NOT YET, BUT SOON

OUR VILLAGE BEING BOOMED

PLANS ON FOOT TO MAKE IT AN ATTRACTIVE PLACE.

Saturday Evenings to be Gala Times in this Burg.

A mass meeting of the business men of this village was held in the Monday evening for the purpose of reaching a better understanding among themselves and of apping out a campaign plan for the summer, whereby business will be boomed and people coming to town Saturday evenings will be paid for coming by entertainment and "open shops." With these ideas in view the name "Business Men's Association" was changed to "Northville Improvement Association." Officers were elected as follows:

President—M. A. Porter
Secretary—L. L. Ball
Treasurer—C. A. Ponsford
Committee on Constitution and By-Laws—Rev. J. E. Webber, E. A. Miller, and F. J. Cochran
Committee on Sports—J. A. Huff, Rev. R. M. Pierce and S. W. McLean

A sack and running race were arranged for tomorrow, Saturday, evening's drawing card. A base ball and mitt were donated by Jas. Huff for the winners of the sack race and a base ball and jack knife by John Steers to be given the winners of running race. These sports will be held on Main street; music will be furnished by the City Band, which will cooperate in the plan of making Northville attractive to citizens and outsiders. The players will be seated in a wagon with torches for light. This will be the program, with slight variations, for every Saturday evening during the summer. Now that the "boom" has been launched each and every business man should put his shoulder to the wheel and boost it along. It's to your interests as well as to the townspeople.

G. A. R. NOTES.

Memorial services will be held in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, May 25; Rev. J. E. Webber preaching the sermon. It would be gratifying to the veterans to have it a Union service.

The Memorial Day address will be given by Judge E. J. Jeffries of Detroit, Friday, May 30.

A full attendance at the regular G. A. R. meeting is especially urged for Saturday, May 10, as arrangements for Memorial Day and decoration of graves in the various cemeteries must be made at that time.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. J. B. Palmer wishes to thank the King's Daughters, L. O. T. M., neighbors and friends for their many kindnesses during her recent illness.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Lloyd Green is entertaining the mumps this week.

It's about time for the second siege of measles.

The A division of the Sixth grade is studying commission.

Ruth Cattermole of grade Five is out of school with the mumps.

The Third grade pupils are interested in stories of King Arthur.

The Fifth grade pupils are working to master decimal fractions.

The Kindergarten and First grade went to the woods last Wednesday.

Earl Gray has returned to school after a severe struggle with mumps.

The first three grades had a May day picnic on Buchner's hill last Thursday.

The B class of the Second grade is doing some very good work in numbers.

The B division of the Sixth grade began the study of Southern States this week.

Result of the ball game between Northville and Milford, 10 to 5 in favor of Northville.

Reginald Hills is back in grade Five, after a two weeks' tussle with the mumps.

The Third graders are trying to find out as much as they can about civil government.

Robert Weldon treated the Kindergarten to candy, popcorn and peanuts in honor of his birthday.

The Seventh grade is having a contest in drawing with Henry Holmes and Raymond Thompson as leaders.

The members of the Civics class are beginning the study of McRone's State and Local Government of Michigan.

If you want to hear a good story of Ancient history, come to grade Five the last of the week from 1:30 to 2:00 p. m.

Miss Cecil Johnston has been engaged by the Tekonsha board of education as principal of the High school in that town.

The Progress club of Detroit is to meet the High school nine on the Northville diamond Saturday afternoon of this week.

The teachers and pupils of the Third, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh grades gave the school yard a much needed cleaning Friday afternoon.

Milo VanValkenburg and several others from the High school attended the operetta, "All the Year Round," at Plymouth Friday evening.

Miss Rua Day of Ypsilanti visited the drawing and music departments last Friday afternoon. She favored the High school with two delightful musical numbers.

Supt. Monna of the Romeo schools gave a very interesting lecture on "Hobby Horses" before a fair sized audience in the High school Wednesday evening of last week. The address was under the auspices of the Senior class. Many more would have been in attendance had they heard of the excellence of the lecture. The orchestra rendered several selections.

"Madame LeBaron and Her Daughter," "Country Chivalry," and "Cupid Interested" are the new pictures in the Second grade room.

The picture "Sir Galahad" is expected next week.

On account of the precarious state of his health Ray Johnson has been obliged to leave school. His teachers and school mates miss him on account of his gentlemanly conduct and scholarly qualities.

The High school chorus had the pleasure of listening on Tuesday morning to two exquisite piano solos by Mr. Guy Milkins, who attended the music section and highly complimented the new piano.

The Seventh and Eighth grades have been having drawing contests this month between division A and two led by two members of the class and each side being evenly divided in numbers. The Eighth grade had their contest judged by the following judges: Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Dubuar, Miss Johnson and Miss Pierce. After studying the drawings carefully, the judges decided in favor of Aledia Yerkes' section.

The losing section is to entertain the winning section. The contest was on the number of good drawings and was a very close one. The Seventh grade had their exhibit on Wednesday and had for judges, Miss Bulls, Miss Weiler, Miss Miller and Miss Pierce.

Dr. W. Fred Woodley having assumed the practice of Dr. W. R. Knight will be pleased to meet former patients of this office at the same location, during Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week and at other times by appointment, 138 Main St., Plymouth 241f.

RECENT SESSION OF THE MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE

Summary of More Important Work Done by Solons at Lansing. All Political Parties Entitled to Share of Credit for the Many Progressive Laws Placed on Statute Books

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

After nearly four months of almost unparalleled activity the 1913 session of the Michigan legislature has formally suspended operations and with one or two exceptions the members have packed up and gone to their respective homes. Nearly 500 new laws have been added to the statute books, many of which have already been signed by Gov. Ferris. Thus far the chief executive has used his power to veto sparingly and it is unlikely that the official veto will fall again as Gov. Ferris has declared that he is well satisfied and claims that the legislature must take the blame or the credit for its work of the present session.

In years to come his actions will probably refer to the legislature of 1913 as the most radical in the history of the state, as it has proposed more changes to the fundamental law of the state than any of its predecessors. Not unlike the stand old village who greeted the new, Rip Van Winkle when he returned from his twenty years' sleep, the conservative members of the house and senate have witnessed the radical changes in the constitution with shaking of heads and muttered inquiry as to what the world is coming to.

In penning the history of the legislature of 1913 the majority party in the legislature will probably receive a big share of the credit for the good laws that have been enacted and will proudly reap the abuse if it is found that the poor legislation has been permitted to creep in. The Republicans have attempted to carry out most of their platform pledges, and apparently have succeeded, but the radical measures could not have been passed without the consent and cooperation of the national progressives and the democrats. Thus it is apparent that all political factions can extract a fair share of comfort from the performance of the current legislative session during the past few months.

Had it not been for the vision of the national progressives and the democrats to cooperate with the Republicans in the legislative and recall would not have been introduced to the voters at the April election. The Republicans number 64 in the house, while it requires a two-thirds vote of all members elect or 47, to pass an amendment to the constitution in the lower branch of the legislature. The recall amendment did not go as far as to apply to the judges, but all other elective officers will now come under its provisions.

Early in the session the 1913 legislature ratified the amendment to the federal constitution making for the direct election of United States Senators. The names of the successful candidates for the nomination for United States senator at the primary election in 1916 will appear on the regular election ballot together with the candidates for governor and other state officers. Therefore it will not be necessary for the legislature to participate in any further election of United States senators. The people hold the final key to the situation as they will hereafter be able to decide both the nomination and the election of United States Senator Charles E. Townsend was the first in Michigan to be nominated under the primary system, and United States Senator William Alden Smith was the last to be elected by the legislature. In Lansing they are recalling the famous contest in 1905 when the legislature was the arbiter and elected William Alden Smith after one of the bitterest contests ever staged in the Capital City.

Two important amendments have been made to the primary election law in other respects. The enrollment fee has been abolished and the 15 per cent clause has been eliminated. Hereafter when a voter visits the polls on primary day he will be permitted to vote if he has complied with the law relative to registration. It will not be necessary to disclose his party affiliation in order to pass judgment on the candidates. The names of all will be printed on a single ballot. The voter is required to make a cross at the top of the ticket he wishes to vote. If there is more than one candidate for an office he shall vote for one. However, after he has made a cross at the top of his party column he cannot vote for any candidate of another party. If he does this the ballot is invalid. This is supposed to prevent the voters of one party from dipping into the nominations of another organization. This bill was framed and put through the legislature by Senator W. Frank James, of Hancock, Houghton county.

