WILL BE UNFAIR TO MICH. FARMERS

PRESIDENT SNYDER OF M. A. C.
OPPOSED TO RECIPROCITY.

Farmers Will Insist on Fair Deal on Proposition.

"It will be too bad," said President J. J. Snyder of the M. A. C. today in discussing the probable results of the Canadian reciprocity measures, "if the American farmer, who has just gained a position where he can live like other people, is to be set back twenty-five years in his onward march. At any rate, if we are to have free trade in some articles, why not all? Why throw the entire burden upon the farmer? It is unfair, and I do not believe the people of this country will stand for it."

President Snyder is a recognized authority on agriculture problems and has made a study of the trade relations involved in the reciprocity measures.

"The farmers of the United States have for 50 years submitted to a high tariff with the assurance that in so doing they would build up manufacturing centers and thereby develop a home market which would eventually give them reasonable prices for their produce," added Dr. Snyder. "Not until within the last few years has the consumption of farm produce approached production, thereby enabling the farmer to receive reasonable prices for his produce."

"The Canadian farmer is not living under a high protective tariff. He gets for twenty-five dollars a unit of wheat for which we must pay forty dollars. The same relation will hold good in nearly everything he uses. On the other hand, he is practically as near the American market as the average American farmer. One acre of Canadian soil will produce as much grain and provender as an acre of American soil. Canada is one of the finest dairy countries in the world, and the grazing lands of the far northwest are unequalled anywhere.

"But we are told that Canada will greatly reduce the tariff on some of our exports. The first mentioned are coal, agricultural implements, cottonseed meal, etc. Coal is a natural resource. We have just so much. Conservationists tell us that in fifty or 100 years all the supply will be gone. Who is benefited by shipping this out of the country? Simply the large corporations who own and mine our coal. As to farm implements, everyone knows that this business is in the hands of a trust. This corporation would be immensely benefited by an open market for its goods, as would also our competitors, the Canadian farmer. Cottonseed meal is a by product and is controlled by large manufacturers. A reduction on the tariff on this product would be of little benefit to the cotton growers."

"Canada is practically the only competitor the American farmer can have. Hence the ratification of this measure would compel him to sell in a free trade market and buy in a protected market. The farmer is not looking for special favors, but he does insist on a square deal. As a plain business proposition, this country cannot afford to take chances on depressing her greatest and basic industry."

THE LEGISLATURE AND ITS WORK

COL. ROOSEVELT'S VISIT TO MICHIGAN HAD LITTLE EFFECT ON THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

GOV. OSBORN GOES ON RECORD AT GRAND RAPIDS BANQUET FOR THE RE-ELECTION OF TAFT.

The Senate is Not as Prolific of Bills as the House and Has Its Work Practically Cleaned Up.

BY L. C. WARD.

The trip of Col. Roosevelt to the state had little effect on the political situation in Michigan, but it did show that Gov. Osborn does not intend to be the tail of anyone's kite. While the governor showed the visitor all the respect due him, the governor did avoid riding to Grand Rapids with the colonel, and also took occasion at the Grand Rapids banquet to go on record for the re-election of President Taft—something that the ex-president did not do. About the only thing that came out of the trip of the colonel was the statement, made privately, that he does not intend to endorse the Progressive League movement yet because he believes it a game to boost the presidential aspiration of Senator La Follette, and the colonel is not for the Wisconsin senator. In his speech at Grand Rapids Col. Roosevelt declared for the direct election of United States senators, for the Taft reciprocity program, and for various other reforms which he has advocated for years. The banquet was one of the most successful ever held in the Lincoln club more than 200 sitting down to the tables, while, not over 1000 packed the galleries.

The senate is not as prolific of bills as the house by a long way, and as a result the upper house has its work practically all cleaned up, while the lower house is still in a state of confusion. The senate is so far ahead that it will be able to finish its work before the house has even started. The senate is now in a position to pass any bill that it may wish to pass, and it is expected that it will do so.

