

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD.

Vol. XXXIX. No. 41.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., FRIDAY, MAY 14, 1909.

$1.00 Per Year in Advance

VILLAGE TO BUILD CEMENT WALKS

PRICE BE LESS THAN 5 CENTS TO PROPERTY OWNERS.

New Innovation Tried Out Proves Success.

The building of the cement walk on the Center street side of the Methodist church property by the Village Council instead of letting the job to contractors was a new innovation. It proved so economical and successful that the Council will hereafter offer to build all walks in the village for 7 cents per foot less 30 per cent or .499 cents net.

President Northrop says the village will guarantee the walks it lays, and that in front of the church property is a good sample. This will save property owners two or three cents per foot on their walk construction.

LET CONTRACT FOR BRIDGE

A TOLEDO, OHIO, CONCERN WILL GET IT.

Cost $700 and Ought to Be Up in Forty Days.

The township board will award the contract for the new iron bridge over the raging Rouge at the Globe-Stimpson factories to the Wynkoop-McGormley Co. of Toledo.

The bridge is to be of the steel truss variety and will have a forty foot span and the board hopes to have it all up and ready for traffic inside of forty days.

The new bridge will be long enough and secured by such firm cement abutments that no more danger from high water is anticipated.

The people of the village are urging that a temporary foot bridge be put near the old one for the convenience of men going to and from the factories and passengers who take the P. M. trains. The town board says this would be a matter for the village to take care of and is out of their jurisdiction.

Stereoptican Lecture.

A Stereoptican exhibit of views from India, Japan and the Philippine Islands, with explanatory lecture, by D. C. Kressler of the Detroit Bag Co., will be given in the Presbyterian church Friday evening, May 21, at 7:30 o'clock. The superintendent of the company, Mr. Wilkins, who is cornetist in the Preston M. E. church of Detroit, will furnish music in addition to some numbers by home talent. A silver offering will be taken. All are cordially invited to attend.

Blackburn Family Reunion.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blackburn Tuesday evening in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Arthur E. Cook, and husband who arrived that day from California where they have resided the past three years. Mrs. J. G. Fleming of Windsor, a sister, and W. L. Blackburn and family of Detroit, a brother of Mrs. Cook, were present besides their Northville relatives.

Fred L. West Seriously Hurt.

Fred L. West was seriously injured one day last week while at the home of Mr. Rice in New Hudson, where he had gone to instruct that gentleman in the art of cheese making. He was descending a flight of stairs when in some way he lost his footing and fell to the floor, striking the back of his head. He was unconscious when picked up and it was some time before he regained consciousness. The injured man was brought to his home in this village Saturday where he is slowly convalescing. His mind is somewhat flighty at times but the doctor thinks he will be all right in a short time.

THE CARLETON BALL GAME

Postponed Until this Week Saturday.

The opening of the new ball park at Carleton has been postponed until tomorrow (Saturday.) The Northville club will go down there Saturday morning and try to trounce German's team.

THE HIGH SCHOOL AT OPERA HOUSE

DIAMONDS AND HEARTS PLAY-LET TONIGHT.

Strong Comedy Drama to Be Given by Good Talent.

A strong comedy drama entitled "Hearts and Diamonds"—no its "Diamonds and Hearts" (must have been thinking about 500)—will be given by the High school pupils of the class of '09 in the Opera House tonight. Local talent will assist the class in making the event a very pleasing affair and the proceeds will go towards defraying the expenses of the graduating exercises.

Will Tatham will take the part of the Yankee farmer in "Diamond in the Rough" in the play. The High school chorus will do a lot of singing. Floyd Rathbun will give some buck and wing dance specialties and the High school orchestra will do the music act in proper form before and between the acts.

The admission is only 15 and 25 cents with no extra charge for reserved seats.

This will be a fine entertainment and the pupils deserve to be liberally patronized.

"The DOCTOR."

Northville people who read and love Ralph Connor (and who does not?) will doubtless appreciate the opportunity to hear the readings from "The Doctor," given by Rev. J. W. Turner in the Methodist church on the evening of May 28. "The Doctor" is by common consent one of the most powerful stories produced on this side the Atlantic in many a year. The book has elements that make it particularly suitable to dramatic rendering and Mr. Turner's reading, unhampered by book or manuscript, proves the most favorable interpretation of the story. If you have read "The Doctor," you ought to hear this recital, which will be none the less interesting if you have never read the book. Tickets 25 cents, on sale by members of the "King's Own" Bible class, under whose management the recital will be given. 40w1

SERIAL STORY

HER INFINITE VARIETY

SYNOPSIS.

