NORTHROP WON OUT

RECEIVED 57 MAJORITY ON SUPERVISORSHIP.

Adolph Baldea Made Great Run for Treasurer.

Not in many years has there been such a large vote polled at a Northville township election as that of Monday when 555 voters exercised their right of American citizenship.

The Democrats had up a strong ticket and besides electing the treasurer they cut into the Republican majorities in many instances in a telling way. The regular Republican majority was 228. Joe Miller really lead the Republican ticket, receiving 237 majority for constable. Floyd Northrop won for supervisor by 57 majority. Jesse Clark by 206, J. O. Knapp by 92, C. C. Chadwick by 154, F. N. Perrin by 195, D. W. Barber by 165.

Adolph Baldea, the Democratic nominee for treasurer, won out by 148 majority. It was nothing against his opponent for "Butch" would undoubtedly have won out Monday for any office on the ticket from supervisor to constable.

Mr. Sessions also made a big run, but Floyd Northrop's popularity as a genial wholesomeness young fellow carried him through.

The Democrats in Northville have gotten together and have a good organization and they are giving evidence that the Republicans are not going to run off with all the offices in the future.

Following is the vote the first name in each case being Republican:

THROUGH D. U. R. CARS

WILL SOON BE RUNNING ON PLYMOUTH DIVISION.

Run that way to Detroit As Well As via Farmington.

Beginning with about April 21 the D. U. R. will put on through cars from the Ann Arbor division from Northville to Detroit via Plymouth, giving two hour service. The big cars will leave Northville on the odd half hour and connect with the other Detroit cars which run via Farmington. Cars will leave at 5.30 and every two hours thereafter up to 9.30 arriving in Detroit in two hours.

The D. U. R. will also give freight service to Plymouth via Wayne and if the business warrants will also give it between Northville and Plymouth.

In the passenger service via Plymouth the big Ann Arbor cars will be used. The track is now being put in shape and improvements will be made all along the line as fast as possible.

The people all along the line will appreciate the efforts and enterprise of the D. U. R. along this line and General Manager Bullen and General Passenger Agent Fry says the service to Northville and Plymouth people will be second to none other.

Spencer—Warden.

W. G. Spencer and Mrs. Lillian M. Warden were married in Detroit last Thursday by Justice E. D. Gaw. The groom is well known in Northville having been employed by Carpenter & Huff as tinner the past two years.

The happy couple will soon go to housekeeping on Northside where the groom was recently purchased a house and lot.

OPINIONS FROM THE STATE PRESS

Effective Fight for Primary Reform.

There can be no question but that the developments of Monday's election so far as the state situation is concerned are all in Governor Warner's favor. By his vigorous effective fight for primary reform he has strengthened himself immeasurably with the people and it is no exaggeration to say that the spring election of April clearly foreshadows his re-nomination in September, and his re-election in November.—Sault Ste. Marie News.

Let's We Forget.

In the hurry and stress of the local political campaign the people of Delta county should never lose sight of the fact that we have in the person of Senator O. B. Fuller a candidate for the Republican nomination for auditor general. Senator Fuller has a host of friends all over the state and he will be a formidable candidate. Of course the Tip Atwood machine is lined up pretty solidly against the senator, not because the members of the machine do not like him personally, but because he stood so loyally by Governor Warner in his fight to secure legislation in the interests of the whole people during the last session of the legislature.—Escanaba Journal.

Complete Primary Reform Work.

The overwhelming vote in favor of direct nominations in counties where the question was submitted, Monday, is a pointer to the probable action of Republican voters at the primary elections next September. Governor Warner stands today as the champion of the direct nomination system in Michigan. Opposed to him have stood the old machine elements, with T. W. Atwood at their head. The "boxers" in the state senate prevented amendment of the primary laws in the last regular and special sessions of the Legislature, as urged by the governor and now approved by Republican voters. It is therefore a safe prediction that a good majority of Republicans will vote next September to give Fred M. Warner another term as governor, that he may complete the work of primary reform, backed by a friendly Legislature, and may also carry through other reforms for which he stands.—Port Huron Times

ANNUAL MESSAGE

PRESIDENT DUBUAR ADDRESSED CAUCUS MONDAY NIGHT.

