FITTING EXERCISES

HELD MONDAY IN HONOR OF SOLDIER DEAD.

Masterly Address Given by Chas. P. O'Neill of Detroit.

Memorial Day this year in Northville was all that could be expected, not only by the old veterans and W. R. C. but by the public in general.

The services in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening were well attended despite the rain. The music by the choir was exceptionally fine, every selection being appropriate and well rendered. Rev. Wm. S. Jerome delivered the sermon which was inspiring and well suited to the occasion. At the close of the service Hon. S. J. Lawrence, in behalf of the W. R. C., presented the church with a beautiful silk flag. Four chairs draped in black were placed upon the platform in memory of the comrades who had answered the "Last Roll Call" during the past year. They are Elijah Vradenburg, W. E. Stowe, J. D. Brockett and F. L. West.

Monday afternoon the usual exercises were held in the Rink and the Memorial address given by Chas. P. O'Neill was one of the finest ever listened to in Northville. Music was furnished by the Plymouth band and was greatly enjoyed.

At the close of the exercises members of the G. A. R., W. R. C. and friends marched to Rural Hill cemetery where appropriate exercises were held on the soldiers lot.

At five o'clock the old soldiers were royally entertained at a banquet at the Park House by the Woman's Relief Corps.

HAS COLLECTED $400.

Electric Light Collections Coming in Nicely.

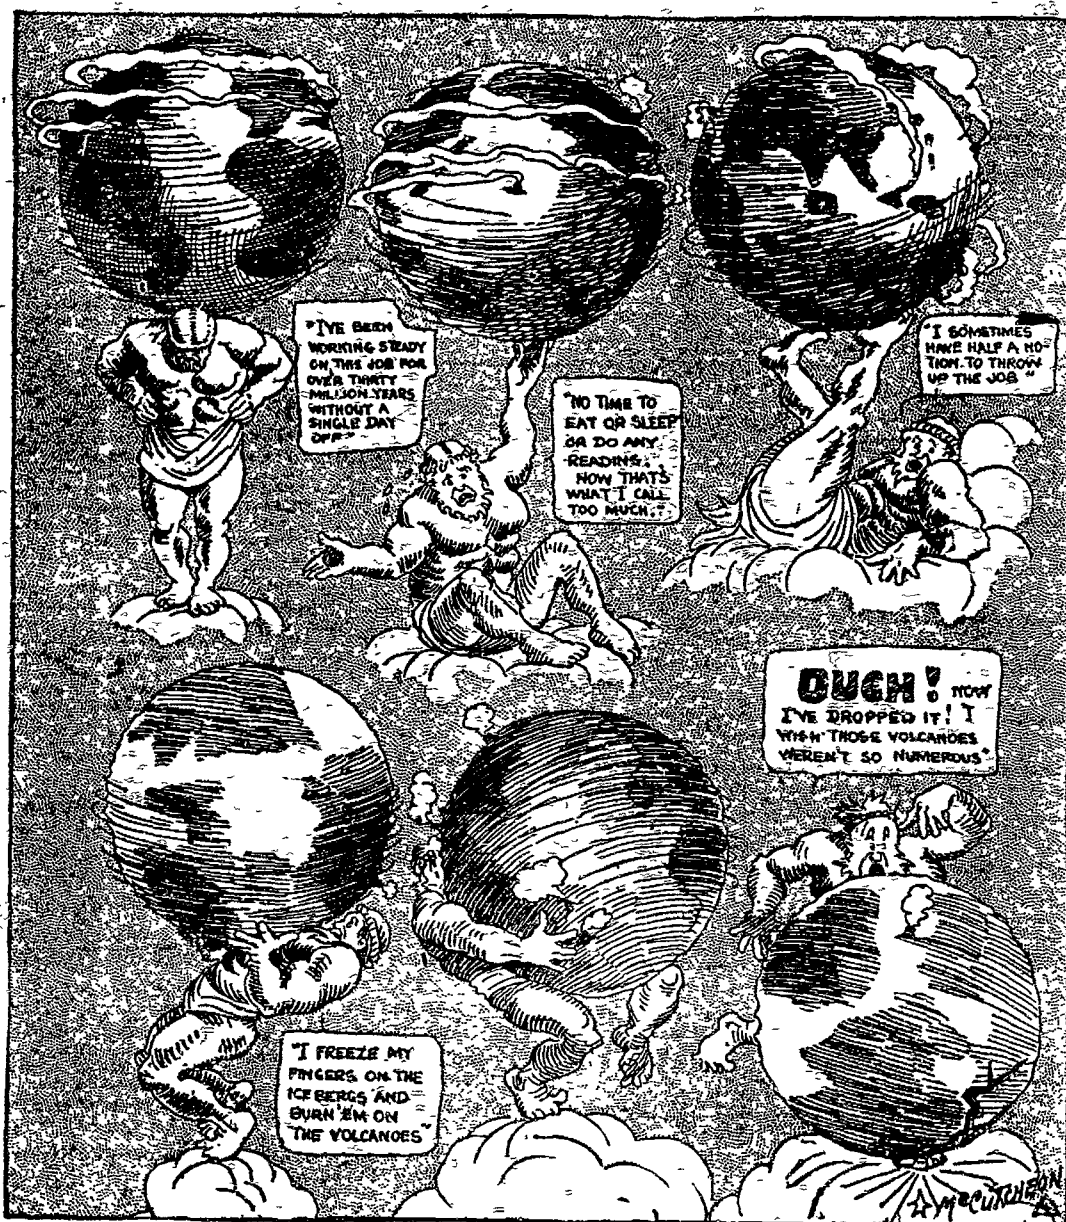

During the month of May Supt. Wilkinson of the electric light plant has collected four hundred dollars delinquent rentals in consequence of the recent resolution passed by the council, no-pay-no-lights. The balance, another four hundred dollars, is to be paid by July 1.

Village Clerk Murdock will render to the council at their next meeting a statement of water-works delinquents and that body will take similar action relative to those collections which Mr. Murdock thinks are about as far back as was the electric accounts.

The two together, if all is collected, will bring in the neighborhood of sixteen hundred dollars of new money into the treasury which next year ought to materially reduce the village taxes.

Don't forget the Breach of Promise suit at the Rink this (Friday) evening at 7:45 o'clock.

WHY WE HAVE EARTHQUAKES.

GAMES AND RACES AT ATHLETIC PARK

MILFORD BALL TEAM JUST EAT 'EM UP—THEY DID.

Big Attendance and Some Good Races.

There was a big crowd down at the Park Monday to witness the horse races and ball game. The grounds have been nicely fitted up this spring and new bleachers, with a seating capacity of 250, have been built for the accommodation of the patrons.