Senator Morley Vernon's visit with his fiancée was interrupted by a call from his political boss at the State capital. Both regretted it, the girl more than he, because she had arranged to attend a dinner that evening with him. She said that for a national office for him, she would be glad to resign her position as a red rose, accompanied by a plea for suffrage for women. He met the author, who took Miss Greene driving and found her a red rose, accompanied by a plea for suffrage for women. He met the author, who took Miss Greene driving and found her a red rose, accompanied by a plea for suffrage for women. He met the author, who took Miss Greene driving and found her a red rose, accompanied by a plea for suffrage for women.

CHAPTER VIII.—Continued.

Vernon was of this crowd, moving from one group to another, smoking, laughing, talking. His heart may have been a little sore at the thought of Amelia's strange neglect of him, but the soreness had subsided until now it was but a slight numbness which he could forget at times, and when he did think of it, it but gave him resolution, to play the game more fiercely.

CHAPTER IX.

Vernon was glad enough of a breath of the evening air, and they went down the steps to the sidewalk. Along the curbstone many men had placed chairs and in these cool and quiet eddies of the brawling stream of politics they joked and laughed peacefully. Sixth street stretched away dark and inviting. Vernon and Cowley turned southward and strolled along companionably. The air was delicious after the blaze of the hotel; the black shade of a moonless night was restful, their cigars were fragrant.

Small Talk.

A young fellow in Bloomington, Ill., who has been devoting himself for some years to a young woman of that town, recently found himself in a most embarrassing situation just as he had taken his courage in both hands and was "going to ask the girl."

Work of an English "Rat Club."

An object lesson in rat extermination is provided by the operations of the "Rat clubs" at Westville, near Ashford, which since its formation has been the means of destroying nearly 10,000 of these pests. Last year alone 1,208 were accounted for, one member saving a bag of 1,463 and another 1,341. Prizes are given to those who kill the most, and in this way the village is slowly but surely being cleared of the rodents.—London Standard.

Customary.

"How did Binks celebrate his purchase of a new auto?"

"Why, he had a big blow-out."—Yale Record.

course they passed it in the house just to line up old man Ames for the apportionment bill. They didn't think it would amount to anything.

"Yes, I know—but Maria Burley Greene—"

"Well, she's a pretty woman; that's all."

"You bet she is," said Vernon, "and she'll be down here again to-morrow, too."

"Will she?" said Cowley, eagerly, with his strange smile.

"Yes—but, look here, Charley!" Vernon exclaimed, "don't you go mixing me up with her, now, understand?"

"Oh, I understand," said Cowley, and he laughed significantly.

When Vernon reached the hotel he set to work in earnest. He had seen every senator who could be found. He noted a change in them; if he did not find them hostile, he found many of them shy and reluctant. But when he went to his room he had enough promises to allay his fears and to restore, in a measure, his confidence, and he fell asleep thinking of Maria Greene, happy in the thought that she would be there with her charms to offset the social influence of Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop.

CHAPTER X.

Vernon went down to breakfast the next morning wearing the new summer clothes his tailor had sent to him from Chicago the day before. He had a flower in his buttonhole; a red rose, indeed, showing his colors for the final triumphant day.

The rotunda of the hotel, swept of the litter of the night before, was clean and cool, and the morning air of a perfect day came in refreshingly at the open doors. The farmer members, confirmed in the habit of early rising, were already sauntering aimlessly about, but otherwise statesmen still slumbered, tired out by their labors of the night before.

Vernon, in the nervous excitement which arouses one at the dawn of any day that is to be big with events, had risen earlier than was his wont. He hastened into the dining room, and there, at the first table his eye alighted on, sat Maria Burley Greene. She saw him at once, for she faced the door, and she greeted him with a brilliant smile. With springing step he rushed toward her, both hands extended in his eagerness. She half rose to take them; their greeting silenced the early breakfasters for an instant. Then he sat down opposite her and leaned over with a radiant face as near to her as might be, considering the width of the tablecloth and the breakfast things between.

"And so you're here at last!" he exclaimed.

