JUDGE DURFEE IS STRONGLY ENDORSED

Men of All Parties Showing a Great Interest in Probate Judge's Re-election

Regardless of political inclination, the rank and file of the legal profession of Wayne County strongly endorse Honorable Edgar O. Durfee for re-election as Judge of Probate.

Following a recent informal discussion of the respective merits of the various candidates, it was suggested by one of the party of prominent attorneys that Allan H. Frazer express the sentiment of the gathering relative to the candidacy of Judge Durfee. As a result, Mr. Frazer prepared the following letter, which speaks for itself:

Honorable Edgar O. Durfee,
Probate Judge,
Detroit, Michigan

Dear Judge:—
In the coming election we hope that you will maintain your old-time record and be returned with a rousing majority. This will be only a just tribute by the people, regardless of party, to your worth as a probate judge and as a man.

Your long experience, honesty and integrity make you invaluable to the citizens of this city and county. You have demonstrated your fitness and eminent ability for probate judge by your unfailing attention to your duties and even-handed justice to all.

At the coming election, November 5th, the people of this county will be called upon to make their selection of a judge of probate, and we sincerely hope that they will avail themselves of the opportunity of returning you to this office by the most decisive vote you have ever received in token of their appreciation of your splendid public service.

ANOTHER OLD SOLDIER PASSES AWAY.

Born in Canada in 1825, William Marvin came to Michigan when but a small boy. In 1862 he enlisted in Company E, O. V. I., with the three years' troops at Columbus, and was discharged two years later on account of disability, having received several wounds and a sunstroke during that time, from which he never fully recovered.

Mr. Marvin came to Northville soon after the death of his wife, formerly Miss Minerva Burdick, in 1878. Four years ago he was united in marriage with Mrs. Mary Keller, who survives him. He died early last Friday morning after a long illness.

One deceased was a member of the Northville Baptist church and of the local G. A. R. order, and a highly respected citizen. He leaves besides his widow, three sons, Albert, of Petoskey, John of Detroit, and William of Bothwell, Canada, two daughters, Mrs. Rose Krumm, of Detroit, and Mrs. Matilda Jordan, of this place. The funeral was held Sunday.

FALSE ALARM.

An alarm was turned in Monday evening, to the effect that the Globe furniture factory was on fire. The whistle and bell were kept going so long that a large crowd turned out, expecting a serious fire. When the men had taken the fire engine half way down the Main street hill, it was found that there was no fire. Certain boys of this town, thinking to get in some early Halloween stunts, had tied a string to the whistle at the factory and pulled it from a distance, thus starting an alarm. There is a well founded suspicion as to who the boys were, and the authorities state that if such a thing occurs again the perpetrators will be hauled up before the Justice of Peace and a heavy fine inflicted.

A MAN WHO HAS DONE THINGS FOR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY.

At the coming election, to be held on November 5th, one of the most important offices to be voted for is that of Prosecuting Attorney. The record of Hugh Shepherd, present incumbent of that office, is such that every honest citizen believing in clean government should give him his support. He has held this important office for a few days more than a year, and during that time has accomplished many things. In addition to keeping up the regular routine work of the office and courts, which are worthy of consideration.

His campaigns against the slot machine evil, loan sharks, quick doctors and vice dens are such as cannot but have the approbation of all interested in clean government.

The following newspaper endorsement is worthy of note:

"William F. Connolly has upheld the statute against loan sharks, and thereby vindicated the intense campaign, against them by Prosecutor Shepherd."

"The people of Wayne county have a double gratification in this. One is in the assurance that the day of the loan shark is ended in Detroit."

"The second gratification to the people is the legal victory of Prosecutor Shepherd. He has often been accused of being a mere desk counselor, a book lawyer."

"Now he has emerged into court, not to try one lone case on clear evidence, but to bring the entire law against an entire body of law breakers."

He was not there to do a spectacular thing like sending a fascinatingly interesting murderer to Jackson for life. He was there to see the law justified in itself for the protection of the poor and the safeguarding of the needy. A series of fine legal points were at issue. He had to contend with a wily and resourceful and fully armed legal opponent. His victory proved his ability, his legal knowledge, and last but not least, his persevering industry.

And Mr. Shepherd won. With him the poor won; the needy made a victory. Usury is permanently entered on the black books of the state. The law is proved, and the man who enforced and then proved the validity of the law in court is doubly vindicated. —The Detroit Journal, May 16, 1912.

If elected to the office of Prosecuting Attorney, Mr. Shepherd promises to put into the work of his office all of the energy and zeal which he possesses, and to protect the interests of the honest people against the dishonest at all times.

Prisoner's Discovery.

"What," said the dentist as with a steel instrument he tapped Mr. Ackman's tooth, "I told you when I put that crown on that it might give you trouble. I never guaranteed a crowned tooth." "Oh, I know I told you," said the dentist, "but I told you to have the crown thing pulled out." "No," said the dentist, "I told you to have the crown thing pulled out." "No," said the dentist, "I told you to have the crown thing pulled out."

Courage Ever in Demand

Not to claimer fight and desperate murder only is believed to be looked for, but on every railway bridge and street or building that is being today. On the bridge on the deck of vessels, in cattle yards, on the bridge among the firemen and the policeman, the demand for courage is increasing, and the supply never fails.—William James

Moving Letter From Prison.

A commission in an eastern state investigating jail conditions, requested letters from the prisoners. They told the prisoners not to be afraid to give them the facts about conditions. The first letter opened was eloquent. It contained a number of live insects. The board hasn't opened any more envelopes.—Louisville Courier-Journal

Actresses for Japanese Stage

Although a woman is credited as the founder of the Japanese stage, no name of an actress adorns its history—the onnagata has reigned supreme. But the artificial custom of substituting men for women is about to give way to the onrush of modern actresses, and one of the most unique customs of the stage is thus threatened to be superseded by real wearers of petticoats.

Waste.

Sir Archibald Gelkie used to tell a story of a Scotchman who much against his own will was persuaded to take a holiday. He went to Egypt and visited the pyramids. After gazing for some time at the Great pyramid he muttered: "Man, what a lot of mason work not to be bringin' in any rent!"

Fighting Fish.

The warrior of the fish is the Indian fighting fish, which is well versed in the art of fighting. They fight like a bulldog and would not stop fighting until one is killed. East Indian natives gamble on the result of the fight between two fighting fish, and the fishes are treated just the same as prize bulldogs.

Tag, Rag and Bobtail.

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF MICHIGAN

MANISTEE BANKER CONFESSES, IT IS ALL GED, TO THE THEFT OF $44,300

STATE TO ENGAGE IN COAL MINING WITH JACKSON CONVICTS

Iron Ore Shipments from the Upper Peninsula Likely to Beat Previous Records by 3,000,000 Tons

Manistee Banker Confesses Theft

In a futile endeavor to beat the grain market, John W. Sibben, assistant cashier of the First National bank of Manistee, embezzled $44,300 of the bank's funds, according to a confession he is alleged to have made. Sibben was arrested. The directors of the bank raised money at once to cover the shortage.

Sibben's speculations covered a period of sixteen years, according to his confession. In 1896 he faced payment of a large number of bills of physicians. Some one suspected a "dip" in the grain market. He says he sent a small order for "grain" to the Chicago board of trade using some of the bank's money. He won. He tried again and again he won. Then he bet a larger amount of the bank's money, cleverly covering up his thefts by methods of bookkeeping. He lost.

In a vain endeavor to win enough money to pay back to the bank his thefts he took larger amounts of money. He says he continued to steal. Bank Inspector Herbert Johnson, upon entering the bank late one afternoon discovered Sibben working feverishly over his books. His future glance drew the suspicion of the inspector and he took charge of the books Sibben's alleged confession followed.

His manipulations of the books took the form of changing deposit certificates. A man would bring in $500, Sibben would give the man a certificate for the full amount, but would take part of it and shift his own records accordingly. If the depositor wanted his money Sibben would give it back, but would change his records on some other customer's deposit slip.

State to Engage in Coal Mining

Coal mining in the vicinity of Jackson by means of convict labor will probably begin on a large scale, according to information given out by the board of control of Jackson prison today.

For some time past the board has had under consideration the mining of coal in Jackson county. There is a large amount of coal in this vicinity and it is believed that it can be mined profitably.

In discussing the matter a number of the board said: "We have been discussing this matter for some time and it is very probable that we shall begin to mine coal in this vicinity in the very near future. A careful investigation leads us to believe that we can mine coal here as much cheaper than we can buy it from the state of Michigan can actually make as much from the venture as it does from the prison industry. We can place coal in the place yards at $1.25 per ton at the most."

Although no mine has been taken into consideration by the board. There are 13 state institutions, all using coal, which are within 75 miles of the prison. It is proposed to sell the state coal mined, which will mean a saving, it is figured, of more than $1 per ton to the state.

Heavy Iron Ore Shipments from U. P.

According to the report of mining inspectors of the upper peninsula, more iron ore is being shipped this year than ever before. The figures were compiled to disprove the statements issued from smelting centers to the effect that the ore was becoming scarce and that the smelters and dependent shops would be forced to close for the year.

The largest amount ever shipped in one year, heretofore was 44,000,000 tons. In 1911 the shipments were only half that amount. If the present rate of shipments is maintained until the lake season closes, the highest records will be surpassed by over 3,000,000 tons.

Iron Co. Mine Valued Raised

The net result of the tax commission review of iron county mine values for 1912 has been to add 1.2 per cent to the mine valuations. Last year's values were $15,101,200, this year's values are $15,222,664, an increase of $121,464.