The horse races were very exciting and the following were the winners: The 2:40 pace or trot: 1st prize was won by E. L. Sanderson's Jim S.; 2nd by Geo. Rattenbury's Tootys and 3rd by Joy, owned by a gentleman in Detroit. Time 1:15 1/4.

Gentlemen's Driving Race: 1st prize, Patey K. owned by Smith of

New Hudson; 2nd, Doris T. Wyll; Tibbitts and 3rd by Prince, Lee West. Time 1:28.

Free-for-all race: 1st, Ida Dillard, Geo. Taylor of Plymouth; 2nd, Princess Dillard, Ed. Starkweather; and 3rd, Constantine, Geo. Van Vleet Plymouth. Time 1:10.

Ed. Starkweather's two-year-old colt paced an exhibition mile, the last eighth in 17 seconds.

The ball game between the Northville Juniors and the Milford team was won by the latter in a score of 17 to 3. The Northville boys were out-played on the field, though they battled well enough to have kept the score some where nearly even. The ball was thrown all over the diamond to get Milford players out but the throw was generally wild or else the player let it get through, by or over him. It was lots of fun—for the Milford rooters.

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ryder Celebrated that Event Tuesday.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryder was the scene of a very happy event Tuesday afternoon it being the occasion of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ryder. There were about forty guests present, ten of whom were in attendance at the wedding fifty years ago.

Letters and telegrams of congratulations were received from California, Virginia, Wisconsin, Illinois and various parts of the state and were read by Rev. Wm. S. Jerome.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryder have each passed the three-score-and-ten milestone in life's journey and are as hale and hearty as some only half that age.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in conversation, interspersed with music furnished by several members of the company.

At six o'clock a bountiful dinner was served after which the guests departed wishing the "bride and groom" many happy returns of the day.

Interesting Pictures.

The Record publishes this week two interesting pictures which were found in a collection among the effects of the late Dr. I. Winslow Ayer, and later presented to the Record by his son, Charles Ayer.

NEW GASOLINE RED CAN LAW

IT GOES INTO EFFECT ON SEPTEMBER FIRST NEXT.

Dealers As Well As Consumers Must Have Red Tanks.

The State Oil Inspector calls the public's attention to a few changes made by the present legislature in the so called "Red Can" Gasoline act. The new law, which goes into effect September 1st next, provides that cans, buckets, barrels, etc., which are to be painted a bright red, may be "lettered" with the word gasoline instead of being "stenciled" as heretofore. It also provides that retail merchants must have the barrels or tanks in their stores, from which they sell, painted bright red and lettered thereon with the word gasoline.

The delivery to consumers, and to dealers as well, must be made in receptacles (cans, buckets, jugs, barrels or whatever the delivery is made in) that are painted bright red and lettered.

The tanks or cans on peddlers wagons must be painted and lettered and the tank wagons of wholesalers must be labeled if containing gasoline.

The person who purchases gasoline lays himself liable to a fine if he has it in anything but the proper red can. For cleaning purposes gasoline can only be sold in bottles, properly labeled, and not more than one quart in quantity.

The Yeggman.

A "yegg" or "yeggman" might be defined as a cross between a tramp and a burglar. "Yeggmen" travel about the country always by stealing or begging rides on freight trains, and their operations are generally confined to banks or postoffices in the smaller towns.

Anti-Stock Watering Bill.

The anti-stock-watering bill, which was passed by the legislature and signed last week by Gov. Warner, is one of the better class of bills which the law makers passed, and its working will be watched with considerable interest. Whether the ultimate outcome of the law will be what was intended remains to be seen, but beyond a certainty the theory of preventing the issuing of stock for the purpose of lining the pockets of the individuals who finance the deals, rather than improving the service of these public utilities, cannot be gained. It is a theory along the right lines and the present legislature and administration is deserving of considerable praise for giving such a law.

Railroads and other public utilities have a large share in the growth and prosperity of this state, but on all sides stocks are issued, supposedly for extensions, equipment and like improvements to service, but usually the case is that none of this money, or very little, is ever used for the purpose for which it was raised, but helping to swell the fortunes of capitalists.

Even if the issuing of these stocks is curtailed, and what money is raised is devoted to the use for which the bonds were sold, it is believed that it will more than overcome some little fallacies which the bill may possibly contain, as time has proven no bill is ever perfect.

By all public utilities companies submitting to the railroad commission all bonding propositions, it gives the state an opportunity to see that the money is used for extensions and improvements and not in stock-watering schemes.

SELLING LOTS OF TWINE.

More Than 2,000,000 Pounds Already Sold.

The statement made in a Detroit paper that orders are not coming in as fast as last year at the Jackson binder twine plant is not based on facts. At this time last year about 800 club orders for 1,000,000 pounds of twine had been booked, while now 1,200 orders for nearly double that amount are already on the books. During the last ten days over 300,000 pounds have been ordered. Sisal, the raw material used, made a sharp advance last week of over one cent per pound. The main reason for the increase of orders over last year is no doubt due to the universal satisfaction the twine gave to the farmers. Some people are doing their best to discredit the state binder twine plant but so far without success. The trust would doubtless like to get a chance to raise the price of twine two or three cents and would doubtless do it very quick if it were not for the Jackson prison factory.

Frugal Wife.

A sick peasant motions feebly to his wife to approach his bedside, and whispers, painfully: "I think, my dear, I could fancy a little broth." "My dear, what do you want of broth? Hasn't the doctor just given you up?"

Don't use harsh physics. The reaction weakens the bowels, leads to chronic constipation. Get Doan's Regulents. They operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation.

Northville now presents a very charming appearance. Its well kept lawns, shady streets and flowering shrubs are now seen at their best.

There will be a special Communication of Northville Lodge, No. 186, F. & A. M., held Monday evening, June 7, for work in the Fellow Craft degree.

W. H. Ambler was taken suddenly ill Tuesday and has been confined to the house most of the time since. He is a little better, however, at present.

Frank Macomber has his new laundry and residence addition well underway and is ready for the roof. When completed Frank will have a "dandy" nice place.

The Northville "All Stars" went over to Farmington Decoration Day and played a red hot game of baseball with the Farmington team winning in a score of 5 to 4.

Thursday and Friday evenings of next week, Orient Chapter, No. 77, O. E. S., will hold meetings and initiate seven candidates. It is expected the Worthy Grand Matron will be present.

The Junior musicale given in the Library Tuesday night was a very fine affair and reflected much credit upon the students who participated. The attendance was not as large as the entertainment warranted.

The Free Press has now, after four years, discovered the celebrated "Jersey Widow." The widow was married a number of years ago and until the campaign of 1906 got warm she lived with her second husband in New York.

