CHARLES D. WATERMAN

DIED AT HOME OF P. E. WHITE
APRIL 15.

For Many Years a Resident of This Place.

Charles D. Waterman passed away early Wednesday morning at the home of his cousin, Mrs. P. E. White, after a four weeks' illness of paralysis.

Mr. Waterman was born in Farnham, England, April 12, 1833, coming to Michigan in 1859, settling first in Salem and afterwards moving to Detroit where he was engaged in the packing business for several years. He then came to Northville and run a meat market a few years, after which he sold out and moved on his farm just west of the fish hatchery. A few years ago he moved back to his village home, where Dr. Hoar now has his dentist office.

When comparatively young he journeyed back to England and married Miss Mary Davis, the sweet heart of his school days, whose companionship he enjoyed for thirteen years. He afterward married Miss Anne Ellis, whose death occurred two years ago. His niece, Miss Poulton, then came from England and kept house for him until a few months ago she returned and he broke up housekeeping, going to live with his cousin, Mrs. White.

Deceased was a very kind hearted man and was highly respected by all who knew him. He leaves one sister in England who has been confined to her bed with paralysis the past eight years. He also leaves several nieces, nephews and cousins.

The funeral was held from the house this morning at 10:30, Rev. W. S. Jerome officiating, and the interment was in Rural Hill cemetery.

MRS. JENNIE COLVIN DIED AT SOUTH LYON.

Former Well Known Northville Lady.

Mrs. Jennie Webb-Colvin died last Thursday night at the home of her son in South Lyon of paralysis. She leaves three sons and one daughter.

Mrs. Colvin formerly lived on a farm near Novi and moved to this village about twenty years ago where she lived until a few years ago when she went to live with her son where she died.

The funeral was held Monday from the Presbyterian church at South Lyon and interment in the Novi cemetery.

Risner—Rorabacher.

A very quiet wedding occurred at the home of the bride's father, Frank Rorabacher, Thursday evening, April 9, when his daughter, Maude, was united in marriage to Mr. Mark Risner. The ceremony was performed by the groom's father, William Risner, who is a local preacher, in the presence of the near relatives of the contracting parties. After congratulations a wedding supper was served.

The happy couple began house-keeping immediately on the Risner farm near Novi. They have the best wishes of their many friends.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN BALCO

Well Known and Much Respected Citizen.

John Balco, a farmer living west of town about five miles, died Tuesday evening. He had been in poor health for some time, and, although he had consulted different physicians, nothing seemed to benefit him. The funeral will be held from the German church this (Friday) afternoon. He leaves a wife and seven children.

DEATH OF MRS. WOODMAN.

Widow of Late Hon. Elias Woodman of This Place.

Died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. C. Hall, in Holland, Mrs. Lovina Hungerford Woodman, widow of Hon. Elias S. Woodman, of Northville, aged eighty-four years. She had been a resident of Holland over fourteen years. Mrs. Woodman was a member of the W. C. T. U. and of Hope church.

Her death is attributed directly to a fall she suffered three weeks ago when her spine was injured. She was a patient sufferer and was beloved by all who knew her.

Crippen—Chappell.

Married at the home of the groom in Milford, Thursday evening, April 16, Mrs. Julia Chappell of this place and Mr. W. W. Crippen of Milford, Rev. Mr. Wilson performing the ceremony.

The bride has been a resident of this place for several years and has a host of warm friends who wish her every happiness. They will reside in Milford where the groom has a fine home.

Cards of Thanks.

We wish to thank the Masonic and K. P. lodges and King's Daughters; also all of our many friends who so kindly sent flowers during the late illness of Mrs. Schrader.

Mr. and Mrs. NELSON SCHRADER.

I wish to express my gratitude to my neighbors, W. R. C. and other friends who so kindly sent flowers and other remembrances to my wife during her illness the past winter.

When Like Cures Like.

"If you want to be forever cured of smoking cigarettes," said the woman who is, "have a cigarette friend visit you for a couple of weeks. I inherited one recently. Now she is gone. I breathe again. She was like a little chimney, smoking, smoking, day and night. I would wake at the sound of the scratching of a match, then smell the smoke. I shudder at the smell of the smoke. I used to come in out of the fresh air and find the flat filled with smoke and the smell of it. I would throw up every window. I felt like throwing her out of one of them, sitting there with the stench of cigarette between her teeth, smoking, smoking, smoking. Not any more cigarettes for me, I can tell you. I am cured."—New York Press.

THE SECOND APPEARANCE OF SWISS BELL RINGERS.

The Famous Eckhardt Family Baptist Church Apr. 17.

The famous Eckhardt family or Swiss Bell Ringers will give an entertainment in the Baptist church this (Friday) evening under the auspices of the B. Y. P. U. This same company appeared here last spring and those who heard them were delighted with them. Now is your chance to see them again. The admission is 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children under twelve years of age. Don't fail to go.

Village Improvement.

The Village or Civic Improvement society is pleased to see that Detroit is following in its wake. At a recent meeting the committee resolved to recommend a "cleaning up" day and April 24th was chosen for that day. Immediately after this a Detroit morning paper appeared with an account of a mass meeting where the presiding officer requested, every one to do his share in making "cleaning up" day a success and to do all in his power to promote civic beauty by beginning with his own doorway. It was also announced that Mayor Thompson would issue a proclamation setting forth April 24th as the day. The schools will be closed in order to give the children a chance to assist in the work.

Says Judge Murphy "a better Detroit (Northville) begins at one's own home."

State League Also Anxious to Cleanse.

The following letter has been sent Mayor Thompson by the League of Michigan Municipalities, which is putting into effect throughout the state ideas similar to those advocated by the City Service League.

"Sir—The League of Michigan Municipalities at its last convention, designated Friday, May 1, 1908, as city cleaning day, and requested each mayor to issue a proclamation to school children and citizens to join in cleaning and destroying all rubbish, to ask the health department to join in the work; to request citizens to loan horses and wagons to carry away rubbish and join in the general cleaning.

The city of Detroit has anticipated this action by appointing April 24 and a holiday has been declared in all the public and parochial schools. I would suggest, as an inducement to the children that evening bon-fires of rubbish, as located and directed by the fire department, be authorized. Also that special effort be made towards filling in with winter ashes and rubbish, all hollows and places requiring filling; further, that the matter of sodding public and private premises be looked after."

Respectfully Yours,
DAVID E. HEINEMAN,
President.

The Northville committee also decided to ask the council for the privilege of providing receptacles for waste papers and refuse and also posting "no spitting" signs. They also decided to provide seeds and offer prizes to school children. First for the best September exhibit of flowers. Second for the neatest and most artistic premises.

OPINIONS FROM THE STATE PRESS

Bird Wants Attorney-generalship.
John E. Bird's sphinxlike quiet is eased up thus by one state republican leader:

"Bird really wants another term as attorney-general. He feels that enough work remains to be done by the holder of that office in the next two years to win advancement on merit to a supreme judgeship."

"And further Bird and his real friends are anxious to see the new constitution adopted. They think, and rightly too, it might tend to set people against the constitution if an untitled man were up for attorney-general. You see, about the only salary raised by the new constitution is that of attorney-general—it's lifted to $5,000. There have been several prospective attorney-generals named:

"Tip Atwood was hustling around a little while ago for James O'Keefe, of Saginaw. Then there is Wetmore of Cadillac; Johnnie MacKay, a boxer of Detroit; and Boxer Kinnane of Dowagiac. With a man of that sort up how much influence would it have on getting a long-headed public to voting 'yes' on the new constitution providing a $5,000 salary for attorney-general?"