Asks Council and Citizens to Cooperate to Improve Northville.

The first regular meeting of the new council occurred Monday night with a full attendance. President Dubuar presented his first annual message and after being read the council ordered it published in full. It is as follows:

To the Village Board of Trustees:

"I have thought best in assuming my duties as President of this village, to say to you in as few words as possible, what my ideas and wishes are, regarding its government and care, and recommend to you the carrying out of work along these lines.

"Our village is one most pleasantly situated, surrounded by a rolling country with its hills and valleys, woods and streams and being near a large city which is steadily increasing in population and can be reached by either steam or electric lines in a little more than an hour.

Ideal Residence Town.

"If the governing power of our village and its citizens unite in making it attractive and desirable for residences, it will certainly become the home of many who now live in the city, and who will continue to do business there. The railroad will give quicker transportation when the demand is made by an increased patronage.

"Perhaps we have looked too much to the manufacturing interests to build up the place. Factories may find what they consider better locations in cities and at junction points of railroads, but for residences we have the ideal place. The prettier we make it and the better its government, the more it will be sought out for homes, so I urge upon you to do all that we can, consistently, to help along this line and give encouragement to our citizens who are inclined to help.

"We will by so doing, enhance the value of property and add to the numbers of homes and residents.

Inspect Public Buildings.

"Of late years we have known of great loss of life in schools and public buildings, owing to inadequate provision for escapes—at times of fire. I feel that we have a great responsibility in this matter and that it is our immediate duty to have our churches and school buildings, opera house and public halls examined by a competent committee and their safety passed upon and a report made to this body, and if it is found that any are unsafe, that immediate action be taken towards seeing that such changes are made as will assure safety.

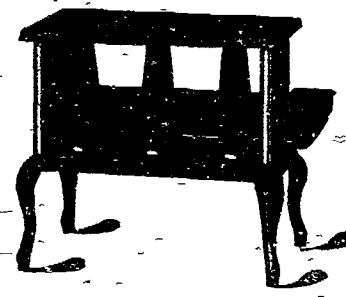

Liquor Laws and Bonds.

"In most ways we are considered a law abiding community but it is generally understood that in the sale of liquors that the law has been ignored.

"That you may have before you the most important provisions of the laws bearing upon the regulation and sale of liquor I will quote in part from various sections. As I wish to refer to the Bondsmen's liability, and as the wording of the law regulating the sale of liquor is the same as in the bond, I will, in order to shorten this message, only give the wording of the bond. This bond is given by the Principal or Saloonist and the two Bondsmen. It is as follows:

"WHEREAS, The said principal has covenanted and agreed, and doth hereby covenant and agree as follows, to wit: That he will not, directly or indirectly, by himself, his clerk, agent or servant, at any time sell, furnish, give, or deliver any spirituous, malt, brewed, fermented or vinous liquor, any mixed liquor, or any mixture or compound, a part of which is spirituous, malt, brewed, fermented or vinous liquor to a minor, nor to any adult person whatever, who is at the time intoxicated, nor to any person in the habit of getting intoxicated, nor to any Indian, or any person of Indian descent, nor to any person when forbidden in writing so to do by the husband, wife, parent, child, guardian, or employer, of such person, or by the supervisor of the township, mayor of the city, or director of the poor, or president or trustee of any village, or superintendent of the poor, of the county in which such persons shall reside or temporarily remain, and that he will pay all damages, actual and exemplary, that may be adjudged to any person or persons for injuries inflicted upon him or them, either in person or property, or means of support or otherwise, (Continued on page 4.)

Forster had his leg broken in an accident two years ago, and Dr. Randall was called. It is alleged that the doctor delayed operation and as a result Forster is now a cripple. The doctor will appeal the case to the supreme court.

