FORMER NORTHVILLE MAN

Passes Away at His Home in Los Angeles.

J. R. Nash passed away on the morning of March 21 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frances Hastings, after an illness of several weeks, surrounded by his loved ones and faithfully cared for by his daughter, Ella. He was conscious nearly to the end and made preparations for his funeral, selecting the text "The days of our years are three score years and ten, but if by strength they be four score years, yet is their strength, labor and sorrow for it is soon cut off and we fly away."

Mr. Nash was eighty-three years old August 15th last, but his heart was as young as any of those about him. He made friends on account of his happy disposition. He was born in Deerfield, Mass., but spent the best part of his life in Northville, Mich. Three years ago he came to southern California to reside.

When he passed away his children were all near him. He left five children, eleven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The funeral was conducted at the home by the Rev. Will Knighten of the Methodist church. Amid a profusion of beautiful flowers the body was borne to its resting place in Hollywood cemetery by the six grandsons. His favorite hymn "Rock of Ages" was sung by his granddaughters, Mrs. Flora Clarkson Crosher and Mabel Clarkson. Mrs. Crosher also sang sweetly the beautiful solo "Face to Face." There were many friends present, some from the old home in Michigan.

A Complete Surprise.

A. M. Dickerson was the victim of a genuine April fool Monday evening. He no sooner arrived at his place of business when he was called to the telephone and informed that his eldest son was very ill and for him to come home at once. When he reached the house, instead of finding his son ill, he found the officers of the K. O. T. M. M., their wives, friends and relatives, who had come in to remind him it was his birthday. Mr. Dickerson was presented with a handsome rocking chair, a gift of the K. O. T. M. M. of which he is an officer. A fine supper was served and a birthday cake, decorated with candles and flowers, was one of the chief attractions.

Cleaver—Milne.

Mr. John W. Cleaver and Miss Iva A. Milne were married Tuesday evening by Rev. W. S. Jerome at the residence of S. G. Power. Only a few friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Cleaver will reside on the Larkins farm west of the village, which he recently purchased.

MRS. LOUISA BROWN

Mother of Mrs. W. H. Ambler, Dies Suddenly at Her Home in Novi.

The death Tuesday morning of Mrs. Louisa A. Brown was a shock, not only to the people of Novi, but to Northville friends as well. She had been in poor health for some time, but not considered dangerous until she was stricken with apoplexy on the above named date and only lived a few minutes. She was seventy-four years of age.

It can truthfully be said of her that she was never known to speak ill of anyone and no matter how bad a person might be, she could always see some good in them. By possessing this noble character no one could say aught against her. She was very quiet and unassuming and was dearly loved by all who knew her, and although she had lived beyond the allotted time, she will be greatly missed in the community where she has lived so many years.

Louisa Entrican was born in the state of New York, Jan. 10, 1833 coming to Michigan with her parents when a small child and settled on a farm one-half mile west of Novi afterwards moving onto a farm two miles west of Novi on the Grand River road.

On May 6, 1855, she was married to Almond D. Brown, coming to the farm where she has since lived, the husband dying July 3, 1898.

Three children, Mary M. Ambler of Northville, Seymour L. Brown of Novi and Alma Gibson of Wilcox, are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother.

The funeral will be held today (Friday) from the home at 1:30 p. m. standard time and the burial in Novi cemetery.

Baptist Church Notes.

[By a Member.]

The subject for the sermon Sunday morning will be "Review of the First Chapter of Revelations."

Don't forget to come and hear the Swiss Bell Ringers in our church tomorrow (Saturday) evening. Admission 15 and 25 cents.

The business meeting of the B. Y. P. U., which was to have been held Wednesday evening of this week, has been postponed to next Wednesday evening.

The Sunday evening service will be conducted by Miss Nellie Yaba of Burmah, who will tell the people something of her life in that far off country. Everybody is invited to come and hear her.

As there are only two more Sundays in this pastoral year would it not be well for all who are back on their subscription to make an extra effort and try and get it all paid up so that we may close the year free from debt?

Presbyterian Church Notes.

[By the Pastor.]

The Presbyterian Woman's Missionary societies met at Mt. Clemens on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Our Ladies society was represented by Mrs. S. J. Lawrence.

The sermon next Sunday morning will be on "Adorning the Gospel." In the evening the topic will be "Man and His Mocker." This will be the last of the series on the Proverbs.

The special services held last week were fairly well attended considering the bad weather. We were especially glad to see the pastors and members of other churches present. We are greatly indebted to the brethren who so acceptably preached for us.

The Easter services last Sunday were largely attended. The church was beautifully decorated and the music was especially appropriate. Beside the usual hymns and anthem Mrs. Ed. Merritt gave a violin solo and Miss Lida Richardson a vocal solo.

The April meeting of the Ladies' Missionary society will be held at the manse on Tuesday of next week at 2:30 p. m. The papers will be by Mrs. Green, Mrs. Power, and Mrs. W. P. Johnson. The attendance last month was very gratifying, and the president would like to see a goodly number present next week.

