TOWNSEND COMMITTEE

IT WAS RE-ORGANIZED FOR THE 1906 CAMPAIGN.

Will Use Its Efforts to Again Re-elect Him to Congress.

The Second District Republican Congressional committee met last week at the Griswold House, Detroit, and organized for the coming two years. Except in cases of resignations, the old committee was re-appointed. The new committee is made up as follows:

Jackson County, Wm. M. Palmer, secretary, Charles Lewis, and L. Whitney Watkins, Washtenaw County, Frank S. Newton, treasurer, George Burkhardt and Frank Glazier, Wayne County, Frank S. Neal, chairman, Monroe County, Charles E. Kirby, Lenawee County, Thomas A. Dailey, Jacob N. Sampson and John D. Shull.

Congressman Townsend was present and addressed the meeting on various phases of the campaign, congratulating the committee on the large success which has attended the past efforts. He thanked every member personally for their loyal, arduous and unselfish work in promoting the success of the Republican ticket and especially the success of his own candidacy. On the subject he said that whatever advancement may come to him in the future, it will be due to the friendship of the people in the Second congressional district, who gave him an opportunity to make a little record in Washington. If the people had not been thus kind he could have done nothing and therefore the credit belongs to his good friends in the Second district.

Regarding the present campaign he said that while there is constant call on him to make speeches this fall in all parts of Michigan, he will devote two weeks of his time to this district. He will also be able to get popular speakers to come here during the campaign. If the voters want to hear them.

Regarding the senatorial contest

WEDDED WEDNESDAY EVENING WILL GO TO SOUTH AMERICA

A pretty wedding occurred Wednesday at 6:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Dandison, their eldest daughter, Susie H., becoming the wife of Mr. William M. Maurs, of Port Huron, in the presence of about fifty guests, with Rev. Robert Collins of North Baptist church as the officiating clergyman.

The bridal gown was of white mousseline de soie over pink and one of its accessories was a beautiful and valuable hand-made silk lace collar, brought from Paraguay by the groom as a bridal gift as was also the bride's Parisian, which she purchased in Buenos Ayres.

The house was prettily decorated in pink and green.

After a brief visit to Detroit and Flint the young couple will start on a very unusual and interesting wedding journey, going to South America for a six months' stay, where Mr. Maurs represents for his second season the Port Huron Engine & Thresher Co. with which he has been a trusted employe for four years past.

The bride, who has been for some time a correspondent of this paper was graduated from the Northville High school in 1902, since which time she has been engaged in teaching, being employed in one school three out of the four years.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurs were the recipients of numerous and handsome gifts.

Guests were present from Detroit, Kalamazoo, Milan, Pontiac and Commerce, besides those from the vicinity.

After their return from South America, Mr. and Mrs. Maurs will make their home in Port Huron.

The Record extends congratulations and best wishes.

he said it had been charged that he made a campaign in Wayne county for members of the legislature but it was not true. He did absolutely nothing in Wayne county and never asked a person to work in his interest. Whatever had been done was purely voluntary so far as he was concerned and some of the candidates for the legislature were really strangers to him.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, John S. Hagerty invited the whole committee to enjoy a river ride on his fine private yacht, the "J. S. H." and it was accepted by ten of the members, whom Mr. Hagerty took aboard at the foot of Woodward Ave. and the dainty yacht sped away down the river to Shore Acres, on the Canadian shore, where the whole party enjoyed a fine banquet at the hotel, as guests of Newton & Hagerty, returning to Detroit in the evening. It was a delightful trip.—Adrian Times

Nearly Even on Measles.
An English journal notes the curiously even sex distribution of measles in twenty years at Aberdeen. There were 28,287 males and 29,057 females.

Don't forget the date of Mrs. G. Johnson's Millinery display.

See all the new styles in Fall and Winter Millinery at Mrs. Coates' next week, Oct. 1, 2 and 3.

Trade in Human Hair.
The hair bar is a profitable one. The tons are annually imported by merchants of London. The Parisian market is upward of 200,000 pounds equal in value to $400,000 a year.

Jewel Maladies.
All jewels except diamonds are liable to maladies. Rubies, sapphires and pearls have their separate ailments but diamonds are immune on account of their great hardness. Precious stones are all affected by surrounding conditions.

