SAYS HE IS A TAXPAYER.

To the Northville Record.
There has been set afloat by those opposed to me, a statement that I am not a taxpayer. The facts are Mr. Lanning, who admits he made the statement, and afterwards said he was sorry, for it was not true, has been in a position to know the exact facts in the case. Mr. Lanning knows, for he has taken my assessments, that he has invariably assessed me the full face value of the mortgages held by me, as reported from the register's office as required by law.

The state legislature of 1911 enacted a law that requires that one-half of one per cent tax be paid at the register's office when the mortgage is recorded, and that a tax of same per centage can be paid on all sums remaining unpaid. I have complied with the law and paid my tax at the register's office.

I make this statement for the reason that the statement as first made is still being circulated.

N. A. CLAPP.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE, MEETING THIS EVENING.

Mr. Garwood is reported on bills as being from New York, which information was a mistake. As stated earlier Mrs. Fitzgerald of Boston will also speak. The public is cordially invited to store up any questions in regard to the suffrage issue and have it answered by the speaker; especially ask Mr. Garwood about conditions in Colorado, where women have voted for twenty years.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET STRONG

NEVER HAD A BETTER OR MORE
PROGRESSIVE LIST OF NOM-INEES.

Supreme Court Judges Come in for a Splendid Endorsement.

The Republican state central committee have launched an energetic campaign of advertising the merits of the candidates on the state ticket. Spring campaigns differ from the noisier fall campaign largely because of the character of the offices affected, the supreme justices and the state's educational officers being chosen in the spring, and a plain presentation of the abilities, high standing and expert qualifications of the candidates are the principle motives in the campaign.

"Every candidate on the Republican state ticket this spring is peculiarly fitted by experience and native ability for the place to which he was nominated," said Chairman Grosbeck. "The two candidates for the supreme bench, who head the ticket, are men whose judicial experience runs back for more than a quarter of a century and their records are a source of pride to the party which has named them for reelection."

"Luther Wright, superintendent of public instruction, and Fred Cody principle of the McMillan high school of Detroit, who is the candidate for member of the state board of education, both are educators whose experience of the past 20 years more than fits them for the places to which they have been named."

"Robert J. Graham and A. J. Doherty, the candidates for the state board of agriculture, are both ranked as experts in agricultural matters and have won high commendation for their work on the board up to this time. Dr. Sawyer of Hillsdale and Victor Gorn of Newton Harbor, candidates for regent of the university, both are graduates of the U. of M., of high standing in their professions and qualified in every way for the regency."

Frank Rogers, a civil engineer and for many years a road builder, now is deputy highway commissioner and is the expert whom the Republican party has named for promotion to the highway commissionership. Made up as it is, the ticket has won high praise throughout the entire state, and the state central committee hears constantly from men of prominence, telling of their support of the five-ticket. Practically all of those who write to Chairman Grosbeck pay especial attention to the candidates for the supreme bench and their great records in the judiciary of the state.

Mrs. Charles Bloom is the only child. The funeral was held from the home yesterday (Thursday) afternoon, Rev. Mr. Pierce officiating and the interment was in Rural Hill cemetery.

CHARLES SEATON DIED MONDAY
Charles Seaton, a resident of this village for many years died at St. Mary's hospital Monday after an illness of but 24 hours.

With his dying breath at the hospital he protested his innocence of the crime for which he was being held for trial.
The remains were brought to Schrader's undertaking rooms here Tuesday and the burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

SURVIVORS TELL OF FLOOD THRILLS

Lecturer Saw 28 Bodies Recovered at Delaware, O.

MEANEST MAN A BOAT OWNER

College Girls Relate Death Scenes and Heroic Rescue Work by the Students—Stories of Other Refugees.

Chicago—Thrilling stories of the flooded districts in Ohio were told by Rev. E. C. O'Neal, who returned to this city from a lecture tour. He saw rescuers take 28 bodies from the river at Delaware, O.

"All of the small towns along the river have been swept away," he said. "The greatest problem is food. The victims are starving and freezing to death. Those who are able to work are making every effort to rescue and help others. There is no communication between towns."

"When at Delaware I saw college students make many thrilling rescues by swimming out into the swift current and swimming back with a flood victim. One young man swam out and rescued 30 persons in one day. He was the bravest fellow I ever saw."

Women and Children Afloat.
"I saw a house with one woman and three children clinging to the roof floating down the stream. The house was whirling and bobbing up and down in the water. The woman was screaming for help. Persons on the edge of the flood and a small boat, but they could not row fast enough to catch up with the house."

"The house here down on the Pennsylvania railroad bridge and crashed against it. The mother caught the bridge and went down. The children went down, but came up again near a tree. The eldest child helped the other two and help on to the tree. The boat put out and rescued all of them. A few minutes later a house with a man about 75 years and his wife floated down the stream. The woman was lying on the roof. The old man was holding her. Suddenly the house struck a tree and the back chimney fell off. Then we saw the old man lift his wife in his arms and carry her to the chimney hole in the roof and let her down into it. When the rescuers put out in a boat and caught up with the house, one of the rescuers inquired of the woman."

"She is dead," said the old man. "She died two hours ago, and I was afraid to let her go on the roof because the water would carry her away."

Sees Man and Woman Drown

"I saw another house with a man and woman clinging to the chimney to keep from falling off. The house struck a tree and the chimney crumbled. Both went down before the boat reached them and we never saw them again. These are only a few instances of the terrible things seen in the flooded district."

