OH, THOSE HATS!

GREAT TIME THE FIFT'

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE WERE HERE MONDAY.

Sports, Ball Games, Horse Races
and Fun Galore.

Monday was a great day for Northville, its people and its visitors. There was one of these real old fashioned Fourth's on the Fifth. Thousands of people were here to enjoy it and the music, decorations, races, athletic sports and ball games were hugely enjoyed.

The only accident reported was that of John Gray, who fractured his arm while making a high jump in the forenoon sports. Dr. Henry soon fixed the young man out and he will be as good as new in a couple weeks or so.

BALL GAMES.

The ball games were between the E. M. F.'s of Detroit and Moffit's Colts of Northville. The forenoon game was won by Northville to the tune of 14 to 4 and the afternoon game by a score of 3 to 2. Some rather close decisions of Umpire Brown in the afternoon game caused some warm arguments on the part of the Detroiters and for a few minutes it looked as if the umpire might need police protection.

Following is the score for morning game:

Northville	14-13-5
Detroit	4-5-9
Batteries: Northville, Evans and E. Stimpson. Detroit, Konen and Reske.

Afternoon game:
Northville 3-6-1
Detroit 2-4-5
Batteries: Northville, E. McCrory, Moffit and E. Stimpson. Detroit, Konen and Reske.

Brown umpired both games.

THE HORSE RACES.

In Class A—Packer's "Uncle Dudley" was 1st; Taylor's "Ida Dillard" 2nd; "Tony J" and "Little Coin" drawing together the 3rd money. Best time for half mile 1:08 1/2.

Free-for-All—Gibbons' "Fate Ellen" 1st; La Peer's "Alex" 2nd; Stark weather's "Princess Dillard" 3rd. Time 2:22.

Class B—Starkweather's "Fancy

Good Sunday dinners at the Ardell.

Dillard" 1st; VanVleet's "Queen Constantine" 2nd; Rattenbury's "Little Toot" 3rd.
Trot—Hamilton's "Nellie Medium" 1st; Stanley's "Siddmont" 2nd; Schroder's "Patay K" 3rd.

A Northville Horse in the M. & M.

Last February when H. S. German paid $500 for the green trotter "Marble" most people said he would never see his money again, but "Harry" had the nerve to pay it and also the good judgment to place him in charge of J. B. Plaham under whose skillful hand "Marble" soon began to show his class and last week was purchased by the great colt trainer, Ed. Benyon, who will keep him for the big stakes of 1910 including the M. & M.

"Marble" is now enjoying life in one of the palatial stalls at the State fair grounds, Detroit, where his many Northville friends may see him step during the coming Grand Circuit meeting (by paying $1.00 at the gate).

Mr. German received $1,500 for him, with $300 additional when he trots a mile in 2:15.

Notice to Water Users.

It becomes necessary to restrict users of city water for sprinkling purposes to the hours of 6:30 to 7:30 a. m. and 7:00 to 8:00 p. m. Failure to comply with this request can only mean the entire restriction of the use of water during the dry period. In business places where running water is necessary the opening must be reduced to the lowest degree of efficiency. Order Village Council.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank the Maccabee ladies for the beautiful carnations sent me during my late illness.
MRS. GEO. STIMPSON.

King's Daughters Thankful.

The Society of King's Daughters of Northville desires to publicly express their appreciation for the liberal support given them on Charity Tag Day, July 5.

Reflection.

The solitary side of our nature demands leisure for reflection upon subjects on which the dash and whirl of daily business, so long as its clouds rise thick about us, forbid the intellect to fasten itself.—Froude.

HOT FIRE MONDAY OVER AT FARMINGTON

HOUSE AND LOT OF BARN WERE BURNED.

Lyman Sowle Suffered a Severe Loss.

Fire crackers in a barn was the cause of the most serious fire that Farmington has had in years shortly after noon Monday. The fire was discovered in a barn owned by Lyman Sowle and before the village fire department got to work with its chemical engine, the fire spread to Mr. Sowle's residence. Within a few minutes the house was burned to the ground. By hard work the citizens managed to save the furniture.

The residence of Mrs. Minnie Owen was also badly scorched. A large barn owned by Mrs. Owen, located within a few feet of the house, was burning and the house caught fire several times, but the good work of the firemen with buckets of water saved it. The barn was burned to the ground.

Barns owned by the Misses Burton and Mrs. Stamman were also destroyed. The fire spread to the roofs of the Baptist church and the residence of Miss Addie Beach but citizens soon extinguished these blazes.

Several of the firemen were slightly burned and two citizens were overcome by the heat while fighting the fire. The damage is estimated at several thousand dollars partially covered by insurance.

It was Mr. and Mrs. Sowle's fifty-first wedding anniversary and the children, with the exception of the son and one daughter, were present to celebrate the event. They were all ready to sit down to dinner when the fire was discovered. Their goods were nearly all saved and moved into one of Gov. Warner's houses which was the only vacant one in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Kuster, who occupied Mrs. Owen's house, were away from home, and their goods were taken to the town hall.

Governor Warner was at Saginaw at the time, but his wife and two boys were in the thickest of the fight. Mrs. Warner's face was blistered and a couple holes were burned in her clothing.

If you want a good Sunday dinner go to the Ardell.

"TAG DAY" A SUCCESS

The King's Daughters "Tag Day" proved a financial success Monday and the members of this worthy organization are more than pleased with their efforts. After counting up their receipts it was found they had $125.00. This money will be spent in the cause of charity.

SYNOPSIS.

Carrington loved Kate Cavanaugh, daughter of Multi-Millionaire Henry Cavanaugh. The latter liked Carrington, but refused him as a son-in-law. Young Carrington, a lawyer, held evidence of criminal financial operations, of which Cavanaugh was guilty. It was Carrington's duty to prosecute the rich man, but he decided to lay the whole matter before Kate. He did so the next day. The young woman decided that to drop the case would be cowardly even though the accused was her father. Cavanaugh offered Carrington a position at $10,000 a year. He refused it. He hid his evidence in the Cavanaugh safe, after being introduced to the millionaire's father.