Urban Gyde, a well known South Lyon citizen, died at his home in that village Wednesday. Mrs. W. A. Ely of this place and Mrs. Fred Burgh and Miss Minnie Gyde of Plymouth are daughters. The funeral occurs this afternoon.

Northville Lodge, No. 186, F. & A. M., held an all day meeting Monday and conferred the Master Mason degree on four candidates. There were guests present from Farmington, Plymouth and South Lyon. A banquet was served in the evening.

A rumor has spread that the legislature had passed a fishing rod license of a dollar and that every man who goes fishing has to whack up. This is not the case. No such a bill was even introduced. There was a bill to tax residents of other states but even that did not pass.

A. K. Carpenter is writing a book on "How to operate a gasoline launch." "Carp" had an afternoon's experience recently on the rippling bosom of Walled Lake that put him in mind of the book. He finally coaxed the engine to work long enough to get to shore, though he ruined a suit of clothes and two or three spelling books in the act.

There will be plenty of chairs at the Rink so all can sit while listening to the Breach of Promise trial this evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Murdock have returned from their auto trip to Hudson.

Valva, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Savie, has been quite ill this week.

The small boy and his whistle are making the air "sweet with melody" these days.

A synopsis of all bills passed by the last legislature will be found on page two of this issue.

A new cement approach and steps are being built at the entrance to the Ambler Ice Cream parlors.

Mrs. Ella White and daughter, Mrs. Chas. Riggs, of Plymouth were Northville callers Thursday.

The "Brass Bowl" story will be run in a double installment next week to make up for the omission in this issue.

Mrs. Kate Yerkes left this week for Lawrence, near Kalamazoo, to spend a week with Mrs. Emma Alexander Cook.

The Northville Commandery K. T. will leave here on the 7:30 a. m. car Tuesday, June 8. It is necessary to take this car so that the commandery can join the parade at the proper time. Headquarters at the Griswold house.

Louie Hake was working in the gravel pit west of town Wednesday when a large quantity of dirt, caved in on him, holding him in a cramped position until assistance came to his rescue. He was considerably bruised but no bones were broken.

Ralph Hogle, living just north of Power's Station between here and Farmington, was hammering a plow point Monday when a trolley piece of the iron flew off and struck him in the eye becoming imbedded in the ball. He was at once taken to a specialist in Detroit who removed the obstacle. It will be some time before he will be able to use his eye, but he is thankful it was no worse.

The big burglar alarm at the State Savings bank startled the natives of the town Monday night and for a minute or three there were visions of hold-ups, dynamite, guns and a general mix-up. Investigation proved that everything was locked up in ship-shape, but one knob had not been left just exactly correct and the alarm was to remind one of the clerks to come back and give it another turn.

Rev. J. W. Turner gave a splendid rendition of Ralph Connor's story, "The Doctor," in the Methodist church last Friday night before a goodly sized and appreciative audience. Mr. Turner's memorizing of chapter after chapter of the interesting book, and his dramatic rendering of it was both remarkable and entertaining. Between the readings Mrs. Edith Whitlock of the northern part of the state favored the audience with several well rendered solos.

BIG CIRCUS AT DETROIT

Barnum & Bailey to Exhibit There
Thursday, June 17.

Never since the beginning of time has an amusement enterprise so tremendous in size been organized as this one. Its magnitudes almost beyond belief. All America, together with every foreign country, has been scoured from end to end by agents of this big show in search of novelties and the result is a performance brim full of sensational acts new to the circus world. In the big Barnum & Bailey show are nearly 400 arctic stars, most of whom are seen now for the first time. A new sensation will be seen at every performance in "Jupiter, the balloon horse." This remarkable animal with its fearless rider ascends to the dome of the circus tent in a balloon and descends to the ground in a shower of fireworks. Barnum & Bailey's big, new, free street parade is the most gorgeous procession display ever attempted in the history of circus business. Its tremendous size and wonderful length can only be believed in the actual seeing. It is natural to expect this big circus to lead all others in quality and quantity of its street spectacle as well as in other departments of the big show.

The price of admission at the Rink this evening is twenty-five and fifteen cents. No seats reserved. Come early and get a good one.

AN INDIGESTION REMEDY FREE

Many people who are otherwise healthy suffer from indigestion, or dyspepsia. When you consider that the stomach and allied digestive organs are the most important organs of the body, it would seem that a disorder there is to be taken very seriously.

Dyspepsia cannot eat the things they like; food sours in the stomach, then chronic constipation begins, or, as is often the case, you have been constipated all along, and the stools are forced and irregular.

But there is no use letting indigestion go until it becomes chronic and undermines your health. It is good advice to suggest to you that you go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the wonderful cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles. It is what C. Fowler, of Carson City, Mich., did and he is well to-day. Others who did the same and are cured are: L. A. F. Thompson, of Shenandoah, Ia., who actually considers that it saved his life. You can obtain a 50-cent or $1 bottle of the druggist, and, taken according to directions, it will probably be all you need. It is a liquid, acts gently, never grips, and besides the laxative effect, contains exceptional tonic properties which tone the stomach, and that is what is especially needed in indigestion.

All sufferers from indigestion who have never used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can obtain a free test bottle by writing the doctor. It will be sent direct to your home without any charge. In this way thousands have proven to their own satisfaction that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the very remedy they needed to cure indigestion. When once you use this grand remedy you will throw violent cathartics, tablets, salts, etc., away.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 301 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

TORE HIS SKIN OFF

In Shreds—Itching Was Intense—Sleep Was Often Impossible.

Cured by Cuticura in Three Weeks.

"At first an eruption of small pustules commenced on my hands. These spread later to other parts of my body, and the itching at times was intense, so much so that I literally tore the skin off in shreds in seeking relief. The awful itching interfered with my work considerably, and also kept me awake nights. I tried several doctors and used a number of different ointments and lotions but received practically no benefit. Finally I set down to the use of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills, with the result that in a few days all itching had ceased and in about three weeks' time all traces of my eruption had disappeared. I have had no trouble of this kind since. H. A. Krutskoff, 5714 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., November 18 and 28, 1907."

SYNOPSIS.