Then, too, the legislature passed the Copley corrupt practices act, limiting the campaign expenditures of candidates for public office and requiring that they will submit an itemized account of their expenses when the smoke of battle clears away. Candidates for governor are not permitted under the new law to spend more than half of one year's salary for campaign expenses.

Another amendment also requires a two-thirds vote of capital and surplus to authorize liquidation. Proceedings had by stockholders or directors in connection with liquidation must be filed with the commissioner of the banking department. The banking department will be required to make an examination of the bank before consenting to liquidation, and the bank while in liquidation shall make monthly reports which shall contain a list of assets wholly or partially realized upon, and also a list of liabilities retired by application of such amounts realized. The banking department is also given power to examine the bank at any time during its liquidation.

Amendment to section 54 provides for the same proceedings for consolidation of banks as in liquidation. The new law will limit the salary of one year's salary for campaign purposes. This will limit the gubernatorial candidates to $2,500. Already there is a federal law requiring candidates for congressman and United States senator to file their expense accounts at Washington. The Copley law is intended to purify elections and give the poor man a chance to aspire to the highest offices in the state. Future elections in this state will probably be conducted on a different basis from the ones held in the past.

Banking Commissioner Doyle is well pleased with the work of the legislature as far as his department is concerned and he believes that the banking laws of the state have been greatly strengthened as a result of the new legislation.

Hereafter every officer and clerk concerned in the handling of money, accounts, securities, etc., of a bank will be required to furnish either personal or surety bonds. If the latter is furnished the premium must be furnished by the bank.

The expense of making examinations of state banks upon their organization shall be paid by the banks. The examination fee, however, shall not exceed $10 per day for the service of each examiner, together with the traveling and hotel expenses incurred.

There is another new law which provides that by a two-thirds vote of the capital stock of any bank the stockholders shall have the power to fix the value of and the price at which the increase of capital stock shall be subscribed and paid for by the stockholders. This section also authorizes the directors of the bank to sell any part of such increase not subscribed by the stockholders at a price fixed, after they have had a reasonable opportunity to make subscription of their proportionate shares thereof. Hereafter as the result of another new law added to the statute books by the legislature any officer who has a share of comfort from the performance of the current legislative session during the past few months.

Provision was made whereby both legislators and their families are entitled to a grant of 100 acres, in order that they may be able to live on the land. This bill was further amended in such a manner as to provide that notes, bills or other evidences of debts secured by property or securities deposited in a Michigan Trust company, would be legal investments for what is known as the 24 per cent of savings deposits. This law formerly required that securities should be deposited in a deposit collateral company.

Another important change in the law is the amendment which permits state banks to pledge bonds in the commercial department in order to become depositors for postal savings funds and surplus funds of the state of Michigan. Under this amendment an exclusive savings bank would be required to pledge bonds representing a portion of its capital stock and surplus. This section also makes it unlawful for a director, officer or clerk to knowingly, wilfully or persistently overdraw his account.

The banking department succeeded in bringing about the passage of a bill to increase the maximum salary of a banking examiner to $2,200. An examiner will hereafter be started at $1,700 per annum with an increase of $200 per year until the maximum is reached.

Section 52 of the banking laws was changed so as to permit loans not to exceed 10 per cent of the capital and surplus to officers or directors, or to any partnership in which such officer or director is a partner, or to any corporation, in which such officer or director owns a majority of the capital stock, without collateral or endorsement.

If such loan or loans exceed 10 per cent of capital and surplus, then such officer, director, or partnership, or corporation in which the officer or director is interested, must be secured by collateral, endorsement or a sworn statement must be filed in the bank showing sufficient net worth entitling them to such mortgage. The loan limit to be to any person, firm or corporation remains at 20 per cent of the capital and surplus.

Another amendment also requires a two-thirds vote of capital and surplus to authorize liquidation. Proceedings had by stockholders or directors in connection with liquidation must be filed with the commissioner of the banking department. The banking department will be required to make an examination of the bank before consenting to liquidation, and the bank while in liquidation shall make monthly reports which shall contain a list of assets wholly or partially realized upon, and also a list of liabilities retired by application of such amounts realized. The banking department is also given power to examine the bank at any time during its liquidation.

Amendment to section 54 provides for the same proceedings for consolidation of banks as in liquidation. The new law will limit the salary of one year's salary for campaign purposes. This will limit the gubernatorial candidates to $2,500. Already there is a federal law requiring candidates for congressman and United States senator to file their expense accounts at Washington. The Copley law is intended to purify elections and give the poor man a chance to aspire to the highest offices in the state. Future elections in this state will probably be conducted on a different basis from the ones held in the past.

ing it a duty of the department to examine both banks to be consolidated. Expenses of such examination to be borne by the bank.

Another amendment gives the banking department the right to examine the affairs of a receivership of any insolvent bank at any time; but particularly before directing the payment of any dividends or accepting annual report of a receiver.

Further amendment provides for monthly meetings of the board of directors by at least a quorum thereof, rather than by a committee of three as in the past. Every state bank failing to hold regular monthly directors' meetings shall be subject to a penalty of $50 for each meeting not so held. Where sickness or absence from the state prevents the attendance of a sufficient number to constitute a quorum, the penalty does not apply.

Section 3 of act 143 of the public acts of 1899 was so amended as to provide that in cases where corporate existence of state banks is not extended because of non-compliance with commissioner's requirements, the commissioner is authorized to take possession of the bank and hold the same 30 days, during which time the reorganization or liquidation must be agreed upon.

Another amendment permits state banks with capital stock of $25,000 to organize in cities or villages with population not exceeding 6,000. Under the present law such banks may organize in cities or villages where the population does not exceed 5,000.

A large number of bills to promote the sanitary conditions and flame health for the people of the state were introduced and passed. The appropriation for the state board of health was increased from $4,000 to $15,000.

An important bill receiving the O. K. of the lawmakers was one which will compel nurses and physicians to take precautions against blindness when children are born. The Henry bill which will compel hotels to install individual towels in all rooms and lavatories to screen kitchens, and adopt other sanitary precautions is one of the important health bills passed. The Schmidt drinking cup bill will compel all railroad trains to provide individual drinking cups. The Amberson bill provides for an appropriation for the state school at Calhoun so that crippled children may be cared for.

Perhaps no bill which was passed received more cordial backing than the measure which will prohibit the use of insurance which are unnecessary and to be added to the health board may be to be given on the tax rolls. Other important health bills passed were to give the state board of health the right to inspect sewers and water works systems belonging to cities, amending the occupational act placing chiropractors under the state board of medical examiners to provide for a commission to have later issued and freely introduced to provide for the department of a state inspector of training schools for nurses, including school houses in public places which can be examined for comfort and public health, amending dental bill.

Several important changes were made to the game laws and amendments were made that are expected to prove of benefit to the anglers of Michigan. The Collins anglers license law provides that all persons residing outside of their own counties and who must take out a license paying a fee of $2 for all kinds of fishing and $1 where they wish to catch fish other than game fish. This money is to be turned into a fund to be used in supporting the fish hatcheries. Another bill passed was the Vardner measure which compels all hunters shooting outside of their own counties to take out a gun license of $1.

The game warden's department will by this means add a large amount to the state treasury. Two freak game bills were passed. That to protect edible frogs and the bill to prohibit ship ping turtles out of the state. Game Warden Oates has not yet designated which deputies will be his frog and turtle men.

Perhaps the most important and most needed bill was one which will give non-resident hunters the right to snipe deer out of the state. Other game and fish laws passed make the following provisions: To allow rabbits to be killed and sold; fixing deer hunting season from November 10 to November 30; extending closed season for squirrels to 1915; extending closed season on quail, pheasant, grouse, and wild turkey to 1917; to permit the shooting of deer; increase the non-resident deer hunters license to $25; to limit the number of speckled trout, land locked salmon, grayling and California trout which can be caught to 35 per day; no fisherman can have more than 50 in his possession and the closed season is extended to September 15; providing that wild fowl may be shot half an hour before sun rise and half an hour after sunset; permitting the spearing of rainbow trout and steelhead trout not under 15 inches, during March and April; providing a closed season for frogs from November 1 to May 1; to allow the taking with seines of dog fish and other obnoxious fish; amending commercial fishing laws so as to permit taking of immature fish while fishermen are trying for chubb; to increase wild life by game preserves; to allow the killing of two deer, providing, however, that no hunter shall kill two does.

