HAVE PASSED HALF CENTURY OF WEDDED LIFE IN NORTHVILLE

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT YERKES.

The fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of one of the most highly esteemed couples of this section, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yerkes, occurred Oct. 7 and their golden wedding was celebrated at their pleasant home on Saturday, with about forty guests, immediate relatives and a few of their intimate friends present.

The house was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and golden blossoms and the symbolical color was carried out in the light shades and in the candles of yellow wax with which the dining room was lighted. The bride and groom of fifty years were the recipients of a vast number of flowers, among which was a magnificent bouquet for the bride composed of half a hundred yellow roses. After the congratulations two solos were beautifully sung by Mrs. John B. Tatham.

A pleasant incident was the fact that the big "bride cake" was made by Mrs. Christians Pinkerton from the same recipe by which the same lady had made the original wedding cake fifty years before.

Seventeen of the first wedding guests were present, including Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yerkes who were the attendants at the marriage in 1856.

All Mr. and Mrs. Yerkes' children were with them and four of Mrs. Yerkes' five brothers and sisters. Out of town guests were George B. Yerkes and wife and George Holmes, Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Norton, Esplanade, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Holmes, Owosso and Will H. Yerkes, Seville, O.

It had been intended to make the occasion the gathering together of a large company of friends, but, much to the family's regret it was decided by Mrs. Yerkes' physician that her frail health would not permit. She had assisted in making out the original list herself, but pretty announcement cards had to be sent out instead of invitations to those whom they had hoped to receive in their home at the golden wedding.

Suburban News.

Millford feels awfully big over that new post office building, and we don't blame her.

A "toe social" was a Farmington function this week. The proceeds went toward footing the bills of the German church society.

Orion is such a beautiful place that one of its steepest doctors has announced his intention of leaving the town to its fate as far as his presence and (s-k-l-l) are concerned.

Holly people are now being bothered with a "Jack the Peeper" who "rubbers" into lighted windows at night. The matter will probably turn out to be much ado about nothing, as such affairs usually do.

Conditions in Fenton do not seem to be conducive to general pety as demonstrated by church going. While the good Fentonites are at church, law breaking, Sabbath-breaking, house-breaking, wretches break into their dwellings and appropriate gold watches, money or any valuables accessible and easily negotiable. The local police will have to work on Sundays to keep folks encouraged to go to meetin'.

Forty divorce cases are on the Oakland county court docket for the October term. "Old Oakland" is bound to keep up with the procession in all lines of modern progress.

Names do not always fail to fit the callings of their owners, after all. The pastor of one of the Birmingham churches is constrained to be always trying to live up to his name, which is Good.

"Pumpkin seeds and Love" is the queer title of a play to be given this evening at Newburg. The connection isn't easy to trace but maybe it has something to do with the fact that when folks are successfully in love they always think they are "some punkins" and if turned down feel very seedy and often begin to think of pies n' things.

The Fenton Independent has a novel out wise subscription scheme. Each cent of the money paid on subscriptions to the paper entitles the subscriber to a vote "for the most popular young lady in town" viz $1 gives 100 votes, etc. The lady getting the most votes before Dec. 31 gets a gold watch, so they are all hustling to get their friends to subscribe.

An Oxford man sneezed out his false teeth while in his hay-loft throwing down hay for his horse the other day and the most exhaustive search has failed to locate the molars although every place in the barn has been minutely examined except the interior of the equine. The horse couldn't tell if he chews whether he has two sets of teeth or not and altogether the situation is not a bit pleasant.

Townsend and Kelley in Wayne.

Congressman Townsend and Supt. of Public Instruction P. H. Kelley are to make an automobile trip through this county next week, to meet the people of Mr. Townsend's district and will visit all the towns in the county Friday and Saturday Oct. 19 and 20. Gov. Warner intended to make the trip but found himself unable to arrange for it and so sends his "running mate", Mr. Kelley in his stead.

LOST—One $10 and two $5 bills. The honest finder will be suitably rewarded by returning same to Record office.

The First "Great Unlashed."
Ex Mayor Stewart, of Philadelphia who has been nominated by the Republican convention for governor earned the title of the "great unlashed" long before Gladstone Downie was ever heard of in America. Stewart is a bachelor of precise and rigid habits. His friends declare that "never in his life has he been kissed save by his mother. In his younger days he was sometimes called "Blushing Ned."

Champion Absent-Minded Man.
The champion absent-minded man lives at Balham. On one occasion he called upon his old friend, the family physician. After a chat of a couple of hours the doctor saw him to the door and bade him good night, saying: "Come again. Family all well, I suppose?" "My heavens!" exclaimed the absent-minded beggar, "that reminds me of my errand. My wife is in a fit!"—Puck Me Up.

THE CUBAN SITUATION.

The factional ill feeling that has existed at Cienfuegos since the presidential campaign of 1905 resulting in the death of Congressman Villanueva and Chief of Police Illance, increased during the recent revolution to such an extent that the return of the rebels from the field is causing a dangerous condition which the provisional government considers it highly necessary to end.

The first landing of American soldiers in the present occupation of Cuba was accomplished at Havana with marvelous promptness, and 500 men of the Fifth United States Infantry and 350 men of the Second battalion of engineers are settled under canvas in Camp Columbia.