SIDE LIGHTS ON MICHIGAN

FLYING ROLLERS OF DETROIT AND WINDSOR WERE DECEIVED.

MOTHER ELINOR'S FLIGHT

Claim That the Notorious Diss de Bar, Criminal of International Fame, Did It.

Couldn't Face the Charge.

Mother Elmor L. Mason and her private secretary, David Livingstone MacLachlan, of Windsor and Detroit, are supposed to have left Windsor about midnight Sunday night. On Monday Alfred Staddon, treasurer of the board of trustees, gave out a formal statement for the colony, regarding the woman as the spiritual leader of the Flying Rollers and accepting Prince Michael's designation of her as an impostor.

Mother Elmor, cornered by publicity insisted that she was as she represented herself and as the credentials obtained from Prince Michael, represented her, to be out when the show-down came she slipped away between two days Mr. Mackay, who the other Flying Rollers charitably declare was her dupe, not her accomplice, also disappeared.

That she is Diss de Bar, Edith Loretta Jackson, Vera Ava, Edith Murray, one of the most notorious of women crooks, the Flying Rollers will not admit; they are reserving this for another formal statement, if they find it to be true.

Mother Elmor left Detroit and Windsor three weeks ago immediately on receipt of a statement from Prince Michael, which was also mailed in duplicate to numerous members of the colony, declaring her to be a fraud and a crook. She did not go far away, as she did not have the money.

Meanwhile she was in daily communication with D. L. Mackay by wire, telephone and mail when the trustees put it up to her personal representative that she must meet and refute the charges in detail, she dropped into Windsor, with a show of boldness.

Saturday night the seven trustees gathered about her.

You must meet these serious charges and refute them or we shall renounce you as our leader, they declared to her.

The woman was not in the least awed.

I deny them all, she shouted and rolled her eyes and invoked divine communications to show her authority to rule the Flying Rollers and all her generalities and all her unsolicited appeals to high heaven fell on deaf ears. They demanded proofs and proofs were not forthcoming.

The meeting Saturday night was far from satisfactory and now the question is, Where's Mother Elmor? She had promised to meet the newspaper men Monday, and refute the charges against her, but could not be found. Now she is incriminated by the Rollers.

POISONED

Child's Death Caused by Belladonna Infusion.

Although a week has passed since the death of Marie Frazier aged four years, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frazier, of Kalamazoo, it was not until Tuesday that the facts came to light that her death was due to the accidental administration of poison.

The foster mother was also taken so seriously ill from the same poison that she was unconscious until Saturday.

A week ago Sunday Mrs. Frazier took what she supposed was a package of herbs, known as balmony, purchased several months ago at a local drug store, and she brewed some tea from it. This she gave the little girl and she took some herself. The former drank a cup full of the tea and liked it so well that she also took part of her mother's cup.

A little later the child carrying her doll staggered into the dining room from the front part of the house, crying, "O, mamma, what's the matter. The house is whirling around and so are you."

Almost immediately she fell in convulsions. Mrs. Frazier only had time to gather her up and place her on a couch when the drug began to affect her also, and it was with the greatest effort that she managed to reach the telephone and call a physician.

Dr. Forrester, the attending physician, says that the herb, instead of being balmony, was belladonna. It appears that the leaves of the two herbs are somewhat similar.

The First Woman.

Muskegon county for the first time in the history of Western Michigan politics, elected a woman to the office of county school commissioner. Mrs. Nellie B. Chisholm, of Montague, the Republican candidate, about whose head much abuse has been heaped, won by at least 500 majority over James H. Cogshall, the Democratic aspirant.

Mrs. Chisholm swept the county and came into the city with enough votes to offset a margin of 500 that Cogshall had piled up in the city.

Port Huron will celebrate its 50th anniversary as a city August 20, 21 and 22.

While at work on his farm near Coldwater, C. J. Bates placed a Spanish coin dated 1786. It was well worn, but the date was plainly visible.

Plainwell is to have a spring opening on Friday and Saturday of this week. This is an unique idea to bring visitors to town to show them the local industries. It is expected that there will be 8,000 visitors and prizes amounting to $1,000 will be divided among them.

BANK ROBBED.

Safe Blowers Work Hanover, Startingling the Village.

A gang of safe-blowers robbed the Farmers' & Merchants' bank in Hanover at 2 o'clock Friday morning getting away with about $1,000 and destroying $300 more. The robbers broke in the front door and went to work on the triple doors of the vault. Two explosions of nitro-glycerine wrecked the two outer doors, but they were unable to get into the inner vault, where there was a large sum of money. The explosion aroused nearly the entire village, but the robbers got away before anyone ventured upon the street, and it was not certain in which direction they escaped, although it was thought they walked to Spring Harbor and caught the Michigan Central train from Chicago. The authorities at Jackson were notified and warning was sent to all the towns along the Michigan Central and Lake Shore roads. The bank building is a two-story brick, the upper floor being vaulted. The building is so badly wrecked by the explosions that it will have to be practically rebuilt. The front door is blown out and the side walls are cracked and a portion of the safe door was blown through the ceiling into the rooms above.