"We seldom use this," said the girl, reading the vague unspoken question in his eyes. "The jewel safe is upstairs in my room."

"It doesn't matter in the least," he replied, smiling, "so long as I may safely rid myself of these obnoxious papers. And if you do not mind, I'll leave them there till Monday morning. I've thought it all out, Kate. A man's only human, after all. I could never prosecute the case myself; I'd be thinking of you and the bread I have eaten. I'll turn the matter over to Challoner, and let him do as he thinks best. Of course, I shall be called as a witness when the case comes up in court, if it ever does."

She did not reply, but shut the door of the safe and rose from her knees.

The south side of the dining room was made up of long colonial windows that opened directly upon the lawn. They were more like doors than windows. She looked each one carefully and drew the curtain.

"Norah is probably growing impatient for us," she said.

With an indescribable impulse he suddenly drew her into his arms and kissed her. It might be the last he could ever claim.

"John!" she murmured, gently disengaging herself.

"I love you," he said. "And I could not help it. Everything looks so dark."

The clock in the hall chimed the quarter hour after 11. Cavanaugh was in his den. His desk was littered with sheets of paper, upon which were formidable columns of figures and dollar signs. He sat back in his chair and listened. He thought he heard a door or window close; he wasn't certain. It was probably one of the servants. He bit off the end of a fresh cigar and resumed his work. Let the young people play golf, if they wanted to, and dance and frolic away the precious hours; they would never know the joy of seeing one become two, two become four, and so on, till the adding grew into the ransoms of many kings. Ay, this was to live. Oh, the beautiful numerals! Brigade after brigade, corps after corps, they marched at a sign from him; an army greater than that of kings. To sit in a little room, as in a puppet booth, and juggle the policies of the nations! Yes, Kate should have a duke and Norah a prince, he would show them all some day. Recollecting Carrington, he frowned. Did the fellow know anything, that he felt the power to refuse an offer such as he had made at the dinner table? Bah! It would be like crushing some insect. He determined that this should be Carrington's last visit. His pen moved once more, and presently he became lost in his dreams of calculation.

But Cavanaugh's ears had not deceived him, however, for he had heard the sound of a closing window. A window had been closed, but none of the servants had been at hand.

At precisely 11 a man came swiftly but cautiously across the lawn. When he reached the long windows of the dining room he paused, but not irresolutely. There was a sharp rasping sound, followed by the uncertain glare that makes the light of a dark lantern separate and individual, and a window swung noiselessly inward. The man wore a short mask, a soft felt hat well down over his eyes. He cupped his hand to his ear and strained to catch any sound. Silence. Then he dropped behind the screen, consulted a slip of paper by the light of his lantern, and with a few quick turns of the combination knob opened the door of the safe. He extracted the envelope and thrust it into his pocket, without so much as a glance at its contents. In making his exit, the window struck the sill. In pressing it the lock snapped loudly. This was the sound Cavanaugh heard. The burglar ran lightly across the lawn and disappeared beyond the hedges. And none too soon.

The Cavanaugh drag rolled over the hill and went clattering up to the portecochere.

On the way home Carrington, his mind still wavering between this expedient and that, decided that, after all, he would take charge of the papers himself. It didn't seem quite fair that Cavanaugh's safe should protect his ultimate disgrace. So, upon entering the house, he confided his desire to Kate, who threw aside her wraps and led him into the dining room. She had her own reasons for wishing the papers out of the safe. She turned on the lights and swirled the combination knob. At this moment Norah came in.

"What are you doing?" she asked.

"Mr. Carrington left some valuable papers in the safe, and he wants them."

Carrington wondered why Norah gazed from him to her sister with so wild an expression.

"Papers?" she murmured.

Kate opened the door. She sprang to her feet in terror and dismay.

"What is it?" cried Carrington, who saw by her expression that something extraordinary had happened.

"They—it is not there!"

Norah sat down and hid her face on her arms.

Carrington rushed over to the safe, stooped and made a hasty examination. It had been opened by some one who knew the combination! He stood up, a cold chill wrinkling his spine. He saw it all distinctly. Cavanaugh knew. He had known all along. Cavanaugh had overheard him speak to Kate and had opened the safe after their departure for the club. It was all very cleverly done. He knew that Kate was utterly blameless. Then it dawned upon him that they appeared as though they accepted the catastrophe as not wholly unexpected! To what did this labyrinth lead?

A rattle of the curtain rings wheeled them about. They beheld Cavanaugh himself standing in the doorway.

"What's the trouble?" he asked, eyeing Carrington suspiciously.

Carrington answered him icily. "I left some legal documents of great value in this safe; they are no longer there."

Cavanaugh's jaw dropped. He stared at Kate, then at Norah. If ever there was written on a face unfeigned dismay and astonishment, it was on the millionaire's. A moment before Carrington would have sworn that he was guilty, now he knew not what to believe. He grew bewildered. There had certainly been a burglar, but who was he?

It Had Been Opened by Some One Who Knew the Combination.

"Mr. Carrington," said Cavanaugh, pulling himself together with an effort, "you need have no worry whatever. I will undertake to restore your documents. I offer you no explanations." He left them abruptly.

The young lawyer concluded to grope no longer. Somebody else would have to lead him out of this labyrinthine maze. All at once there came to him a sense of infinite relief. Providence had kindly taken the matter out of his hands.

"Never mind, Kate," he said. "For my part, I should be entirely satisfied if I never saw the miserable thing again."

"Father will find it for you." Her eyes were dim with tears of shame.

"What is it, girl?"

"Nothing that I can explain to you, John. Good night."

When he had gone to his room, Norah turned to her sister and sobbed on her breast.

"Oh, Kate!"

"What is the matter, child?"