One of the most important bills of the session was the Odell measure providing for the consolidation of banks. The new law will limit the salary of one year's salary for campaign purposes. This will limit the gubernatorial candidates to $2,500. Already there is a federal law requiring candidates for congressman and United States senator to file their expense accounts at Washington. The Copley law is intended to purify elections and give the poor man a chance to aspire to the highest offices in the state. Future elections in this state will probably be conducted on a different basis from the ones held in the past.

epileptic and mentally deficient persons maintained wholly or in part by public expense in state institutions.

The Marz bill which is passed and signed by the governor, prohibits the practice of professionals in palmistry, clairvoyance, astrology or fortune telling by cards or other devices. For years attempts have been made to place such a law on the statute books, but all previous attempts have proved unsuccessful.

Among the other bills relating to penal and reformatory institutions are bills to allow undersheriffs and sheriffs' court officers as well as sheriffs, police chiefs, and truant officers, to act as first friend for paroled convicts; to strengthen the law for the suppression of pandering and the prosecution of offenders; giving boards of corrections and charities powers relative to the matter of requiring jails and infirmaries to be decent places for detention; to give judges who cite a husband for contempt of court for refusing or neglecting to pay alimony the option of putting the delinquent on probation instead of sending him to jail, providing that when a convict is paroled and for some breach is taken back to prison the board of pardons and not the warden shall decide whether to give him another chance to reform.

Banking Commissioner Doyle is well satisfied with the so-called blue sky law which passed the legislature this year and says that it will do a great deal towards driving out the confidence men and fakers who ply their trade in Michigan.

Five bills touching upon public school legislation have become laws by virtue of the governor's signature. Probably the most important of these is an amendment to the compulsory attendance law. Heretofore any person who successfully passed the eighth grade has been exempt from compulsory attendance even though he or she might be under 16 years of age. This exemption will no longer apply unless the child shall secure a permit as required under the law governing the employment of minors and shall be regularly employed at some lawful work if physically able to do so.

District boards may pay tuition of those who have not completed the eighth grade if they are nearer some other school house than their own. The only limit placed upon bonding a school district is that the amount shall not exceed ten per cent of the total valuation.

Any county in the state may now establish a school of agriculture and domestic economy, the state paying up to $1,000 a year toward its support. School districts whether organized under general or special laws may be consolidated if desired.

Other important bills are now awaiting the governor's signature. Some make the qualifications for school electors the same in every district in the state, previously in local or special acts notwithstanding. The voters will be men or women who are citizens of the United States, residents of the district at least three months at least twenty-one years of age, and who are either assessed for school taxes or are the parents or legal guardians of children on the census list. This will affect Detroit, Lansing, Crystal Falls and various other city and township unit districts where special acts formerly governed this point. Provision has been made to divide county into election precincts for school elections.

Agriculture is now included in the list of subjects on which applicants for teachers' certificates must write. Boards of supervisors must pay the actual and necessary traveling expenses of the county commissioners of schools, and the school examiners. The library appointment will hereafter be made previous to the fifteenth day of July and this money can only be used by the township and district boards to purchase books for their respective libraries from lists prepared by the superintendent of public instruction and state librarian.

Districts, not maintaining high schools, are now required to pay tuition to any high school in the state for eighth grade graduates if proper application is made. Formerly this was limited to the three nearest high schools. The tuition is to be paid before March 14, otherwise interest will be charged.

Township boards must attach to school districts all contiguous territory in the township which is not in any organized district. This means that all territory in the state must be a part of some school district. The power to remove school officers for cause is taken away from the township board, and will rest entirely with the superintendent of public instruction.

to $2,500 and an assistant superintendent at $1,800 authorized.

Text book companies must file a copy of every text book which they publish with the superintendent of public instruction together with the list price and the lowest wholesale price at which the book is sold anywhere in the United States and must file a bond agreeing not to charge more in Michigan than is charged anywhere in the United States. Retail dealers cannot charge more than 15 per cent above the wholesale price and the board is authorized to handle the books itself at gross cost to the pupils. If pupils move from the district, the board is required to purchase the books from the pupils at a price dependent upon the physical condition of the books.

Dairy and Food Commissioner Helme succeeded in getting a number of important bills through the legislature. Among them are bills to permit all fees from the registration of creameries, cheese factories, milk depots and dealers, ice cream manufacturers and dealers in commercial feeding stuffs, to be used to pay salaries and expenses of special dairy and food inspectors. This will enable the doubling of the special inspection service.

To authorize the dairy and food commission to sue any creamery or dealer, manufacturer, store, or transporter of food or beverage products who refuses to pay the registration or license fees required by law.

To require that all cheese under a certain per cent butter fat must be branded on both the cheese cloth and the container "skimmed milk cheese", and to require that in all restaurants and hotel cafes where such cheese is sold signs must be conspicuously displayed, reading "skimmed milk cheese sold or used here".

To have the United States agricultural department's standard of purity for food products accepted as legal evidence in suits except where other standards are specifically prescribed by state law.

To correct defects in the title of an act which declares it to be unlawful to advertise oleomargarine or other imitation butter in a way that might deceive purchasers.

MANY INJURED IN CLASH WHEN ITALIANS AND POLICEMEN DO BATTLE.

STATE MILITIA CALLED OUT TO MAINTAIN ORDER.

Court of Arbitration Rules That Italy Must Pay France for Seizure of Steamships During War.

The local militia companies of Syracuse, N. Y., were suddenly called out for strike duty following a riot in which 15 persons were injured, seven of them policemen. Four or five hundred striking building laborers, all Italians, interfered with men who were pulling down the old house of Bishop John Grimes to make place for a new episcopal residence. Fifty policemen arrived on the scene and fought the strikers, revolvers against bricks.

Seven policemen were hurt. Two strikers were shot through the body and six others were less seriously hurt. The police rushed the wounded to the hospitals.

Italy Must Pay France.

The Franco-Italian court of arbitration, dealing with the seizure by Italian warships during the Turco-Italian war of the French steamers Carthage and Manouba, condemned the Italian government to pay $32,000 and $4,000 in the respective cases.

The Carthage was seized Jan. 16, 1912, on suspicion that she had contraband guns on board. She was released two days later on the request of the French government.

The Manouba was seized Jan. 14, 1912, while she was carrying a Turkish medical mission. She was allowed to proceed on her voyage after landing her Turkish passengers.

Peace Congress Against Canal Act.

The American peace congress at St. Louis adopted resolutions urging the repeal of the clause in the Panama canal act exempting American consular vessels from the payment of tolls. Failing in this, the resolution added, the controversy should be submitted to the Hague court for arbitration.

Other resolutions express appreciation of the work of President Taft in negotiating the general arbitration treaties which later failed of consummation because of senate amendments, congratulate the nation on the failure of the two battleship program in the national congress, urge the president to open diplomatic negotiation looking to the reduction of armaments and approve the announced policy of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan to negotiate treaties of unrestricted arbitration.

"We call upon all friends of peace," say the resolutions, "to guard against the insidious effort to extend military training in the schools and to make naval recruiting stations of the colleges and universities."

Chauffeur Sent to Prison.

What is possibly the first conviction for murder with a motor car in the United States has been obtained in Judge William Fennimore Cooper's court in Chicago.

SYNOPSIS.

Major McDonald, commanding an army post near Fort Dodge, seeks a man to intercept his daughter, Molly, who is headed for the post. An Indian outbreak is threatened. "Brick" Hamlin, sergeant who has just arrived with the mission. Molly arrives at Fort Dodge two days ahead of schedule. She decides to push on to Fort Dodge by stage in company with "Slender Bill" Moynihan, Gonzales, a gambler, is also a passenger. Hamlin meets the stage with a lot of desperadoes, and finds Molly there. The driver deserts the stage when children appear. The Indians are twice repulsed. Hamlin and Molly escape in darkness. Molly is wounded. Hamlin is much excited at finding a haversack marked "C. S. A." He explains to Molly that he was in the Confederate service and discharged in disgrace under charges of cowardice. At the close of the war he enlisted in the regular service. He says the haversack was the property of one Capt. LeFevre, who he suspects of being responsible for his disgrace. Troops appear and under escort of Lieut. Gaskins, Molly starts to join her father. Hamlin leaves to rejoin his regiment. He returns to Fort Dodge after a summer of fighting Indians, and finds Molly there. Shots are heard in the night. Hamlin rushes out, sees what he believes is the figure of Molly hiding in the darkness, and takes over the body of Lieutenant Gaskins, who accuses Hamlin of shooting him. The sergeant is proven innocent. He sees Molly in company with Mr. Dupont, whom he recognizes as a former sweetheart who threw him over for LeFevre. Mrs. Dupont tells Hamlin LeFevre forced her to send him a living note.