During the spring the local township and village boards had reduced the total mine valuations by $463,656. The tax commission's figures restore the deduction and add $21,364 more.

Pletcher J. Ralph, a former watch man at the Laneer home, was convicted in Lapeer of a statutory charge. Ralph was charged with spiriting Mary Roberts, an inmate away from the institution and keeping her at the home of a relative for several days. He will be sentenced Nov. 9.

According to a report filed by Sheriff George H. Harris, of Macomb county, 20 prisoners were taken care of in the county jail from March 1, 1912, to Oct. 30, 4,910 meals were served at a cost of $382, or 20 cents per meal.

Until an emergency order can remove Dr. Fannie Noble of New York city, from Battle Creek to the insane asylum at Kalamazoo, Chief of Police Farrington will eat half of every meal served the unfortunate woman, to convince her that the food is not poisoned. ## POOR OLD TURKEY SEEMS DOOMED

USKUP FALLS TO SERVANS AND CAPTURE OF ADRIANOPLE BY CULGARIA IS EXPECTED

POWERS OF EUROPE OPEN THEIR EYES AS ALLIES MOVE SWIFTLY

Montenegrins Press Attack on Scutari, While Greeks Enter Several Small Towns on Their March to the North.

The swiftness and efficiency of the onward movement of the armies of the allied Balkan states is making Europe open her eyes.

From the north and all along the line from Greece on the south they are crowding back the boundaries of the Ottoman empire in Europe. The often predicted and long delayed day when the Turk will have his back against the wall seems at hand.

The two pivotal points of Turkey's defense on the north were Adrianople and Uskup. The Bulgarian army in the east has defeated the Turks at Kirk-Kilisseh, which is the strongest outpost of Adrianople, and appears to have almost invested that fortress.

Servians Enter Uskup

The Servian army in the west walked into Uskup without opposition. The Turkish garrison there withdrew on the railway towards Saloniki. How far it intends to retreat and why are questions. The only answer to the last question is that garrison did not justify an attempt to make a stand.

There is no position between Uskup and Saloniki better suited for a battle than the one abandoned. The strategy apparently is to follow the line of the railway towards Saloniki.

Events about Adrianople are even more important. The Bulgarians apparently are proceeding successfully with the investment of the fortress. The Turkish army which was defeated at Kirk-Kilisseh did not back up on Adrianople, but took the road to the south where it could connect with the railway to Constantinople. The second Bulgarian army followed through the mountains carrying on the fighting all day in an endeavor to cut off the retreating forces.

May Starve Out Turks

The military critics are saying how many men Turkey has in Adrianople and how long they will be able to withstand a siege. This is a general belief that if the Bulgarian investment is completed and only a communication with Constantinople cut the Turks will be starved out within a month.

Meantime the Montenegrins are pushing their attack on Scutari. They have entered a few small towns in the course of their advance to the north.

New York Gunmen Cringed in Terror

Charles Becker, convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, will spend at least a year in the death house at Sing Sing before the execution of sentence is to be imposed on him by Justice Goff. He will not be taken to Sing Sing until Nov. 4.

Becker case will be handled by his attorney, John E. Linn, as soon as he is sentenced. This will act as a stay of execution and it will be almost a year before final decision can be made in the case.

The four indicted gunmen, "Lefty Louie," Rosenberg, "Dago Frank," Clifton, "Gyp the Blood," Horowitz, and "Whitey" Lewis are in abject fear in their Tombs cells. The conviction of Becker was a blow to them and weakened their hopes of freedom, but the announcement that William Shapiro, driver of the "murder car," had made a complete confession, naming all the occupants of the car, has filled them with terror. They implored their attorney to make a deal with District Attorney Whitman whereby they will be saved from the electric chair on condition of a full confession, but Whitman rejected the proposal.

Either "Whitey" Lewis or "Lefty Louie" will be the first to come to trial. Their case will open on Nov. 7. Following the gunman "Jack Sullivan" will be placed on trial. He is said to have been a tool of Becker's. Becker will pay one more visit to police headquarters before he goes to Sing Sing prison to await the action of the court of appeals. He will be taken from the Tombs to the bureau of identification to be photographed and measured for the rogues' gallery.

Washington Asks Thirteen Millions

It will require $13,000,000 to finance the District of Columbia for the fiscal year of 1913, according to the estimates of the District commissioners. Congress will be asked to appropriate that amount at the coming session. Last year the budget called for an appropriation of $12,423,985, while but $10,875,833 was appropriated. The "city fathers" hope to receive more generous treatment from congress this year.

The Average Death Rate for 20 States

recording their deaths is 1.471 per 100,000. Michigan's rate is 1.414.

During the funeral of Robert Spottedwood, 10, in Grand Rapids Mrs. Elizabeth Spottedwood, grandmother of the lad, became slightly demented and with the chair in which she had been seated knocked the scientist, who was conducting the services, to the floor, and when the undertaker interfered he also was knocked down. During the scuffle the casket was overturned and the body rolled on the floor. The woman was taken to the jail, and the services resumed.

MINISTER ADMITS CRIME

Judge and Jury Weep as Minister Pleads For His Life

Found guilty in Greenville, South Carolina, of having had criminal relations with three little girls in the South Carolina Odd Fellows' home, of which he was superintendent, Rev. Thurston U. Vaughn, once prominent as a minister, was sentenced to death by the electric chair December 20 at the state prison at Columbia.

The trial was brought to a sensational close when Vaughn made a complete confession. In finding the verdict of guilty the jury only took four minutes for its deliberations and made no recommendations of mercy, for which Vaughn had pleaded with them after his confession. A motion for a new trial was overruled and sentence was passed immediately up on the former minister.

Vaughn begged the jury to spare his life, not so much for his sake as for his wife and little daughter. Neither was in court, though they had been with Vaughn since the trial opened. He was formerly assistant superintendent of the First Baptist church Sunday school, one of the largest in this city. He was a ministerial student and frequently occupied pulpits of churches in and around Greenville.

WHAT WILL BE THE RESULT?

The Progressives now claim they are going to vote the whole ticket straight as a gun barrel. Just what this will mean to the whole county and state ticket is as yet problematical. More than anything else it would look as if it might elect the whole Democratic ticket. Already bets are posted with 3 to 1 odds on Wilson and 2 to 1 that Ferris will be elected. If that is what the people want, then they ought to have it. In Northville there are said to be 184 Bull Moosemen from the Republican ranks and 16 from the Democratic stronghold. Before voting next Tuesday every voter should weigh well the question.

It does not seem possible that Colonel Roosevelt will poll anywhere near enough votes to win even one third the electoral vote, but even that one third may mean enough taken from Taft to elect Wilson. That may be the result unless the old Republican party gets together before November 5. Do the people really desire a change or is it all a case of wanting to kick some one "Rink rule" and "boss rule" so called, has dominated fully as much or more through county affairs than through national affairs and yet the Progressives seem to never have worried about that end of it, though they do claim now that when they are going to be right in the game in village, township and county matters as well as state and national affairs. The Record believes the Republicans who have left the old G. O. P. ranks and joined a new party are making a great mistake. It only complicates matters by having for the once at least, three great parties. If the Progressives have so large a vote as they claim they were in duty bound to stay in the old party and purify that party, it needs purifying as is claimed and help improve it. Deserting a ship doesn't save it. If half the sailors desert then the ship is much more in danger. Success in the war of the rebellion a third of the soldiers had said, "We don't like our officers and are not in favor of the war anyhow, and so let us form a new army and draft some new principles more to our own ideas." This is no idle dream. But few realize how near at times the good old United States came to being scuttled. Anyhow this is a good thing to think over from now till election day, so that there may be no cause for regret as the future days go by.

KELLEY FOR CONGRESS.

There is at least one candidate for office before the people of Michigan today upon whom the voters can unite regardless of political lines, and that is Patrick H. Kelley, who seeks to fill the newly created office of congressman-at-large.

The congressman who represents but one district needs know little of the state that lies outside his district, but the congressman elected to represent the entire state must be familiar with every portion of it. Mr. Kelley is the only candidate for the office who is qualified to fill the place. Neither of his opponents even claim to be familiar with the state as a whole. It is no discredit to them that they are not, for few men are. Fewer still have had the opportunity of learning Michigan as well as Mr. Kelley has learned it. The generally admitted fact that he has the widest acquaintance of any man in the state is one proof that he is in touch with every part of Michigan. His rule as president of the senate for four years proved him to be one of the best authorities on methods of legislative procedure and the processes of government that the state has ever known.

For four years he helped enact progressive legislation in the senate of the state legislature. This is not an unsupported statement. It is a fact. The records prove it to be a fact. It will hardly be questioned, however, for the state has not yet forgotten the years in which Mr. Kelley as presiding officer of the senate waged his fight with the "boxers" and was compelled to break with his final vote the afternoon every progressive measure that was brought to a question. Upon his shoulders fell the responsibility of saying whether such acts as the one creating the state railroad commission, the primary law and the two cent fare law should go on the statute books.

He could have defeated with his single vote every one of three measures but in each case he voted for them, against the Boxers and with the people.

He will not face a harder trial in congress than he faced in the senate of his own state. He recognized the necessity for advanced legislation then and fought for it. That is sufficient reason to believe he will fight for it now.