Farmer Demands His Boat

"Although the minister could rescue but two persons at a time he was doing noble work. Many persons were swept away before the boat could reach them. Late in the afternoon the farmer came to the store and announced he wanted the boat. He declared he would take the boat by force. He said he wanted the boat to go across the river and attend to some business."

The minister refused to give up the boat, but offered to row the farmer across the dangerous river, if he could keep the boat. The farmer grudgingly assented, and a newspaper man from Marion and the minister rowed him across. It was the first attempt to take the boat across the swift river and was extremely dangerous.

"The preacher declared he would take any risk in order to keep the boat. They landed the farmer across the river with much difficulty. They started back and when in the middle of the stream the boat capsized, and both went down. With the boat hundreds of persons could have been rescued."

Bread Famine at Delaware

"The victims need food more than anything else. There is a bread famine at Delaware. To show they were willing to do anything to help the sufferers more than 100 students at Wesleyan college volunteered to leave the city so there would be 100 less to feed."

How to Paint a Tin Roof

In painting a new tin roof, clean all rust and acid off with coal oil wash with strong soda water; add rust with clear, clean water. Treated in this manner, the paint will not scale off and leave the tin exposed."

First Power House

The first electric power house, in this country consisted of a small "chick" at Appleton, Wis., having a generator driven by a water wheel.

feed. The students departed at night for their homes in different parts of the country.

"At Celina I saw the same suffering. The town was under ten feet of water. I saw them take ten bodies from the water at Massillon, O. Prospect, O., is under 14 feet of water, and the river at that point is four miles wide. I saw them take more than a dozen bodies from the water."

"The reports of the dead have not been sent in from these small towns and the country will be appalled when the full number is known. From what I saw I do not think the reports have been exaggerated."

"Piqua and Fostoria are under water, and many people are drowned. The nearest I could get to Dayton was Piqua. Most of the town was under water. It was impossible to get to Dayton."

Co-Eds Tell of Horrors

Four weary young women, co-eds from Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, O., climbed from a Pullman on a delayed Lake Shore train in the La Salle street station. They were the first arrivals in Chicago from the actual scenes of death and desolation attending the floods throughout central Ohio.

"Bargor," questioned by newspaper men, the young women talked freely of their experiences, and painted graphic word pictures of the horrors of the inundation of a large part of Delaware.

They were Miss Florence Wyman of 3633 Sheffield avenue, student in general work and instructor in the art school of the university; Edith, and Esther Quayle of 233 North Harvey street, Oak Park; and Mabel Lees of 325 Elmwood avenue, Oak Park.

Fear Horror to Follow

Miss Wyman, who had chaperoned the party on the trip, was the spokesman, but the other girls broke in from time to time with eager ejaculations to emphasize the horror of the tale she told.

"This thought that is uppermost in my mind," said Miss Wyman, "is not so much of the horror that has passed as of the greater horror that must inevitably come to those poor people in Delaware and elsewhere throughout the flooded district. There are some dead bodies still in the houses at Delaware, and thousands elsewhere in Ohio, and it is staggering to the imagination to attempt to compute up the pictures of desolation, famine and pestilence that will follow the recession of the waters."

"The flood itself was like a horrible nightmare. The water crept up slowly, but oh, so steadily and relentlessly. First it was six inches deep in some of the lower streets, then a foot deep and at last it had covered all the lower part of town and was lapping at the feet of the hills while the houses in the flooded portion stood many of them, with only the upper floors and roofs visible."

Hear Prayers for Safety

"And on nearly every house there was a family or what was left of the family, clinging to the ridgepoles and chimneys and praying for deliverance. The water crept up the highest hill in town and we were not affected by the flood itself. But all night, that first night, the 100 girls in Monmouth hall, our dormitory, walked the floor and wept and prayed as the walls of the unfortunate only a few blocks away were borne to their ears. Closed windows could not keep out the sound. Now and then a woman shrieked above the general lamentations, and we knew when that sound reached us that some one had seen a loved relative, an aged father or mother, or perhaps a child, lose the grip of numbed fingers and slide off into the black, chill waters."

"Throughout the night the men students and members of the faculty did what they could to rescue the sufferers, but we had no boats at the university and it was almost impossible to guide a raft through the blackness of the night, which was intensified by a cold, drizzling rain."

Rescue Work Makes Heroes

As soon as dawn came the boys got together in an organized rescue corps. Our school produced a hundred heroes in half an hour. Every one of those students risked death on the flimsy rafts they were able to construct, but they never hesitated. They found some small boats, too, and did as well as they could with these. Prof. W. E. Dixon, the physical director of the university, headed the work of rescue. He had a dozen active lieutenants in the work of directing operations."

"Some of the houses could not be reached at all. The rafts were unmanageable, and the few boats were smashed one after another as they were caught by the eddying currents. Every time a boat was smashed two or three of the boys would be thrown into water ten or fifteen feet deep, but they all swam out in safety."

"Well, when they found how impossible it was to get actual contact with the houses they went to the nearest houses they could reach and took ropes and pulleys from a hardware store that had escaped the flood."

"They would tie a bolt to a light line and throw it over to a house where there were persons clinging on the roof. These people would catch the light line, pull over a heavier one and a pulley and set up a running line of cable by making fast to a chimney or house tower."

"The boys must have known something about breeches buoy work, for as soon as they had a line to a house they would rig up a chair and pass it over. Then the people would be hauled across. I guess they must have taken more than 100 off the different roofs. One woman, who weighed more than 200 pounds, started across in a chair. The pulley was fastened to a chimney and the chimney toppled over. The woman went into the water, but they kept hauling her in and she clung to the chair. She was half drowned when they got her up."