The one bill that has been passed by the senate is a bill to amend the act relating to the election of judges. This bill was passed by a vote of 18 to 12. The bill provides that judges shall be elected for a term of six years, and that they shall be eligible for re-election. The bill also provides that judges shall be elected in the year 1912, and that they shall be elected in the year 1918.

The state of Michigan is now in a position to pass any bill that it may wish to pass, and it is expected that it will do so. The senate is now in a position to pass any bill that it may wish to pass, and it is expected that it will do so.

Because of the fact that Speaker Baker in his report has proposed that no justifiable committee be permitted to make trips of investigation and that no special investigations be allowed. This means that the speaker is proposing that the committee be allowed to make trips of investigation and that special investigations be allowed.

Instead of one committee for all of the state normal schools there is to be a house committee for each school. Speaker Baker has appointed the following as the committee: Messrs. Leonard, Brown, Oppenheimer and Ward. Messrs. Gassner, Henry, and Morrison; Mr. Pleasant Normal, Reps. Yeo, Densenberry, Muliken, Clark, and Cummins; Messrs. Knight, Purinton and Holland.

The market question is still in the air. The two houses now have the matter in conference but the senate is going to insist on the house adopting its plan—sending just the members of the ways and means committee to visit the state institutions.

Justices will not lose their jobs as was planned in the bill by which the justices' terms throughout the state were to be given to county courts. Attorney General Kuan has ruled that it will be unconstitutional to attempt to legislate them out of business under the terms of the bill.

When public drains are now authorized in farming districts the cost is defrayed by first fixing a drainage assessment district. Then the cost is spread over one to three years. The result is that the amount some farmers in the district must pay each year equals or exceeds all their other taxes, and it is a hardship. Besides, the contractors sell their pay certificates to local banks at 10 to 15 per cent discount, which means that they have been paid for the work that amount in excess of what they could have profitably done it for had they been paid in cash or bonds. To remedy this condition farmers ask that they be allowed to issue drainage bonds and Rep. Currie, of Midland, has introduced a bill for them. It provides that if the cost of a drain in a drainage district exceeds $2,000 bonds can be issued to pay the contractors; the bonds to run as long as 15 years, providing two-thirds of the taxpayers in the district so petition, and a majority of the board of supervisors consent. Ohio and Iowa have such a law.

Frank Knox's conference relative to the initiative, referendum and recall amendments to the state constitution resulted in an agreement that a poll of the House and Senate should be made at the earliest moment to see what change these measures had for passage. Those who are opposed to the measures will then be flooded with letters, 5,000 of which the state senate is ready to send out. Another plan to awaken interest among those wavering on the proposition will be to bring to Lansing Senator Bourne of Oregon to talk to the members and endeavor to stir them up to the point of submitting the question.

The Bradley graft hearing was concluded Friday morning with the arguments of the attorneys. The taking of testimony was completed Thursday afternoon. The special committee will report sometime next week, but just when has not been decided. The evidence supported the charge of Sherman H. Townsend very strongly and Senator Bradley contradicted himself and was very vague in his answers on the stand. The committee reports that the charge of Townsend that Senator Bradley asked $75 from him for securing Townsend a job has been substantiated. It will be up to the Senate to declare vacant the seat of the senator from the eighteenth.

An effort will be made in this legislature, it is rumored, to pass a bill substituting city, village and township local option for the present county local option law. A similar bill has been passed in Indiana and in Minnesota, where they have the county option law.

John T. Baker, of the State of Michigan, has been elected to the position of speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives. He was elected by a vote of 18 to 12. The bill provides that judges shall be elected for a term of six years, and that they shall be eligible for re-election. The bill also provides that judges shall be elected in the year 1912, and that they shall be elected in the year 1918.

Gov. Osborn is not going to rush his suggestion for an investigation of the various medical boards. There has been so much objection and the doctors have demonstrated that there can be no harmony among them unless they have their several boards that it is not likely that anything will be done about the matter.