CHAPTER XVII.—Continued.

"Because I chance to know more than you suppose. Never mind how the information reached me; had it been less authentic, you might find me more susceptible to your pressure, more choice in my language. A carefully conceived plot, drove me from the Confederate service, in which you were as deeply involved as LeFevre. His double object was to advance him in rank and get me out of the way. The plan worked perfectly. I could have met and fought either object alone, but the two combined broke me utterly. I had no spirit of resistance left. Yet even then—in spite of that miserable letter—I retained faith in you. I returned home to learn the truth from your own lips only to find you had already gone. I was a month learning the facts, then I discovered you had married LeFevre in Richmond. I procured the address of the officiating clergyman who you deny now?"

"No," changing her manner abruptly, "what is the use? I married the man, but I was deceived. Indeed, there was no conspiracy in which I was concerned. I did not know where you were, from then until this afternoon. I never saw or heard of you. Molly told me of her rescue by a soldier named Hamlin, but I never suspected the truth until we drove by the barracks. Then I yielded to my first mad impulse and sent that note. If you felt toward me with such bitterness, why did you come here? Why consent to meet me again?"

"My yielding was to a second impulse. At first I decided to ignore your note; then came the second consideration—Miss McDonald."

"Oh," and she laughed, "at last I read the riddle. Not satisfied with saving that young lady from savages, you would also preserve her youthful innocence from the contamination of my influence. Quite noble of you, surely. Are you aware of our relationship?"

"I have heard it referred to—garrison rumor."

TALKING SPOILED HIS TRIP
Passenger Boating His Way Was All Right Until He Himself Gave the Whole Snap Away.

Jack Grace, the veteran boxer and globe trotter, likes to tell stories about himself and retails one where in Honolulu proves to have offered him a welcome, unwelcome.

"I had been stopping in Honolulu with the Jeffries-Johnson fight going on, and decided that I wanted to go well as my intimacy in the McDonald household. And you propose interfering, plan to drive me forth from this pleasant bird's nest. Really you amuse me, Mr. Sergeant Hamlin."

"But I have not proposed anything of that nature," the man said quietly, rising to his feet. "It is, of course, nothing to me, except that Miss McDonald has been very kind and seems a very nice girl. As I knew something of you and your past, I thought perhaps you might realize how much better it would be to retire gracefully."

"You mean that as a threat? You intend to tell her?"

"Not unless it becomes necessary. I am not proud of the story myself."

Their eyes met, and there was no shadow of softness in either face. The woman's lips curled sarcastically.

"Really, you take yourself quite seriously, do you not? One might think you still Major of the Fourth Texas, and heir to the old estate on the Brazos. You talked that way to me once, before, only to discover that I had claws with which to scratch. Don't make that mistake again, Mr. Sergeant Hamlin, or there will be something more serious than scratching done. I have learned how to fight in the past few years—Heaven knows I have had opportunity—and rather enjoy the excitement. How far would your word go with Molly, do you think? Or with the Major?"

"That remains to be seen."

"Does it? Oh, I understand. You must still consider yourself quite the lady killer. Well, let me tell you something—she is engaged to Lieutenant Gaskins."

His hand gripped the rail, but there was no change in the expression of his face.

"So I had heard. I presume that hardly would have been permitted to happen out for the assistance of a Mr. Dupont. By the way, which one of you ladies shot the Lieutenant?"

"It was a chance fire, and Hamlin was not sure of his effort, although she drew a quick breath and her color faltered."

"Shot Lieutenant Gaskins?"

"Certainly, you must be aware of that."

"Oh, I knew he had some altercation, and was wounded. But accused on did he not? But why bring it into the affair?"

"Because some woman was directly concerned in it. Whoever she may be, the officers of the fort are convinced that she probably fired the shot, that the Lieutenant knows her identity, and is endeavoring to shield her from discovery."

"Why do they think that? What reason can they have for such a conclusion?"

"Her footprints were plainly visible, and the revolver used was a small one—a .38—such as a woman alone would carry in this country. I have said so to no one else, but I saw her, crouching in the shadow of the barrack wall."

"You—you saw her? Recognized her?"

"Yes."

"And made no attempt at arrest? Have not even mentioned the fact to others? You must have a reason?"

"I have, Mrs. Dupont, but we will not discuss it now. I merely wish you to comprehend that if it is to be war between us, I am in possession of weapons."

She had not lost control of herself, yet there was that about her hesitancy of speech, her quick breathing, which evidenced her surprise at this discovery. It told him that he had played a good hand, had found a point of weakness in her armor, the mystery of it remained unsolved, but this woman knew who had shot Gaskins; knew, and had every reason to guard the secret. He felt her eyes anxiously searching his face, and laughed a little bitterly.

"You perceive, madam," he went on, encouraged by her silence, "I am not now exactly the same unsuspecting youth with whom you played so easily years ago. I have learned some of life's lessons since; among them how to fight fire with fire. It is a trick of the plans. Do you still consider it necessary for your happiness to remain the guest of the McDonalds?"

She straightened up, turning her eyes away.

"Probably not for long, but it is no threat of yours which influences me. It does not even interest me to know who shot Lieutenant Gaskins. He is after the second day I came out from hiding. We were within a few days of Japan, and I was regaling a bunch in the smoking room with some stories when a company checker looked at me closely and asked:

"Say, who are you?"

"I did not know him, so proceeded to tell of my experiences, and relate what a good friend I had in the chief engineer. Riding the rods is hard work," I told him, "but traveling first class on these transpacific liners is a shot by a cavalry sergeant, didn't he?"

"And sticks to it like a mule. Well, it helped our get-away."

"Yes, we're safe enough, unless Gaskins talks, and he's so in love with the McDonald girl he'll spill out big rather than have any scandal now. Wish I could get a word with Vera tonight; she ought to see him tomorrow—compassion, womanly sympathy, and all that rot, you know, helps the game. Let's drift over toward the Palace, Dan; and maybe I can give her the sign."

Hamlin caught a glimpse of their backs as they passed out—one in infantry fatigue, the other, a heavier built man, fairly well dressed in civilian's clothes. Inspired by a desire to see their features the Sergeant swung himself over the rail, and dropped lightly to the ground. In another moment he was out on the street, in front of the hotel, watching the open door. The two passed within a few feet of him, clearly revealed in the light streaming from the dance hall. The soldier lagged somewhat behind, an insignificant, rat-faced fellow, but the larger man walked straight, with squared shoulders. He wore a broad-brimmed hat pulled low over his eyes, and a black beard concealed the lower portion of his face. Hamlin followed as the two pushed their way up among the idle crowds congregated on the wooden steps, and peered in through the wide doorway. Satisfied that he would recognize both worthies when they met again; and Hamlin sank back on the bench and leaned his head on his hand. Had any thing been accomplished by this interview? One thing, at least—he had thoroughly demonstrated that he chafed once exercised over his imagination by this beautiful woman had completely vanished. He saw her now as she was—heartless, selfish, using her spell of beauty for her own sordid ends. If there had been left a shred of romance in his memory of her, it was now completely shattered. Her coolness, her adroit changing of moods, convinced him she was playing a game. What game? Nothing in her words had revealed its nature, yet the man instinctively felt that it must involve Molly McDonald. Laboriously he reviewed word by word, each sentence exchanged striving to find some clue. He had noticed her in the Gaskins affair, there was no doubt of that she knew, or at least suspected, the party having the shot. She denied at first having been married to LeFevre, and yet later had been compelled to acknowledge that marriage. There then was a deliberate falsehood which must have been told for a purpose. What purpose? Did she imagine it would make any difference with him, or did she seek to shield LeFevre from discovery? The latter reason appeared the more probable, for the man must have been in the neighborhood lately, else where did that haversack come from?

So engrossed was Hamlin with these thoughts that he hardly realized that some one had lifted the window curtain cautiously. The beam of light flashed across him, disappearing before he could lift his head to ascertain the cause. Then a voice spoke, and he leaned back to listen.

"Not there; gone back to the dance likely, while we were at the bar."

Nobody out there? This fellow growled his words.

