MAYOR COLDREN MAKES APPOINTMENTS

Nelson Bogart Marshal; Mat Green Street Commissioner.

WOMAN'S CLUB CIVIC LEAGUE MAKES SOME REQUESTS

Want Slot Machines and Drinks to Minors Stopped; also Rubbish Cleaned Up.

Mayor Coldren formally took hold of things Monday night for the new year and made his annual appointments as follows:

Marshal—Nelson Bogart
Street Comr.—Mat Green

Health Officer—Dr. T. H. Turner These will be recognized as splendid appointments and will meet the approval of the people of Northville by a large majority.

The Civic Improvement League of the Woman's Club was present and made a request that for the welfare of Northville the gambling slot machines, and the selling of liquor to minors should be stopped and that a general cleaning up of the rubbish about the village would enhance the looks of the pretty town.

The Woman's Club is one of the most influential civic organizations in the village and the members of the club felt honored by the visit of these ladies and thanked them for the suggestions. From the talks with members of the council after the meeting there is an indication that action will be taken at once along the lines referred.

It is stated that nine gambling slot machines are in operation in the village instead of five as stated in last week's Record and that in the past as high as $200 in a single week has been logged off to Detroit by the owners of the robbing devices. This has no reference to the nickel-slot machines in the stores which in any event give the operator a clear or the full value for his money, but refer to the regular gambling machine which eventually gets the player of every nickel he can get hold of and all he can borrow besides.

SIR WALTER SCOTT'S DOGS

Famous Author Was Especially Fond of These and His Other Pets at Abbotsford

One of my pleasant recollections is that of seeing Sir Walter Scott out on a stroll with his dogs, the scene being in the neighborhood of Abbotsford, in the summer of 1824, while as-yet the glow of misfortune had not clouded the mind of the great man.
There he was, strolling along with his pet companions amid the rural scenery which he had toiled to secure and loved so dearly.

Scott's fondness for animals has perhaps never been sufficiently acknowledged. It was with him a kind of second nature, and as he has been immortalized when as a child he was sent on a visit to the house of his grandfather Robert Scott at Sandyknow, in the neighborhood of Dryburgh, where flocks of sheep and jams, talked to and fondled by shepherds and ewe milkers, and revelling with colts, he was impressed with a degree of affectionate feeling for animals which lasted through life. At a subsequent visit to Sandyknow, when his grandfather had passed away, and the farm operations were administered by "Uncle Thomas," he was provided with a "Shedding pony" to ride upon. The pony was little larger than many a Newfoundland dog. It walked freely into the house and was regularly fed from the boy's hand. He soon learned to ride the little pony well, and often alarmed "Aunt Jenny" by cantering over the rough places in the neighborhood. Such were the beginnings of Scott's intercourse with animals. Growing up, there was something extraordinary in his attachment to his dogs, his horses, his ponies and his cats, all of which were treated by him, each in its own sphere, as agreeable companions, and which were attached to him in turn.—W. Chambers.

ANTI-SMUT For treatment of Smut in Oats.

ANTI-SMUT is a remarkable new chemical combination designed expressly to eradicate Smut in Oats. Smut in grain is just as much a disease as any contagious disease in mankind.

By using Anti-Smut your crop will be increased from 10 to 50 per cent; your grain will be brighter, will germinate better, your straw will be cleaner and worth two-fold more for feeding purposes, to say nothing about its preventing dust when threshing is done. Use and be convinced. One bottle will treat 40 bushels of grain surely and effectually. Call and get a bottle, try it and if found as recommended, pay us $2.00 after the crop is harvested; if not satisfactory return the empty bottle.

EASTER at the WHITE HOUSE

ASTER week is one of the busiest seasons of the entire year at the White House in Washington. It isn't so much that Easter Sunday is for the president and his family a more crowded interval than the first days of other weeks, although it is sufficiently crowded with duties, as, indeed, is every day on the calendar of the presidential household. However, it is the remainder of Easter week rather than the significant hol-