Asbestos and Aluminum.
The lightest and strongest substances known, so far as we are informed are asbestos and aluminum, each for its purpose.

Forbids Opium Importation.
A law has been enacted forbidding the importation of opium as a narcotic into Australia.

Education in Belgium.
Statistics show that 145,000 children in Belgium—more than 93 per cent of the population—are without any education.

Records All Lost.
There are no records from which one can ascertain the uses of the ounce of drinks.

STORES TO CLOSE.

Commencing Oct. 1 Will Not Be Open Evenings.

Commencing October 1st all the stores in the village, save the bakery and drug stores, will close at 7:00 p. m. standard time until April 1st, 1907, excepting Saturday evenings and the holiday week December 17th to 24th inclusive.

Death of Mrs. John Parmenter.

Mrs. John Parmenter whose illness has been noted from time to time died early Wednesday morning of consumption at her home on Center street. She leaves her husband and mother, Mrs. Francis, and a number of other relatives in this vicinity. The funeral will be held in the home Saturday afternoon, Rev. S. F. Dimmock officiating. The interment will be at Nov.

The Evangelistic Meetings.

The union evangelistic meetings will close on Thursday of next week, Oct. 4 or Sunday Oct. 7. Mrs. Davidson will begin work with the Emanuel Presbyterian church in Detroit.

The afternoon meetings next week will be held in the Methodist church at 2:30 o'clock.

The attendance has been large and interest in the meetings has been general from the first and good results cannot fail to come in many directions. Mr. Davidson has won a most of friends in Northville, not only by his earnestness and devotion to the cause he represents but by his pleasing personality as well.

Cracked Her Wrist.

While going home from church yesterday afternoon, Mrs. P. S. Murdock fell and cracked the bones of her wrist quite badly.

Baptist Church Notes.

(By a Member.)
Usual services Sunday morning. The subject of the sermon will be "The Great Invitation Rejected." On account of the evangelistic services the B. Y. P. U. business meeting, which was to have been held next Wednesday evening will be postponed for a week.

Methodist Church Notes.

(By the Pastor.)
We were pleased to see some of our Plymouth friends in our congregation last Sunday morning.

We are sorry to report that some of our church members are quite ill. We hope and pray for their speedy recovery.

An adjourned meeting of the official board will be held on Saturday evening at 7 in the church chapel. A full attendance desired.

Public worship in the church next Sunday morning. Union revival meetings in the park in the evening. Let there be a large attendance at both services.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

(By the Pastor.)
Rev. E. E. Davidson will preach for us next Sunday morning at 10:30. Let us have a large attendance.

Elder Dubuar has been chosen to represent the church at the meeting of the synod in Detroit Oct. 3-2.

The departure of Mr. Harriett Lidden and Miss Genevieve Clark deprives our Sunday school of two excellent teachers whose services were greatly appreciated.

The ladies are preparing a barrel of clothing, etc. to be sent to a needy mission held before cold weather. Contributors will please bring their offerings to Mrs. Wheeler's or to the church, as soon as possible.

School Notes.

(By a Parent.)
Miss Alice Walsh is teaching the sixth grade this week.

Georgia McFarland, of the fourth grade, has been ill but is back in school now.

Howard and Russel Fuller, of the second grade, who have been ill with whooping cough, are again in school.

Archie Cohen, who has been spending his vacation abroad with his parents, has returned and is attending school.

EVENTS NOTED

THAT ALLEGED ASSAULT WAS ONLY A PIPE DREAM, IT'S SAID.

PENSION FRAUD CHARGE

Bits of News Gathered Here and There About the State That Have a Passing Interest.

Boomer's Dream.

It was a lovely dream that D. A. Boomer, Michigan Central night operator at the Jackson junction, had when he thought of professed to think that he had been assaulted by three hold-up highwaymen just as Lloyd A. Dynes, at Galen, and Harry Armstrong, of Wad's Crossing, had, but alas! his organ is o'er.

Detectives of the Michigan Central reported after a full investigation that Zecmer had tried to work a bluff in order to get a day job.

