BAND BOYS GAVE SUCCESSFUL PARTY

ONE OF THE MOST ENJOYABLE AFFAIRS EVER GIVEN IN NORTHVILLE.

One of the most enjoyable and most capably managed dancing parties ever held in Northville was that given by the City band, last Friday evening.

The rink, which was the scene of these festivities, was beautifully decorated in red, white and blue. The splendid music furnished by five pieces of Stone's orchestra, headed by the original Stone himself, was the best that has been presented in Northville in ages.

The new plan of allowing only one style of dancing on the floor at a time, proved very popular, and it is to be hoped that this system will be carried out at all subsequent parties. Manager Porter is to be congratulated for his original success along this line.

As has been usual in the past, there was a noticeable lack of married people in attendance. There has been a feeling among those people of late that because of the numerous fango stunts and the constant repetition of encores, they had really been pushed off the boards, so to speak. It has been claimed that the parties have seemingly been run wholly in the interests of the young people without any consideration for the desires of the married folks. There were more married people present than usual this time, though, and there would still have been many more had they understood just how nice a party it was going to be and how splendidly it would be conducted.

During the recess allowed the orchestra, the band boys themselves, gave a very pleasing concert.

There were about sixty couples present, including a number of out-of-town people. Ice cream and cake was served late in the evening, while feed tomatoes were generously served by polite members of the band, all dressed in their party new uniforms.

Here's hoping that the Northville City band gives another such party around about Washington's birthday time, something which they are now being urged to do.

CARL STIMPSON.

Another Northville boy starts towards the big base ball leagues. Carl has just signed with the Lansing team in the Michigan State league, the team on which his brother Earl, made so good last year that he was picked up by the St. Louis Americans in this season.