Broken Head-Covering.
The Greeks wore a hat called a petasos, which was soft and light, being made of felt; it was strapped under the chin to fasten it firmly to the head. But only the lower classes among the Greeks, such as herds and travelers, wore hats, while both sexes wore hats of the same shape. The Greek nobility and gentry wore no covering for the head out of doors, and women only adorned their hair with a wreath of flowers.

W. R. C. Notes.
(By Press Correspondent.)

The annual inspection of the Allen M. Harmon Relief Corps passed off very pleasantly last week, with every officer (save ye correspondent) in attendance. The inspecting officer and other visitors gave the ladies of the Corps high praise for their efficiency in the work of the order, and for the gratifying state of the books and finances of the Corps.

The executive committee served a dainty and substantial five o'clock luncheon using their new tables and table linen for the first time. This bustling committee feels just a wee bit proud of itself, having earned and presented one dozen tables, and linen for the same, besides wiping out a debt of several dollars. Its capable chairman, Mrs. Soltherman, is selling a very high grade of home-made candies of many varieties, the profits going to the Corps. Anyone possessed of a sweet-tooth is advised to order a box from her for Thanksgiving.

The next regular meeting will be held Nov. 13. And now approacheth the season when presidential and various other kinds of bees are beginning to buzz in the bonnets of our members, and everyone of us is on our best behavior and hoping our merits and qualifications are duly appreciated. Only two more meetings before election of officers for the ensuing year, and she who aspires to "hold office" must needs get to a hustle.

Sick headache is caused by a disordered stomach. Take Chamberlain's Tablets and correct that and the headaches will disappear. For sale by all dealers.

What Does a Change Mean For YOU?

With our abundant crops and prosperity in all lines of business in the country, our farmers, our laborers, and our business men are going to think twice before voting for a change in the republican management of our national affairs. The following wise words of Chairman Hilles, of the national republican committee, are worth pondering over by the voter:

Two groups of zealous politicians are crying to the country for a change in our national administration.

They want to take charge of the nation. They want to administer public affairs.

And they promise wildly, eagerly, what they will do in return—if only they are granted control.

From Maine to California, their words fill the air.

And have you, the workers and taxpayers, whose affairs these gentlemen would control, stopped to analyze their promises and promises?

You should. To the politicians themselves these promises are of no special importance. They have nothing to lose. They have everything to gain. Even if they lose, they win; for the contest will keep them in the limelight.

But for you, the workers and taxpayers, this contest is serious business, and you should weigh the consequences with a serious mind. Don't take mere words. Seek facts.

Out of this whirlwind of language which the "spellbinders" send beating about your ears, what is it that stands out, first and all the time?

"We want a change in Washington."

A change for what? To what?

The present administration, after nearly four years' hard work, has finally succeeded in restoring the country's business to a prosperous basis.

The mills are running full time. Mines are operating all their shifts. Factories are working to capacity. Commerce is thriving. The country is free of labor troubles and financial troubles.

The working man is steadily gaining better wages. The farmer is growing steadily more prosperous. The market for farm products has never been so broad and generous.

The railroads report the heaviest freight and passenger traffic in their existence. Shipping is everywhere active. Public works on a great scale are everywhere under way. Trade is moving smoothly, in ever-increasing volume. The savings banks are overflowing with money.

The United States is on the threshold of the greatest boom in its history. Within six months, under present conditions, we will dwarf the great period that followed the Spanish War.

And our prosperity will be here to stay, for we are on sounder ground than we were in '08.

The trust problem has been settled—and settled right. "Big Business" has been put in its proper place, and this without halting industry or disorganizing affairs. The currency question is understood as it never has been, and will be solved along sound lines as soon as the heat of partisan political controversy dies down. The tariff is gradually being placed on a business basis, and soon will be out of politics, as it should.

Everything is shaping to give the American people a long, unbroken, unparalleled period of peace and plenty.

And at this time of all others, along come these political gentlemen shouting for a change.

Do you want to change? Do you want to check prosperity just as you are about to pluck its choicest fruits?

Would you, the workers who must pay, commit the mad folly of taking your government out of tried and proven hands and turning it over to the self-seekers who are clamoring for its control?

When President Taft took over the government the country was prostrate. Industry was paralyzed. Business was chaotic, uncertain, suspicious. Millions were out of employment. Investors, wherever possible, had withdrawn their capital. Enterprise was dead.

All this was the result of the panic of 1907, the "talking panic." The "Rich Man's" Panic, it was called. But do you remember any poor man who was not hurt?

It took the Taft administration over three years to repair the damage of this panic. It required infinite patience, skilful management at home and abroad, unflinching enterprise, good judgment and vast prudence to bring the country out of that black pit.

And now that the pit is covered, and the country is basking once more in the level sunshine of prosperity, do you want to take a chance on being thrown back? Do you want to take a chance on being talked into another and a needless panic?

The question is not to be settled by talk, no matter how smart. The buzzards of the hustings may make sweet music, but in the background of the future you may hear the mutterings of a people unemployed.

Your family stands with you at the dividing line, which has happiness and prosperity on one side and unhappiness and even want on the other.

If you are a tramp, without kindred and without responsibility, by all means follow the adventures. But if you own a stake in the country, if you have kith or kin dependent on the job you hold, weigh carefully the words and deeds of those who would lead you in a mad gallop to the precipice of experimental government.

Remember, a change at Washington would mean everything for them. But what would it mean for you?

Would Mr. Taft's defeat help you?

Would the theories, untried and unproven, on which the politicians are seeking to ride into office, benefit your wife and family?

Brush aside all the fine language of the orators long enough to dig out answers to these questions. You will then have a reasonably safe guide on election day, for, like true charity, true politics begins at home. The intelligent man votes for that which is best for himself and those dependent on him, and not for that which is best only for the other fellow. He is not misled by the shadow of the bone in the water.

The American people, for the first time in years, have the bone of prosperity firmly between their teeth. Are they prepared, like the dog in the fable, to drop it, to chase elusive shadows?

ANSWERING A VOTER

STATEMENTS WHICH ARE OF INTEREST IN ALL SECTIONS OF THE COUNTRY.

TARIFF REVISED DOWNWARD

Opposition to President Taft Stimulated by Magazines Which Were Made to Pay Additional Postage, and Thus Relieved the People's Additional Cost of Postal Service.

A Republican voter in Grand Rapids, Mich., recently addressed a letter to the headquarters of the Republican National Committee in Chicago, in which he said:

"I have been a Republican all my life, and for 30 years have been voting nothing but a straight Republican ticket for president of the United States."

He does not say that he will do otherwise this year, for he believes President Taft to be honorable and worthy of the many honors that have come to him. He adds, however, that the Republican platform of 1908 called for a downward revision of the tariff and that this solemn pledge has not been kept. He also asserts that the large majority of the laborers in the woolen mills are foreigners instead of Americans, and are employed at starvation wages instead of being paid wages upon which people in this country can live decently. He further calls attention to the fact of a statement that English automobile manufacturers are forming a trust to compete with American companies that are said to be ruining the English market. In conclusion, he wants some information about the panic of 1907.

The explanations and information desired by this Republican voter are so general in their character that the answer forwarded to him will certainly be of interest to other voters in every section of the country. The reply says:

Tariff Revised Downward.

"The past four years have indeed been most prosperous ones, with few industrial or other disturbances, and with conditions generally satisfactory. And, after all, is not the real test of any administration the conditions which exist in the country while it is in power?"

"It is doubtful if you could find a statement of Mr. Taft in which he said there had been no promise of a revision downward. His letter of acceptance states clearly that he did so. In 1908. Furthermore, the tariff was revised downward. The impression to the contrary is due to three sources. One is the attack made upon the Payne law by the magazines. That attack was prompted chiefly by the bitter resentment toward President Taft because he had recommended that the second class postage rate be advanced so that the magazines would come somewhere near paying the government what it cost to transport their editions. It costs the government now about $60,000,000 a year to carry the magazines through the mails, and they pay it in postage about $19,000,000, leaving a clear subsidy of $41,000,000 a year. The president suggested to congress that this was not a square deal toward the government and the magazines determined to break him down."

Opposition to Taft Explained

The reply further stated that the opposition of the metropolitan press to President Taft is due to the fact that he declined to put print paper on the free list, while the third source from which the people derive the impression that the Payne law shows revision upward instead of downward was the declaration by Mr. Champ Clark in his speech opposing the bill when it was before the house of representatives. Mr. Clark, speaking as a prophet and not as an historian, said that the duties under the Payne bill would show an average increase of 171 per cent. over the Dingley law. The letter continued:

"That statement went out to the country, and was accepted as a fact, when it was merely a guess. But the law has been in operation now for nearly three years, and we do not have to guess, because we know. And these are the facts shown by the books of the treasury department: 'Under the Dingley law 44.3 per cent. of all imports were on the free list. Under the Payne law 51.2 per cent. are free."

"Under the Dingley law the average duty on all dutiable imports was 25.5 per cent., while under the Payne law the average duty has been 20.1 per cent."

In other words, the Payne law shows a reduction of ten per cent. below the Dingley law on dutiable goods, while on all goods imported it shows a reduction of 21 per cent. This is not prophecy, as Mr. Clark's statement was, it is history."

Mr. Roosevelt, in a signed article in the Outlook, said: "The Payne law is better than the one it succeeded, and very much better than the McKinley law."