Senator Morley Vernon's visit with his fiancée was interrupted by a call from his political boss at the state capital. Both regretted that the girl more than because she had arranged to attend a dinner that evening with him. She said she yearned for a national office for him. On Vernon's desk in the senate he found a red rose, accompanied by a plea for suffrage for women. He met the authoress, Miss Maria Greene, of Chicago, who proposed to convert him into voting for house resolution No. 19. Miss Greene secured Vernon's promise to vote for the suffrage resolution. He also signed her by convincing others. He took a liking to the fair suffragette. Miss Greene consulted with the lieutenant-governor. Vernon admitted to himself that the suffragette had stirred a strange feeling within him. He forgot to read his fiancée's letter. Vernon made a great speech in favor of suffrage, aided by glances from Miss Greene. The resolution was made a special order. Vernon was enthusiastic on the prospects for the resolution. He was much in Miss Greene's company. Vernon neglected thoughts of Amelia. He took Miss Greene driving and laid out plans for the success of the resolution. Vernon's speech caused a great newspaper sensation. He was being neglected by Amelia, who had not answered his letter. Vernon is "tipped off" that his fiancée's resolution may not pass. At Miss Greene was due the following morning he had no fears. Miss Greene arrived and breakfasted with Vernon across the dining-room entrenched behind women opponents of the suffrage resolution. He spied Amelia. He started toward her. She treated him coldly. The women opponents of suffrage reproved him for his part. Mrs. Hodge-Lathrop told Senator Vernon that his conduct toward Miss Greene had been hard upon Amelia. He was told to comfort her. Vernon had a fearful interview with Amelia, and he tried to understand which his suffrage move had caused. He partially "made up" with Amelia, who had turned lobbyist against the resolution.

"Sweetheart," he said, "I must go now. I should have been in the senate at ten o'clock; I hate to leave you, but I'll explain everything when I get back."

He waited an instant, then he went on:

"Aren't you going to say: 'Good-by'?"

Amelia got up.

"I'll go, too," she said. She was still catching little sobs in her throat, now and then Vernon looked at her in some surprise.

"Why—" he began, incredulously.

She must have divined his surprise.

"I have to help Mrs. Hodge-Lathrop," she said, as if in explanation.

"But, of course, I hate to bother you."

"Oh, nonsense, dearest," he said, impatiently. "Come on. Let's start."

"But I can't go looking this way," she said. She walked across the room, and standing before a mirror, wiped her eyes carefully, then arranged her hat and her veil.

"Would anybody know?" she asked, facing about for his inspection.

"Never—come on."

They went out, and down the elevator. When they reached the entrance, Vernon looked up and down the street, but there was no carriage in sight. The street was quiet and the hotel wore an air of desertion, telling that all the political activity of Illinois had been transferred to the state house.

Vernon looked around the corner, but the old hack that always stood there was not at its post.

"We'll have to walk," he said. "It'll take too long for them to get a carriage around for us. It's only a few blocks, anyway. The air will do you good."

As they set forth in the bright morning sun they were calmer, and, having come out into public view, for the time being they dropped their differences and their misunderstandings, and began to talk in their common, ordinary fashion.

"Did Mrs. Hodge-Lathrop ask you to change me on the Ames amendment?" Vernon asked her.

"The what?"

"The Ames amendment; that's the woman-suffrage measure."

"No, do her justice; she didn't."

"What then?"

"She said she wanted me to work against it, that's all."

"Didn't she say anything about asking me not to vote for it?"

"Well, yes; but I told her—"

"What?"

"That I wouldn't try to influence you in the least."

Vernon made no reply.

"No," she went on, "I'm to work against it, of course."

They were silent then, till suddenly she appealed to him:

"Oh, Morley, I've got to ask strange men, men I never met, to vote against it! How am I ever!"

She shuddered.

"It's all very strange," Vernon said.

CHAPTER XIV.

They walked briskly down the sloping street under the railroad bridge and then up the little hill whereon sits the capitol of Illinois. They could see the big flag high upon the dome standing out in the prairie wind, and the little flags on the house wing and the senate wing whipping joyously, sprightly symbols of the sitting of both houses.

Now and then they heard cheers from the house wing, where the legislative riot that ends a session was already beginning. They passed into the dark and cool corridors of the state house, then up to the third floor, where members and messenger boys, correspondents and page boys, rushed always across from one house to the other, swinging hurriedly around the brass railing of the rotunda. It seemed that the tide of legislative life was just then setting in toward the senate.

"Oh, Morley," whispered Amelia, forgetting his offense, and clinging close to him, "I can't go in there, really I can't."

"Nonsense," said Vernon, "come on. I'll deliver you to Mrs. Hodge-Lathrop in a minute; then you'll be perfectly safe. Besides, you have your lobbying to do."

They reached the senate entrance, and the doorkeeper, seeing a senator, opened a way through the crowd for their passage. There was confusion everywhere, the nervous and excited hum of voices from the floor, from the vestibule, from the galleries, from all around. And just as they stepped up to the raised floor whereon the desks of senators are placed, the gavel fell, and stillness with it. They saw the lieutenant governor leaning over his desk, studying a slip of paper he held in his hand.

"On this question," he said, "the yeas are 30 and the nays are 17; and two-thirds of the members-elect having failed to vote in the affirmative, the resolution is lost."

Vernon stood transfixed. The whole thing was borne in upon him; he saw

"Never—Come On."

Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop, and the expression of calm and lofty satisfaction that had settled on her face told him that it was the Ames amendment that had been lost. But some new thought seemed to strike her, for when Senator Porter looked around with something like a smile of congratulation, she beckoned him, and he has tended to her side.

"Move to reconsider and to lay on the table," she said, and with a look of admiration he turned and made the motion. It was put, it was carried, and the amendment was lost irrevocably.

"Well, that's attended to," said Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop. "Ah, Morley," she said calmly, "you here. And Amelia?"

"She's here," he said, "and I—I did not get here on time." The shame and mortification on his face were pitiable, though they could not have touched Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop's heart.

"And I didn't get here on time," he repeated, ruefully.

"Why, my dear boy," said Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop, "I didn't intend that you should."

He looked at her fiercely, angrily, a second.

"So that was the game, was it?" he said. He whirled, with another fierce look, on Amelia.

"That was the game, yes, Morley," said Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop, "but you needn't look at Amelia so—she was utterly innocent, the dear little thing."

Amelia came up. She had seen Vernon's expression.

"What is it—what has happened?" she inquired.

"Well, I got here too late, that's all," said Vernon. "I was detained, and Mrs. Hodge-Lathrop has just now kindly told me that she had arranged that I should be. I'm ruined, that's all; I'm lost."

"No, Morley," said Mrs. Hodge-Lathrop, "you're saved. You're saved from yourself." She still smiled at him sweetly. "You might have made don't you know, another one of your speeches."

Vernon bit his lip and walked away. He encountered Martin, but could only look at him helplessly. Martin returned his look with one of surprise.

"You here?" he said.

"Well, yes," replied Vernon. "At last—too late, it seems."

The surprise had not left Martin's face; to it was now added a perplexity.

"If we'd known," said Martin, "but we thought, that is, we heard, that you had ducked."