His eyes quickly took in her toilet; remarkably fresh it was, though it had been made on the Springfield sleeper. It gave none of those evidences of being but the late flowering of a toilet that had been made the night before, as do the toilets of some ladies under similar circumstances. She wore this morning a suit of brown, tailored faultlessly to every flat seam and a little turban to match it. Beside her plate lay her veil, her gloves, and a brass tagged key. And her face, clear and rosy in its rich beauty, was good to look upon. The waiter had just brought her strawberries.

"Send John to me," said Vernon to the waiter. "I'll take my breakfast here May I?" He lifted his eyes to Miss Greene's.

"Surely," said she, "we'll have much to discuss."

"And so you're here again at last," repeated Vernon, as if he had not already made the same observation. He laid, this time, perhaps a little more stress on the "at last." She must have noted that fact, for she blushed, red as the strawberries she began to turn over with a critically poised fork.

"And did you come down alone?" Vernon went on.

"No, not exactly," said Miss Greene. "Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop, and I believe, several—"

"Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop!"

"I think," said Miss Greene, "that she sits somewhere behind." There was a twinkle in the eyes she lifted for an instant from her berries.

Vernon scanned the dining room. There was Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop, in all her—and yes, beside her, sheltered snugly under her all-protecting wing, was Amelia Ansley! They were at a long table, Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop at the head, and with them half a dozen women, severe, and most aggressively respectable. They sat—all of them—erect, pecking at their food with a distrust that was not so much a material caution as a spiritual evidence of their superiority to most of the things with which they were thrust in contact every day. Their hats scarcely trembled, such was the immense propriety of their attitudes; they did not bend at all, even to the cream.

Vernon, who was taking all this in at a glance, saw that Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop was severer than he had ever imagined it possible for women to be—even such a woman as she. He would not have been surprised had he suddenly been told that her name had acquired another hyphen; certainly her dignity had been rehyphenated. There she sat, with her broad shoulders and ample bust, her arms jeopardizing the sleeves of her jacket.

It was the most impressive breakfast table he had ever seen. It might have given him a vision of the future, when he should have secured for women all their civil and political rights, and the nation had progressed to female lieutenant generals, who would be forced at times to dine in public with their staffs. But he had no such vision, of course; the very spiritual aversion of those women to such a thought would have prevented it, occultly.

In point of fact, his regard in an instant had ceased to be general and had become specific, having Amelia for its objective. She sat on the right of her commander; a rather timid aide; and she seemed spiritually to snuggle more closely under her protecting shadow with each passing moment. She seemed to be half frightened, and had the look of a little girl who is about to cry. Her gray figure, with its hat of violets above her dark hair, was, on the instant, half pathetic to Vernon. She sat facing him, her face downcast. There was no conversation at that table; it was to be seen at a glance indeed that among those ladies there would be need for none, all things having been prearranged for them. Vernon noted that Amelia seemed to him more dainty, more fragile than she had ever been before, and his heart surged out toward her. Then she raised her eyes slowly, and held him, until from their depths she stabbed with one swift glance, a glance full of all accusation, indictment and reproach. The stab went to his heart with a pain that made him exclaim. Then perceiving that the complicating moments were flying, he rose hastily, and with half an apology to Miss Greene, he rushed across the dining room.

A Handy Library.

Many of the new books come out in serial form in the magazines and papers. Cut out the installments as they appear and glue them together—book fashion, if from a magazine, or in one long strip if taken from a newspaper. Take a long, stout envelope, paste the name of the story on the back, fold the sheets or strips of clippings and place in the envelope. This is a book which takes only a small space on the shelves, and the name is easily seen from the outside. These envelope books are invaluable for sick people, as frail hands are not tired by holding a light ship of paper when it would be impossible to hold a heavy book. As a bit of cheer for all invalids they might, be aptly termed the sunbeam library.—Housekeeper.

Warned of Father's Death.

There was a peculiar coincidence in connection with the sudden death of the Alkham (Kent, England) village blacksmith, Mr. James Pay. His daughter, who was in service with a doctor in a neighboring village, went to her mistress on the day of her father's death, stating that she had a feeling that she must go home. As the girl seemed anxious, her mistress allowed her to go, and she arrived home in time to witness the death of her father, 20 minutes after he had been working at his forge.

Lengthens Their Day, Giving Them More Time for Feeding.