"But, new constitution or not, Bird wants to be attorney-general once more. There were reasons enough for him to hold his peace as he has. In the first place no man can go contrary to the wishes of the men he must look to for support. Had the demand really been for Bird for governor he would have bowed to that wish and become a candidate. But the men who are really Bird's friends are not at all anxious to have him run for governor. They realize that Bird is a lawyer, is cut out for a jurist, and that for him to be governor would at best be scattering his forces, turning off from his chosen profession, giving up his practice and perhaps forfeiting all possibility of rising to the supreme bench."

"Bird had to wait to see what the republicans thought. Then he had to wait about the attorney-generalship, too. If he said 'I won't run for governor; I will run for attorney-general,' he might have brought down the whole card house about his ears. No he had to wait, he had to go slowly. When the time comes Bird will let the people know that he wants the attorney-generalship for another term."—Detroit News.

Adds to His Prestige.

The defeat of Atwood must add to His Excellency's prestige. Whether Governor Warner's motives in this fight for primary elections in senatorial districts be thoroughly selfish or not he has at least taken the popular side of the argument; and Mr. Atwood's wisdom in actively opposing a system whose popularity, if not its merit, is undoubted, may well be questioned.—Detroit Saturday Night

OSTEOPATHY

Appeals particularly to sufferers from chronic ills—those who have tried everything else, with no permanent relief. This is so because the Osteopath applies new principles in the treatment of these cases. Instead of putting new disturbing elements into a system already upset, he adjusts the human-body machine so that it can do its work and health results. A few of the conditions successfully treated are:

Digestive disturbances including stomach and intestinal troubles; chronic constipation; nervous disorders of all kinds; liver and kidney derangements, etc.

For further information, Osteopathic reading matter, etc., apply to Dr. FARBER, OSTEOPATH, who is at the Park House Tuesday and Friday of each week from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Ladies treated at their own homes. No charge for consultation. Chronic cases a specialty.

Outside of His Practice.

"All that is the matter with you, sir," said the eminent physician, after a thorough examination, "is lack of nutrition. You don't eat enough."

"I eat all I can hold, doctor," said the attenuated caller.

"Then you need to have your capacity enlarged, and that's a case for a surgeon. Five dollars, please. Good morning."

LATEST NEWS OF MICHIGAN

WARD DISCHARGED BY JUDGE IN THE EDITH PRESLEY CASE.

A BRUTAL VERDICT GIVEN

Remarkable Verdict Given by a Detroit Jury Severely Scored by Presiding Judge.

Judge Connolly, in the Detroit Recorder's court, following the reading of an opinion, ended the case against Rep. Charles E. Ward, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Edith Presley, who was a senate proffreader. In April, 1907, Miss Presley came to Detroit, under the name of Marie Hall, and entered Hope sanitarium. An operation was performed there and she died a week later. Mr. Ward's name was brought into the case, the couple having been intimate friends at Lansing. Ward's letters to the girl figured prominently in the case. It has been the claim of the prosecution that the operation performed was criminal and that Ward procured it. The defense has maintained that the operation was for the purpose of saving her life and put the blame for the original operation on the dead girl herself.

Verdict Was Brutal.

The jury in the recorder's court at Detroit declared that Percy Bowin is "not guilty" of the murder of "Mother" Cornelia Welch, although the boy confessed the crime on five separate occasions to police officials, newspaper men and to Judge Phelan, before whom the case was tried. In dismissing the jury the judge said "Mr. Clerk, you may enter the verdict as registered by this jury. It being their right to find such a verdict under the law; but I want to say that it is one of the vilest miscarriages of justice that was ever heard of in this community. I do not understand upon what ground you brought in such a verdict as this. It is contrary to the evidence in the case from the very commencement. I am surprised you have simply opened the gate for this man to go back to the life that he led and the probabilities are that he may commit another such act. You men ought to be ashamed of yourselves and I have no hesitancy in telling you about it."

Held for Murder.

Mrs. George Metzger, the South Bend, Ind. woman who confessed that she fired the shot that ended the life of Carlton Morgan at the home of Mrs. Ray Green in Cassopolis, occupies a cell in the woman's ward in the county jail. When arraigned Mrs. Metzger waived examination and was held without bail for trial at the present term of circuit court. The woman is occupying a cell opposite that in which Ira B. Gage, the Powagiac banker, is confined. What Metzger and Morgan were doing was paying a midnight call to two women in Cassopolis, Mrs. Green and Mrs. Maud Behner.

He Was Guilty.

"I murdered Dolson in cold blood." Such was the statement left in a sealed envelope by Leo C. Thurman, who was hanged for killing his roommate, Walter P. Dolson, of Michigan. The letter left by Thurman gives a full confession. The confession made February 15, in which Thurman declared the Dolson murder was in self defense, is retracted. Thurman said he killed Dolson while the latter slept. He object was robbery and the weapon was an ax. He said his charges of degeneracy against Dolson were false and that Dolson was a gentleman.

A Bond Slave.

The authorities have just unearthed a case of bondage in which a 15-year old Austrian girl plays the leading role. Sold for $50 by her uncle, Joseph Gragoche, was turned over to Miss Antonia Pinter, of Hurontown, a suburb of Broughton, and immediately pressed into slavery. Relatives of the girl, learning where she was, came to the Pinter home and with the aid of the authorities took her from her miserable surroundings. The uncle, Victor Albanac, left for Austria after securing the $50 while Mrs. Pinter is out both money and the girl. Albanac is a brother-in-law to Mrs. Pinter.

Binder Twine Sold.

Gov. Warner, after a conference with Warden Armstrong, of the Jackson prison, gave instructions that no more orders shall be received for prison twine. The capacity output of the plant for the approaching harvest, 500 tons, has already been ordered. The plant will, however, turn out 200 additional tons for corn harvesting. Next year it is expected the plant will take care of the entire needs of the state. It has an annual capacity of about 4,000,000 pounds, but did not get started in time this year.

Louis Borossa saved his life but lost his right arm when his coat sleeve drew him into a rapidly revolving wheel in the Muskegon knitting factory. When he jerked his arm out it was terribly mangled and had to be amputated.

Attorney General Bird is of the opinion that it is not necessary to go to Chattanooga, Tenn.; Dallas, Tex., and St. Louis for sausage exports, as is requested by the attorneys for Armour & Co., of Chicago, in the case pending against the state dairy and food commissioners. The Armour attorneys want these witnesses to settle the question whether the use of cereals in sausage causes adulteration as charged by the pure food department.

SYNOPSIS.

Benton B. Barnes, a wealthy American touring Corsica, rescues the young English lieutenant, Edward Gerard Anstruther, and his Corsican bride, Marina, daughter of the Paolis, from the murderous vendetta, understanding that Anstruther is to be the hand of the girl he loves, Edna Anstruther, sister of the English lieutenant. The four fly from Ajaccio to Marseilles on board the French steamer Constantine. The vendetta pursues and as the quartet are about to board the train for London at Marseilles, Marina is handed over to the hands of the Corsican vendetta, understanding that Anstruther is to be the hand of the girl he loves, Edna Anstruther, sister of the English lieutenant. THE IRON WAY

A TALE OF THE BUILDERS OF THE WEST.

BY SARAH DODGE CLARK

CHAPTER I. Arrow and Fire.