"I told grandpa the combination!"

CHAPTER III.

Carrington tumbled out of bed at six and threw out the old-fashioned green blinds. A warm, golden summer morning greeted his eyes, and the peaceful calm of Sunday lay upon the land. A robin piped in an apple tree, an oriole flashed across the flower beds, and a bee buzzed just outside the sill. A brave day! He stepped into his tub, bathed, and dressed in his riding clothes, for there was to be a canter down to the sea and return before breakfast. From the window he could see the groom walking the beautiful thoroughbreds up and down the driveway. There were only two this morning; evidently Norah was not going.

The Cavanaugh girls had created almost a scandal and a revolution when they first appeared at Glenwood. People had read and talked about women riding like men, they had even seen pictures of them, but to find them close at hand was something of a shock. Yet, when they saw with what ease the Cavanaugh girls took the hedges, ditches and fences, how their mounts never suffered from saddle-galls, and, above all, how the two always kept even pace with the best men riders, opinion veered, and several ladies changed their habits.

Norah, who saw the droll side of things, once said that the accepted riding habit for women reminded her of a kimono for a harp.

Karrington stole gently down to the horses. He had great affection for the sleek thoroughbreds. Their ears went forward when they saw him, and they whinnied softly. He rubbed their velvet noses and in turn they nuzzled him for sugar loaves. Had it not been for the night and the attendant mysteries, his happiness would have been complete. People waste many precious moments in useless retrospection; so Carrington resolutely forced the subject from his mind. One thing was certain, the Cavanaughs knew the burglar was; and there was something strange in the idea of an empty safe in a millionaire's home. Pshaw! He took out the expected sugar loaves and extended them on both palms. The pair licked his hand and crunched the sweets with evident relish.

"How are they today, James?"

"Fit for 20 miles, straight away or cross lots, sir. Your mount is feeling his oats this morning; he hasn't been out for a run since Thursday, sir. I've put the curb on him in case he takes it into his head to cut up shins. Here comes Miss Kate, sir."

Carrington's pulse rose. Kate was approaching them. She was pale but serene. She smiled a good morning, which took in the gentleman and the groom.

"I hope I haven't kept you waiting."

"Not a moment; I only just got down myself," said Carrington.

She mounted without assistance and adjusted her skirts. The filly began to waltz, impatient to be off.

"To the beach!" Carrington asked, swinging into his saddle.

She nodded and they started off toward the highway at a smart trot. Once there, the animals broke into an easy canter, which they maintained for a mile or more. Then Kate drew down to a walk.

"What a day!" said he, waving his hand toward the sea line.

There was color aplenty on her cheeks now, and her eyes shone like precious stones. There is no exhilaration quite like it. She flicked the elders with her crop, and once or twice reached up for a ripening apple. In the air there was the strange sea smell, mingled with the warm scent of clover.

"I'll race you to the beach!" she cried, suddenly.

"Done! I'll give you to the sixth tree," he laughed. There was really nothing at all in the world but this beautiful girl, the horses, and the white road that wound in and out to the sea.

She trotted her mount to the sixth tree, turned, and then gave the signal. Away they went, the horses every-bit as eager as their riders. With their ears laid back, their nostrils wide, their feet drumming, they thundered down the road. Carrington gained, but slowly, and he had to hold his right arm as a shield for his eyes, as the filly's heels threw back a steady rain of sand and gravel. Faster and faster, a milk wagon veered off just in time; foolish chickens scampered to the wrong side of the road, and the stray pigs in the orchards squealed and bolted inland. It was all very fine. And when they struck deep tawny sand the animals were neck and neck. It was now no easy task to bring them to a stop. Carrington's hunter had made up his mind to win and the lithe filly was equally determined. As an expedient, they finally guided the animals toward the hub of an ancient wreck, nothing else would have stopped them.

"How I love it!" said Kate, breathlessly, as she slid from the saddle. "Beauty, you beat him, didn't you?" patting the dripping neck of her favorite.

They tethered the horses presently and sat down in the shade of the hull.

Glue Pot Heated by Electricity.

The value of electricity for heating purposes, says the Scientific American, is illustrated in a new electric glue pot, which has recently been placed on the market. The economy of the device lies in the fact that the maximum amount of heat may be applied instantly when needed, while the glue may be kept warm at all times by a reduced flow of current through the heating coils. The glue pot consists of a cup in which is set a casing filled with water. The electric heater is attached to the pot immediately below the water. A hot water receptacle is provided in which the brushes may be kept.

Saved by Clothes Line.

The young child of William Martin, a Bacon shopman, fell from the third story of a tenement and escaped a shocking death in a miraculous manner. The child was playing on a balcony 40 feet above the street when it climbed the railings and toppled over. Its feet from the ground, however, the child's body fell directly across a clothes line stretched across the street and the rope, acting much as a net would have done, broke the fall so completely that the child slipped gently off with scarcely a bruise.

Eucalyptus ties in Hawaii are said to last 15 years East of Albuquerque, N. M., one road is using Georgia pine. At present certain California roads are using many thousands of redwood ties on the coast. They are also got in oak ties from Japan.

The Blue Rose

By H. M. Egbert.

"Yes, gentlemen," declared Prof. Toppingham, beaming across the table at the college trustees. "I'm going to retire and end my days in the country. I haven't seen a flower of a shrub outside the campus for 15 years and I intend to devote my days to the study of nature now that you've decided I'm too old to work in harness and pensioned me off."

"John thinks he'll like the country," put in the professor's wife, who had, been admitted, by special courtesy, to the valedictory proceedings. "But he has one defect, he doesn't know."

"But a woman's interference in the discussion was not to be tolerated. Laura was politely but firmly relegated to obscurity."

"I suppose you'll be making some of those wonderful botanical discoveries you're always talking about," interrupted Jones, the natural history shark, with gentle irony.

Prof. Toppingham thumped his fist upon the table.