Winter has always proved a trying time for rare and delicate birds in the zoological gardens. One interesting theory has been advanced, that owing to the long nights in these latitudes in winter the poor birds do not feed long enough during the day to "keep body and soul together." In the old insect house some good was effected by inducing the birds to feed before dawn with the aid of a powerful motor lamp which was placed there an hour in the winter.

In the new small birdhouse, says the London Daily Mail, an elaborate incandescent gaslight installation has just been completed. It is controlled from outside and at six o'clock in the morning a watchman switches on the lights.

Immediately a chorus of songs breaks out from the aroused birds, which start breakfast immediately. This extra feeding time has already produced good results in the shape of improved condition of the birds of paradise, mynahs and other rare tropical birds in the house.

With Their Teeth.

Frugal Landlady—How are you gentlemen getting along at the farther end of the table?

One of Them (gnawing an ancient doughnut)—Working like leavers, ma'am.

AN INTERESTING PAINT TEST

There is a very simple and interesting chemical test by which to detect impurity in paint materials. Thousands and thousands of people, all over the country, are making this test. It is a sure way to safeguard against the many adulterated white leads which are on the market. Any one can make the test—all that is needed is a simple little instrument which may be had free by writing National Lead Company, 1902 Trinity Building, New York, and asking for Houseowner's Painting Outfit, No. 49. The outfit includes also a set of color schemes for exterior or interior painting, or both, if you wish, and a book of specifications. No houseowner should make any arrangements for painting till he gets this outfit.

One can't expect a satisfactory painting job without pure white lead. There is a way to make sure you're getting a pure white lead—without testing it. See that the keg bears National Lead Company's famous Dutch Boy Painter trademark, which is a positive guarantee of purity. Your dealer probably has this white lead. If not let National Lead Company know.

VARIETY.

Jewitt—Well, women have different ways of getting it. My wife kisses me when she wants any.

ECZEMA COVERED HIM.

Itching Torture Was Beyond Words—Slept Only from Sheer Exhaustion—Relieved in 24 Hours and Cured by Cuticura in a Month.

"I am seventy-seven years old, and some years ago I was taken with eczema from head to foot. I was sick for six months and what I suffered tongue could not tell. I could not sleep day or night because of that dreadful itching; when I did sleep it was from sheer exhaustion. I was one mass of irritation; it was even in my scalp. The doctor's medicine seemed to make me worse and I was almost out of my mind. I got a set of the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent. I used them persistently for twenty-four hours. That night I slept like an infant, the first solid night's sleep I had had for six months. In a month I was cured. W. Harrison Smith, Mt. Kisco, N. Y., Feb. 3, 1903."

Mail Order House Methods.

An employe of an Illinois paper, who during the past four years has worked on the making of catalogues for the city mail order houses, is authority for the statement that there has been a systematic and steady increase in the price of articles each year. This, he says, is made possible by the patrons of mail order houses "getting the habit" and keeping blindly on, never noticing the advance. Suppose you get down your old catalogues and see for yourself whether or not this is true. If it is true, ponder. Maybe you are being "skun" and don't know it.

Members of the legislature want to have the jury commission in each county appointed by the judge of probate, the county clerk and county treasurer. Wouldn't that be a peach of a bill? It would make the jury system about the rankest piece of politics in the state. The original bill called for the appointments to be made by the governor from names furnished by the circuit judges. That is the only correct way to make proper appointments and to throw it into county politics would make a rotten farce of our jury system.

The Northville Record wonders why they can't have a little celebration in town July 4. No reason why they can't celebrate there two days if they want to. The fourth coming on Sunday makes a Saturday or Sunday celebration right in line, with every one in favor of the Saturday affair.—South Lyon Herald.

Alright then, we reserve three days.

The final adjournment of the legislature has been indefinitely set for May 19, and the usual closing ceremonies held by the presiding officers of both houses with a few representatives from both branches present, will take place June 2nd. Closing on this date will make the shortest session of any legislature since 1887. It is also believed that the tendency from now on will be for even shorter sessions.

A "miscellaneous" shower was given in honor of Miss Blanche Vradenburg Saturday evening at the home of Miss Inza Lee. The two dozen or more young ladies present were very delightfully entertained with some instrumental and vocal music which was rendered by the Misses Iva Coe and Elizabeth Loop of Ypsilanti. A few of the other guests also gave a number of musical selections making the evening a very enjoyable one. Miss Vradenburg received some very pretty and useful gifts as tokens of the esteem in which she is held. Light refreshments were served.

