JANE STARKWEATHER DIED TUESDAY

SHE WAS ONE OF NORTHVILLE'S
OLDEST RESIDENTS

Lived to the Remarkable Age of 93 Years

Mrs. Jane Starkweather, the oldest Northville resident but one, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. L. Brooks early Tuesday morning at the remarkable age of 93 years.

For a year she had been in ill health as the result of a fall, but until that time she had always enjoyed unusual health and retained her mental faculties to an astonishing degree until the very last.

She was a woman of wide acquaintance and was held in high esteem by everyone. Her maiden name was Jane Northrop and she was born in Fairport, Monroe county, N. Y., October 2, 1819.

MRS. JANE STARKWEATHER.
ing to Michigan with her parents in 1834. They settled on what is now the Chaney Blinn farm and the day before Christmas, 1835, she was married to Samuel Starkweather and went to house-keeping just southeast of the Northrop home on what is known as the James Spencer farm. Mr. Starkweather died about 31 years ago.

When Mrs. Starkweather's parents came to Michigan they were paddled across the Detroit river in canoes by Indians, and following a blazed trail from that city made their way to Northville, where at that time there were no houses.

In her early married life Mrs. Starkweather knew some of the hardships of the pioneer. With the exception of two or three years, she has always resided in or near Northville.

In 1845 she united with the Baptist church in Silem but after moving to Northville, as long as her health permitted, she attended the Presbyterian church.

The five children who survive their mother are, Mrs. L. L. Brooks, Mrs. Edwin Thompson, Irving and E. K. Starkweather of this place, and Mrs. A. J. Shultz of Chicago.

The funeral was held from the house yesterday afternoon, Rev. J. L. Webber officiating. Interment in the family lot in Oakwood cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

BULL MOOSERS IN EVIDENCE

FOLLED REMARKABLE BALLOT
IN NORTHVILLE

Had an Average Vote of About
211

The Bull Moose vote in Northville was certainly a starter, and materially aided the Democratic election. They gave Roosevelt 217 as against 187 for Taft and 115 for Wilson.

On the county ticket Durlee led by 233 votes to 81 for the Democrat and 148 for Hulse, the Progressive Stoll received 253, (man 83, Freeman 151, Oakman 19 less and Dover 13 more. Stoll for treasurer got 240, Burns 169 and so it went on down the ticket. Usually Judge Durlee could have counted on Northville for 350 majority instead of 117.

Out in the state as a result of the Progressive vote the Democratic county, congressional and legislative tickets are elected in great numbers while the Moose ticket has scarcely elected a single office. It is certainly a great day for the Democrats.

STORES TO CLOSE EARLY EVENINGS

The following merchants of Northville have signed and adopted, for trial, the closing movement, commencing the week of November 11th and extending to January 1st, 1913, at 8:00 p. m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Other nights at 8:00 p. m. Saturdays excepted:

FIREMEN'S BENEFIT NEXT FRIDAY EVE.

To Be Given in Northville Opera House That Evening.

An entertainment will be given in the Opera house next Friday evening, November 15, the proceeds of which will go to the Northville Firemen's association. The program will be given by H. J. Green of Chicago and Miss Ruby Smith of Detroit, dramatic and humorous readers, Rev. B. E. Farber, tenor soloist, pastor of Plymouth Presbyterian church, and Mrs. Bertha Beals, also of Plymouth, piano soloist. The same entertainment was given in Plymouth recently and met with great success. Admission, twenty-five cents, no reserved seats.

Didn't Like It.

She had great trouble with a Chinese cook, who could only be wakened by loud knocking and much calling at his door every morning. Finally she purchased an alarm clock, and setting it at the proper hour, presented it to Sam, the cook, who received the gift with a profound obeisance, and a little speech upon the generosity of Americans. The next morning, at the breakfast table, Sam appeared, and with solemn dignity returned the clock to his mistress, saying: "Me no likey; him wake me up!"—Sally Bader, West Virginia.

Kitchen Helpers

That is a good term to apply to many of the articles on our five and ten cent tables these days. These things will not do the work for you, but they make your kitchen duties much lighter and pleasanter. Don't you think you need one or more of these:

Thin bladed Paring Knife
Improved Egg Whip
Good Pancake Turner
Substantial Wire Strainer
Maple Rolling Pin
Dependable Flour Sifter
Kitchen Knives and Forks

These and a dozen other articles are on display at all times. They cost but a few cents—but, oh, the work they save. If you look at them your pocketbook will fly open.

The DIAMOND CIPHER

A Baseball Romance

By W. A. PHELON

(COPYRIGHT, 1912, BY W. G. CHAPMAN. COPYRIGHT IN CANADA AND GREAT BRITAIN)

SYNOPSIS.

Secret Service Chief Williams, privy to the theft of the government's cipher, calls to his aid Detective Pinkwell. They think they have discovered a new cipher, but the thief, Brockett, tells them that the "Diamond Cipher" is a new cipher, and that the thief, Brockett, is a very young man, but I fear you must die.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

There was little chance for the fugitives, even had they had been twice as long, for the inexperienced thief has small show against the man who has lived from childhood in the saddle. It was only a few minutes before the grim pursuers overhauled them, except alongside, and checked their horses by strong hands upon the bridle. Solano drew his revolver, and then, quickly realizing the helplessness of his situation, calmly returned it to its resting place. Brockett drove his right fist, viciously, into the face of the nearest rider, but was wrapped round with powerful arms before he could strike a second blow. Then the cavalcade, escorting the prisoners, turned, rode out of the little crossroad, and trotted slowly up the hill. Descending the farther slope, they rode on in the same dead silence for perhaps an hour. Coming to a thicket beside the road, they wheeled into its dark stretches, threaded their way along a narrow track in single file, and emerged upon a clearing, in which a camp-fire blazed brightly, while some fifty men were lounging round the flames. A sentry's challenge was given and answered; the horsemen dismounted, plucked their horses, and assisted the prisoners to the ground.

A big, superbly-molded fellow, standing some ten feet from the flames, seemed to be in full authority, and the boys were led towards him when he waved his hand. Richly dressed, heavily armed, the firelight playing over his dark, fierce countenance, he looked the part of the operative villain or the musical brigand. Receiving the boys with a smile that showed his strong white teeth in thorough Roosevelt fashion, he motioned them to seats upon two huge Mexican saddles near by.

"The documents should never reach him. Do I state the case correctly?" "Ask him," Brockett cut in. "If he has any objections to telling us who the gentlemen of such liberality may be?"

"Not in the least," the brigand answered, amiably. "In fact, as you will doubtless meet them both tomorrow, you might as well receive your information in advance. One of them is a German. His name is quite difficult for a Mexican to speak, but he is a very big man, with, apparently, a violent temper. The other is a Japanese, and I regret to say, his name is also among the impossibilities."

"Are these two in alliance, then?" Brockett demanded. The big man smiled sweetly, and shook his head emphatically.

"No, caballeros, no. That is the best part of the whole thing. A drama, a play, is it not? I learn from these two gentlemen, that while they are very good friends, and have worked in common at times to run you down, that each now desires the sole, exclusive possession of the papers addressed to Gomez Esteral. Each wishes me to secure these papers, turn them over to him, and fend off the other with some wild tale of failure. Carramba, but these diplomats must be deep-dyed prevaricators! Of course, I taxed each of them for expenses, in advance, and there now reposes in my cash, caballeros, 5,000 good American dollars from each one of them!"

"How do you propose to deal with them—and with us?" asked Solano.