Three men are in jail in Ann Arbor suspected of being the men who broke into the bank at Hanover, Jackson county. They were registered as Frank Murphy and Martin Vanhook, each aged 21 of Battus Creek, and John Williamson aged 26, colored of Indiana. They will be held for the Jackson authorities.

When the two white men and the negro saw the officers they jumped off the train and ran east. Deputy Kelsey called for them to stop, but they kept on running. Then he shot in the air as a warning and still they kept on running. Then the officer sent a bullet between two of them. Vanhook stopped and gave himself up. The colored man said after he was brought to jail Good Land when that bullet brushed by my ear I couldn't go to sleep but run.

Compton Arraigned

Silas Compton the aged blacksmith accused by John Butcher who has served 14 years in Jackson prison, of the murder of Miss William Lampman, of Grand Ledge in November, 1892, was arraigned immediately upon his arrival in Charlotte. He was taken before Justice J. C. Nichols and was bound over to the April term of court to make the fourth murder trial on call for the term. The Butcher brothers are out on bail. Del Mc Bijde is in custody.

Compton promises to be an agreeable fellow and at once became popular with the other prisoners. He was willing to talk of his own case and said:

I am not guilty and don't propose to be. John Butcher fasten the crime on me and stay out of prison himself a free man. I cannot say as much about the matter now as I would like to, but before the trial of the case is finished I am certain that every one will be satisfied that I had nothing to do with the crime. I see Butcher says that we drove to the house to get her and that I did the killing while he was out in the yard watching a neighbor, at my suggestion.

Suicide Follows Funeral

Owen Shaw, aged 20, a resident of Liberty township, killed himself Saturday afternoon after attending the funeral of his life long friend, Arthur Connell, who during the week committed suicide by the shotgun route.

After the services Shaw drove to his own home and went to his room, laid on the bed and, after taking off a shoe, placed the muzzle of a shotgun with his breast and pulled the trigger with one of his toes, causing instant death.

Shaw lived with his mother, Mrs. Mary Shaw, a widow, and worked her farm for her. His father committed suicide a few years ago.

By the side of the bed a letter was found in which Shaw left full directions for his funeral and made the significant statement "Death with friends is better than life without them."

Died From Slight Wound.

Rev. George A. Robson, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Lansing, died Sunday evening at the city hospital after an illness of several weeks. Blood poisoning resulted from a slight wound he received on a rusty poker, and he submitted to the amputation of the finger. He recovered after that, but was taken with grip and had a relapse.

Mr. Robson was 36 years of age and came to Lansing only last fall from Bridgeport, Conn. He leaves a widow and two children.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS.

The Lapeer Business Men's association has been organized to boom Lapeer.

Death closed the election day services of John B. Hochreth as chairman of the first precinct board in the twelfth ward voting booth, Detroit, Monday night, while the strain of the all-night session of the counting board brought about the collapse of Patrick W. Keating, an election inspector from the eighth ward.

Mason may abandon its municipal lighting plant and get its power from the Commonwealth Power Co. of Jackson, which offers electricity at one-fourth what it costs the city to produce it.

A horse which Marshall Hull, of Benton Harbor, was currying, suddenly jumped toward him, and catching his hand between the currycomb and the stall pinched one finger off.

Miss Edith Eiding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eiding, of Ann Arbor, has just announced that she was married at Windsor last June to Amos Sture, son of the late Senator Henry Sture.

Dan Stolliker, of Whitmore Lake, has been lodged in jail on suspicion of having robbed the postoffice at that place Wednesday night. A quantity of stamps and $30 in cash were taken.

A New Reformation.

Are we in for a new reformation? I met myself an evangelical theologian, said long ago that one was necessary and inevitable and there are features about the present upheaval which remind us curiously of that old one of high four centuries ago—On islan World.

Keep Mum.

Women, as women, are pretty much alike. They have the same hair, different slightly only as to color and length, same features, same thoughts. When we love one of them, therefore, we are in reality loving them all. But it is as well not to mention this—Life.

"Gloom" Drives Man Away.

Men will not put up with melancholy in women. It should be as natural to a woman to adorn herself with cheerfulness as with ornaments. If she cares at all for the impression she creates, she will no more be melancholy than she will be slovenly.

"I beg, you not to mention it, Mr. Glenarm."

"But it was a little queer. If you should gain any light on the subject, let me know."

"Certainly, sir."

"And I believe, Bates, that we'd better keep the blinds down at night. These duck hunters hereabouts are apparently reckless. You might attend to them now, and every evening hereafter."

He gravely bade me good night and followed him to the outer door and watched his departing figure, lighted by a single candle that he had produced from his pocket.

I stood for several minutes listening to his step tracing it through the hall below—as far as my knowledge of the house would permit. Then, in unknown regions, I heard the closing of doors and drawing of bolts. Verily, my father was a person of painstaking habits.

I opened my traveling case and distributed its contents on the dressing table. I had carried through all my adventures a folding leather photograph holder containing portraits of my father and mother and of John Marshall Glenarm, my grandfather, and this I set up on the mantel in the little sitting room. It was with a new and curious interest that I peered into my grandfather's shrewd old eyes. He used to come and go fitfully at my father's house, but my father had displeased him in various ways that I need not relate and my father's death had left me with an estrangement which I had widened by my own acts.

