CHURCHES TO HAVE COMMUNITY DAY

WILL ASK EVERYBODY TO GO TO CHURCH OCT. 5.

Effort to Be Made to Get Everybody Done It.

All the Northville churches are arranging to observe October 5 as a Community Church Day, and an effort will be made to induce everybody to go to church on that day.

There will be special services for the occasion including extra music, and the pastors and congregation will organize to insure a hearty welcome to all who attend.

The pastors believe that everyone would attend church at least a part of the time, if properly urged and that after attending a time or two they would acquire the habit.

Nearly every resident of the town they say urges his or her children to attend Sunday school and yet many a parent neglects to set the example by attending church themselves.

Morning service at all the churches at 10 a. m., evening at 7 o'clock. The theme of the day is "The Place of the Church in the Life of the Community." It never hurts any one to attend church and it is a duty that everyone owes to his family and community, to go at least a part of the time. The pastors want you to be sure to be there on that date, Oct. 5. See the church ad on another page for further particulars.

"LITTLE WOMEN"—GARRICK.

"Little Women," produced by William A. Brady, and which ran all last year at the playhouse in New York, and was pronounced by the critics as the season's delight will be the attraction at the Garrick theatre, Detroit, for the coming week, beginning Monday evening with the regular matinees Wednesday and Saturday and a special matinee will also be given on Thursday at popular prices. "Little Women" has been seen here before about two years ago and scored one of the hits of the season at which time extra matinees were necessary to accommodate those who were unable to get seats for the regular performances.

"Little Women" is a dramatization by Marian de Forest of Louisa M. Alcott's world famous story of the same name, which is loved by millions of readers in every country in the world.

Miss Jessie Bonstelle, whose untiring efforts for eight long years have made possible the dramatization of "Little Women," will come from New York to be present at the opening performance next Monday night, September 29.

Which will it be? Baptist, Methodist or Presbyterian, Sunday, Oct. 5.

BARTON—FEARNLEY.

The marriage of Miss Georgia Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Barton of Milford and Mr. Gordon Fearnley of Detroit, was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents in Milford, the Rev. H. H. Hough of Detroit, reading the marriage ceremony.

The bride wore a charming gown of white lace over white satin and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Shirley Barton.

A pretty feature of the wedding was a group of fifteen ladies, friends of Miss Barton, who held the streamers forming the aisle through which the bridal party passed, preceded by Little Maxine Evans as ring bearer. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Miss Shirley Barton.

A pink and white color scheme was carried throughout the decorations and a profusion of asters and clematis converted the Barton home into a veritable bower of flowers.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served to about 100 guests. Many out of town friends attended.

Mr. Fearnley is well known in Detroit banking circles, being one of the officers and directors of the American State bank. After a trip through the east, the young couple will be at home at 4710 Montclair avenue.—Detroit Free Press

Miss Barton was organist of the Northville M. E. church for some time and has a great many friends here and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Van Valkenburg attended the wedding.

The DAUGHTER of DAVID KERR

by Harry King Toole

Illustrations by Ray Walters

COPYRIGHT BY A. C. MCCLURG & CO., 1913

SYNOPSIS

Gloria Kerr, a motherless girl, who has spent most of her life in school, arrives at her father's home in Belmont. David Kerr is the political boss of the town, and is anxious to protect his daughter from the influence of her real character.

The arrival of Gloria's trunk put an end to further conversation, as she went to superintend their unpacking. Long after she had gone, David Kerr sat gazing into the fire. Many a time he had sat in that room and planned each move of a political campaign from its inception to final victory and had seen those plans carried out to the letter. But here was a campaign, if he should undertake it, which would be different. He would not be fighting on his own ground where he was sure of himself, and into it would enter those unknown, unstable factors—women.

Kerr was proud of his daughter. He recognized that she deserved to associate with the best families. If she was to remain in Belmont, he would see to it that she had a social position which would be above cavil. When he decided there came the question of how it could be brought to pass. The fire had burned low in the grate before he had considered all sides of the question. When he rose from his chair and went to the telephone he had determined upon the only course which would have as its result the launching of Gloria as a debutante in Belmont's exclusive circles.

Great was the surprise in the box office of the Belmont opera house when there came from David Kerr a request for a box. He telephoned to get it aside for him, that he did not know whether or not he would use it, but that he would send a check for the amount in the morning. The much flustered treasurer stammered that he would be most happy to put the box at Mr. Kerr's disposal and have him as a guest of the theater, but Mr. Kerr inquired the price of the box and closed the conversation by repeating that he would send a check for the amount in the morning. And great was the surprise of the servants when at dinner the master of Locust Lawn appeared in evening clothes.

CHAPTER II.

The English surprise Americans in at least one respect; they have learned as a nation far better than has this poorer country the possibilities of a dinner party. Perhaps it is their higher developed social system, more likely it is the general interest which is taken in governmental questions, which gives the dinner table an important, if unofficial, place in political life. A brilliant hostess, with heart and soul wrapped up in her husband's advancement, can do much to aid him as he toils up the ladder of political preferment by gathering at her board the leaders of her husband's party and also prominent men of the opposition. One need have only a superficial knowledge of American politics and American leaders to understand why this is not generally possible here. But there be some here, taking a leaf from England's book, who make the dinner party serve purposes not apparent to all the guests. Judge Amos Gibbs was one of these.

Fond, ambitious mothers held up to their sons as an example the rise of Amos Gibbs from an humble home in a frontier village to a position as the leading corporation lawyer of Belmont. He represented the electric light company, the street railway company, the water company and the stock-yards company. A person with an analytical turn of mind, after studying a list of his clients, might remark that each and every one, individual, partnership or corporation, could be favored by some political turn or damaged by some political machination. They found it better to employ Judge Gibbs than to trust to luck that all would go well.