Battle Creek's flood waters receded weeks ago, but Main street merchants are still pumping out water. The recent rising of the Battle Creek and Kalamazoo rivers due to heavy rain caused water to seep through the ground already soaked and several stores were pumping out enough water to keep a two-inch stream in motion night and day.

Raise in Rates Is Valid.

Holding that the petition for membership signed is a part of the contract with the Catholic Mutual Benefit association for life insurance, the supreme court held valid the raise in the rates of insurance of that order which went into effect January 1, 1909. The case in which the decision was rendered was commenced by Michael Williams, whose monthly assessment was increased from $1.65 to $5.86. This decision is expected to have a far-reaching effect.

Governor Warner Deserves Much of the Credit

Primary reform has made a distinct advance in Michigan in this spring election. Seven senatorial districts have expressed their preference for government by the people. This means much for the future betterment of state government, and it is not difficult to trace the cause of the advance. The people may support or oppose the candidacy of Gov. Warner for a third term, but they ought to know that it was largely due to his efforts that primary reform was so successful on Tuesday. The governor took the field in the senatorial districts where elections were pending and laid down the law. It was only by hard work that Tuscola county was brought to a repudiation of the old machine methods. It need hardly be said that beating the machine at its own game is no small trick and Gov. Warner has gained considerable prestige as a politician by making so successful a fight for the popular cause.—Detroit News

Lenawee went Democratic.

Lenawee county with a usual republican majority of a thousand or more elected a democratic circuit judge and the city of Adrian elected a democratic mayor and every man on the city ticket. Before nominations are made the Adrian Times (Republican) usually picks enough flaws with the Republicans to give the Democrats good enough campaign material to clean upon their stronger opponents. The Times now intimates the Primary system is rotten in comparison with the good old fashioned conventions.

TYPE THAT HAS-PASSED AWAY.

Country Schoolmaster of the Early Days of America.

Apologies of the country schoolmaster of the early days of America, an old manuscript in the New Jersey Historical society contains the following characteristic anecdote:

"A traveling person coming into a country neighborhood where was a vacant schoolhouse offered himself as a teacher. The neighbors convened to examine into his abilities. He was asked what branches he could teach. 'Almost any,' was the answer. He could instruct children how to read without first learning to spell, to write without first making marks, and it was indifferent to him in what rule they first commenced arithmetic. 'Are you acquainted with mathematics, sir?' was the next question. Supposing some great literary character was meant, the fellow assumed an air of great importance and quickly replied: 'Matthew Mattocks, sir? No, sir, I am not acquainted with Matthew, but I know his brother, Tom, very well!'"

Art in Spanish Bank Notes.

To bamble the counterfeiters, who are both numerous and cunning in Madrid, the Bank of Spain has pursued the policy of changing its notes with great frequency and retiring each issue as fast as possible.

The bank has now determined on a new plan. It has placed an order for a series of notes with an English concern, and it will rely for safety upon a special color process. In addition the notes are to present pictures of well-known buildings in Spain, executed with a perfection that will defy counterfeiting.

"The pictures are to be so beautiful that amateurs will be tempted to frame them," says one Spanish newspaper. "Hardly," rejoins another, "the cost of the set will be 1,675 pesetas, you see." To the Spanish mind $38.50 is a great deal of money.

Insist Laws Be Obeyed.

"You have before you in condensed form certain statutes of the state bearing upon this subject, the laws are very plain, and whoever disregards them, places his bondsman as well as himself in a way of heavy liability. I am inclined to overlook past offences notwithstanding the evidence that can be had, but from this time on, to insist that the laws be obeyed."

"I trust and believe that you gentlemen of the Board of Trustees, will agree with me, in the recommendations that I have made, and that working together along these lines, we shall be able to accomplish a great good, both financially and morally for our community and feel assured that our citizens will support and commend your actions."