"I fear," smiled the brigand, engagingly, "that the problem of dealing with you two is very simple. I cannot permit you to resume your journey, for Gomez Esteral has a long and arduous trip, and robbery of any messengers bearing documents addressed to him. It seems to me that I cannot let you turn back to the Rio Grande, either. Let your colonel make complaint to the United States, who would soon swoop down upon me. No, no. It grieves me extremely, young men, but I fear that you must die. As to the papers—I may auction them to the highest bidder. However, do not let these things distress you before tomorrow. You shall be well treated while with me, on the word of Juan Torreon!"

Solano sprang up from his saddle-chain. "You are Juan Torreon?" he demanded.

"Wholly at your service, caballero Juan Torreon, humble captain of a little band—that is for the revolution today, for the government tomorrow—and always, at all times, for Juan Torreon. You have heard my name?"

"Hurry, give me the card that Mexican handed you!" And Solano quickly transferred the card written by Torreon's grateful brother to the clutches of the robber chief. Juan Torreon read the words thereon, written, and seemed to meditate for a few minutes. Then he burst into a ringing laugh, and slapped a heavy hand upon the shoulders of each prisoner.

"Fortunate, doubly fortunate were you, caballeros, that you rendered this kindness to the brother or Juan Torreon! I, myself, knew not of my brother's poverty, for he was ever proud, even in misfortune. A small world, after all, is it not, caballeros? Fear not, now, for your safety. Juan Torreon would not see you injured or abused. As to the documents, however—I fear that I must relieve you of them. My word is passed to the gentlemen with the unpronounceable names; and I cannot forego the fortune I expect to gain. Still, we will talk further on the morrow. Will you young men give me your word of honor that you will not destroy the Gomez Esteral missives during the night? If so, you shall have a but to yourselves and every comfort possible. Have I your word as to the papers?"

"I suppose you might as well give it," said Brockett. "Tell him, Ramon, that we will not tear them up, eat them, or otherwise annihilate them, and let it go at that. Tomorrow we can argue more deeply on the subject. We are tired now, disgusted with life in general, and in need of sleep."

"So let it be," assented Torreon. "Except your word. Who knows, my friends, but that you, as well as I, can induce these foreign gentlemen to bid more vigorously against each other tomorrow? As, yes—just as incidental, friends—I have heard much of your great prowess in the Gringos game of baseball. It is the sport of my camp. We play it at all leisure hours—but, I fear, we play it very badly. The gentlemen of unpronounceable names do not come till afternoon. Will you not, during the morning, give us valuable instruction in the game of baseball? It will, I assure you, be a glorious favor."

Despite the misery of their situation and the apparent overthrow of all their plans, the boys could not restrain their laughter. This brigand, this land-pirate, this desperado, who, on the morrow, might wreck the future of great nations, asked for instruction in the diamond game! They could not keep from laughing—and even as they laughed Brockett's very soul thrilled with the flash of sudden inspiration.

"Yes, yes," he panted. "Tell him, Ramon, that we will be right with him in the morning, and that we will do our best to teach him what little of the game we know."

"CHAPTER XXIX.

"Ask the sentinel at the door," said Brockett, after the prisoners had been shown into a rude but comfortable hut, lighted with whole rows of candles, "if he can get a needle and some strong thread. Tell him I want to do some repairing on my clothes—they need it badly."

The puzzled Cuban executed the commission, and the sentry, an obliging, jovial fellow, soon brought in a heavy needle and some twine. Brockett, seating himself where the light was brightest, then produced an old bill, bearing evidence of many a vigorous sweat upon its horsehide cover, and calmly proceeded to dissect the sphere, while Solano looked on in amazement.

"Going to stuff the ball with dynamite, and then bat it to Captain Torreon?" he asked, with a forced chuckle. Brockett smiled frankly and evidently with self-confidence and full renewal of courage.

"Not exactly, Ramon," he replied. "I'm going to stuff it with something valuable, though. Watch and see!"

Deftly the boy extracted some fold of cotton from the inner pockets of his clothing. As deftly he crumpled them, wound them round the rubber center of the ball and pressed them into the hollow space. Some of the yarn from the ball was then wound round the bundle, and it came the work of reweaving the cover. This was a harmless letter-sheet. I happened to have in my pockets, I think that the inside of a league ball is about the last place they would think to look for important papers."

"Pretty old ball," commented Solano. "Had a rubber center instead of a cork core. But what good is the ball going to do us? If we never get through to Gomez Esteral what difference does it make whether the dispatches are in a ball or in an aeroplane?"

Brockett smiled serenely. "Quit worrying, Ramon, quit worrying. Now, then, come closer—still closer—where there won't be any chance of sharp Mexican ears getting wise. Now, then, listen to me!"

Captain Juan Torreon's bandits certainly loved baseball, and evidently played it to the best of their ability and as often as time and place allowed. The clearing in which the camp was pitched had a rude diamond laid out at its northern edge, while the southern borders showed much evidence of the tramping feet of the outlanders. Sentinels guarded the boundaries of the camp with hawklike gaze; some twenty of the bandits trocked back and forth upon the sward, waiting for the practice to begin, and the rest of the operative, looking brigands, with their leader, lounged around the catcher's position.

Juan Torreon greeted his prisoners with great courtesy, and asked if they had slept and breakfasted well. Answered in the affirmative as to both queries a look of genuine pleasure seemed to cross his swarthy countenance, and he expressed his satisfaction at their words.

"If it pleases you, caballeros," he went on, "will you inspect the bats and balls? Our equipment is doubtless crude and poor, but in these troublous times it is not easy to obtain first class material. What branch of the profession will you deign to instruct us in as a beginning?"

"It is agreeable to you, Captain Torreon," said Solano, "my friend will bat up some flies, to see how your little hands handle them."

"Hurry, my friend, Torreon approved. I fear you will find them but feeble in pursuit of the ball!"

HE VANISHED INTO THE CHAPARRAL AND WITH HIM WENT THE BALL THAT CONTAINED THE MESSAGES.

Feeble they were. They tried hard, these bandit Mexicans, but only the easiest kind of fly balls rested securely in their grip. About a dozen balls had been dropped, Solano, with a gesture of impatience, set off at a jog-trot, crossed the field and took up a position among the farthest Mexicans, not far from the edge of the clearing.

"Buena, buena!" laughed Captain

AMID A VOLLEY OF CHEERS HE LEAPED HIGH AND PULLED DOWN THE BALL.

Torreon. "Your friend will show how the fly ball should be caught, si? Let us watch him."

Solano took two fly balls, each fairly well out, and backing beyond the ring of Mexicans to get them. Loud applause greeted his graceful handling of the chances. Then Brockett laid the wood against the ball with tremendous power. The startled sphere soared high, and Solano, starting at the crack of the bat, raced under the ball far down to the bushes' edge. Amid a volley of cheers, he leaped high, pulled down the ball—and then kept right on running. Before the astounded Mexicans could realize the trick, he vanished into the chaparral, springing like a madman, and with him went the ball that contained the messages to Gomez Esteral!

Juan Torreon was a man to act with promptitude, no matter what the exigency. Horsemen could not ride through the dense undergrowth into which Solano had vanished, but twenty bandits were on his track a moment later. The chief himself sprang at Brockett with a snarl of fury, and made a lightning search of the prisoner. The search brought forth the envelopes in which the original missives had reposed, and Torreon, his fierce face lighting up a grin, carefully stowed them in his own apparel.

He called a young Mexican to his side and ordered him to act as his interpreter.

"Tell the young man," said the chief, slowly and with an apparent return of good humor, "that I was quite sure his friend had not carried off the papers, but that I wanted to make sure—so will therefore pardon the roughness of the searching process. The future before the other young man went out to catch fly balls and found nothing. He, therefore, simply ran away, and left his companion to face the music. So he it. If he can be caught, all right, all well and good. If not, let him go his way—I give him credit for a clever escape. You and I, Senior Brockett, will meet the gentlemen with the unpronounceable names in a few hours—and we will bargain with them. Will it please you to go up with the best of the team?"