"Some soldier asleep with his head on the rail; drunk, I reckon. Who was she with this time?"

"Barrett?"

"Who? Oh, yes, the fellow who brought in that troop of the Seventh. Lord, the old girl is getting her hooks into him early. Well, as long as Gaskins is laid up, she may as well amuse herself somewhere else. Barrett is rather a good looking, isn't he? Do you know anything about the man? Has he got any stuff?"

"Don't know," answered the gruff voice. "He's a West Pointer. Vera likes to amuse herself once in a while; that's the woman of it. Heard from Gaskins tonight?"

"Oh, he's all right," the man laughed. "That little prick frightened him though. Shut up like a clam."

"So I heard. He'll pay to keep the story quiet, all right. As soon as he is well enough to come down here, well tap his bundle. Swore he was

Practical Fashions

LADY'S NOVEL TAILORED SUIT.

The demi-tailored suit is now the style, and prevails to a much larger extent than the severe models of a couple of years ago. The illustration shows an ideal design for one of these street dresses. It has a coat blouse, made quite plain in both front and back. The closing is slightly on the bias, and the overlapping side is outlined by simple sharp revers, which may be omitted if desired. The neck is finished with a large, handsome collar. The skirt is a two piece model, and the closing may be placed at either of the seams. The dress is one which will develop well in a soft brocade for the coat, with a plain material in the same color for the skirt.

The dress pattern (6178) is cut in sizes 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards of 44 inch material.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

LADY'S TWO PIECE SKIRT.

The two piece skirt remains a favorite, but it is now shown with certain modifications. In the present instance the material is slightly gathered across the back at the waist line, and a little fullness is drawn to one side and held at knee depth at the side seam. The skirt may be high waisted or of normal waist line, as preferred, the high waist being better for part of a costume and normal waist preferred for separate skirts.

The skirt pattern (6194) is cut in sizes 22 to 30 inches waist measure. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

Easy to Fix Situation.

Show Girl (bursting into manager's office)—"Quick! There's a fire behind the scenes, the gang is rushing about like mad and screaming their heads off. Looks like a panic. What will we do?" Manager—"Do!" Ring up the curtain, of course, and let the audience think it is the opening chorus"—Puck.

Tut, Tut.

"I wish," said the brown sugar to the sand, "that you'd get out of this. You're always in my weight!"

Helping the Little Fellow.

The United Shoe Machinery Company is the only real obstacle to the formation of a shoe trust. We help the small manufacturer to start in business and keep going. He could not afford to buy and care for his machines, but he can afford to lease them on the terms we give him based on the number of shoes he makes—an average of less than 2-3 cents a pair—and let us keep them up to date. That is a fair arrangement. Some of the big fellows don't like our system, because they think we ought to give them special rates. But the little fellows stand with us because they know we treat all manufacturers alike no matter how many machines they use. If it were not for our methods of doing business there would be no small factories anywhere and no prosperous factories in small towns.

The United Shoe Machinery Co., Boston, Mass.—Adv.

Favors the Commission Form.

"What is your opinion, 'squire," inquired Joe Doe, "of Senator Smugg's declaration that if the president is going to dictate legislation Congress might as well be abolished?"

"My opinion, Joseph," calmly replied the Old Coder, "is that the senator always did talk too much. He should have said, Congress might as well be abolished, and let it go at that."

A CLERGYMAN'S TESTIMONY.

The Rev. Edmund Heslop, of Wigan, Pa., suffered from Dropsy for a year. His limbs and feet were swollen and puffed. He had heart fluttering, was dizzy and exhausted at the least exertion. Hands and feet were cold and he had such a dragging sensation across the loins that it was difficult to move.

After using 5 boxes of Dodds Kidney Pills the swelling disappeared and he felt himself again. He says he has been benefited and blessed by the use of Dodds Kidney Pills. Several months later he wrote: "I have not changed my faith in your remedy since the above statement was authorized. Correspond with Rev. E. Heslop about this wonderful remedy."

Dodds Kidney Pills 50c per box at your dealer or Dodds Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Write for Household Hints, also music of National Anthem (English and German words) and recipes for dainty dishes. All sent free. Adv.

Easy Winner.

A friend of my eleven-year-old brother told him that his mother had a new fan which was hand painted. "Poon," said my little brother, "our whole fence is."

HUSBAND NAILED RUBBER ON GATES

Wife so Weak and Nervous Could Not Stand Least Noise—How Cured.

Munford, Ala.—"I was so weak and nervous while passing through the Change of Life that I could hardly live. My husband had to nail rubber on all the gates for I could not stand it to have a gate slam."

"I also had backache and a fullness in my stomach. I noticed that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was advertised for such cases and I sent and got a bottle. It did me so much good that I kept on taking it and found it to be all you claim. I recommend your Compound to all women afflicted as I was."—Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORE, Munford, Alabama.

An Honest Dependable Medicine

is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A Root and Herb medicine originated nearly forty years ago by Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for controlling female ills.

Its wonderful success in this line has made it the safest and most dependable medicine of the age for women and no woman suffering from female ills does herself justice who does not give it a trial.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

A New Back for an Old One—How a Northville Resident Made a Bad Back Strong.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the pains are so lame that to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back if the kidneys are weak. You cannot reach the cause. Follow the example of this Northville citizen.

Mrs. R. Cole, Horton Ave., Northville, Mich., says: "Members of my family have used Doan's Kidney Pills with fine results. One of us had lame back and soreness across the loins. Doan's Kidney Pills entirely relieved him of the trouble. Another suffered from trouble with the kidney secretions, and in this case, Doan's Kidney Pills also gave quick relief. We are all pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills because we know just how good they are."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

Love is thin when faults are thick. Good schools, good churches and good roads never fail to make a good town.

Make it a rule to have the back yard, at all times, as clean as the front one.

Don't forget the Baptist ladies' bake sale in Huff's hardware store tomorrow, Saturday.

What is laughter? asks a scientist. It is a sound that you hear when your hat blows off.

Regular Convocation of Union Chapter No. 55, R. A. M. Wednesday, May 14, at 7:30 p. m.

Regular communication of Northville lodge No. 186 F. & A. M. Monday, May 12, at 7:30 p. m.

It used to be that in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turned to thoughts of love, but nowadays it is firmly glued to baseball.

J. W. Clapp has sold his farm west of the Fishery to a Mr. Owen of Adrian, and has moved to the Dr. Banks farm at West Novi.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gladding of Moorhead, Minn., a son on Mar. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Gladding were formerly Northville residents.

Rev. J. E. Webber pulled off a good stunt Monday evening when he brought the Presbyterian double quartet up to the rink to furnish music at the Business Men's meeting.

The third Sunday in May (the 18th) has been designated by Gov. Ferris as Mothers' day. A white carnation is worn for a departed mother and a pink one for the mothers who are living.

M. A. Porter's property on Center street, formerly occupied by the A. S. Parsons grocery house, is undergoing extensive repairs on the interior. When completed W. L. Timham and Robt. Cameron will run a pool room there.

An exchange wants to know, "What are our young men coming to?" Coming to see our girls, of course. Just keep your eye on them next Sunday evening and you will be convinced we have solved the problem correctly.

The man who has enemies amounts to something. He is a live man. He is a fighter. People don't kick a corpse. A live man can swim against the current, a corpse floats down without hindrance. God of our enemies. We love them. They make life worth living.

The country editor is a reliable encyclopedia. A subscriber sent us this query recently: "What ails my hens?" Every morning I find one or more of them keeled over to rise no more." Our reply was: "The fowls are dead. It is an old complaint, and nothing can be done except bury them."

Don't be a knocker. Hide your little hammer. What is to hinder you from speaking well of your own town on all occasions? It is just as easy to tell your visitors that our town is composed of as good people as inhabit the earth. You will break none of the ten commandments in saying this.

This is the time of the year when the old hen never fails to get into your neighbor's garden. You know the result. One good scratching hen can in five minutes scratch up all the friendship that has been growing for many years between neighbors. Keep her at home or cut her head off.

Mothers' day will be observed in the M. E. church and Sunday school Sunday, May 11. An appropriate sermon will be given at the former and recitations and music befitting the occasion, at the latter service. Next little invitations to attend these exercises have been sent out in the form of post cards decorated with carnations.

There are plenty of fellows who could teach a better school than those who teach, preach a better sermon than those who preach, who could run a better business and publish a better paper. Yes, the woods are full of them, but they neither teach, preach, run a better business or publish a better paper. They are like the lilies of the field, they toil not, neither do they spin.