Half a century ago the great region between the Missouri and the Sierra Nevadas, except for Denver, Salt Lake City, and a few mining camps, was a trackless, forestless desolation known only to Indian, coyote, and venture-some emigrant. Yet two men under the golden wing of the government planted a line of lonely posts, and linked them with a chain of stage coaches. Over this treacherous way sped daily messages, men and treasure; sped, and arrived—if frost and Indians permitted.

Late on an autumn afternoon the Overland Mail was toiling upward up a western rampart of the Rocky mountains. Two passengers were on the box with the driver. The center man, looked as Alfred Vincent, was slight, fair, and to the superficial eye, young to boyishness. His air of one bred to the best of city refinements, contrasted sharply with his fellow-traveler, who had been introduced as Mr. Phineas Cadwallader, though the driver afterwards called him "Blowhard Sam," which nickname he vindicated by a constant stream of gossip. But an astute observer would have seen that he was trying to penetrate the reserve, the slight mystery that surrounded his fellow traveler.

Yet whatever the mystery, Alfred Vincent was now posting westward with a letter in his pocket signed by Collis P. Huntington, and directed to Leland Stanford, governor of California, and president of the Central Pacific Railroad company. Alfred paid slight heed to the others. His impatient imagination winged him far from present inaction, over mountain and desert, to the far west, to unguessed conflicts of the future.

"Holy Mackinaw! Only fools would think of building a railroad through this God forsaken country!"

The caustic sentence roused Alfred from his reverie, and Phineas noted that "railroad" was the magic word that broke the spell. The driver, Wilham Dodge, better known as "Uncle Billy," readjusted his quid of comfort, spat with precision, and touched up a lagging whiplash. "Well I'm not taking the chances of calling Governor Stanford a fool!"

"Of course he ain't. He don't intend to build any railroad, either. Not over the Sierras, anyway. He's got a better thing." Phineas' sideways look dimly caught a rift in Alfred's mask. "Meaning?" Uncle Billy questioned.

"That Dutch Flat Swindle. Those C. P. fellows have their wagon road built over the Sierras and—"

"How in blazes can they build a railroad, Cad, without a wagon road? Don't they have to feed their advance construction camps? And won't they have to do it for years, while they cut their miles of tunnels?"

"Oh, they'll put their railroad through to Dutch Flat maybe; but from there on they'll go it by mules, taking all the toll they can get from the $12,000,000 freightage Nevada pays every year to the transportation companies. The C. P. people want a bite of Leland's pie, that's all."

"They're going to get it, you bet!" The driver smiled; yet his low, leisurely words seemed a fiat.

"Not by a jugful!" Phineas lifted his voice and pounded the air; and Alfred detected the sham note, the bid for effect. "What do you suppose we are doing along the line? Why, San Francisco merchants can sit in their offices and sell to all California, to Nevada, Idaho and southern Oregon, at any price they choose to name. And McLane and all the other transportation folks can haul the goods at their own figures; they won't even let the laws have post offices because they like to carry letters at half a dollar apiece. San Francisco bay's full of ships, and the mountains are full of gold, and we're getting it going both ways, out and in."

"Yes, you're taking too much," the driver replied. "Yore killing yo' gose." His smile was unpleasant. "Oh, no, it's hearty yet. And we won't drive on the eggs, either, with those seven-by-nine shopkeepers in that mud hole they call Sacramento. Do you suppose we'll let them make a fishing pond of the bay, and a winter watering-place of San Francisco? Not on your gold toothpick!"

stock? The rabble voted bonds for us, but have the supervisors issued them yet? You bet not!"

"I should think Gov. Stanford could compel the law's with him, isn't it?" Alfred asked, with a languid air that well concealed his interest.

"Compel? Compel nothing! The law's slower'n molasses at the north pole."

"Anyway," Phineas persisted noisily, "if anybody's going to build a railroad it'll be McLane and San Francisco. By Hooker! If anybody milks this government cow you bet it'll be us!"

"Well, we need the railroad," Uncle Billy said positively.

"Need it? What for? Does the east care about us? Not a pin, except for our gold. If they get a railroad they'll demand more of us; and if we don't pony up, they'll ship troops over our own road to whip us in. No, siree! We'll be a Pacific republic yet, California and the other coast states. And the renegades, red and white, here in this country that's the back-door to hell—he waved his hand toward the poison-pooled, sage-fringed plain they were crossing—"they're just the fellows to stand off Uncle Sam."

"Isn't that secession?" Alfred asked with a scrutiny Phineas resented.

"Secession? No, it's self-preservation. Anyway, think of getting a railroad round Cape Horn! It'll take a century!"

"Then they'll tote it across the isthmus," Uncle Billy said calmly.

"Oh, you're dead stuck on them Sacramento chaps, Uncle Billy; and that is bad for you. They'll bust your game and leave you flat broke."

"Call on me in '70 and—" Uncle Billy began, when a trace caught on a rock and snapped. "Accident number 12. Thirteen'll be a whoopee, boys!" he remarked as nonchalantly as if he had only lost a whiff of pepper in a city street. He stopped the team, handed the lines to Alfred, and stepped lightly down to repair the damage.

"Guess I'll go inside for a nap," Phineas yawned and climbed over the wheel into the stage.

—cheated the imagination with their mysterious semblances to man's structures. Alfred Vincent thrilled to each of these weird voices from the wilderness.

Yet homesickness gripped him as the rhythmic hoof-beats put him added miles from the home he still longed for. He thought of his sorrow-stricken mother, her love unvanquished by any deed of his; of her teaching; of the still more potent example of her pure life—these memories saddened, yet softened him; blended his eager vision of the approaching west with the benediction of the spired temple. And for a space his heart was attuned to prayer and peace.

Uncle Billy broke the long silence. "Not yet, my boys," he said affectionately to his team.

They had left the black alkali water behind, had climbed higher, where a thin film of more innocent-looking water was spread on the drab earth before them. The November sun was summer-strong, the dust intolerable; and the mules coaxed dumbly for water.

"Not yet, boys," Uncle Billy repeated. "Isn't it safe?"

"Yes, safe, perhaps, but this is the sink of the stream; the creek watch's a heap better a mile further on."

The mile was semi-perpendicular, and brought them alongside a braving stream, willow-bung, with splashy trout in the still pools, and wild ducks skimming a large pond at the edge of a small mesa. After welcome draughts for man and mule they veered away to another climb. The gorgeous evening pageant was nearly over when the team swung around a sharp rocky point, and one of the leaders shed fat out of the road. The small hands. Alfred's back was turned, yet he could feel—see—those—the gruesome spectacle behind. What could be done? How should they be disposed of?—but there was no time for question.

"Can you bear a hand hyah, Vincent, and quick?"

He turned. The driver had already lifted the shoulders of one. Alfred took the feet.

"Right toward hyah, round the point."

"You—you aren't going to—to leave—"

"Yes, we'll have to, if we don't want to look the same way mighty soon!"

"Can't we put them in the stage? It's awful to leave them!"

"It may be worse to take them; and I'm afraid we'll need the stage for the living if—we get through."

Alfred said no more; and Uncle Billy warned to him as he saw the clear-cut jaw set and a steely light creep into the dark violet eyes.

"He's game!" Uncle Billy whispered to himself.