The spring convention will be held on March 2, and there promises to be a fight over reciprocity there. If the issue is ignored it will be taken in some sections as a blow at President Taft, but on the other hand the farmers are sure to oppose any sanctioning of new trade relations with Canada.

There was an extended hearing Tuesday night on the matter of workmen's compensation, but the only result was to demonstrate that there are about as many ideas as there are men on this important subject. Still, there is little doubt but that some kind of measure dealing with this subject will be passed.

The bill as passed by Governor Osborn providing for a commission to investigate all departments of the state has passed. It carries with it an $8,000 appropriation.

Resolutions have been introduced in the Senate both for and against the reciprocity program of President Taft. However, the sentiment is so divided that it is impossible to predict what will be done. A Democratic resolution has also been introduced in the House, but as it attacks the Republican party instead of boosting reciprocity there is no chance of its passing.

CANADA GETS $1,500 TROPHY.

NATIONAL CORN EXPOSITION, AT COLUMBUS, OHIO, AWARDS TROPHY FOR PECK OF OATS GROWN IN SASKATCHEWAN.

Again Canada is to the fore, and has secured at the National Corn Exposition just closed at Columbus, Ohio, the magnificent Colorado silver trophy valued at $1,500, for the best peck of oats. These oats were grown by Messrs. Hill & Son, of Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, and, as may readily be understood, were of splendid quality to have been so successful in a contest open to the world, and in which competition was keen. At the same exposition there were exhibits of wheat and barley, and in all these competitions, the grain shown by Canada secured a wonderful amount of attention, and also a number of awards. During recent exhibitions at which grain from Western Canada was given permission for entry, it always took first place. At the Spokane Interstate Fair, last fall, where the entries were very large, and the competition keen, the Province of Alberta carried off the silver cup, given by Governor Hay, for the best state or province display, and a score of prizes was awarded Canadian exhibitors for different exhibits of wheat, oats and barley, threshed and in the sheaf. Vegetables also received high awards. A pleasing feature of these exhibits was that they were mostly made by farmers who had at one time been American citizens and were now farming in Canada. The Department of the Interior is just in receipt of a magnificent diploma given by the Tri-State Board of Examiners at the Fair, held in Cincinnati last fall for agricultural display by Canada.

The Survey-General of Canada has just completed a map showing that a large area of land was surveyed last year in the northern portion of Saskatchewan and Alberta in order to be ready for the rush of homesteaders to that district during the coming spring and summer. It is understood surveys covering several hundreds of thousands of acres will be made in addition to those during the coming summer.

A return just issued by the Dominion Lands Branch shows that 48,257 homestead entries were made last year as compared with 27,051 in 1909; of this 48,257, 14,701 were made by Americans. North Dakota coming first on the list with 4,810, Minnesota gives 2,229, South Dakota 1,173, Wisconsin 715, Washington 610, Michigan 200, Iowa 645, while other states show less, but with the exception of Delaware, District of Columbia and the Indian Territory, every state and territory contributed.

The prospect for an abundant crop in all parts of Western Canada for 1911 are said to be excellent. In the district that produced it there was a bumper crop last autumn, and the season during the present winter is greater than in any previous years. Both crops and all conditions are favorable, and it is expected that the crop will produce a very high yield.

A large immigration from the United States is expected, and the demand for labor is expected to be very large. Agencies located at different points in the States is the greatest it has ever been.

Since the above was written word has been received that in addition to honors won at Columbus, Ohio, Canada won first and second on wheat and first and second on oats, as well as diplomas.

Normie Cherry of Dallis, Saskatchewan, who was in the reserve for first on wheat, required the award, with G. H. Hutton of Lacombe, Alberta, second. J. C. Hill & Sons got first on oats besides the silver trophy. G. H. Hutton took second in oats.

From the most attentive pupil came forthwith this answer: "To glorify God and annoy him forever."