Take Refuge in "Frat" Houses

"The men students have responded nobly in time of distress, and the Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Chi, and Beta Theta Pi fraternity houses, which are on hills, have been turned over for sleeping places for women and children. A Mr. Houseman and a Mr. Sullivan manned the boats sent down by the life saving station at Toledo, and saved fifteen persons. The students are doing practically all of the work of saving people and bringing what food there is to the starving men, women and children."

"The property loss in the city, not counting personal property, is over $2,000,000. There is danger of fire, because the co-eds are using candles for lights."

"We know of thirteen deaths: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Melcher and their two sons, Ralph, 6 years old, and Lewis, 4 years old; Mrs. Elias Smith and her two sons and one little daughter, 1 year old; Miss Hazel Dunlap, Mrs. Slosson, William Hesse, William Fielding and James Maine."

Dies After Being Rescued

"William Fielding clung to a tree for three days and was rescued only to die of exposure. A Mr. Rainier was marooned in the top of a tree for three days and a half and was rescued. He is now ill from exposure and it is thought he will get pneumonia."

"A little girl was picked up from a raft on which she had floated five miles from Stratford. She is ill of exposure, but it is believed, she will live."

Other Refugees Arrive

Every train that came in from the east brought men and women who had escaped from Indiana after arduous, roundabout trips and disheartening delays. Perhaps none of these refugees had a more exciting experience than that of Frank Jamieson, a commercial traveler of Muncie, Ind.

For that, six hours Jamieson was marooned with eight other men and women on a raft and employees of the Barnard hotel in Logansport. The basement and first floor were flooded, water standing about four feet deep in the street. All the way to Logansport he could hear and see, which, one of the women landed over a small race boat. In the basement, under water, was $100 worth of fine food which could not be reached."

When Jamieson a man rowed down the street near the hotel and Jamieson took him. He had only a small shirt and there was room for one passenger. Jamieson offered him $10 to be ferried out of town and the boatman accepted the offer. No one else in the hotel dared risk the trip, feeling safer in the building than adrift on the waters. But Jamieson climbed out of the second story window and took a seat in the boat."

Five Miles in Row Boat

"We rowed for five or six miles, I should think," said Jamieson, in describing his experience. "The water gradually grew shallow and finally I debarked in a field, where I was about knee deep in mud and water. I got a ladder to drive me a few miles further on, where I caught a train at a crossing of the steam and interurban tracks."

"As the train was passing Warsaw we saw a horrible thing. A farmer was driving a team attached to a light wagon. He had a passenger, apparently a traveling man, and they waved at the train which slowed down and was about to stop for them. The horses were knee deep in water and the bed of the wagon lapped the flood now and then, but they came on confidently and seemed likely to make the tracks in safety."

Suddenly, however, the wagon and horses disappeared from view. It seemed as if they must have struck a sinkhole or something, but the queer part of it was that they didn't come up. The train waited for ten minutes, but not even a bubble came to the surface of the pool where the men and horses had disappeared. It was a terrible thing, and several women on the train who saw it became hysterical and were restored with extreme difficulty."

Insanity and Suicide

At Brookville, where the loss of life is estimated at 20 to 50, insanity and suicide followed in the wake of the flood. Many parents who had seen their children drowned or who feared they met that fate are reported to have committed suicide."

Avoid Overheating

The danger of overheating which attends incandescent lamp sockets containing a resistance unit to lessen the brilliancy of the light is avoided by distributing the resistance through a cord, provided with a regulating switch at the end.

American Typewriters

The United States supplies Russia with three-fourths of its typewriters, twenty kinds of American machines being sold there.

DAYTON IN NEED OF FOOD SUPPLY

JOHN H. PATTERSON SAYS THE SITUATION IS MUCH WORSE THAN ANTICIPATED.

SEVENTY THOUSAND PEOPLE TO BE FED.

Work of Recovering Bodies from Wreckage in Columbus Is Being Pushed and Many Are Still Missing.

The food supply in Dayton has been over-estimated, according to reports received from relief stations scattered over the city.

John H. Patterson, president of the relief committee, wired Secretary of War Garrison that the food situation was much worse than had been anticipated and that the committee would look to the national government for supplies.

It is estimated that between 30,000 and 40,000 refugees are being fed daily.

Aside from the imminent danger of a food shortage, cash is in great demand. Checks for large sums are in the hands of the relief committee, but they are practically worthless because cash is not available.

Three more bodies were recovered, bringing the toll of the flood up to 128, according to an estimate of Coroner J. W. McKemy. The landings of South Dayton are being searched and the coroner is making an effort to get a complete list of the dead from undertakers.

A carload of motor car tires, contributed by an Akron rubber company for use in relief work, arrived.

It will be necessary to supply rations for nearly 15,000 flood victims for two weeks at Dayton, in the opinion of Major Rhoades, President Wilson's aide.

He reported to the war department the problem of feeding was a serious one, as many merchants would be unable to resume business for some time. For that reason Major Rhoades suggested that supply trains diverted to the flooded districts along the Ohio river be sent to Dayton.

He also proposed a commission of army engineers to be sent to Dayton at once to devise measures for the future safety of the city, either through the control of the flood at its source or the reconstruction of the levees.

With the recovery of three more bodies from wreckage in the west side of the city, the toll of the flood disaster on that side stood at 70. The number of bodies remains large and three bodies were being attempted to recover other bodies.

Turkey Accepts Peace Plan Gladly

The Turkish government declared that it unreservedly accepted the terms of peace proposed by the European powers.

The foreign office handed the Ottoman acceptance to the dean of the diplomatic corps, accompanied by an expression of thanks to the powers for their mediation.