EASTER WEEK AT THE WHITE HOUSE

THE PRESIDENT'S EASTER CALLERS

White House office building. The Easter delegations are usually received during the morning hours and as that is also the president's time for receiving official callers—many of whom do not make engagements in advance—there is sometimes something of a congestion around the door. The officers is always something of a festival season. Mr. Robert Taft and Charles Taft, second, the sons of the president, are at home from college and preparatory school for the occasion and usually they bring with them friends who make up a jolly house party and, for whose especial benefit there are arranged some entertainments of a character to delight young people, notably the Easter week dancing party. Often relatives of the president or his wife also choose Easter to spend a short time at the White House, and as a rule, all the guest rooms in the mansion are occupied throughout Easter week. The mansion, always lavishly bedecked with flowers, is given an extra festive touch by means of Easter lilies and the "house-keeper" in her daily rounds of the markets—the trip being made in a coupe which has supplanted the market wagon used by the Roosevelt steward—lays in an extra supply of the green vegetables, which as displayed at this season of the year, have made the Washington markets well nigh world famous.

In their observance of Easter Sunday the Tafts have not departed to any great extent from the traditions of the White House occupants of the past. Ordinarily the president and Mrs. Taft, like their predecessors, the Roosevelts, attend church of different denominations, but on Easter or other significant occasions they often go together to church, usually accompanied by the children. The president is conveyed to church by motor car instead of walking as Roosevelt was wont to do but Taft has taken to making up for it later by a long walk in the afternoon.

This daily walk, which is especially prolonged on Sunday if the day be pleasant, is somewhat of a new tradition for the chief magistrate. Formerly he relied upon long horseback rides and several hours of golf on every week day to give him the outdoor exercise that his physician declared that he must have with regularity. Lately, however, his chief aim for his "chase party" seems to have waned and he is endeavoring to keep physically fit by a regime of exercise in the White House gymnasium supplemented by the daily walk.

Sometimes the president acts as a host after a stroll accompanied only by his military aid, Capt. Putt, but more often he has one or more friends with him or they join him en route. These politicians followed by the two secretaries, much as ever the president's shadow when he appears in public form quite a little procession, and yet it is astonishing how many persons pass the president without recognizing him—perhaps because they do not expect to see him engaged in so thoroughly democratic a pursuit. However, there is one class of passers by who never fail to spot the distinguished promenade. These are the lecturers on the big sightseeing automobiles that are seen in such numbers on the streets of Washington. They are likely to discover the approaching president when he is blocks away and their audiences are put on the alert.

A HOLIDAY OF JOY

I have never cared for the much-coveted Easter bonnet and have never made sacrifices to that end; but I do associate Easter with a day by the sea. To me the festival of Easter has always been the holiday of joy of all others in the year. It does not mean work nor religious service, but it does mean unadulterated joy, and it is always spent at Dieppe, France, because I know that at this season of the year Dieppe is deserted, and that I shall be a one for the holiday of my abandonment on the sands.

I have a religious feeling, it is true; but I never discuss religion with anyone. I have always felt that religion is an individual affair, and that one's views should never be forced upon another. Mine is simple and satisfies me fully; but it might not satisfy others nor fit the conditions that surround other lives. Therefore from a religious viewpoint I never try to quarrel with the standards of others, which are God-given and as much of a right or as near right as my own.

But the season of Easter above all others appeals to me for very joy of living. I spend the day on the sands eating shrimps and walking, and on no other day of the year am I so free—Mary Garden.

The Risen King

BY JOHN BAKWELL.

Hail thee once despised Jesus!
Hail, thou Galilean King!
Thou didst suffer to release us Thou didst free salvation bring;
Hail, thou agonizing Savior, Bearer of our sin and shame;
By thy merits we had favor;
Life is given through thy name.

Paschal Lamb, by God appointed,
All our sins on thee were laid;
By almighty love anointed, Thou hast full atonement made;
All thy people are forgiven Through the virtue of thy blood; Opened is the gate of heaven;
Peace is made 'twixt man and God.

Jesus hail, enthroned in glory, There forever to abide;
All the heavenly hosts adore thee, Seated at thy Father's side.

There for sinners thou art pleading; —There thou dost our place prepare;
Ever for us interceding Till in glory we appear.

Worship, honor, power, and blessing, Thou art worthy to receive;
Loudest praises, without ceasing, Meet it is for us to give.
Help, ye bright angelic spirits, Bring your sweetest, noblest lays;
Help to sing our Savior's merits, Help to chant Immanuel's praise.

Soon we shall, with those in glory, His transcendent grace relate; Gladly sing the amazing story Of his dying love so great.
In that blessed contemplation We for evermore shall dwell, Crowned with bliss and consolation,
Such as none below can tell.