THE CHRIST

By Charles Eugene Banks

Upon a circle of the sands
That front the round, desiring sea,
I sit alone with folded hands
Thinking on him of Galilee.

How like a perfect lily grows
His love in this, our selfish world;
His glory no distinction knows
But is for all alike unfurled.

Yon trustful gull that rocking sleeps
Upon the heaving ocean's breast,
His closely in his heart he keeps
As we who have his name confessed.

The tiger in the jungle weaves
A perfect rindure on his coat,
And clear among the budding leaves
The wild-bird spheres his liquid note.

The curving mountain ranges grace
The arching azure's magic rim,
And in the dewdrop's form I trace
The same perfection born of him.

Enwrapped within its seed the rose
Awaiting the world's questioning
Till everywhere the buds unclose
In resurrection of the spring.

In him is all the joy we know,
The way, the life, the final goal,
The fount of love whose outward flow
Is never-ending birth of soul.

Holy Week in Rome

Wonderful Easter Services Held in Old St. Peter's

By Dora Greenwell McChesney

Inexhaustible in its meaning, significance the Holy Week in Rome has ever been familiar to the memory of our imagination, stirring always a renewed wonder in those who witness it.

Above all else Rome is a city of memories. The walls and arches of imperial days, the Renaissance palaces, and the churches which mark every step in the long march from primitive Christianity to the papal supremacy—these stamp themselves on the mind. The incongruous modern elements are as transient in their impression as is the whirling dust from a motor car blown past the tombs on the Appian Way.

The walls of Aurelian, the statue of Marcus Aurelius, bequeathed on the capitol, the august disarray of the Forum—these are actual and imperishable. So, too, is the spacious splendor of St. Peter's with its solemn sequence of ritual, in which, as the Holy Week advances, so mystic and superb a drama of divinity is enacted.

There are many moods in which to approach the great Easter services in the great papal city, from that of the devote to whom the everburning lamps round the apostles' tomb mark a spot only less sacred than that of the holy sepulcher itself, to that of the casual sight-seer, who flutters his Baedeker unabashed through the awful mystery of the mass. Perhaps those do not see least of the significance who look on the magnificent ceremonies with a haunting consciousness of Rome's twofold greatness, and who never quite lose sight of the city of the Caesars in the city of the saints.

It is impossible even to approach St. Peter's, where most of us choose to see the services, in spite of the rival claims of the Lateran, mother of churches—it is impossible to reach the curving colonnades and mighty front without passing by memorials of an earlier, hostile life and creed. Perhaps in driving thither the wanderer may catch a glimpse of the immortal pair, the Great Twin Brethren, who guard in stone the stairs to the capitol. Or, it may be, the shattered, majestic columns of the temple of Mars Ultor have lifted for a moment their stern memorial of Caesar's death and Augustus' vengeance.

Once within St. Peter's, however, conflicting memories fall away, lost as is all sense of minor faults in the building itself, in the impression of vastness, of an all-enfolding and all-reconciling hospitality. That hospitality is taxed by the crowds who gather for the services of Holy Week. Palm Sunday initiates the series of elaborate ceremonies with its beautiful rite of blessing the palms. A motley throng it is which streams up the wide steps and gathers about the altar above which glows in a golden halo the holy dove. There are the foreign sight-seers, of course, made evident by their camp-stools and red guide-books, but there are also soldiers in picturesque variety of uniform, priests wearing their black draperies in the classic folds which recall the toga, shepherds from the Campagna, bearded and wild-eyed in their sheepskins, pilgrims from far countries with the fixed visionary gaze of those who look on their sacred places after long desire.

Sacred indeed is the spot to those who hold the faith of Rome. In front of the high altar with its baldachino—the twisted bronze columns towering up superbly, yet dwarfed by the firmament of the dome above—burn the golden, never-dying lamps which mark the resting place, so tradition says, of the apostle.