LIKE NOTHING ELSE ON EARTH.

Night Lights of New York Are a Vision of Magnificence.

The sky line of New York is always changing. So, too, do the night lights shift and grow in wonderful magnificence, creeping continually upward toward the stars. For the lower city, grounded around the base of the tower, has become a veritable harbor of glitter and glow. The little lamps that mark the dark wharves but only show above them the scanty lights of the older city twinkle here and there but not enough to mar the foreground beyond which come the palaces more gorgeous than any ever dreamed from the land by slaves of Arabian's lamp. From the platform towers of the great bridge the picture sets to the best advantage. It begins with the sinking sun. The murky view beyond the bay becomes dull and dark. The torch in Liberty's hand suddenly gleams starlike in the night and then, like the twinkling in a kaleidoscope, the palaces begin to glitter in the gloom. There is no vision like it elsewhere in the world, yet only now and then does a bridge pedestrian pause in his hurried walk to give the spectacle a momentary glance. The usual New Yorker cares little for the splendor of his town.—N. Y. World.

Oh, Quit.

Here is the way to quit smoking (recommended by a man who failed to make it work): Instead of quitting off short, quit gradually. Don't smoke in the morning until you can't stand it any longer. Then smoke a cigar, and then quit again until you are compelled to smoke or go crazy. By degrees, you will learn to do without smoking.—Atchison Globe.

Upset Stomach or Indigestion

Ends five minutes after taking some Dissaplin.

Stops Food Fermentation and cures Stomach Trouble before you realize it.

Take your sour stomach—or may be you call it indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Dissaplin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Dissaplin.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Want to Wear Mustaches.

At a meeting of the domestic servants in Paris to discuss their grievances one, and not the least important, question was whether domestic servants should not be allowed, like their fellow-Frenchmen, to cultivate the mustache. It was suggested that to give the movement some sort of encouragement nothing would be better than that the servants at the Elysee should be the first to agitate for the privilege. The Gauls says that this has been done, the employees at the president's residence having transmitted to M. Fallieres a request that henceforth they shall be allowed to wear mustaches.

MAXWELL

An Opportunity TO SECURE THIS 1909 MAXWELL RUNABOUT

The Maxwell-Briscoe-McLeod Company will present a 1909 MAXWELL RUNABOUT to any person residing in the Counties of Wayne, Macomb, St. Clair, Lapeer, Oakland, Genesee, Washtenaw or Monroe, who sends in a list containing the names and addresses of ten probable automobile purchasers residing in the above-mentioned Counties, which list at the end of sixty days contains the greatest number of names of persons who have bought Maxwell cars from this company between the dates of May 15th, 1909, and July 15th, 1909; providing that no one shall be entitled to receive the above automobile unless there shall have been at least three sales made out of ten or more names sent in. In the event of a tie for the automobile offered, the retail price of the automobile will be divided equally among the winners in money.

All lists must be made out, giving the names and addresses in full, and mailed to the Maxwell-Briscoe-McLeod Company, together with the attached coupon, not later than June 15. You are not limited to the number of lists, provided you attach a coupon to each list sent.

This is a fair, open, and above-board proposition. We are after the names of automobile buyers. We intend to sell more automobiles in the above Counties than all the other companies combined. We use this method of securing names because we believe it will pay us. It will be an easy matter for anyone to obtain the names of their friends or acquaintances who are going to buy new cars this season. You send us the names and we will do the work. This proposition has no strings attached to it.

Mail your lists with coupons attached today. Everyone sending in a list of ten names will be given a year's subscription to the "Maxwell Co-Operator."

ARSENATE OF LEAD

is not made to compete with the cheap Arsenate of Lead now being placed on the market, but is the very highest grade that is possible to make and is marketed entirely upon its merits.

Referring to its peculiar quality of adhesiveness, the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, commenting on its experiments with Arsenate of Lead, says:

"Foliage sprayed in the spring and analyzed in the fall showed arsenic yet present on trees sprayed in June; developing web-worms were killed off in September without further treatment." From this the user will realize that it is not necessary to spray as often with Arsenate of Lead as it is with Paris Green and various other arsenical poisons.