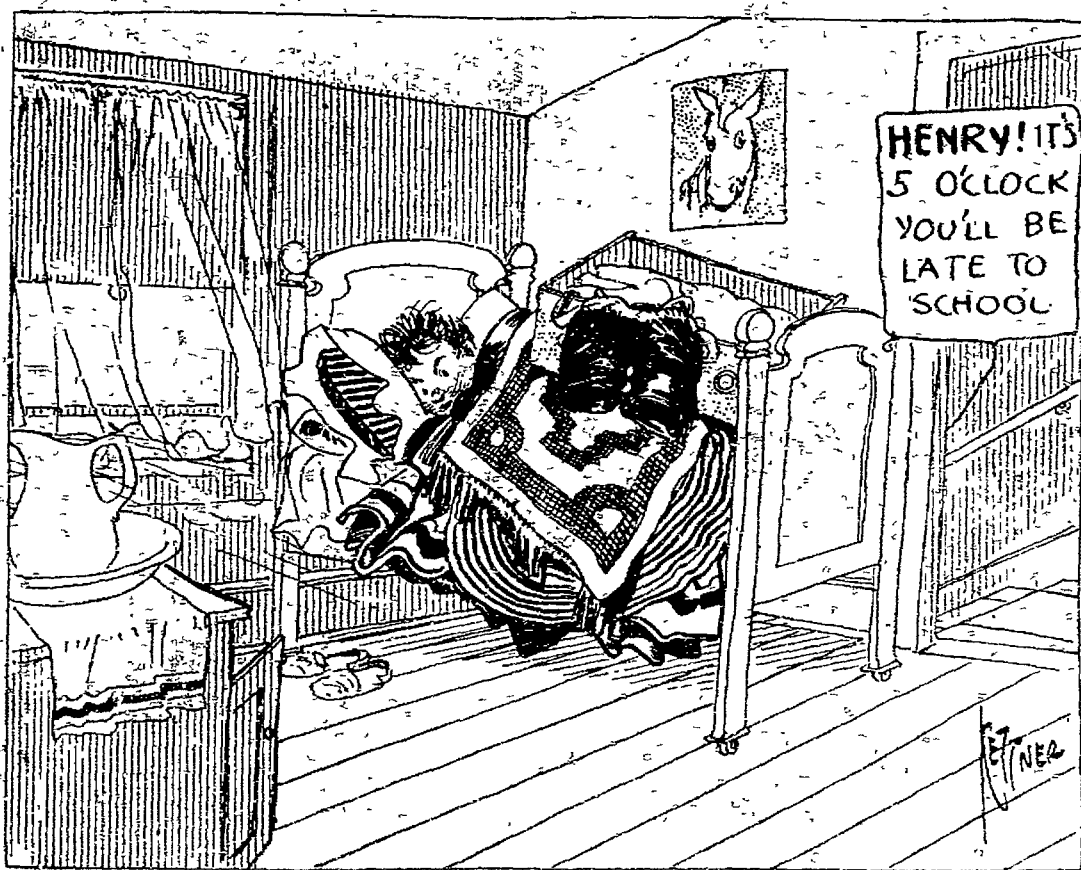

Carl played third with the Ypsilanti last season in the Tri County league and will take the same position this year with the Capitol's. "K" covers a lot of territory around the Third sack and has a good batting record. He is also quick on the base lines and possesses unusually good judgement in the sack thievery. His many friends here are wishing for him bushels of horse shoes and rabbit's feet.

CHIROPODIST AND FOOT SPECIALIST.

Wm. DeGroot, will be at the Exchange Hotel, Northville, every Monday, commencing Feb. 9.

Some doctors, knowing too little anatomy, treated Satchel's foot incorrectly. First reasonable treatment address: 240 Woodward Street, Detroit, Mich. 2341p.

BAND BOYS THANK SHAFER AND K. P.'S.

At a regular meeting of the band held Wednesday night, a resolution was passed expressing their gratitude to Floyd Shafer for the donation of the rink and the Knights of Pythias for the use of their silver, dishes, tables and haws at the annual ball given by them, last Friday night. Boys, when you want our services, call on us.

M. A. PORTER, Manager.

NOBLE AVERY DEAD.

Noble Avery, aged 84 years, who lived with his son, Stephen, on the Frank Miller farm, south of town, died Wednesday. R. M. Pierce will officiate at the funeral which will be held from the late home at 1:30 this afternoon.

DOIN'S AT THE COUNCIL MEETING

GAS FRANCHISE; MORE WATER FOR RESERVOIR; PROPERTY TO BE INVENTORIED.

The Village Council held an interesting meeting Monday night and took up several matters of importance.

Fox & Fiddler of Pontiac accepted the gas franchise drawn up for the village by City Attorney Yerkes, and claim they will commence work here next summer. They also have franchises at Plymouth, Wayne and Dearborn. The franchise is the same as the city of Pontiac has. The rates are subject to a change by a commission every five years. Later the people will vote on the proposition. Attorney Yerkes says the village is amply protected by the franchise and the council believes it a good one.

Mayor Schrader was authorized by the council to secure the services of some one, to take an inventory of the village's property, to be assisted in the work by Superintendent Wilkinson. Councilman Stage stated that the Lighting committee of the council had engaged Mr. Porter to make the inventory in conjunction with the Superintendent, but that Mr. Wilkinson refused to have anything to do with the matter if Mr. Porter was appointed.

Councilman D. P. Griswold made a motion that the matter of inventory be laid on the table. President Schrader stated that he should insist that an inventory be made, to give the people at least an approximate estimate of the value of the light plant, as there was an apparent desire on the part of the taxpayers for such information just at this time. The council then took the action as stated above.

About the best stunt pulled off for a long while was that advocated by Mayor Schrader of contracting with Mr. Saddle for the use of his spring water for the reservoir, when needed. The water will be pumped into the mains by electric power and by this means an unlimited supply will always be on hand. Mr. Schrader and the council are to be congratulated.

At the annual village election the people will be given a chance to vote as to whether the village streets shall be tiled at public expense the coming summer. The cost will not be great and if it is carried every citizen will be benefited, as the oiling will be general all over the town.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT.

(Communication)

Editor Record:—

I notice in last week's issue of the Record an article touching on the advisability of making some change in the Northville electric lighting system.