Gently they disposed of the poor, mutilated bodies, and hurried back to the stage. The driver armed each passenger with a rifle and revolver; and ordering Alfred beside him, and Phineas to keep the lookout from the top, he swung his team into the road and grove forward through the cut with slash and oath.

Dark was stealing on, yet the sun's good-night glory still lingered, its flaming banners striking into the overhead darkness, flooding earth and heavens with strange, sinister color. Alfred thought of what lay behind, and gripped his gun sharply. The team slowed; and Uncle Billy no longer plied the lash.

"See that light there, away yon to the left?"

"Yes."

"That's Anthony's, the next station. Some one's alive there, and that some one is white, or there wouldn't be a candle light, the whole place would be alight." Relief unspeakable breathed in his words, and a half mile passed in silence.

"This is a terrible way to earn a living," Alfred said at last.

"Yes, but this job's easy compared to the trick the pony express boys used to play."

"This is dangerous enough. I wonder the company can induce men to undertake the work. Don't you find it wearing?"

"Oh, yes, I suppose it is. It's right smart skeery sometimes specially at night when I make the trip alone. And I wonder passengers don't buck against being sent across without escort, like now."

They would if they knew what they'd see. But it's infinitely worse for you drivers."

"Well, I reckon the Lord knows his business, an' mules, too. I figger all I got to do is to see he don't catch me asleep on the box."

A sudden admiration for this hero of the desert warmed Alfred's heart.

"This time I'd hated to let them bacon colored critters get me before I got to Anthony's. Those tracks are all from Anthony's, and there's more than men and property—there's Anthony's little gal, and—"

Alfred shivered at the significant pause.

"Anthony's had hard luck. He's one of God's best, if he is set up a mite queer."

"Does he live alone? Oh, no, I suppose he has a helper as they have at other stations, hasn't he?" Alfred hoped the driver would tell him more of the station agent, not because of his own interest in the agent, but that he might be saved from thinking.

"Yes, he has a helper. Gid Ingram, but he's only a boy, if he is big. And Stella, pore little chicken! She—"

Alfred waited discreetly.

"Away back in the fifties Anthony struck it rich over Washoe way." Uncle Billy began again in a staid tone. "Struck it powerful rich; panned out money fast'n he could count it. And what did he do but put up the durned biggest palace this side of Frisco—put it up right there where he struck ut. It was a bang-up place for sho'; big rooms with flower gardens in the carpets, and flower gardens on the walls, gold chairs, and looking glasses till you'd see yo'self so many times you'd think you'd got 'em again."

"That there house" he continued presently, "stood in a little artificial-looking garden, just as sassy as a jaybird, setting there on the bare flank of the Steery Nevayds. But the whole blamed outfit looked awful lone some in spite of bein' so grand and handsome. It seemed durned out of place, like a peacock in full spread on a snowbank."

"Didn't Mr. Anthony have a family?" Alfred questioned.

"Yes, one little gal; that was all. When he got those domestic cyards dealt out to suit him, he sent back east somewhere for her. She was a pearl little slip 'bout nine years old—come oveh from Sacramento in my stage. I used to drive in God's country those days."

"Anthony put her in as mistress of the mansion; an' there she'd sit in her high-back chair at the head of the table as big as life, the only bit of crinolene present when he'd give grand dinners to the Washoe quality. The men would toast her, and she'd stan' up and bow, solemn as a funeral."

"What? No woman at all around her?"

"Oh, he had an old woman to look after her a mite, comb and mend, and such; a good old critter, but no thoroughbred. And except for her the little one never saw any but men."

"How did she learn anything?"

Easter Lilies. Mostly Come from Japan

NEW YORK.—How many persons know that New York's Easter floral display owes a good deal to imported goods? The finest azaleas now in the market crossed the ocean from Belgium and Holland late last fall. At the same time came lilac bushes, rhododendrons, bay trees and other plants, the consignment being mainly to florists in this and other American cities.

"I was in a leading Philadelphia florist shop last autumn," said a Fifth avenue florist, "when 40,000 azaleas were delivered to him from the steamer. His yearly import is generally 60,000 azaleas."

"Why, of course, this country can grow all we need, but the greater cost of labor here makes the cost of production come to far more than the cost in Belgium and Holland. Even with freight and duty charges added, I can import plants for less money than I can buy them over here."

Similarly more than one-half of all the lilies used at Easter come from Japan—that is, the bulbs do. Once upon a time Bermuda sent us more of the bulbs used in this market, as well as quantities of flowering lilies. It was found, however, as the demand for Easter flowers grew and the Easter floral display became a feature of New York and other large cities, that the Japan lilies were finer, stronger, more lasting and that there was more profit in them for the retailers. Therefore they began to place large orders with growers in the flowery kingdom, and this year, as for several years past, most of the stock offered by the best-known florists at from 20 to 25 cents a lily will have started life in Japan. The western states send no plants at all to this market. On the contrary the east or rather the New Jersey and Long Island growers, fill large orders from western cities for the finer grades of cut flowers the year round.

Mme. Anna Gould's Boys Enjoy Circus

THREE little boys applauding lustily and in their joyous excitement frequently varying exclamations with French expressions of awe and wonderment sat in an arena box at Madison Square garden the other day and saw their first American circus as exemplified by the Barnum & Bailey "Greatest Show on Earth." They were the children of Mme. Anna Gould, formerly the Countess de Castellane, and they expressed as vigorously their approval of the wonders as did their thousands of American cousins who thronged the big building.

They proved, too, their ability to ask as many questions as any American boy on his first visit to the sawdust wonderland. The Abbe Caynac, their tutor, accompanied them, and was engaged in meeting a continuous array of interrogation points. It was, too, his first experience with the circus, and he endeavored to draw his store of information chiefly from the program with its terrible array of adjectives.

When the big show was over little Jay, who is but five years of age, was prepared to pronounce the American clown the greatest invention of the age. Again and again he was on his feet, laughing and clapping his hands when the clown passed, who had increased his altitude to 16 feet with the aid of stilts, and when another painted descendant of Pierrot, astride a bicycle built like a horse, performed desperate balancing feats with a stuffed male figure provoked a series of "Oh-oh-ohs" that caused the abbe to applaud as heartily as the boys.

George, aged eight years, was especially interested in the acrobats and trapeze performers, while Boni, who is nine years old, championed most heartily the performance of Wotan, the equine acrobat.

MADE HIS MEANING CLEAR.

Professor's Son Translated Father's Speech Into the Vernacular.

A college professor, in company with his son, was enjoying a walk in the country, when he met an old farmer. It had been a very wet season, and the professor, thinking to start the conversation in a way that would prove interesting to the farmer, remarked:

"There has been a rather abnormal precipitation of late."

The farmer seemed somewhat embarrassed, and the professor's son, who used a different vernacular, though he was a student in the college to which his father was attached attempted to straighten out the matter. Drawing the farmer to one side, he said in a superior way:

"The governor means that we've been having a devil of a lot of rain."

GIRL WAS DELIRIOUS

With Fearful Eczema—Pain, Heat, and Tingling Were Excruciating—Cuticura Acted Like Magic.

"An eruption broke out on my daughter's chest. I took her to a doctor, and he pronounced it to be eczema of a very bad form. He treated her, but the disease spread to her back, and then the whole of her head was affected, and all her hair had to be cut off. The pain she suffered was excruciating, and with that and the heat and tingling her life was almost unbearable. Occasionally she was delirious and she did not have a proper hour's sleep for many nights. The second doctor we tried afforded her just as little relief as the first. Then I purchased Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, and before the Ointment was three-quarters finished every trace of the disease was gone. It really seemed like magic. Mrs. T. W. Hyde, Brentwood, Essex, England, Mar. 8, 1907."