"Jones," he cried, "you may deride me from your lofty heights. But who has done the great work of the world, sir? Answer me, sir. The expert, with his brain trained to run along its shallow groove, or the untrained investigator, lit by enthusiasm and untrammelled by pedantry? The trouble with you professionals is that you've got into a rut. It has been my dream for years to produce blue roses, and I'm going to do it."

"John is an enthusiast," said his wife. "All his life he's had one defect, and I simply can't get him to believe it. He's—"

"When you produce your blue rose, pray let me see it," interposed Professor Jones, firmly. "I'll make you a standing offer of ten thousand for the first one."

Amusing the Royal Children

It is the rule with most royal parents of to-day that their children shall be brought up in a simple, unspoiled manner, and few indulgences are allowed to interfere with their studies. The consequence is that holidays are as keenly anticipated by prince and princess as they are by the average child. Probably no youngsters, for instance, enjoy the summer vacation more than the children of the prince and princess of Wales, who often stay at Frogmore. Here, in the 30 acres of grounds which surround the royal residence, Princess Mary and her brothers go picnicking—a favorite form of amusement with them—and for cycle rides and walks.

They also have their ponies as well as a perfectly equipped boat on the lake, in which the two elder boys—Prince Edward and Prince Albert—often take their mother for a sail. The great ambition of these two boys is to possess a motor car, a wish which, needless to say, has not yet been gratified. To lessen their disappointment however the prince of first plant, Toppingham. Have you ever tried to grow roses—even red ones?"

Laura bit her lip, frowned, and then smiled softly, as a woman smiles sometimes when she has a secret with nobody to share it.

Prof. Toppingham carried out his intention. He purchased a house in New Jersey, about one and a half hours' ride from New York. It had a large garden attached, and here, freed from the routine of class work, he set himself assiduously to the cultivation of his blue-rose, which was to be the wonder and admiration of the whole world.

Prof. Toppingham Thumped His Fist Upon the Table.

"You see, Laura," he explained, "this book says that no flower displays more than two of the primary colors

Two-Thirds Right.

"I'm a terror, I be," announced the new arrival in Frozen Dog to one of the men behind the bar.

"Be ye?"

"Takes three men to handle me, once I get started," he went on.

"Oh, well," he remarked, as he arose painfully and dusted off his clothes, "of course, if ye're short-handed, I suppose two kin do it on a pinch."—Everybody's Magazine

"An itching humor covered both my hands and got up over my wrists and even up to the elbows. The itching and burning were terrible. My hands got all scaly and when I scratched, the surface would be covered with blisters and then get raw. The eczema got so bad that I could not move my thumbs without deep cracks appearing. I went to my doctor, but his medicine could only stop the itching. At night I suffered so fearfully that I could not sleep. I could not bear to touch my hands with water. This went on for three months and I was fairly worn out. At last I got the Cuticura Remedies and in a month I was cured. Walter H. Cox, 16 Somerset St., Boston, Mass., Sept. 25, 1908."

Here's a Good One.

A friend of mine told me of a curious experience. He was carefully stalking a big bull elephant in a large herd, when they got his wind, and a big cow elephant charged him. He jumped behind a large tree as the elephant reached him, and, being unable to stop herself in time, the elephant drove her tusks with such force into the tree that they snapped off close to her head. The elephant was stunned for a moment, but luckily turned and galloped after the fast retreating herd, leaving him the possessor of some 80 pounds of ivory, valued at about $250.—Circus Magazine.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., JULY 9, '09

Are They? Yes They Are, Not.

"The great majority of the newspapers of the state without regard to politics, are expressing satisfaction, etc."

This is from the Lansing State Republican and refers to Justice Montgomery's candidacy for governor. As a matter of fact the announcement has thus far been received with a decided frosty aspect. The Record's exchanges to date show favorable comments, one—the Republican—indifferent, one, flirting, one; knockers eleven; silent 120. The general opinion seems to be that Judge Montgomery can best serve the state where he is, on the Supreme bench.

Anyhow the tax-payer need not worry because the State treasury is low for funds. The tax-payers have just that much more money on hand.

The State treasury is broke so the papers say and yet there was $1,613,967 54 on hand July 1.

Electricity in Fertilizing Industry. Several representatives from European concerns interested in the manufacture of nitrogenous fertilizer from the air are in this country looking for options on good water power for hydroelectric development in connection with the fertilizing industry.

Methodist Church Notes.

(By the Pastor.)

The Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. W. H. Hutton next Tuesday afternoon.

The regular services will be conducted by the pastor Sunday morning and evening.

The monthly business meeting of the Epworth League was held Tuesday evening. Bills were allowed and other business transacted.

We are glad to note that the attendance at our services has diminished so little during the summer so far, and hope this evidence of interest and loyalty may continue.

Summer seems to have had little effect on Sunday school attendance and interest. The attendance since spring has kept well up toward the average for the year. We congratulate the work of officers and teachers and the faithfulness of the scholars which have produced these results.

Baptist Church Notes.

(By the Pastor.)

The Missionary meeting, has been postponed to meet with the ladies of the church the last Wednesday in this month. Dues payable at this meeting.

The ladies of the Baptist church did well with their dinner and lunch the fifth, the door receipts being $60. They feel grateful for the patronage they received.

Pastor Musser will have charge of the service Sunday morning. The subject will be "A Remedy for All Our Troubles." The Sunday evening service will be conducted by the B. Y. P. U. A mixed program will be given, addresses by some of our young people, who are going to leave us and appropriate music under the direction of Mr. Grant. An hour replete with good things. Come early if you want a good seat. Service begins at 7 p. m. There will be no service at 6 p. m. All welcome.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

(By the Pastor.)

The Lord's Supper will be observed next Sunday morning and new members received into the church.

Rev. Dr. Bryant of Detroit very acceptably filled the pulpit last Sunday and in the morning took a good offering for Michigan Home Missions.