All day Judge Gibbs had been trying to get in touch with David Kerr by telephone. Kendall, who represented the Chicago packers, had been called back to that city and was anxious to see Kerr before he left that night. Failing in this, Gibbs could make no definite promise as to Mr. Kerr's attitude on certain propositions set forth by the astute Chicago lawyer. On his own authority he did say, however, that the master of Locust Lawn was interested in watching the Belmont News develop its new policy under the new owner and editor who had managed to secure control of the sheet without Kerr's knowledge. That Kendall might see for himself and meet on friendly ground the new and disturbing factor in Belmont politics, Judge Gibbs invited Joe Wright, the new owner of the paper, to dinner. It was just by accident, apparently, that Mr. Kendall had been picked up at almost the last minute. The only others present were Dr. and Mrs. Hayes. Sam Hayes, a rising young physician and surgeon, was coroner of Belmont county, an office which his society friends joked him about, but one which Hayes recognized and accepted as a political stepping stone. Then, too, it gave him opportunities to repay his political friends. David Kerr liked to have such young men hold office.

"Think over, Gilbert and Kendall withdrew to the library for a final conference over the stock-yards situation. Again they tried to telephone David Kerr, only to receive the information that he was not at home. "You really think the Belmont News has been bought by this outsider," queried Kendall, "quite a different aspect on the present situation."

"Judge for yourself," answered the Belmont attorney. "I had Mr. Wright to dinner tonight and that you could meet him without arousing his suspicions. I wanted to help you that much."

What Kendall really thought he evidenced by his indirect reply.

"I don't blame Dave Kerr for being angry because Wright slipped in and bought the paper."

For a minute or more the two men smoked in silence. Kendall was wondering what he could say to his Chicago principals which would make them understand that Belmont was not now the Belmont of the old days, that although to all appearances it was the same the practical eye could detect the vague unrest which pervaded it.

Judge Gibbs had been too long in the harness to wince at a corporation request for the vacation of a principal thoroughfare and a public park, but he was tired of the long fight for grasping masters whose one demand was always for more, more, more. And yet he had no sympathy with such men as Joe Wright. He had made up his mind, however, that he would not aid the company in this new franchise grab. He was partly led to this conclusion, all unconsciously, because he knew David Kerr was not betraying any interest in it.

"The river eats up our tracks on the west," protested Kendall. "The stock-yards'll never be safe while we depend on the one line." Then he added with emphasis, "We must come down Maple avenue on the east and use Benton Park for switching yards."

"It can't be done."

"It can be done. Dave Kerr can do anything he pleases. He's the absolute boss of Belmont."

This was said with such a tone of finality that Judge Gibbs saw no need of replying. He knew that Kerr was the absolute boss of Belmont. There flashed through the minds of both men the thought that the Belmont News might have something to say. It couldn't prevent a franchise being passed, of course, but publicity at times was unpleasant. This was something Kerr did not court, Gibbs knew. He was the easy boss, letting every one have a share of the spoils, and thus all were satisfied. Few indeed had been the times when the town had attempted to revolt.

"You'd have the whole town up in arms," remonstrated Gibbs. "They've been up in arms before. Once they brought ropes to hang the council, but Kerr put through the water works deal. You're the attorney for the street-railway company; you know what he did there."

"Yes, yes I know," Gibbs admitted hastily. Then with a sigh of relief, "That's all past."

He ran his hand through his hair, gray long before the frost of age could come to silver it, and was thoughtful that such episodes were things of the past. He was weary of it all. Kendall's next remark, delivered with the chill incisiveness of a lawyer cross-examining a belligerent witness, brought him once more to the defense of the man who had made his success possible.

"Is Dave Kerr keeping out of the deal only through fear of young Wright and the Belmont News?"

"He isn't afraid of anything," Mr. Kerr merely says that it doesn't interest him at the present time. As for me, I'm out of it."

"You're still Kerr's right-hand adviser." "Pardon me, his legal adviser." Kendall did not pause to acknowledge the distinction, but went on this time straight to the heart of the matter.

"I made what the stock-yards people consider a good offer. If that isn't enough, what's his price?"

This point-blank question irritated Gilbert. He much preferred to call a spade an agricultural implement even when talking with those who stood close to him in his manipulations for the various corporations he represented. He therefore ignored the question, preferring to tell why the matter could not be taken up at present.

"The election's coming on in a couple of months, and your franchise would be made an issue. We can't afford it with the News in a position to boost the opposition party."

"I've got to get it through as soon as possible. There's nothing raw in this franchise, is there?"

"That's the Chicago point of view," answered Kendall. "Stripped of legal verbiage, what you want is to lay railroad tracks, on which will run cattle trains, down a pretty residence street and use a park for terminals, all without giving property owners or the city adequate compensation for ruining or confiscating their property. I call that pretty raw."

"Well, it's our best and certainly our cheapest way if Kerr will put through a franchise for us," Kendall maintained stubbornly. "I'll come back next week, and take the matter up again. In the meantime you can talk it over thoroughly with Kerr. He may have something to say by that time."

"It hardly seems likely. He seldom changes his mind."

"He may this time. I've got to get away now and go by the hotel before I go to the train. Let's go back to the drawing-room, where I can have a few more words with Wright. We may be able to win him over."

"That's what I'm going to try to do," replied Judge Gibbs, as they rose to rejoin Mrs. Gilbert and her guests.

The attorneys entered the drawing-room to find a discussion regarding newspapers just drawing to a close with victory still uncertain on which standard to perch.

"You just missed hearing Dr. Hayes pay his respects to newspapers, Judge Gibbs," said Joe Wright with a smile.

"He May This Time."

The layman's opinions always interest and usually amuse a journalist. "What's the matter? Have you told him you won't publish the box scores of the ball games this year?"

"I'll do that for him, and gladly." "Then there's no occasion to kick. That's the only thing that can trouble a fat man."

"This time I was speaking generally," explained Hayes. "I don't like some of the ways reporters have."

"That's only a small part of the business," laughed Wright. "If you complain only about that I shall have you for a staunch adherent."