No Visible Signals. "Yessum," said Sandy Pikes, as he devoured the wedge of pumpkin pie, "I sternly object to the nefarious practice of clipping off de tails of dogs."

"Ah, I am glad you are so tender-hearted, my poor man," sympathized the good housewife.

"Well, it ain't exactly dat, mum, but when a dog hasn't any tail I can't tell by de-wags if he is in a good humor or not and it makes me skeery about approaching de house."

A LESSON

How, by God's Way,
Which Is Not Our Way,
Easter Spoke Its Old
Message of New Life

It was a sad Easter for Mrs. Farnham. Three times since the lilies last blossomed had death come to her house. Her mother, her husband and her boy had filled her heart.

She went to church on Easter morning because her beautiful house was intolerable to her, rather than because she expected to find comfort. The masses of white flowers, with the suggestiveness of their heavy fragrance, carried her back to the funerals of the last year. The familiar words of the service sounded like mockery to her.

"Let us keep the feast," "Even so, the Christ shall all be made alive," "Set your affection on things above, not on things on earth. One by one she caught at the phrases only to find each was powerless to help her.

The hymn was no better: The strife is over the battle done, The victory of life is won.

For her strife was just beginning, and defeat instead of victory seemed her fate. She could not lift herself out of her personal woe far enough to apply the words to anything but herself.

She left the church, avoiding speech with any one, and, with her heart like ice in her bosom, she took an electric car toward her desolate home.

A half block before her house was reached the car stopped with a suddenness which startled the passengers. Mrs. Farnham got off, thinking that she would walk the few remaining steps, but she saw the motorman with a white face raising a small boy in his arms from under the fender of the car. The little fellow was unconscious, and there was an ugly bruise on his temple and a deep cut on his neck. Before Mrs. Farnham realized what she was doing the child was carried into her house and she was onished with the doctors in a fight for his life.

For a week the issue was doubtful. Consciousness flickered and wavered, but would not come back. Meantime Mrs. Farnham had learned that the boy was nobody's child. He had sold papers since he was hardly more than a baby. He had lived wherever he could find a shelter, and had eaten whatever he could get. The fact of home was something he had never experienced. The grieving woman forgot her grief in her devotion to the waif who had been cast at her door by the strange decree of what we call accident.

The day came when the boy's heavy eyelids lifted and his childish curiosity at his surroundings unloosed his tongue. To open to him the doors of new life was the most wonderful of joys for his foster-mother. After his long silence it was as if he had come back from the dead. That he could talk and laugh and eat and love seemed like a proof of the power of life over death. Somehow Mrs. Farnham came to believe that it was such a proof, and that it was sent to her in her desolation.

Out of the boy's almost fatal accident there was wrought for him the miracle of home and love, and the opportunity for an educated and useful manhood, and for the grieving woman the springtime brought new hope as the lonely winter passed. By God's way, which is not our way Easter spoke its old message of new life—Youth's Companion.

The Easter-tide's Lesson.

Since our existence is divided into two sections, the one under the temptations and sufferings of this present life, and the other that which is attained in the security and joy of eternity through Christ, so the circle of the Easter festival is divided into two sections, the time before and after Easter. The time before Easter points us to the conflict of this present life, the time after Easter to the blessedness which we can obtain through Christ. The Lord's passion shows us the present life of suffering. The resurrection and glorification of the Lord shows the life which we shall receive.

Custom Not Christian Alike.

The giving of eggs at Easter is derived from the old nature worship, and is not confined to the Christian nations. The Persians of Persia and India distribute eggs at the opening of spring, and in many other nations the giving of eggs at the commencement of spring is as common as New Year's gifts with us. In Hungary the boys sprinkle the girls with rose water and receive eggs in return.

Easter.

Now, while the dawn with tints of rose Smiles through the gray skies, everywhere,
Softly about her morning care
The Easter mother goes.

The little rooms we call the hours
She gladdeneth for all our sakes
And in their cradles gently wakes
The earliest Spring flowers.

The dark hath somehow fallen away,
For where she softly hath uprolled
The snow-white curtains, we behold
The dawn of Easter Day.

And with a cheerful song she gives
The first birds welcome to her door,
While all the Easter world once more
Rejoices that it lives.

—Frank Walcott Hunt

Legends of the Beautiful Forget-Me-Not

"The sweet forget-me-not that blooms for happy lovers, has more beautiful legends clinging to its name than any other flower. They begin 'In the beginning,' with the creation. According to one beautiful tale the Lord called the plants in the Garden of Eden before him to give them their names and color. As he spoke to one after another a tiny flower thought it self unnoticed, it timidly pleaded, 'Dear Lord, forget me not.' The Creator turned sternly toward the little plant that dared to interrupt him then, seeing her so afraid it was he gently smiled upon it, gave it for its color the heavens own blue, and called it Forget me not as a reminder that it had once been so foolish as to doubt him.

It is the Persians who have fashioned a beautiful legend to tell how it is that those flowers are scattered over the earth as the stars are spread over the sky. According to them one morning of glory when the world was new an angel stood weeping outside the closed gate of Paradise. He had fallen, in that he had loved a fair

"He had fallen in that he loved a fair daughter of earth. Together they entered in, for the angel's great love had lifted the woman to Paradise."

daughter of earth. When his eyes had rested on her as she sat on a river's bank weaving forget-me-nots in her hair, heaven and his mission to earth were alike forgotten. Now he might no more enter in until his beloved had sown all over the earth the forget-me-nots. He returned to her and, hand in hand, they wandered, planting everywhere the sweet azure flowers. When, at last, there remained on earth no spot barren of these blossoms, they turned again to the gate and found it open. Together they entered in, for the angel's great love had lifted the woman to Paradise.

Names for Good Friday.

Good Friday is called by some nations Black Friday, by others Still Friday. Denmark calls it Long Friday, in recognition of the long fast. This fast was undoubtedly the origin of eating "cross buns." In the thirty-sixth year of Henry VIII., an enactment was passed prohibiting any baker printing the sign of the cross, the Agnus Dei, or the name of God, upon any bun or loaf of bread.

Marvelous Easter Egg.

A very precious Easter egg was once presented to the late pope by an English lady of high rank. The shell was made of finest ivory, and the white matter of the ordinary egg was represented by beautiful white satin. The yolk was a golden case wherein was a ruby set in diamonds.

SPRING KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Vividly Described by One Who Has Suffered from It.

Mrs. H. Matzabaugh, of Duncannon, Pa., says: "I was sick and miserable all last Spring and as I did not know what was the matter I kept going down and down until I was a physical wreck. I had smothering spells, flashes of heat over the kidneys and pain in passing the kidney secretions, which contained sediment. My husband urged me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and at last I did so. They did me much good, and I used in all eight boxes which restored me to perfect health."

Write Today for Heppes Roofers' Book FREE

Ask for a free copy of Heppes Roofers' Book, worth dollars to any property owner or builder. This book is a practical handbook that teaches you how to lay a Heppes No-Tar Roof on any kind of a building—barn, shed, granary, residence, store, dairy barn, silo, poultry house, ice house, crib or outbuilding.