Next Sunday morning, by special request, the pastor will repeat a recent sermon on "What We Must Believe." At the vesper service he will give the last of the series on the Parable of the Sower, topic, "The Good Ground."

Inverate Foe of the Weed.

Swinburne defested the practice of smoking. It is said that one day at the Arts club, after going from room to room in the vain hope of finding a clear atmosphere to write in, he exclaimed: "James I. was a knave, a tyrant, a fool, a liar, a coward. But I love him, I worship him, because he slit the throat of that blackguard, Raleigh, who invented this filthy smoking."

Soldier of Whom France is Proud.

Gen. Marguis de Gallifet was a famous general under Napoleon III. in the days of the Second empire, and at 80 years of age is still interested in current events. At Sedan, when he had lost half his men, Gen. Ducrot asked him if he could charge again. "As often as you please, general," replied Gallifet, and he collected those who remained of his men and charged once more. His gallantry was witnessed by the king of Prussia, who spoke his admiration of the force.

Prof. J. Henry Smith has purchased the Trowbridge property on West Pike street, Pontiac, opposite the Episcopal church, and expects to move his family there in the near future. He will, however, meet his pupils in Northville every week, as usual.

For the first time in the history of Northville no real Fourth of July accidents occurred. The nearest to it was the young man injured in the high jump during the morning sports, but that was not the result of powder explosion. Probably the repeated warning in the Record had something to do with it.

The Worthy Matron of Orient Chapter, No. 77, O. E. S., requests the officers to meet at their hall promptly at 7:00 o'clock this (Friday) evening preparatory to taking the 7:30 car for Farmington. All members of the order are also urged to attend the meeting of the Farmington Chapter.

The Northville fire department and other citizens boarded the one o'clock car Monday and went to Farmington to assist in extinguishing the fire. They pit in some good work which was greatly appreciated by the Farmington people, although the fire was pretty well under control when they arrived.

Last Friday night, while Joe Miller was quietly sleeping in his easy chair about sixteen of his neighbors and friends dropped in on him and it took Joe about two minutes to remember that it was his birthday. A pleasant evening was spent in games, etc. About 11 o'clock a dainty lunch was served. Mr. Miller was the recipient of a beautiful carving set.

You'll never regret it if you get your Sunday dinner at the Ardell.

Johnnie's Two Fourths.

The cannon roared
And the rockets soared,
And the pinwheels whizzed and turned,
The crackers popped—
A match was dropped—
That's how my hair was burned.
The fireworks bright
Lit up the night,
And zigzagged through the sky;
A rocket dropped—
And when it stopped,
Believed me of an eye.
An ear, my nose,
Two of my toes,
Went off, to my alarm.
Some dynamite
Would not act right,
And took away my arm.
Four fingers and
Part of my hand
Were likewise blasted free.
Fourth of July
Has now gone by
Also one-fourth of me.
—Johnnie.

Northville residents with the exception of three and the others residents of this place now. The "bride and groom" were recipients of many nice presents.

A. H. Kater was pleasantly surprised Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robt Thompson, on the occasion of his 73d birthday. He was generously remembered with presents.

The dry season is fast approaching and the consequent danger from fire is increased. Every merchant in town should see that his cellars and store alleys are cleaned from the season's accumulation of boxes, barrels, straw packings, etc., which in some cases are now regular fire traps. A stitch in time just now may save a costly fire.

Michigan farmers are to be congratulated upon the prospects for the success of the Michigan twine plant at the Jackson prison. The plant has been a potent factor in reducing the cost of twine to the farmers. It has encountered opposition from the start from the twine trust. Over two million pounds of twine have already been shipped from the prison. Last week's shipments were the largest in the history of the plant and there is every reason to believe that the entire output will be contracted for before the close of the season. Farmers who have not yet placed their orders should take the earliest opportunity to do so.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Cook of Lawrence a six pound boy, July 3 Mrs. Cook was formerly Miss Emma Alexander and at one time a teacher in the Northville schools.

Sixteen little girls were most royally entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Phillips Wednesday in honor of their little daughter, Marion's, fifth birthday. She received a number of nice presents and it would take a book to tell about the good time and the "goodies" they had to eat.

On Wednesday afternoon a complete surprise was perpetrated on Helen Slater at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Rose Little. Miss Helen was invited to a neighbors to play with a little friend and when she returned home found sixteen little girls there ready to help her celebrate her ninth birthday. Various games were played, refreshments served and a general good time had. She was the recipient of a number of very pretty and useful presents.

The need of a husky night policeman employed at a good salary is apparent. The council could seemingly make such an employment with good grace, lest law and order be forgotten by night visitors to the village. The cynicism and vile talk at midnight Saturday along the main residence part of the town was an outrage. After a long time Marshall Taft was summoned and succeeded in locking up one of the worst of the drunks, a young man from over near New Hudson. The present council has done so many nice things for the village thus far that it is altogether likely they will give this matter some consideration very soon.

Americans are more eager than Londoners in searching out historical places, more keenly interested in them, and have brought to light and popular recollection many shrines which London had forgotten—Bute (Mont) Miner.

Pigeon Burglars.
A carrier pigeon letter "S A 66-386," was placed on the police station blotter in Milwaukee, Wis., the other day, as guilty of a series of thefts in an exclusive apartment building. The bird had been around the court for days entering houses and helping itself to food and articles for a nest, including a gold chain.

Words Would Fail Even Then.
There are 254 languages. A man who has been knocked down by an auto or had a street car transfer refused to him would need to use all of them to express his feelings.—New York Press.

With More Voltage.
Pennsylvania scientist found that a common horsefly was not affected by an electric shock strong enough to kill a horse. Hardy bird, the horsefly? Try it on the boll weevil and see where he ranks.—New York Herald.

Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect the aching back, urinary troubles, diabetes, surely follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills relieve backache.