Wool and Woollen Cloth. Regarding wool, it is stated that the last Democratic wool schedule revision put the sheep growers out of business and closed up 90 per cent. of the woolen factories. It is also stated that the average manufacturer's profit on the cloth which goes into the average suit of clothes is an average of 30 cents. This sum would be saved by the purchaser of the suit if all of it were taken away from the mill men. The letter then continues:

"As to the situation at Lawrence, Mass., it is true that the mills are largely operated by foreigners; but so far from that being an argument against our tariff policy, it seems to me to be one in its favor, because the very presence of those foreigners is evidence that labor conditions here are better than in other countries. The recent disturbances, you must have observed, do not grow out of any wage dispute, but without doubt are due solely to the anarchistic protest against the trial of two men charged with murder or some other violent crime. It may be that wages in these mills are lower than they should be, but I do not possibly see how a reduction in the duty which would necessarily reduce the profits of the mill owners, could result in advancing wages."

As to the tariff on automobiles, it is asserted that there is no evidence which shows that Americans pay higher prices for these machines here than would otherwise have to be paid. There is the liveliest competition among American automobile manufacturers, and the machines are sold strictly on their merits. As they are sold in America on a competition basis, there is no reason to complain if other makers are able also to compete with other countries. American goods find a big market abroad, as a rule, because they are better than foreign goods, and not because they are cheaper.

An Important Difference

In conclusion, the reply draws a contrast between the panic of 1907 and the panic of 1893, as follows:

"As to the panic of 1907, it cannot be properly charged to the Republican party, because it arose not through loss of confidence in measures, but through distrust of men. The panic of 1893 came because the country feared the result of Democratic measures, the tariff bill and others. The panic of 1907 came because the country lost confidence in some high financiers who were gambling on the country's prosperity in Wall street. The proof of this is in the fact that no act of Republican legislation was charged with responsibility for the panic, and no new legislation was demanded to cure it, except the emergency currency law, which was promptly passed."

Some Republican Facts

- Business never better.
- Wages never higher.
- Factories running full time.
- Railroads crowded with traffic.
- Labor in great demand.
- Bank deposits increasing.
- Everybody busy and hopeful.

Why Change When All's Well?

Some Democratic Facts

- Bread lines a mile long.
- Soup houses everywhere.
- Banks mostly busted.
- Three million men idle.
- Ten million children hungry.
- Homes plastered with mort gages.
- Nobody making any money.

Why Have Hard Times Again?

Taft's Fight Is Your Fight

Because

Do you remember the years 1893-4—the free soup houses, bank failures, thousands of men out of work and the bread line?

Do you remember that at this time we had a Democratic president, Grover Cleveland?

Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic candidate, and his free trade doctrine will bring this condition on again and it is your duty to see that he is not elected.

How can this calamity be prevented? Don't throw away your vote on Theodore Roosevelt, because it is utterly impossible for him to be elected and a vote for him is a vote for Wilson, as it splits up the Republican party.

Can Wilson be prevented from being elected? Yes, there is but one way, put a cross on your ballot as follows:

(X) REPUBLICAN

WHAT A DEMOCRATIC VICTORY WOULD MEAN.

The abolition of the protective tariff or the substitution for it of a tariff for revenue only, as proposed by the Democratic platform, would plunge this country into the most widespread industrial depression we have yet seen, and THIS DEPRESSION WOULD CONTINUE FOR AN INDEFINITE PERIOD.

From Theodore Roosevelt's Confession of Faith delivered at Chicago, August 6, 1912, before the Progressive National Convention.

Michigan Awaits Your Verdict

Will YOU answer a PERTINENT question?

For WHOM are you going to VOTE when you enter the booth Tuesday?

And for WHAT are you going to vote?

Will YOU vote for the Democratic candidate for President and his Free Trade policy? Will you deliberately vote for CLOSED FACTORIES, MORTGAGED HOMES and HUNGRY CHILDREN?

Have YOU become so PROSPEROUS under Republican Protection that YOU can hazard your future by a change?

Will you bring about Free Trade and then expect your employer to engage you at HIGH WAGES when he must compete with the cheap products of underpaid European labor?

Will you vote, on the other hand, for the House Wrecking party that seeks to HELP elect a Democratic president by smashing the furniture in the Republican parlor?

A vote for the third party means a vote for Wilson—a vote for the disaster and sorrow of 1893.

Or, are you going to vote to continue Prosperity, continue the work of building homes and factories?

In the past TEN YEARS, 243,763 new factories were built in the United States, under a tariff which has meant REAL PROTECTION to LABOR.

Over TWO MILLION more MEN AND WOMEN were employed in the industries in 1912 than in 1900.

WORKINGMEN were paid OVER ONE BILLION DOLLARS more in 1912 than the total amount of wages paid annually ten years ago.

The TOTAL VALUE of manufactured products in the United States INCREASED nearly EIGHT BILLION DOLLARS in that decade of Fattened Prosperity.

These figures mean simply this: More wealth to YOU because you are getting MORE wages with which to buy the wealth produced. And you are not FORCED to support TWO MILLION human beings by CHARITY, because those people have JOBS NOW and are enjoying the comforts of life with YOU!

The Cost of Living?

That's the sole weapon in the hands of Protection's assailants. The rise in the cost of living, they tell you, offsets the increase in your wages.

Then where did YOU get the FIFTEEN BILLION DOLLARS credited to your account in savings banks—individual accounts—in 1911? How did you save that out of your wages if high prices REALLY kept pace with high wages?

There's just ELEVEN BILLION DOLLARS MORE in those savings accounts TODAY than in 1893, during those days of Democratic rule to which the Free Trade people would have you return.

How did YOU manage to SAVE that out of YOUR wages?

Because Protected Prosperity is REAL—the kind of Prosperity that resulted in 1912 in the United States, EXPORTING goods to the value of $550,000,000 IN EXCESS of its IMPORTS.

President TAFT'S election will insure STABILITY, a continuation of those governmental policies which made this Golden Era of Achievement possible. It was his strong, guiding hand that accomplished the fulfillment of the dreams of Abraham Lincoln who first made the plea that Labor was entitled to its share of the wealth it created.

Never in the nation's history has the WORKINGMAN sat before such a bounteous feast of plenty and taken so great a share.

Never in history has the business man and Farmer enjoyed so liberal a portion.

And do YOU know certain interests are trying to DUPE you out of that share?

A conspiracy against President TAFT was first organized after he started a housecleaning in the post-office department. He wanted to clear the deficit in that department and place it on a paying basis.

AND HE DID.

But, in so doing, he antagonized the big owners of the magazines. They were forced to pay more postage on hundreds of tons of mail formerly being shipped over the country AT YOUR EXPENSE.

Then the muck-rakers started their campaign of vilification and abuse against the President, and some of your friends have unwittingly given ear to falsehoods.

Are YOU going to be one of the MUTINEERS?

Are YOU going to spurn prosperity and allow YOUR purse to be depleted to aid A FEW disgruntled magazine owners and disappointed politicians in VENTING their SPITE against the man who turned aside a portion of the stream of shekels pouring into their coffers?

Every Republican, proud of the grand old party's record and loyal to its cause, must remember that on TUESDAY, NOVEMBER FIFTH, he will hold the blue pencil which will either ratify a record of glory or betray the party that built his home.

YOU must ASSIST whatever brother you see faltering. YOU must BREAK the MUTINY.

Because YOU can't AFFORD A CHANGE.

If you want MORE prosperity you must make a cross in the circle underneath the picture of Labor's first martyr—Abraham Lincoln, and thereby vote the straight Republican ticket.

REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE,

A. J. Groesbeck, Chairman.

ROOSEVELT CANNOT BE ELECTED

IMPOSSIBLE FOR HIM TO RECEIVE LARGE ENOUGH PERCENTAGE OF REPUBLICAN VOTE.

FACT IS BEYOND DISPUTE

Question at Issue Is Whether Country Wants Taft and Protection or Wilson and Free Trade, Because Either Taft or Wilson Will Be Elected.

Theodore Roosevelt cannot possibly be elected president of the United States.

This is not a mere statement. It can be demonstrated by figures. It can be shown that he cannot secure the voting support which would be necessary to give him a successful showing in Republican states.

As the popular vote for Bryan in 1908 was 6,499,204 and for Taft was 7,678,908, it is a mathematical fact—assuming that the relative strength of the two parties in this election will remain the same—that Mr. Roosevelt will have to get the vote of eight out of every ten Republicans in the nation in order to be elected. No one believes that he can do this. It does not avail to say that he will make up the difference in Democratic votes for this will not be the case. The information received at Democratic headquarters shows that for every Democratic vote going to Roosevelt four or five will go to Taft.