They say he wasn't assaulted at all and that the crime, which was heard of as a counterpart of the Dynes and Armstrong assaults was but the creation of his fertile mind.

Mr. Boomer has lost his job, even the night one.

Alleged Fraud.

The United States has begun suit to recover $4,000 pension money from Henry Loucks, of Carson City. It is charged that although Loucks enlisted in Co. K, Twenty-first Michigan, he fought his way only as far south as Bowling Green, Ky., and that he deserted and lived in Canada till the close of the war. He applied for a pension in 1880 and convinced the pension officers that the entry 'deserted' against his name was incorrect. He was granted a $5 pension which was later increased, but has now been all together stopped. His $300 farm in Montana county is attached.

For Good Roads.

The returns indicate that the county road system was overwhelmingly endorsed by voters at the Wayne county primaries. Separate ballots were provided for the purpose and it was predicted that this would result in a light vote because of indifference on the part of the public. Contrary to expectation a heavy vote was polled not only in the county, where the question was naturally supposed to assume far greater importance than in Detroit, but in practically every city precinct the returns were comparatively heavy. A conservative estimate indicates that not less than nine votes were cast in favor of the proposition to one against it.

The Plethoric School Fund

Assuming that the semi-annual apportionment of school money in November will be on the basis of $10 for every child of school age on the school census of last year, and counting in the $1 per capita apportionment in May last, the whole sum distributed to the county will be $5,124,024. For the purpose of comparison it is shown that the $5,752,221 or considerably less than one-half the amount of school money to be paid to the county.

A company which has been organized for all the property of the county and the city of Detroit, to determine the recent equalization of property values, has been successful in this regard. The company is the only one whose state tax exceeds the amount of school money to be received.

Some of the best counties apply only to large numbers of children, the company is the most favorable in their case, for insurance. A large number of school money that will return to the state in 1908, and Arizona and Arizac over eight ones.

Eight Hundred Idle.

Hundreds of lives were endangered by the which broke out in the North Keokuk branch of the Osceola Consolidated mine in the eighth level of No. 1 shaft. The alarm was spread by the miners and a mad rush to the shafts connecting with No. 2 to the level. They were then hoisted to the surface. Forty snuffs are sealed a night and a new method of conveying the snuffs is to cut out the supply of air and smother the fire. Near 500 men are crowded out of work.

One Solid Vote.

Charles L. Bartlett, of Flint, is receiving the belated congratulations of his friends on his nomination for representative from the second legislative district of Genesee county at the recent primary election. There was no candidate for this nomination on the Democratic ticket, but it was justly supposed that one vote for Mr. Bartlett was cast and he is therefore the duly chosen nominee of his party for the legislature in his district.

No Poles On Her Farm.

Mrs. Fannie Bookes, of Charleston township, objected to telephone poles being set on her property, and backed up her objections with a shotgun. The telephone gang of thirty men backed down and proceeded with their work farther along the line.

This was last week, and the telephone poles yet remain to be set. Mrs. Bookes still standing on her shotgun argument.

M. B. Sherks shoe store and stock, in Cassville, were damaged $2,900 by fire.

With 134 pupils in the Battle Creek high school, the board has engaged the seventeenth teacher. Part of the Review and Herald building has been secured for school purposes.

Louis Lazette, aged 91, of Monroe, famous for his muskrat feeds and achievements as a hunter and trapper, mourns keenly the death of his wife, Celestine, aged 81, who was buried today from St. Mary's church, where they have worshipped together for over 50 years.

SWEAT BOX.

Smith and Mrs. Swank Given the Third Degree Without Result.

Two Pinkerton detectives, Sheriff Tennant failed to wrest a confession from Smith that he murdered Lloyd A. Dynes, the Galen-telegraph operator, or an admission of guilty knowledge from Mrs. Cordia Swank. Each was sweated for two hours in the county jail. Smith's whereabouts on the night of the murder remain a mystery. He is known to have spent the early part of the evening at the home of a cousin. He is said to have been asleep on a lounge in his cousin's house at 10 o'clock. After that hour nothing is known of where he went. His relatives have not ascribed him so far in establishing an alibi.