It tells How to Measure a Roof; How to Make "Valleys" and "Gutters"; How to Lay Heppes No-Tar Roofing Around Chimneys ("Chimney Flashing"), or over old Shingle Roofs, or up against the side of a building with a fire-wall ("Wall Flashing"), or how to apply No-Tar to the sides or interior of buildings, and a great many other practical points. The roofing knowledge you get out of this book is valuable—you can't get it anywhere else. Best of all, the book explains the process of making Heppes No-Tar Roofing—the grandest substitute for shingles ever known, because it gives ten times the protection against time, water, sparks, heat and cold, at a mere fraction of the cost of shingles. Write us a postal for Free Roofers' Book.

HEPPES NO-TAR ROOFING

Grandest of All Materials to Take the Place of Shingles

The prohibitive price and poor quality of the shingles now on the market has created a widespread demand for a satisfactory material to take their place. HEPPES NO-TAR ROOFING is that material. Its price is so extraordinarily low that the combined cost of buying and laying Heppes No-Tar Roofing is much less than the mere cost of shingles. The cost of laying a shingle roof is one-fourth the cost of shingles themselves, and Heppes No-Tar Roofing meets modern requirements ten times better than shingles ever did. It makes a handsome, leak-proof, weatherproof, fire-resisting and time-defying roof. It withstands the snow and ice and storms of winter. It is proof against the hottest sun. It is so easy to apply that any man, with the aid of the HEPPES ROOFERS' BOOK can be his own roofer. Its value as a fire-roofer is shown by the fact that Fire Insurance Companies charge 25 percent less for insuring buildings protected by Heppes No-Tar Roofing than for buildings with shingle roofs.

Used on All Farm Buildings

Heppes No-Tar Roofing is used on Houses, Barns, Sheds, Granaries, Hog Houses, Cow Barns, Silos, Poultry Houses, Ice Houses, Carriage Houses, Wagon Sheds, Cribbs and all other farm buildings. Cover the sides of buildings as well as roofs with it. It will pay big returns on the investment.

Unlike shingles, it does not crack, curl or rot. Unlike tin or galvanized iron, it does not rust, blow off or deteriorate. It needs no repairs and lasts as long as the building.

Heppes No-Tar Roofing Better Than Shingles—Costs 50% Less

The Popularity of Heppes No-Tar Roofing extends from ocean to ocean. Ours is the fastest-growing roofing business in the world. Dealers everywhere sell our roofing.

It is made from the strongest wool felt, water-proofed, and made fire-resisting by being soaked with pure asphalt, and reinforced with coatings of Asphalt, Flint and Mica, under tremendous heat and pressure. Its cool, gray stone color is pleasing to the eye.

Heppes No-Tar Roofing is put up in compact rolls 36 inches wide, and in 1-ply, 2-ply and 3-ply weights. Each roll contains two "squares" or 216 square feet. Each "square" is guaranteed to cover 100 square feet of surface, including a 2-inch overlap. (It is also put up in 1-square rolls.)

Free Cement for Seams and Free Large-headed Nails, with Instructions, are packed in the hollow center of each roll. Easy to lay—no experience necessary.

Warning! Look out for certain brands of "imitation" roofing now on the market which are merely building paper soaked with tar and sprinkled with sand while hot. HEPPES NO-TAR ROOFING is guaranteed to be free from Tar. It does not contain wood pulp, resin, or oil. No-Tar is not an "imitation" roofing—it's the real thing!

NEW ARRIVALS IN CANADA NEARLY 300,000 IN 1907.

ABOUT SIXTY THOUSAND FROM THE UNITED STATES.

Now that it is known that in the year just closed nearly sixty thousand from the United States declared their intention of making their homes in Canada, it might not be out of place to search for some reasons that would bring this about. These people are but following the example of the fifty-five or sixty thousand who did the same thing the year previous, and an almost equal number who the year before that but followed the example of the thousands of the year preceding. An excellent climate, certain and positive crops of grain of all kinds, good markets for their produce, land and good land, too—at low prices, easy terms of payment, not forgetting the 160 acres of land given free by the Government, particulars of which the Canadian Government Agent whose name appears elsewhere will tell you about, and then the splendid social conditions. The situation is pretty well sized up by a writer in one of the magazines. Quoting from this article, we find this: "Those of us who made good in the States," interjected another settler as if to continue the story of his neighbor, "have had it easy from the start; a little money is a mighty good thing on coming into a new country. But those who make an entry, or even buy lands at low rates, are able to square things in two or three seasons' crops. There are hardships in building shanties, and then with increasing prosperity, getting things into shape for better homes. But affairs go much as in the States. We have the largest liberty in the world; there is more home rule in the Provinces than in the several states of the Republic. Taxes are light and with only a few million people west of Winnipeg we don't get in each other's way. One's friends over the line probably thought we would not live through the winter, and while it is cold, real cold, it is free from the moisture experienced in the east. Schools are good as encouraged by the Government; the enterprising American promoter and Yankee drummer see to it that we take notice of the latest improvements and best agricultural machinery. Altogether we are as near to affairs as we would be on our own farms in the States. Winnipeg bears the same relation to us as Chicago did at home; and Edmonton with the surrounding region advances as Omaha did in the days when we were as young as the boys yonder. We get together much as they did in the granges over the border; the government has established experimental schools of agriculture, and progress in every line is stimulated. This is a great region for grazing; we hear the Calgary citizen continuing, "and then with building elevators of wheat at one dollar a bushel, many of us find time to go over to the live stock exhibition in Chicago or visit old friends during the course of the winter. Every man is taken for what he is worth or for what he can raise, and in this good air and on this fertile soil we intend to show our old friends that we are made of the right stuff—that we are chips of the old block who built up the American West."

ONE LESSON WHOLLY WASTED.

Little Surprise Planned by Billiger McSwat Not a Success.

"Lobelia" asked Mr. McSwat, who was rummaging in one of the closets, "have you done anything with that old coat of mine that used to hang on the last hook in here?"

"Yes," answered Mrs. McSwat. "I gave it to the Volunteers."

"You did, did you?" Well, you'll be sorry to learn, perhaps, that there was a five-dollar bill in it which I was going to give you if I found that coat undisturbed at the beginning of March."

"O, I think not, Billiger. I searched it thoroughly before I gave it away."

"You're a pretty smart woman, Lobelia, but it didn't occur to you to look inside the lining."

"O, yes, it did, and I found the five-dollar bill. I spent it for the rubber plant in the front parlor that you have admired so much and wondered how I managed to buy out of my allowance. You're a pretty smart man, Billiger, but there are times when you don't look the part."

There being no further business before the house, Mr. McSwat adjourned without form.

REPARTÉE.

Younger—I wonder if I shall lose my looks, too, when I am your age?
Elder—You'll be lucky if you do.

Prompt Payment.

A village doctor, whose most troublesome patient was an elderly woman practically on the free list, received a sound rading from her one day for not coming when summoned the night before.

"You can go to see your other patients at night," she said, "why can't you come when I send for you? Ain't my money as good as other people's?" "I don't know, madam," was the reply. "I never saw any of it."

TABLE DELICACIES

APPETIZING SALAD AND AN EMERGENCY DESSERT.

Light Meal Easily Provided—and Appealing to the Palate—Corn Pudding with Tomato—Recipe—for Chicken Croquettes.

A salad may be made with tomato without vinegar for an invalid. Use salt, pepper and sherry, but no oil. Choose very firm tomatoes for salad. Sliced tomatoes may be dressed with horseradish and chopped parsley and laid upon lettuce. Pass French dressing.