In Illinois it will take seven out of every ten Republicans to vote for Roosevelt in order to give him the state. In Kansas it will take eight out of ten, in Indiana nine out of ten. It is an apparent fact that he cannot secure this large proportion of Republican votes. The percentage of votes in all the Republican states necessary to elect Roosevelt and which he cannot get is as follows:

	1908	% To Elect
Bryan	Taft
California	127,492	214,398 59-1/2
Connecticut	66,255	112,915 60-1/2
Delaware	22,071	26,014 82-9/10
Idaho	35,152	52,521 65-4/5
Illinois	450,795	629,929 71-2/5
Indiana	338,263	348,993 97
Iowa	200,771	275,210 78
Kansas	161,205	197,216 81-8/10
Maine	85,403	66,987 52-9/10
Maryland	115,908	116,513 99-1/10
Mass	155,543	265,996 69-9/10
Michigan	175,771	235,580 62-4/10
Minnesota	109,401	196,843 57-6/10
Missouri	346,574	347,203 99-9/10
Montana	28,826	32,733 86-8/10
New Jersey	182,807	265,726 69-9/10
New Hampshire	83,855	53,149 63-4/10
New York	667,468	870,070 76-4/10
North Dakota	32,885	57,680 74-4/10
Ohio	552,721	672,132 87-9/10
Oregon	33,049	62,330 66-9/10
Pennsylvania	448,778	745,779 60-4/10
Rhode Island	25,708	43,942 58-5/10
South Dakota	40,868	67,636 59-7/10
Utah	42,601	61,015 69-9/10
Vermont	11,498	89,252 80-1/10
Washington	58,691	106,062 55-4/10
W. Virginia	111,418	137,869 58-9/10
Wisconsin	168,632	247,747 66-9/10
Wyoming	14,518	20,846 71-2/10

But, while it is mathematically impossible for Roosevelt to be elected, it is possible, unfortunately, for Wilson to win, because of Republican votes cast for Roosevelt in the country at large. It would require but 16 Republican votes out of every hundred to be cast for Roosevelt to give Wilson a popular majority.

It follows, therefore, that the only way to defeat Wilson in the nation is to vote for Taft. The only way to keep Wilson from carrying any state, and thus contributing materially to his election, is to vote for Taft. A vote for Roosevelt helps Wilson; it cannot by any possibility elect Roosevelt.

The voters of the nation, therefore, have but one question to answer at the coming election, so far as national politics is concerned, and that is "Taft or Wilson?" Do they want Taft and the Republican party, or Wilson and the Democratic party? Do they want a continuation of the policies under which the present condition of universal prosperity has been attained, which would call for no business readjustment, and therefore would result in no business derangement; or do they want new and different policies, the result of which nobody could foresee, which therefore would force upon the country a period of uncertainty and waiting, inevitably inviting stagnation, distress and disaster? Do they want to exchange an assured good for a nearly certain evil? They have prosperity now; do they want to risk losing it?

That is the only question, and the whole question, in this national campaign. Roosevelt is a demonstrated impossibility. It is Taft or Wilson. It is the Republican party or the Democratic party. It is a certain good or an almost equally certain evil.

A SERIOUS QUESTION.

The serious question, which you will have to decide in the voting booth on Tuesday, November 5, is whether you want a continuance of present prosperity—or a return to the days of Democratic distress.

Not Much Consequence.

Two fishermen named Jeffs living near each other, had met with misfortune, one having lost his wife and the other his boat. A lady visitor called on the one who had lost his boat, thinking it was the one who had lost his wife, and the following conversation ensued: "Good morning, Mr. Jeffs, I am sorry to hear of your sad loss." "Oh, it isn't of much consequence, mum; she wasn't up to much." "Dear me, you don't say so!" "Ay, she was a rickety old crook. When I went out with her I was always in danger of my life." "Indeed?" "I offered her to my mate only last week, but he wouldn't have her, but I have had my eye on another for some time now, and—" But the old lady could stand no more of the old man's innocent denunciation of the weaker sex, and hurriedly took her departure.

Fingers and the Calendar.

No doubt most people remember the number of days in any particular month by recalling the fingers they earned at school. Another method is practiced in Iceland, and it is so simple and ingenious as to be worth knowing. Shut the fist and let the knuckle of the forefinger represent January with its thirty-one days, and the depression between that and the next knuckle will represent February with its lesser number of days. And thus every month that corresponds to a knuckle will be found to contain thirty-one days, and every month that corresponds to a depression, a less number of days. The little finger will represent July, and beginning again with the forefinger knuckle it stands for August, and from this one continues to count through the months of the year.—Harpur's Weekly.

Discovery of Fire.

When and in what manner fire was discovered is unknown. The art of producing fire appears to have been one of the very earliest achievements of man. No people have ever been found without it. Its use may have been suggested to man by the lightning or by the volcano, or by the accidental spark produced by the use of the stone weapons or utensils, but at any rate its use was discovered so long ago that the memory of the race runneth not to the contrary. Of course, it goes without saying that the use of fire lies at the root of all human progress. The "iron age" which is pre-eminently the age of true civilization, would have been impossible without fire.

Sterilization of Water by Light.

At the recent hygiene exhibition at Dresden, apparatus was shown by means of which water may be purified on a large scale through the use of ultra-violet light. This method is now in use in France on a large scale, and is found to be both practical and economical. The amount of electrical current required to produce the ultra-violet light is small. The efficiency is so great that the water, after treating, is found to contain not more than twenty-five or thirty germs to the ounce, which is far better than anything that has ever been accomplished by a filtering process.—Good Health.

Dog That Writes and Draws.

A clever dog made his bow at the Hippodrome, London, England, the other afternoon. "Dick" can draw a donkey's head, make three geometrical figures and write his signature. He can write equally well with both paws either separately or in combination, while as an arithmetician he indulges in simple addition, multiplication, division and subtraction with ready accuracy.

Do You Love This Old Town?

If you do, of course you want to see the town grow. You want to see the storekeepers prosper, and the banks bulge with deposits, and the townspeople wearing glad clothes, and the farmers falling over each other to come in and buy new hay rakes and patent plows. Of course you do. Because, likewise of course, when things are that way you get your share of the general prosperity.

But what are you doing to contribute to the general prosperity? Are you patronizing home industries in preference to outside industries? Do you buy your clothes and groceries and garden tools and so forth here at home?

Well, you admit, you do send away for a good many things you happen to see advertised. Ah!—And are they advertised in this paper? No, indeed—in the mail order journals and catalogues. Quite true. And you would just as soon buy them here if they were advertised by the local merchants, wouldn't you? Why, yes.

Well, now, there's a neat hint to some of our local storekeepers and dealers who perhaps haven't discovered why they are losing a lot of home trade which they ought to keep.

It's a wise business man that knows his own opportunities.

Art of Cookery.

"The art of cookery is as old as history; its development measures the development of civilization. More people are engaged in cooking all or a part of their time than in any other occupation. On the selection and preparation of food depends, more than on any other single factor, the health and consequent happiness and prosperity of mankind"—American School of Home Economics.

Children Suffocated in Safe.

Two Swiss schoolboys, aged respectively 10 and 13, met with a horrible death at Coira, the capital of the Canton of Grisons, by suffocation in a steel safe, the other day, while they were playing hide-and-seek with their comrades. Finding the safe open the little fellows entered it and closed the door, which they could not re-open, and their companions gave up the game after a long search. The parents of the boys were informed of what had occurred, and later discovered the dead bodies of their children.

The receipts from the entertainment, given by the Northville city band last Wednesday evening was thirty-five dollars.

Miss Margaretta Weller is able to be out of doors after her recent illness. Her many friends will be glad to hear of so favorable a progress.

The L. O. T. M. M. of this village has lost by death, two endowment members in less than five months and both claims have been paid in full.

Eight hundred and one members of Northville's voting population have registered for the coming election. Evidently every man intends to vote.

The young ladies of this village are planning on a very enjoyable leap year dancing party to be given in Catermole hall this Friday evening.

There will be a dance in the Stankel Hotel, Walled Lake, next Friday evening, Nov. 8. Cray's orchestra of Northville will furnish the music. All welcome.

The Progressive meeting held in the Princess rink last evening was well attended. Speeches were made by the Hon. L. Whitney Watkins, candidate for governor; Hon. Theo. V. Joslin, candidate for United States senator, as well as by Robert Drysdale, candidate for prosecuting attorney. All made interesting talks and were well received.

The Republican rally which took place in the Opera House last Friday evening brought out the largest attendance of any meeting held thus far. The house was packed full and some could not even get in the door. Both Congressman Wedemeyer and Mr. Fellows gave splendid addresses. The coronet band and the male quartet gave several selections, which were highly appreciated.

Mrs. Lizzie Harger entertained the "First 500" club at a Halloween party in her home on Northside, Tuesday evening.

It was a very enjoyable affair, in true "spook" style. When a guest arrived she was met at the cellar door by a ghost, escorted through the cellar, up the stairs and so on until the garret was reached, at which place she was privileged to leave her wraps. The chief point of interest in the room was a corpse laid out on the bed, surrounded by flowers, while a black robed mourner sat beside it in "raising high her voice in lamentations." Many other unique features rounded out the evening's entertainment.

Carmel Benton was the victim of a serious accident Saturday evening. Returning home from town, he went into a stable to see that everything was safe for the night. Instead of speaking to the horses as usual, he touched one of them, startled it so that it kicked him quite severely in the stomach. Though unconscious for some time and confined to his bed most of the week no serious results are anticipated.

The merchants are considering the proposition of closing their stores at 6 o'clock on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights of each week. There is no apparent good reason why the business men and clerks should not have at least half their evenings when about everyone else has every evening in the whole year. This plan is being tried in Plymouth and is working fine.

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranging to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Ryan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Daniels, leader of the Regular church, offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Ellery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish.

"Keziah," he commanded. "Hum—ha! Keziah, come in here a minute."

Keziah came in response to the call, her sewing in her hand. The renovation of the parsonage had so far progressed that she could now find time for a little sewing, after the dinner dishes were done.

"Keziah," said the captain pompously, "I expect you to look out for Mr. Ellery in every respect. The parish committee expects that—yes."

"I'll try," said Mrs. Coffin shortly. "Yes, well, that's all. You can go. We must be going, too, Mr. Ellery. Please consider our house at your disposal any time. Be neighborly—hum—ha!—be neighborly."