Mrs. Hayes saw that Kendall was at a loss to understand the drift of the conversation, and accordingly said, "Dr. Hayes is coroner, Mr. Kendall, and the Banner man calls us up at most unearthly hours."

The Belmont Banner was the morning paper, and its editor, Deacon Jerry Withrow, was always at the beck and call of the boss. Kerr let him think that he had something to do with directing the affairs of the city. This was a harmless delusion, since his pliant attitude always made him consider a suggestion let fall by the boss as a scheme which he himself had hatched.

"I think it is dreadful for nice men to be mixed up in politics," said Mrs. Gibbs.

Perhaps it was no more dreadful than was the lack of knowledge of politics displayed by the nice women of Belmont. This would have been difficult to impress upon Mrs. Gibbs. She knew well enough that her husband was consulted by that odious David Kerr, but that was in a legal way and Kerr paid well for the advice he received. Even the tone in which she spoke showed how thankful she was her husband was not in politics. Mrs. Hayes was quick to say what she thought along the same line by adding:

"And Dr. Hayes doesn't have to at all, you know. He says he does it for the good of the party."

This would have been all very interesting to Kendall if he had had the entire evening to spend in such pleasant company. Time was pressing, however, and in the few minutes still at his disposal he wished to sound Wright at greater length about the Belmont News.

Kendall looked closely at the young man whom he had already set down as an opponent. Physically Wright seemed no shirker of a combat. His shoulders were broad and his body well developed. Leg to believe from his knowledge of the reformer type that he would find Joe Wright a long-haired theorist and Utopian dreamer, the lawyer found instead a self-possessed, well-balanced young man. The newspaper owner's manner, even in repose, was judicial. To Kendall's thinking he had the air of a man who would not be swayed by prejudices or likings. It was his part, however, as a special pleader, to make Wright think himself too much an idealist if he could be opposing the just claims of the stock-yards company.

"I suppose you found the News somewhat run down when you took hold of it," Kendall remarked casually.

"Yes, the name was about all I bought."

"I thought the paper had a pretty good mechanical plant," interjected Gilbert.

Instinctively Wright felt the concerted action masked under the innocent question and the remark by Gilbert. Just what Kendall had to gain he did not know, but since he recognized him as a representative of large interests he thought best to let him know what stand the News might be expected to take. It was just as well that Gilbert should have it clearly in mind also. If the clients of these men were playing the game fair and square they would welcome his kind of newspaper. If they weren't, and Wright knew there had been lapses from grace on the part of some of them, he hoped they would recognize in the paper the power which would first seek to prevent, and, failing in this, then try to correct. Judge Gibbs' allusion to the good mechanical plant he seized upon for a text.

"That's true, the News has a good mechanical plant." He paused to let that sink in before he continued. "Somehow or other when I think of a newspaper I never think of that side of it. I have in mind only the feeling of confidence with which a newspaper inspires its readers."

"What do you think the ideal news paper is like?" asked Judge Gibbs. He wanted to know to what kind of star this young man had hitched his wagon.

"The ideal newspaper is one which has no axe to grind, and no personal animus in the discussion of private affairs or public questions, but only a constant regard for the truth and the lasting welfare of the state."

Kendall went to what he considered the heart of the matter.

"Aren't you leaving out of consideration, Mr. Wright, that everything—this government, even—is but a compromise?"

"No, I recognize that, and I believe in compromise. Without it we would still be cave dwellers. It is exactly because of this everpresent compromise—that an honest newspaper is so valuable. It must see to it that this compromise is open and above board. It mustn't be the give-and-take trade of low politicians in the back room of a saloon or the far more dangerous trades of men higher up and powerful interests; not that kind of compromise, which after all is a sale of something one does not legally own to one who cannot or will not secure it honestly. I tell you that the majority must rule fairly and with a proper deference for the rights of the minority, that's where a newspaper can be of service."

Having decided to deliver a broadside, Wright had gone about it with great enthusiasm. The sight of Mrs. Hayes gazing wonderingly at him, for she did not understand what he meant, caused the editor to break off with a laugh. He recognized that Judge Gibbs' drawing-room was not the proper place for a lengthy exposition of his views.

"I'm afraid I'm preaching," he apologized, "and there's nothing I hate more than that." "Not at all," protested Kendall. "Your views interest me greatly, Mr. Wright. When I come again I am going to see how far along you are on the road to the ideal."

With this Kendall announced that he must be going, and made his adieu. To have a few last words about Wright, Judge Gibbs accompanied the visiting attorney even to the front gate. His very last assertion was that he himself would have nothing to do with the proposed franchise grab and that he was morally certain David Kerr was of the same frame of mind.

HADN'T TOLD ANY UNTRUTH

Colored Witness Simply Stated a Fact, Though It Was Not the Information Desired.

In St. Louis a stout colored woman, apparently about forty years old, was called as a witness in an assault case before a police judge. She said: "I am eighty-four and I live down near the river, and this is what I saw when the fight took place."

She then gave her account of the assault.

On cross-examination the attorney for the defense asked her when and where she was born, and she replied: "Right here in St. Louis, in July, '72."

"Then," cried the lawyer in a triumphant tone, "what do you mean by saying that you are eighty-four?"

"Oh," replied the old lady, "that ain't my age; that is my must measurement."

PIMPLES ON FACE AND ARMS

411 Howard St., Dayton, Ohio.—"About a year ago my face, neck, arms and back were beginning to become afflicted with pimples and blackheads. My pimples would get very large and appear to come to a head. If I tried to open them the pain would be terrible, but nothing could be taken from them. They itched very badly; I suffered terribly from itching. After scratching the pimples would swell and after the swelling was gone my face would become very red and remain so for some time. My clothing caused the itching to be worse. When it was warm it was utterly impossible to sleep."