"You don't make very good music with that instrument," said the innocent bystander to the man behind the bass drum as the band ceased to play.

A Steady Brain.

Sick Kidneys Weaken the Whole Body—Make You Ill, Languid and Depressed.

Sick kidneys weaken the body through the continual drainage of life-giving albumen from the blood into the urine, and the substitution of poisonous uric acid that goes broadcast through the system, sowing the seeds of disease. Loss of albumen causes weakness, languor, depression. Uric poisoning causes rheumatic pain, nervousness, nausea, cricks in the back, gravel and kidney stones. The proper treatment is a kidney treatment, and the best remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Great Northville cures prove it. W. H. Denton, Horton, Ave., Northville, Mich., says: "Some years ago my kidneys were badly disordered and I was annoyed by too frequent and painful passages of the kidney secretions. I suffered from severe pains in the small of my back and I was unable to get relief. Finally I pronounced Doan's Kidney Pills from Murdock Bros. Drug Store and they soon drove away the pain in my back and strengthened my kidneys. I do not hesitate to recommend this valuable kidney medicine to anyone afflicted with kidney complaint." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Rep. Baldwin has a bill to provide for the collection of a $1 dog tax, in every city and township, the money to be turned into a fund from which will be paid all damages done by dogs to animals or property. When the fund grows too large the surplus is to be turned over to the schools of the county. Good idea.

The story of Abraham Lincoln, whose birth we rejoice to honor this month, ought to be an incentive to our young men to aim and to strive for the nobler prize of life. There may be many, who feel handicapped by poverty or lack of advantages, to whom the honor of our nation seem to be beyond all reasonable expectation. Young men, read the life history of Honest Old Abe, and then read the story. Poverty and lack of advantages are rather helps than hindrances to true greatness.

According to the U. S. Census reports Northville did not do much in the gain department in the last ten years. In 1900 Northville was rated at 1,753 and in 1910 the enumerator only succeeded in finding 1,653. In the same period Plymouth jumped from 1,474 to 1,671. We can't see how ninety people can get out of Northville without anyone noticing it. The loss in the entire township is ninety-seven and yet the increased population in the last ten years has caused Northville to build a new school house which in a few years more will again be too small. Where do all these youngsters go to at census time and where do they all come from at school time?

Northville High lost all three games played in the rink Feb. 10. Hard luck was the Northville girls' watchword. They were beaten by Pontiac High, an evenly matched team, by the close score of 15 to 16. In the first half Northville was one point to the good but Pontiac's field basket made in the last half minute of play changed the final result. The Northville graded team lost to the Farmington team by a score of 23 to 13. The boys' game was the big event of the evening. It was a comparatively clean game, although very last at all stages. Pontiac won 39 to 22. Todd, the little captain of the Pontiac aggregation, was the whole thing in directing work and shooting fouls, missing only two out of the thirteen. Brockman and Turner also played a good game, as did Schultze. Northville's little captain.

K. P. BANQUET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR WITH 250 PRESENT.

Music, Speeches and Dancing Followed the Feed.

The annual K. P. banquet given in the rink Wednesday night was a great success, and enjoyed by nearly 250 people. The feed was a great lay out and the corps of beautiful young lady waiters, under the able direction of Harry B. Clark, did the service act in a way to make Sherry's new establishment green with envy. Dr. Henry acted as toastmaster and Mayor B. A. Northrop, Prof. Lattue of the local lodge and Tom Craig of Detroit did the speechifying. Mr. Craig was easily the hit of the evening and got back at the other speakers and the toastmaster in a style that kept the audience in a constant uproar. The K. P. male quartet favored the audience with several selections that were well received. After the banquet, the floor was cleared and to the delightful strains of Cray's orchestra, seventy-five couples enjoyed dancing until midnight.

First President's First Political Tour

NO. 13, a long-lost diary in Washington's own hand, has at last come to light. This unique journal, which runs from October 1, 1789, to March 19, 1790, is occupied with the first political tour made by the first president. In a coach drawn by two horses Washington, accompanied by three friends and attended by six servants, went through Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maine and parts of New Hampshire. He thus sets the example of "swinging around the circle," a practice now common in the United States.