But on Palm Sunday the attention is fixed on the altar in the Campella Giulia, and the pressure of the eager people increases cruelly as the paszkets of palms are set down by the altar staffs and the canons slowly move to their places. The priests are in violet, the Lenten color. The deep hue brightened by wonderful interweaving of gold and silver, and the crucifix on the altar is also violet-tinted. There is no organ music, and the deep notes of the chanting swell with a strange solemnity through the echoing vaults. Slowly the brilliancy grows, the candles gleam out on the altar. The cardinal in his sweeping robes and scarlet cap advances among attendant priests and acolytes, the space before the altar is filled with figures white or purple robed, showing in a vague richness through the clouds of incense. The long services go on with the monotonous priestly recitals the responses of the people, occasional bursts of exquisite singing.

At last the solemn final word and gesture of blessing have been given and one by one the priests lift and bear away the palm branches. Then the olive, which is given in their stead to the people, is brought forward in great sheaves, and a priest in gold embroidered robe holds out the silver branches, to the hands which reach and clutch for them, till all the nearest of the throng have received their portion and pass on twigs to those behind. Peace and blessing is that olive to bring to those who reverently receive the gleaming leaves. The distribution completed, the cardinal and canons with their attendant train move in stately procession down the church, out into the portico, and so back to the altar. They bear aloft with the tall tapers and the shrouded crucifix the golden palm branches, not simple bought such as were cast before Christ by the people of Jerusalem. These are fantastically draped and twisted till they look more like furled standards, a significant touch in that church which is so ready to turn the martyr symbol into the conquering banner.

Mrs. Hitt (trying her gorgeous Easter bonnet)—How do you like the effect?
Mrs. De Witt—Why, it's wonderful. You have the right idea. There's nothing like contrasts, is there?

EASTER'S INDUSTRIAL SIDE.

The Church Holiday Gives Employment to Thousands of People.

From religion to business is a big jump in the lives of most men—too many people of this world trying to separate their religion as far as possible from their business, for the reason perhaps that some of their business methods might not measure up to their religious standards. However, that may be, Easter—like all church holidays—has a pronounced effect upon the business interests of the community. What with the great number of eggs eaten; the large number of new clothes worn, and the number of Eastern novelties placed upon the market, it is probably true that no holiday, religious or civic—not even Fourth of July—with the possible exception of Christmas, causes a greater amount of money to be put into circulation. That this is so is a blessing. Hundreds of thousands of people who would otherwise be without work are kept busy half the year making toys, hats and clothes for Easter and what at first appears to be a great national extravagance, conducted under the guise of religion, becomes in reality a marvelous boon to mankind.

HIS WHEAT WENT 22 BUSHELS TO THE ACRE.

HE REALIZED $18 PER ACRE FROM IT, WHILE OATS GAVE HIM $17 AN ACRE.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Nov. 18th, 1907. Writing from Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, Mr. S. K. Hathaway says:

"I have much pleasure in saying that on my farm this year I had 500 acres in wheat, and 120 acres in oats. My wheat averaged about 22 bushels per acre, and I had 200 acres cut before the frost, which I sold at 85 cents per bushel, thus realizing on that wheat $18.00 per acre, not counting cost of twine, seed and labor. With regard to the other 300 acres of wheat, it got touched with frost but is worth 60 cents per bushel. It will net me $3.00 per acre, but I do not intend to sell it at that price, as I can make more money by feeding it to hogs."

"My oats turned out about 50 bushels to the acre, and at 35 cents per bushel will give me $17.00 to the acre, not counting seed, twine and labor."

"On account of the late spring, a percentage of the grain was touched with frost, but on account of good prices, farmers will realize a fair profit on their farms even this year. We are as usual up against a shortage of cars to get our grain removed."

PROBABLY HE WAS.

Doctor—Can't you put your tongue out a little further, Mrs. Mugg?

Mrs. Mugg—Are you one of those people doctor, who believe that there is no end to a woman's tongue?

Gentle Persuasion.