"I used a cream and the more I used the worse they got. Shortly after I read the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and determined to use them. The itching stopped almost immediately. This was about three months ago and I am entirely cured now." (Signed) Miss Marguerite E. Jacobs, Jan. 13, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Pithy Postscript.
A striking illustration of the saying that the pith of a lady's letter is in the postscript occurred in the case of a young lady who, having gone out to India, and writing home to her friends, concluded with the following words: "P. S.—You will see by my signature that I am married."

Water in bluing adulterated. Glass and water washes liquid blue costly. Buy Red Cross Ball Blue, makes clothes whiter than snow. Adv.

"Eternal punishment" may be the price of being too poor to buy a divorce.

Uric Acid Is Slow Poison

Excess uric acid left in the blood by weak kidneys, causes more diseases than any other poison.

Among its effects are backache, headache, dizziness, irritability, nervousness, depression, "blues," rheumatic attacks and urinary disorders. Later effects are dropsy, gravel or heart disease.

If you would avoid uric acid troubles, keep your kidneys healthy. To stimulate and strengthen weak kidneys, use Doan's Kidney Pills—the best recommended special kidney remedy.

A Wisconsin Case.

"My wife, Mrs. Jane Smith, of Clay, Wis., was unable to get out of bed. My back ached, my body bloated and my ankles were swollen. I lost 45 pounds in weight. Doctor after doctor failed to help me. Finally, I took Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. All the swelling disappeared. Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life."

PREPARED PLAYS WITH CARE

Memories Show Sardon to Have Been One of the Most Prolific of Writers for the Stage.

"More than once in his letter and pamphlet Sardon has described his method of work," says Jerome. "After he had 'Sardon and the Sardon Play' published, he described his method of work."

for the production of "Thermidor" he had the thought of one day writing such a play. Gradually the character of Fabienne shaped itself; Labastere was derived later to fit Coquelin. Everything that he read about that epoch of the French revolution, and the ideas which this reading inspired, he wrote down in the form of rough notes. Engravings, maps, prints and other documents of the time he carefully collected.

ences in his file cases or dossiers. At the time of his death Sardon had many hundreds of these dossiers, old and new. Some of the older ones had been worked up into plays, while the newer ones were merely raw material for future dramas. When the idea of a play had measurably shaped itself in his mind he wrote out a skeleton plot, which he placed in its dossier. There it might lie indefinitely. In the case of "Thermidor" he waited for

When he considered that the time was ripe for one of his empyronic plays Sardon would take out that particular dossier, read over the material, and lay it aside again. After it had fermented in his brain for a time he would, if the inspiration seized him, write out a scenario. After this he began the actual writing of the play.

THE FALL TRADE.

With the beginning of the fall trade opening out, our business men should get up and take notice. There is no use expecting people to go around with a microscope trying to find out whether this or that is sold in our town. The only plan that will work is to keep everlastingly telling them what you have on hand. That is the way the up-to-date merchants get their trade. There is no reason why the people of this vicinity should be expected to adopt any different method in regard to trading than other places. Tell them what you have, let them know what it costs, show them you can save them time and money by buying from you, and then they will come to your store and not carry home mail order catalogs.

There are hundreds—yes thousands—of people within a short distance of town who scarcely suspect that there is for sale in your store. Let them know where you are. Invite them to your store. Tell them about your bargains. Show them that you want their trade just as much as it is wanted by out-of-town merchants and a little more, by the way—and they will begin coming to you. But if you sit and expect them to hunt you up, you are going to be very sadly disappointed.

It costs more to keep goods a year before selling them and they get shopworn and out of style. You can't get business without asking for it and the best way to ask is by attractive advertising.

WOMEN FIRST

Everybody reads with pride the splendid example set by the men on the ill-fated Titanic in going down plucking to their death that the women passengers might be saved. That example was not lost on the men on the State of California, which ran on the rocks and sank with so many of its passengers a few days ago. Mrs. Hille Vinneke-Drake, a Des Moines news paper woman who was saved from the wreck, said in an interview at Seattle upon reaching there:

"The discipline aboard was perfect and the behavior of the men was splendid. Women first was the rule which all followed without question. 'While the boat in which I left the steamship was being filled a man stepped forward to get into the boat. Another man spoke up and said 'women first'. It was apparent that the man was not thinking about what he was doing as he immediately withdrew back, saying, I beg your pardon."

"I am glad to know that I am an American woman, after seeing how American men behave in the face of danger. I have never before known men could be so brave, and unselfish. The discipline was perfect and one of the sights I will remember is Captain Cann as he appeared standing on a piece of wreckage giving directions to his crew in their efforts to pick up the stragglers in the water."

Such superb gallantry and heroism is calculated to give one increased faith in the future of this country. As long as Americanism thus responds the future is secure.

Persons wishing letters to go thru them in a hurry should always write "in haste" on the lower left hand corner of the envelope. Then everybody connected with the postal service jumps around lively. The stage driver whips his horses into a brisk trot, the postmaster dances a jig and route agent pushes forward and tells the engineer to pull the throttle open and let her go.

The correct pronunciation of Florida is "Wherta" but most people in this country are inclined to call it something a good deal worse.

Sidney Ware is a new Kindergarten pupil.

Anna Clancy is a new pupil in the Fourth grade.

Willard and Willis Morgan left school Wednesday.

M. S. Teachers' association at Ann Arbor Oct. 30-31.

Miss Gorton spent Saturday at her home in Waterloo, Mich.

Mrs. Stuart called in the Second grade Monday afternoon.

Mr. McBee of Gage & Co. visited school Friday afternoon.

The orchestra had a helpful rehearsal Monday evening.

Viola Chapman furnished flowers for the Kindergarten this week.

The Sixth grade have been doing some good work in map drawing.

Allen Buckley found some ripe strawberries in his patch last week.

Elsie Drasow of the Fifth grade is absent this week because of illness.

The Chemistry class has begun laboratory work on oxygen and hydrogen.

Miss Ethel Canfield of St. Paul, Minn., visited in the High school Tuesday.

Cleon Day of the Sixth grade was absent Monday morning on account of illness.