Personally, I believe such a move is opportune. It appears that the present management of the electric light plant dictates in an arbitrary way the business principles of the plant, and assumes the attitude more of an employer than of an employee, disregarding the orders of the committees under which he is supposed to work. I would like, as a taxpayer, to ask a few questions which will be easy to ascertain if the plant is run in a business-like manner.

What is the gross income of the plant per year?

What is the cost of lighting our streets?

How much has it cost the village for new work during the year?

What is the maintenance cost?

What is the interest on the indebtedness?

What is the cost of operation?

How much is allowed for depreciation?

Suppose the plant inventories at $50,000, which at 6 per cent interest, would be $3,000, and a 10 per cent depreciation which would be $5,000, making $8,000 in all.

Can we get the streets lighted for less than that amount?

The taxpayers have the right to know the full details, and if these cannot be obtained through the present council, or management of the plant, then something should be done to give the taxpayers this knowledge.

I do not believe there is a taxpayer in town who can give an intelligent opinion on what is best to do until we are put wise to conditions as they are assumed by many.

'NOTHER FIRE.

Alex Christiansen's farm, house north and east of town, was completely destroyed by fire Monday evening. In some way, probably from the chimney, the house caught fire about 6:30 o'clock and burned to the ground.

Nearby neighbors rushed to the scene and aided in saving all the furniture downstairs, though that upstairs was lost. It is estimated that $600 will not cover the loss of the bushels and bushels of apples and potatoes in the cellar, which were damaged by both fire and water. A large crowd of people from Northville and Novi got there as soon as possible, but nothing could be done to save the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Christensen and baby are living in the tenant house on the Mrs. Daniel Rogers' farm for the time being.

VACATION WORK GIVEN CREDIT

Oklahoma High School Adopts
New System to Keep Boys and Girls Interested

IS AN AID TO LABORING PUPILS

Certificates From Employers Showing Good Service is Accepted by Teachers—Students Must Know How to Spend.

Guthrie, Okla.—Modernizing the public schools of the state and the high school in particular, in order that it may more fully meet the needs of the community, is the educational program at the present time in the principal cities of Oklahoma, and with this end in view men with new ideas are being sought to head the schools.

Credit for work done by high school students during vacations and on Saturdays is a new feature entirely in high schools, and one very desirable. It has been adopted in the Guthrie High School.

It is being investigated already by boards of education and others interested in school work in this and adjoining states and no doubt will be adopted in numerous other cities for the coming school year. It is being investigated by Superintendent Brooks of the Guthrie schools that it will tend to keep the boys and girls in the high school until they have completed the course.

The plan will, I believe, show its results early, says Superintendent Brooks. The idea is to keep the high school closely related to the community's life and interests. Five courses are offered in this high school and work done outside school will receive credits for graduation in all of them.

"Boys of the high school who work during vacations or on Saturdays in the iron foundries, blacksmith shops, rubber molding or carpenter shops or at any industrial pursuit and doing good work, will receive credit in the manual arts department toward graduation. There is no reason why good work done during the summer months for instance, should not be recognized as of the same value as the same work done in school. It will tend to relate the school to actual life, a very necessary and desirable condition."

"Credit will also be given for work performed by commercial students who work on Saturdays and during vacation in offices. Always, where work done by students is credited, the goal must be improved character and the opportunity of the student must be passed upon and approved by the school faculty. If the department is to be creditable, the faculty approves the work. The department toward graduation is a very important one."

dent must be passed upon and

uation is a very important one."

It is not a difficult matter to corporate the new plan in the Guthrie High School, which heretofore has been the Logan County High School.
A law authorizing county high schools was enacted about ten years ago, and a string of such schools was soon established throughout old Oklahoma Territory.

The plan did not prove a successful however and one by one they have been discontinued. The voters of this county last fall adopted the intiated proposition to discontinue the county high school, and turn it over to Guthrie for a city high school, and the work of organizing the new institution fell to Superintendent Brooks.

In bringing about this organization
the more conservative and older courses have been included in the studies to be offered, but the new things are being featured. "For the boy or girl who must enter life's actual work," says Superintendent Brooks, "there must be work in the high school that will fit them to get and hold down a job immediately after leaving school."