If you have one of the new ruckles you better keep one as a souvenir as it is understood no more are to be issued. Slet machine manufacturers are finding fault with the nickel, claiming that it cannot be used with facility in their devices. However, it has been found that the new coin can be slipped into a savings deposit without inconvenience, and using it in this way is a very commendable alternative.

"I have been somewhat costive, but Doan's Regulets gave just the results desired. They act mildly and regulate the bowels perfectly."—George B. Krause, 306 Walnut Ave., Altoona, Pa.

James VanDyne and family have moved to their new home on South Center street.

There's a great deal of plain horse sense in the Building & Loan ad in this week's issue.

Mrs. Mary Austin who has been ill at her home in Beakworth for some months is very low.

Warren VanDyne and family move this week to their newly purchased home on South Wing street.

Sam McLean has purchased the brick house on Grace avenue, formerly owned by Mrs. Minnie Beals of Detroit.

The Northville Women's club is to observe Arbor and Bird day with appropriate exercises at the library this afternoon.

Maybe it is just a fish story, but we hear that a 25 pound fish was caught in the lake on the Jos'm farm recently.

Premium lists are being sent out by the Michigan State Fair Association for the annual fair to be held from September 15 to 20.

Isn't the world getting to be a beautiful place, with the flowers and trees and grass coming back to life? Surely life is well worth living nowadays.

A subscription paper is being circulated among the business men for funds for uniforming the band players. Up to date there has been $125 raised.

The Northville High defeated the Milford nine on local grounds Saturday afternoon. Score 16 to 1. The "Progressives" of Detroit will be tomorrow, Saturday's evening.

Announcements have been received here of the graduation of Donald H. Safford at Cornet Lake, Pa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Safford, former Northville residents.

Just a reminder of the May party to be given in the rink this Friday evening. Music by a Stone's orchestra. Bill $1.00 with delicious luncheon. Proceeds go to Northville band.

Many Methodist ladies make merry at the home of Mrs. Penton on North Center street, Tuesday afternoon, the 12th, at 2:00 o'clock. Leave your housecleaning. Bring your plate, cup, spoon and fork and make merry too. A dainty menu will be served.

Blake Wheeler, a former Northville boy, now of Moline, Ill., has taken up the study of undertaking and embalming with a corner in that city. He will enter this line of work in addition to his regular duties of reporting for the Davenport Daily Times.

Mayor Schrader calls your attention to the spring clean-up day for Northville, on May 15. Each citizen should clean up his yard, removing all inflammable materials, rubbish and debris, in fact all things liable to cause fire or dangerous to health. In this way he will help both himself and his neighbor.

The Dayton, Ohio, flood pictures proved a big drawing card at the moving picture show Tuesday evening. The opera house was packed, both upstairs and down. The flood pictures displayed the great damage and loss of property, bringing home to the audience the awfulness of it all. Several other reels rounded out a fine evening's entertainment.

Avery Garfield underwent another operation on his arm in Grace hospital, Detroit, Tuesday. His hand was taken off at the wrist after it had been hopelessly mangled in a corn shredder two years ago. It has never ceased to pain him and this second operation, taking off more of the arm, was performed in the hopes of doing away with his suffering.

Owing to a slight mental aberration on the part of the president of the W. R. C. it was announced in last week's Record that the regular meeting of the Corps was to occur this week Wednesday evening. As the meetings are held the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month, there is occasionally an interval of three weeks between them instead of two weeks, which was the case in this instance, leading to the error. Meeting next Wednesday, May 14.

J. A. Huff is advertising Perfection oil heaters.

Work aprons and scrims figure in White's ad this week.

Chinamel exhibit at Steer's hardware next week.

Mrs. J. N. Elliott is quite ill at her home on Northside, having suffered a stroke Tuesday.

The greenhouse people, according to their ad, are prepared for all demands for flowers for Mothers' day.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a bake sale in C. A. Ponsford's dry goods store Saturday, May 24.

House cleaning is the most popular pastime nowadays. A word to the wise—C. A. Ponsford is advertising curtains this week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. George Suprian an 8 pound boy on April 29. Mr. Suprian is employed in E. J. Murdock's barber shop.

Dr. J. M. Burgess, who is making his home in Detroit, will be in Northville every Wednesday, for the purpose of keeping up his practice here.

The streets in the business section received their first oiling of the year on Tuesday. Commendation is being heard on all sides, as it has been unusually dusty this spring and so hard to keep the interior of the stores neat and clean.

Last Friday was clean up day at the school. If you had happened by the school grounds that afternoon you would have been assured of the fact. The pupils of the Third, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh grades with their teachers, were working like Trojans with rakes and brooms to clean up that yard—and they succeeded—believe us!

Six o'clock is the usual hour of meeting on Monday evenings of the Clover Whist club. This week it was Mrs. E. C. Hinkley's turn to entertain and she told them not to wait till 6:00 o'clock, but to come early. So they did. Just before the noon hour the ladies arrived at her home, attired in sunbonnets and work dresses, taking their dinner with them. Mrs. H. bore up bravely under this assault and joined in the fun, but one thing's sure, she'll not tell them to "come early" again.

Miss Mary Kunkle was the guest of honor at a kitchen shower given by the Misses Bertina White and Hazel Bishop at the home of the latter Wednesday evening. About eighteen young ladies were very pleasantly entertained at guessing contents and other original "amts", and dainty refreshments were served. The ladies to be received many useful gifts for use in the culinary practice which she is about to enter.

THE FIREPLACE.

Notwithstanding all the modern inventions for heating I tell you there is nothing so full of geniality—and sociability as the old-fashioned country fire place. The neighbors were to come in for a winter evening of sociability in the middle of the afternoon, in the best room in the house, some one brought in a great back log, with great strain and put it down on the back of the hearth. Then the lighter wood was put on armful after armful. Then a shovel of coals was taken from another room and put under the dry pile, and the kindling began, and the crackling, and it rose until it became a roaring flame which filled all the room with geniality and was reflected from the family pictures on the wall. Then the neighbors came in two by two. They sat down, their faces to the fire, which ever and anon was stirred with tongs and readjusted on the andirons and there were such times of rustic repartee and story telling and mirth as the black stove and blind register never dreamed of, meanwhile the table was being spread, and so fair was the cloth and so clear was the cutlery they glisten and glisten in our mind today. And then the best hours of brocards and farm yard was roasted and prepared for the table to meet the appetites sharpened by the cold ride. We heartily wish for a return of the old fire place. Our reader whose looks have witnessed by the cross of many winters, know that the old picture of the fire place is not to be.

DECORATION DAY

The beautiful picture of May which comes to us with the new green of flow is not much to be desired and beautiful as it is, it brings to us Memorial Day and with it many a sad story. We do not hesitate to tell you for our knowledge at the graves of our fallen ones. Many of us have seen the old and mothers now living here tell of the story to their children so that it is not of the living and dead but of the living and the dead. On such a page of such a book you can read that, with the rather he able to say. My father told me so. My mother told me so. Men and women who vividly remember 1861 and 1862 and 1863 and 1864, be yourselves the historians telling it not with pen but with living tongue and voice and gesture. That is the great use of Memorial Decoration Day, for the early hies on the grave tops soon become breathless of perfume and in a week turn to dust like us to that calla lilies on the grave tops. soon story of courage and self-sacrifice and patriotism told on platforms and in households and by the roadside and in churches and in cemeteries, but our annual recital will be kept fresh in the memory of generations as long as our American institutions are worthy of preservation.

DON'T ROB BIRDS' NESTS.

The Record has been informed that, in spite of all the instruction that has been given in our schools, and the strict laws that have been enacted for the protection of our bird life, there are still left boys who rob birds' nests. It seems scarcely possible after all that has been said that any boy of ordinary intelligence would deliberately break the eggs in a robin's nest, as a Northville boy was seen to do recently, or that he could be ignorant that he was breaking the laws of the state by so doing.

The same vexation a man feels in putting up a stove pipe; a woman has in putting her hat on straight.

Six of ten people who hunt you up want to tell you their troubles, and the remaining four have bills.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Wayne, ss.: At a session of the Probate Court for said County of Wayne, held at the Probate Court Room in the City of Detroit, on the twenty-sixth day of April, in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen.