Miss Ula Canfield, from St. Paul, Minnesota, visited the Kindergarten Tuesday.

Both A's and B's in grade Five are doing commendable work in their arithmetic.

Edmund Yerkes is in school again, having been absent a week on account of sickness.

The boys have set up the baskets and begun basket ball practice on the school grounds.

Misses Marie Stark and Leota Kenyon were High school visitors Tuesday forenoon.

Some very fine specimens of lettering are being done by pupils in the drawing department.

Ellsworth and Dorothy Thom are new pupils in the Third grade, which makes the number forty-six.

The Second graders are studying the goldenrod, morning glory, sunflower and milkweed in nature study.

The High school chorus and the orchestra will render selections at Prof. Henderson's lecture Friday evening.

The Board of Education is planning improvements to several of the small buildings on the school grounds.

The boys organized an Athletic association last Thursday afternoon. Lisle Alexander was elected captain; Don Yerkes, secy-treas; Mr. Pierce, coach.

Dr. Henderson of the U. of M. will give a free extension lecture at the High school Friday evening, Sept. 26, at 8:00 o'clock.

"The Grasshoppers' Croquet" is one of the new songs which the children of the Second grade have learned for morning exercises.

Vere Sonnenburg is still on the sick list. Keep up your courage, Vere, some day we'll greet you in old seat in grade five once more.

She falling unfortunately keeps some of the older boys out of school. This acts as a handicap to the student and makes it difficult for him to secure as high a grading as high school pupils should have.

A pleasing reception was given in the High school session room last Friday evening, when the three upper grades entertained the new students and teachers. A program was carried out by Miss Emma and Hazel Slough; musical numbers by Miss Day, June Filkins and Hester Power. After all had sung some jolly songs together the committee served an abundance of cake and cream. The girls of the Freshmen class were then invited into the chemical laboratory and assigned the pleasant(?) task of washing the dishes. The Freshmen boys were initiated by being tossed in a blanket, set at climbing trees and various other stunts.

Get to The Cause

Northville People Are Learning The Way.

There is but little peace or comfort for the man or woman with a bad back. The distress begins in early morning—keeps up throughout the day. It's hard to get out of bed. It's torturing to stoop or straighten. Pains and liniments may relieve, but cannot cure if the cause is inside—the kidneys. When suffering so, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the tested and proven kidney remedy used in kidney troubles for over 50 years. Doan's Kidney Pills are recommended by thousands for just such cases. Proof of their effectiveness is the testimony of this Northville resident:

Mrs. Sarah Horabacker, Lake St., Northville, Mich., says: "Lifting was what started my kidneys bothering me. The kidney secretions were unnatural. I heard what Doan's Kidney Pills had done for others so I used them and they gave me entire relief. I quickly restored my kidneys to a normal condition. I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others because of the good they did me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Nicest

TOOTH PASTE WE EVER SAW.

Nydetta Cream is the most delightful and effective tooth cleaner and preservative you can possibly use.

Nydetta enters the crypts and services of the teeth—even where the bristles of the brush fail to go—prevents fermentation and inhibits the growth of disease germs upon the mucous membranes of the mouth.

Nydetta Cream is a prophylactic and preservative—it supplies the cleansing elements necessary to tooth preservation—elements that are found in the normal secretions of every mouth but always absent in the presence of decay. It hardens the gums, protects, whitens and polishes the enamel of the teeth—sweetens and perfumes the breath.

There is absolutely no waste to Nydetta—it is clean and economical.

Mrs. James Heeneey entertained sixteen Lady Macabees from Plymouth, Tuesday afternoon and at supper. The ladies attended the meeting of the local order, intending it as a surprise for the Northville ladies, who however, found out the plan in time to prepare ice cream and cake which they served after the meeting.

The Freshmen boys and girls of our High school were just more than properly initiated into the High society last Friday evening. After the reception held for them and the new teachers, the Fresh girls were allowed to wash and wipe ice cream and cake dishes. But the poor boys did not get off so lightly. They were tossed in a blanket, walked thru the cemetery, sham pooped with catnip and made to climb trees while fired at with over ripe eggs. However, each and all bore their share with a stoical worth of a Spartan, and are now planning what they can do to next year's class.

An exchange speaks of the game of "gossip" which is having quite a run in some localities in the east.

It is played with photographs. They are shuffled out like cards, everyone in the party receives a photo. It is then the play to tell every—mean thing about the party photographed.

There are localities where the game has been played without photographs.

The new primary law provisions in these days of gasoline lamps and stoves that gasoline will not explode until its fumes have been mixed with at least six parts of atmospheric air. Gasoline will catch fire as quickly as any liquid known, but let it alone and it will burn out, doing no damage and leaving no scar or sign of fire. Mixed with air in the proportions mentioned it is far more dangerous than dynamite. No receptacle of this liquid should ever be left uncorked for to do so is to make the room where it is kept far worse than a powder magazine. This matter of safely handling gasoline is very easy, and no one should be ignorant of how it is done. A handful of dust or flour or a coat or blanket will quickly smother out most any blaze from the liquid.

The body of Mrs. Jennie Bovee who died at her home in Ypsilanti, was brought here for burial Thursday. Deceased was a half sister of Mrs. Lucy Dowd and cousin to L. A. Babbitt.

The second business men's ball game of the season was pulled off Tuesday afternoon. Profiting by the previous game, managers of the affair had two surgeons, two ministers and an undertaker on hand to look after the wounded and dead. It was a good thing, too, for L. J. Dail and another player ran into each other on second base resulting in a broken wrist bone for Dail.

M. A. Porter was just more than surprised at the regular meeting of the city band Wednesday evening when the boys presented him with a genuine Meerschaum pipe in a handsome leather case, as a token of their appreciation for his work as manager of the band. At this meeting Charley Stanley resigned his position as leader and Philip Payan was elected to fill that office, with Mr. S. Conley as assistant leader.