Vernon shook his head as with a pain that would not let him speak. He was looking disconsolately across the chamber to where Miss Greene stood talking with Bull Burns. As in a dream, he heard Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop exclaim:

"Ah, there is that Greene woman!"

Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop was lifting her gold glasses again. Vernon was wondering how he was to face the Greene woman. But at Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop's words an idea came to him.

"I'll go bring her and introduce her," he said. He bolted away and went toward her. She was cold and distant. Fortunately, Burns fled at his approach.

"Can you forgive me?" he said. "I'll explain it all in an instant."

"And how?" she asked with a chill rise in her tone.

"Have you ever met Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop?" he asked significantly.

"No," she answered.

"Then permit me," he said. She went with him. Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop had withdrawn her delegation to the rear of the chamber, and there awaited Vernon's return.

"Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop, permit me to present Miss Greene; Miss Ansley, Miss Greene. And so on, in the order of relative rank, he introduced her to the other ladies.

Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop extended her hand officially. Miss Greene took it with a smile.

"I am very glad," she said, "to meet Mrs. Overman—ah, pardon me, but what was the name?"

"Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop," Vernon said.

"Ah, Mrs. Lathrop."

Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop seemed, to the eye, to swell.

"You have a charming little city here, Mrs. Lathrop. We poor Chicagoans love to get down into the country once in a while, you know."

Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop reared back a little.

"No doubt," she stammered. "I have always found it so."

Miss Greene feigned surprise, and affected a look of perplexity. Vernon withdrew a step, and with his chin in his hand looked on out of eyes that glistened. The other women in the party exchanged glances of horror and wrath. Mrs. Barbourton, for her part, seemed unable to endure it.

"Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop lives in Chicago," she interjected.

"Oh!" cried Miss Greene. "Is it possible? How very strange that one could live in the city all one's life and not have heard!"

"Not so very strange, I fancy," said Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop. "One's circle is apt to be so far removed."

"Yes?" said Miss Greene, with that rising inflection. "Then you can not have lived in Chicago long?"

"All my life," snapped Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop.

"So long as that?" said Miss Greene, with eyes that stared incredulously.

Mrs. Overman Hodge-Lathrop actually colored.

The Kiddies.

The increasing respect for children is beginning to make itself felt on all sides. Little boys and girls are no longer put off with careless words and second rate toys. They are studied with constant thought by parents, scientists devise their playthings, and literary and artistic "celebrities" make the books. Of these things modern children are not unappreciative. If they are growing hypercritical in some directions they are becoming very tolerant in others, and not infrequently they understand their parents' little shortcomings much better than do those humiliated "elders" themselves.

—Philadelphia Record.

In and Out of Focus.

"I beg a thousand pardons," said the man with the strange eyes, "for not speaking to you the moment I entered the room. I will tell you why. When I enter a room it is almost impossible for me to recognize anybody for a few minutes. My eyes won't focus. When I was a child I had a serious illness. When I finally recovered, my eyes were in this condition, and have remained so ever since."

But just the same she noticed that when the waiter passed with the punch his eyes focused on it correctly every time.

Age no Mark of Discretion

New York Police Statistics Prove a Most Lamentable Fact.

A woman shoplifter who had passed the Psalmist's allotted period, and who had a long record of offenses behind her, was sent to prison again the other day, and in the printed accounts much was made of her years, as if age and misdemeanor were strangers. As a matter of fact, among women, youth and disrepute are strangers if, we make the test of the matter the fact of falling into the law's clutches.

More than half the women offenders of New York are classified in the report of the state prison commission as "middle-aged or elderly women." Of the 6,644 women sentenced to the Blackwell's Island workhouse during the last year, 3,463 were more than 30 years old. About one in 15 of the number were legal minors. Disorderly conduct and public intoxication accounted for all but a few hundreds of the entire number.

There is really no surprise in these figures, for the spectacle of gray hairs without honor is not unfamiliar in any of our small parks. It would be superfluous to point the moral—and Horace has done it already in his warnings to Lalage and Chloë.

NOT A MATTER OF LOYALTY.

Simple But Insuperable Reason Why Subject Could Not Kneel Before His King.

One fancies that few types of men, can, from time to time, have afforded royalty more amusement of a quiet sort than provincial mayors of England. "From the Foreland to Penzance," by Clive Holland, contains the story of a mayor of Weymouth who, during one of the visits of King George to the town, was destined to afford "comic relief" to a ceremony of some importance.

The occasion was the presentation of an address of welcome to the king, and we are told that the mayor, on approaching to present it, to the astonishment and dismay of all—instead of kneeling, as he had been told to do, seized the queen's hand to shake it as he might that of any other lady.

Col. Gwynne, the master of the ceremonies, hurriedly told him of the faux pas, saying: "You should have knelt, sir."

"Sir, I cannot," was the reply.

"Everybody does, sir," hotly asserted the colonel.

The mayor grew red, and evidently much upset, exclaimed: "Confound it, sir, but I've got a wooden leg!"

History records that "a smile suffused the face of her majesty, and the king laughed outright."—Youth's Companion.

Logical Reasoning.

A certain young man's friends thought he was dead, but he was only in a state of coma. When, in ample time to avoid being buried, he showed signs of life, he was asked how it seemed to be dead.

"Dead?" he exclaimed. "I wasn't dead. I knew all that was going on. And I knew—I wasn't dead, too, because my feet were cold and I was hungry."

"But how did that fact make you think you were still alive?" asked one of the curious.

"Well, this way: I knew that if I were in heaven I wouldn't be hungry. And if I was in the other place my feet wouldn't be cold."

Household Hint.

"Do you know how to use a chafing dish?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "I have some novel ideas on the subject."

"What are they?"

"The best way I know of to use a chafing dish is to punch a hole in the bottom of it, paint it green and plant flowers in it."—Washington Star.

Iron Ore Fields in Finland.

Though Finland has been regarded up to the present time as being extremely poor in iron ores, recent research has proved the existence of ore fields in South Finland (Nyland), and above all in the Ladoga lake district, which seem to be worth the expense of mining. For research purposes a company has been formed.

Athleticism Extraordinary.

"Why," said the first athletic boaster, "every morning before breakfast I get a bucket and pull up 90 gallons from the well." "That's nothing," retorted the other. "I get a boat every morning and pull up the river."—Universalist Leader.

The Vegetarian.

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from a female weakness and disease, and I could not stand more than a minute at a time. My doctor said an operation was the only chance I had, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. One day I was reading how other women had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it. Before I had taken one bottle I was better, and now I am completely cured."—LENA V. HENRY, Route No. 3, Adrian, Ga.