"Yes," purred Annabel. "Do come and see us often. Congenial society is very scarce in Trumet, for me especially. We can read together. Are you fond of Moore, Mr. Ellery? I just dote on him."

The last "hum—ha" was partially drowned by the click of the gate. Keziah closed the dining-room door.

"Mrs. Coffin," said the minister, "I shan't trouble the parish committee. Be sure of that. I'm perfectly satisfied."

Keziah sat down in the rocker and her needle moved very briskly for a moment. Then she said, without looking up:

"That's good. I own up I like to hear you say it. And I am glad there are some things I do like about this new place of mine. Because—well, because there's likely to be others that I shan't like at all."

On Friday evening the minister conducted his first prayer meeting at home, and afterwards, he heard a good deal concerning the Come-Outers. He learned that Captain Eben Hammond had preached against him in the church on Sunday. About his own parishioners, he tried to think it a good joke.

The son of the following Thursday morning, he held a church of fog and rain. At the end of the day, upon which Ellery arrived, a flat cabin in the forenoon, the wind changed about three o'clock, and, becoming with a sharp and sudden gust from the north-west, blew hard and steady. Yet the fog still choked everything, and he could not be seen.

"Come out in this, Mr. Ellery!" exclaimed Keziah, in amazement, as the minister put on his hat and went about even that evening. "Sakes alive! you won't be able to see the way to the gate. It's as dark as a negro's pocket and I bet that your eyes in a week's time, as my father used to say, 'You'll be wet through. Where in the world are you bound for this night?'"

The minister equivocated. He said he had been in the house all day, and felt like a walk.

"Well, take an umbrella, then," was the housekeeper's advice. "You'll need it before you get back, I calculate."

It was dark enough, and thick enough, in all conscience. The main road was a black, wet void, through which, gleams from lighted windows were big, vague, yellow blotches. The umbrella was useful in the same way that a bird's wing is useful, in feeling the way. Two or three stragglers, who met the minister, carried lanterns. John Ellery stumbled on through the mist till he reached the "corners" where the store was located and the roads forked. There, he turned to the right, into the way called locally "Hammond's Turn-off." A short distance down the "Turn-off" stood a small, brown-shingled building, its windows alight. Opposite its door, on either side of the road, grew a spreading hornbeam tree surrounded by a cluster of swamp blackberry bushes. In the black shadow of the hornbeam Mr. Ellery stood still. He was debating in his mind a question: should he or should he not enter that building?

As he stood there, groups of people emerged from the fog and darkness and passed in at the door. Some of them he had seen during his fortnight in Trumet. Others were strangers to him. A lantern danced and wobbled up the "Turn-off" from the direction of the bay shore and the packet boat. It drew near, and he saw that it was carried by an old man with long, white hair and chin beard, who walked with a slight limp. Beside him was a thin woman wearing a black poke bonnet and a shawl. In the rear of the pair came another woman, a young woman, judging by the way she was dressed and her lithe, vigorous step. The trio halted on the platform of the building. The old man blew out the lantern. Then he threw the door open and a stream of yellow light poured over the group.

The young woman was Grace Van Horne. The minister recognized her at once. Undoubtedly, the old man with the limp was her guardian, Captain Eben Hammond, who, by common report, had spoken of him, Ellery, as a "hired priest."

The door closed. A few moments thereafter the sound of a squeaky melodeon came from within the building. It wailed and quavered and groaned. Then, with a suddenness that was startling, came the first verse of a hymn, sung with tremendous enthusiasm.

"Oh, who shall answer when the Lord shall call His ransomed sinners home?"

The melodeon chorus was still ringing when the watcher across the street stepped out from the shadow of the hornbeam. Without a pause he strode over to the platform. Another moment and the door had shut behind him.

The minister of the Trumet Regular church had entered the Come-Outers' chapel to attend a Come-Outers' prayer-meeting!

CHAPTER IV.

In Which the Parson Cruises in Strange Waters.

The Come-Outers' chapel was as bare inside, almost, as it was without. Bare wooden walls, a beamed ceiling, a raised platform at one end with a table and chairs, and the melodeon upon it, rows of wooden settees for the congregation—that was all. As the minister entered, the worshippers were standing up to sing. Three or four sputtering oil lamps but dimly illumined the place and made recognition uncertain.

The second verse of the hymn was just beginning as Ellery came in. Most of the forty or more grown people in the chapel were too busy wrestling with the tune to turn and look at him. A child here and there in the back row twisted a curious neck but twisted back again as parental fingers tapped it to get the minister's attention to a dark corner and took his stand in front of a vacant settee.

The man whom Ellery had decided upon for Captain Eben Hammond was standing on the low platform beside the table. A stout figure, patriarchal with its flowing white hair and beard, patriarchal with its set, smooth shaven top and tufted brows. Captain Eben held an open hymn book back in one hand and beat time with the other. He wore a high-crowned spectacle well down toward the tip of his nose. Saluting a lady, snubbed finger and pointing in a high, quavering voice of no particular register, he led off the third verse.

"Oh, who shall answer when the roll is called And who shall shout for joy?"

The singing over, the worshippers sat down. Captain Eben took a figured handkerchief from his pocket and wiped his forehead. The thin, near-sighted young woman who had been humped over the keyboard of the melodeon, straightened up. The worshippers relaxed a little and began to look about.

Then the captain adjusted his spectacles and opened a Bible, which he took from the table beside him. Clearing his throat, he announced that he would read from the Word, tenth chapter of Jeremiah.

"Thus saith the Lord. Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the heathen are dismayed at them."

"Amen!" The shout came from the second bench from the front, where Ezekiel Bassett, clam digger and fervent religionist, was always to be found on meeting nights. Ezekiel was the father of Susannah B. Bassett, "Sukey B." for short, who played the melodeon. He had been, by successive seizures, a Seventh Day Baptist, a Second Adventist, a Millerite, a Regular, and was now the most energetic of Come-Outers. Later he was to become a Spiritualist and preside at table tipping seances.

Ezekiel's amen was so sudden and emphatic that it startled the reader into looking up. Instead of the faces of his congregation, he found himself treated to a view of their back hair. Nearly every head was turned toward the rear corner of the room, where there was a buzz of whispering, and, in front, many men and women were standing up to look.

Ezekiel Bassett stepped forward and whispered in his ear. The captain's expression of righteous indignation changed to one of blank astonishment. He too, gazed at the dark corner. Then his lips tightened and he rapped smartly on the table.

"My friends," he said, "let us bow in prayer."

John Ellery could have repeated that prayer, almost word for word, years after that night. The captain prayed to the few here gathered together; let them be steadfast, let them be constant in the way. The path they were treading might be narrow and beset with thorns, but it was the path leading to glory.

"Scoffers may sneer," he declared, his voice rising, "they may make a mock of us, they may even come into thy presence to laugh at us, but theirs is the laugh that turns to groaning."

And so on, his remarks becoming more personal and ever pointing like a compass needle to the occupant of that seat in the corner.

"O Lord," prayed Captain Hammond, the perspiration in beads on his forehead, "thou hast said that the pastors become brutish and have not sought thee and that they shan't prosper. Help us tonight to labor with this one that he may see his error and repent in sackcloth and ashes."

They sang once more, a hymn that prophesied woes to the unbeliever. Then Ezekiel Bassett rose to testify. The testimony was mainly to the effect that he was happy because he had fled to the ark of safety while there was yet time.

Captain Eben called for more testimony. But the testifiers were, to use the old minister's joke, "backward" in coming forward that evening. At an ordinary meeting, by this time, the shouts and enthusiasm would have been at their height, and half a dozen Come-Outers on their feet at once, relating their experiences and proclaiming their happiness. But tonight there was a damper; the presence of the leader of the opposition cast a shadow over the gathering. Only the bravest attempted speech. The others sat silent, showing their resentment and contempt by frowning glances over their shoulders and portentous nods to the other.

The captain looked over the meeting.

"I'm ashamed," he said, "ashamed of the behavior of some of us in the Lord's house. This has been a failure, this service of ours. We have kept still when we should have justified our faith, and allowed the presence of a stranger to interfere with our duty to the Almighty. And I will say," he added, his voice rising and trembling with indignation, "to him who came here uninvited and broke up this meeting, that it would be well for him to remember the words of Scripture, 'Woe unto ye, false prophets and workers of iniquity.' Let him remember what the divine wisdom put into my head to read tonight. The pastors have become brutish and have not sought the Lord; therefore they shall not prosper."

"Amen!" "Amen!" "Amen!" "So be it!" The cries came from all parts of the little room. They ceased abruptly, for John Ellery was on his feet.

"Captain Hammond," he said, "I realize that I have no right to speak in this building, but I must say one word. My coming here tonight may have been a mistake, I'm inclined to think it was. But I came not, as you seem to infer, to sneer and scoff, certainly I had no wish to disturb your service. I came because I had heard repeatedly, since my arrival in this town, of this society and its meetings. I had heard, too, that there seemed to be a feeling of antagonism, almost hatred, against me among you here. I couldn't see why. Most of you here, I believe, been at one time members of the church where I preach. I wished to find out for myself how much of truth there was in the stories I had heard and to see if a better feeling between the two societies might not be brought about. These were my reasons for coming here tonight. As for my being a false prophet—"

"No, no," she answered. "I don't need it, I'm used to wet weather; truly I am. And I don't care for this hat; it's an old one. You have a long way to go and I haven't. Please, Mr. Ellery, I can't take it."

