JUDGE HULBERT'S JUVENILE WORK

Children's Court of Wayne Foremost in Reform Youthful.

Judge Henry S. Hulbert, Associate of Judge Edgar O. Durfee in the Probate Court, has met with wonderful success in dealing with delinquent boys and girls. The reclamation of delinquent children is no longer an experiment. All boys have some innate good in them and it is always Judge Hulbert's thought to bring this good to the surface. Before a boy has been brought before Judge Hulbert, the judge has been informed of the boy's habits, his home environment, his favorite sports, his ambitions and his playmates. He knows the boy's school record and what the boy most likes. Then he is in a position to know just how to deal with the boy. He and the boy are soon on confidential terms and it is not long before the boy and judge are the best of friends. He tries to show the boy the value of square dealing. He attempts to awaken the better instincts of the accused and to his great credit it can be truthfully said that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred he succeeds. But a very few boys, less than nine per cent, return on a second charge to this court. Judge Hulbert is a candidate in the Republican ticket to succeed himself as Probate Judge. His knowledge of probate law is vast and has been acquired in sixteen years of experience. He is therefore as valuable in the Probate as in the Juvenile Division of the court. Intensely interested in the work of Juvenile division of the court it can be further truthfully said that in this work Judge Hulbert has been eminently successful, so successful in fact that the leaders in the child reform movement point to the Detroit Juvenile Court as an argument to further advance the idea that prevention is better than cure. This will be proved years from now, when the percentage of criminals will have been decreased because of the work of men like Judge Hulbert. There is no office in the gift of the people of the county that needs higher or more intelligent thought.

The decisions on matters of probate law have not been questioned, while his handling of juvenile delinquents have brought him the greatest praise. Wayne county residents will make no mistake in returning him to office so that he can complete the work which he has so successfully begun.

Help Get Good Roads for Wayne County NOW

Vote YES November 8

The present condition of roads throughout Wayne County is a disgrace. Detroit with its population of 500,000 is surrounded by prosperous communities and rich farming lands, yet the roads that connect city and country, and that link one town with another are the the most miserable excuses that an enlightened people were ever asked to look upon as highways.

Do you realize that you are losing money—that everybody is losing—by allowing this condition to exist?

In many parts of the country, fruit, vegetables and other farm produce are rotting on the ground because the roads are too bad to haul them to market.

The farmer loses business and the city man pays high prices because the present miserable condition of the roads makes hauling always costly, and often impossible.

We need good roads NOW, and the plan approved by the Board of Supervisors, is the best and most economical method of getting them.

It is Now Up to You—Vote YES

At the next general election, to be held Tuesday, November 8, you will have the opportunity of settling this question right, and start the building of good roads at once, the whole 200 miles of better highways will be ready for actual use within five years.

The representative business men of the entire county are with you. Do your share.

Show this advertisement to your neighbor, and get him on the side of good roads with you. See that you get his help in voting for this measure that means increased prosperity for every one.

Remember that you vote on a separate ballot and that to have good roads built as fast as possible during the next five years and paid for during the next twenty years, with a lower tax rate than now exists under the old and ineffective plan—YOU MUST MARK YOUR BALLOT YES.

What you have if you Vote YES November 8th

Over 200 miles of perfect highways built within five years.

Low cost of farm products because the cost of bad road hauling will be removed. Farmer and consumer both profit by stopping the wasteful MUD TAX.

Roads on which it is a pleasure to ride

Roads that any citizen of Wayne County will be proud of.

Good highways RIGHT AWAY.

Increased travel and more business for everybody.

Clear roads the year round.

Quick hauling of perishable fruits and other produce.

Close communication of all local interest.

A road tax of 34 cents per year on every $1,000.

What you have under the present Ineffective System

The most disgraceful roads of any that can be found leading into cities of even half the size of Detroit.

High cost of fruit and vegetables and a scarcity of first-class farm produce in the city markets.

Roads that tire out both horses and driver

Roads that we are ashamed to have our visitors see.

Good highways many years in the future, nobody knows just when Restricted travel, with Wayne County farmers trading in Monroe and Toledo, instead of in Detroit.

Roads constantly blocked in some spot or another.

Produce spoiled before ever being hauled to market over bad roads.