Spring Debility

Felt by so many upon the return of warm weather is due to the impure, impoverished, devitalized condition of the blood which causes that tired feeling and loss of appetite as well as the pimples, boils and other eruptions so common at this season. It is cured by the great constitutional remedy which effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients. There is no real substitute for Hood's Sarsaparilla. If urged to buy any preparation said to be "just as good," you may be sure it is inferior, costs less to make, and yields the dealer a larger profit.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

REASONED IT OUT

And Found a Change in Food Put Him Right.

A man does not count as wasted the time he spends in thinking over his business, but he seems loth to give the same sort of careful attention to himself and to his health. And yet his business would be worth little without good health to care for it. A business man tells how he did himself good by carefully thinking over his physical condition, investigating to find out what was needed, and then changing to the right food.

"For some years I had been bothered a great deal after meals. My food seemed to lay like lead in my stomach, producing heaviness and dullness and sometimes positive pain. Of course this rendered me more or less unfit for business, and I made up my mind that something would have to be done.

"Reflection led me to the conclusion that over-eating, filling the stomach with indigestible food, was responsible for many of the ills that human flesh endures, and that I was punishing myself in that way—that was what was making me so dull, heavy and uncomfortable, and unfit for business after meals. I concluded to try Grape-Nuts food to see what it could do for me.

"I have been using it for some months now, and am glad to say that I do not suffer any longer after meals; my food seems to assimilate easily and perfectly, and to do the work for which it was intended.

"I have regained my normal weight, and find that business is a pleasure once more—can take more interest in it, and my mind is clearer and more alert."

PLANNING FLOWER GARDEN REQUIRES CAREFUL STUDY

Carpet Bedding Plans Are Only Effective When Certain Kinds of Foliage Are Used—Ribbon Beds Are Easiest of All to Make.

(By EREN E. REXFORD)

Personally, I am not much of an admirer of carpet or ribbon bedding or the "designs" which the enthusiastic amateur gardener frequently attempts, but is pretty sure to abandon later in the season, because he discovers that designs work out unsatisfactorily in annuals.

The fact is, carpet bedding plants are only effective when certain kinds of foliage plants are used—because they can be kept within their proper limits by shearing and pruning, while the annuals have too much "sprawl" to be tractable and very few kinds give a sufficient mass of bloom to produce the desired effect.

We are likely to think that because a plant has yellow, red or blue flowers, that it will prove effective where-ever these colors are desired but we lose sight of the fact that the flowers will be so few in number and so far apart that there is seldom any solid color effect such as is necessary in properly working out patterns.

This being the case, only the simpler designs should be attempted with annuals, and only such effects aimed at as can be produced by contrast in which harmony plays an important part.

Ribbon beds are easiest of all to make. Very pleasing ones can be made with pink, pale yellow, and white phlox, planted in rows. If darker colors are preferred, the scarlet and crimson can be used, always combining them with white to give the necessary contrast and relief.

Do not use the soft, delicate colors

A very brilliant combination is made by filling the center of a circular bed with calliopsis, rich yellow and maroon, and surrounding it with white and pale yellow phlox.

The contrast between the dark, rich yellow of the calliopsis and the soft shade of the same color in the phlox is charming.

If another color seems advisable use pink phlox. This harmonizes beautifully with the stronger tones of the calliopsis.

The center of a circular bed can be filled with scarlet salvia, with masturtiums as a border. The contrast between the fiery scarlet and the rich tones of yellow and orange and sulphur found in the latter plant, is exceedingly lovely, while the pea-green foliage of the masturtium affords just the right amount of that color to bring into strong relief the blossoms of both plants. Such a bed any one can make with very little trouble.

A charming hedge is made by planting scarlet salvia in a row as a background, then a row of white nicotiana, with blue ageratum as a border. Here we have the patriotic colors of our flag effectively combined.

The blue of the ageratum and the scarlet of the salvia would prove a rather violent contrast if planted next each other, but separated by the white of the nicotiana, their aggressiveness is toned down in such a manner as to produce a pleasing effect.

A beautiful hedge is made by using zinnias in the back row, then calli-opsis with white phlox as a border.

Ribbon beds can be worked out with good effect by using different colors of the verbenas in rows. Such beds are most pleasing when near the house or close to the path, where they can be looked down upon.