In the county high school here manual training and domestic science departments have been leading features for several years, but these are to be strengthened and the work broadened. Domestic science courses are primarily "home makers" courses, and in addition to cooking and sewing, advanced dress-making, bacteriology, house planning, house furnishing, home decoration and sanitation,
personal hygiene, home nursing, etc., will be taught henceforward. The object of the course will be to give practical training for the care of the home.

The reorganized high school will go back to the old order for desirable features. Students must know how to spell. When their written work shows poor spelling they will be placed in special classes and their written work must be of correct spelling.

HOW SORREL IS PRESERVED.

Cure of Industry of a French Agricultural Community.

A curious agricultural industry is being profitably carried on at Viredales, near Meaux, France. It consists in the manufacture of preserved sorrel, which is put up in uns or small cases and exported to all parts of the world for use as a culinary and table accessory, says the Scientific American.

This industry was started at Viredales in the year 1260, but it still remains practically unknown to the world at large. It requires a motive power of about eight horsepower while a quantity of steam representing 17 horsepower is also used for boiling and cooking purposes. As the water used must be extremely pure, an artesian well has been sunk in the grounds of the factory, and yields a supply of the necessary medium which,
like the immortal Bard, is sans re-proche.

Sorrel can only be grown four years
in succession upon the same land, which must then be put under other crops for about 12 years. Hence the land bought up for the purpose covers a superficial area of 125 hectares (296 acres). When picked (for which 60 women are employed) the leaves are conveyed as quickly as possible to the factory, where they are carefully washed by mechanical means and are then well cooked in specially designed distillers or boilers.

This interesting industry, which is by no means unprofitable, would well repay consideration, as there is plenty of room for a much larger trade to be done in preserved sorrel—by means of an unpalatable table accessory.

The Race Question in America.

The proportion of children in the United States has been studied by Prof.
Walter F. Wilson, and the data are published in an interesting bulletin of the Census Bureau. Not only has the proportional number of children under the age of five been steadily decreasing since 1870, but also the number in relation to the number of women who are between the ages of 18 and 40—the child-bearing period. In 1860 there were 634 children to every 1,000 women but in 1920 there were but 471, indicating a steady decline in the birth rate.
This result is said by Gen. Francis A.
Walker to be due to immigration, though in what way is not properly explained, for the same decline is not as great here. Indeed, no reasonable cause has been given, it is merely a phenomenon, which has been going on since 1870.

GIRLS INTOXICATED AT ATLANTA CLUBS

Secretary of Civic League of America Says Some Even Take Straight Whiskey

SEES WOMEN DRINK AND GAMBLE

Avers Present-Day Dress Would Have Brought Ostracism to Wearers Generations Ago—Scathing Denunciation by Anti-Suffragist.

Atlanta, Ga.—Mrs. G. B. Lindsay, corresponding secretary of the Civic League of America, startled her audience at the woman's meeting of the Southern Citizenship Congress, in this city, with the declaration that there is an alarming increase in the number of young society women in Atlanta and the South who are highly debauching their souls with drink
at the clubs and cafes.

She also uttered a scathing arraignment of modern dress, and declared that if a woman had dared to dress a generation ago as many dress now she would have been ostracized from decent society, and two generations ago she would have been an outcast.

Her emphatic stand against vices for women which was taken at the same time and before a body of women, practically all of whom were ardent suffragists, proved almost as much of a bombshell as her sensational declaration in respect to present-day tendencies among the young women of the country.

"Go to the cafes and clubs of the city," she told her hearers, "and there you will find the greater problem. For will see beautiful young women debauching their intellect and debauching their souls in liquor—ever to the drinking of straight whisky. Do you know how many women and girls stupefied with drink are helped out of these places?
Just get on the good side of one of the waiters and you can get your information."

"Give us the ballot and we will stop it. I can imagine one of my suffragist sisters saying, 'No, you couldn't. For this very thing is in open violation of the law in every city in Georgia. You already have your legislation.'"

"My twenty years I have watched the efforts of women to right the evils that prevail all over the land.
What do I find? I discover, it is true, in the states where there is a woman suffrage, that women in many instances are holding their own with much honor and distinction as the men. Oh, I am proud."