"A young chap from the south, who recently took up his residence in Boston with the purpose of pursuing certain technical studies at the M.I.T., engaged board and lodgings at 'a select establishment' in Columbus avenue."

It was not long after his installment therein that the southerner found himself obliged to complain to the landlady with reference to the noisy doings of some of his fellow lodgers.

"The people in the room next to mine," said he, "quarrelled a loud tone regularly every evening much to my distress. What's the trouble, any way?"

"Oh, you mustn't mind them," said the landlady. "That occurs very often, at least once a week. It's only Prof. Whiteside, the hypnotist, trying to persuade his wife to go to the band concert."—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Lead Them All.

An instructor in the Military Academy at West Point was once assigned to conduct about the place the visiting parents of a certain cadet.

After a tour of the post, the proud and happy parents joined the crowd assembled to witness evening parade, a most imposing spectacle. The march past aroused the father of the cadet to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

"There!" he exclaimed, turning to his spouse. "Isn't that fine? But," he added, respectively, "I shall not be happy till my boy attains the proud position that leads 'em all." And he pointed in rapt admiration to the drum-major. — Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

THEY GROW.

Good-Humor and Cheerfulness from Right Food.

Cheerfulness is like sunlight. It dispels the clouds from the mind as sunlight chases away the shadows of night.

The good humored man can pick up and carry off a load that the man with a frown wouldn't attempt to lift.

Anything that interferes with good health is apt to keep cheerfulness and good humor in the background. A Washington lady found that letting coffee alone made things bright for her. She writes:

"Four years ago I was practically given up by my doctor and was not expected to live long. My nervous system was in a bad condition."

"But I was young and did not want to die so I began to look about for the cause of my chronic trouble. I used to have nervous spells which would exhaust me and after each spell it would take me days before I could sit up in a chair."

"I became convinced my trouble was caused by coffee. I decided to stop it and bought some Postum."

"The first cup, which I made according to directions, had a soothing effect on my nerves and I liked the taste. For a time I nearly lived on Postum and ate little food besides. I am today a healthy woman."

"My family and relatives wonder if I am the same person I was four years ago, when I could do no work on account of nervousness. Now I am doing my own housework, take care of two babies—one twenty, the other two months old. I am so busy that I hardly get time to write a letter, yet I do it all with the cheerfulness and good humor that comes from enjoying good health."

"I tell my friends it is to Postum I owe my life today."
Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

A PROFITABLE EXPERIENCE.

A Striking Illustration of True Neighborliness Was Shown in the Case of Mrs. Walker of Georgetown.

Mrs. Walker had raised quite a brood of chickens, expecting to secure sufficient eggs, when they were scarce, to help pay the interest on her mortgage.

But a cold spell came along, and just at the time when eggs began to get high Mrs. Walker's hens stopped laying. Not one could she get even for her own table.

She was almost in despair when Mrs. Richards called, and when she sadly told her troubles, Mrs. Richards didn't look sad—on the contrary, she looked very cheerful, and exclaimed, "Why, that's exactly the trouble I had a year ago, but I managed to overcome it."

"What did you do?" anxiously inquired Mrs. Walker.

"Well, I told my troubles to Mr. Johnson, our dealer, and he said, 'Why I have the very thing you need. Many of my customers have had the same difficulty in the past, but they don't have the trouble after using this preparation. As a matter of fact, I will pay back every cent of the money if it does not do the work.'"

"Well, I just concluded that I couldn't be running any risk, and so I ordered Pratt's Poultry Regulator and began to feed it. Within two days I could tell the difference in the appearance of the chickens, and in one week my hens were laying regularly, and I was getting a large number of eggs when they were selling at 40c a dozen. My advice is, order the same Pratt's Poultry Regulator (as sure as Pratt's, because there are so many that are worthless), and my confidence is so great that I'll also agree to see that you are not obliged to pay for it if it doesn't do what is claimed."

Mrs. Walker followed her neighbor's advice, got some Pratt's Poultry Regulator, (with the dealer's guarantee), and in a short time had earned enough from the sale of eggs to meet her mortgage interest.