Business, church, school and social relations separated by impassable highways.

A road tax of 50 cents per year on every $1,000.

We Need Good Roads NOW

IMMENSE LOSS IN QUEER DISASTER

CYCLONE, CLOUDBURSTS, TIDAL WAVE AND MOUNT VESUVIUS COMBINATION OF ELEMENTS.

FOURTEEN CITIES AND NUMEROUS ISLANDS LAID WASTE.

LOSS RUNS INTO MILLIONS.

About 100 Bodies Buried in a Stream of Lava From the Burning Volcanoes.

One of the oddest disasters which ever has afflicted a nation has laid waste the beautiful coasts of Italy, the bay of Naples and the Gulf of Salerno with the adjoining islands.

Overwhelmed at the same moment by a cyclone, a cloudburst, a tidal wave, a volcanic eruption and landslide the inhabitants of the islands of Ischia, Procida and others, with 14 towns and cities in the neighborhood, feel themselves especially singled out as the objects of nature's wrath.

Although the number of the killed does not exceed 100, the monetary loss is immense, a vast tract of fertile and smiling country having been devastated.

The disaster appears to have started in the form of a cyclone having three centers, the first over the island of Ischia, the second over the town of Torre del Greco on the east coast of the Bay of Naples, and the third sweeping the gulf of Salerno.

Accompanying the cyclone were cloudbursts, a tidal wave and violent eruptions from Mount Vesuvius and from a crater suddenly opened on the summit of the long extinct Mount Epomeo, on the island of Ischia.

Ischia and the adjacent islands suffered most. No Americans are reported in the trouble zone, foreigners having recently given that section a wide berth because of the cholera epidemic.

Democrats Have Poor Arguments.

The Democratic candidate for governor is quoted as saying he would economize in state expenses by "abolishing the State Oil Inspection department, with its twenty-seven deputies at $1,000 per year each."

It is no sound argument for the abolition of the Oil department because the price of gasoline happens to be a trifle higher than kerosene last year more than a thousand gallons of kerosene were condemned by this department as dangerous for use in lamps.

It's Your Kidneys.

Don't Mistake the Cause of your Troubles. A Northville Citizen Shows how to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Dr. Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Northville people testify to permanent cures.

Your attention is called to the change in the advertisements in this issue and also to the new ones. The merchants of our city appreciate your trade and take this means of telling you about bargains they may have to offer and also to announce the arrival of new goods which are placed at your disposal and inspection. By closely watching the columns of this paper you will learn the names of our business men who invite you to deal with them and you can rest assured that they will treat you right. A merchant who does not care enough for your trade to ask you to visit his store and who does not inform you of the many bargains he may have to offer is hardly worth your patronage. The progressive merchant will always let his customers know of the arrival of new goods at once, and the way for our merchants to do this is through the columns of this paper which goes into almost every home in the county.

SYNOPSIS.

Miss Innes, spinster and guardian of Gertrude and Miss Halsey, is a woman of means, and her death is a mystery. Her husband, Dr. Watson, is a man of means, and his death is a mystery. The detective Burns is called in to investigate. He finds a trail of clues that lead to a hidden room in the house. The room is a trap-door, and it is the key to the mystery. The detective Burns is called in to investigate. He finds a trail of clues that lead to a hidden room in the house. The room is a trap-door, and it is the key to the mystery.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

At the Foot of the Stairs. As I drove rapidly up to the house from Casanova station in the hack, I saw the detective Burns loitering across the street from the Walker place. So Jamieson was putting the screws on—lightly now, but ready to give them a twist or two, I felt certain, very soon.

The house was quiet. Two steps of the circular staircase had been pried off without result, and beyond a second door-age from Gertrude that Halcy insisted on coming home and they would arrive that night there was nothing new. Mr. Jamieson, having failed to locate the secret room, had gone to the village. I learned after lunch that he called at Dr. Walker's, and a picture of an attack of acute indigestion, and before he left he inquired about the coming train to the city. He said he had wanted a lot of time on the way, and a good bit of the mystery was in my mind. The doctor was under the pump when that the house was guarded day and night. Well, what place a reputation like that, and you don't need a guard at all these days. And sure enough, late in the afternoon, the two private detectives, accompanied by Mr. Lennie, walked down the main street of Casanova and took a city-bound train.

vertical iron ladder, fastened to the wall outside of the ballroom, and perhaps 12 feet high. The 12 feet looked short from below, but they were difficult to climb. I gathered my silk gown around me, and succeeded finally in making the top of the ladder. Once there, however, I was completely out of breath. I sat down, my feet on the top rung, and put my hair-pins in more securely, while the wind below my dressing-gown out like a sail. I had torn a great strip of the silk loose, and now I ruthlessly finished the destruction of my gown by jerking it free and tying it around my head.