Cure every kidney ill. Northville citizens endorse them. Mrs. William Cole, Horton avenue, Northville, Mich., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and I found them to be a splendid remedy for kidney trouble. My experience with them took place about a year ago. I suffered from backache and pains in my kidneys and I was greatly annoyed by irregular passages of the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills were procured from Murdock Bros., drug store and after I had used two boxes, the backache ceased and my kidneys gave me no further trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills have also been very beneficial to another member of the family."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

NATURE STUDIES.

The Phunibreak Bird—Hello, who are you?

The Other Bird—Don't you know me? Why, I'm "The Harp that once through Tara's Halls."

The Phunibreak Bird (shortly)—Oh, tut, tut! You're a lyre! That's what you are.

Unexpected Prize.

With a deftness acquired by long and patient practice the pickpocket extracted an old-but well-filled wallet from the hip pocket of the unsuspecting old gentleman with the beaming countenance against whom he had carelessly brushed when leaving the street car, and on reaching a secluded place he opened it.

The contents had been wrapped with great care in numerous thicknesses of blank paper. Removing the wrappings one by one, he found in the center of the package a card with this inscription upon it: "Young Man, Give Up Your Career of Crime! Nothing in It!"

"An Anatomical Wonder."

Senator Beveridge was criticising the ludicrous speeches of a certain upright but hot-headed congressman.

"He does make queer blunders, doesn't he?" said Senator Beveridge.

"Have you heard about his latest?"

"Well, it seems that a constituent, visiting him recently, complained of the shabbiness of a pair of ink-stained crash trousers that he had on."

"A man of your position," said the constituent, reproachfully, "ought to wear handsome trousers than those."

"The congressman, offended, answered reproachfully:

"My trousers may be shabby, but they cover a warm and honest heart."

AN OLD TIMER Has Had Experiences.

A woman who has used Postum since it came upon the market knows from experience the wisdom of using Postum in place of coffee if one values health and a clear brain. She says:

"At the time Postum was first put on the market I was suffering from nervous dyspepsia, and my physician had repeatedly told me not to use tea or coffee. Finally I decided to take his advice and try Postum. I got a package and had it carefully prepared, finding it delicious to the taste. So I continued its use and very soon its beneficial effects convinced me of its value, for I got well of my nervousness and dyspepsia."

"My husband had been drinking coffee all his life until it had affected his nerves terribly, and I persuaded him to shift to Postum. It was easy to get him to make the change for the Postum is so delicious. It certainly worked wonders for him."

"We soon learned that Postum does not exhilarate nor depress and does not stimulate, but steadily and honestly strengthens the nerves and the stomach."

"To make a long story short, our entire family continued to use Postum with satisfying results, as shown in our fine condition of health and we have noticed a rather unexpected improvement in brain and nerve power."

Increased brain and nerve power always follow the use of Postum in place of coffee, sometimes in a very marked manner. "There's a Reason." Look in pkgs for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

DUTCH JUSTICE WAS METED OUT

BAND OF EAST INDIAN PIRATES WIPED OUT BY DUTCH SOLDIERS.

SUFFOCATED IN A CAVE

Twenty-eight Buried in One Trench Some of Whom Were Women and Children—Thirty-one Perished.

The stern methods of the Dutch soldiers in dealing with the semi-barbarous East Indian natives with whom piracy continues an industry rather than a crime were dramatically illustrated in the deliberate suffocation to death of some 30 Achinese men, women and children by a punitive expedition on the Sumatra coast in early June, according to advices just received.

The victims were supposed to be the same daring and blood-thirsty party that a few weeks previously had attacked and plundered a trading junk off Japan, killing the majority of her crew.

The perpetrators of this outlawry, pursued by police boats from Singapore, took refuge in southern Sumatra, where they established quarters in a rocky cave, to which they were tracked by the Dutch troops, assisted by local guides, whose enmity the fugitives had incurred by forays and ransoms.

Overtures were opened for the surrender of the party, and the pirates asked that one of the military officers be sent to discuss the situation. For this unpleasant duty a young lieutenant volunteered, only to be promptly driven back, fatally wounded with spears.

The pirates were then called upon to surrender unconditionally, still being guaranteed safety for their women and children. Their reply was a shower of spears and shots from the firearms they possessed. Orders were thereupon given that no mercy be shown.

The commanding officers had fires built at the cavern mouth, the smoke from which poured inward in dense clouds. When the fires were extinguished and an entrance gained, of the 31 Achinese not one remained alive.

The bodies of 28, including several women and children, were buried in one huge trench and the avenging force returned to Batavia.

Taking Castro's Wealth.

The recent reorganization of the national cigarette factory of Venezuela has completed the elimination of former President Castro from all of the many companies in which he was a large shareholder. He held $1,000,000 in cigarette shares, but as the majority of the shareholders voted to liquidate the company at 10 per cent, the ex-president will only get one-tenth of the value of his shares.

A similar operation has been successfully completed with the navigation company of the Orinoco river, which had the very lucrative monopoly of the navigation of that great waterway. Castro was frozen out by the company going into liquidation and reorganization.

Today Castro's millions invested in Venezuelan industries have been systematically reduced by his erstwhile friends to a few thousands, and the many lawsuits brought against him to recover damages will readily dispose of this remaining amount. Unless the late dictator provided for contingencies by depositing plenty of money in the banks of Europe he will soon be in want, as it is very unlikely that anything at all will be left of his Venezuelan property.

The Tariff Bill.

It is confidently expected by senators generally that the senate will reach a vote on the passage of the tariff bill by the end of the present week.

There is still much to be done and many important features are to be considered, but the measure has been before the senate so long that men of all factions and of both parties are becoming tired of it. The income tax question was regarded as the culminating issue, and with it disposed of Friday in accordance with the finance committee's views. Opponents of that organization seem to have lost all heart.

Sugar Trust Indictments.