STATE BRIEFS.

John S. Hamaker, a Detroit printer, has purchased the Meadon Globe-Leader, the only newspaper in Mendon, from W. A. Carpenter.

Ignace Murawski, a laborer, was struck and killed by a Michigan Central train at Jackson Junction. The accident occurred at the Eltz avenue crossing.

Roy Kivel, 18 years old, of Holbrook, while leading a horse, was thrown to the ground and suffered injuries and exposure. He died seven hours later.

A westbound Main street car struck and ran over James McCormick, a one-legged man, of Jackson. Physicians found it necessary to amputate McCormick's only remaining leg.

A monument and marker will be placed on the trail of Fr. Marquette through the Arlington Park, according to the decision of Petoskey chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The state military board has decided that the summer encampment of the Michigan National Guard shall be held Aug. 12 to 21, but the place will not be determined until the legislature accepts one of the proposed sites. The camp will be either at Lexington or on the Hanson site, in Crawford county.

The German Manufacturing Co., of Saginaw, capitalized at $75,000, was organized to manufacture piano parts.

A fourth division of the second battalion of the Michigan naval brigade will be mustered in at Marquette, that city complies with certain conditions which were outlined at a session of the state naval board. A membership of 50 men must be secured by Marquette citizens before the decision will be formally recognized and they must pay the current expenses of the brigade.

J. P. MORGAN DIES ABROAD

Eminent Financier Has Had Notable Career. Extending Over Many Years—Starts Son as He Started.

John Pierpont Morgan is dead. The foremost American banker, called by many the king of the world of finance, died at Rome.

Mr. Morgan had been indisposed for weeks. A critical condition was announced for the first time on the night previous to his death.

Dr. Allen Starr, of New York, called last consultation in connection with Mr. Morgan's illness, attributed the financier's breakdown to emotion caused by the investigation carried out by the Pujo committee at Washington as to the operations of the "money trust."

Mr. Morgan's splendid achievements as a pre-eminent financier are condensed in the last three decades. In 1851 he was living in Boston and two years later was at Goettingen, Germany, as a student. At 21 he began the banking business under instruction of his father.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

The elder Morgan started the son in the department called foreign exchange. Here the son had to study international trade. After an apprenticeship in New York young Morgan was sent to London.

The importance of this branch of banking will appeal to the layman when it is understood that the money transactions between the United States and the foreign nations run from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 for each business day in the year. These debts are paid in drafts, on which there is a commission. The Morgan bank has profited immensely by writing a three per centage of this business for many years. It was J. Pierpont Morgan's special study to control a large share of international exchange. Morgan had at his fingers' ends the world's credit system, in its broadest aspects.

It is noteworthy that J. Pierpont Morgan started his son, J. P. Morgan, Jr. in the foreign exchange department of the Morgan banks. Shortly Morgan came to prominence in 1865 his associations with George Peabody brought him experience in handling vast sums, together with profits worthy of a king's ransom. In 1881 the firm of Drexel, Morgan & Co. was formed. On the death of the elder Morgan, 1899, J. Pierpont Morgan became the responsible head of the greatest financial machine in the world.

Gov. Ferris announced the appointment of the following delegates to represent Michigan at the third national drainage congress, to be held in St. Louis, April 10 to 12: R. E. Olds, Lansing; A. B. Connable, Kalamazoo; T. B. Preston, Ionia; Charles Horner, Eaton Rapids; C. A. Freeland, Sturgis; Joseph Rankin, Bad Axe; George S. Corbett, St. Johns; Charles E. White, Niles; William R. Loutit, Grand Haven; William Saridge, Spring Lake; Adrian Otte, Grand Rapids; William Brusse, Holland; B. C. Hawk, Battle Creek; C. S. Mott, Flint; T. F. Narston, Bay City.

William Barnes, of Lansing, awaiting a decision of the supreme court in a case in which he was convicted on a charge of killing a little girl with an automobile, confessed to the police that he was one of a party of three young men who pulled several fire alarm boxes, causing the fire department to make four unnecessary runs.

A petition signed by Supervisor Erick and 96 taxpayers of Saginaw township, Saginaw County, was filed with the town board asking that their seven schools be combined as a township unit. A special election will be held at which time the question will be submitted to the voters. This is the first township in the county to take the step.

Allegan city is anxious to secure an electric railroad connection with the outside and there was great disappointment when the Kalamazoo-Grand Rapids line decided to leave the city out. Because Rev. Thornton, Anthony Mills, new minister of the independent Congregational church at Jackson, every Sunday afternoon reads a play, and adds sermons and comment, local theatergoers complain that their Sunday crowds are smaller than before he started his plan. The church notes that its attendance and collections are doubled.

No Little Girl for Him.
The six-year-old son of a well-known Indianapolis family attends a dancing school. He is a chubby little fellow who has not begun to stretch out yet, and he really feels his "shortage." He demands that he be recognized as a little "grownup." Several days ago the teacher planned to instruct her pupils in dancing "the Buttery." A five-year-old girl who is small for her age, and just a trifle stouter than our hero, but an adept at dancing, was assigned as his partner. He gazed at her in silence. Then he took hold of her hand and with his mouth set firmly, walked straight over the teacher.

"Don't you think you'd better give me a bigger girl?" he asked—Indianapolis News.

THE DEAREST BABY

Mrs. Wilkes' Fondest Hopes Realized—Health, Happiness and Baby.

Plattsburg, Miss.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved very beneficial to me, for now I am well and have a sweet, healthy baby, and our home is happy."