Emergency Dessert.—An Edam cheese, a crock of pure apple butter, a tin of good crackers and some choice coffee or tea provide a dessert at short notice. To neglect the table for mental pleasure is not right, but it is perfectly right to satisfy the appetite and palate with food that is easily provided, and so leave time for other pursuits, and to some to the table rested and the mind filled with agreeable thoughts gained from reading or a chat with cultured friends.

With food so well prepared for use now there is little reason for undue amount of time and strength used up over the mixing table and the oven, and what is far more wearisome, the scullery work. Good fruit costs something, but far less than doctors' bills. It always sets off a table, and is sure to meet the needs of the rising generation. The wife of a learned man said recently that her half-grown children, mostly boys, smile at their parents' clinging to cooked desserts and refuse them, taking fruit instead, and saying to their parents that it is useless to make cooked desserts at all, as the parents have such to eat up for luncheon another day.

Corn Pudding with Tomato.—The corn that comes canned without any skins in it makes an excellent corn pudding or soup. Some people like it mixed with tomato for a soup. It is also nice to stuff tomatoes with and to make corn chowder, which is a good Lenten dish. Make corn chowder by trying out some onion and adding sliced raw potato, the corn, some milk and seasonings such as are used in chowders of fish and clams. Add crackers just as they are used at the coast.

Fruit Pudding.—A frozen fruit pudding made with dates, figs, rice, gelatin and grapejuice is put together in this fashion. Soak half a package of gelatin in one cupful of cold water for 30 minutes and set it over hot water until the gelatin is all dissolved, and then partially cool it. Add to it a cupful of either Concord or Catawba or other pleasing variety of grapejuice, a small cupful of sugar, half a cupful of boiled rice, and a fourth of a cupful of cut up seeded dates and the same of figs. Freeze until a smooth, firm mass, and serve in ice cream dishes or high glasses.

Chicken Croquettes.—Occasions arise when chicken croquettes seem a necessity, and the following recipe will be found invaluable.

Boil a tender, moderate-sized chicken till tender and cut the meat into dice. Saute in butter one-quarter pound of fresh mushrooms, which have been peeled and stemmed. Make a cream sauce by rubbing three table-spoonfuls of flour into one-quarter pound of butter, melted, and adding one half cup of chicken stock and half a pint of sweet cream, stirring until it boils and is very smooth. Remove from the fire and add salt and pepper to taste, the juice of half a lemon and just a hint of nutmeg. Spread this on a platter until cool, then form into croquettes, dip in egg, then in crumbs, then in egg, then in crumbs, and fry to a golden brown in deep fat.

Chicory Dishes in France.

A French woman who uses chicory more than lettuce for salads uses up all the green tough parts that are not tender enough for the table in a puree. Her rule is this: Boil the chicory until it is tender in salted water and then press it through a sieve. Make a sauce with a table-spoonful of butter, a table-spoonful of flour and two cupfuls of rich milk or cream, add the chicory, bring to the boiling point and serve. Spinach, celery or almost any vegetable at all may be used in the same way.

Handkerchief Pillow Case.

A simple and neat cover for baby's pillow can be made from two 18-inch men's handkerchiefs by stitching them together around three sides just far enough to fit the little pillow, and then tacking tapes to the fourth side at the same distance to tie. Fancy stitches or lace on the hem will make them as ornamental as one may wish.

Cabbage Salad.

Chop small, firm head of cabbage in your chopper, add salt and pepper to taste, then about four table-spoonfuls of good cider vinegar, stir well, let stand in a cool place for two hours, just before serving, add half cup of cream and heaping table-spoon of powdered sugar, mix well, serve on crisp lettuce.

Tomato Toast.

Cook down till thick half a can of tomatoes, with a pinch of cloves, half table-spoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne, an onion, minced fine and a table-spoonful of minced parsley, have ready buttered toast without crust, and pour this over without straining.—Harper's Bazar.

Thread Machine.

If when sewing on dark fabric the needle should become unthreaded, slip a piece of white goods underneath, and you readily can see the eye.

PRACTICAL QUESTIONS FOR LIVE STOCK OWNERS

A BOOK ABOUT COWS AND HORSES.
Question.—Please tell me where to obtain a good book relating to Cows and Horses.—J. T. B., Mich.
Reply.—We learn that new books on both these subjects have been recently issued costing 25c each, but if you will mention this paper and write to Pratt Food Co., Department R., Philadelphia, Pa., they will send you a copy free of charge.

WORMS.
Question.—Please give a remedy for worms in horses.—L. J. P., Mich.
Reply.—A very good remedy for worms is Pratt's Specially Prepared Worm Powder, which is on sale at your dealer's. We happen to know that this article will positively do the work.

INDIGESTION.
Question.—My four-year-old mare is very thin in flesh, and has been unable to fatten her. She shows very little life and I am anxious to know what will improve her condition.—G. T. C., Mich.
Reply.—Your horse is troubled with indigestion and needs a good spring tonic. We can recommend Pratt's Animal Regulator mixed with the Feed twice daily as one of the very best remedies for the trouble you are experiencing. Would suggest that you feed well salted bran mash and do not limit her to only hay and oats.

HEAVES.
Question.—Whenever we have warm and damp days, my horse seems to show signs of Heaves and will not work. What can be done?—E. A. B., Mich.
Reply.—We have known Pratt's Heave Cure to be unusually successful in overcoming this disease, and can give it our unqualified endorsement.

SOUL SPAIN.
Question.—I have a colt three years old that has a soft bunch or puff on the front of the hock joint. Please advise me how to cure this.—H. A. M., Mich.
Reply.—Your colt has bog spavin. If you will have your dealer supply you with a small box of Pratt's Spavin Paste you will find that a few weeks' application will quickly remove the Spavin.

An Undesirable Article.

When Mr. B. went to call upon some friends the other afternoon, he was on his way out of town and so had his traveling bag with him. This he placed in a corner, and when he rose to leave he overlooked it. His hostess happened to notice it before he had reached the door, and called to her little daughter.

"Marie, run after Mr. B. and tell him he has left his grip here!"

The little one gave her mother one swift glance of surprise, but flew dutifully to obey orders.

"Oh, Mr. B.," they heard her say, "mother says you have forgotten to take your grip with you." Then she added, quickly, in a tone of polite apology: "You see, most all of us have had it this winter and we'd rather not have any more!"

Hops.

Walter Damrosch tells of a matron in Chicago who, in company with her young nephew, was attending a musical entertainment.

The selections were apparently entirely unfamiliar to the youth, but when the "Wedding March" of Men delsohn was begun he began to evince more interest.

"That sounds familiar," he said. "I'm not strong on these classical pieces, but that's a good one. What is it?"

"That," gravely explained the matron, "is the 'Maiden's Prayer'."—Harper's Weekly.

A Gentle Request.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkias, "I wish you wouldn't pay so much attention to the personal popularity of horses this year."

"What do you mean?"

"You have a dreadful habit of picking out animals who are favorites before the race and absolutely friendless after."

"De Gustibus—"

"Some men think that a good dinner is the only thing to be desired."

"Yes, and there are some other men who think of a dinner as merely something to have a good smoke after."

LOST $300.

Buying Medicine When Right Food Was Needed.

Money spent for "tonics" and "bracers" to relieve indigestion, while the poor old stomach is loaded with pastry and pork, is worse than losing a pocketbook containing the money.