Now that the disarmament of the revolutionists and the government volunteers is progressing steadily, the thoughtful portions of the public of all nationalities are animatedly discussing the possibility of Cuba's future form of government. The desire for annexation, which has been carefully concealed for the past four years, is now voiced openly, and the wish that the United States retain some measure of actual control in Cuban affairs is heard more insistently than ever.

Although the surrender of guns has not been made compulsory, either by the provisional government or the disarming commission, rebel commanders have all given their followers to understand that it was expected and that the laying down of their arms was a matter of duty. The result of this has been that the number of rifles surrendered is larger, in proportion to the number of men disbanded, than the government expected.

"Hair's getting pretty thin," said the barber, patronizingly.
"Getting kind o' thin on top," remarked the customer.
"Needs a good rubbing up followed by a tonic," suggested the barber.

"I suppose," grunted the victim.
"Made one man's hair come out curly, just by the use of my celebrated tonic. Best in the world."

"Indeed."
"Yes, sir. Made it come out rich and curly. Would you like a little of it right here where the hair is getting thin?"

Nope. I don't like you talk. It's too much like my hair.
"How's that, sir?"

Custom of Shaving Is Old.

The origin of the custom of shaving the face is lost in antiquity. The Greeks and Romans had public shaving places in connection with their baths.

Marriage Statistics.

Of every 1,000 females over 15 years old, 497 are unmarried in Ireland, 395 in England, and only 45 in India, where child marriages are still in vogue.

Theaters Use Gramophones.

Gramophones are used in English theaters to give the "stage shouts," thus saving expense and insuring volume of sound.

Forest's Rapid Growth.

London has purchased Hainault Forest for a new park. In 1857 about 100,000 trees were felled here, but there is a new growth of 30,000.

The largest anchor ever made weighed 26,500 pounds, and cost nearly $10,000.

SIDE LIGHTS ON MICHIGAN

THE DREAM OF A NEW STATE IS NOW THE THEME OF MUCH TALK.

STATE HOUSE AT THE SOO

The New State as the Dreamy Ruins to Consist of the Upper Peninsula and a Slice of Wisconsin.

North Michigan?

The upper peninsula is talking separate statehood, to include a part of Wisconsin, these days more than it has for a number of years, as a result of the nomination of James T. Bennett for the legislature on the Republican ticket, running largely on that platform. Just how powerful Mr. Bennett may be to put through his pet plank is having no deterrent effect on the day dreams of the northern section of the state.

Proponents of the scheme are already figuring from their atlases how much larger such a state would be than the states of Rhode Island or New Hampshire or Maryland and how much richer it would be than many of them.

It is advanced that the interests of the upper and lower peninsulas are so divergent that there is a natural boundary line, that it is so far from it to the seat of state government and that because of these facts it could govern itself much more satisfactorily than it is governed at present from Lansing.

Residents of the Soo have already erected a state house in their minds' eye and proclaimed it the capital of the new state, which might be called North Michigan, as in the case of the division of the two Dakotas. Also there would be two United States senators to elect, as well as the one congressman, as at present. There would be legislative officers galore, a full complement of state officials, and really, all along the line the separate statehood proposition looks mighty good to the people of that section.

Finally it is advanced that the feelings of the upper peninsula people would no longer be hurt by charges made in the lower half that the big corporations are cheating the state out of its just due of the taxes.

Girl Assaulted.

Laura Gordon, aged 14, was carried from her home near Adriaan to a barn by one man and criminally assaulted, while his companion held the mother at bay in the house with a gun.

When the men first arrived at the house at midnight they pounded on the door and yelled to Perry Gordon, the father, that his barn was on fire. He hurriedly dressed and went to the barn to find the alarm untrue. During his absence the men continued to pound on the door and commanded Mrs. Gordon and her daughter to open it and admit them, or they would blow their heads off. When the door was opened the girl was carried away by one of the men.

Gordon says when he returned from the barn, he was fired at four times by one of the men. He says he then fled to a neighbor's house and telephoned the police. When he returned, and the officers arrived the men had gone. The house is isolated.

Dr. Claffin confirms Gordon's story as to what happened to the girl.

Last Sunday when the girl was out bicycling riding two young men asked her where she lived. She told them and they responded they would call on her. These young men are under suspicion.

No Cause Known.

C. S. Johnson, an assistant superintendent of the Michigan Telephone Co., who committed suicide by taking carbolic acid in a hotel in Houghton, Mich., Tuesday night, lived in Detroit, with his wife.

Mrs. Johnson cannot explain her husband's act, as he had written cheerful letters home, saying he expected to be back shortly, when he and his wife were to start housekeeping.

Johnson had been with the telephone company 15 years and for seven years was manager of the Detroit branch. His finances were in good shape and friends and relatives say there were no family troubles.

Three Killed and Many Injured.

Passenger train No. 8, of the Wabash railroad, running from Kansas City to Buffalo, N. Y., known as the Buffalo mail, and due in Danville, Ill., at 4:52 a. m., ran into an open switch west of Calum, Ill., early Wednesday, and crashed into a section of a freight train. The passenger coaches, except one, turned over and burned.