Ben Cook, mail carrier on route No. 1, was reported to have been held up while on his route Tuesday morning. The fact was he met the Gypsy wagon and was advised by one of the women to have his fortune told. She said that it would bring him good luck if he gave her his pocketbook to hold while she told his fortune. Of course Ben refused and then they suggested a piece of money or the mail sack, but Ben stood firm and was allowed to go on his way unmolested. One of the same band stole a jackknife from Jap Elliott, asking to borrow it and then running off with it. "Damn 'em, anyhow."

It should be known by everybody in these days of gasoline lamps and stoves that gasoline will not explode until its fumes have been mixed with at least six parts of atmospheric air. Gasoline will catch fire as quickly as any liquid known, but let it alone and it will burn out, doing no damage and leaving no scar or sign of fire. Mixed with air in the proportions mentioned it is far more dangerous than dynamite. No receptacle of this liquid should ever be left uncorked for to do so is to make the room where it is kept far worse than a powder magazine. This matter of safely handling gasoline is very easy, and no one should be ignorant of how it is done. A handful of dust or flour or a coat or blanket will quickly smother out most any blaze from the liquid.

SEIZE AMERICAN MISSION SCHOOL

ALBANIANS TERRORIZED BY GREEK OFFICIALS AT KORITSA.

BRITISH CONSUL PROTESTS FOR UNITED STATES.

Thought to Be Part of Effort to Compete Inclusion of Southern Albania in the Kingdom of Greece.

Vlora.—The American mission school at Koritsa, Albania, was Monday seized by the Greek authorities there. The nearly 100 Albanian girl students were told they would be taught by Greeks. The information reached here in a telegram from Avlona, the principal seaport of Albania, on the Adriatic sea.

A large number of Albanians who recently returned to Koritsa from America and other foreign countries have been arrested and persecuted. They were released from detention only when the Albanians promised to join in the agitation for the incorporation of the district in Greece.

The British consul at Monastir has entered a vigorous protest with the Greek government on behalf of the Americans.

The whole affair forms part of the Greek terrorization of the Albanian population with the object of compelling them to agree to the inclusion of the whole of Southern Albania in the Kingdom of Greece.

New Camera Is Invented.

Vallejo, Cal.—A wireless photographic instrument, which works only at night and is said to reflect everything within a radius of several miles, has been invented. It is declared by a local inventor, formerly an expert in the government employ.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels has invited the inventor to take the machine to Washington for inspection by the navy department. The impressions are made from a screen of wire on top of a tall mast.

Slavery in Islands Again Charged.

Washington.—Selling of boys and girls for from $50 to $100 and regarding the practice to sell native women to the highest bidder as a right were told of in a report from W. H. Phipps, auditor of the islands, to Secretary Garrison.

"I have no hesitancy in saying that the charges of Secretary Dean Worcester that slavery in its worst forms exists in the Philippines are true," he said.

It is probable that a formal investigation will be ordered.

Heads of Commissioners Appointed.

Washington.—Secretary Bryan has appointed Henry St. George Tucker, of Virginia, formerly president of the Jamestown exposition, as the head of a commission on behalf of the Panama-Pacific exposition to visit China and Japan.

The secretary also announced the appointment of former Gov. Alva Adams, of Colorado, as the head of an exposition commission to visit Australia, New Zealand and the East Indies and the Strait Settlements.

Two More Treaties Signed.

Washington.—Secretary Bryan signed treaties putting into effect his peace proposals between the United States and Panama and Guatemala. Like treaties now have been negotiated between this country, and three other nations, while Honduras has agreed to sign a similar pact, and it is expected that a similar agreement soon will be reached with Costa Rica. Secretary Bryan's plan has been accepted in principle by 29 nations.

The death of Paul Townsend, former Detroit, who was fatally shot in the Thompson jewelry store, held up at Grand Rapids Thursday evening, occurred at 8:45 Monday morning at Butterworth hospital, making the third victim of the bandits, who are still at large. Death was due to infection from the flake of a bullet that lodged in his left lung.

By a vote of 41 to 4 the United Brethren conference in session in Grand Rapids favored merging with the Methodist Protestant denomination in the event of consolidation. Adrian college and Methodist Protestant church in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Saginaw and Flint would be affected.

Daniel Torpey, driver on a steamer, and Clyde H. Pritchard, assistant engineer, were hurt when the fire wagon turned turtle during an exhibition run before the delegates to the meeting of the League of Michigan Municipalities at Lansing.

Mrs. E. B. Rouse, of St. Joseph, was seriously injured and her 6-year-old daughter suffered scalp wounds when an automobile delivery wagon, driven by Mr. Rouse, was struck by a Pease Marquette engine.

The Page Fence Co. promises to bring Adrian into the automobile industry, by developing a new department, in which windshields will be manufactured. Contracts for 40,000 windshields have been closed with automobile concerns throughout the country. The new branch will give employment to nearly 200 men.

MICHIGAN MAN HONORED

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Washington Gardner, of Albion, Mich., was Friday elected commander-in-chief for the ensuing year. Col. G. E. Adams, of Nebraska, was the candidate agreed on by a few leaders of the Grand Army at the last encampment, and the election of this year came after one of the hardest fights ever waged in a national encampment. Michigan gained a double victory, procuring not only the command-in-chief, but the next encampment also, the delegates voting to meet in 1914 at Detroit.

Gov. Gardner's first official act was to appoint Oscar A. James, of Detroit, adjutant general. Commander-in-chief Gardner was born in Morrow County, Ohio, in February, 1864. At the age of 18 he enlisted in Company D, Sixty-fifth Ohio volunteer infantry. He was on duty continuously from 1881 under Buell in the army of the Ohio, under Rosecrans in the army of the Cumberland and under Thomas and Sherman in the campaign against Atlanta until disabled by a gunshot wound during the battle of Resaca, in May, 1864.

AUTO IS STRUCK BY TRAIN

One Killed and Three Injured in Crossing Tragedy South of Westwood.