Why will women take chances with an operation? Or drag out a sickly, halfhearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

Women to Fight Tuberculosis. One million women, representing cities, towns, villages and isolated rural settlements in every section of the country, are to-day enlisted in a campaign against tuberculosis, according to a statement issued by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. In legislatures, in congress at Washington, in society gatherings, in churches and clubs, through speaking and writing—in every possible way, the women of the country are persistently fighting consumption.

With an organization established in every state of the country, under the direction of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and with associated clubs in Alaska, the Hawaiian Islands, Porto Rico and the canal zone, the women of the country have entered a systematic crusade to carry the message of the prevention and cure of tuberculosis into every American home.

The Captain's Repartee.

The captain of a trans-Atlantic liner, having become irritable as a result of some minor troubles in the ship's management, added the unusually large number of ridiculous inquiries made by tourists, was heading for the "bridge" when a dapper young man halted him to inquire the cause of the commotion on the starboard side of the ship. Being on the port side, the captain politely replied, with some sarcasm, he was not a cat fish, but thought it possible that a cat fish had just had kittens.—What-to-Eat.

CRIPPLED WITH SCIATICA

Caused by Disordered Action of the Kidneys.

Samuel D. Ingraham, 2402 E. Main St., Lewiston, Idaho, says: "For two years I was crippled with sciatic rheumatism in my thighs and could not get about without crutches. The kidney secretions became irregular, painful, and showed a heavy sediment. Doctors were not helping me so I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. I improved soon, and after a while was entirely free from my suffering. I am in the best of health now and am in debt to Doan's Kidney Pills for saving my life."

Is Tired of Praying.
A little girl in St. Louis the other evening was going through the usual form of prayer: "God bless mamma, and papa and make me a good girl," and so on, when all at once she seemed to come to a decision. "Now that is the last time I am going to say that prayer," she said, very gravely, looking at her mother. "You are older than I am and it is your place to ask for all those things and I don't see any use in two people's asking the same thing." Since then she has firmly refused to pray, insisting that it is her mother's place to ask God for blessings.

Continual Doubt.
"How many children have you?" said the tourist, affably.
"I dunno exactly," answered the tired-looking woman.
"You don't know?"

SEARCH FOR FACTS INCRIMINATING

RICH, WHO IS HELD SUSPECTED OF THE MURDER OF HIS AGED GRANDMOTHER,

HAS A SPOTTED RECORD.

Looking Into the Young Man's Life and Habits Brings Out Some Things Against Him.

After a session of less than 15 minutes, late Saturday afternoon, the Bay City coroner's jury inquiring into the cause of the death of Mrs. Christine Corveon, rendered the following verdict:

"That Christine Corveon came to her death from a blow, or blows inflicted by a person or persons unknown to this jury."

The police now have the first trace of any suit of clothing bought by Roland Rich, the young man charged with the murder of his grandmother, Mrs. Christine Corveon. What has become of his wedding suit was considered by the police to be one of the main clues in the baffling case.

On January 28 Rich purchased a suit of black clothing on the installment plan, for $20, from Marine, Askin & Berman, of Water street.

He paid for it in four or five installments, the last one being on April 4. He also made a deposit of $5, but what that was for has not yet been made clear.

Rich's friends have, practically admitted that the youth sold an untruth about buying the clothing at A. Mueller's because he did not want to acknowledge that he got his suit on the installment plan. There is some wonderment that the young man should have showed this little vanity in the face of so great danger, when he must have realized that so much depended on the tracing of the missing clothes.

Rich's friends further assert that he had saved his suit for the wedding since January 28.

But what has become of it is still as much of a mystery as at first. Significance is placed on the testimony given at the coroner's jury by Mrs. Harry Tierney, that Rich had said when she first entered the house and found her mother dead:

"My coat and vest are burned." Not a few people are wondering, too, why the fire was between the mattresses of the slain woman's bed, instead of on top, as testified by Hackman Reis, unless it had been purposely set on fire for some sinister purpose, such as destroying the body or burning up clothing.

The police assert that they have an approximate description of the clothing Rich wore when he went into the kitchen from his grandmother's room to change for his wedding suit. They assert that the description of the suit purchased tallied with these clothes.

It is also declared by the police to be certain that Rich attempted to borrow $100 shortly before his wedding. They claim to have the name of the man thus approached.

Not a little interest is taken in the fact that one circumstance which seemed to lead the coroner's jury to decide Mrs. Corveon was murdered was the fact that two fractures were found in her skull—one on each side.

The search for clues by the police is reported to have been rewarded by the ascertaining of other alleged queer deals on the part of the young murder suspect. In addition to the shady and as yet unanswered attempt of Rich to bamboozle two local banks by means of "phony" checks it is alleged that Rich was short in his accounts while employed by the late John Clarkson, cigar dealer, several years ago and for which Rich's father is said to have settled. It is further reported that relatives of the young man once had to make good an alleged defalcation while he was employed by the H. G. Wendland Co.

It is also said that a jeweler has been found who accepted a check from Rich drawn on a bank where he had no funds. This is said to be the occasion when Rich picked out a $15 present for his fiancée, who was with him at the time. Rich is said to have asked for a blank check on any bank, and when one was given to him, made it out. This was on Saturday and the following Monday Rich made good with the money.

Charley Ward's Rise.
It now looks as though ex-Representative Charles E. Ward would again come to the front in the political field, and this time in an even larger way than was the old. This is made possible through the election of Congressman Lorimer as United States senator from Illinois, as Ward is now private secretary to Lorimer.

Ward, after escaping on a technicality from the investigation into the Presley case, went to Chicago and entered the employ of Lorimer as a day laborer. From there his rise was rapid, however, and in a comparatively short time he found himself in the responsible position he now holds.

While the Battle Creek civil war veterans were entering the cemetery, Monday, their pathway was strewn with roses by the 60 school children who had marched in the parade. Though the feeble old soldiers had been offered automobiles to carry them to the grounds, they insisted on walking.

Butler Clay, a 70-year-old negro, who was being held in the Kalamazoo jail awaiting an examination as to his sanity, killed himself last night by cutting his throat with a razor. This was the second attempt the man had made, having tried a few days ago to dash his brains out against the cell walls.

Edward Moriarity, brakeman from Fort Wayne, Ind., was instantly killed Friday night when the rear coach of G. R. & I. passenger train No. 6 was derailed by a misplaced switch near the Sturgis depot. It is thought the switch had been tampered with as the catch bolt had been drawn from it.

STATE BRIEFS.

Bozette City is to have a new school building which is to cost close to $12,000.

George Leece, a farmer, will be sent to Kalamazoo for the summer, as his mind is slightly affected, but his neighbors in Bozette township will care for his crops.

Niles officers have declared war on the automobile owners who indulge in fast driving, and the first to be arrested was Russel Earl, son of the mayor of the city.