Three persons are known to have been killed. Several others are missing. Thirty-seven injured are being taken care of at Danville hospitals.

Hopelessly Insane.

Dr. Festus F. Pitcher, former president of Battle Creek's leading social club, the Athelstan, is pronounced incurably insane at the Pencyer sanitarium, Kenosha, Wis. He was recently released from the Kalamazoo asylum on his wife's desire to take him to a western ranch. When he first went in sane he was taken from the club in an auto by a party of his friends to Kalamazoo. His wife is said to be in Chicago.

In a runaway accident Mrs. Frederick Balfe had her limb penetrated by one of the thills of the buggy. It entered just above the knee and emerged about one foot lower. Several ribs were broken and she may not recover. Her paralytic daughter, who accompanied her, escaped uninjured.

Formal charges of manslaughter have been made against Henry Girard, Henry De Loize and Henry Rivet, in Bay City. Prosecuting Attorney Orr says that he has three witnesses who tell that these men were galloping the team that ran down and killed Corlana Webster Wednesday evening.

INHUMAN PARENTS.

Charged With Drowning Their Month
Old Babe.

Bert Kemp, of Smith's Creek, and his bride, of a week, who was Mollie Rogerty, of Columbus, are occupying cells in Port-Huron jail charged with the murder of the month old child of the young woman.

Kemp, after being sweated, confessed that he did away with the baby and without the least show of feeling piloted the officers to the point in Pine river where he had weighted the baby, while still alive, with old horse shoes and thrown it into the stream.

The woman stoutly insists she doesn't know what became of the babe and shows for the slightest symptom of maternal affection.

The child was born September 3, and Bert Kemp, who has been keeping company with the girl for three years, was generally supposed to be its father.

A week ago the two were married and from that day on nothing was seen of the baby. The neighbors became suspicious and after the matter had been neighborhood gossip for several days, it was reported to the officers.

Upon being arrested, the pair claimed that the unwelcome infant had been left on a doorstep in the city. When trapped in this statement, Kemp finally admitted having thrown the child in Pine river. The body was recovered in the exact point designated by Kemp and was turned over to Coroner Falk.

A post mortem examination showed that the child had been thrown in alive.

Kemp and his wife were arraigned in court, Kemp on the charge of murder and Mrs. Kemp as an accessory. Both waived examination and were held without bail.

Increase of Grape Crop.

Few people, outside of the immediate vicinity, have anything like a correct idea of the magnitude of the grape industry of eastern Van Buren county, which is gradually being transformed into one vast vineyard. Within a radius of eight miles of this village, which is practically the center of the grape-growing region, there are thousands of acres of bearing grape vines, and many hundreds more of young vines that have not come into bearing. It is yet too early to estimate accurately the amount of the crop, but there will probably be shipped from Paw Paw, Lawton, Mattawan and Lake. Corn not less than 2,000 carloads, or the equivalent of 6,000,000 eight-pound baskets. In addition large quantities are used by the several juice factories, of which there is one at Paw Paw, and three at Lawton. The one at Paw Paw is crushing from 30 to 40 tons of grapes per day, their daily output of juice being about 4,000 gallons.

This juice, which is unfermented, is sealed up in five-gallon carboys and stored away in cellars, where it is left to ripen until the next spring, when it is bottled and sent to market in carload lots.

Speedy Acquittal.

Three months to a day after a single shot from Bertha Ely's revolver sent the wife of her employer into the next world and landed the little woman herself behind prison bars, a jury in a Detroit court put the seal of self defense on the act with a verdict reached in less than four minutes.

It was on the night of July 6 that Mrs. Mary A. Kunn, fell mortally wounded in the dingy little cabin of the schooner or Herschel, tied up at the foot of Mt. Elliott avenue. It was on October 6 that her slayer limped into the county jail, gathered together a few clothes and left for the home of a friend, the gallily guilty of no crime. Mrs. Ely's acquittal was expected. That the charge of murder never could be sustained was manifest on the first day of the trial when Capt. George M. Kunn testified. Logically Kunn was the strongest witness for the prosecution. He turned out to be the backbone of the defense.

Struck His Old Father.

Armed with a sharp iron bar, James Gallup, Jr. is alleged to have smashed his 80 year old father over the head and shoulders at their farm home, near Flushing. James Gallup, Sr., had both shoulder blades broken and two ugly gashes cut in his head. Because of the severity of his injuries and his advanced age, little hope is entertained for the old man's recovery.

James Gallup, Jr., is believed to be unbalanced mentally. He lost an arm when employed by the Rapid Railway in Detroit, three years ago.

No cause is known for his attack on his father. The old man was milking when his son struck him down, according to the story told the sheriff.

Anxious to Reach School.

"I'll be late for school," sobbed 15-year-old John Ezop, as he was registered at the Saginaw police station for burglary and larceny. "Please let me go and send for my bicycle, for teacher'll give me an awful scolding if I don't get there in a while," he implored. Instead, the wailing youth, charged with the destruction of railroad property and with breaking into and looting a freight car of a large consignment of merchandise, was locked up in a cell where his screams could be heard a block. He will be prosecuted and other school companions of his will, it is said, be arrested for similar offenses.