"I was an invalid from nervous prostration, indigestion and female troubles."

"I think I suffered every pain a woman could before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I think it saved this baby's life, as I lost my first one."

"My health has been very good ever since, and I praise your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. VERNIA WILKES, R. F. D. No. 1, Plattsburg, Miss.

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to a childless and lonely old age.

Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to some derangement of the feminine system, often curable by the proper remedies. In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

REPUBLICANS VERY GENEROUS.

The Democrats are more sanguine of success this year than for many years previous. They figure that now having the president, the congress, the senate and all the federal jobs, and also the governorship and a part of the legislature, several congressmen, including one from this district, that in another two years they will have all the county offices in Wayne county. The Republicans have been very liberal in the past with their surplus votes in helping first one Democratic candidate and then another until there isn't much picking for the former big G. O. P. At next Monday's election the Democrats have the promise of a lot more Republican votes for supreme justice and if he is elected they figure that with all their other political patronage they already they will capture every county office and a majority on the board of supervisors within the next two years.

TWO SPLENDID JUDGES.

There is no good reason why any Republican should cast a vote against either Judge Moore or Judge Steere for re-election as Justices of the Supreme court. Both have an enviable reputation as jurists; both are splendid types of American gentleness and the attempt to throw the courts of Michigan into a turbulent political strife should not meet with favor at least from what is now left of the Republican party. Judge Moore or Steere have made excellent records upon the bench of the Supreme court of Michigan and no man from any party or any belief in the state has ever had cause to cast the least criticism upon their order acts.

There isn't much excuse for any Republican, he be progressive or otherwise, to vote any other ticket than his own next Monday. Both in township and state there is a splendid line of nominees and they are all progressive, able and tried officials.

SUBURBAN.

Millford is to have a new school superintendent next year. H. L. Dixon of Brooklyn, Mich. having been favorably reported upon by the proper authorities for that position.

Millford claims the doubtful distinction of having the highest tax rate in Oakland county, and then some, as discovered by the state tax commissioner's representative on a recent visit.

It's a good thing. Push it along [Seems 'if we'd heard those two latter sentences before, but never mind.] Anyway, here's hoping there'll be such a good time as to make Plymouth rock.

The South Lyon Herald and the Pontiac Gazette newspapers are urging their readers to "awak the fly" right now. Don't know what kind of town those places are but around here flies do not show up to be swatted until along in May.

That stray female deer mentioned by the Record's-Wixom correspondent a couple of weeks ago as having been seen in that neighborhood is said by the Millford Times to have been last noticed going rapidly toward Pontiac. Our Northville ones stay here, mostly.

A Millford lady poultryist has seven pullets that co-operatively laid seven big eggs the other day one of them—the eggs, not the hens weighing a quarter of a pound and measuring six inches around the waist. Certainly that lady's husband should not be required to pay for her Easter hat this year.

"Another slippery spell" announces the South Lyon Herald; but the remark probably did not refer to the recent amended list sent out by that national spelling revision committee. Those latter spells are especially recommended because the unreliable speller isn't so likely to slip up or fall down on his orthographical anatomy as he would be if using the old ways.

Mrs. Helen Welsh, who has been spending the winter in Ann Arbor with her sister, Mrs. Ada Burton, returned home Monday.

Capt. J. H. Woodman of Detroit and his cousin, Dr. George Marvin of San Jose, California, were visitors in Northville Monday. Dr. Marvin was a resident of Novi township during his boyhood days and several former Novi people now residing here greatly enjoyed exchanging greetings with him as well as with Capt. Woodman, who was also a Novi citizen for many years before coming to Northville to live.

A clergyman in a neighboring town had been much annoyed by the way members of the congregation had of looking around to take stock of late comers. After enduring it for some time he said on entering the reading desk one Sunday: "Brethren, I regret to see that your attention is called away from your religious duties by your natural desire to see who comes in behind you. I propose henceforth to save you the trouble by naming each person who may enter, and hope that the services will then be allowed to proceed without interruption." He then began: "Dearly beloved," but paused half way, to interpose "Mr. Stubbs with his wife and daughter."

Mr. Stubbs looked rather surprised, but the minister with perfect gravity, resumed his sermon. Half shamed not one of the members of the congregation turned his (or her) head. Soon came another interruption, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith." Not a movement. At the next entrance the preacher made the mistake of his life when he announced, "Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Thompson has a new hat."

Instantly every head in the church was turned to view the newcomer, much to the annoyance of the minister.

The leap year girl must again face the hard realities of life. She is back again in the parlor with the lamp turned low waiting for Willie.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE QUESTION.

From the Local Chairman

"Let me deal with some of the arguments advanced by the anti-suffragists. They say, 'Woman's place is in the home.' Certainly. She can use 15 minutes voting and still have left 364 days, 23 hours and 45 minutes for the home. And I notice that the average man who most loudly proclaims that he cannot consent to have suffrage given to women because their place is in the home is himself a creature who does not grace that home much. I ask you when you cast your vote at large this spring election to see that women hereafter have the same right of suffrage that the men now have."—Extract Roosevelt speech Detroit, March 29th.

Today, woman is quite as well informed as to fundamental principles of social and civic duties as man. She is not yet familiar with the political machinery because she has not been allowed to use it. Woman has never had, in this country, the freedom that Lincoln advocated. The right of woman to govern herself means a higher type of womanhood, a higher type of womanhood means better homes, better villages, better cities, better counties, better states and a better nation. This change will not come in a day, in a month, nor in a year. So far as human intelligence can discover no man has a right to govern another man without the other man's consent. Co-operation is the watchword of the hour. Man and woman equal in fundamental privileges, means a higher type of manhood and womanhood, means a real and abiding brotherhood.—Gov. W. N. Ferris

WOMAN SUFFRAGE OPINION.