The American Sugar Refining Co., six of its directors and two other individuals were indicted by a federal grand jury in New York Thursday on a charge of conspiracy in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The individuals indicted are Washington B. Thomas, president, and Arthur Donner, Chas. P. Senf and John E. Parsons, of New York; John Mayer, of Morristown, N. J., and Geo. H. Frazier, of Philadelphia, directors.

Indictments also were found against Gustav E. Kissel and Thomas B. Harnett, counsel for Adolph Segal. There were 14 counts in the indictment.

WIRELETS.

Wm. A. Bradbury, a San Francisco millionaire, convicted of giving false testimony in a suit involving land, was sentenced to one year in prison.

The San Francisco Gas Co. has been ordered to pay $10,000 damages for the wrecking of the flat in which Fred Bradley lived and which Harry Orchard, the self-confessed assassin, declared he had blown up with a dynamite bomb. Orchard gave this testimony in the trial of the officers of the Western Federation of Miners.

After an exciting chase through streets and yards in Providence, R. I., a young deer was captured in the house of Michael J. Kilroy, where it had taken refuge. The deer had jumped through an open window of Kilroy's house and landed on his back in a bath tub.

WHAT WERE THEY THERE FOR

Reporter's Seemingly Superfluous Question as to Happenings at Cabinet Meetings.

Postmaster General Meyer is of a serious turn of mind, but he has a bit of humor in his makeup, nevertheless. Being looked upon as the shrewdest politician in the president's cabinet, he is the objective point for newspaper correspondents on cabinet days.

Last week as Mr. Meyer emerged from the White House a newspaper man asked:

"Mr. Postmaster General, can't you give us some news about the cabinet meetings?"

"There really is nothing to say," replied the cabinet officer. "We discussed nothing of especial importance."

"Do you mean to say you did not discuss politics?" the newspaper man queried.

The postmaster general burst into laughter. When he recovered his usual serenity he said:

"Do you suppose we were all muzzled?"

HER FRIENDS WONDER

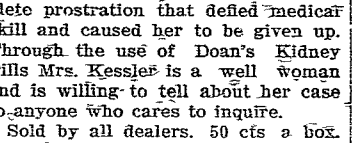

How Mrs. Kessler Was Rescued from Almost Certain Death.

Few have lived through such trials and suffering from kidney disease as were endured by Mrs. Caroline Kessler of W. Main St., Paw Paw, Mich. Well and strong again, her case is thought a miracle by her friends. What Mrs. Kessler went through makes a long story—backache, rheumatism, dizzy and fainting spells, urinary disorders, dreadful bloating of dragsy and finally a complete prostration that defied medical skill and caused her to be given up. Through the use of Doan's Kidney Pills Mrs. Kessler is a well woman and is willing to tell about her case to anyone who cares to inquire.

SANITATION OF THE STATE FAIR GROUNDS.

The State Fair officials are taking every precaution to protect the exhibitors of live stock at the 1909 meeting which opens Sept. 2. They have made arrangements for the complete sanitation of the live stock and, in fact, the entire show buildings and grounds during the fair time.

Before any animals are brought into their quarters, all stables, barns, etc., will be thoroughly cleaned of any refuse that may have accumulated there, and then they will be thoroughly and completely disinfected so as to prevent any possibility of disease being acquired from the condition of the grounds before the live stock arrives.

During the entire time of the fair a constant attendance of a corps of expert assistants will be continuously disinfecting all the live stock and buildings, so that it will prevent any possible outbreak of contagious diseases while on the grounds.

Arrangements will be made for parties who wish to have their stock sprayed before entering the grounds, and the fact that Messrs. Parke, Davis & Company will have this matter in charge, and will use the disinfectant Kresol for the purpose, is sufficient to know that it will be done properly and effectively.

This firm has taken care of over 200 large expositions of this description, and by using Kresol have prevented any outbreak of disease; this is certainly a safeguard against any such troubles that otherwise might arise.

FASTEST HORSE IN THE WORLD.

Dan Patch Will Race Minor Heir to 'Eat the World's Record.'

Horse-lovers and all followers of the racing game will be given an unusual treat at the Michigan State Fair Sept. 2-10 when they see Dan Patch (1:55) and Minor Heir (1:59 1/2) fight it out for the world's championship honors.

M. W. Savage, who for several years has been the owner of Dan Patch, recently purchased Minor Heir for $15,000 and was contented to let these two world's fastest harness horses appear in a series of races.

True to his first love, Mr. Savage insists that as long as Dan Patch stays right he will be able to defend the championship against all comers, even against the fleet son of Heir-at-Law.

Mr. Savage has given orders that both horses be trained to the minute and that when they go their race exhibitions each shall be driven to his limit so that there will be an honest test of speed, gameness and stamina.

There are some horsemen who believe that Minor Heir will develop as great, if not greater, speed than Dan Patch. He was a green pacer last year, and as such gave some of the most wonderful performances on record. He has a terrific flight of speed, and if under the scientific care of Harry Hersey, he can be fitted so as to hold his lick for a mile, he will give Dan Patch all he can do.

From present indications it is evident that the Michigan State Fair never had so popular a drawing card as the scheduled race between these two world's champions.

Thousands of people will go to Detroit for the opportunity merely to see these two champion horses go in one of the greatest races in the history of the world.

While discussing the two horses a short time ago Mr. Henry C. Hersey, superintendent of Mr. Savage's farm, and famous as the trainer and driver of Dan Patch, had the following to say:

"I am now working Dan and Minor Heir twice a week, Tuesdays and Fridays. I am repeating them now, giving each the last mile around 2:35. I will continue in this way until I begin working each horse four heats on Tuesdays and Fridays. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays and Saturdays the horses are now jogged about four or five miles, and I will continue this after the more severe work is in progress."

"My plan is gradually to work them up faster miles and to keep them as big and strong as possible. Dan Patch now weighs 1,100 and will work down to about 1,075 pounds, when he is fit for great miles. His rival weighs the scales at 1,020 pounds and will weigh in close to 1,000 pounds when he is ready."