"Very well," was the sternly self-satisfying reply, "then I shall certainly go with you as far as the gate. I'm sorry, if my company is distasteful, but—"

He did not finish the sentence, thinking, it may be, that she might finish it for him. But she was silent, merely removing her hand from the bundle she took a step forward, he followed, holding the umbrella over her head. They plashed on, without speaking, through the rapidly forming puddles. Presently she stumbled and he caught her arm to prevent her falling. To his surprise he felt that arm shake in his grasp.

"Why, Miss Van Horne!" he exclaimed in great concern, "are you crying? I beg your pardon. Of course I wouldn't think of going another step with you. I didn't mean to trouble you. I only—If you will please take this umbrella."

Again he tried to transfer the umbrella, and again she pressed it away. "I'm not crying," she gasped, "but—oh, dear! this is so funny!"

"Funny?" he repeated. "Well, perhaps it is. Our ideas of fun seem to differ."

"Oh, but it is so funny. You don't understand. What do you think your congregation would say if they knew you had been to a Come-Outers' meeting and then insisted on seeing a Come-Outers' girl home?"

John Ellery swallowed hard. A vision of Captain Elkanah Daniels and the stately Miss Annabel rose before his mind's eye. He hadn't thought of his congregation in connection with this impromptu rescue of a damsel in distress.

"Possibly your Uncle Eben might be somewhat surprised if he knew you were with me. Perhaps he might have something to say on the subject."

"I guess he would. We shall know very soon. I ran away and left him with Mrs. Poundberry, our housekeeper. He doesn't know where I am. I wonder he hasn't turned back to look for me before this. We shall probably meet him at any moment."

Fifty yards away the lighted windows of the Hammond tavern gleamed yellow. Farther on, over a ragged, moving fringe of grass and weeds, was a black, flat expanse—the bay. And a little way out, upon that expanse twinkled the lights of a vessel. A chain rattled. Voices shouting excitedly came to their ears.

"Why!" exclaimed Grace in excited wonder, "it's the packet! She was due this morning, but we didn't expect her till to-morrow. How did she find her way in the fog? I must tell uncle."

She started to run toward the house. The minister would have followed with the umbrella, but she stopped him.

"No, Mr. Ellery," she urged earnestly. "No, please don't. I'm all right now. Thank you. Good night."

A few steps farther on she turned. "I hope Cap'n Elkanah won't know," she whispered, the laugh returning to her voice. "Good night."

eyes and the wavy shadows of her hair on her forehead.

He had taken but a few steps when there was a rustle in the wet grass behind him.

"Mr. Ellery," whispered a voice, "Mr. Ellery, may I speak to you just a moment?"

He wheeled in surprise.

"Why? Miss Van Horne!" he exclaimed. "Is it you?"

"I felt," she said, "that I must see you and—explain. I am so sorry you came here tonight. Oh, I wish you hadn't. What made you do it?"

"I came," began Ellery, somewhat stiffly, "because I—well, because I thought it might be a good thing to do."

There was a bitterness in his tone, unmistakable. And a little laugh from his companion did not tend to soothe his feelings.

"Thank you," he said. "Perhaps it is funny. I did not find it so. Good evening."

The girl detained him as he was turning away.

"I came after you," went on Grace rapidly and with nervous haste, "because I felt that you ought not to misjudge my uncle for what he said tonight. He wouldn't have hurt your feelings for the world. He is a good man and does good to everybody. If you only knew the good he does do, you wouldn't—wouldn't dare think hardly of him."

"I'm not judging your uncle," he declared. "It seemed to me that the boat was on the other leg."

"I know, but you do judge him, and you mustn't. You see, he thought you had come to make fun of him—and us. Some of the Regular people do, people who aren't fit to tie his shoes. And so he spoke against you. He'll be sorry when he thinks it over. That's what I came to tell you. I ask your pardon for—"

She turned away now, and it was the minister who detained her. "I've been thinking," he said slowly, "for in his present state of mind it was a hard thing to say, 'that perhaps I ought to apologize, too.' I'm afraid I did disturb your service and I'm sorry. I meant well, but—What's that? Rain?"

There was no doubt about it, it was rain, and plenty of it. It came in a swooping downpour that beat upon the trees and bushes and roared upon the roof of the chapel. The minister hurriedly raised his umbrella.

"Here!" he commanded, "you must take the umbrella. Really, you must. You haven't one and you'll be wet through."

She pushed the umbrella aside. "No, no," she answered. "I don't need it, I'm used to wet weather; truly I am. And I don't care for this hat; it's an old one. You have a long way to go and I haven't. Please, Mr. Ellery, I can't take it."

LEFT THE HUSBAND SHOCKED

Wife's Departure From Ordinary Line of Conduct Both Puzzled and Annoyed Him.

Timson was a little, sharp-eyed show-maker with stooped shoulders and a chin whisker. He lived in a Mississippi river town, and whenever he drank too much he used to wind up by going home and thrashing his wife. She never failed to go over to a neighbor's after a session with the old man and complain bitterly of his treatment.

After a while the neighbors grew weary of the off-repeated tale and remarked: "Well, you seem to like it. You always take it willingly. Why don't you pick up something and hit him with it the next time he whips you?"

The wife considered the matter, and the next time her lord began to beat her she grasped a chair and smashed it over his head. The old man fell back in stark amazement, dropped his hands, and stared at her.

"Why, Mary! Why, Mary!" he whimpered. "What on earth is the matter with you? You never done this way before?"

Of course. "Doesn't the sight of a peach make you want to smack your lips?" "No, indeed. The sight of a peach makes me want to smack her lips."

BOYS' HANDICRAFT

By A. NEELY HALL

Author of "Handicraft for Handy Boys" and "The Boy Craftsman"

THE DISAPPEARING DOLL TRICK FOR THE BOY MAGICIAN.

Every boy is greatly interested in conjuring, but today there is such a variety of things to keep him busy that he hasn't the time to give up to this subject that he would have had a few years ago when there were fewer pastimes for boys. In the same way that newer pastimes are occupying the attention of boys, later novelties in entertainment are crowding out stage magic. But magical stunts are about the simplest acts to prepare for a boy's show, and they are always greatly appreciated by an audience, so they should occupy a prominent place upon the program.

It is not my intention at present to go into the subject of conjuring beyond the point of describing how to make and operate the apparatus for a very unique stunt "The Disappearing Doll." This trick is a modification of one of the so-called "cabinet" tricks, which is extremely simple to carry out and always mystifying to an audience.

In the professional act, the magician places a woman inside of a cabinet that stands upon a table, after having exposed all sides of the cabinet to view of the audience, then he closes the front, binds the cabinet lengthwise with heavy rope, sets it down upon the floor, and places it inside of a sack, which he ties. Then after the use of his wand and the utterance of some words of magic, the operations are reversed, the cabinet is removed from the sack, the ropes are cut, the front is opened, and behold! the lady occupant has vanished.

You will understand this trick when I explain our disappearing doll which, which is carried out in the same way but on a small scale. Fig. 2 shows the completed cabinet. This should be made out of a box about 6 inches deep, 7 inches wide, and 11 inches long. Remove one end of the box, being careful not to split it in doing so, and pivot it between the sides as shown at A (Figs. 3 and 4), driving a brad through each side into the center of each end edge. This piece must be carefully placed so it will swing up into its former position in the end of the box, without showing any indication of being pivoted. A nail-head should be driven in each side of pivot nail A, as at B (Figs. 3 and 4), to give the appearance of a solidly fastened end. It may be necessary to plane off a trifle of the back-edge of the end piece to make it turn easily. To provide for locking the end so it will not turn, make a small hole through the back of the box (C, Fig. 4) and in the back edge of the end piece (D), and push a small brad into these holes for a locking pin (E). Hinge on the cover of the box with strips of leather, and the constructive part of the work will be finished.

The doll used in the trick must have a small enough head and body to slip through the rear opening in the end of the cabinet. Line the inside of the cabinet with cloth of a bright color, gathering it around the edge and stuffing in a little cotton or cloth underneath to give it a soft padded appearance.

The boy magician needs an assistant for this trick, who must be concealed either underneath a table by means of a drapery fastened around the legs, or in the box of a table made out of a packing-case similar to that shown in Fig. 1. The cabinet must first be turned around so the audience may inspect all sides, then the doll must be placed within, the cover closed, and the cabinet tied with a heavy cord. Upon the tying of this cord much of the success of the trick depends, for with a cord passed around the box both lengthwise and crosswise, it will appear to the audience impossible for any portion of the box to open. However, you will see by Fig. 4 that the pivoted end opens very easily when the cord tied lengthwise of the cabinet comes just to one side of the center of that end.

While passing the twine around the sides and ends, the cabinet should be kept near the center of the table. If a cloth has been spread over the table, the audience can plainly see that there is no possibility of the doll disappearing through a trap door in the table. When the ends of the cord have been brought around to the top, the cabinet can be rested upon the edge of the table without arousing the suspicion of the audience, for they have seen the cord passed around all sides, this is the time for the assistant to act quickly. He must reach out from his position under the table (Fig. 1), withdraw the locking pin E (Fig. 4), turn the pivoted end of the cabinet, pull out the doll, and then close and lock the pivoted end. In the professional trick, the occupant of the cabinet escapes similarly through a trap door in the stage floor, after the cabinet has been tied up and stood upon the floor. The cabinet should now be placed inside of a small bag or a wand passed around it and a few magic words spoken; then it should be taken from the bag, untied, and the empty interior exposed to the view of the audience. After making the doll disappear, you can bring it back into the cabinet by having the assistant replace it in the same way that he removed it, while the magician is tying the cord around it, and by preparing two cabinets, it is a simple trick to make the doll pass from one cabinet to the other, and back again.

