 used the service.

To speak for three minutes from London to Inverness cost five shillings sixpence, and from London to Cork six shillings sixpence.

Cast Off Garments of Students Distributed Through Charitable System.

Every spring there occurs at Harvard college a curious convention of the old clothes, as it might be called at which the castoff garments of hundreds of college undergraduates meet and mingle for the last time before starting out on an odd and practical philanthropy.

The affair is conducted by an undergraduate organization known as the student Volunteer association. It is in the way of clothing is included, underwear, suits, even in occasionally dress coats, stockings with all the various articles that cling to college students, and, plan and they want to get rid of them, they turn them over to the collection.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL.

DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions regarding her private life, even when these questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female diseases.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise such women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen of Manning, Ia. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that I have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote you a telling you how I felt, I had suffered for over two years, steady and spasmodic nervous headaches, but I had failed to do any good. I had female troubles and I had had fainting spells, backache, bearing-down pains and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and I received a letter full of instructions just what to do and also a parcel that the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I could have been in my grave to day."

Mountains' proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring woman's health.

CHEAPER FARM LAND

Southwest Offers Best Opportunities for Securing Homes.

Many farmers in the Northern and Eastern states are selling their high priced lands and locating in the Southwest. Many who have been unable to own their homes in the older country are buying land in the new country.

Unusual opportunities exist along the lines of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain Route. The rich, alluvial, delta lands and river bottom lands of Southwest Missouri, Eastern Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, capable of producing 60 bushels of corn, a bale of cotton, 4 to 6 tons of alfalfa, 150 bushels of potatoes, and other grains, vegetables and hay crops, can be bought for $7.50 and $15.00 per acre. When cleared and slightly improved will rent for $4.00 to $6.00 per acre cash.

Uplands more rolling, lighter soil, adapted to fruit growing—peaches, pears, plums, grapes, berries—also melons, tomatoes and other vegetables, can be bought for $5.00 to $10.00 per acre in unimproved state. Many places with small clearings and some improvements can be bought very cheap.

This is a fine stock country. No long winter feeding. Free range, pure water, mild climate. A healthy, growing country, with a great future.

Over in France, says What to Eat, there has been discovered what is called the oyster cure for nervousness. It consists in eating all the oysters a person can consume to the exclusion of other foods until the cure is effected. The theory is that in nervous disorders an excessive amount of phosphorus is eliminated from the system. This loss can be compensated by taking food containing a large amount of phosphorus. It is said a patient taking this cure can eat oysters fresh from the sea at the rate of about six dozen a day.