And now Mrs. Walker is telling all her neighbors about her "good fortune" and how it was due to the use of Pratt's Poultry Regulator.

And Mrs. Walker has also been greatly benefited by the valuable information she found in Pratt's New Poultry Book, which is sent free to any one willing to the Pratt Poultry Company, Dept. B, Philadelphia, Pa.

He Saw a Difference.

Barney Malloy and Mike Carey were shingling a roof. "Barney," Mike asked, removing a bunch of shingle nails from his mouth, and setting back comfortably, "what is the difference between satisfied and content?" "The difference?" Sure there's none," answered Barney. "If you're satisfied you're content, and if you're content you're satisfied." "That was my opinion, too, Barney, me boy, up to now, but it struck me sudden like as I put that last nail in that I am satisfied all right that Molly Carey is my wife, but I am darned sure I am not content."

Restaurant Prize Seat.

A novel method of advertising a table d'hôte has been invented by a New York restaurateur. Every Saturday night he selects a certain chair in his restaurant and places its number in a sealed envelope in charge of the cashier. The guests select their own seats. The person who is lucky enough to occupy the selected chair receives, as a present, a handsome gold watch.

HOW TO APPLY PAINT.

Greatest care should be taken when painting buildings or implements which are exposed to the weather, to have the paint applied properly. No excellence of material can make up for carelessness of application, any more than care in applying it can make poor paint wear well.

The surface to be painted should be dry and scraped and sandpapered hard and smooth. Pure white lead should be mixed with pure linseed oil, fresh for the job, and should be well brushed out, not flowed on thick. When painting is done in this manner with National Lead Company's pure white lead (trade marked with "The Dutch Boy Painter") there is every chance that the job will be satisfactory. White lead is capable of absolute test for purity. National Lead Company, Woodbridge Building, New York, will send a testing outfit free to any one interested.

NOTHING MORE TO SAY.

"Pardon my question, but how do you know your wife doesn't wish you to take out insurance?"

"Well, I'll tell you. She's got a notion I'm going to survive her and that it will be collected by No. 2."

Mme. Anna Gould's Boys Enjoy Circus

THREE little boys applauding lustily and in their joyous excitement frequently making exclamations with French expressions of awe and wonderment sat in an arena box at Madison Square garden the other day and saw their first American circus as exemplified by the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth. They were the children of Mme. Anna Gould, formerly the Countess de Castellane, and they expressed as vigorously their approval of the wonders as did their thousands of American cousins who thronged the big building.

They proved too, their ability to ask as many questions as any American boy on his first visit to the sawdust wonderland. The Abbe Carey, their tutor accompanied them and was en-

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One—How it Can Be Done in Northville.

The back aches at times with a dull, indistinguishable feeling making you weary and restless, piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one.

Mrs. J. Abbott, living at 34 Pratt street, Pontiac, Mich., says: "I had kidney complaint and rheumatism for a number of years. It never bothered me much until last year, when I had a very severe attack. My kidneys were greatly disordered, my back ached, and the rheumatic pains extended up into my shoulders. At times I was quite dizzy, and suffered much from headaches. I arose in the morning tired and languid and hated to commence the day's work. A friend who had been benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills advised me to try them. In a very short time after commencing their use I was entirely cured. I am more than pleased with the results obtained in my case by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

July 6, 1906, Mrs. Abbott said: "I am still enjoying good health and am pleased to confirm my former statement in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills." Fifty more proof-like this from Northville people. Call at Murdoch Bros' drug store and ask what their customers report.

Rattler Explanation.

The rattles of the rattlesnake lie edgewise. It is evident that they must do so, inasmuch as they are but continuations of the backbone. The snake carries the rattles on the ground except when he raises them to sound his warning. This will be evidenced by the fact that in every snake of any size that is killed the rattles are worn through on the under side—Forest and Stream.