Forty Ithaca business men entered the Saginaw wholesale junk store while there Wednesday.

The three White Cloud bank burglar suspects were not identified by Frank Foster, a White Cloud saloon-keeper.

Louis Wessels, of Flint, while working in a pipe works at Ballard, Wash., was struck and fatally injured in the head by a pipe from a machine. He had been married only a few days.

O. B. Holbrook, of Traverse City, frightened by a dream in which he saw two men coming to kill him, leaped in his sleep through a large window, cutting himself severely. His heel was almost severed. He awoke when he hit the ground.

"A SMALL THING."

Do you believe in progress? Do you believe that all the wonderful achievements of the nineteenth century—the railroad, the telegraph, the telephone, electric light, kerosene, sewing machine, agricultural machinery, steamships, trolley cars, etc.—have made life easier and better worth living? I do. I believe that a man who lives 40 years under modern conditions has experienced more life and better life than Methusalem, though he had lived 20 centuries of his time.

The triumphs of the nineteenth century were triumphs of human service—the placing of knowledge and the fruits of knowledge within the reach of the common man. Every man's life is better, happier, more secure because of them. We live more comfortably, more sociable lives in better and more comfortable houses because of them. Even the hopeless dweller in the worst city slums is more comfortable in his physical conditions than the middle-class citizen of the days of George Washington.

In little things as in great, comfort and convenience have been the legacy of the "Century of Improvement." Paint, in a certain sense, is a minor matter, yet it gives beauty, healthfulness and durability to our dwellings. Fifty years ago painting was a serious proposition, a luxury for the owners of stately mansions who could afford the expense of frequent renewals. To-day ready mixed paint is so cheap, so good, and so universal that no house owner has an excuse for not keeping his property well painted.

A small thing, indeed; yet several hundred large factories, employing thousands of chemists and skilled workmen, are running every day in the year to keep our houses fresh, clean and wholesome.

A small thing, yet a can of good ready mixed paint, such as one may buy from any reputable dealer, embodies the study of generations of skilled chemists, the toil of a thousand workmen in mill, laboratory and factory, and the product of a long series of special machinery-invented and designed just to make that can of paint and to furnish us an infinite variety of tints, colors and shades.

It was a wonderful century, that nineteenth of our era, and not the least of its wonderful gifts was that same commonplace can of paint.

AT THE SUMMER HOTEL.

Experience of Winston Churchill Familiar to Many.

Winston Churchill in an address that he made in Concord recently praised the New Hampshire farmer.

"Ours," he said, "is a state fitted above all others for a summer resort. New Hampshire, with its superb climate, its mountains, its lakes and forests, will in a generation or two be one great pleasure ground—a vast park, dotted with beautiful villas, to which will come each summer families from all parts of America."

In anticipation of this many farmers are learning to conduct hotels. They are building cottages for summer visitors. Some of them, too, are taking boarders.

"And I am glad to say that the New Hampshire farmer is in a position to take boarders, because, unlike the farmers in other states that I could name, he does not send all his good things to the city. I once boarded at a fine big farm, but the fare was wretched—canned vegetables, condensed milk and so on."

"By Jove," I said one morning at breakfast, as I pushed my egg cup from me, "these eggs are really not as fresh as those I get in New York." My farmer host snorted.

"That's rank prejudice on your part, Mr. Churchill," he said. "It's from New York that all our eggs come."

There is an altar society in Brooklyn composed of eight policemen. The members contribute a certain amount every month which pays for lights and flowers on an altar of perpetual adoration.

LOOSE TEETH

Made Sound by Eating Grape-Nuts.

Proper food nourishes every part of the body, because Nature selects the different materials from the food we eat, to build bone, nerve, brain, muscle, teeth, etc.

All we need is to eat the right kind of food slowly, chewing it well—our digestive organs take it up into the blood and the blood carries it all through the body, to every little nook and corner.

If some one would ask you, "Is Grape-Nuts good for loose teeth?" you'd probably say, "No, I don't see how it could be." But a woman in Ontario writes:

"For the past two years I have used Grape-Nuts Food with most excellent results. It seems to take the place of medicine in many ways, builds up the nerves and restores the health generally."

"A little Grape-Nuts taken before retiring soothes my nerves and gives sound sleep." (Because it relieves irritability of the stomach nerves, being a predigested food.)

"Before I used Grape-Nuts my teeth were loose in the gums. They were so bad I was afraid they would some day all fall out. Since I have used Grape-Nuts I have not been bothered any more with loose teeth."

"All desire for pastry has disappeared and I have gained in health, weight and happiness since I began to use Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Get the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pgs. "There's a reason."

CANAL CAUSED MANY CHANGES.

Effect on Business World of the Suez Waterway.

"The effect of opening the Suez canal" writes William R. Stewart in the Technical World Magazine, "was so marked in the first confusion which it introduced into the business world that it constituted one of the prime causes of the universal commercial and industrial panic of 1873. By transferring the distributing points for trade from England to the Mediterranean ports of southern Europe it terminated the vast warehouse distribution system of the former country and led to the disappearance of the class of merchant princes who hitherto had monopolized the eastern traffic."