But in order to carry out such designs with this flower, it will be necessary to purchase plants of each color from the florist, who grows them from cuttings. Seedlings are quite sure to bring plants of all colors common to the family, therefore are not to be depended upon where it is absolutely necessary to have each color in its proper place.

Those who have old plants of geranium, which have been kept over the winter in the house, can utilize them in the summer by planting them out.
Of course the effort will be most pleasing if the phlox and scarlet and crimson can be kept by themselves.

Try combining them with such annuals as white phlox, yellow calliopsis, white geranium, or, in the case of pink verbenas, lavender ageratum.

If you have old plants of Madia Sallierii geranium, break them apart and use the cuttings so secured, for border purposes. Each cutting will be almost sure to take root.

Put them in the ground where they are to grow, and it might be agriculturally the best thing to do, to pinch the soft stems about the base of each. In six weeks time, they will have made a fair showing, and by midsummer they will have grown together in a most attractive row of green and white. This is one of our best edging plants.

Fruit Trees.

It is not advisable to put axle grease on fruit trees in order to prevent rabbits and rodents from gnawing them. A little grease might not do any damage, while too much might injure the trees. Where the climate permits some green crop, such as oats, rye or wheat, will tempt the rabbits. The trees can also be protected by wrapping them with old newspapers, thin boards or wire screens.

Clean Seed.

The man who gets the best yield of oats in our neighborhood is the one who sows, broadcast, eight or nine pecks of good clean seed, or a little more than six when he dries it in.

PRUNING HOOK IS HOME-MADE

The pain of scratches and picks comes readily to one's imagination as he thinks of pruning the raspberry bushes or other bush fruits, especially where he has not had good tools for performing the job, says the Michigan Farmer. The work is so miserable that it is generally left undone. The illustrated pruning hook will help to overcome many of the undesirable features connected with cleaning out of the hills on these fruits. The hook is used for cutting those canes that can be hooked, and for this purpose the inner edge of the hook is made sharp, while the spud is for amputating such canes as happen to stand close to another that is to be left or is otherwise situated that the hook cannot be used. The spud cuts the cane nearer the ground than can be done with the hook. Both are, however, very necessary for a complete implement. Besides its use in cutting, the hook is convenient in pulling the pruned canes from among the standing ones into the row where they can be gathered and taken from the plantation. The implement is made of the handle of a short-handled fork and two old files. The files are forged to make the hook and spud are riveted together as shown in the illustration. The end opposite the spud is shaped to fit into the handle where it is firmly secured in order to stand the strain necessary in the work to be done. Armed with such a tool and a good pair of gloves one can go about the canes, cut out the undesirable ones and get them out of the way without suffering the hardships encountered when endeavoring to do the work with a jack knife. The next rainy day go to your own forge, every farmer should have one, or if not provided, to your blacksmith and have a hook made. Then when the rainy day is over and you can get into the berry patch, see how well the hook does the dreaded job.

Before Allowing an Operation

Please Read These Two Letters.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before. Then after all that suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored her health.

HERE IS HER OWN STATEMENT.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much result, and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. To-day I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise every woman who is afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs.
Orville Rock, R. R. No. 3, Paw Paw, Mich.

Rockport, Ind.—"There never was a worse case of woman's ills than mine, and I cannot begin to tell you what I suffered.
For over two years I was not able to do anything. I was in bed for a month and the doctor said nothing but an operation would cure me. My father suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so to please him I took it, and I improved wonderfully, so I am able to travel, ride horseback, take long rides and never feel any ill effects from it. I can only ask other suffering women to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation."—Mrs. Margaret Meredith, R. F. D. No. 3, Rockport, Ind.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine, and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine.
Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge.

PERSON'S BOWEL TROUBLE

One of the most remarkable proofs of the natural laxative merit contained in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is that it is effective not only in people's in the prime of life, but at the extremes of ages. As many letters are received from mothers regarding the cures of children, as from men and women of sixty, seventy and eighty years of age. It must be truly a wonderful laxative.

In the cure of constipation and bowel trouble in old people it has no equal. It corrects the constipation, dispels the headache, biliousness, gas, drowsiness after eating, etc. People advancing in years should see to it that their bowels move freely, and if they do not take Dr.