"I want to keep them both as big as I can and still have them hard and not fat inside. I am slowly working off the surplus fat, changing it into muscle."

"At present I am giving Minor Heir a little more jogging and a trifle stiffer work than the champion. He needs to develop more staying qualities. The physical condition of each horse seems perfect. They have plenty of lick and are feeling almost too good. Dan never looked better at this time of the year."

MAKES A FINE SHOWING.

Michigan State Fair One of the Nation's Best.

While the Michigan State Fair is not blessed with the liberal legislative aid that goes to similar institutions, it makes a showing that puts others far in the shade.

Last year the total attendance was 136,000. At the same time Wisconsin showed only 122,000; New York, 166,000; Kentucky, 102,000; Ohio, 124,473; Nebraska, 112,500; Spokane Interstate, 114,866; Indiana, 145,000.

Michigan's net profits were $45,000. That of Wisconsin, $4,437.30; New York, $29,000; Kentucky, $12,600; Ohio, $18,399.22; Iowa, $44,171.45; Nebraska, $24,200; Spokane Interstate, $9,715.51; Illinois, $7,600; South Dakota, $333.97; Oklahoma, $14,349.50.

Michigan's total disbursements, not including amount for improvements, were $94,546.29; Wisconsin, $80,727.70; New York, $70,000; Kentucky, $38,000; Ohio, $46,644.63; Iowa, $91,533.21; Nebraska, $53,500; Spokane Interstate, $72,589.13; Illinois, $90,000; South Dakota, $25,203.67; Oklahoma, $44,918.

A Beautified Park.

The Michigan State Fair grounds at the present time has the appearance of a great city park. The recent rains have produced a luxuriant growth of grass, shrubs and flowers, that make the place in every direction, a joy even at this time of the year.

Attendants are constantly at work mowing the grass, trimming the plants, and at the same time installing shrubs and flowers that are planned to produce a most gorgeous effect during the fair next September.

The rose bushes are just preparing to burst into bloom which will produce an inspiring effect during the next few weeks.

Nursery companies are already preparing for the great fall exhibit and have many men at work arranging flower beds and shrubs to attract attention when the fair opens.

Car loads of gravel and cement are being shipped into the grounds for long stretches of cement walks that will take the place of muddy thoroughfares. This is an improvement that will be greatly appreciated by the general public. Besides eliminating a large amount of muddy walks, dust will also be done away with.

At the present time a new horse barn—240 feet long—is being erected. It will be one of the finest in the country and a great convenience to horsemen and others who will exhibit stock at the coming state fair. This structure was started early and will be fully completed long before the fair opens.

Other features are contemplated which will add to the convenience of the great institutions.

BUSINESS MEN'S DAY.

Detroit Wholesalers to Entertain Michigan Retail Dealers.

Wednesday, September 6, will be "Wholesalers' day" at the Michigan State Fair and the Detroit Wholesalers' association has arranged a program of entertainments that will give the visitors an extremely delightful time. On this occasion merchants from all parts of Michigan and the surrounding states will be guests of the Detroit organization which will see that nothing is left undone for their enjoyment. The Michigan State Fair and the city of Detroit has a reputation for doing things and the visitors on that day will be treated to surprises at every turn.

The Wholesalers' association will have a tent on the grounds with free telephone service to visitors, who thus will be able to talk with friends back home.

The evening will be known as "Wholesalers' night" for which a special entertainment will be prepared, including a magnificent horseshow and a general vaudeville performance which will take place in front of the grand stand. A grand display of fireworks, including many large pieces, will conclude the evening.

Michigan retail merchants say that Detroit is one of the best places in the country in which to buy goods. About everything under the sun can be found there. The shops, mills and wholesale houses are numerous and the proprietors cater to the very highest class of trade. This fact was demonstrated a year ago when five thousand visiting merchants attended the annual meeting.

It is expected that this year's attendance will exceed that of 1908. The railroads are interested in the event and will furnish cheap rates into Detroit from every part of the state.

Real Indian Village.

The American Indian is gradually disappearing and his mode of life is becoming more interesting each day. To the general public the management of the Michigan State Fair, realizing the educational features that lie in the Indian village, has secured an attraction of this sort, which is promised to be one of the leading features of the Midway at the coming State Fair, September 2 to 19.

This is a real Indian village and consists of "Chief Two Stars" and his followers, consisting of one hundred persons.

The Indians will live at the Fair grounds in tents in the same wild style that existed on western plains fifty years ago.

These Indians will eat, sleep and appear in a semi-barbaric style that will be interesting to every visitor at the grounds. This attraction will be as fascinating to adults as to the children. The Indians will execute war dances, shoot with arrows, ride bucking broncos, rope cattle and do everything that is so common on the western reservations.

The State Fair of Today.

The state fair has become recognized as an auxiliary in helping to build up the general agricultural interests of live stock and agricultural districts. The incentive of exhibition contest and friendly competition at the Michigan State Fair, which opens September 2 and continues until September 10, will stimulate and encourage in the mind of Michigan stockmen and agriculturists, a desire the following year to do something better.

The fair influence is not confined to one line or one branch of agricultural industry, but extends to every department of home life, farm and industrial enterprise. It is sufficiently broad to take in every feature of manufacture and production, even to the educational accomplishments of the public schools of the state.

The Michigan State fair has become the great clearing house institution as it were, for the breeder, the feeder, the producer, the scientist, and in fact every branch of industry to be introduced to an intelligent and appreciative public. It is here where the wide-awake producer brings the best, the choicest of his herd, the pick of his product of whatever nature, to test the merit and its value when placed in comparison with the work and efforts of others. The State Fair is an educational institution and a means of congregating into one systematically arranged exhibition, the best of everything the state has produced.

IT IS NEARLY TIME FOR BINDER TWINE, ETC.