"As it was with the owners of English warehouses, so it was with the owners of hundreds of sailing vessels and the dealers in six months' bills. For the Suez canal by bringing steamers into use in place of the sailing vessels which had been making the 5,000 mile longer voyage around the cape, enabled a cargo to be sold and delivered within a month after the order had been sent and business men without capital were able to borrow money at a low rate and supplant the old established houses in the eastern trade."

SERIAL STORY

DUKE OF DEVIL-MAY-CARE

By HARRIS DICKSON

Author of "The Black Wolf's Breed," Etc.

(Copyright, 1906, by D. Appleton & Co.)

He leaned over the rail and watched his friend helping the ladies ashore; the dark-haired girl smiled into Joe's face as he lifted her down from the end of the stage.

"Just as innocent as if he didn't know one card from another," he muttered. "Sanctimonious old devil."

It did not put him in a better humor to see how calmly Joe appropriated the stranger, and with what gallantry he helped them all into their carriage. Now the smiling rascal stood with one foot on the carriage step and talked.

The hell-fang, Joe recrossed the stage-plank whistling jantily, while Duke watched the Ashton carriage drive away toward the clump of trees that surrounded the house at Ivanhoe. Joe mounted the steps two at a time—a medley of grand opera and self-satisfaction that Duke resented. So he drew back into the shadow and let him pass into the cabin.

The man on the guards sat silent. He only shifted his chair so that he might look back upon the vanishing tights at Ivanhoe. Then the boat swept round a long curve, the river before him lay as dark and deserted as if it had never known the touch of wheel or keel.

Once he got up walked to the cabin-door and looked through the glass. The men were playing his seat was vacant. He shrugged his shoulders, walked back to the guards and sat down. After awhile the door opened and Joe came out, peering around in the dark.

"Noel? Is that you? I wondered where you'd gone."

"Yes I saw you just now reaping the reward of virtue. Who is the young lady?"

"Miss Ashton's niece, Miss Cameron. She's going to live at Ivanhoe. Her father died about a year ago. Perhaps you remember them the Camerons lived in Albemarle county near the University of Virginia?"

"I used to know a boy named Ferguson Cameron."

"That was her brother."

Duke made no further comment. Joe touched him on the shoulder.

"Come on and fill out the game, I'm striking a streak of luck, trying to pull even."

"No," he shook his head, "I don't feel like playing. I'm kind of getting tired of poker."

CHAPTER II

THE WELCOME AT IVANHOE. Bing Harper, manager on Devil-May-Care, wondered why Duke should telephone so urgently from Vicksburg for his horse to meet him at Ivanhoe Landing, ten miles away, when he might leave the boat in front of his own plantation store.

The Sultana threw out her stage-plank at Ivanhoe and Noel Duke was the first man to step ashore. The whites of Chalky's eyes grew very wide at sight of his irreproachable dress, but the negro did not grin, not even a muscle twitched at the corners of his mouth.

"Here, Chalky, why didn't you put a better saddle blanket on this horse? You don't half groom him anyhow."

"Yassuh, yassuh, but von tole me to use dat ole blanket 'cause it's so soft."

"Haven't you got one that looks a little fresher? Well, put it on next time."

He swung himself into the saddle and left Chalky to scramble on his mule with a brand new valise across his pommel.

"Take that home," he ordered. "I'm going to stop at Ivanhoe."

Though he mentioned this startling fact as nonchalantly as he could, Chalky stopped and stared, and Duke wished that he were close enough to hit him with something.

Duke rode slowly to the top of the levee and halted his horse. The Ivanhoe dwelling stood on a little ridge, 200 yards from the river—a low white house built on piers which were tall enough to rise above the highest water. He glanced upward toward the house, and then toward the open doorway.

At the door stood a man, and as Duke sat in her inevitable rocking chair—it must be Mrs. Ashton, she rocked herself to and fro with such precision.

There was a broad gallery, running round the house on three sides, and morning glories climbed to the eaves. Through the interlacing vines he saw a girl swinging herself in a hammock.

He wondered whether it were Alice or the other. Then he saw Alice cross the hall and stop in the front door.

The road to Devil-May-Care led along the crest of the levee for ten hot and dusty miles. Duke looked from Mrs. Ashton's uncompromising

"Wouldn't it tickle Joe if I shouldn't have the nerve to go there after all?" he mused.

Alice ran back and spoke to her mother. Mrs. Ashton stopped her rocking and looked up, straight at Duke—straight through him, as he thought. Some way it did not seem so very amusing for him to go and beard his ancient enemy in her den.

When he and Joe had concocted the clever excuse which now rested in his pocket, they thought it very funny; they laughed and laughed. Both of them were anxious to be present and see what Mrs. Ashton would do. But he stood now alone with his toe to the scratch, and hadn't the slightest curiosity to go on.

He felt in his pocket. The letter was safe. He gritted his teeth, turned down the slope of the levee, and entered the lane that led to Ivanhoe.

Mrs. Ashton and Alice could not believe it; the man was actually coming to their house.

When Duke leaned over and unlatched the pasture gate, Alice disappeared through the back hall door. Then he saw her on the gallery, whispering to the other one. When he halted his horse and opened the inner gate, both the girls vanished around a corner of the gallery.