Luckily, the roof was flat, and I was able to go over every inch of it. But the result was disappointing; no trap-door revealed itself, no glass window, nothing but a couple of pipes two inches across, and standing perhaps 18 inches high and three feet apart, with a cap to prevent rain from entering and raised to permit the passage of air. I picked up a pebble from the roof and dropped it down, listening with my ear at one of the pipes. I could hear it strike on something with a sharp, metallic sound, but it was impossible for me to tell how far it had gone.

I gave up finally and went down the ladder again, getting in through the ballroom window without being observed. I went back at once to the trunkroom, and sitting down on a box, gave my mind, as consistently as I could, to the problem before me. If the pipes in the roof were ventilators to the secret room, and there was no trap-door above, the entrance was probably in one of the two rooms between which it lay—unless, indeed, the room had been built, and the opening closed with a brick and mortar wall.

planning, if I were not discovered, who would have my things. I knew Liddy would want my heliograph; poplin, and she's a fright in lavender. Once or twice I heard mice in the partitions, and so I sat on the table, with my feet on the chair. I imagined I could hear the search going on through the house, and once some one came into the trunkroom; I could distinctly hear footsteps.

The house was very still. Once my straining ears seemed to catch a foot-fall beneath me, possibly in my own room. I groped for the chair from the table, and pounded with it frantically on the floor. But nothing happened; I realized bitterly that if the sound was heard at all, no doubt it was classed with the other rattings that had so alarmed us recently.

After a time I thought I had been right. There was certainly something going on down below, doors were slamming, people were hurrying through the halls, and certain high notes of excited voices penetrated to me stealthily. I loved they were coming closer, but after a time the sounds died away below, and I was left to the silence and heat, to the weight of the darkness, to the oppression of walls that seemed to close in on me and stifle me.

mantel and found the panel. Now the sounds below redoubled; from the clatter and jarring I knew that several people were running up the stairs, and as the sounds approached, I could even hear what they said.

Watch the end staircases! Jamieson shouted. Damnation—there's no light here! And then a second later. All together now. One—two—three! The door into the trunkroom had been locked from the inside. At the second that it gave, opening against the wall with a crash and evagently tumbling somebody into the room, the stealthy fingers beyond the mantel-door gave the knob the proper impetus, and the door swung open, and closed again. Only—and Liddy always screams—and puts her fingers in her ears at this point—only now I was not alone in the chimney room. There was some one else in the darkness, some one who breathed hard, and who was so close I could have touched him with my hand.

Worried Over His Trousers. The humors and tragedies of New York East side life are delineated by Frank Marshall White in an article in Harper's Weekly. Master Jacob Rosenberg, eleven or twelve years of age, was suffering from a broken leg. His supreme agony came, however, when Dr. M. ripped up one side of the juvenile trousers with a pair of scissors to make room for bandages. My new pants! My new pants! He's cutting my new pants! Jacob shrieked, and almost wriggled himself out of the grasp of the policeman and the driver in his efforts to prevent the mutilation of his raiment. All the way to his home in the... the boy bewailed his mangled trousers more than he did his broken leg.

At the First Try. "What do you think of my doughnuts, George?" "Dear, you-are a wonder!" "Do you think so, really, darling?" "I certainly do. Scientists have been trying for years to produce artificial rubber, and here you do it the first rattle out of the box!"

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Black Duck, Minn.—"About a year ago I wrote you that I was sick and could not do any of my housework. My sickness was called Retroflexion. When I would sit down I felt as if I could not get up. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and just as you told me and now I am perfectly cured, and have a big baby boy."—Mrs. ANNA ANDERSON, Box 19, Black Duck, Minn.

Consider This Advice. No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial. This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial. Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J.
