MORE HYDRANTS! ARE IMPORTANT

MOCATED BACK OF EACH BLOCK OF STORES ON MAIN ST.

The two late fires have more than er demonstrated the importance of ticing hydrants in the rear of the beks of stores on both sides of Anta street, east of Center.

President Schrader, Fire Chief McLean and Supt. Wilkinson of the water system all agree that fire hydrands at those places are of importance and steps will no doubt be side soon towards putting them in.

Hedrants at these places may be the reams of saving a vest amount of damage for Northville will' not always be so lucky from fires.

However the village funds are so low that, to the council, there is teemingly no way of borrowing now money just now even for so mportant a ", purpose Schreder says that the recent purchase of 500 feet of new hose has provided sufficient protection for all the space back of the stores for ordinary purposes, or until bydrants be put in.

BUILDING AND CONTENTS BADLY DAMAGED FRIDAY.

Caught from Gasoline and Lighted Match in Garage.

A visitor at the Pottibone garned on Friday afternoon dropped lighted match into a little pool of gusoline which bid loaked from one While there taking over of the cars and over thousand dollars damage resulted

The fire department was quickly on the scene and the boys put up a fight that could not have been ex celled by a Detroit department The flames spread rapidly in all urrections but the department was able to confine them principally to the savage and the elevator shaft. Hire Clifef McLean took charge of the" work from the ground and Assistant Chief Lyke nandled the Work on the upper floors, naking an entrance from the root of the Ball since from which suot. Lyke and his wan had saved foat and the dadjoining buildings from destruction

For nearly an hour four stream of wher was poured into the build In all other zones the lunit is 20 ing but the thre was really under though it continued to break out o the inside in first one spot and then another, for a much longer period

Mr Pettioone's property was praccally all destroyed as we'l as h.s. winter's business

N C Schrader's Rec auto was destroyed as was Garry Deal's and Ea. Erwin's. Dr. Carell's Maxwell, G. C. Benton's Olds and Frank Handaton's Ford, were also wrecks James A. Huff's auto truck was auso damaged about $100 morth. Mr. Schrader carried $600 Insurance on his car and so ne was in luck this time

Mr Catterwole's building was dam aged to the amount of $1,500, with $800 insurance. The loss on the contents will be $1,000 with no in surance.

The property of the various lodges who occupied the the hall on the the west end of Hufis new hard- second floor was damaged by smoke to the amount of several hundred

The prompt action on the part of charge of Mr. Huff's work in this the Fire Department, coupled with their unturing and systematic efforts, and the excellence of Northdoubtedly again saved half town from destruction

BUTTERMILK IS POPULAR

Rapidly Crowding Out Liquors and Soft Drinks Throughout the State of Missouri.

Jefferson City, Mo.-Millions of galions of buttermilk produced anavaily in home churning are fed to hogs by Missouri live stock raisers, when there is a great demand, especially from May to October, for the same in St. Louis, Kansas City Chicago and other large cities. It is seldom in June, July and August that the supply of this nutritious. tempting and delightful beverage meets the demand in the cities mentioned, which generally have to de pend upon local creameries and dan les for tha little they get -

The buttermik habit is possessed by many, is easily acquired and is constantly reaching out for and finding tresh recruits who readily and quickly succumb to the 'tempting lacteal drink Nothing is better for the digestive organs, in keeping them in good-shape and thereby helping combat disease germs

Some stock raisers are of the oper son that it pays better to feed but termilk to hogs than to go to the trouble of sending all they have the market, but that is a question they must answer for themselves, depending, probably, chiefly on how Twe been working at this thing for far away the nearest large city is aglong time, said that scientific en and the time of the year. Southern Women Are Asked to Form Organization to Help the Plan-"Each Club to Secure Indorsement of Officials.

Birmingham, Ala.-A wail for women comes from the far West in Alabama to form a club with the purpose of supplying desirable wives to the lonesome young men of South Dahota It is a new plan with a touch of pathos behind it.

Gustus F Chouteau, who says he owns a ranch in South Dakota, proposes the new plan. He declares that in Dakota there is plenty of land and stock, but women are painfully scarce "In your State," he says, "you have plenty of fair women, but they are handicapped like us, in that there are few marriageable

Let the women of Alabama form a club, and weamen will do the same - Each club must secure the indorsement of the county officials so that we can know we are being fairly and squarely dealt with. I am talking up this movement for the young mer of South Dakots, many of whom are behind it. They are gerting very lonely without women.