He clenched his lips and plodded on: the row would be full of stumps, but he meant to plow it to the bitter end.

Mrs. Ashton rose like a figure from a Noah's ark and moved stiffly to the gallery. He saw that peculiar toss of the head with which she always passed him. It was not amusing. She stood at the top of the steps and waited.

He dismounted at the inner gate, hunched his horse, and tried to walk in very stately style up the path, but he stumbled on a root, and thought he heard laughter behind the curtains.

A CLOUD OF DUST

His face grew very red, and for a moment he could not find the letter which was to be his "open sesame." When he did dig it up he dropped it awkwardly.

"Good morning, Mrs. Ashton." The visitor took off his hat, his brow was cold and damp.

"Good morning, sir."

"Mr. Dalfour has asked me to deliver some valuable papers, he was afraid to risk them in the mail." He said it like a schoolboy who has learned his lesson. And, like a school boy, he felt that the teacher knew better.

"Thank you, sir, I am very much obliged." Mrs. Ashton held out her hand and took the packet as she would have taken it from a hired messenger.

The man glanced at that stern-visaged woman, and felt the hot blood rush into his cheek.

"Good day, Mrs. Ashton," he said, and turned.

"Won't you have a glass of water, sir? Jimmy! Oh, Jimmy!"

"No, I thank you, madam."

The war was on.

He strode down the path again, lunged himself on his horse and galloped off. A cloud of dust, like the trail of a comet, rose along the crest of the levee and followed him toward Devil-May-Care. Not until then did Mrs. Ashton smile.

She had hated his father. She hated the son, of course, and had watched his career with a stern satisfaction that her predictions were so abundantly justified.

As a child he had been the sole rebel beneath his father's rule. He ran away from school, was dismissed from the University of Virginia, served six years in the navy, resigned, helped to build a very poor railroad in Brazil, and two excellent revolutions in Argentina. Then Maj. Duke died. The son came back to a plantation that had grown up in cocklebur while his father had played with politics.

Immediately there was another revolution—on Devil-May-Care. The new owner went to work, the managers went to work, even the negroes went to work—or left. The store had long been noted as a pest-hole of craps-shooters and loafers; it became a model of method. There had never been a law of any kind on Devil-May-Care; now there was a law—the will of Noel Duke.

True, he used rough measures with a gang of timber thieves who depredated on his cypress. True, he shot two men whom he caught cutting the levees. A band of lumbermen had their headquarters in the swamp back of him, and had long terrorized the delta. One day they met a negro tenant of his in the road, and beat him. Duke routed them out, and was none too gentle about it.

And it was as certainly true that he raised game-cocks and race horses so he could "have a little fun when he went to town."

It very soon came about that there was not a vacant cabin on his plantation. Negroes flocked to a place where they found a firm hand and a just one, a man who made them work or leave, and at the end of the year paid them every dollar they had earned. "But," as they whispered to each other, "of Mister Noel ever gets mad, you better keep outen his way; he's liable to hurt you. He sho ain't gwine to let nobody else shoddy into your lough." In the course of four years Devil-May-Care was the best managed property in the delta, and from the moment Duke set foot upon it, there was never a doubt as to who was master.

When he went to Vicksburg or New Orleans, stories floated back of reckless betting at the races, of poker games with the sky for a limit, of Quixotic generosity and rash escape.

TABLE DELICACIES.

A FEW APPETIZING AND HEALTHFUL DISHES.

Popover Dessert—Raisin Doughnuts Will Be Appreciated by Grown-ups as Well as Children—Hot Water Sponge Cake.

Popover Dessert.—Put one cup of milk, two eggs, and seven-eighths cup of sifted flour into a bowl and beat five minutes with an egg-beater. Pour into hot greased iron popover pans, and bake. For the sauce cream a rounding tablespoon of butter and three-quarters cup of sugar. Add a level tablespoon of cornstarch, one-third of a nutmeg, grated, or any other flavoring preferred. Add the white of one egg beaten stiff and then pour on two cups of boiling water and simmer five minutes.

Raisin Doughnuts.—Scald two cups of milk and cool until lukewarm. Add one-half yeast cake dissolved in two tablespoons of water, and half a level teaspoon of salt. Add enough flour to make a dry batter, using about two cups. Beat hard five minutes. Cover and let rise until light as honeycomb. Add three eggs beaten light, and one-half cup of butter creamed with one cup of sugar. Let rise the second time, and then add flour enough to make a dough stiff enough to knead. Knead five minutes; let rise a third time, roll out about a quarter inch thick, and cut in rounds. Put a teaspoon of chopped raisins in the center of one round, wet the edges, and press the second round over it. Now let the doughnuts stand 20 minutes. Then fry in deep fat, drain, and dust with powdered sugar.

Cheese Souffle.—Melt a rounding tablespoon of butter, add the same of flour and when frothy add one-half cup of milk. When smooth and thick add one cup of grated Parmesan cheese and a pinch each of salt and pepper. Take from the fire, stir in the well beaten yolks of three eggs, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Fill small baking dishes or ramekins half full, and set in the oven to bake until risen and browned on top. Serve at once before the souffle falls.