But I do find that in the North and West where suffrage prevails, that the most needed reforms have not been secured. In fact social and industrial conditions for the most part are worse than in the districts where the vote for women has not been obtained.

Yes, we are getting our equal rights but at what a cost. The younger women in some instances gamble, smoke and drink with even greater recklessness than their brothers. If we do a little investigating we will find that all I have said is true. This new woman with her own hand has knickered her neck under the yoke of the past, or even on which she so long has been established."

We must teach our boys and our girls. We must teach them the principles of manhood and womanhood, and of Christian citizenship. Our children must be retrained. We do not need the ballot.

Cupid Makes Mistake

Brownsville, Pa.—Cupid made an awful misstep here Samuel Gallagher fished out of the Monongahela river a bottle containing a note from a young woman who desired to begin a correspondence with someone marriedly bent. She described herself thus: "Height five feet, 11 inches, weight 165 pounds, dark complexion, nice looking, answer soon. I am white."

Where Cupid fell down on, he got was in delivering the message to Gallagher who is a married man.

Italy to Pension Aged.

Rome—An announcement was made by Premier Giolitti that in the very near future the government will be able to provide for an old age pension for government employees out of the profits of the government's new monopoly of life insurance. This monopoly went into effect January 1.
Since then the government has issued 22,119 policies for a total insurance of nearly $1,000,000. The law provides for the creation of an old age pension fund out of the profits.

Divorces Bride Who Wouldn't Clerk.

Marquette, Wis.—The refusal of a bride to become a clerk in her husband's store in order to swell the family purse constitutes "cruel and inhuman treatment" according to a decision here.

Andrew Struch alleged his wife of three weeks refused to "help him out" and was granted a divorce on those grounds.

GRAY HORSES WORST BALKERS.

Expert Says North Bound Horses
Rarely Linger.

"A short while ago a horseman imparted some very interesting deductions of his own in regard to balky horses," says a writer in New York Post. According to him, fully two-thirds of the horses that balk are gray horses. Just what affinity there is between gray coloring matter and a predisposition to delay general traffic for half a day at a stretch is a question too deep for me. Perhaps some scientist can figure out the answer.

"Another thing worth noting is that a horse traveling toward the north balks. When going east, west or south he may, on occasions, suddenly take root in the pavement, but if northward bound there seems to be an irresistible current that sweeps him along, no matter how strong his inclination to stop and ruminate. Further more, according to my informant, a horse hitched singly is more apt to balk than when driven with a mate, and is also much harder to reduce to an amiable frame of mind."

It is strange, too, what a boundless respect most horses have for certain kinds of freight. Very seldom does a horse hitched to a milk wagon stop to think things over unless given permission to loiter. Bakers' carts, are likewise immune, and no self-respecting horse ever thinks of going into a tannery when drawing a load of flowers.
The drivers of pickle wagons also give a good account of their teams, and nobody ever heard of a candy wagon being held up by an unruly horse."

EUROPE'S OLDEST BEAUTY SHOP

Dates Four Hundred Years Back in a Convent in Spain.

Its recipes soon became famous throughout the world and the perfume of Santa Maria Novella was acknowledged to be the first and greatest known. The Medicis, dukes, popes and princes patronized it and endowed it from time to time. Every new director added some recipes to those already in use and his portrait was hung on the walls of the establishment. The last monk director of the establishment was the first to exhibit in foreign exhibitions, gaining medals wherever he went. When he died the nephew who succeeded him gave extraordinary development to the business. Pope Innocent XIII. once gave a recipe to "cure" burns which is still called "Balsam Innocentium." The catalogue of this old perfume contains rhubarb, eclair and Regina water, all made from herbs cultivated in the convent gardens. There is also a water to cure toothache which every dentist should have. Some of the convent waters are used instead of soap to cleanse, soften and whiten the skin. Even the health and beauty of the hair were studied by these old monks, who were doctors, chemists and perfumers combined, and whose study, with the perfection and cultivation of human health and beauty. The origins of the Santa Maria Novella is considered the flower in the world.
It is made from the plant growing in the convent gardens and is ground in the convent mill. It is used to perfume linen, brush the teeth and to apply to the skin after the bath.