HELPS TO SATISFY THIRST

A Little Acid in Cool Water Has Most Beneficial Effect on the Whole System.

Thirst is the cry of the entire system for water. It is referred to the throat, very naturally, and for the same reason that hunger is referred to the stomach. This is especially noticeable if the mouth has been kept open, as in fear or excitement, or in walking or working in this very improper way, simply because the rapid breathing has dried the throat by evaporation. The same effect is seen when the throat has been irritated by drinking ice-water, or holding ice in the mouth, either of which increases the sensation of thirst.

What is most needed is a good drink of cool water. If the water be slightly acidulated, the dryness of the throat is relieved, probably because the acid starts the flow of the saliva. Lemon juice, or a little citric or tartaric acid, or a few drops of cider vinegar added to the glass of water is sufficient. Sweetening does not interfere with this effect.

Useful Memorial Giver Statu

A mountain as a memorial to General Harriman, governor of New Hampshire from 1867 to 1868, has been given to the state by his son-in-law, Joseph Lesson, to be known as the Walter Harriman reservation, includes Stewart Mink hill, 1,800 feet high, and an extensive tract of land around it. The summit of the hill has a fifty mile view of the White mountain scenery, and the slopes are covered with picturesque timber growths and meadows. The state will utilize the reservation for the study and teaching of forestry. It will be open to the public as a park.—Magazine of American History.

Man's Inconsistency.

"You have attained fortune and are enabled to live at ease, surrounded by every luxury." "Yes," replied the successful citizen, "and yet I have to miss a lot of pleasure I'm terribly disappointed because I won't have time to sneak off at daybreak with a sandwich in my pocket and wade waist deep in a mountain stream suspected of containing trout."

STATE NEWS

Grand Rapids.—Riotous scenes marked the funeral of ten-year-old Robert Spotwood. Two men were knocked down with a chair by a woman who had become deranged suddenly and the body of the boy was thrown out of the coffin. The funeral services were under the direction of L. A. Field, Christian Science reader. When he read, "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want," Mrs. Elizabeth Spotwood, grandmother of the deceased boy, arose from a seat in the front row, picked up her chair and struck Mr. Field, knocking him down. Undertaker French interfered, but was knocked down also. In the excitement Mrs. Spotwood ran against the coffin, which fell to the floor, the body rolling out. A "hurry call" was sent to the sheriff's office. Deputies who arrived at the funeral in response to a telephone call took the woman to the city jail. The body was replaced in the coffin and the services resumed.

Lansing.—Despondent over a quarrel with a woman, Glenn Sebald, twenty-three years old, attempted suicide by drinking carbolic acid at the home of his brother-in-law, Ira Dunlap. He was placed in an automobile and rushed to the hospital where the stomach pump was used. His chance for recovery, Doctor Gordon says, is about even. He has been employed for some time by Dunlap as a farm hand.

Ann Arbor.—The board of regents in session appointed three men assistants in the museum. This is an honorary position given to men who have achieved prominence in natural history. The men honored were: Mr. Swallows of Detroit, whose particular study has been birds; Mr. Andrews, also of Detroit, interested in beetles, and C. K. Dodge of Port Huron, whose study has been confined principally to plants.

Kalamazoo.—The Bryant Paper company's mill, the largest one in the world, was threatened with destruction by flames. For two hours the fire raged in one of the ware-houses before the fire department could get it under control. While the loss is not heavy because of the small area covered by the fire, the danger of the entire plant, burning was imminent for an hour.

Grand Rapids.—Thomas B. Harper, former postmaster at Bretherton, Manistee county, convicted of embezzling $195 from the post department, was sentenced to two years in the federal penitentiary at Port Leavenworth, Kan. Henry Broadbeck of Throa Rivers, for selling liquor illegally, was sentenced to 60 days in the St. Joseph county jail and to pay $100 fine.

Lansing.—Pushers and many facturers, as well as city officials, have appealed to the state rail road commission to compel the Pere Marquette company to take up a number of "dead tracks" in the city of Grand Rapids. The tracks were once used as sidings, but have since been abandoned. The Grand Rapids people charge that the company refuses to protect the public where the tracks in question cross the streets in that it fails to maintain a sidewalk or gate.

Traverse City.—The bona fide "earliest living resident" of Chicago died at Cedar, a hamlet near here. He was one hundred and twenty years old, and was a Pottawattemie Indian chief, known as Joe Marton since he discarded the tomahawk and war paint. In his death this section of Michigan loses its most picturesque character. He was born in a tepee on the banks of the Chicago river, and his memory went back to the early years of the last century. For the last 15 years he had lived alone at Cedar, his surviving son attending him during his last sickness.

Grand Rapids.—Hugh Davie, Claude Clifford and Joseph Keane-Strick of Hastings, charged with illegal selling of liquor, changed their pleas in federal court to guilty and were sent to the Barry county jail for 90 days each and also fined $100. Russ Shieck, also charged with illegal selling of liquor, was discharged.

Hillsdale.—Mrs. Henry Zupp of Cambria, lay down on a couch before starting dinner and her husband, who was reading, thought she had fallen asleep, but on investigation found she was dead. She was eighty years old.

Kalamazoo.—Martin Eaves said to be the son of a wealthy farmer, has been arrested and brought to jail here on a charge of forgery. He was taken by Sheriff Campbell near Leondas. It is said he has successfully passed a number of bad checks.

Battle Creek.—Through an error made by Justice Davis in a warrant charging assault and battery when it should have been highway robbery, the trial of Elmer Smith and Frank Ross, who admit that they held up a man in broad daylight and robbed him was arrested before it commenced, while the prosecuting attorney and the constables had a confab on what was to be done. The men, it is charged, pounced upon Frank Bailey, a companion whom they thought too drunk to remember it, and took $60.

NOTHING ELSE TO DO.

"Why did you leave your last place?" "Well, I couldn't get along with the boss and he wouldn't get out!"

FACE ALMOST COVERED WITH PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

Atchison, Kan.—For a number of years I suffered very greatly from skin eruption. My face was very red and irritated, being almost covered with pimples and blackheads. The pimples were scattered over my face. They were a fine rash with the exception of a few large pimples on my forehead and chin. My face burned and looked red as if exposed to either heat or cold. It was not only unsightly but very uncomfortable. I tried several remedies but couldn't get any relief. I was recommended to use Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment.

"I applied the Cuticura Ointment in the evening, leaving it for about five minutes, then washing it off with Cuticura Soap and hot water. I washed with the Cuticura Soap and hot water about several times during the day. After about four months of this application, my face was cleared of the pimples. I still use the Cuticura Soap." (Signed) Miss Elsie Nielson, Dec. 29, 1911.

Talk With Shakespeare.

"But, Billy," says Shakespeare's friend, "I'm bodkinized if I see the sense in that song Ophelia sings, nor why you put the song in there for her anyhow."

"When you've been in the show game as long as I have," replies Shakespeare, "I'll be excited over the first performance of 'Hamlet.' You'll know that when the producer wants a song in a scene, the song goes in. Besides, that girl that's playing Ophelia was a hit in musical comedy, and the manager argued that the public expected to hear her sing somewhere in the piece. Let's go over to the Marston and buy drinks for the girls."

With the completion of a seven story building Tokio is able to boast of the first skyscraper in its history. The structure, begun in January, 1910 was but recently completed. It is considered fire and earthquake proof. It was designed for offices and is especially noteworthy because it is probably the highest of its kind in the far east.

Queen-Wilhelmina and Queen-Elizabeth incident occurred at a military camp lately with Wilhelmina, as Elizabeth. The queen was visiting the camp to see a 1200 in her honor.

Despite the rain her majesty walked to one of the batteries, to watch the loading and firing of a gun. She was about to return when the artillerymen, noting the wet and muddy ground, hastened to fetch boards, which they placed on the ground to form a pathway for the queen. As there were not enough for a complete path, the men picked up the boards behind her as she advanced, and set them again in front. At the end of the walk, her majesty held out her hand to the man who had placed the last board, whereupon having removed his cap, he bent down and kissed the royal hand.

High Cost of Living in Madrid.

Living is costly in Madrid. Even a modest "apartment" costs $750 a year. Servants, however, cost much less than in the United States.

Assassins Worked Boldly.

An aged widow, who kept a small hotel in Paris near St. Lazare prison, was found murdered the other morning in a room taken the day before by two men who have since disappeared. The old woman was strangled by the assassins, when she went into the room to put sheets on the bed. No noise was heard by the other tenants in the hotel. Their crime accomplished, the assassins visited madame's private room and then made good their escape with about $200 in gold and banknotes, a gold watch and a few other articles of jewelry. The body of the woman was found under the mattress, the hands and feet being bound with cord.

CHAS. E. DOWNING FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Charles E. Downing, Democratic candidate for representative in the third district, is a farmer and lives on his farm at Romulus. Mr. Downing was a candidate two years ago and ran over seven hundred ahead of his ticket in the district in that contest. He ran best where he was best known, carrying his own town and those adjoining his on the west and northwest by good majorities.

Mr. Downing is acknowledged by Republicans, Progressives and Democrats, who know him well, to be thoroughly capable of holding the office to which he aspires. He is alert and progressive by temperament and the voters of the third district will make no mistake by electing him to the legislature. —Advertisement.