Present, Henry S. Hulbert, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of ANGUS McKAY, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition duly verified, of James A. Dunbar, administrator of said estate, praying that he may be licensed to sell certain real estate of said deceased for the purpose of paying the debts of said deceased and the charges of administering said estate.

It is ordered, that the third day of June next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Court Room, be appointed for hearing said petition, and that all persons interested in said estate appear before said Court at said time and place, to show cause why a license should not be granted to said administrator to sell real estate as prayed for in said petition. And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be published three successive weeks previous to said time of hearing, in the Northville Record a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Wayne.

HENRY S. HULBERT, Judge of Probate.
CHAS. C. CHADWICK, Probate Clerk. 40-42.

A New Back for an Old One—How a Northville Resident Made a Bad Back Strong.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the lums are so lame that to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back if the kidneys are weak. You cannot reach the cause. Follow the example of this Northville citizen.

Mrs. R. Cole, Horton Ave., Northville, Mich., says: "Members of my family have used Doan's Kidney Pills with fine results. One of us had lame back and soreness across the lums. Doan's Kidney Pills entirely relieved him of the trouble. Another suffered from trouble with the kidney secretions and in this case, Doan's Kidney Pills also gave quick relief. We are all pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills because we know just how good they are."

NORTHVILLE.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

Love is thin when faults are thick. Good schools, good churches and good roads never fail to make a good town.

Make it a rule to have the back yard, at all times, as clean as the front one.

Don't forget the Baptist ladies' bake sale in Huff's hardware store tomorrow, Saturday.

What is laughter? asks a scientist. It is a sound that you hear when your hat blows off.

Regular Convocation of Union Chapter No. 55, R. A. M. Wednesday, May 14, at 7:30 p. m.

Regular communication of Northville lodge No. 186, F. & A. M. Monday, May 12, at 7:30 p. m.

It used to be that in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turned to thoughts of love, but nowadays it is firmly glued to baseball.

J. W. Clapp, has sold his farm west of the Fishery to a Mr. Owen of Adrian, and has moved to the Dr. Banks farm at West Novi.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gladding of Moorhead, Minn., a son on Mar. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Gladding were formerly Northville residents.

Rev. J. E. Webber pulled off a good stunt Monday evening when he brought the Presbyterian double quartet up to the rink to furnish music at the Business Men's meeting.

The third Sunday in May (the 18th) has been designated by Gov. Ferris as Mothers' day. A white carnation is worn for a departed mother and a pink one for the mother who is living.

M. A. Porlier's property on Center street, formerly occupied by the A. S. Parsons grocery house, is undergoing extensive repairs on the interior. When completed W. L. Tinham and Robt. Cameron will run a pool room there.

An exchange wants to know, "What are our young men coming to?" Coming to see our girls, of course. Just keep your eye on them next Sunday evening and you will be convinced we have solved the problem correctly.

The man who has enemies amounts to something. He is a live man. He is a fighter. People don't kick a corpse. A live man can swim against the current; a corpse floats down without hindrance. God bless our enemies. We love them. They make life worth living.

The country editor is a reliable encyclopedia. A subscriber sent us this query recently: "What do hens lay?" Every morning I find one or more of them kicked over to rise no more. Our reply was: "The fowl are dead. It is an old complaint, and nothing can be done except bury them."

Don't be a knocker. Hide your little hammer. What is to hinder you from speaking well of your own town on all occasions? It is just as easy to tell your visitors that our town is composed of as good people as inhabit the earth. You will break none of the ten commandments in saying this.

This is the time of the year when the old hen never fails to get into your neighbor's garden. You know the result. One good scratching hen can in five minutes scratch up all the friendship that has been growing for many years between neighbors. Keep her at home or cut her head off.

Mothers' day will be observed in the M. B. church and Sunday school Sunday, May 11. An appropriate sermon will be given at the former and recitations and music befitting the occasion, at the latter service. Next little invitations to attend these exercises have been sent out in the form of post cards decorated with carnations.

There are plenty of fellows who could teach a better school than those who teach, preach a better sermon than those who preach, who could run a better business and publish a better paper. Yes, the woods are full of them, but they neither teach, preach, run a better business or publish a better paper. They are like the lilies of the field, they toil not, neither do they spin.

If you have one of the new nickels you better keep one as a souvenir as it is understood no more are to be issued. Slot machine manufacturers are finding fault with the nickel, claiming that it cannot be used with facility in their devices. However, it has been found that the new coin can be slipped into a savings deposit without inconvenience, and using it in this way is a very commendable alternative.

James VanDyne and family have moved to their new home on South Center street.

There's a great deal of plain horse sense in the Building & Loan ad in this week's issue.

Mrs. Mary Anstine who has been ill at her home in Zeeland for some months, is very low.

Warren VanDyne and family move this week to their newly purchased home on South Wing street.

Sam McLean has purchased the brick house on Grace avenue, formerly owned by Mrs. Mammie Beals of Detroit.

The Northville Women's club is to observe Arbor and Bird day with appropriate exercises at the library this afternoon.

Maybe it is just a fish story, but we hear that a 25 pound fish was caught in the lake on the Joslin farm recently.

Premann lists are being sent out by the Michigan State Fair association for the annual fair to be held from September 15 to 23.

Isn't the world getting to be a beautiful place, with the "cinders and trees and grass coming back to life?" Surely life is well worth living nowadays.

A subscription paper is being circulated among the business men for funds for conforming the hard played. Up to date there has been $125 raised.

The Northville High defeated the Milford nine on local grounds Saturday afternoon. Score 10 to 1. The "Progressives" of Detroit will tomorrow, Saturday, be in.

Announcements have been received here of the graduation of Donald H. Safford at Cornell College, Pa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Safford, of Northville.

Just a reminder of the May party to be given at the rink this Friday evening. Music by Stanek orchestra. But $1.00, with delicious luncheon. Proceeds go to Northville band.

Many Methodist patrons make merry at the home of Mr. Linton on North Center street Tuesday afternoon, the 13th at 2:00 o'clock. Leave your housecleaning, bring your plate, cup, spoon and fork and make merry too. A dainty menu will be served.

Blake Wheeler, a former Northville boy, now of Molina, Ill., has taken up the study of undertaking and embalming with a coroner in that city. He will enter this line of work in addition to his regular duties of reporting for the Davenport Daily Times.

Mayor Schrader calls your attention to the spring clean-up day for Northville, on May 15. Each citizen should clean up his yard, removing all inflammable materials, rubbish and debris, in fact all things liable to cause fire or dangerous to health. In this way we will help both himself and his neighbor.

The Dayton, Ohio, food pictures proved a big drawing card at the moving picture show Tuesday evening. The opera house was packed, both upstairs and down. The food pictures displayed the great damage and loss of property, bringing home to the audience the awfulness of it all. Several other reels rounded out a fine evening's entertainment.

Avery Garfield underwent another operation on his arm in Grace hospital, Detroit, Tuesday. His hand was taken off at the wrist after it had been hopelessly mangled in a corn shredder two years ago. It has never ceased to pain him and this second operation, taking off more of the arm, was performed in the hopes of doing away with his suffering.

Owing to a slight mental aberration on the part of the president of the W. R. C. it was announced in last week's Record that the regular meeting of the Corps was to occur this week Wednesday evening. As the meetings are held the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month, there is occasionally an interval of three weeks between them instead of two weeks, which was the case in this instance, leading to the error. Meeting next Wednesday, May 14.

J. A. Huff is advertising Perfection off heaters.

Work aprons and serims figure in White's ad this week.

Chin-amen exhibition at Steer's hardware next week.

Mrs. J. N. Elliott is quite ill at her home on Northside, having suffered a stroke Tuesday.

The greenhouse people, according to their ad, are prepared for all demands for flowers for Mothers' day.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a bake sale in C. A. Ponsford's dry goods store Saturday, May 24.

House cleaning is the most popular pastime nowadays. A word to the wise—C. A. Ponsford is advertising curtains this week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. George Suprian an 8 pound boy on April 29. Mr. Suprian is employed in E. J. Murdock's barber shop.

Dr. J. M. Burgess, who is making his home in Detroit, will be in Northville every Wednesday, for the purpose of keeping up his practice here.

The streets in the business section received their first oiling of the year on Tuesday. Commendation is being heard on all sides, as it has been unusually dusty this spring and so hard to keep the interior of the stores neat and clean.

Last Friday was clean up day at the school. If you had happened by the school grounds that afternoon you would have been assured of the fact. The pupils of the Third, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh grades with their teachers, were working like Trojans with rakes and brooms to clean up that yard—and they succeeded. Be ye us!

