two years ago probably hastened its demise.

Mrs. Angell had been a resident of Northville for forty years, coming here to live at the age of thirty-seven. Her leaves, seven daughters, three of whom are married, and two sons. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Calhoun of Salem officiating.

MRS. ADA WOOD DIED SUNDAY

More credit is bestowed upon the Starkweather stock farm and the popular strivton, Marblegrit, owned by Mrs. C. Stevens, by the selling of the handsome four-year-old trotting stall, whose sire was Marblegrit, to a Monroe county horseman. This is the young mare raised by Ed Starkweather and sold by him when a yearling to John Tinham and H. S. German. Tinham has handled the mare for the past two years and will continue to do so as although his half interest in this young Marblegrit was sold for $575 to J. E. Ready of Monroe.

The mare is the own sister to Reporta whom Bill Johnson sold for $1,000 last summer. Both Marblegrit and Donald Miller are making themselves famous as stays and the horsemen in this community are fortunate in having such horses in their outfit.

"GET THE HABIT"

TRADE AT RYDER'S

presented her room with a new calendar for the coming year.

Nina Johnson of grade four has left school to move to Southgate.

Some very good Whittier booklets are being made by the Sixth grade.

The pupils of the First grade are enjoying the story of "Black Beauty."

The First graders have memorized the poem, "The Body House" in physiology.

Wayd Hotelling and Albert Ryder of the Second grade are able to be in school again.

The bank deposit for last week was $16. The largest was the High school with $8.90.

The A class of the First grade is using the Aldine readers for supplementary reading.

The First graders have been studying about the Northland and the Eskimo this week.

The Second grade is much interested in the reading of "Adventures of Brownie."

The Third grade pupils are working for the prize to be given this month for good behavior.

True Kinn of Grade Four has left school to attend school in Flint, where the family has moved.

The Normal class will commence its reading circle work next Wednesday night after school from 4 to 6:30.

The Fourth grade pupils are happy in their work of making out bills and settling them in arithmetic.

The A class in the Kindergarten has started disk writing this week.
The completed work will be a dollop cap.

The first semester closes Jan. 26, with the spring vacation from April 19-25. This makes the end of the year June 21.

The B Sixth grade has completed the study of the New England States and maps on the wall will prove to you what they are capable of doing.

The Kindergarten pupils are making paper-cuttings of birds and dogs illustrating Eskimo life. They are also making drawings of their houses.

One hundred and seven in the enrollment in the High school for next semester. That crowds the main room, library and office to overflowing.

During this cold weather our heating has been of the best, thanks to our very efficient heater. He tells us that a three o'clock fire is the usual thing.

Grade Four is learning a new patriotic song, the new "Michigan." My "Michigan" and I bids fair to outlive the old one of the same title, in popularity.

Do not forget the basketball game this (Friday) evening. Next week Friday we play Pontiac High.
We trust that the crowd will be sufficient to make it a paying proposition. Otherwise our basketball season will be comparatively short.

Costs Now to Educate.

The township taxes this year at $16 on a thousand valuation is a pretty high figure. The larger portion of it (about one-half) is school tax. In the last twenty-five years the school tax all over the country has been jumping up like a wild cat and the end is no where near in sight. The school population, at least in the country places, is no greater than it was then and the pupils are getting, if anything, less valuable education than they did a quarter of a century ago.

The trouble is there are too many fads and frits being crammed into the people and when they quit school they have a smattering of everything from deep-sea diving to flying machine culture and no real complete knowledge of anything that really fits them for the battle of life. And yet the education is costing about twice as much as it did then. Some of the leading business men of the day say: "The frills will be cut out of the country and village schools and English, arithmetic, spelling, writing and geography will be, to use a strong expression, the whole works."

The taxpayers are paying a pretty round figure ($24,000 a year) for three county auditors whose duty, at least part of the year, seems to be to meet the public press to call each other bare. An executive position for scraps would be more in keeping with the entry of the citizen.

MEN'S CAPS.

We are disposing of our entire line of Caps and have made prices that are moving them.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry James have been entertaining the latter's sister, Mrs. M. Keyes, of Owosso, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen returned to their home in Webster, N. Y., after a two weeks' visit with Mrs. Rose Little.

Mrs. Dan Norton and son Reginald have returned to Detroit after spending the holidays at the home of M. L. Smith.

After spending the holidays with her parents, Miss Marion Rabbit left Sunday for Greenwich, Conn., to resume her school work.

WILL FOLLOW.
DETROIT'S EXAMPLE

The Construction of a Special Building to Help House Its Auto Show Through the Co-operation of the City Officials Has Made a Hit in Other Cities.

Detroit's success in the construction of an Annex to Wayne Gardens for the Eleventh Annual Automobile Show of the Detroit Automobile Dealers' Association, to be held Jan. 22 to Jan. 27, inclusive, has attracted the attention of other cities and other show organizations where space has been overcrowded in the past, and it is not improbable that other cities will follow the example of Detroit and apply for space from the city and the closing of streets to enable them to construct a special building. The announcement of Manager Walter Willard that an annex to Wayne Gardens would be constructed was received by the trade with satisfaction, and over forty applications for space were immediately made. These applicants demanded over one thousand feet more than was contained in the annex and there was prospects of still being an overflow. The Annex received the applications of many makers of motor trucks, pleasure cars, motorcycles and accessories. These makers have not figured upon exhibiting at the Detroit show, owing to the annual overcrowding of Wayne Gardens. There is now every prospect that Detroit's total number of exhibitors will number not less than eighty, giving the show at the hub of the industry, the leading position among local shows and a position ranking directly next to the national shows of New York, Chicago and Boston. Nor does the list of additional exhibitors for Detroit include any but prominent makers, and with the addition of these, Detroit stands forward many places in the list covering the show circuit. Had the leading city of Michigan had a building of sufficient size to give the one hundred possible exhibitors the space required, it is quite probable that New York, Chicago and Boston would have had very little on Detroit. To the agents and to the direct representatives of manufacturers throughout the country, Detroit's annual show is a great attraction. These agents and representatives realize that at Detroit it will be possible to find many novelties both in the pleasure car truck and accessory field that will not be found at the national shows. It is generally realized that Detroit sets the pace in the matter of innovation and at the present time outsiders realize that with additional space Detroit will be able to present many things of interest to the country at large. It is doubtless true that many of the Detroit-made cars to be shown only at Detroit will not be seen in national exhibits for a year to come and, in spite of the enormous proportions to which the automobile has reached, there are still not enough cars, as is evidenced by the demand for every new product presented successfully in Detroit.

Old Folks Should be Careful in Their Selection of Regulative Medicine

We have a safe, dependable, and altogether ideal remedy that is particularly adapted to the requirements of aged people and persons of weak constitutions who suffer from constipation or other bowel disorders.