From Dr. Henry.

I should like every good mother and every other sensible woman to have the same rights and privileges that I enjoy, but unfortunately this class of women are the ones who would not come to the polls, but would be at home training their children, ministering to the sick, beautifying their homes, or assisting by their subtle influence, into the lives of their husbands, or their men associates all the good thoughts, good ideals, noble aspirations that only good women can conceive.

Over 80 per cent of the women of large cities are foreign born, and the great majority of these are ignorant and illiterate. The blatant extremist, the eccentric, the socialist, the anarchist and the "red light" women will all be at the polls before the doors are opened, whipped into line by the ward heelers and cheap politicians, this chaotic aggregation will vote for anything, regardless of the consequences, taking the advice of their leader.

How many good women will we get out to counteract this harmful influence? We have enough trouble now, in our own ranks, why double it?

DR. T. B. HENRY

FARMINGTON.

The Democrats have nominated Eugene Grace for supervisor; Perry Frindle for clerk and Carl Hutton for treasurer.

The Republicans have nominated Jas. Hogle for supervisor; H. A. Schroder for clerk; Fred Stamon for treasurer; Thos. Lytle, highway commissioner; F. Goers, board review; C. E. Wood, John Thayer and W. J. Ely, justices.

While every community has been suffering because of bad roads, this town has been in fortunate shape this spring because of the splendid work that has been done by our town board and highway commissioner during the past two years.

If men are the salt of the earth, women are undoubtedly the sugar. Salt is necessary—sugar is a luxury. Vicious men are salt-peter; stern men are rock salt; nice men are table salt. Old maids are brown sugar; good natured matrons are pulverized sugar. Please pass the pulverized sugar.

Light Delivery Trucks

Men Must Adopt Trucks.

Men who make deliveries, large or small, are bound to do it by motor. In business the methods which are cheapest and best are bound to win out, you know. And the difference here is so enormous that the change from the horse to the motor truck is coming as fast as good trucks can be made. Men have only been waiting for a simple, trouble-proof truck, which stands use, abuse and jar.

There are men who need trucks of two or three tons capacity. There are several good trucks for them—trucks of 1500 pounds capacity. For such men there is no truck which compares with the Reo. We have at this writing not a single real competitor in strength or power, in simplicity, economy or price. One can prove this almost at a glance.

Pays For Itself.

THIS REO Truck pays for itself in short order. Any man who can keep it busy will save its price in one year. When it is busy the cost is stopped.

You need no new employees. Any man who can drive a horse can drive a Reo truck.

A critical young Northville lady was recently heard expatiating vigorously against the silly way that women have of kissing each other every time they get together. She said: "If twenty women were to in the street every last one of them would have to kiss the other nineteen, and there would be—let me see—380 kisses worse than thrown away, for probably in ten minutes the whole party would separate into squads and go off talking about each other. When you see one of these violent miscellaneous, kiss-everything-in-sight kind of a woman it is safe to set her down as a fraud, which she generally is. If I had my way, kissing should be mostly confined to family uses and for medicinal purposes. Now, don't you put my name to this or I will lose you right on Dunlap street the first chance I have."

FIRE IS FOUGHT AT HUNTINGTON

CAIRO MAKES A DESPERATE FIGHT AGAINST RISING WATERS OF OHIO.

SECRETARY OF WAR GARRISON GOES BACK TO CAPITAL.

Ohio River Reaches Highest Stage and No Further Trouble is Anticipated in the Valley.

Fire broke out in the flooded residential district of Huntington and threatened an entire city block, but the flames were checked by the use of dynamite. Eleven persons were rescued from the burning buildings. Fire engines placed on barges pumped water on the flames. State Fire Marshal Allison directed the work of the firemen.

The gauge at Cairo on Tuesday showed the stage of the river 53.7 feet with water rising rapidly. The main levees held.

A desperate fight to bolster the levees which have weakened under the terrific strain of the flooded Ohio river was being made. Thousands of workmen are jamming bags of sand and gravel against the banks.

Satisfied that he had accomplished what good he could in the flood district, Secretary of War Garrison left Cincinnati for Washington. Owing to the high water the secretary will be compelled to take a circuitous route to reach Washington. He went by way of Knoxville, Tenn., Bristol and Lynchburg, Va.

The Ohio river at Cincinnati rose two-tenths of a foot Tuesday and the stage was 69.8. Weather Forecaster Devereaux said he expected the river to rise another tenth, after which it probably would recede. The fall, he said, would be slow at first because of the large amount of water above. Up-river points report the river either stationary or falling slowly.

Wilson to Address Reporters.

Convinced that public business would be expedited by the practice, President Wilson has decided to set aside two hours each week for "heart to heart" talks with the newspaper correspondents.

One hour will be devoted to the will and the other hour will be given over to the same purpose on Thursday afternoon. The president will discuss administrative policies and sketch his official program, much of the matter discussed previously being in confidence and solely for the guidance of the writers.

Job to LaFollette's Brother.

Although the White House declined either to deny or affirm the report, it was declared that President Wilson virtually had decided to appoint William LaFollette, of Wisconsin, a brother of Senator LaFollette, to the position of registrar of wills of the District of Columbia.

The place commands a salary of $4,000 a year. Mr. LaFollette has been a lifelong democrat and conducted the Wisconsin campaign for President Wilson. He is ten years older than his progressive republican brother.