Now that I had reached Glenarm, my mind reverted to Pickering's estimate of the value of my grandfather's estate. Although John Marshall Glenarm was an eccentric man, he had been able to accumulate a large fortune, and yet I had found him to be the executor to tell me that he had died comparatively poor. In so readily accepting the terms of the will and burying myself in a region of which I knew nothing, I had cut myself off from the usual channels of contact. I left the place to return to New York I should simply disinherit myself. At Glenarm I was and there I must remain to the end of the year. I grew bitter against Pickering as I reflected upon the ease with which he had got rid of me. I had always fancied myself that my visits were as seen as his, but I felt now that I had shut out myself in his power.

CHAPTER V.

A Red Tam o' Shanter.

I looked out on the bright October morning with a renewed sense of isolation. Trees crowded about my windows, many of them still wearing their festive colors scarlet and brown and gold, with the bright green of some stubborn companion standing out here and there with startling vividness. I put on an old corduroy, putting suit and heavy shoes ready for a tramp abroad and went below.

The great library seemed larger than ever when I beheld it in the morning light. I opened one of the French windows and stepped out on a stone terrace, where I gained a fair view of the exterior of the house, which proved to be a modified Tudor, with battlements and two towers. One of the latter was only half-finished, and to it and to other parts of the house the workmen's scaffolding still clung. Heaps of stone and piles of lumber were scattered about in great disorder. The house extended partly along the edge of a ravine through which a slender creek ran toward the lake. The terrace became a broad balcony immediately outside the library, and beneath it the water bubbled pleasantly around heavy stone pillars. Two pretty rustic bridges spanned the ravine one near the front entrance, the other at the rear. My grandfather had projected his house on a generous plan, but buried as it was among the trees, it suffered the lack of perspective. However, on one side toward the lake was a fine meadow, broken by a water-tower, and just beyond the west dividing wall I saw a little chapel and still farther in the same direction the outlines of the buildings of St. Agatha's were vaguely perceptible in another strip of woodland.

The thought of gentle nuns and schoolgirls as neighbors amused me. All I asked was that they should keep to their own side of the wall.

I heard behind me the careful step of Bates.

"Good morning, Mr. Glenarm. I trust you rested quite well, sir."

His figure was as austere, his tone as respectful and colorless as by night. The morning light gave him a pallid cast. He suffered my examination coolly enough; his eyes were, indeed, the best thing about him.

"You may breakfast when you like, sir,"—and thus admonished I went into the refectory.

A newspaper lay at my plate; it was the morning issue of a Chicago daily, and was not at all what I needed.

would, I reflected, scanning the headlines.

Bates had placed me so that I faced the windows, an attention to my comfort and safety that I appreciated. The broken pane told the tale of the shot that had so narrowly missed me the night before.

"I'll repair that to-day, sir," Bates remarked, seeing my eyes upon the window.

"You know that I'm to spend a year on this place; I assume that you are acquainted with the circumstances," I said, feeling it wise that we should understand each other.

"Quite so, Mr. Glenarm."

"I'm a student, you know, and all I want is to be let alone."

This I threw in to reassure myself rather than for his information. It was just as well, I reflected, to assert a little authority, even though the fellow undoubtedly represented Pickering and received orders from him.

"In a day or two, or as soon as I have got used to the place, I shall settle down to work in the library. You may give me breakfast at seven-thirty; luncheon at one-thirty and dinner at seven."

"Those were my late master's hours, sir."

"Very well. And I'll eat anything you please except mutton broth, meat pie and canned strawberries. Strawberries in this, Bates, are not well calculated to lift the spirit of man."

"I quite agree with you, sir, if you will pardon my opinion."

"And the bills."

"They are provided for by Mr. Pickering. He sends me an allowance for the household expenses."

"So you are to report to him as you-as heretofore?"

I blew out a match with which I had lighted a cigar and watched the smoking end intently.

"I believe that's the idea, sir."

It is not pleasant to be under com-

"I suppose you all knew my grandfather hereabouts?"

"Well, yes; you might say as we did, or you might say as we didn't. He wasn't just the sort that you got next to in a hurry. He kept pretty much to himself. He built a wall there to keep us out, but he needn't have troubled himself. We're not the kind around here to meddle, and you may be sure the summer people never bothered him."

There was a tone of resentment in his voice, and I hastened to say:

"I'm sure you're mistaken about the purposes of that wall. My grandfather was a student of architecture. It was a hobby of his. The house and wall were in the line of his experiments, and to please his whims. I hope the people of the village won't hold any hard feelings against his memory or against me. Why, the labor there must have been a good thing for the people hereabouts."

"It ought to have been," said the man gruffly, "but that's where the trouble comes in. He brought a lot of queer fellows here under contract to work for him—Italians, or Greeks, or some sort of foreigners. They built the wall, and he had 'em at work inside for half a year. He didn't even let 'em out for air and when they finished his job, he loaded 'em on to a train one day and hauled 'em away."