"Exercised in my carriage in the forenoon," begins the diary. Then follows a list of the company that dined with us today.

Here is a peep at his home life: "Am giving sitting to John Ramage, who is drawing a miniature of me for Mrs. Washington." Ramage had a great vogue in the revolutionary era. He was fashion's petted and pampered artist. Born in Ireland, he early drift-

Tuesday, 26th—The president visited the wooden mills at Wethersfield. He explains: "(It) seems to be going on, with spirit. Their broadcloths are not of the first quality, as yet, but they are good, as are their coatings, cassimeres, serges and everlastings. Of the first, that is, broadcloth, I ordered a suit, to be sent to me at New York—and of the latter, a whole piece, to make breeches for my servants. All parts of this business are performed at the manufactory, except the spinning—this is done by the country people, who are paid by the cut."

"Hartford is more compactly built than Middletown and contains more souls, the computed number of which amount to about double. The number of houses in Middletown are said to be 50 or 60. These, reckoning eight to the house, would make 2,000 at least. The depth of water, which vessels can make to the last place, is about ten feet, and is as much as there is over Saybrook bar."

"At Middletown there is one Episcopal church and two Congregational churches. In Hartford there is none of the first and two of the latter. Dined and drank tea at Colonel Wadsworth's and about 7 o'clock received from and answered address of the town of Hartford."

"There is a great equality in the people of this state. Few or no opulent men and no poor, and great similitude in their buildings—the general fashion of which is a chimney always of brick or stone and a door in the middle, with a staircase running up by the side of the latter, two flush stories, with a very good show of sash and glass windows—the size generally is from 20 to 50 feet in length and from 20 to 30 in width—exclusive of a back shed, which seems to be added as the family increases. The farms, by the contiguity of the houses, are small, not averaging more than 100 acres. They are worked chiefly by oxen, which have no other feed than hay, with a horse and sometimes two before them, both in plow and cart. In their light hands, and in their sloths they work faster, but find them much more expensive than oxen. Butthfield is on the east side of Connecticut river, before you come to which a large orchard, called Agawam, is crossed by a bridge. It stands under the hill on the interval from which has only one meeting house, 18 million from Hartford."

But at 7 and for the first time, the river was almost unobtainable plain, much mixed with soil."

Son day, 21st—Crossed by 7 and set out by 8 at 10. Arrived at Cambridge according to appointment. But most of the militia living a little out of town, were not in line till after 11. We got to the road, a description of the citizens' feelings. We passed through the citizens' houses in their different professions and under their own banners till we came to the state house from which across the street an arch was thrown, in front of which was this inscription:

"To the Man Who Unites All Hearts, and on the other, 'To Columbia's Favorite Son,' and on the other side thereof, next the state house, in a panel decorated with a trophy composed of the arms of the United States of the commonwealth of Massachusetts and our French allies, crowned with a wreath of laurel, was this inscription: 'Boston Relieved, March 17th, 1776.' This arch was hand somely decorated and over the center of it a canopy was erected 20 feet high with the American eagle perched on the top. After passing through the arch and entering the state house at the south end, and ascending to the upper floor and returning to a balcony at the north end, three cheers were given by a vast concourse of people who by this time had assembled at the arch—then followed by an ode composed in honor of the president and well sung by a band of selected singers—after this three cheers—followed by the different professions and mechanics, in the order they were drawn up, with their colors, through a lane of the people, which had thronged about the arch, under which they passed. The procession being over I was conducted to my lodgings at a Widow Ingersoll's (which is a very decent and good house) by the lieutenant governor, council, accompanied by the vice president, where they took leave of me."

Next day, being Sunday, Washington went to the Episcopal church in the morning and listened to Dr. Parker, and in the afternoon he visited the Congregational church.