Now, then, and the pupils who had pursued Solano began to struggle in. They brought no prisoner, and declared that the young Gringo must have been carried off and befriended by the devil. Torreon, courteous as ever, made Brockett cat with him, and asked him many questions concerning the great game of the Americans, its rules, its famous players. Towards nine o'clock a sentry at the western edge of the clearing challenged loudly, and a moment later two Landis escorted a huge German gentleman to the presence of their commander.

"I see, mein friend," quoth the baron, "dot you vos, ad lasd, in safe hands. Vere iss your partner?"

The baron was much worried at the news that Solano had escaped, but expressed marked relief at the information that the Cuban had not succeeded in getting away with the letters addressed to Gomez Esteral.

"Dot iss vell," he sighed, happily. "It iss, berhaps, better yet dot he hat gone—he can hat nodings to say, and dere iss but de vos left to dispose off. Shall ve get down to bizness? Vere iss de liddle leaders, captain?"

A sentinel at the northern edge of the clearing gave challenge, and two more of the bandits came across the glade. With them walked a little brown man, suave and gentle—the little man whom Brockett thought long since dead in the waters of North river—the tireless agent of Japan—none less than Mr. Yazimoto!

Baron Zollern greeted the Nipponese with evident surprise, but with forced courtesy.

"I subposed," said he, "dot my abbotnend vos exclusive mit de captain. Sdill, Herr Yazimoto, you are welcome. You understand, of course, dot I haf de first and only claim to dese Esteral documents? De key off de cipher, code, Herr Yazimoto, I will share mit you, and gladly. Iss dot agreeable?"

Mr. Yazimoto purred his dissent. The entire dossier of Esteral's letters, as well as the cipher code, he explained, were his. After he had persuaded them, he would gladly let his old friend, the Baron Zollern, glance through them, but for the present time, though it desolated him to be so selfish, he must insist upon the first inspection of the papers, already purchased from the honorable captain.

The Progressive Result.

The result of the Roosevelt movement, inaugurated by Mr. Roosevelt himself, has had the one result that he probably most hoped for and that was the defeat of Mr. Taft. Whatever satisfaction that may be, the ex-president has it. It must have been a piece of spite work because there was no issue except the issue of "who is who." This country was in its zenith of prosperity and was at peace at home and abroad. At no time in its history was a change more uncalculated for. Mr. Roosevelt tried his best to get the Republican nomination at Chicago and tried it up to the last moment and was personally on the ground. When he failed to land it, at that moment, the Republican party became "rotten" and he set out at once to organize a new party with himself at its head. He did it, and the result is just what might have been expected. There was no possible excuse for it except personal ambition. Today all over the United States Republican candidates are defeated in state, district and county offices to satisfy that ambition. The Democratic party could have been placed in power without all this political strife by those who were disappointed simply voting the Democratic ticket. No third party succeeded to turn the trick that has been turned, and the result we believe, with the fully bitter a twisting pill to swallow for the Progressives and is for the Republic, it is not more so. We have no doubt but what Mr. Wilson will make a splendid president and the prospects are that he will have both a Democratic House and Senate with him to carry out whatever measures the party deems wise from their standpoint.

Congressman Wadsworth is probably defeated by Banks of Ann Arbor, democrat. The Bull Moose did it although Wadsworth was one of the most progressive members of congress and voted against the reciprocity measure and favored Roosevelt at the Chicago convention. The Bull Moose voters in Wayne county gave him less votes than they did some county office candidates on the same ticket who were prominent and outspoken Taft men both in the conventions and at the polls Tuesday. Consistency, thou art certainly a jewel.

Willing to Die for Companion.
"If you can save the other fellow, do so, because he is a wife and child and I have not, and if one of us must die I would rather perish." This was the remark made the other day by William Dietz to men endeavoring to free him and a companion from tons of dirt and rock that had fallen upon them while they were at work in a ditch at Newport, Ky. Both were submerged when one wall of the ditch in which they were straining telephone wires gave way. The rescuing party had succeeded in removing the debris so the men could breathe more freely, when Dietz, with the above remark, directed them to save Mooney, who, after being liberated, helped to rescue his fellow workman. Neither of the men were badly injured.

Too Much Nose.
Wobly—Why did you discharge that bookkeeper that you had? Jobly—Had to do it. He was so nearsighted that every time he wrote with his pen he rubbed out with his nose.

Advantage of Electricity.
Electricity can not be frozen, neither can it be adulterated. It works equally well on hot or cold days.

School Notes.

(By a Pupil)

The Latin department of the High school has a fine new roller map of Gaul.

The history class of the Twelfth grade is studying the Constitutional period.

George Abbey of the Seventh grade is very ill, with but slight hope of recovery.

The piano fund was increased by $49.88 as the results of last Saturday's Tag day.

"The Swing" and "The Teddy Bear" are new songs being learned by the Second graders.

Miss Weller, our Eighth grade teacher has not been so well the past two or three days.

The B class in Language, of the Fourth grade, is writing the meaning of certain well known proverbs.

The Rev. T. J. Murdock gave a fine address to the High school Friday morning on the subject "Manliness."

The teachers' state association held at Grand Rapids on Thursday and Friday of last week, enrolled 7000.

The pupils of the A class in the Second grade are learning the poem "Rock-a-By-Lady," by Eugene Fields.

The boys' basket ball teams have begun practice in the rink, Tuesday and Thursday being the regular days.

Recent visitors in the High school were Viola McCully, May Woodman, Cecel Johnston, Fred Taft and Dawn Clark.

Ex-superintendent Stetson says: "The boy born in the city suffers from the disadvantages of his environment."

The Twelfth grade German class has just finished the study of "Germeinhausen" and are now at work on "Minna von Barnhelm."

Miss Frankie Crosby who formerly attended the South Lyon school has enrolled in the Northville High, bringing the enrollment up to 163.

$6.60 was received at the High school musicale given in the assembly room Tuesday evening of last week. The entertainment was for the piano fund.

The new parcels post stamp, twelve in number, will, it is announced, probably be ready for distribution to the post offices of the country on December 1. They will be larger than the ordinary postage stamps and will have attractive designs including a mail-carrying aeroplane as a glimpse into the future.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Deborah Lowe died at her home in this village last Friday morning after a long illness.

Deborah Morse was born in the township of Oakland, Michigan in 1836, being the youngest of a family of eleven children. With her parents, who were pioneer settlers of this state, she moved to Novi in 1852 where she spent the greater part of her life with the exception of a five years' residence in Salem and the past four years during which she has made Northville her home.

In 1859 she was united in marriage with Hammond Lowe of Novi, who died twenty-five years ago. To this union were born eight children only three of whom are living. They are Mrs. Mary Severance of Romeo, Mrs. Myrtle Booth and Mrs. Katie White of this place. Deceased was a member of the Baptist church at Walled Lake and was greatly respected by all who knew her, which fact was eloquently attested to by the many flowers sent during her illness and death.

The funeral was held from the late home Sunday morning, Rev. R. M. Pierce preaching a sermon from the passage of scripture selected by Mrs. Lowe before her death. Interment in Walled Lake cemetery.

"Generally debilitated for years. Had sick headaches, lacked ambition, was worn-out and all run-down. Burdock Blood Bitters made me a well woman."—Mrs. Chas. Freitoy, Mooms, Conn.—Advertisement.

When you have a bad cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to cure it with as little delay as possible. Here is a druggist's opinion: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for fifteen years," says Elias Loller of Saratoga, Ind., "and consider it the best on the market." For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

(By the Pastor.)

The subject for the morning service will be "Bearing the Marks." Our Sunday school is a place where all ages receive instructions in religion. Evening subject, "Lessons from the Recent Political Campaign." Friends and strangers are made welcome to these services.