"That was quite like him, I'm sure," I said, remembering with amusement my grandfather's secretive ways.

"I guess he was a crank all right," said the man conclusively.

It was evident that he did not care to establish friendly relations with the resident of Glenarm. He was about 40, with a yellow beard and pale blue eyes. He was dressed roughly and wore a shabby soft hat.

"Well, I suppose I'll have to assume responsibility for him and his acts," I remarked, piqued by the fellow's surlyness.

He looked at me for a moment and then turned away.

"We're not the kind around here to meddle."

We had reached the center of the village, and he left me abruptly, crossing the street to one of the shops. I continued on to the railway station, where I wrote and paid for my message. The station master inspected me carefully as I searched my pockets for change.

You want your telegrams delivered at the house?" he asked.

Yes, please, I answered and he turned away to his desk of clicking instruments without looking at me again.

It seemed wise to establish relations with the postoffice, so I made myself known to the girl who stood at the delivery window.

"You already have a box," she advised me. There's a boy carries the mail to your house. Mr. Bates hires him."

Bates had himself given me this information but the girl seemed to find pleasure in imparting it with a certain severity. I then bought a cake of soap at the principal drug store and purchased a package of smoking tobacco, which I did not need at a grocery.

News of my arrival had evidently reached the villagers; I was conceived enough to imagine that my presence was probably of interest to them; but the station master the girl at the post-office and the clerks in the shops treated me with an unmistakable cold reserve. There was a certain evenness of the chill with which they visited me, as though a particular degree of frigidity had been agreed on in advance.

"Henry," said Mrs. Peck, "I am going to get a phonograph and talk into it, so that if I happen to die first you can still hear my voice."

"Perhaps," replied Henry hopelessly, "I will die first."—Houston Post

STATE ELECTION.

The Voters Indorse Teaching Trades to Convicts.

The Republican state ticket was elected Monday by large majorities, considering the size of the vote, probably from 40,000 to 50,000.

Monday's vote, broadly viewed, was light, though there were local contests in spots which brought out the voters in strength almost equal to that of a gubernatorial election. The winners are:

Justices of the supreme court—William L. Carpenter and Aaron V. McAlvay. (Both re-elected.)

Regents of the state university—Junius E. Beal and Frank B. Leland. Member state board of education—Dr. W. A. Cotton.

The question of largest interest was that of the proposed amendment to the state constitution to wipe out the interdiction against teaching of trades in the state prisons, an existing constitutional provision which was recently construed by the state supreme court in a fashion which threatened all future prison contracts for the employment of convicts. The voters of the state, as indicated by incomplete returns from all sections of the commonwealth, have emphatically disapproved of the situation created by this decision. The constitution will be amended to permit the teaching of trades to convicts.

Great interest was created throughout the state by the congressional fight in the fifth district, composed of Kent, Ottawa and Ionia counties. State Senator Hume Russell competed at the polls with Gerrit J. Diekema, Republican state chairman, for the nomination to the vacancy created by the election to the United States senate of William Alden Smith. Russell did better in Kent county, even, than most observers in other parts of the state appeared to think he would do. Diekema had carried Ottawa by upwards of 2,000, and the returns from Ionia, while slow in coming, gave him a lead there also. Diekema won the nomination, and the nomination is equivalent to an election.

Of the local fights in the state, that at Jackson was the warmest. Mayor W. W. Todd Democrat was defeated by Benjamin Glasgow, Republican, by 17 votes on the face of the returns. Glasgow is a dry goods merchant. A feature of the campaign against Todd was the work of Congressman Townsend who took the stump for Glasgow.

Bay City voted to finance its big river front park scheme.

The Central-Michigan Lake Co., of Chicago has purchased 22,000 acres of pine stump land near Alpena and will manufacture turpentine.

Ald James M. Skinner, of Lansing, came to grief in his new auto the first time he took it out—on Easter Sunday. It was struck by a street car, the body was smashed and the occupants were all injured—Mrs. Skinner the most seriously.

Found Lots of Tax Property.

In its annual report, just issued, the State Tax Commission declares that property valued at many millions of dollars have been placed on the tax rolls through its action and influence, pointing out the fact that during the six years following the creation of the commission real estate valuations in Michigan have increased a total of $430,250,000, or at the rate of more than $67,000,000 per year, while for the nine years preceding the yearly increase was only $3,275,000. In the latter period fifty-five Michigan counties had shown a decrease in real estate valuations. The commission points to an even more remarkable showing as to valuations of personal property. Between 1891 and 1899 the aggregate valuation of this class of property decreased from $156,299,284 to $142,330,376. A decrease was shown in each of 66 counties. The six years succeeding the creation of the commission showed an increase of $292,983,476, or 112 percent. Since the establishment of the commission, therefore, the increase in real and personal values has been $606,000,000 while for a like period before the commission commenced work the increase was only $15,450,000. It is remarked that the law requiring property owners to file with assessors sworn statements of their holdings of personal property had much to do with the increase in these values.