TELLING CHILDREN THE TRUTH MOVE TO REVIVE

Should - Parents Keep-a Diary for Their Benefit, or Allow Them to Learn for Themselves.

London-The suggestion which H "The Passionate Friends," that parents "should" tell "the fullest" truth shout themselves to their children has been received quite seriously in London. Many ministers and public men have discussed it, and the only MARRIAGE CANDIDATES it is the difficulty how exactly purents can turn biographers and set down in writing the story of their lives, entirely for "home consumption," so that when the children grow up they can read the records of their fathers and mothers and draw what profit and moral they can from them

Wells' book the father, who is anything, but an impeccable hero, adopts this plan for the sake of his 'I want to write my story not indeed to the child you are now," he says, "but to the mar you are going to be."

"There >re parents, indeed, young ones, who 'proclaim loudly that when their children are-somewhere up the fateful ladder of their 'teens' they will 'tell them al' and keep nothing back of the ugly facts of life," said a leading London editor. "But it may be noticed that such a resolution weakens, or disappears entirely, as the years roll on, and the young people in question start their own maturer lives with no greater stock în trade of dreadful truth than most čhildren.

"The father or mother who tells all!' then, is a farity, 'But even in Such a frank parent as this there is a gulfabetween such a method aud what Well's proposes to do-the writing down in a book of all that a father and mother shas that the father who could bring reduced since the first of 1913, and hunself to such a task would be very hard to find

A gentleman residing in this city who for a number of years lived in Illinois, relates a story of an act of Lincoln in the early days of his law practice which clearly portrays that inherent bonesty which marked his whole career.
There is a town in Central Illinois called Lincoln, and it was named for Abraham Lincoln long before he became President. It is thirty miles north of Springfield, where Lincoln then had his home. It is the county seat of Legan County and, like all rural county seats in that State, has Courthouse square, and around that central block of the little city conters the mercantile business of the lecality.

For defending a man for horseerealing Lincoln received a deed to a lot on the south side of the square . He never disposed of it. was of but little value when he obtained it, but 25 years later was worth several thousand dollars. It was leased to the Rosenthal brothers, who built an "iron-clad" barn on it. and Capt Franklin Fish collected the around rent and remitted it to Roba T Lincoln, the former Presi-

All that separates the County Farm from the diamond property is an imagifari line on one side of which is supposed to be wealth on the other side poverty. But to Aunt Polly Cor the only inmate of the County Farm there is no line, and there is wealth on both sides

· Aunt Poliv is always a welcome visitor to the workings in the crafer of the old "clearo "here the diamonds are found 1 int Polly knows a good find when she sees it, but she is pleased just to be cared for so well and should the come across a large stone on the country property those who know her best declare she would throw it across the line on'o the diamond property and then call attention to its presence there

The managers of the diamond property would not have the poor farm moved for they would not lose their lone neighbor; in fact, if the county saw fit to move they would "chip in" and retain their jovial old companion.

Three "squares a day and a good ed" is better than diamonds to Aunt Polly, and she does not care who knows it.

Bayonet for Cavairy.

Berlin -- According to a statement est published it is probable that the German cavairy sabre will shorily disappear and be replaced by a new scort side arm which can be used-as a bayonet with the new pattern cavalry carnine. The military authorities consider that for cavalry armed with the lance for fighting at close quarters on horseback, and with the carbine and bayonet for fighting on foot, the sabre would become superfluous The value of the carbine combined with the new side-arm for cavalry work has already been proved in fighting in German Southwest Africa.

passing another night at the Towers The problem of Eva's future weighed heavily upon her and 'she spent the remaining hours of the night in anxious thought. The only hope of saving Eva lay in Don Stuart and their mutal love. Eva was not yet out of danger, of course, but she had been conscious for a few unfautes once or taice, and the doctor was confident that, if no relapse she would get well.

But Sadie did not share that con fidence unless a strong desire to live After Jack's could be created death Eva had fallen into a condition of anathy in which the desire to die had been far stronger than the wish to live, and she had grown weaker and weaker until only the hope of the child had changed everything and set her longing to live

That hope was now dead, and, in addition there was the sense of the easier in mind; the hunted look had shame put upon her by the marriage which was no marriage.

INCREASING USES FOR VENEER

Process by Which it is Prepared for the Cabinetmakers

Harawood trees, such as the oak, the walnut, and the ash have been made niore valuable in modern days by the invention of veneering machines, which slice up the logs into a unnorm thickness of less than one twentieth of an inch. Veneering is not a new art, but in early days it was ad hand work, and the process was so slow and laborious that the cost