The Missionary Society held a very interesting meeting Monday afternoon, a fine program being rendered. There were about fifty ladies in attendance.

The athletic carnival held in the rink Monday evening was greatly enjoyed by the boys present from the Sunday schools of this village. It is planned to form a Sunday school athletic league in the near future.

Mrs. W. F. Webber of Detroit will sing at the morning service next Sunday. Mrs. Webber is an accomplished singer and it will be a pleasure to hear her.

Baptist Church Notes.

(By the Pastor.)

The regular services on Sunday. Morning subject, "Praise and Censure." Evening subject, "Election Day."

The campaign chicken pie supper given by the ladies of this church last Friday evening was a great success, nearly 400 people being served. The receipts were a little over $50. More than 100 people were unable to get their supper, some of whom had previously purchased tickets. Their money was refunded to those who so desired, while others generously refused. We are much indebted to all for their kindness.

Methodist Church Notes.

(By the Pastor.)

The Rural Work committee of the King's Own Bible class will be glad to send a supply of Sunday school papers at the end of every month to families in the country that are unable to attend the village Sunday school.

The Queen Circle will give a yellow tea at the parsonage on Saturday afternoon of this week, from 3 to 5 o'clock. Everyone old and young is invited. There will also be a sale of candy and home made articles.

The ladies of the church are completing arrangements for their chicken pie dinner to be given November 20th. A leading feature of the menu will be individual chicken pies minus the bones. Further notice will be given next week.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Ladies Aid Society will be held at the parsonage, Tuesday afternoon, November 12, at 2 o'clock. A large attendance is looked for. We are anxious to complete our plans for work.

Grand Army Notes.

The muffled drum is heard and God in His wisdom has again called, and another of the Nation's defenders has answered the last roll call. Comrade Wm. M. Marvin died October 25, 1912. He belonged to Co. E, 5th Mich. Infantry.

Trouble With the Eyes.

Sometimes tiny hairs become loosened and get beneath the eyelids. Before going to all the trouble of examining the upper and lower lids, fill the wash bowl with cold water and open the eyes under water. Open and shut them several times; and in nearly every instance this will wash out the bothersome hair. It will at least loosen such a hair so that it may be easily removed by the cotton-tipped toothpick.

On Doubt It?

When the Proof Can Be So Easily Investigated.

When so many grateful citizens of this locality testify to benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills, can you doubt the evidence? The proof is not far away—it is almost at your door. Read what a resident of this vicinity says about Doan's Kidney Pills. Can you demand more convincing testimony?

Mrs. J. H. Taylor, Center street, Northville, Mich., says: "I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. Some years ago I suffered from backache and pains across my kidneys, and at that time, I took Doan's Kidney Pills, procuring them from Murdock Bros. Drug Store. They lived up to the claims made for them, relieving the backache and other annoyances and helping me in every way. Another member of the family, who took Doan's Kidney Pills, also received great benefit."

The City in Brief.

Anyhow it is all over.

And beside, someone had to get licked.

Geo. Baker recently purchased a new Ford auto.

The Stanley Gott company of deer hunters report getting a deer the first day in camp.

Rev. J. W. Turner, former Methodist pastor here, has been re-appointed to Edgewood, Iowa by the late session of the upper Iowa Conference.

B. Freyd and family have moved to Mrs. Ida Joslin's house on Dunlap street. J. A. Paddock and family will occupy the Freyd house on Horton avenue.

Byron Thompson has just finished setting out twenty hard maple trees along the road leading to the new cemetery, greatly improving the looks of the drive.

H. F. Brown, a former Northville resident was taken suddenly ill at Flint on Friday evening of last week with a partial paralytic stroke. He has since nearly recovered.

Milt Burrows is putting up a cement wall on the property known as the "old Gorton farm" on the Fishery road. A house will be built on it in the spring by the present owner, E. H. Sadler of Detroit.

The members of the Northville High school were busy asking every one they met Saturday and in the evening as well, to buy a tag to aid in raising the necessary funds for a new piano for the High school.

The boys of the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian Sunday schools enjoyed a very pleasant evening in the rink Monday evening. Basket ball and all sorts of athletic stunts were indulged in, in short it was a regular "athletic carnival."

The many friends of Harold Turner will be pleased to hear that he has been promoted from a branch office of the United States express company at Lansing, to the main office, with an increase in salary. Harold has been making good.

The Northville Township Sunday school association will hold its semi-annual meeting Nov. 24. Program is now in preparation. There will be a Sunday afternoon meeting and a union service in the evening. Several Detroit speakers are to be present.

V. E. King has moved his family to Northville from St. Thomas, Ontario, he being employed in Detroit. Mrs. King underwent a very serious operation at her home Saturday morning. Dr. P. B. and Dr. B. Henry attending. She is doing as well as can be expected.

A letter was received by this office one day last week from Mrs. Margaret Wise of Lodi, enclosing money for a renewal of her subscription for the Record. Mrs. Wise is one of our oldest subscribers, her name being on the books when the paper was purchased by the present owner, twenty-five years ago.

To add to their other troubles Pontiac people have received notice from dealers that hereafter coal will be coal and nothing but cash at the time of the delivery will cause the rattles of the black diamonds in the long metal spout. Coal at $8 per didn't seem so bad when it didn't have to be paid for.

The local lodge of the Knights of Pythias are anticipating a big time on November 13, when they go to Harmonie hall in Detroit to witness the initiation of 200 candidates into the first rank. Grand lodge and three supreme officers will be present as well as twenty-eight different lodges. Every member is requested to be present. The next regular convention of the Northville order will be held Tuesday evening, November 12, when final preparations will be made for the following day.

The campaign chicken pie supper given in the rink last Friday evening by the ladies of the Baptist church was a great success both financially and otherwise. Those attending made up the largest crowd ever entertained at supper by any local society. No preparation had been made for such a large crowd and towards the latter part of the two hours there was a shortage of provisions. The tables were decorated in keeping with the occasion, though as regards decorations and point of attendance, the Taft table lead over the others by a great big lot. The band took supper at the Taft table and furnished the audience with some fine music. The proceeds were $60, $70 of which was clear.

W. E. Harrison and family have moved here from Plymouth. They are living in the Brigham house on Main street, formerly occupied by N. C. Schrader and family.

Miss Smith, a stenographer at the Simpson Scale and Electric company went to her home in Canton last week in poor health. Word was received here this week that she was threatened with typhoid fever.

Miss Johnson, one of our High school teachers, has been very ill this week and part of last. It was first feared that she was threatened with typhoid fever but is now greatly improved and no danger is anticipated.

A clothing pin social will be given at the Thayer school house one mile north of Power's station, next Friday eve, November 13. All girls attending must dress two clothes plus a doll, exactly alike and also prepare a lunch for "Dollie" to take to the social at which place one of the dolls must be sold; the buyer becoming the girl's partner at supper. Special care must be taken to dress the dolls alike in order to find your partner. The boys present, of course furnish the money. Those wishing to attend will please inform the teacher, Miss Ethel Lantry, who will endeavor to furnish conveyance to and from the school house to the car.

BORES ON RAILROAD TRAINS

Woman Complains of Talkative Fellow Travelers Who Insist on "Revealing Secrets."

It is strange how many people, when traveling, are so bored with their own society that they will talk to whatever stranger they can force to listen—yes, and tell their heart's secrets, too. Once, in the dressing room of a Pullman, a woman whom I have never seen from that day to this, told me with exact detail all about a recent scandal in her family which they had kept out of the papers only by the most strenuous effort. Yet for all she knew, I might have been a reporter and I must say I longed, to frighten her for her indiscretion by telling her that I was one.