Where's the People's Lobby

If the people had as strong a lobby at Lansing as the railroads and other co-operations there would be something doing and very quickly too. One can look back now and form some idea of what the late Governor Pinckney had to contend with in his battles for the people. Now it's Governor Warner fighting the people's battles and against him are the railroads and the corporations. The game is to stop all legislation in behalf of the people and to build up a machine that will land a corporation man of their own picking in the governor's chair in 1909. Then the old machinists will again be in the saddle, the railroad taxation will be changed and the people will get it in the neck good and plenty. And this leads one to ask, "Does it pay to make the fight?" It's almost a question of being a live man or "a dead hero." The railroads and corporations have unlimited resources and employed skilled in the art of legislation who never sleep and the people are bound to get the short end in time. Governor Warner has the fight of his life on his hands now in the matters of legislation in the people's interest. "Will he win?" Not if the railroad and some other corporations can help it.

A Railroad Commission.

Although the bill creating a state railroad commission to consist of three members and to have extensive powers of control over railroad companies operating in Michigan has been introduced in both houses of legislature, there is little doubt that consideration of the bill will be postponed until after final action has been taken on the several bills reducing passenger fares and it is not likely that the latter measures will be disposed of before the middle of April.

Whitney's Opera House—Detroit.

Life in Montana in the early 80's when moral rights were law and justice swift, is admirably depicted in Klumt and Gazzolo's play, "Big Hearted Jim," which will be presented at the Whitney next week. Indians and school children are involved in the deeply interesting story, also a trained horse. ### Lyceum Theater—Detroit.

Many things combine to make up the enormous success of "The Wizard of Oz," the big production of which will be seen at the Lyceum next week with George Stone as the scarecrow, but perhaps the strongest factor is its absolute originality. This season's production of "The Wizard of Oz" employs over three score of the cleverest people in the theatrical profession. Matinees Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday.

Keep Moving.

The heavens themselves run continually round; the world is never still; the sun travels to the east and to the west; the moon is ever changing in its course; the stars and planets have their constant motions; the air we breathe is continually agitated by the wind, and the waters never cease to ebb and flow—doubtless for the purpose of their observation and to teach us that we should ever be in action.—Burton.

To All the Women Who Suffer Per-na Is Earnestly Commended

Mrs. Geo. C. Worstell, 11 River Road, Clarksburg, W. Va., writes:
"I trust that no one will think from this that I want my name in public for any cause only to let sufferers know where they may find relief from many ailments."
"I can truly say I have been much benefited by the use of Per-na. I feel better than I have for two years. It is the best medicine that I know for pelvic troubles."

"A friend of mine advised me to try Per-na and I did so. After I had taken two bottles I found it was helping me, so I continued its use, and it has cured me sound and well."

"If anyone wants to know what Per-na did for me if they will write to me I will answer promptly."

Mrs. Julia Braxton, Apollo, Pa., writes:

"Per-na has cured me of heart trouble and pains in the side."

"Since I have used your Per-na as you advised me, I am well and able to do all my housework."

"I have all the faith in the world in Per-na as it cured me and I know that it will cure others."

"I cannot praise Per-na enough for what it has done for me."

MISS NETTIE E. BOGARDUS

Miss Nettie E. Bogardus, R. F. D. 21, Westfield, N. Y., writes:

"I have been a great sufferer from sick headaches, but am now entirely free from that trouble. I have not felt so well in ten years as I do now. I would recommend Per-na and Manalin to all sufferers. I will say, God bless Dr. Hartman and his wonderful remedies."

Stomach Catarrh.

Miss Julia Butler, R. R. 4, Appleton, Wis., writes:

"For the past six years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach, causing loss of sleep and appetite, with frequent severe pains after eating."

"My sister advised me to try Per-na. I took your treatment and my appetite returned speedily."

"I gained strength and flesh and am in perfect health."

"I am so thankful your medicine has done me so much good."

MRS. GEO. C. WORSTELL

Mrs. O. D. Robinson, 48 St. Felix St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I have taken Per-na and it did me more good than all my two years' treatment by special physicians. I can really say that I feel like another person. No more swollen feet and limbs. No more bloating of the abdomen. No more shortness of breath. No more stiff and sore joints. You have no idea what your treatment has done for me. It certainly has prolonged my life and made a new woman of me."

"O, such a blessing I have received through your kindness, doctor, and the assistance of the medicine which you so kindly prescribed. I am able to work since I began your treatment, but before I was not able to help myself, much less work for any one else. All praise is due to Dr. Hartman and his treatment."

Tommy Won.

At a child's party lately one boy created quite a sensation in his efforts to outdo the others. They were playing "Button, button, who's got the button?" and presently, after a very confusing hunt, the mother of the little hostess said:

"No one seems to have the button. Now, who had it at the beginning of the game?"

"I did!" exclaimed a little girl.

"To whom did you give it?" asked the lady.

"Tommy Jones, ma'am."

"Tommy, to whom did you give it?" Silence.

"Speak up, Tommy."

"I—I—swallowed it!" gasped Tommy.