Hot Water Sponge Cake.—Beat the yolks of four eggs well, and two cups of powdered sugar, and beat again. Add two cups of flour sifted with a saltspoon of salt, and three level teaspoons of baking powder, and last a teaspoon of vanilla flavoring. Beat and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs. Then all three quarters cup of boiling water, beat and bake in a moderate oven.

Chicken Gumbo.—Disjoint a large fowl and dredge well with salt pepper and flour. Melt a heaping tablespoon of lard and one quarter cup of butter, add a medium sized onion chopped fine. Put in the chicken and dry brown. Add four quarts of boiling water, cover and simmer two hours. Add a cup of chopped okra and simmer 15 minutes, then add one cup of drained oysters and cook until the oysters curl. Add more seasoning if needed, and serve.

Crab Apple Preserve.—Wipe the crab apples, cut out the blossom end, but leave the stems. Make a sirup of one pound of sugar for each pound of fruit and just enough water to dissolve it. Let the sirup boil and skim until they can be pierced with a skewer. Fill the jars three quarters full with the apple and pour in sirup to fill. If less sirup is added to the apples the preserve is apt to be dry.

Sauce for Fish.—Cream one-half cup of butter. Add the yolks of two eggs, a saltspoon of salt, a few grains of cayenne, the juice of one lemon, and one-half cup of boiling water. Cook over hot water until it thickens like a custard.

Introductions.

On an at-home day, when many are present, a hostess is not required to make introductions between her guests unless she wishes to do so, but when the callers number but one or two only it is incumbent upon her to introduce them to each other.

At a large luncheon party the number regulates whether or no general introductions are to be made. It is not possible to introduce all in a given time, and therefore only two or three of the principal people present are introduced.

At a small luncheon party, on the contrary, to introduce all the guests to each other is the received rule, and this is done immediately on arrival, if possible—formally or informally, directly or indirectly, as the hostess may prefer, but still an introduction of some kind is made.

Potato Ribbons.

Peel and wash one pound or more of potatoes, then cut them round and round as if peeling an apple. They should be in long, ribbon-like pieces. Have two pans of frying fat on the fire. When a bluish smoke rises from one thrown in some of the ribbons and fry them until they are just beginning to color, then with a fishslice lift them into the second pan, and fry them a piece golden brown. Drain them on paper, sprinkle them with salt, and pile them on a hot dish.

Cause of Rust on Clothes.

It is said that rust spots are frequently traceable to the bluing used in washing. Prussian blue, which is sometimes used in their preparation, is a compound of iron, and in the presence of an alkali deposits a rust spot. You can test it by boiling a little of it in a vessel with soap, or better still, with caustic potash. If iron separates, the compound is Prussian blue, and you will have to be careful in rinsing to get out all of the soap.

White Diamond Found. A white diamond, weighing 149 1/2 karats, has been found by a digger at Karreepan, near Kimberley, who sold it for $14,465.

$100 Reward, $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Ovarian Trouble. Dr. J. C. Smith's Ovarian Remedy is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Ovarian trouble being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Smith's Ovarian Remedy is an internal remedy, acting directly upon the blood and in the surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have secured One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Sent for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists. Take Smith's Family Pills for constipation.

New Use for Gramophone. Drilling native Malay javies by word of command emitted from a gramophone is the latest instance of modern ingenuity. Even the Zulu can now hear his own native songs and dances from records made by a London company, who have sold more than 20 machines to swarthy warrior chiefs in South Africa. Folk-songs of the Pygmies were recently procured, and a machine has been dispatched to Lapland for the purpose, if possible, of procuring Eskimo folk songs.

Walnut a Staple Food. In some parts of France walnuts form a regular article of diet. The peasants eat them with bread that has oftentimes been rubbed with garlic. The hygienic effects are considered good, replacing meat to a large extent. These nuts are also used to make oil. It is much cheaper and similar in taste to that pressed from olives, and is employed to adulterate the latter. The prisoners in certain prisons are engaged in cracking walnuts and picking out the kernels, which are pressed into oil.

Uruguay is a prosperous country, and in her prosperity is a good customer of the United States. Exports of merchandise from this country to Uruguay for the nine months ending March 31, 1906, amounted to $2,172,276 against $1,200,542 in the same period of the previous year.

SMOOT TO FIGHT FOR CANTEEN.

While the senate is deciding whether Senator Smoot, of Utah, shall retain his seat in that body the senator himself will be urging upon his colleagues the passage of a bill providing for the re-establishment of the army canteen, which he intends to introduce early next December.

"I have little reputation to lose among the women of the country," the senator says, "so it seems that I may as well be the champion of what each and every representative in congress believes should be done. I think they all agree with the officers of the army that the anti-canteen law is unwise. But because of public sentiment they all are afraid to come out and urge its repeal."

Any well defined effort to secure the repeal of the anti-canteen law is certain to bring down upon congress an avalanche of protests from the women of the country. It was the women who compelled the abolition of the canteen, and it is woman's influence that has deterred the congressmen from doing anything in the direction of its restitution as recommended by army officers.