Cadillac, Mich.—Robert Eastman, 38, superintendent of the Stearns Lumber Co., Kalkaska, is dead, one woman is near death and two other persons are injured as the result of an automobile being struck by a Grand Rapids & Indiana passenger train, south of Westwood, late Saturday night.

The injured are Mrs. Maude Benedict, 50 years old, of Scottville, sister of Eastman. She is injured internally, face cut and left eye torn out; she will probably die. Paul Seeling, chauffeur, of Kalkaska, deep cuts and body bruises; Mrs. Harry Wilson, Custer, spinal injuries and scalp wounds.

The auto curtains were put up to keep out rain and the occupants of the auto did not see the train. The accident occurred at the second high way south of Westwood and the passengers were thrown 100 feet and the auto crushed to bits.

One Killed in Kansas Wreck.

Manhattan, Kan.—Twenty passengers were injured one was killed, when passenger train No. 20, on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad, bound from Denver and Colorado Springs to St. Louis, was derailed on a curve a mile west of here. Eight coaches left the rails, one of them, the combined steel baggage and smoking car, rolled down a 20-foot embankment, turning over three times and landing upside down. The smoking compartment was full of passengers, most of whom were injured, but none seriously save J. P. Baldy, of Herington, Kan., who was crushed by a falling trunk.

A defective rail is said to have caused the accident. The train was running about 20 miles an hour when it left the rails.

Auto Bandits Plead Guilty.

Toledo, O.—Waiving all right to counsel, Robert Duffey, alias Dwyer, 22 years old, of Buffalo; Arthur Giroud, alias Gerow, 20 years old, of New York; and William Justice, 20 years old, of Philadelphia, auto bandits who held up an automobile party near here early Thursday, pleaded guilty to all indictments.

Four indictments of robbery were returned against each. On each count Giroud and Justice were sentenced to from one to 15 years in the Mansfield reformatory.

Duffey, who was also indicted on a charge of shooting Sheriff Wineland with intent to kill, was sentenced to the penitentiary for from one to 15 years on each of the robbery charges, and from one to 20 years on the shooting charge.

If the youths serve the full time, Justice and Giroud will be locked up 60 years each and Duffey 80 years.

A new milk condensery in Hillsdale, costing $50,000, is nearing completion.

Milan was chosen as the meeting place next year at the forty-fourth annual reunion of the Sixteenth Michigan regiment at Jackson. Officers were elected as follows: President, James Johnson, Milan; vice president, James Knowles, Milan; secretary, treasurer, Thomas J. Wood, Chelsea.

Rev. George McCallum, of Webberville, was struck and instantly killed by a Michigan Central passenger train at Leoni. Rev. McCallum had stopped over at Jackson to visit friends en route from the Detroit M. E. conference at Toledo.

U. S. MOST WONDERFUL LAND

Resident of Bombay Says He Regards America Most Remarkable Nation on Earth.

Washington.—"India, to Americans the most wonderful country in the world, is not nearly so interesting as the United States," remarked J. B. Rose of Bombay, a practitioner of the new science of chiropractic, who with his American wife is making a tour of this country, and is at the Raleigh.

"Many Americans have told me that they enjoyed India more than any other country," he continued. "I cannot understand it, for I look upon this country as the most remarkable nation on earth. If I were to select a place to live, I should pick Washington as the most delightful city. It is far more beautiful, cleaner, and more interesting than any city I have visited in this country; and as for Europe, there is no city that can compare with it. Bombay and Calcutta, the two principal cities of India, are exceedingly interesting and curious, I have no doubt. I was born in Bombay. My father was a Hindu and my mother an American of Scotch Irish parentage. When I was a boy I went among the sick and I found that I was deeply interested. I studied the science of chiropractic and have practiced it for several years. There are very few chiropractors in the United States. In India the science is growing rapidly in popularity. It is an advanced form of osteopathy, and it is claimed that many diseases can be permanently cured by it. It is a simple method of adjusting the spine which as we know, is the seat of the nervous system.

"Calcutta is the most modern city in India," added Doctor Rose. "It has skyscrapers, improved streets, sewerage, public utilities, including tram cars, electric lights, and telephones, and while the climate is exceedingly hot, it is invariably tempered by daily rainfalls. Our hotels are not so modern, perhaps, as the best hotels of your principal cities, but life is pleasant in the cities of India.

"Mohammedanism, perhaps, received a severe blow when the war against Turkey in Europe drove the religion out of Europe," concluded Doctor Rose. "I am a Mohammedan, and nothing could ever persuade me to change my religion, but I am forced to the belief that the victory over the Turks will in all probability lead to many of them changing their faith. Mohammedanism, however, will flourish as long as the world lasts."

SPOILS OF ATHENS FROM SEA

Ancient Treasures of Fabulous Value Found on Ship Off Tunis—Cargo of Sculpture.

London.—Sunken art treasures of fabulous value have just been recovered from the wreck of a ship off Madhia on the Tunisian coast.

Tunisian ships sent to investigate the report of Greek sponge fishers found a sunken vessel of about 400 tons, 100 feet long and 25 broad. She was laden with an extraordinary cargo, consisting of blocks of marble, bases and capitals for columns, effigies, statues, furniture, tiles, leaden piping, lamps, amphorae, etc.

Among the fragments were found figures of a demigod and a maiden and faun, which correspond almost exactly with the Borghese vase dug up in Rome and now in the Louvre. A Hermes of Dionysos bears the signature "Boethos," the sculptor of the celebrated "Child With a Goose" of the second century B. C.

In the bottom of the hold the treasure seekers found about 60 columns of bluish-white marble 13 feet high. All the inscriptions deciphered relate to Attica and personages of the middle-fourth century B. C.

Some writing on lead ingots also is in the Latin of that epoch and experts have concluded that the vessel was loaded in Attica for Rome and probably the cargo was the spoil after the taking of Athens by Sulla in 86 B. C.