"Mersey!" said the lady, "how big was it?"

"Well," answered Tommy, "when Maggie gave it to me it was about as big as a pea, but it feels as big as an egg, ma'am, and I'm sorry I won the game."

Weather and Suicides.

Suicide travels in waves like various kinds of crime, and in large cities they come in rapid succession. Dull November has been called the suicide month, but August shows a larger number the past year, and it is believed that the great heat has a very great deal to do with suicides. In extreme cold weather there are few suicides in this or any other country.

FOR A FEW FRIENDS

APPROPRIATE MENU AT A SIMPLE LUNCHEON.

Inexpensive Courses Pleasing to the Eye and Gratifying to the Palate—Beauty in Coloring of Rugs

For a small luncheon, the following menu will be found inexpensive. For the first course half a grapefruit (the pulp of which has been removed) chilled, sweetened, and a little grape juice added. Serve this in the grape fruit shells or in glasses, which come for the purpose, with one or two maraschino cherries on top, and around the edge place a row of white grapes, cut in half and the seeds removed.

For your next course serve a cream-fish of some kind. To prepare this, make a rich cream sauce, and into this break your cold boiled fish, sprinkle with chopped parsley, and season to taste. Bake in individual ramekins. With this course have small bread and butter sandwiches on any rolls.

A single chop with French peas and shavings potatoes will be nice for the third course. The meat may be garnished with a bit of parsley or watercress, with this have hot rolls and olives.

For your salad apple cups filled with chopped nuts and celery, mixed with mayonnaise or French dressing, the attractive, ice cream with macaroons is a good dessert, and with this serve your coffee. On your table place small dishes of salted nuts, raisins and candied ginger.

Have the grapefruit on the table when the guests are seated. Serve fish in ramekins from the kitchen. Then have your chops prettily arranged on a platter and serve these yourself. As the salad course is supposed to be on individual plates, have the maid bring in the hostess may serve the ice cream. If the top of your table is well polished, use a white center square with doilies to match under the plates. A few flowers on the table is a great addition.

If it is impossible to study great paintings according to Harpers Bazar, make a study of the charms of an old oriental rug. Why is it so beautiful? What color contrasts have these masters of weaving employed? Which colors are used in large quantities, and which in small, etc? Bits of old Chinese embroidery will reveal a marvelous mastery of color. Pieces of pottery and glass are often a complete revelation of color and contrast if studied with an intelligent eye. In all these masterpieces of art, whether in painting, weaving, embroidery or pottery, one can study how the beauties of color may be brought into practical application. The artists were for the most part led by genius to express the beauties inspired by them. It was necessary for them to analyze either methods or results, but we would see through their eyes and learn their secrets for our own use. We must study their ways of working and discover as well as we can a few principles underlying their success. Color harmony is not yet a science, but it is on the borderland of becoming a science. We can discover a few general rules in color quality and color arrangement for our own use by this observation.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

To keep a pencil drawing from blurring, dip it gently in quite fresh milk and dry on a smooth hard surface, face up.

It is said stains can be removed from black cloth by rubbing with a freshly cut raw potato, wiping with a clean cloth.

Dedicate wall paper can be cleaned by wiping with balls of dough made by kneading stiff a paste of four pounds of flour and two pints of cold water.

To keep faucets bright polish as bright and smooth as possible, then varnish with good spar varnish. You can just wipe them off with a moist cloth.

Holes in walls can be stopped with plaster of paris, but mix this with vinegar instead of water, or it will harden so quickly that it will be difficult to manipulate.

To clean jewelry with stones in it, wash it in warm suds made with yellow soap and a few drops of sal volatile. You will find this makes the ornament brilliantly clean.

Stains on flannel blankets and light-colored notions may be removed by an application of glycerin and raw silk of egg—equal parts of each well mixed together. Let this soak in thoroughly, and when it has done its work, remove it by washing with soapy water.

Carrots Stewed in Sugar and Cream. Scrape and clean a half-dozen good-sized carrots and boil in salted water until tender and the water nearly absorbed, as is the case when cooking pumpkin for pies. Mash the carrots through a sieve, sweeten to taste, pour in a little milk with a tablespoonful cornstarch or potato flour thickened, and three eggs beaten, with a tablespoonful butter. Flavor with orange, heat in the oven until hot, turn on to a dish and serve with powdered sugar and lemon.

A Cure for Hoarseness. A simple remedy for loss of voice is made by heating up the white of an egg, adding to it the juice of one lemon and enough castor oil to make a teaspoonful of this mixture taken at short intervals will soon bring back the voice.

Benefits of the X-Ray.

It is noted from Baltimore that during the ten years since the discovery of the X-ray important research has been made by the medical department of Johns-Hopkins university through the use of the ray as a diagnostic agent, and the results of great benefits derived from the early diagnosis and study of aneurisms or morbid dilation of the walls of arteries, through this agent, have just been compiled and described by Dr. F. Howard Baetjar, of the university.

BLOOD GETS SOUR.

Every Family Should Make Up This.

Home Mixture and Take Now.