Less serious confidences are frequent. "I've hardly a hair on my head that's my own," whispers the woman who has come over from the next section ostensibly to offer you a magazine, but really to hear herself talk. "These puffs cost $20—and altogether I've bought over $100 worth of braids and switches." Pleasant thoughts!

It is much more difficult to handle the cheerful, expansive woman traveler who has made up her mind to talk to one of her own sex and who is at heart a very good sort, but who merely happens to be a flighty bore, than it is to discourage the advances of the offensive traveling man, who, seeing a woman alone, feels that he can follow up his rude stares with conversation. Usually a curt monosyllabic answer or no answer at all will sufficiently crush him—but you cannot deal out that sort of treatment to your own sex.—Exchange.

TAUGHT EXPERTS A LESSON

Accident While Casting Cannon Resulted in Foundation of Present English Gun Factory.

We owe our present arsenal at Woolwich to an accident. The government had a gun foundry in Moorfields, where, upon one occasion, in the year 1716, a distinguished party were gathered together to witness the operation of casting a large cannon. A young foreigner, named Schlach, who seems to have been almost an entire stranger, but who was well acquainted with the details of casting, noticed that one of the molds had been insufficiently dried, and warned the molders against using it. They disregarded his advice and when he saw that he could not prevail upon them to desist, he immediately put himself well out of harm's way by firing the cannon was cast. A terrible explosion occurred, when the molten metal rushed into the wet mold, owing to the sudden generation of steam that could find no outlet, and several persons were killed and a large number injured.

It is said that search was made for the man whose predictions had been so painfully verified, and that the government employed him, to advise about the best mode of preventing such accidents in future. The result was that Moorfields was given up as an site of a gun foundry altogether, and upon his advice the establishment was removed to the Warren at Woolwich—London Times.

"This Is Your Show."

The late Sir George White, defender of Lady Smith, was a strong enough man to take responsibility for failure; he was a strong enough man, too, to give credit to his subordinates for good work done. The first time I saw him was at Bloomsbury. The battle was well in progress. General French was elaborating one of the most brilliant affairs of the South African war. Late in the afternoon Sir George White and his staff rode on the battlefield, and had not been there five minutes before a shell fired from one of the Maxim Nordenfets which the Boers captured from Jameson at the time of the raid, but which were destined by nightfall to be in our hands, plowed up the ground within a few yards of his horse. Almost simultaneously French hurried up and drew rein before the chief to surrender command. "No you carry on," said Sir George, "this is your show."—London Daily News.

Consolation.

The deaf man may yet console himself that his ears serve many purposes, including the supporting of his spectacles and pencil.

A Debt Recognized.

Man—No. I just dropped in to ask you if you weren't discouraged, that's all.

Chivalrous in Face of Misfortune.
At a mass meeting recently in a nearby town an old and foremost citizen who clings to the sartorial style of years ago, was called upon for his views on the subject in discussion. He made a brief speech, and as he was compelled to hurry back to his office, he turned to the seat next to him, on which he had deposited his silk hat, just in time to see a woman flatten it completely by sitting on it.

Ever polite, his feelings were nevertheless stirred, and the best he could think of to say under the circumstances was:
"I—I hope you have not injured yourself, madam."—Kansas City Star.

Accepts the Rebuke.
A resident of an English city has made himself a marked man by insisting on saying "ought" instead of "O" when he calls a telephone number having figures in it. The telephone operator usually corrects him when he says "three double ought" by saying "Three double O." The other night he called up central and said, "Hello," and the girl replied: "Toll ought." He accepted meekly the "quiet rebuke"—Springfield Republican.

VERY LOUD SOMETIMES.

Tom—Is that helress a good conversationalist?
Dick—My boy, money always talks.

"BROOD AND GLAD"
Because Mother Looked So Well After Quitting Coffee.

An Ohio woman was almost distracted with coffee dyspepsia and heart trouble.

Like thousands of others, the drug—coffee—in coffee was slowly but steadily undermining her nervous system and interfering with natural digestion of food. (Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the poisonous drug, found in coffee.)

"For 30 years," she writes, "I have used coffee. Have always been sickly—had heart trouble and dyspepsia with ulcers in stomach and mouth so bad, sometimes, I was almost distracted and could hardly eat a thing for a week."

"I could not sleep for nervousness, and when I would lie down at night I'd belch up coffee and my heart would trouble me. It was like poison to me. I was thin—only weighed 125 lbs., when I quit coffee and began to use Postum."

"From the first day that belching and burning in my stomach stopped, I could sleep as soundly as anyone and, after the first month, whenever I met any friends they would ask me what was making me so fleshy and looking so well."

"Sometimes, before I could answer, quick enough, one of the children or my husband would say, 'Why, that is what Postum is doing for her—they were all so proud and glad.'"

"When I recommend it to anyone I always tell them to follow directions in making Postum, as it is not good to taste if weak, but fine when it has the flavor and rich brown color." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

STUDY IN DETROIT

THE CITY OF COLLEGES WHERE LIFE IS WORTH LIVING.

There was never a time in the world's history when the demand for educated men and women was so great as now; when there are plentiful opportunities for those whose training has fitted them to shoulder responsibility. This is a natural outgrowth of the modern trend in all lines, where specialization is the order of the day. Select any line you like and you will find in Detroit abundant facilities for your training. And with these, select schools fitting you to take your place in social circles. Education, deportment, elocution, languages—all have their exponents and large following. Classes are available at all hours of both day and evening, thus confining different schools to a combined. Further information can be secured by writing direct to addresses given.

Musical study in Detroit is not only increasing yearly, but the quality is also rising. Musicians who have prepared their education in Detroit are taking rank with any in the world. Every year bringing press stories of some of them becoming famous. Art schools are also ranking high in their work and amongst the leading conservatories and art academies are:

DETROIT COLLEGE OF MUSIC occupies a beautiful building most centrally located at 65 Forest ave. east. Its pupils include representatives of widely separated sections of this country and Canada. Louise Ungworth-Cragg, director and head of piano department has studied both here and abroad. She is a teacher of the most advanced methods and is a widely known concert pianist.

Charles C. Cragg has been a leading soloist and director for many years. As an instructor in singing he enjoys a splendid reputation. The course of public school music and drawing is under Miss May E. Starr. Her pupils are always in demand and readily secure positions. The college grants diplomas and teachers' certificates.

McDONALD SCHOOL OF MUSIC is now permanently located at 573 Cass avenue, occupying their own large handsome building. The school was founded in 1909 by Miss Kate McDonald pianist, Charlotte McDonald violinist, Emma McDonald, cellist, and the success of the school is due largely to the grading and examination originated by Miss McDonald.

Mr. Francis A. Mahew head of the piano department has sustained here the enviable reputation as a concert pianist, which he enjoyed in Europe. He is a forceful, enthusiastic teacher, with a keen musical knowledge. The school work embraces every branch, with an exceptionally strong normal training course.

Branches: 1341 Grand River avenue, 1651 Woodward avenue, 241 St. Clair avenue, 416 Vinewood avenue.

THE DETROIT SCHOOL OF DESIGN was founded and organized through the efforts of the Detroit Society of Arts and Crafts by a number of Detroit's foremost citizens in the business and professional world. Its purpose being to develop students with that capacity for directly making use of their training in organized industry where an art education is becoming more respected and more in demand. Courses of instruction are given in design, drawing and modeling, after which when a facility of expression is acquired, the student may specialize in interior decoration, illustration, architecture, wood carving, painting and normal art. With these lectures will be given on anatomy, illustration processes, chemistry of pigments, Theory of Design and Color, and history of art. The Museum of Art is located within a block and is open to students for study.

A limited number of scholarships are available and these will be assigned to pupils who by diligence and merit prove themselves worthy.

The school is under direction of Geo. T. Hamilton, late of Philadelphia, who he is widely known as an instructor of high standing.