There is a quack shop in Rome where this famous perfume is still sold. And this and the shop in Florence are the only places where it can be obtained. It took the monks four hundred years to become imbued with the necessary commercial spirit to sell their concoctions outside of the convent, no matter how great the demand.

Women as Wine Agents

There are three women wine agents in the land. They all sell California wines, and they compete in the East with men agents that the far Western vineyards send East to win trade, says the Chicago Tribune. One of these women carried off a contract for $11,000 worth of wine made by a department store from a rival agent who was a man.

Good fellowship always has been held to be one of the chief virtues of the successful wine agent. Strangely enough, the women have found that they do not have to compete with the men in this particular. Two of the women do not drink at all, and the other takes a glass of wine only when it is necessary to make the proper impression upon a prospective purchaser.
But all the women are good judges of the article they sell.

The chief qualifications possessed by the successful women wine agents are womanliness and diplomacy. One of them started in the work at $25 a week and now is getting $85. There are certain perquisites with the position, ranging from 10 to 20 per cent of the sale in the way of wine that she can use for her friends. No business house is more generous in giving away its product than the wine house. Men wine agents have carte blanche usually in the matter of giving away bottles of their goods, and the women share this privilege with them.

The women that have embarked in the business say they have found only the highest courtesy from the men with whom they come in contact. They attend to their business and they sell the wine.

One of the oldest settlers in Kingman county, Kansas, is a mule. It helped to draw the first wagon load of provisions into the county. The mule has been admitted as a member of the Old Settlers' association and attends every picnic it is one of the famous marks of the county.

MOUNTAINEERS' SUMMER SCHOOL

Where Twenty-One Teachers
Refuse to Go Two Others
Dwell in Log Cabin

VIRGINIA IS TO ADOPT NEW IDEA

Success of the First Venture Leads to a General Civic Movement in Neglected Hills and Valleys—Organize School with Camp Outfit.

Washington, D. C.—After twenty-one teachers had each refused in turn to teach the regular school at Irish Creek Hollow, in the mountains of Virginia, two county school teachers and a 12-year-old assistant invaded the district with a camping outfit and organized a summer school and an evening school that were both better attended than any school in past years had ever been.

"The experiment was so successful that other isolated communities in Virginia are to be handled in the same way."
Instead of allowing these isolated districts to get along as best they may, state and county officers in Virginia are going to send to the mountains every summer the very best teachers they can secure in order to provide the educational facilities that are needed.

Irish Creek Hollow is in a mountain valley in Rockbridge county. It is sparsely settled and remote of access. The inhabitants are mountaineers of original stock who have intermarried as much as the law permits.

They live in log cabins that are not even good log cabins. There was a school building, but for several years there had been no school. No school teacher would accept the possition.

After all attempts to get a regular teacher had failed, the county superintendent persuaded two experienced teachers to go to Irish Creek Hollow, after their own schools had closed, and to open a summer school.

They carried with them tents to live in, provisions and cooking utensils.
School was opened in the old school building, and the attendance exceeded all expectations. There were 80 children enrolled in the morning classes and 90 to 100 adults in afternoon and evening classes.

The mountaineers were a surprise because of what was done for them that summer that they built an additional schoolroom and two comfortable living rooms for the teachers.
Public spirit had developed to such an extent that following year that when one of the State inspectors and the secretary of the Virginia Cooperative Education Association visited the place they were able to organize a school and civic league and an athletic association.

Practically all the residents of the community enrolled in the civic league. An interesting feature of the work is that it reaches the adults as well as the children.
A Saturday afternoon class in reading and writing for grownups numbered among its members old men and women with grandchildren in the morning school.

In speaking of the experiment Mr.
A. C. Monahan, rural school specialist in the United States Bureau of Education, says: "In inaugurating this work Virginia has undoubtedly taken a valuable step toward benefiting one of the most deserving and most neglected classes of our country."

Some of our best American stock is in the mountains, and it should not be allowed to degenerate for lack of educational opportunities. The State Department of Virginia is now making a survey of the mountain regions of Virginia and proposes to conduct many summer schools in the near future like this one, which has been held for three years in Irish Creek Hollow."