Mrs. Swank did not learn of Dynes' murder until between 7 and 8 o'clock on the morning after the night he was killed. It is denied that she became hysterical. A girl who was with her says that she showed no unusual excitement on hearing of the crime. This girl says that she heard Smith make threats against Clyde Swank, being jealous of Mrs. Swank's husband. Mrs. Swank was on friendly terms with Lloyd Dynes.

Needed the Bath.

Muskegon officers brought a wild man into town. He had been in the woods for several weeks. He was scantily clad, long hair matted and filled with filth fell over his shoulders and he had a beard like Father Noah. He was barefooted and his feet were shaped like a tree-climbing animal. He was arraigned in court and sentenced to 30 days in jail as a vagrant. He was comparatively 'tame' through it all up to the time the jailer announced he must take a bath. Then he went wild sure enough. He raved and stormed and the jailer was compelled to tear his clothes off to disrobe him. The sight of water and a porcelain bath tub nearly caused him to faint. Then the jailer had fainting symptoms. The stench caused that. So he went to a grocery store and bought $1 worth of brown sugar, which he burned in the room, while he turned the hose on the wild man and washed the thickest off.

Two Were Killed.

Frank Luner was fatally injured another Hungarian was fatally hurt two others of the same nationality and Frank Bull, an American, are more or less injured as the result of the blowing out of the end of a boiler at the Burt Portland Cement Co's plant just before noon Sunday. Luner's skull was fractured and every inch of his body was scalded. The injured were burned by the steam. The cause of the accident is unknown.

Last Sunday morning Rev. Stevens being absent at conference, the Methodist congregation went to the Baptist church. The pastor, Rev. Musser, was at Davison and had promised to send some one to fill his place.

The hour for service arrived, the church was filled but no minister. Then it was suggested by some of the Baptist people that Mrs. Stevens, wife of the Methodist pastor, be asked to occupy the pulpit. Mrs. Stevens was reluctant about consenting as she had made no preparation. However she spoke for thirty minutes, telling the simple Gospel truths in her earnest manner and all agreed that the pastors might take their vacations if they would leave such a welcome substitute.

Kidney Troubles Attack Northville Men and Women, Old and Young Alike.

Kidney ailments seize young and old alike. Quickly come and bring warning signs.

Children suffer in their early years. Cannot control the kidney secretions. Girls are languid nervous, suffer pain.

Women worry, cannot do daily work. Robust men have lame and aching backs.

Old folks, weak, rheumatic lame. Endure distressing urinary ills. The cure for men, for women, for children, is to cure the cause—the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick and nervous. Cure all the varied forms of kidney suffering.

Northville testimony guarantees every box. Stephen Safford of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Safford and I had many cases of kidney trouble and believing in the old advice that a stitch in time often saves the garment, and that a few doses of medicine often ward off a severe case of sickness, we thought it was best to do something at once and see if Doan's Kidney Pills would cure our troubles. We found them to be just what we needed and from that time we have not had a single case of kidney trouble.

Genuine Thieves.
A man who refuses to pay his debts when he can is a thief at heart.

Woman's Status Raised.
The last century has done much for woman. It has taught the thinking world that woman is more than property, more than a toy, more than a home maker. She is placed on earth to be man's comrade, and his source of highest inspiration—a soul that loves and awakens love—that divine spark which makes the whole world one.

Man's Lack of Chivalry.
From the beginning, the "excess" Adam: "The woman whom thou gavest to me to be with me, she tempted me," has been a favorite one with all mankind. "Chechez la femme" is the old French proverb. There is never a bit of mischief but a petticoat is at the bottom of it," says the old English version of the same maxim.

Neglected Nevada.
A daily paper is responsible for the statement that a single county in Nevada, covering 16,000 square miles, has nowhere within its borders even a mission hall in which the gospel is preached, and yet it has a population of several thousand people.

Not One.
Is there any reason why a man who has to climb into an upper berth in a sleeping car should be compelled to pay the same rate as the man who occupies the comfortable lower berth?—Philadelphia Press

Ancient Enamelled Ornaments.
Enamelled ornaments were among the treasured possessions of the Greeks, Etruscans and Byzantines, and the art was also recognized by ancient nations less cultured.