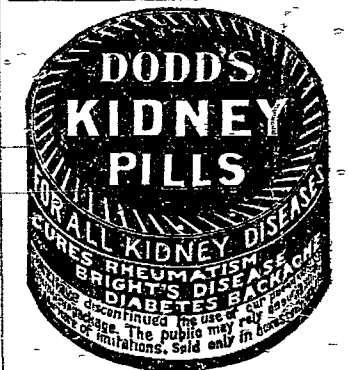

POLITICS MAY SPLIT LABOR LEADERS.

Officials of the American Federation of Labor believe that after election a distinct breach will be opened between President Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, and vice president of the Federation. Friction between them that will develop into a breach is regarded as inevitable for the reason that Gompers is jealous of the growth of Mitchell as a political factor. Mitchell adheres to the Roosevelt school of politics, while Gompers is with the other faction.

There is an question among neutral members of the official body of the Federation but that Gompers' activity in this campaign is due to the fact that Mitchell made a success of his fight in behalf of Roosevelt. Mitchell's prominence in the labor field made him the man among organized labor most consulted by President Roosevelt and other public men. Although Gompers was the head of the organization, he was seldom consulted. It was always Mitchell, the vice president, who was called in to express the views of the Federation. He was called to the White House, took lunch there, and on one occasion was a dinner guest. Gompers, so it is said, saw his opportunity to come to the front in this congressional campaign by bringing forward the fact that congress had ignored the recommendation of the Federation, while the president and leaders in congress had given ear to Mitchell. That fact, it is believed, inspired the sudden activity with respect to the eight-hour law and the anti-injunction bills last spring.

Mitchell is so closely identified with the Republican organization that activity on his part would have brought him into conflict with many of his closest friends.

Anecdote of Robert R. Hitt. The late Robert R. Hitt had a knowledge of stenography which was great value to him in debate. He has been known to rise with his hand full of shorthand notes of a speech just delivered to which he was about to reply and woe to the man who accused Mr. Hitt of misquoting him! He was the patron saint of the stenographers of the house. Not long ago political influence was about to displace from the line of promotion a young expert writer of shorthand from Michigan whose work Mr. Hitt had occasion to admire. Mr. Hitt went to Speaker Cannon. "This will never do, Joe," said the shorthand authority of the house. "We can't do without this man. The house must have him." "All right, Hitt," replied Speaker Cannon. "If anybody knows the sort of stenographers this house ought to have, you are the man." That settled it and the Michigan stenographer held his place.

Specialist in Orthodontia or Irregularity of the teeth.
Irregularity of the teeth is a condition frequently seen and greatly to be deplored. Few people have any comprehension of the ability possessed by modern dentists in correcting these abnormal positions of the teeth. Thus many grow to manhood and womanhood, whose faces have become deformed or whose expression is unnatural or unpleasant, because they have no knowledge of the improvement which could be made by a competent dentist.

The results of irregular teeth are that they mar the appearance of the individual, interfere with clearness of speech, impair the ability to masticate the food thoroughly, and by reason of their crowded or abnormal position afford favorable lodgment for food particles and thereby induce decay.

When a child presents itself I study the features and the irregularities and oral deformities. I look at the child's face and then at its profile, and endeavor to ascertain, if possible, what facial change will be brought about by any corrective art that may be applied to the case. In my judgment more is lost than gained by the removal of teeth for the correction of irregularity and should never be done, except, possibly in very rare cases. I consider it possible to take any person

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Dr. Crumpton, veterinary surgeon, formerly of Northville, says: "For several months Mr. Crumpton had a dull, aching pain in his back and up his shoulders, which at times was quite severe. Hearing so many people praising Dean's Kidney Pills, I decided to get her a box and procured them at 'Mudlock Bros.' drug store. I trusted that the remedy would do her some good, but was not prepared for the great benefit which it soon brought. It was only a short time till the pain or aching went away. Whenever I hear of anyone complaining of backache or kidney complaint, I invariably advise them to procure Doan's Kidney Pills."

SHYEST PEOPLE EVER KNOWN

Kubus of Sumatra Never Talk With a Stranger

There is a very strange race of people in Sumatra the Kubus, who are too timid and shy to mix with the other races of the island, and dwell in the recesses of the forests.

They are looked on as inferiors by the Malays, and thought to be little better than beasts. Such is their shyness that they will never willingly face a stranger.

Their trade with the Malaysians is consequently carried on in a strange manner. The trader announces his arrival by beating a gong, and he then retreats. The Kubus approach, but their forest treasures on the ground, beat a gong, and retreat.

The trader returns and lays his commodities down in quantities sufficient, as he thinks, for the purchase of the goods on sale. Then he retreats, and the Kubus reappear and consider the bargain.

And so, after more withdrawals and approaches and gong beatings, the respective parties come to an understanding, and carry off independently their largess.

The Kubus live on snakes, grubs, fruits and the flesh of any deer or pigs they can slay. They are skillful spear-men, and throw stones with marvelous accuracy.—Stray Stories

Frivolity of Modern London.
There is nothing specially wicked about modern London. The fashion of vice has passed away, and monogamy is almost smart. What is so tiresome is the rapidity of the talk, first on one transitory fad, and next season on another. The upper class are losing their hold on the mind of the nation through sheer frivolity and lack of purpose.—Saturday Review, London.