SCHOOL OF FINE ARTS begins its third year under the management of John P. Wicker and offers its students the advantages of the best schools, large well lighted class rooms, good models, many of them professional from New York and other art centers; complete academy courses along most advanced lines, and class schedules covering training of children under Frederick R. Thompson, illustration under Joseph L. Kraemer, and drawing and painting with composition under Mr. Wicker. Located Fine Arts Building.

PARIS SCHOOL OF FRENCH is the only successful school of its kind ever established in Detroit. It was founded over six years ago and is now enjoying a very prosperous business, having nearly 100 pupils enrolled last year. Mr. B. E. De Montigny-Gingras with Madame B. E. De Montigny-Gingras are superintendents of this school in Fine Arts Bldg.

Some of the finest instructors of music maintain their own studios, and claim that while diplomas are not issued, pupils may obtain more thorough and higher training, which is being constantly proven by results. Pupils so desiring may select their own teacher with hours to suit, thus securing the highest talent. The following brief notes are for your help.

HOMER WISEMAN announces eight partial scholarships to talented pupils, again this year. Some of the greatest names have been given to music through scholarships of this nature. The earnest pupil who has received these advantages is most likely to prove in turn most helpful in the developing of art.

For nearly fifteen years Mr. Wiseman has been recognized as one of Detroit's most prominent vocal teachers, and many of his pupils are well known as professional singers and teachers. He is director of Detroit Gratiot-Society which has prospered with enormous success in many concerts. Studio: 108 Broadway.

CLYDE A. NICHOLS has taught in Detroit for past ten years. During this short period he has produced many excellent singers and a few remarkable soloists, whose training and voices enabled them to step to the front rank of concert and operatic work. The most recent is Mrs. Ray Ruddy, understudy to Marguerite Sylva, in Lehár's new opera, "Gypsy Love." Mr. Nichols is pupil of Geo. Hamilton, tenor Chicago Grand Opera. Studio 270 Woodward.

JENNIE M. STODDARD has long been recognized as one of Detroit's foremost teachers of singing. Miss Stoddard directs the Tuesday Musical Chorus. (The Chambrade Quartet of which she is also a member, and the Northwestern Choral Club. Studio, Valpey Building, 213 Woodward avenue.

ELVIN SINGER has an international standing as a successful vocal teacher. A native of Vienna, he studied under Lamperti of Milan and Strigilla of Paris.

His singing is beautiful and artistically correct—thus the pupil may learn by imitation, a most potent factor of success. Mr. Singer was first to present "Puccini's Madam Butterfly" and Liza Lehmann's "Nonsense Songs" in America.

MR. AND MRS. MARSHALL PEASE. Mr. Pease has been in Detroit for twenty years, the last two having been with the Detroit Conservatory. Many of his pupils are holding prominent positions as church, concert and operatic singers. Out of town pupils can secure his instruction without enrolling through the Conservatory. He is assisted by Mrs. Pease.

KATHERINE MAREE REYNOLDS has a high soprano voice of melodious quality and very sympathetic timbre. She puts into her work hard study and earnest desire for attaining the best and giving the highest service, which brings rare results. Teaches singing, voice culture, accompanying, sight singing harmony, history of music, choir conducting. Studio 48 Calvert.

ALLICE MAY HARRAH is especially successful in the training of vocal students in French, German, Italian, Spanish, Scotch as well as English for concert, opera and oratorio. Her pronunciation being perfect. She is a pupil of Wm. Couttrey, New York, Paul Pecquery and G. Strigilla, Paris and N. Frahnke, Dresden. Studio, 213 Woodward.

A. A. LANGLOIS with studio at 270 Woodward is a singer of ability and a teacher of much experience. Many singers owe their professional career to his efficient and conscientious teaching. Students under his tuition will be guided aright. Mr. Langlois is in his Detroit studio Monday and Thursday.

CLARA KOEHLER HERBERLEIN daughter of the late famous critic, composer, and pedagogue, Louis Koehler, and exponent of his methods of teaching, is well known as a teacher, lecturer, and pianist her work having long since established for her a high reputation both here and abroad.

She is director of the Chamber Music Society of Detroit, prominent in the Detroit Symphony Orchestra as conductor of the Orchestra, and leader of piano ensemble chamber studios at Hancock, 15 and Grand, Detroit.

MISS FRANCIS M. CROSSETTE who has piano studio in the Gladwin Bldg. 710 Woodward, has but recently returned from Paris where she studied four years with the celebrated teacher, Wager Swayne. Several years previous to her study she taught in the Detroit Conservatory under directorship of the late J. H. Wicker.

MRS. ROBINA TURNBULL has an enviable reputation as teacher of piano, many prominent teachers and concert players having had their training with her. As a teacher of harmony she is very proficient making that study part of every student's work. Miss Turnbull is regarded as a leading instructor and her studio following is large. Studio 270 Woodward.

EDWARD O'CONNOR the well known composer and teacher will open a new studio in Van Housen Bldg. 106 Broadway, where he will teach piano and harmony. Mr. O'Connor is one of the best known younger teachers, and his clientele is growing yearly. He has recently completed writing a mass which will be produced early this fall.

ELIZABETH THORPE has studios both in Pontiac and the Gladwin Bldg. Detroit. Miss Thorpe is an accomplished pianist and accompanist, and her piano and organ students show most conscientious training. She is a pupil of Alberto Jonas Berlin, of Frau Breesch Leschetzky in Vienna and Wager Swayne in Paris. She endorses Leschetzky method.

MISS ADAH HEMENWAY has been a successful teacher of the piano for several years. Miss Hemenway is a student of the late J. H. Wicker and P. L. York. Residence 71 Mt. Vernon ave. Studio 43 Valpey Bldg and 213 Woodward.

MISS LOUISE DAVISON whose violin studio is located in the Grainger-Hannan Building at 240 Woodward ave. is an excellent violinist and recognized as one of Detroit's most successful teachers of this instrument. Miss Davison is well remembered as a member of the Beethoven Trio, a widely known and appreciated organization.

In dramatic art and elocution you will find given below notes on some of the oldest and finest schools in the country.

THE R. F. HILL SCHOOL OF DRAMATIC ARTS. After several years on the professional stage with Vaughan-Glaser Stock Co. and several road plays Mr. Hill has opened a school for preparing of pupils for the professional stage. Mr. Hill gives his pupils real professional training such as is received only by starting at the bottom and working up.

E. B. R. SCHOOL OF ACTING occupies the most prominent spot in Detroit, being in the Detroit Opera house block. Large, well-equipped stage and auditorium, are among attractions, giving pupils every opportunity for actual professional experience.

The school was founded 17 years ago by Emma Burrows Rayler, and was a success from the beginning. They teach stage rehearsals, elocution, vaudeville, make-up, dancing, fencing and language.

Pupils upon the stage and Lyceum platform are holding responsible positions. Miss Rayler is accurate and untiring in her efforts.

DETROIT SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION was established in 1888 and has been successful from the first. Its graduates are in many states and Canada. The location is 1151 Jefferson and under the direction of Mrs. Mildred A. Holt. The school maintains a high standard of excellence in all branches. Elocution, diction, philosophy, vocal and physical culture, etc., taught by the most thorough and best methods obtainable.

MRS. EDNA CHAFFEE NOBLE will open the 36th year of the Detroit School of Elocution and English Literature in Chaffee Hall 780 Woodward. This is the oldest school of expression under the original director, and its graduates are occupying prominent positions in schools, colleges and on the Lyceum platform.

Detroit's medical colleges are of the highest—particularly in the Chiropractic class. The following being the most thorough and reliable scapable.