FLOWERS IN THE HOUSEHOLD

Simple Methods That Will Keep Them Alive, Fragrant, and a Pleasure for Many Days.

To make flowers last a week or more, four things are necessary. First, do not try to arrange them the moment you get them, but put them in a pall of water for a few hours, so that every stem will be under water up to the flower. Second, cleanse the vase thoroughly before putting in the flowers and change the water every day. Third, the cooler you keep the flowers the longer they will last. If you are too busy in the morning to enjoy them or have to go out for the afternoon, do not leave them in the living room, for they are not used to such a temperature. Every night put the vase in a cool place, or better still, plunge the stems up to the flowers in a pall of water. Fourth, cut about a quarter of an inch off each stem in the morning. It is more trouble to do this under water, but it pays. If you cut the stems in the ordinary way air bubbles get into the stems and impede the taking in of water.—Delneator.

Stringent Austrian Building Laws.

Austrian laws require that dwellings and business houses be built of solid materials from interior to exterior. Building regulations in Austria are very strict and are rigidly enforced. Interior walls there are chiefly of plaster and concrete, but bricks and laths are much used.

Queer Ironing.

A writer in the Wide World magazine says that the most curious sight he saw at Cairo was "men" ironing clothes with their feet! The men were employed in the native tailoring establishments.

Except for the long handle, the iron were shaped like the ordinary dabbler, only larger. A solid block of wood rested on the top of the iron, and on this the men placed one foot, guiding the iron in the desired direction by means of the handle. For the sake of convenience, ironing boards were raised only a few inches from the ground, and, however strange the method may seem to us, the work was done very well and very expeditiously.

BABY IN MISERY WITH RASH

Monroe, Wis.—"When my baby was six weeks old there came a rash on his face which finally spread until it got nearly all over his body. It formed a crust on his head, hair fell out and the itch was terrible. When he would scratch the crust, the water would ooze out in big drops. On face and body it was in a dry form and would scale off. He was in great misery and at nights I would lie awake holding his hands so that he could not scratch and disfigure himself. I tried simple remedies at first, then got medicine, but it did no good.

"Finally a friend suggested Cuticura Remedies, so I sent for a sample to see what they would do, when to my surprise after a few applications I could see an improvement, and he would react better. I bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap and before I had them half used my baby was cured. His head is now covered with a luxuriant growth of hair and his complexion is admired by everybody and has no disfigurements." (Signed) Mrs. Annie Saunders, Sept. 29, 1911.

A Last Appeal to the Voter

BY A. J. GROESBECK.
 Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

Spring elections have always brought out a big vote in this state, a forceful demonstration of the interest that the voter takes in state affairs. Indications point to a still larger vote at the approaching election. Republicans from every section of the state realize that good government can be secured and maintained only by active participation in politics.

The re-awakening of public conscience, the demand for needed reform, are hopeful signs of the time. The Republican party welcomes this re-awakened interest. It has ever been close to the people, and ever hearkened to the popular will as expressed by the ballot. The history of the Republican party is the history of the prosperity and welfare of this country. Today the United States lead all nations in power and wealth—a position obtained under Republican rule.

Michigan too, under Republican administration, has enjoyed an exceptional measure of prosperity. It was "under the oaks" of this state that the Republican party was born, and it was from this state that it went forth on its brilliant mission. The Michigan has been the cradle of the greatest political organization that the world has ever seen. This explains why the overwhelming majority of the Michigan voters in Republican Territory are Republicans. Temporary differences may arise which separate them for a time, but at heart all are Republicans. At the polls on April 7th next this state will demonstrate to the country at large that past disagreements have been forgotten, and that by mutual cooperation we are still able to keep Michigan in the front rank of the Republican states of the union. The eyes of the nation are on the voters in Michigan. The Republican party throughout this broad country look upon our state for encouragement and guidance. Therefore, the importance of the coming election cannot be overestimated. The interest in the results is no longer confined to the boundaries of our commonwealth, but is nation wide. If every elector does his duty, the result can be awaited in all confidence, for at no time has the Republican party been more free of dictation, bossism, and the domination of "interests" than at present. The platform embodies the best modern thought, and is faithfully lived up to by the Republican representatives in the House and the Senate of the present legislature.

The party's list of candidates defies criticism, and while the offices to be filled are in no way as numerous as those voted upon at the former election, yet they are of great importance, and must concern everybody who is interested in good government. The vote at the polls should be large and emphatic.

The many young voters in this state who will cast their first ballot this spring will cast a vote for good government, the welfare of the state and the cause of right, honesty and justice, if they will but follow in the footsteps of their fathers and vote the Republican ticket.

The Republican Party for the First Voter.

"What does the Republican party offer to young men?" The answer can be promptly and truthfully given. The Republican party offers more to young men at this time than ever before in all the splendid years of its existence. Since the birth of civilization, no organization of men ever sought to accomplish more in the way of urging and securing fair conditions in life, of removing burdens which should not be borne, of providing conditions through which the doors of opportunity would be widened and more paths led to them than has been accomplished by the Republican party. The young man, who longs for accomplishment, who is anxious for achievement, and who desires to align himself with a body of patriotic men who represent the best spirit of our times. And it is further and more emphatically true that the young man can find more in the Republican party to strengthen his ambitions, and to give opportunity for his sympathies and his ideals than is afforded at this time by any other political organization.

TOILED BY DAY AND STUDIED LAW AT NIGHT

Rose to the Position of Supreme Court Justice by Merit, Earnest Work and Known Integrity.