Edison's method for building houses of concrete seems to be a speculation almost as pitching tents. In a few days he proposes to furnish a residence that will be in complete shape for the carpenter, the paper hanger, the painter and the plumber. Aladdin and his lamp were nowhere beside Mr. Edison. He has only to rub his eyes to produce wonderful results, and it is a great wonder to us that he has not rigged a flying ship.

British and American Cities.
Where London consumes 96,000,000 gallons of water a day, New York consumes 500,000,000. Where London has an area of 118 square miles, New York has 326.

Desert Reclaiming Its Own.
Bokhara, the most populous part of Turkestan, is gradually being changed into a desert by the incursions of the sand dunes.

Fish Staple Japanese Diet.
The Japanese eat more fish than any other people in the world. With them, meat eating is a foreign innovation.

Throat Coughs

A tickling in the throat; hoarseness at times; a deep breath irritates it;—these are features of a throat cough. They're very deceptive and a cough mixture won't cure them. You want something that will heal the inflamed membranes, enrich the blood and tone up the system.

Scott's Emulsion
is just such a remedy. It has wonderful healing and nourishing power. Removes the cause of the cough and the whole system is given new strength and vigor.

TWO MEETINGS
By E. C. GIDLEY

A railway station—filled with a crowd of folk, some laughing, some crying, some pretending—some not—"Goodby, Jim, take care of yourself!" The tall girl gathered her worn cloak closer round her—the lady who held the door handle of the next compartment a first class, was lobbed in sables. "I wish I were coming too!"

"So do I, old lady." A handsome man bent forward on the seat of the third-class carriage, and his hand closed over her slim ungloved fingers with a tender pressure.

His blue eye looked most suspiciously most—but what of that? It is not every one who can afford to be callous.

"It seems such a long time—three years, Jim!" the girl said again, and there was a break in her voice.

"Goodby, Monica, my darling!" A moment later, Monica Ward was standing on an empty platform, with an empty aching heart.

A hand touched her shoulder. "Can I take you anywhere?" a pleasant, sympathetic voice said. It was the lady in furs. "I always think the first few moments are the worst—afterward—"

"Afterward," repeated Monica in dull tones.

"Oh! afterward one gets accustomed to it," replied the other lightly, "and one wonders why one felt so much. Come, will you let me just drop you anywhere?"

And for the next half hour Monica bowed along in the lady's carriage, behind a pair of prancing chestnut horses.

She did not remember till she stood once more in the little room, which looked so desolate now that Jim had gone, that she never found out the name of her friend indeed.

And the days slipped into weeks and the weeks into months and all the while Jim Ward, in a distant country, was trying to court the fortune which had failed to smile on him in England.

Monica Ward sat at the table with the prettiest coloring and gaze in her soft cheeks, and once more on the platform saw her friend.

Was this Jim—the man who once toward her with his face and not his eyes—was a rolling ball and unsteady feet?

She shuddered, her color flushed, her eyes looked so that she could hardly breathe.

After all the other woman had left, she got up and went to the door to see if she had any letters, and she found them there, and she read them.

"My pretty dear," he cried, "I love you, and Monica was just a fool in her hour of weakness when she left you here."

Monica's well-known voice it was. She turned Jim, the real Jim was standing behind her smiling and holding out his hands.

"Monica!" he cried, "such a girl haven't forgotten me!"

And then somehow or another she found herself in his arms sobbing and laughing in one breath out of sheer joy and relief.

"That other man," she cried, "a little incoherently, he was so like you—that I thought it was you, Jim—"

"Monica," returned her husband reproachfully, and that other fellow was drunk. Never mind, darling, supping her hand through his arm, "come home—somebody has come to claim—him—somebody—some poor devil of a somebody."

Monica looked half fearfully across the platform. Not far away stood the man she had mistaken for Jim, standing surrounded by porters, and a small crowd of gapers—a footman was urging, imploring. By his side, bravely facing them all, stood some one whom she recognized as in a dream.

"Afterward, one gets accustomed to it." Ah! she remembered. It was her friend of that black day three years ago whom she had not seen since. What chance—what irony of fate had brought them together again?