ROSS COLLEGE OF CHIROPRACTIC is the largest and foremost institution of its kind in the world. The large building at 1245 Woodward ave. is used exclusively for school purposes. Its magnificence and equipment must be seen to be appreciated. N. C. Ross D. C., formerly of Grand Rapids, former director, educator, and lecturer on the science and philosophy of Chiropractic and of whom about 90 per cent of Michigan's Chiropractic practitioners received their instruction, personally supervises this college. The curriculum includes anatomy, physiology, neurology, osteology, symptomatology, embryology, histology, art, science and philosophy of chiropractic, clinical demonstrations, etc.

DETROIT CHIROPRACTIC INST. Incorporated, located at 885 Trumbull ave. is Detroit's first Chiropractic school. The Port Huron & Northern Railway Co. has applied for an injunction to prevent the proposed erection in Lexington, on the grating of a franchise to David Oppenheim, of Detroit, who proposes to build a line from Lexington to Rome.

Clever Idea of Collector.
Here is a rare specimen of business humor, received the other day by a London firm. It ran:

"Our cashier fell unconscious at his desk this morning. Up to this time, four p. m., we have been unable to get a word out of him except your names. May we say to him, with a view to his immediate recovery, that we have your check, as we think that is what is on his mind?"

DANDRUFF COVERED SCALP

5002 Cass St., St. Louis, Mo.—"For five years I suffered with itching of my body and scalp. My trouble began with a rash on my lower limbs which was very annoying, and my scalp was literally covered with dandruff. My hair used to come out by the handfuls and the itching of my body and scalp was terrible. I had used almost all the skin remedies on the market with no results, when I wrote for a little Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it gave me instant relief. Within one month's use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I was entirely cured. I cannot discover one strand of my hair coming out and I have not lost a minute of sleep since using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which entirely cured me of itching of my body and scalp in its worst form. I also find the Cuticura Soap a benefit in shaving." (Signed) Charles Judlin, Dec. 8, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

Too Much of a Good Thing.
"I was very happy," said the professor, "when, after years of wooing, she finally said 'Yes.'"
"But why did you break the engagement so soon after?" asked his friend.

"Man," it was she that dissolved it."
"Really?" said the friend: "How did that happen?"

"It was due to my accursed absent-mindedness. When, a few days later, I called at her home, I again asked her to marry me."—Youth's Companion.

A CLERGYMAN'S TESTIMONY.

The Rev. Edmund Heslop of Wigton, Pa., suffered from Dropsy for a year. His limbs and feet were swollen and puffed. He had heart fluttering, was dizzy and exhausted at the least exertion. Hands and feet were cold and he had such a dragging sensation across the loins that it was difficult to move.

After using 5 boxes of Dodds Kidney Pills the swelling disappeared and he felt himself again. He says he has been benefited and blessed by the use of Dodds Kidney Pills. Several months later he wrote: I have not changed my faith in your remedy since the above statement was authorized. Correspond with Rev. E. Heslop about this wonderful remedy.

ARMAGEDDON OF THE SCRIPTURES

Startling Presentation of Coming Events.

PASTOR RUSSELL'S VIEWS.

Churches of All Denominations and the Civil Powers of Earth Are About to Unite in Common Cause—Powerful Influence Preparing For the Battle of Armageddon—A Reign of Anarchy Will Be the Result of the Warfare Until The Messiah Takes Control.

Brooklyn, N. Y. Nov. 3.—The Brooklyn Academy of Music was crowded to the top today to hear Pastor Russell's discourse on the "Battle of Armageddon." His text was: "Be gathered together, ye Jews, together will ye be placed called in the Hebrew tongue 'Armageddon' (Revelation xvi. 16.)"

The speaker said Armageddon in the Hebrew signifies the "Bill of Megiddo," or Mount of Destruction. It was famous as a battle field in Old Testament times. The Lord has seen fit to associate the name Armageddon with the great controversy between Truth and Error, right and wrong, God and Mammon, with which this age will close, perishing and the New Age of Messiah's glory be ushered in. He has purposely used highly symbolical figures of speech in the last book of the Bible, evidently with a view to hiding certain important truths until the due time for their revelation. But even in the due time, the Bible assures us, "None of the wicked shall understand" (Daniel xii. 10),—none who are out of heart harmony with God—but only the wise of His people—the "wise virgin" class of the Master's parable.

I have long avoided presentation of my understanding of our text and its context. I take it up now by request, and because I believe it is due time to be understood. I discern many special inspirations in some particulars my views agree with those of other Bible students, and in other respects they disagree. Each hearer must use his own judgment, do his own Bible study, and reach his own conclusions.

Kindly remember that I am not responsible for the figures of speech used by the Lord. My interpretations do in deed constitute a terrible arraignment of institutions which we have all revered and which embrace good people, of good words and good works. God's saints people in these various institutions, being comparatively few, are ignored when systems as a whole are dealt with in prophecy.

The Dragon, Beast, False Prophet.

Our context tells us that three false spirits (teachings) will go forth from the mouths of the Dragon, the Beast and the False Prophet, and these will be in accord and symbolical of the doctrines represented by "frogs." These three doctrines are to have a mighty influence throughout the civilized world. They are to gather the kings and their armies to the great Battle of Armageddon.

The ecclesiastical kings and princes and their retainers of clergy and faithful adherents, will be gathered in soul pangs—Protestant and Catholic. The kings and emperors of industry, and as many as can be influenced by them, will be gathered to the same side. The political kings and princes with all their benchmen and retainers will follow in line on the same side. The financial kings and merchant princes, and all whom they can influence by the most gigantic power ever yet exercised in the world will join the same side, according to this prophecy.

These "doctrines of demons," represented by the "frogs," will lead many noble people in this great army to assume an attitude quite contrary to their preference. For a time the wheels of liberty and progress will be turned backward and medieval restraints will be considered necessary for self-preservation—for the maintenance of the present order of things.

In giving this interpretation it is necessary for us to indicate what is symbolized by the Dragon, the Beast, and the False Prophet. Bible students of nearly all denominations agree with us that the "Dragon" of Revelation represents the purely Civil Power. Protestant interpreters generally agree that the "Beast" like a leopard (Revelation xii. 3) represents the Papacy. But few still, we fear, will be ready to supply our view that Protestantism is the "Image of the Beast" (Revelation xiii. 15) in our context given another name,—"be False Prophet." We are no one to accept our interpretation nor shall we think hard of any who refuse it. We will neither stand nor otherwise injure them now, nor threaten them with eternal torture. They have the same right to their views that I have; and the same right to make them known to others. And I, for one, will be very glad to consider anything which opponents may set forth as their interpretations of our text.

"Unclean Spirits Like Frogs."

The symbolisms of Scripture, rightly understood, are always forcible. When the Holy Spirit used a "frog" to symbolically represent certain doctrines or teachings, we may be sure the true application will fit well. A frog has a sage look, a wise look. It swells itself up in an apparent endeavor to impress the beholder. Its great mouth well represents its chief power, used to croak.

Applying these symbols, we learn that an evil spirit, influence, teaching, will come from the Protestant churches federated; from the Church of Rome, and from the Civil authorities, all in full agreement. The spirit of all will be boastful; an air of superior wisdom and knowledge will be proudly assumed; all will speak in harmony. All will tell of dire results that would follow, involving the interests of both the present and the future life. If their counsel be not followed, however conflicting the creeds, the differences will be ignored in the general proposition that nothing ancient must be disturbed, or looked into, or repudiated.

The Divine authority of the Church and the Divine right of kings, aside from the Church, will not be allowed to conflict. Any persons or teachings in conflict with these boastful and unscriptural claims will be branded as everything vile, at the mouths of these "frogs," speaking from pulpits and platforms and through the religious and secular press. The nobler sentiments of some will be strangled by the philosophy of the same evil spirit which spoke through Camphus, the high priest, respecting Jesus. As Camphus declared it expedient to commit a crime in violation of justice, human and Divine, to be rid of Jesus and His teachings, so this "frog" spirit will approve of every violation of principle necessary to their self-protection.