Four teeth and a piece of a clay pipe stem were swallowed by Fred Christian, a prominent farmer of Moorland township, when he was kicked in the face by a colt.

"Daniel Green, 70, and a well-known farmer near Lapeer, was fatally injured when the team which he was driving on a heavy roller ran away, and the roller passed over his body."

Detroit's tax levy this year is $6,323,500, of which $3,285,439 is for salaries of city employees. The taxpayer gets what he earns and saves; city employees are not famous for hard work.

The manufacturers of "Fossum Brew," a malted beverage, said to be non-intoxicating, will make a test case in the supreme court to determine whether the sale of their product is illegal.

Mrs. Louis Cupp, of Fort Wayne, Ind., has claimed the body of her husband who, in a fit of despondency after being released from a jail sentence on a larceny charge, drowned himself in the river at Flint.

Mrs. D. F. Diggins, who with her husband presented Mercy hospital to Cadillac about a year ago, will erect another building, which, when completed will double the capacity of the institution, providing 60 beds.

Lightning struck a flock of sheep belonging to James Paterson, of Kalamazoo, and 12 were killed. It struck the house of Edward Paterson, brother of James, tore a telephone from the wall and hurled it through a window.

Clude Rourke, 16, who was released on parole from the state industrial school only a few days ago, has been returned to that institution, having stolen a bicycle from a farmer near Owosso and sold it at a second-hand store.

Because both Gov. Warner and Lieut. Gov. Kelley are out of the state limits, with the Detroit Board of Commerce excursion, Secretary of State Martindale would be the chief executive if any great public emergency should arise during their absence.

It may be that Banker Burleson, just sentenced to from four to twenty years for wrecking the Parma bank, is not broke. He told the deputy who took him to Jonia that he could have $30,000 for eight years, the time that Burleson expects to remain in prison.

In the inquest into the wreck occurring at Grand Rapids on April 19, and causing the death of three men, an effort will be made to show that the section men were careless in patrolling the track, and therefore failed to notice the washout which derailed the train.

It is reported that D. F. Geesey, killed in blowing up of the elevator at Döwagiac a few days ago, had a considerable amount of money on his person when the explosion occurred and this has not all been found. Reports place the amount variously at $400 to $700.

Grand Rapids has been notified by the department of commerce and labor that the proceedings to deport English upholsterers brought there by the Stickley Bros. Co. would be dropped. It was claimed by the department that the contract labor law was being violated.

Louis Stearns, the Ionia convict who escaped from an Allegan officer near Ada, Saturday, by leaping through a window of a railway train, is still at large. It was thought that he might have come to the home of his wife in Grand Rapids, but a search failed to locate him there.

Capt. J. E. Stover, a lake captain of Detroit, called on Prosecutor Foster, of Lansing, and asked if he could settle for the valuable merchandise stolen by Molly Maguire and have the complaint against her dropped. He said he is a relative of the woman, who after robbing a number of stores in Lansing, was captured, taken to the county jail, and escaped from there and has never been recaptured. No satisfaction was given him.

His eagerness to reach the cemetery in which his parents had been buried so that he might have the entire day for decorating their graves cost 15-year-old Charlie Babney, of Battle Creek, his life Sunday. The boy had started to go to Hamlin township cemetery. Seeing a freight train he hopped on board, lost his grip on the iron beams and fell under the cars. The wheels took off both legs and mangled his body so that it was hardly recognizable. The remains were sent to Battle Creek relatives.

Found in Marquette penitentiary, after an extended search, Charles Pearce, alias Richard Manning, a noted postoffice robber and suspected murderer, was arrested Monday morning by M. W. McClaghrey, a federal detective, on the expiration of an eight-year sentence for burglary. Pearce made a sensational escape from Leavenworth (Kas.) prison, 12 years ago, and will now be returned there just before coming to Marquette he served four years in South Dakota for postoffice robbery, and is thought to be the man who killed a policeman in the railroad yards at Joplin, Mo., in 1897.

Illness and worry because she thought she might be compelled to leave Battle Creek and take up residence in Chicago, drove Mrs. B. S. Nichols, aged 63, who recently moved to Battle Creek from Coldwater, to swallow several ounces of carbollic acid, Friday morning at 5 o'clock. She died a few hours later.

The supreme court has affirmed the verdict of $1,500 damages awarded Mrs. Anne Logan in the Lenawee county court against the agricultural society of that county for injuries received in a fall as a result of a portion of the grandstand on the fair grounds giving way.

ONE THING THAT WAS CERTAIN

No Doubt in the Baggage Man's Mind as to Contents of What Looked Like Coffin.

In an emergency the manufacturer of Limburger cheese was forced to use strategy with a shipment. Ordinarily his product went in special cars, but in this instance no car was available and the order must be filled. Two hundred pounds of the fragrant comestible was put in a rough, oblong box, and taken to the railroad baggage room. Then the manufacturer bought a ticket for himself and the box, and entered the train. At the first stop he went ahead to the baggage car to see that there was no trouble. He stood by the box in a disconsolate attitude and shaded his eyes with his hand. The baggage man was sympathetic. "A relative?" he asked. "Yes," answered the manufacturer, "it is my brother." "Well," said the railroad man, philosophically, "you have one consolation. He's dead, all right."—San Francisco Argonaut.

As the Boy Saw the Lesson.
Prof. Charles Zeublin of the University of Chicago was discussing at a dinner the greatest paintings of the world.

"The legends that are beautiful and immortal," he said, "have in them truths that we all, according to our kind, take home. This is true in likenesses of immortal works of art—pictures, poems, songs. For different people they have different messages. For instance, in my native Pendleton some of the mothers used to cut the children's hair. They did it with shears and a bowl. The operation was often painful, and the result was never elegant."

"In Sunday school a Pendleton teacher once told her pupils the tragic story of Samson and Delilah. Then she turned to a little boy."

"What do you learn, Joe," she said, "from the Samson story?"

"It don't never pay," piped Joe, "to have a woman cut a feller's hair."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mutual Surprise.
A mission worker in New Orleans was visiting a reformatory near that city not long ago when she observed among the inmates an old acquaintance, a negro lad long thought to be a model of integrity. "Jim!" exclaimed the mission worker. "Is it possible I find you here?" "Yassum," blithely responded the backslider. "I's charged with stealin' a barrel o' sweet potatoes." The visitor sighed. "You, Jim!" she repeated. "I am surprised!" "Yassum," said Jim. "So was I or I wouldn't be here!"

OVER THE FENCE Neighbor Says Something.

The front yard fence is a famous council place on pleasant days. Maybe to chat with some one along the street, or for friendly gossip with next door neighbor. Sometimes it is only small talk but other times neighbor has something really good to offer.