Six o'clock is the usual hour of meeting on Monday evenings of the Clover Whist club. This week it was Mrs. E. C. Hinkley's turn to entertain and she told them 'not to wait till 6:00 o'clock, but to come early.' So they did. Just before the noon hour the ladies arrived at her home, attired in sunbonnets and work dresses, taking their dinner with them. Mrs. H. bore up bravely under this assault and joined in the fun, but one thing's sure, she'll not tell them to 'come early' again.

Miss Mary Kunkle was the guest of honor at a kitchen shower given by the Misses Martha White and Hazel Bishop at the home of the latter Wednesday evening. About eighteen young ladies were very pleasantly entertained at this interesting contest and other original stunts, and dainty refreshments were served. The bride to be received many useful gifts for use in the culinary practice which she is about to enter.

"The American Home, the Safeguard of American Liberties."

"Money won't buy happiness,
Or ease an aching heart,
It will not bring the sunbeams back
If ever they depart.
It will not drive the rain away
Or make a bad day glad some.
Nor chronic indigestion cure
But still I wish I had some."

It surely is a nice thing to have and there's no danger of your getting more of it than you know what to do with.

One way to accumulate a little surplus would be to take out a few shares of Loan Association Stock. On this stock you would pay 12 1/2¢ each week per share, or on 8 shares $1.00 a week. It is altogether likely that you wouldn't miss a dollar, but suppose that after you had been paying in four years, $200 would come awful handy to you.

Well, your Loan Stock is worth more than that and can be had any day you want it.

RESULTS.

In April, 1904, a certain party took out 10 Shares of Stock and kept the payments up till April, 1912, when the stock was surrendered. During the 8 years the stock was in force he had paid into the Association $522.50 and received back $694.10 or $171.60 more than he paid in. Of course $171.60 profit doesn't look very large, still it is more than he would have received if the $522.50 had been drawing interest at 3 per cent during the entire 8 years.

Just figure this out and see for yourself; also remember that the total amount of $522.50 was paid into the Association at the rate of $12.50 a week.

In the Association each shareholder is a partner in the business, and after a certain time is entitled to all the profits his stock has earned, so why not put your money in a place, where, after a while, you receive ALL instead of only A PART of the profits your money has made?

This party we have been telling you about was wise to this. We don't suppose he told anyone what had happened to him, but felt that the Association was worthy of support and was perfectly willing to assume a large share of the burden himself, so as quietly as a fellow in a watermelon patch he comes back and says "Give me Twenty Shares More."

NORTHVILLE LOCALS.

The man is a rarity in these days of whom it can be said "there are no flies on him" for they are everywhere; but twenty drops of carbolic acid evaporated from a shovel, says an exchange, will banish them from a room quicker than all the sticky fly-paper in existence.

What They Quarreled
About

"I never can understand why a woman wants to keep a room as dark as a pocket!"

"And I never can see why a man can't read a paper without having every blind in the house wide open!"

Sunday noon—a cloudy Sunday—when Paul had felt too tired to go to church and Frances had gone alone. Returning in the state of readiness for irritation that often follows spiritual uplift, she found her husband in the parlor, haloed by tobacco smoke and encompassed by Sunday papers. Every shade was up to its full height, every curtain pushed aside.

The sermon had been on "The Sins of the Tongue." It hadn't been for that Frances felt she could have said volumes as she went about the room, straightening curtains and shades. As her efforts narrowed the light which fell on her husband's paper, he looked up with some annoyance.

"You make it so dark I can't read," he commented.

"There's no sense in having everything sprawled wide open like that. It makes the house look horrid to have the shades clear up to the top of the windows."

Then came the remark with which this began and Frances' retort. With the words a recollection of the sermon flashed into her mind and she shut her lips tightly and stooped to pick up the scattered papers.

"Here, I'll do that," said Paul, rising lazily. "But what's the sense of picking them up before I've done reading them?"

"They look so untidy!"

"There's no one here to be hurt by it except us, and I certainly don't mind it!"

"And I certainly do!"

"I beg your pardon—Of course, if they don't suit you they must go!"

"Do just as you please! I don't care how you keep the place!"

And Frances left the room with dignity, her head very straight. To go to church and say your prayers and come home feeling happy and good, and then to be met by a thing like this the moment you get into the house! What was the use?

Like a profane echo came the murmur from the room she had quitted: "Oh, hell, what's the use?"

Frances stood still. Should she go upstairs and cry or go back and laugh. Then—was it the sermon or the swear?—she began to giggle. That saved the day. She dropped into a seat on the bottom step and broke into a shriek of laughter.

"Hullo! What's the matter?" from Paul.

"It's so funny! Here I come home feeling pious and prayerful, and lose my temper the first thing and scold, and you wear! Say, isn't it funny?"

"If that's the way you look at it—"

"Well, it is! Leave your old papers all over the room if you want, and put the pesky shades out of the windows if you like. I don't care! I'd rather have any old mess than a row. Let's be comfortable!"

Paul made a circular grab at his papers. "They may go hang for all of me! I thought you were going off to cry."

"I was!"

"Well, I'm glad to know how to break up a weep. One little 'cuss word' worked the cure. By George, I'm glad I married a good sport!"

BEARS HAVE LITTLE CHANCE

Methods of Hunters in India Make Capture of Game They Go After a Certainty.

A curious method of capturing wild bears is employed in certain parts of India. Four or five sturdy men are armed, two with long spears cross-barred on the handles close to the sharp two-edged blade, and two or three with ten-foot bamboos, of which the ends are smeared with bird lime.

Thus equipped and leading several powerful dogs, the hunters rally forth an hour or so before dawn. They pass along the base of the hills with the fresh morning wind blowing up from the plains below.

Should the hunters be lucky, it is not long before the fierce dogs find the bear, and though the dogs of this species hunt silently, their straining on the leash informs their owners that the game is nigh.

The dogs are slipped and disappear in the darkness. Soon their howling and growling are heard.

they have found the game. The hunters run up to the spot where the bear is fighting with the dogs.

The men with the limed poles poke the bear in the ribs and adroitly twist the ends in its long hair, thus holding it fast on each flank. The spearman complete the operation by repeated spear thrusts.

It is said that a party of experienced men with good dogs never fail to secure the bear in this way.

Insolvent Debater.

"So you took your wife to the baseball game?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Meekton.

"Did she enjoy it?"

"Only parts of it. She thought they wasted a good deal of time running around the lot, but she thought the arguments with the umpires were quite interesting."

Sterilization of Water by Light.

At the recent hygiene exhibition at Dresden apparatus was shown, by means of which water may be purified on a large scale through the use of ultra-violet light. This method is now in use in France on a large scale, and is found to be both practical and economical. The amount of electrical current required to produce the ultra-violet light is small. The efficiency is so great that the water, after treating, is found to contain not more than twenty-five or thirty germs to the ounce, which is far better than anything that has ever been accomplished by a filtering process.—Good Health.

Commissioners

How Would You Like
To Live in Detroit?

Haven't you often thought of moving into "the city" where there are greater opportunities for making money and where your sons and daughters can enjoy business and social conditions to which they are entitled? You have heard of what wonderful things are taking place in Detroit—the fastest growing city in America, immense industrial plants and new ones coming in every day—a constant demand for workmen at high wages—every advantage for young people who are anxious to get up in the world. That's why real estate values are on the jump in Detroit; that is why there is a shortage of houses, building, building everywhere. You can share in this prosperity.

Buy a Lot
in Woodward Park

This subdivision is on the famous Woodward Avenue and only a half hour's ride from the City Hall. Palmer Park is opposite. There are three hundred lots facing on four streets all of which are graded and laid with cement walks. Prices range from $350 up. No other property available in or near Detroit can equal Woodward Park as a site for homes of moderate cost. Lots much less conveniently located are being held at higher prices, but we have decided to place Woodward Park on the market and give buyers the benefit of a specially fortunate deal. Only 10 per cent down and the balance in easy payments.

As a real estate investment involving only a small amount of capital we know that this property can never be excelled. North Woodward land is at a premium, values are increasing tremendously and never again, in all probability, can we place on the market a tract so desirable as Woodward Park at anything like the same figures.

Descriptive Booklet and complete information as to prices, terms, etc. will be mailed upon request. We are the largest real estate operators in Detroit. Any bank trust company or financial agency will satisfy you as to our reliability.