Killed in a Prize Fight.
Dicky Meyers, an athletic young man who hails from Detroit, died at the Mercy hospital, in South Buffalo, Sunday morning. A few hours before he was punched on the jaw by Walter Roberson, of Philadelphia, in the ninth round of a prize ring battle to a finish, which was pulled out at Woodlawn Beach.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.
Mrs. Russell, widow of Prof. Israel C. Russell, of the University of Michigan, presented the husband's library to the University. It consists of 3,000 books.

Another tragedy of the great San Francisco fire of April 18 was brought to light through the finding of a score of human bodies in the ruins of a lodging house at Fifth and Minna streets. The lodging house, which was a four-story frame building, was tossed bodily into Minna street in a heap by the earthquake, and immediately took fire.

The foreign commerce of the United States has crossed the three billion-dollar line. In the 12 months ending with August 31 the imports were $1,254,399,755, and the exports $1,759,417,898, a total for the 12 months of $3,013,817,653. These figures are supplied by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor.

Among the Methodist Clergyman assigned to pastorates by the conference at Ishpeming appear the appointments of Rev. W. G. Stephens to Northville, Rev. Howard Goldie to Plymouth, W. Butler to Milford and E. H. Stevens to Walled Lake.

Mrs. G. A. Linham is advertising in this issue her twenty-fourth consecutive millinery opening having been in business in Northville for twelve years. It would be quite interesting to know the number of hats she has supplied to the feminine inhabitants of this part of the country during that period.

An automobile trip being arranged for a congressional, Piquette and Governor W. C. C. through the country part of Wayne county for October 29 to 31. They will make all the villages in the county in the second district with a public meeting at Wyandotte and Plymouth. Some of the county nominees, presentatives and sponsors will accompany the party and two miles will be used.

The American Bag & Luggage Co. a big new addition which is rapidly bearing competition in one of the strikingly gratifying signs of our town's increasing industrial prosperity. The new building is 112 by 10 ft. and when finished will give the company's plant a size equivalent to a structure 100 feet square. The new cupola has a capacity of seven tons per hour, which, with the former one, gives an hourly capacity of ten tons. President Harmon states that the improved plant is expected to be in full operation in three or four weeks which means the enlargement of its force by fifteen or twenty men.

Dr. and Mrs. Turner entertained a hundred or more of their friends in a thoroughly delightful manner Monday evening in celebration of their twentieth wedding anniversary. They were assisted in receiving by Rev. Mr. Holt of Jackson who officiated at their marriage. Mrs. Harry Clarke of Tonawanda, N. Y. and Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Jerome, with R. C. Yerkes as best man. Misses Grace Yerkes, Lida Coldren, Lida Richardson, Anna Jerome and Mrs. C. C. Yerkes assisted in serving the dainty refreshments. The house was artistically decorated with flowers and greenery. A large number of elegant gifts in cut glass, silver, etc. were left with the host and hostess as reminders of the occasion.

I. W. Barnhart is making still more residence improvements in Northville. He has purchased the Walsh property on Main street completed in the brick building formerly used as a carriage house, living rooms and lodge rooms. The building is being converted into a four flat apartment house to be known as "The Irving." The rooms will be very desirable as residences, as they are to have all the modern improvements including bath rooms, etc., besides being centrally and pleasantly located. The frame barn, in the rear of the property will be removed, leaving a lawn court fifty feet square between the new apartments, the library and the Randolph cottage. Mr. Barnhart is certainly a hustler.

Mrs. Louisa Freeman was given a pleasant surprise party Monday at the home of her son, Nelson, in honor of her 50th birthday. Her three sons and their families were present including Newell Freeman of Pontiac. It is unnecessary to say that the day was richly enjoyed by all.

The imperative need for a new school house is becoming more urgent every day and the school board will be obliged soon to call a meeting to get the matter before the public for decision. A coincidence of need and opportunity like the present can never occur again and there should not be one dissenting vote in regard to building while it can be done with practically no addition to the ordinary amount of taxation.

Lyceum Theater—Detroit.