The croaking of these "frog" spirits or doctrines will gather the kings and princes, financial, political, religious and industrial into one great army. The spirit of fear, inspired by the croakings of these "frogs," will scourge the passions of otherwise good and reasonable men to fury, desperation in their blind following of these evil spirits, evil doctrines, they will be ready to sacrifice life and everything on the altar of what they mistakenly suppose is justice, truth and righteousness, under a Divine arrangement.

For a brief time, as we understand the Scriptures, these combined forces of Armageddon will triumph. Free speech, free mails, and other liberties which have come to be the very breath of the masses in our day, will be ruthlessly shut off under the plea of necessity, the glory of God, the commands of the Church, etc. All will seem to be serene, until the great social explosion in our context described as the "great earthquake." An earthquake, in symbolic language, signifies social revolution, and the declaration of the context is that none like unto it ever before occurred. (Revelation xvi. 18, 19.) Jesus described it as a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation. Matthew xxiv. 21.

The Lord Will Gather Them.

"The false frog-like teachings" will gather together into one host the great, the rich, the wise, the learned and the kings of the earth to battle. At this juncture Divine Power will step forward, and our text tells us that He shall gather the unsanctified hosts to Armageddon—to the Mountain of the Lord. The very thing which they sought to avoid by their union (Jezebel, etc., will be the very thing they will hasten to. Other Scriptures tell us that God will be represented by the Great Messiah and that He will be on the side of the masses. Thus we read in Daniel xii. 1. At that time shall Michael (the Good One—Messiah) stand up—assume authority. He will take possession of His Kingdom in a manner little looked for by many of those who arrogantly have been claiming that they were His Kingdom and authorized by Him to reign in His name and in His stead.

Jesus declared, "My servants are unto whom ye render service." Some may be rendering service to Satan and to error, who claim to be rendering service to God and to righteousness; and some of these may be serving, ignorantly, as said Paul of Tarsus, who "verily thought that he did God a service" in persecuting the Church. The same principle holds true reverently. As an earthly king does not hold himself responsible for the moral character of each soldier who fights in his battles, so the Lord does not concern for the moral character of all who will enlist and fight on His side of any question. "His servants they are to whom they render service," whatever the motive or object prompting them.

The same principles will apply in the coming Battle of Armageddon. God's side of that battle will be the people's side, and the very nondescript host, the people, will be pitted at the beginning of the battle. Anarchists, Socialists, and non-headed radicals of every school of reason and unreason, will be in the forefront of that battle. The majority of the poor and the middle class prefer peace at almost any price. A comparatively small number, God's consecrated people, will at heart be longing for Messiah's Kingdom. These will bide the Lord's time and wait patiently for it: they will be of good courage, knowing the outcome outlined in the "more sure word of prophecy," to which they have done well to take heed, "as unto a light shining in a dark place until the Day dawn"—1 Peter i. 19.

The masses will be restless of their restraints, but will be conscious of their own weakness as compared to the kings and princes, financial, religious and political, which will then hold sway. Besides, the masses have no sympathy with anarchy. They realize that the worst form of government is better than none. The masses will seek relief through the ballot and peaceful readjustment of earth's affairs for the elimination of evil, for the placing of monopolies and utilities and the supplies of nature in the hands of the people for the public good. The crisis will be reached when the hitherto upholders of law shall become violators of the law and resistors of the will of the majority as expressed by the ballot. Fear for the future will lead the well-meaning masses to desperation; and anarchy will result when Socialism fails.

The Cloud's Silver Lining.

Horrible would be this outlook for the future did we not have the infallible Word of God assuring us of a glorious outcome! Divine Wisdom has withheld until our day the great knowledge and skill which is at the same time breeding millionaires and discontents. Had God lifted the veil a thousand years sooner, the world would have lined up for its Armageddon a thousand years sooner. But that would have been too soon for the Divine purpose, because Messiah's Kingdom is to be the great Thousand-Year-Sabbath of the world's history. God in kindness veiled our eyes until the time when the gathering to Armageddon would immediately precede Messiah's tabernacle to Himself. His great power, and beginning His reign.—Revelation xi. 17, 18.

"Send Them Strong Delusions."

St. Paul wrote prophetically of our time, that it would be one of serious trial and testing to many professing to be Christians. The reason for this he states—they received not the Truth in the love of it. (1 Thessalonians ii. 10, 11.) They preferred their own erroneous theories, the Apostle explains, and therefore God will give them over to a "strong delusion," and let them believe the lie which they preferred, and let them suffer for missing the Truth which they did not love. Thus they will be in the condemned host, "fighting against God," because of their lack of love for the Truth.

It is said to say that we all as Christians have been laboring under a thorough delusion respecting God's Plan. We have imagined that Christ set up His Church in Kingdom power, and that the Church has been reigning on the earth as His representative. On the strength of this delusion, Jews and heretics have been persecuted to death as opponents to Christ's Kingdom. All the while we thoughtlessly repeated the Lord's prayer: "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth, as in Heaven." We knew that the Redeemer said that He would come again to make us His bride and joint heirs; but we ignored the Scriptures. We were drunk, as the Scriptures symbolically say, "all nations were drunk" with the false doctrine. It is this false doctrine that will constitute the "Frog" spirit which soon will begin to croak and to prepare for Armageddon.

The Bible presentation is that the world is a section of the universe in rebellion against Divine authority, under the captivity of Satan and his associated fallen angels. By Divine grace Jesus has already "tasted death for every man," and the merit of that sacrifice must, eventually, grant Adam and his posterity a full, fair opportunity for the attainment of everlasting life. All who thus see the Divine program and are walking in the light may know something at least respecting the "times and seasons." These brethren "are not in darkness" that that day (and that battle of Armageddon) should overtake them "as a thief"—an awayer.

Armageddon Not Yet at Hand.

For forty years the Armageddon forces have been mustering for both sides of the conflict. Strikes, lockouts and riots, great and small, have been merely incidental skirmishes as the belligerent parties crossed each other's paths. Court and Army scandals in Europe, Insurance Trust and Court scandals in America, have shaken public confidence. Dynamite plots, charged by tuns on employees and on employers, have further shaken confidence and tended to make such distrustful of the other. Bitter and angry feelings on both sides are more and more manifest. The lines of battle are daily becoming more distinctly marked. Nevertheless Armageddon cannot yet be fought. Other matters intervene, according to prophecy.

Gentle times have still two years to run. The "Image of the Beast" of our context must yet receive life-power. The image must be transformed from a mere mechanism to a living force. Protestant Federation realizes that its organization will still be futile unless it receive vivification—unless its clergy directly or indirectly shall be recognized as possessed of apostolic ordination and authority to teach. This prophecy indicates will come from the two horned beast, which, we believe, symbolically represents the Church of England. High-handed activities of Protestantism and Catholicism operating in conjunction for the suppression of human liberties, await this vivifying of the image. This may come soon but Armageddon cannot precede it, but must follow—perhaps a year after it, according to our view of the Prophecy.

Still another thing intervenes: Although the Jews are gradually flowing into Palestine, gradually obtaining control of the land of Canaan, and although reports say that already nine million Jews are there, nevertheless a larger number of wealthy Hebrews to be there before the Armageddon crisis be reached. Indeed we understand that "Jacob's trouble" in the Holy Land will come at the very close of Armageddon. Then Messiah's Kingdom will begin to be manifested. Thenceforth Israel in the land of promise will gradually rise from the ashes of the past to the grandeur of prophecy. Through its Divinely appointed prince Messiah's Kingdom, all-powerful but invisible, will begin to roll away the curse and to lift up mankind.