The diarist also indulges that dignity with which the name of Washington is ever surrounded. The day before he expected the governor to welcome him at the public reception; had engaged to take dinner with him but as Governor Hancock did not appear at the arch Washington did not care to dine with him.

On Sunday the disconcerted magistrate came to Washington's lodgings and pleaded indisposition as an excuse for absence at the arch. Washington adds, "But as it was expected that he, the governor, expected to receive a visit from the president—and Washington in fine sarcasm underscores the word 'receive'—he was resolved, at all hazards, to pay his compliments today," adds the president. The perplexed governor next sent a committee to Washington. "I informed them, in explicit terms," records the president, "that I would not see the governor unless it was at my own lodgings."

Governor Hancock's conduct was severely censured by public opinion. It was generally held that inordinate dignity, as chief magistrate of Massachusetts, and not bodily illness, was the secret cause of his failure to call on the president. The rebuke of official pride administered by Washington, who refused to see Governor Hancock except at the president's lodgings, decided the question of superior dignity.

miles," writes Washington in Diary No. 13. He speaks of the stoney country, "immensely stoney," he calls it. "We find," he adds, "their crops of wheat and rye have been abundant—though of the first they had sown rather sparingly on account of the destruction which had of late years been made in that grain by what is called the 'Hessian fly'."

Friday, 16th—Washington tells that the next day "noon halt" was made at Norwalk, to feed the horses. "Part is very rough road," he goes on. "The superb landscape, however, which is to be seen from the meeting house of the latter, is a rich sight. We found all the farmers busily engaged in gathering, girdling and expressing the juice of their apples, the crop of which, they said, is rather small, but they are very good. The average crop of wheat they had about 15 bushels to the acre from their fallow land, often 20, and from the best of the evidence of the English country are yet visible both in Norwalk and Fairfield, as there are chimneys of many burnt houses standing in them yet. The principal export from Norwalk is horses and cattle, salted beef and pork, lumber and Indian corn to the West Indies, and in a small degree, flour and wheat."

Saturday, 17th—At sunrise we left Fairfield and breakfasted at Stratford, which is ten miles beyond. "There are two decent looking churches in this place," says the diarist. "There is a busy manufactory of duck and have lately turned out 400 bolts." He speaks of "stoney ground" and continues with remarks on wayside churches.

Once in a while Washington records the beauties of nature. Here is one of his longest notes: "But one of the prettiest things of this kind is at Stamford, occasioned by damming the water for their mills: it is nearly 100 yards in width, and the water now being of the proper height, and the rays of the sun striking on it as we passed, had a pretty effect upon the forming water as it fell."

Here is the entry on New Haven: "The city of New-Haven," which Washington writes with a hyphen and a small "h," "occupies a good deal of ground, but is thinly, though regularly laid out and built. The number of souls in it is said to be about 4,000. There is an Episcopal church and three Congregational meeting houses, and a college, in which there are at this time about 120 students, under the auspices of Doctor Styles. The harbour of the place is not good for large vessels—abt. 16 foot deep to it. The linen industry does not appear to be of so much importance as I had been led to believe. In a word, I could hear but little of it."

The following day, Sunday, the president went to the Episcopal church and in the afternoon to the Congregational meeting houses. He tells of a dinner at Brown's tavern with lieutenant governor, mayor and speaker. "Drank tea at the mayor's (Mr. Sherman). On further inquiry I find that there has been, abt. (the diarist leaves a blank)—yards of coarse linen manufactured at this place since it was established and that a glass factory is on foot here for the manufacture of bottles."

"The officers of the Continental Army called," Washington adds. "This state could, this year, with ease pay an additional 100,000 $ tax, over what was paid last year."