Buster Brown is coming and will frolic around the stage of the Lyceum all next week. When R. F. C. first began drawing the "Buster Brown" sketches he little realized that he was furnishing material for one of the most successful non-comedies of recent years. Of course it is not necessary to say that "Buster" will be there to help Buster out of his numerous escapades and receive his share of cast-ironing. A special feature of the performance is the debut of the Bostonians brought.

Whitney's Opera House—Detroit.

A story of more than passing interest at the present time is "White Lies" being a new melodrama from the pen of Omaha J. Carter. The play centers about the beautiful Pacific city and has to do with the people and incidents following in the wake of the great earthquake and conflagration. Compliments are made by an evil love causing an abduction by Chinese highlanders. At the Whitney all next week. Matinees daily except Wednesday.

Cake the petty sins etc are easily cleaned by boiling. Put them in a saucupan with soap extract and water, boil them for about an hour and they will be found clean and new looking. Soap and soda extract may be used instead of soap extract, if preferred.

When washing a new blanket for the first time wash by soaking for 12 hours in cold water then rinse in clear water. This will remove the sulphur used in the bleaching. After you wash the blanket in lukewarm lather made of boiled soap and water. Rinse well in clear water shake thoroughly and hang out to dry.

For a Tough Steak. To make a tough steak tender spread the steak with olive oil instead of beating it to bruise the fibers, which lets the juice run out into the fire. Let it remain an hour or so before cooking. Broil quickly so that each side will be thoroughly seared, then broil up your broiler so as to be a little farther from the fire, for the slower heating through. That cooks the inside juices without losing them.

Rugs from Old Carpeting. After a house cleaning the housewife is often confronted with a heap of old carpeting. Some may be fairly good, some much worn, some ingratel, and some Brussels, and she is at her wits' ends to know what to do with it.

It is a surprise to many to know that this mass of unsightly material can be made into really beautiful rugs. The weavers understand mixing them in such a way that the most unlikely combinations come out very well.

JEALOUSY OF BOBBIE'S WIFE.

New York Woman's Excuse for Fits of Extravagance.

Women dearly love an excuse for their little extravagances, says the New York Globe. Of course, the masculine readers of this column are not expected to indorse this, for, according to the masculine thought, women need no "excuse" for their extravagances—they just have them without rhyme or reason.

An up-town woman has a charming excuse for any extra indulgence in her two-year-old blue-eyed son Bobbie and Bobbie's future wife. In trust for Bobbie is a handsome estate which gives her great concern because she feels that she must "save and economize" for Bobbie, for Bobbie's college education his European trip, and "oh dear!"

Wearing of a continued spell of economy, in a moment of reckless extravagance she'll buy a lot of dear, delightful things, have her fingers manicured, her hair shampooed, and take fascinating trips here and there.

When her conscience will prick she'll say, "Why not? Bobbie's wife will, and he won't care how much it costs." And Bobbie's wife won't, either. She'll spend joyously and gloriously.

GAME THAT BOBBIE KNEW.

Youngster's Revelations Were Interesting to Caller.

A young fellow had called upon a girl with whose charms he was somewhat smitten and was waiting in the parlor when her small brother came in weeping bitterly. From either a sense of polite precaution or natural kindness of heart the young man had been kind to the little fellow on several occasions and now saw him on his lap and asked the cause of the trouble.

"His sister is mean to me," the little fellow sobbed.

"On I guess she didn't intend to be so mean to you when she was busy," the young man said consolingly. "What was she doing?"

"She was playing an wouldn't let me play, too," Bobby said. "Playing what? The piano? I guess she thought you didn't know how."

"Oh, yes, I know how better she does," Bobby asserted. "She was playing Indian, an wasn't putting half enough paint on her face."

THE WAY OUT

Change of Food Brought Success and Happiness.

An ambitious but delicate girl, after failing to go through school on account of nervousness and hysteria, found in Grape-Nuts the only thing that seemed to build her up and furnish her the peace of health.

"From infancy," she says "I have not been strong. Being ambitious to learn at any cost I finally got to the High School, but soon had to abandon my studies on account of nervous prostration and hysteria.

My food did not agree with me, I grew thin and dependent. I could not enjoy the simplest social affair for I suffered constantly from nervousness in spite of all sorts of medicines.