Hon. Joseph B. Moore, Justice of the supreme court, is a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket. His candidacy recommends itself to every voter who takes pride in upholding the dignity and high standard of the supreme tribunal of the state. His candidacy recommends itself to every voter who believes in honoring a man, who, as a jurist, enjoys an enviable reputation throughout this broad country. For Justice Moore is the mentor of the bar in Michigan.

In the very nature of the exalted position, a justice of the supreme court has little or no opportunity to mingle with the people and acquire what is termed "popularity." Compelled to reside in a comparatively small community far away from the bustle and activity of the larger cities of the state, confined in the peaceful halls of justice in the remotest of Michigan, the dispenser of justice becomes a duty at once a duty and a solemn trust.

Nevertheless, during his seventeen years of service on the supreme court bench, Justice Moore has retained his interest in everything that affects the welfare of the state, and kept a sympathetic touch with the thoughts and demands of the people. To the friendships of an earlier manhood, he has added those that he formed since his residence in Lansing. Lawyers who have had occasion to appear before him on legal business have gone away with the feeling of sincere affection for the "grand old man."

Thus, the Hon. Joseph B. Moore has overcome the awkward handicap of his position, endeared himself to his acquaintances in the capital, and made himself well liked by lawyers and attorneys all over the state. He is of rugged health, physically and mentally. In the seventeen years that he has graced the bench of the supreme court he has not lost a single day in court on account of his own ill health. He comes from a stock born in Commerce, Calhoun county, this state he worked his way through Hillsdale College, and entered upon the study of law while working in his father's mill. He completed these studies and graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan. At the age of 24 he located in Lapeer and there entered upon the practice of law. As a resident of Lapeer, he has been highly honored by his fellow citizens, and was subsequently, in turn, elected prosecuting attorney, mayor, state senator and judge of the sixth judicial circuit, comprising Lapeer and Oakland counties.

In this position he gained great popularity. He was always courteous to the members of the bar. He was at all times affable, and never failed to encourage the young lawyer by a kind word, and by listening patiently to his arguments and views of the law. In his conduct toward the jurors, "Joe" Moore—as he was familiarly called—those days—was always ready for a hearty hand-shake, and eager to bestow those little acts of kindness and consideration that are so highly appreciated.

In 1895 Hon. Joseph B. Moore was elected a member of the supreme court by a vote of 51,000 plurality, and when he ran for re-election in 1905 his plurality was increased to 110,000 votes. He now again asks for the suffrage of his fellow citizens, and the state can ill afford to lose the services of Hon. Joseph B. Moore. His knowledge of the law, his deep insight into the life and the needs of the people of this state, the confidence which he enjoys on the part of the members of the bar, his vast legal experience, and ripe judgment, eminently qualify him for the lofty office to which the people have twice elected him before, and to which he should be returned in April.

HON. JOS. B. STEERE, JURIST AND SCHOLAR

Admired by the Legal Fraternity of the State; Beloved Wherever He Is Known.

THE FINE RECORD OF A SUPREME COURT JUDGE.

A Gentleman, Scientist, Sportsman and Lover of Right and Justice.

When Mr. Frank Sullivan, of the "Soo," at the Republican convention at Lansing, mentioned the name of the Hon. Joseph H. Steere for re-election to the supreme court bench, a shout of approval went up from every corner of the hall, and his nomination was made without opposition.

Thus, was the manner in which he was nominated by the Republicans of Michigan, a fine and just tribute to the high ability of the candidate as a supreme court judge, and eloquent testimonial to his popularity as a man, and his candidacy was received with satisfaction in every corner of the state.

The Hon. Joseph H. Steere was born May 19th, 1852, on a farm near Adrian, this state. His father and mother were of sturdy Quaker stock and his early life was spent upon a farm in a Quaker settlement. He received his education in a district school, from which he graduated in 1871. He completed his college preparatory course with six months' attendance at the Adrian High School. In the fall of 1872 he entered the literary department of the University of Michigan, and in 1876 graduated with the degree of A. B. Subsequently he entered the law office of Hedges &

HON. JOSEPH H. STEERE.

Miller, of Adrian. In the spring of 1878 he went to Sault Ste. Marie, and there began the practice of his profession.

During the summer of 1878 he was appointed prosecuting attorney of Chippewa county, and a year later elected to fill this same office, which he held until the spring of 1881. Then he was nominated by the Republicans for circuit judge, and although the circuit was strongly Democratic, he was elected by a very decisive majority. He was only 28 years of age when he ascended the bench, and his judicial record was remarkable for one so young at its beginning.

He was re-elected three times, and so once was he became that only once was there an opposing candidate. When he became judge the circuit comprised the large area of what was Cass, Saginaw, Schoolcraft, Lapeer, Mackinac and Manistowic counties, and in that vast territory there were only two court houses, and he was often compelled to hold court in stores, barns, offices, and other convenient places of assembly. In winter he could wear some of his court shoes only a few days, and in summer in his robes.

Hon. Joseph H. Steere has not only been a profound student of the law, but also of other branches of learning. He has traveled extensively in Europe, throughout the American continent, and in the summer of 1899 made a canoe voyage of over 1,000 miles in visiting Hudson Bay. He has made a thorough study of the Lake Superior region, and in his researches of this interesting subject, he has accumulated the finest library of books on the early history of that region to be found anywhere. His law library is one of the largest in private possession.

As a circuit court judge, he was often called to preside in the courts of other circuits, and wherever he went, his high character and fine personality

He is gifted with a remarkable memory, and has also the great gift of remembering faces and names of people he has previously met. While he is on the bench the impersonification of impartiality and strict justice, in his private life he is a warm-hearted, whole-souled and lovable man.