Deprive Town of Water.

Denver.—In an effort to kill off the new town of Hamon, where the sale of liquor is permitted, prohibitionists of Colorado Springs cut off Hamon's water supply with a dam. An investigation is being made.

PRETTY NAMES FOR BOOKS

Real Old Time Titles Sound Decidedly Strange to the Eye of the Reader Today.

The following are some of the curious titles of old English books:

"A Most Delectable Sweet Portuned Nosesay for God's Saints to Smell At."

"Biscuit Baked in the Oven of Charity. Carefully Conserved for the Chickens of the Church, the Sparrows of the Spirit, and the Sweet Swallows of Salvation."

"A Sigh of Sorrow for the Sinners of Zion Breathed Out of a Hole in the Wall of an Earthly Vessel Known Among Men by the Name of Samuel Fish" (a Quaker who had been imprisoned).

"Eggs of Charity Layed for the Chickens of the Covenant and Boiled With the Water of Divine Love. Take Ye Out and Eat."

"The Spiritual Mustard Pot to Make the Soul Sneeze With Devotion."

Most of these were published in the time of Cromwell.—London Strand.

After a Pleasant Evening.

Mr. Sydney Burton told an amusing story for the purpose of illustrating a point at a recent dinner. A certain convivial soul, who had been invited to dine with a friend, whose house was at the end of a dark and muddy lane, was advised to bring a big lantern. After a very jovial evening the convivial one left and struggled home through the mud, firmly gripping his heavy burden by the handle. Next morning he received this message from his host: "Here with your lantern; please return parrot and cage."

Scorned.

"It's true, Miss Plummer, that I should not have tried to kiss you on such a slight acquaintance and I am heartily sorry. What can I do in palliation of my offense?"

"If you are sincere, Mr. Pinhead, in what you say, you might betake yourself to some other part of the town and leave the coast clear for a man I see approaching who has the reputation of getting what he goes after."

After the Premiere.

"You're a gay kind of a friend!" said Whimpy to Wigglesworth. "Laughing like a hyena all through the first act of my tragedy!"

"Tragedy?" Tragedy?" echoed Wigglesworth. "Why, Whimpy, old man, I really was trying to help you! I thought all along the darned thing was a very amusing farce!"—Judge.

Backing Up the Purchaser

If we didn't have an eye to the future, and if we didn't care what you or anybody else was going to think of us, we could sell engines and other machines for much less money, but we could not put IHC quality into them. The kinks would start coming in right away, and soon there would be no market for IHC engines.

IHC engines stand for everything that is opposed to such a policy. The IHC way is to build always for the respect and good will of the American farmer, and to that end it has been successfully working for many years. The dealer who sells you an IHC engine expects on its merits to do business with you again. The purchaser of an buys security and safety with it. He banks on the many years of square dealing and the reputation back of all IHC machines. He knows it is the best engine bargain because it gives him efficient service in all kinds of farm work—pumping, sawing wood, spraying, running repair shop, grindstone, cream separator, etc. He knows that IHC responsibility for it lasts as long as the engine is in service on his farm.

IHC oil and gas engines operate on gas, gasoline, naphtha, kerosene, distillate, and alcohol. Sizes range from 1 to 50-horse power. They are built vertical, horizontal, portable, stationary, skidded, air-cooled and water-cooled. IHC oil tractors range in size from 6-12 to 30-60-horse power, for plowing, threshing, etc.

Look over an IHC engine at the local dealer's. Learn from him what it will do for you, or write for catalogues to

When Mr. and Mrs. I. McNitt returned home from the state fair Thursday evening they were greatly surprised to find their house all lighted up. Upon entering they found several old friends from the south, who coming to visit had found to one thing but had made themselves at home and prepared supper.

One of the most pleasant events of the season occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Goodell, last Friday and Saturday, it being the fifteenth annual reunion of the ex-prisoners of war association of the 22nd Mich. Vol. Infantry. The meeting was called to order by Comrade Goodell, and the secretary and treasurer reports read and approved. Letters of regret were read from Comrade Patton and Mrs. Mary L. Tack of Bushing. The association received an invitation from Comrade Nacker of Navara, to meet with him and wife Sept. 19, 1914. The following officers were elected: Pres., Aug. Nacker, 1st pres., R. W. Malcolm, secy and treas., H. F. Danie's. A vote of thanks was extended to Comrade Goodell and wife for the royal manner in which the Comrades and their wives were entertained. The old regimental "cow bell" was on duty for the occasion. Those present were: N. H. Miller, M. Thompson, L. C. Mead, Daniel Cratt and wife of Northville; John Gill, Detroit; Aug. Nacker and wife of Navara; Marvin Bogart, Novi; J. H. Woodmen, Detroit; John Hazelton, Vernon; R. W. Malcolm and wife, Milford; Fred Klendorn, Richmond.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.
If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia, use cough medicines that contain codine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. It cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world-wide reputation for its cure. It contains no morphine, no other sedatives, for sale by all dealers.

Musical Prodigy

A seven-year-old boy of Rennes, France, is the latest musical prodigy to burst upon the world. He is an admirable, even a brilliant, pianist, but has genius for composition, and sonatas, symphonies, piano pieces of all kinds flow from his pen. It is said to be pretty good stuff, too. A number of the great composers have begun to invent melodies before the age of seven.

Before Visiting Sick

An infectious disease is more liable to be taken when one has been long fasting than soon after a meal. It is well, therefore, when going to see a friend suffering from a disease of this kind to eat a substantial meal first. Neither should one go into an afflicted area when very warm or after a long, quick walk, when the pores of the body are all open.

Alloys of Gold and Iron

Iron and gold, when melted together, may be mixed in various proportions and hardened or crystallized. Alloys containing ten per cent. of gold are harder than pure iron, but as the proportion of gold increases above that amount, the alloy becomes softer. Silver and iron do not form alloys.—Harper's Weekly.