If the money only is lost it's bad enough, but with lost health from wrong eating, it is hard to make the money back.

A Mich. young lady lost money on drugs but is thankful she found a way to get back her health by proper food. She writes:

"I had been a victim of nervous dyspepsia for six years and spent three hundred dollars for treatment in the attempt to get well. None of it did me any good."

"Finally I tried Grape-Nuts food, and the results were such that, if it cost a dollar a package, I would not be without it. My trouble had been caused by eating rich food such as pastry and pork."

"The most wonderful thing that ever happened to me, I am sure, was the change in my condition after I began to eat Grape-Nuts. I began to improve at once and the first week gained four pounds."

"I feel that I cannot express myself in terms that are worthy of the benefit Grape-Nuts has brought to me, and you are perfectly free to publish this letter if it will send some poor sufferer relief, such as has come to me."

MACHINE-GROUND PAINT.

Occasionally one hears the "hand-mixed" paint of the painter's slighting, spoken of as "unscientific" and "not thoroughly mixed." The facts are all on the side of the painter and his hand-prepared paint.

It is the most "scientific" paint there is, because it is made on the spot to suit the particular purpose for which it is to be used. It is as scientific as a good doctor's prescription. If the painter did not mix it thus it would be as unscientific as a patent medicine. Moreover, the paint which a good painter turns out is made of genuine white lead and pure linseed oil. If he does not mix it himself he is not sure what is in it, and consequently his client cannot be sure.

As for not being thoroughly mixed by machinery, that is simply a misstatement. White Lead as made by National Lead Company is thoroughly incorporated with 7 or 8 per cent. of pure linseed oil in the factory, making a paste. This paste need only be thinned with additional linseed oil to make it ready for the brush.

The thorough incorporation of pigment and oil has already been accomplished before the painter gets it.

To know how to tell pure white lead is a great advantage to both painter and house-owner. National Lead Company will send a tester free to anyone interested. Address the company at Woodbridge Building, New York, N. Y.

Putting it Concretely.

Although Mr. Lawton was wont to indulge in a sort of language which left his hearers in some doubt as to his exact meaning, yet when he was "put to it" he never failed to make himself understood.

"No, I shouldn't want to live in a house like Philander's," he announced to Mrs. Lawton on the evening of his return from a visit to a nephew. "His cellar, now—it's most desperately overgrown whenever the weather is any ways damp."

"Just what do you mean by desperately overgrown?" asked Mrs. Lawton.

"I mean," said her husband, mildly, "that all they had to do was to open the door that led from the kitchen down cellar, and the apples come floating right in on to the kitchen floor—is that plain to ye?"—Youth's Companion.

A Rustic Sarrasm.

"Did your husband ketch chills an' fever?" asked the woman who was standing in front of the cabin.

"No," answered the woman who was driving a spring wagon. "He wouldn't have that much git-up-an'-git. He jes' sot around an' let 'em overtake him."

This woman says she was saved from an operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lena V. Henry, of Norristown, Ga., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered untold misery from female troubles. My doctor said an operation was the only chance I had, and I dreaded it almost as much as death."

"One day I read how other women had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I decided to try it. Before I had taken the first bottle I was better, and now I am entirely cured."

"Every woman suffering with any female trouble should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

STUDY NOT A NECESSITY.

End and Aim of Woman's Life, as Understood by Rosie's Mother.

In one of the Philadelphia public schools is a little girl pupil whose ancestors and coreligionists have ever held that the principal end and aim of the life of a woman is marriage. This little girl is well up in most of her studies, but she has an inveterate dislike of geography and it seems impossible to teach the study to her.

The other day her teacher, made impatient by her seeming unwillingness to learn her geography lesson, sent to Rosie's mother a note requesting her to see that the girl studied her lesson. The next day showed no improvement, however, and the teacher asked Rosie whether she had delivered the note.

"Yes, ma'am," was the reply.

"And did your mother read the note, Rosie," said the teacher.

"Yes, ma'am."

"What did she say?"

"My mother said that she didn't know geography, an' she got married, an' my aunt didn't know geography, an' she got married, an' you know geography, an' you didn't get married."

THE MEAN MAN.

"I believe," his wife angrily declared, "that if I were dead you would be married again inside of a year."

"Oh, no," the mean man replied, "you are mistaken. Try me and I'll prove it."

I Am REYNOLDS, the Roofing Man

I have been in the roofing business for 40 years and they call me the "Pioneer."

I have been in no other business.

I know the roofing business; have made a scientific, practical study of it. I am at the head of my company, of which I am proud. I have also made a success of my business. The result has been our two brands—Torpedo and Wolverine, The "red granite kind," which are the very best brands of roofing on the market today at any price.

This roofing will last longer, is cheaper to lay and cheaper in the long run than any other you can buy.

If we could make a better roofing, we would, but we can't. You will make no mistake in using it.

It only costs about half what shingles would cost laid on the roof.

We will give you an absolute guarantee that our roofing will last you five years. We know it will last for 12 or 15 years, but five years' guarantee is enough to make and we say five years simply to show faith in our own roofing.

It cost us $75,000.00 to find out that our kind of roofing was better than the other man's. The difference is this:

Our roofing is made of crushed, irregular-shaped granite particles put on two heavy sheets of asphalt felt cemented together. These particles of quarry granite have sharp points and sharp edges and such into this asphalt for evermore. You can easily understand why they will stick a great deal better than the round, smooth little pebbles, which are sometimes used.

The granite is to protect the roof from sun, wind and rain, and our granite does protect it.

Do not buy a roof that will need painting. It means there is a weakness somewhere. You don't have to paint a Reynolds' roof.

We have so much to tell you about our roofing that we cannot begin to do it here, but want you to write and let us tell you just why our roofing is what you want and why you cannot afford to buy any other.

We have a liberal proposition to make to you, and no matter how much you may know about some other roofing you should get our proposition. It means a saving.

This roofing is put up in one-square roll, all ready to lay and securely packed inside of the roll are the trimmings consisting of galvanized iron nails and cement in a can with directions how to lay the roll.

Give us all the information you can about the roof, and we will tell you something that will interest you. WRITE US TODAY.

A Prescription for Constipation.

Eminent medical authorities agree that ninety per cent of their patients suffer from ailments due to clogged bowels (Constipation).

The bowels become clogged with impurities and body poisons, causing biliousness, colds, stomach trouble, headache, rheumatism, deranged liver and kidneys, etc.

A Tonic Laxative is prescribed in nearly every case. Those who need a laxative may use this prescription with the assurance that no harmful results will follow its use. It has been given to the Public in tablet form and is known as Iron-ox (Laxative Iron-ox Tablets) and are put up in aluminum pocket cases. The formula is wrapped around the case. The action of each ingredient is explained, that you may understand why Laxative Iron-ox Tablets are the safest Laxative to use; they strengthen the bowels, aid digestion, and keep the liver and kidneys healthy and active. We have secured the selling agency for Laxative Iron-ox Tablets and recommend them to our Customers. For sale and recommended by Murdoch Bros., Druggists.

FRESH LAID EGGS FOR EASTER

is a necessity. The children expect to eat a lot and they must be good. Our eggs are so fresh you can almost hear the cackle of the hens that laid them.

GET YOUR EASTER GROCERIES

here too. They are as good as our eggs and we couldn't give higher praise than that. If you want your Easter table to be a feast in fact have us supply the groceries. They won't cost you any more than usual but they surely will be a whole lot better.