An old resident of Bard, Texas, got some mighty good advice this way once.

He says: "Drinking coffee left me nearly dead with dyspepsia, kidney disease and bowel trouble, with constant pains in my stomach, back and side, and so weak I could scarcely walk."

"One day I was chatting with one of my neighbors about my trouble and told her I believed coffee hurt me. Neighbor said she knew lots of people to whom coffee was poison and she pleaded with me to quit it and give Postum a trial. I did not take her advice right away but tried a change of climate, which did not do me any good. Then I dropped coffee and took up Postum."

"My improvement began immediately and I got better every day I used Postum."

"My bowels became regular in two weeks, all my pains were gone. Now I am well and strong and can eat anything I want to without distress. All of this is due to my having quit coffee, and to the use of Postum regularly."

"My son who was troubled with indigestion thought that if Postum helped me so, it might help him. It did, too, and he is now well and strong again."

"We like Postum as well as we ever liked the coffee and use it altogether in my family in place of coffee and all keep well." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in Pags.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Autos to Replace the Last Horse Cars

The cars that Mr. Whitridge tends to experiment with are an electric storage battery and gasoline motor car. There is no question about their practicability, the receiver says. It is simply a matter of deciding which form can be operated the more economically.

The new experimental, self-propelled cars will seat about 23 persons. They will be for purpose of comparison, about the size of the cars which the Metropolitan street railway operates on its Eighth street cross-town line. These are 32 feet in length.

Some form of automobile car is also looked upon as the possible solution of the traffic problem on West street, where the Metropolitan street railway has always asserted, that owing to tidal effects and the possibility of short circuits therefrom, the underground trolley has been impracticable.

In addition to all this promised reform the public service commission has granted the Interborough company as extension of 30 days in which to experiment with side-door trains in the subway, so that the center side door train, which the Interborough officials consider superior to the side-door train which has been operated experimentally for some weeks past may be tried.

A $5000 farm that didn't cost a cent

W. B. Northrup, went to the Gulf Coast Country of Texas, last December, to contract for a lot of cabbages. One cabbage crop of 20 acres, on a 41-acre farm, near Brownsville, looked so good to him that he bought the entire farm, including the crop. He paid $125 an acre, the man who sold it agreeing to bring the crop to maturity, gather and deliver it on the cars.

The crop has been shipped; the yield averaged 24,000 pounds to the acre, and brought from $1.75 to $2.00 per hundred—over $8,000 for the crop.

As Mr. Northrup only paid $5,125 for the farm, he now has the farm, his original capital, and a handsome bonus besides.

Mr. Northrup was fortunate. It isn't often one finds a man who is willing to sell his farm, after he has it under cultivation, for the crop usually brings more than the land.

But there is plenty of similar land in the Gulf Coast Country of Texas, not under cultivation, that you can buy for a trifle, compared with its earning capacity. Why don't you go there and make an investigation while the land is within your reach? Next year it will cost more.

A trip of investigation will be inexpensive. It is your opportunity. Don't wait.

Howard Whipple, Will Groat and Warren Callahan have received diplomas from Commissioner Eggers for passing the eighth grade examination. These boys are from the eighth grade class in the Salem school.

Tomorrow (Saturday), at 2:30 a meeting will be held in the Thayer school house for the purpose of forming a rural cemetery association having for its object the preservation and beautifying of the Thayer cemetery. This is a move in the right direction. Come and help it along.

Decoration Day was fittingly observed in all Salem cemeteries. At the Thayer yard Rev. Knowles of the Congregational church gave an interesting talk to a large and appreciative audience. Will Stanbro sang a beautiful solo entitled, "Our Soldier Dead." The ladies of the neighborhood furnished evergreen wreaths trimmed with Persian lilacs for each soldier's grave. At the West Methodist charge Rev. Betts gave an address and Messrs. Stanbro, Lovelace, Wheeler and Atchison furnished music. There were beautiful flowers for the graves of the fallen heroes.

Upset Stomach or Indigestion

Ends five minutes after taking some Diapepsin.

Stops Food Fermentation and cures Stomach Trouble before you realize it.

Take your sour stomach—or maybe you call it indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring. The digestive organs become weak; there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery. Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

Perplexity, Beauty's Mar.
 The forehead filled with lines is not always a sign of years. Often it is nothing but evidence of bad facial habits. Do you knit your eyebrows when you are thinking of perplexing matters or are down on your luck? If you do you will have a forehead seamed with lines and several deep furrows between the eyes.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Large Catch of Herring.
 The east coast herring fishing has been brought to a close and the boats are being rapidly made up and the crews paid off. At Yarmouth and Lowestoft the total catch has been, in round figures, 77,360 tons or 1,011,152,000 fish. What the retail value would be is difficult to estimate, but at three a penny—and seldom are they even hawked about the streets at a cheaper rate—the sum works out at £1,404,462—London News

May Prove Fatal

When will Northville People Learn the Importance of it.

Backache is only a simple thing at first; But when you know 'tis from the kidneys, That serious kidney troubles follow; That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end, You will gladly profit by the following experience.

"The statement of a Northville citizen. Mrs. W. M. Frederick, Wing street, Northville, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been of such great benefit to me that I feel justified in giving them my endorsement. I had considerable trouble from my kidneys for several years and I suffered constantly from dull, nagging backaches, coupled with pains through my loins. I doctored and tried many remedies but found no relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Murdoch Bros' drug store. Since taking this remedy, my condition has improved in every way and backache has not bothered me."

The Ladies' Literary club held the last meeting of the year, which was the president's day banquet, at the home of Mrs. Yerna Adams, Wednesday. This is one of the most enjoyable days of the year, and the committee furnished an unusually good program.

The entertainment given by the Literary club last Friday and Saturday evening was well patronized and was a perfect success in every respect. The proceeds were nearly $56. A great deal of credit is due Mrs. H. L. Weaver for directing the play and making it a success.

Decoration Day was celebrated in the usual manner, a program in the hall by the school children and addresses by Revs. Stange and J. E. Mealey. Three games of ball were played on the school diamond, two between the business men and Tigers and one the Northville "All Stars" and grammar-room team.

Josiah M. Cox passed away Thursday morning, May 27, at his home east of town after a lingering illness. He was born in England Aug. 30, 1852 and came to this country when a mere boy. At the age of twenty two he was married to Harriett Chamberlain, who survives him with seven children, Mrs. Jennie Zingman of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Minnie Rupert of Detroit, Mrs. Bertha Young of Livonia, Edward of Detroit and Roy, Cecil and Mary at home. The funeral was held Sunday from the Baptist church, the remains being put in the vault until ready for interment in Oakwood cemetery. Rev. N. E. Musser had charge of the funeral.