Monday, 18th—The noted traveler records that his coach was "under way at 6 a. m. and breakfast was taken 13 miles up the road, at 8:20." En route he sees extensive haystacks in "fresh lands," sandy roads, rail fences now taking the place of stone. "At Wallingford we see the white mulberry growing, raised from the seed to feed the silkworm. We also saw samples of lustered, exceeding good, which had been manufactured from the cocoon raised in this town and silk thread, very fine. This, except for the weaving, is the work of private families, without interference from other businesses, and is likely to turn out a beneficial amusement."

WASHINGTON AND HIS FAVORITE HORSE

of his to the British army, for service in Canada. Coming to New York city, he painted the tulle and drapery, was honored in select circles. Ramage's career that must have taught Washington a lesson. The artist wore a white silk waistcoat, black satin breeches, knee buckles, white silk stockings, silver shoe buckles, cocked hat with powdered curls and on the street carried a gold-headed cane. As a top of the day, when he talked he offered a gold snuff box; you took a pinch and vowed Ramage was a duced good fellow.

Sunday, 19th—Went to St. Paul's in the forenoon.

Monday, 5th—Exercised on horseback between the hours of eight and eleven, and between five and six in the afternoon on foot.

Had a conversation with Colonel Hamilton on the propriety of my making a tour through the eastern states during the recess of congress, to acquire knowledge of the face of the country, the growth of agriculture thereof."

"And the temper and disposition of the people," adds Washington in his diary, "toward the new government who thought it a very desirable plan," he goes on, stringing out his sentence, "and he advised it, accordingly."

"Upon consulting Mr. Jay on my intended tour into the eastern states, he highly approved it, but observed that a similar visit would be expected by those of the southern," writes the distinguished diarist.

It may be added that Washington later made this trip "to the southern." He started in 1791, went 1,900 miles, was gone three months, and used the same span of horses throughout the journey.

Thursday, 15th—Commenced my journey about nine o'clock for Boston, and a tour through the eastern states. The chief justice, Mr. Jay, and the secretaries of the treasury and war departments, accompanied me some distance out of the city. About ten it began to rain and continued to do so until about eleven, when we arrived at the house of Mr. Hoyatt, who keeps a tavern at Kingsbridge, where we, that is Major Jackson, Mr. Lear and myself, with six servants, wash composed my retinue, dined. After dinner, through frequent light showers, we proceeded to the tavern of a Mrs. Halland at Rye—who keeps a very neat and decent inn.

These words show Washington's formal style admirably. He continues:

The road, for the greater part of the way, was very rough and stoney, but the land strong and well covered with grass and a luxuriant crop of Indian corn intermixed with pumpkins which were yet ungathered in the fields. We met four droves of beef cattle for the New York market about 30 in a drove, some of which were very fine, also a large flock of sheep for the same place. We scarcely passed a farmhouse that did not abound "abundantly" Washington writes it) in geese. Their cattle seemed to be of a good quality, their hogs large but rather top-legged. No dwelling house is seen without a stone or brick chimney and rarely any without a shingled roof—generally the sides are of shingles also.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

The wonder of baking powders—Calumet. Wonderful in its raising powers—its uniformity, its never failing results, its purity.

Wonderful in its economy. It costs less than the high-price trust brands, but it is worth as much. It costs a trifle more than the cheap and big can kinds—it is worth more. But proves its real economy in the baking.

Use CALUMET—the Modern Baking Powder.

At all Grocers.

No Need to Be Good. A little Shaker Heights girl surprised her parents last week by refusing to be scared into being good. "It's no use telling me Santa Claus won't come, or that the angels will write it down in their book if I'm naughty," mamma," she said, "I might as well tell you that they think up in heaven that I'm dead."

"But why should they think that, dear?"

"Because, I haven't said my prayers for two weeks."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It Grows Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall's "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall's "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall's "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. It does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out, and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, A. E. Stanley & Co., Northville.

Selecting Your Agent.

Hale, the Connecticut fruit man, who has made a great fortune in the business, selects one commission house in each large city and sticks to it as long as he gets a square deal. He says it pays to go to the same market year after year, and the great mistake of many fruit growers is in shifting about.

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all dealers.