"This wretched condition continued until I was twenty-five, when I became interested in the letters of those who had cases like mine and who were being cured by eating Grape-Nuts.

"I had little faith, but procured a box and after the first dish I experienced a peculiar satisfied feeling that I had never gained from any ordinary food. I slept and rested better that night and in a few days began to grow stronger.

"I had a new feeling of peace and restfulness. In a few weeks, to my great joy, the headaches and nervousness left me and life became bright and hopeful. I resumed my studies and later taught ten months with ease—of course using Grape-Nuts every day. It is now four years since I began to use Grape-Nuts, I am the mistress of a happy home and the old weakness has never returned."

School for Policemen. There is a policemen's college in St. Petersburg to train applicants for the force. It consists of a museum combined with the school, where the pupils make themselves familiar with the tools of criminals—jammers, drags, chisels and contrivances for robbing collection boxes, a special field of Russian language. The Russian passport systems studied in detail. The duties of the detectives, a sort of assistant police are taught. They keep watch on the residences, report on the habits of tenants, their visitors, examine the papers of new comers, and direct them to report themselves at the police station.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

Burning Off Paint Makes Insurance Void.

It seems that considerable danger to property exists in the practice of burning off old paint before re-painting. The question has long been a subject of debate in the technical journals, and now householders—and the newspapers have begun to discuss it. Those of us who, with trembling, have watched the painters blow a fiery blast from their lamps against our houses, and have looked sadly at the size of our painting bill because of the time wasted on this preliminary work, are interested in the investigation by the Greenfield (Mass.) Gazette and Courier, which gives considerable space to the reasons for the practice, questions its necessity and suggests ways to prevent the risk of burning down one's house in order to get the old paint off. It says:

There is a good deal of discussion among householders as to the desirability of painting houses of burning off the old paint, a practice that has grown very common of late in Greenfield and elsewhere. Insurance men are strongly opposed to this method. It makes void insurance policies for fires caused in this manner. Several houses in Greenfield have gotten into the result of this method, and in some places houses have burned as a result.

It is undoubtedly true that when a house has been painted over and over again these comes to be a very thick layer of paint. If this paint is not removed, it will be found to be very hard to get off, and cheap oil is used to get it off.

The Gazette and Courier quotes an old paragon to the effect that accumulations of paint are unnecessary. These old times talk the blame partly on the painter who fails to brush his part in well, partly on the custom of painting in damp weather or too allowing sufficient time to dry between coats, and partly to the use of adulterated paints instead of old-fashioned linseed oil and pure white lead. The painter says:

Many of the old householders say that if care is taken at all these points it is absolutely unnecessary to have paint burned off. They advise that people who have houses painted should buy their own materials, and to have them put on by the day, so as to be sure to get good lead and oil. Of course the burning off of paint greatly increases the cost of the job.

The trouble householders everywhere have with paint is pretty well summed up by our contemporary, and the causes are about the same everywhere. By far the most frequent cause of the necessity for the dangerous practice of burning off old paint is the use of poor material. The oil should be pure linseed and the white lead should be real white lead. The latter is more often tampered with than the oil. Earthy substances, and pulverized rock and quartz, are frequently used as cheapeners, to the great detriment of the paint.

Painters rarely adulterate white lead themselves and they very seldom use ready prepared paints—the most frequent causes of paint trouble. But they do often buy adulterated white lead because the property owner insists on a low price and the painter has to economize somewhere. The suggestion is therefore a good one that the property owner investigate the subject a little, find out the name of some reliable brand of white lead, and see that the keg is marked with that brand.

The linseed oil is more difficult to be sure of, as it is usually sold in bulk when the quantity is small, but reliable makers of linseed oil can be learned on inquiry, and, if your dealer is reliable, you will get what you want.

Pure white lead and linseed oil are so necessary to good paint that the little trouble necessary to get them well repays the house owner in dollars and cents saved.

Tired, Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

Mrs. Chester Curry Mrs. Chas. F. Brown

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do any thing calmly.

The ills of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently increasing the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?

Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the abdominal region, and between the shoulders; bearing-down pains; nervous dyspepsia and almost continually cross and snappish?

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration. Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.