At this time of year, says a well-known authority, the kidneys become weak, clogged and inactive, failing to filter out the poisons and acids which sour the blood, causing not only facial and bodily eruptions, but the worst forms of Rheumatism, Nervous and Stomach troubles, Backache and painful, annoying urinary affections.

It is worth anyone's time now to get from some good prescription pharmacy the following ingredients: Fluid Extract Danolone one-half ounce. Compound Kargon, one ounce. Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after your meals and at bedtime.

This simple home made mixture will force the kidneys to normal healthy action so that the blood will be filtered and strain all uric acid and poisonous waste matter from the blood and expel this in the urine, as the same time restoring the "full blood count"—that is, 95 per cent red blood corpuscles—which is also indispensible to perfect health.

Best Violin Strings.

The best strings for violins are of Italian make and are from the intestines of spring lambs killed in September. The process of drying and bleaching of the woods and strings by the hot Italian sun rather than by the artificial method used in other countries, accounts in a great measure for the superior quality of both materials. This intense heat was also the reason for the slow distillation of the oils used by the Italian makers, which always remained at a high temperature, and the varnish, slowly soaking into the woods of the violins beneath the heat of those Italian summers produced in part, the mellowness of tone that gives to a Cremona instrument its value, after a lapse of 200 or more years.—March Circle.

Autographs in Demand.

At the present time the greatest demand is for autographs of the English literary celebrities, some of which bring thousands of dollars. Keats and Shelley command such high prices that they sell best abroad, where there are more collections. In London, Berlin and Paris there are continual autograph sales during the season.—The Circle.

A FRIENDLY GROCER.

Dropped a Valuable Hint About Coffee.

"For about eight years," writes a Mich. woman, "I suffered from nervousness—part of the time down in bed with nervous prostration.

"Sometimes I would get numb and it would be almost impossible for me to speak for a spell. At others, I would have severe bilious attacks, and my heart would flutter painfully when I would walk fast or sweep.

"I have taken enough medicine to start a small drug store, without any benefit. One evening my grocer was asking husband how I was and he urged that I quit coffee and use Postum, so he brought home a pkg. and I made it according to directions and we were both delighted with it.

"So we quit coffee altogether and used only Postum. I began to get better in a month's time and look like another person, the color came back to my cheeks, I began to sleep well, my appetite was good and I commenced to take on flesh and become interested in everything about the house.

"Finally I was able to do all my own work without the least sign of my old trouble. I am so thankful for the little book, 'The Road to Wellville.' It has done me so much good. I haven't taken medicine of any kind for six months and don't need any.

"A friend of ours who did not like Postum as she made it, liked mine, and when she learned to boil it long enough, hers was as good as mine. It's easy if you follow directions." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

How a Swan River Settler Has Succeeded.

Benito, Manitoba, Nov. 20, 1906. At Swan River Valley, in May, 1900, a settler took up a homestead on Section 30, in Township 34, Range 29 West of the First Meridian, at that time 50 miles from a railway, telegraph, school or church. There is now a railway within two miles of my farm, and all these other advantages close at hand. His story is—

"After making my homestead entry fee of $10 I had $45.00 total (forty-five dollars) capital. Through doing homestead duties in slack times of the year, I managed to get a start. I am a married man of 28 years of age. I built my first house, or shack, and broke up 8 acres, putting five acres in crop the first year.

"This year, 1906, I had 80 acres in crop—65 acres in wheat, 20 acres of which yielded 850 bushels, or 42½ bushels per acre, 15 acres of oats, which yielded 755 bushels, and one stack of oats in sheaf for feed.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed, generally that the California Fig Syrup Co. by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY.

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C. that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

Here is a Northville woman who endorses this claim: Mrs. O. S. Harger, living on Center street, Northville, Mich., says: "I have known the value of Doan's Kidney Pills for some time and can recommend them as a most valuable remedy for backache. For a long time I suffered with pain in my back that was often quite severe and made it hard for me to do anything, not even ordinary housework. ## SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

INTERNAL PARASITES.

Cooper's New Discovery has taught me many things. Not least of which is that parasites or tape worms as they are called are responsible for an immense amount of suffering. Thousands of these creatures have been brought to me by people who have taken the New Discovery and now know that an immense amount of supposed stomach trouble is caused in reality by one of these parasites. A man or woman may be afflicted in this manner for years and not realize the true cause of their suffering. When I first sold Cooper's New Discovery I did not know that the medicine would remove this trouble. I have since found that it invariably does so. The following letter is a fair sample of the symptoms as experienced by an individual thus affected:

"I was always tired. My stomach bloated and the slightest exertion made me sick, weak and dizzy. My appetite was variable and a good nights sleep was unknown to me. When I awoke in the mornings I had a bad taste in my mouth and a coated tongue. I heard of the wonderful benefits that were being derived from Cooper's New Discovery, and decided to try it."

"The horrible tape worm, sixty feet long that had been sapping my life away, passed from my system alive and squirming after I had taken three doses. Now I have a splendid appetite, every trace of stomach trouble has disappeared and my digestion is good. I sleep well and am gaining in strength every day."