Holdsburg, Pa.—While District
Attorney Marion D. Patterson, of Blair county, was enjoying a comfortable shave at the William Burger

tion in the mirror a sneak thief lifting the cash register. He pounced upon the lawbreaker and nailed his man to the floor under a mixture of lather, aprons and razors. Chief of Police Bowman then relieved the district attorney of his prisoner.

Favors Farmers' Clearing House.

Co-operation among the farmers instead of competition, that "the farmer may receive the whole of the consumers' dollar for his product instead of 35 to 45 per cent as is now the case," is the aim of a bill introduced by Senator Borah to create an "agricultural capital" or clearing house to be run by the farmers under government charter or subsidy. The bill would furnish machinery for scientific marketing and standardization of farm products under direction of a country-wide organization of producers irrespective of any government control. It created quite a stir in the senate, Senator Borah explaining later that he had not written the measure, but had introduced it together with a memorial at the request of E. H. Reutig, a farmer of Opportunity, Wash.

People Who Read Are Ones Who Do Things.

Elma Chronicle: The other day a man was bragging on the street that he was so all fired busy that he never had time to read the news. So he does not take a single paper. It's strange how busy some people who have little to do, can get. People who are really busy and who actually do things always have plenty of time to read the news. A man who does not keep abreast of the times by reading newspapers or news magazines should not be allowed to vote.

Parade Through Panama Canal.

Five nations have accepted our government's invitation to send ships to take part in the naval parade through the Panama Canal next year
—Argentina, Republic France, Ger-

Switzerland will send officers, but has no ships. It is expected that 100 war-

them under foreign flags. The procession is to start at Hampton Roads and cruise to the Golden Gate.

URGE SWAMP LAND FOR BEEF PASTURE

Federal Experts Would Use Low Ground to Prevent Meat Famine.

IMPORTS GIVE NO RELIEF

Argue Market Must Be Created for Small Sales—Several Farmers in Neighborhood Should Co-operate and Raise Same Kind of Animals.

Washington, D. C.—Turn the unused swamp and overflow lands in the heart of the more densely settled portions of the United States into cattle ranges and thus aid in solving the problem of how to prevent the threatened meat famine.

This is the suggestion that is put forward by division chiefs of the department of agriculture. The department finds the widely-heralded meat famine, which often has been held to be a trick of the packers to justify increases in the prices of meats, is real and menacing.

"The high cost of meat," said J. M. Pickens, is a serious reality, and it is obvious that the rise in prices in recent years is the natural result of an actual shortage in production.

"It is evident the country is facing an era of short production of meat and that some constructive means must be adopted if the American appetite for this class of food is to be supplied."

"While future imports may afford some measure of relief," says Pickens, "too much reliance should not be placed upon this source of supply." A study of the statistical situation does not disclose where we are likely to obtain any large quantity of beef for an extended period.

"It appears that England alone could take all of the foreign beef available for export," says Pickens, "and it is obvious that the rise in prices in recent years is the natural result of an actual shortage in production."

It is Dr. Rawl who has invited upon the subject of new cattle ranges and suggests the utilization of our unused overflow lands for new pasturage. These with rough and land not practical for agriculture.

"There are many millions of acres of such lands in the United States now lying idle or being cultivated at a loss that could be turned into excellent permanent pastures," says Rawl. "Few farmers are improving these waste lands as pastures. Furthermore, little is known as to the best methods of improving them. There are many difficult problems involved."

"As to the possibility of converting a very large part of those waste lands into permanent pastures, there is no doubt, but as to the cost of doing it, little is known."

"However, it is reasonable to suppose that if the developing of these pastures were thoroughly understood, the cost would not be prohibitive, particularly when the permanency of the pasture is considered. The establishment of these pastures seems to be a necessity in order to put the live stock industry of the country on a sound basis."

"Farmers will not produce to any extent a crop for which there is not a ready market," is Dr. Rawl's conclusion on this subject. Except in the vicinity of some of the larger cities, the best farming sections have very poor markets for animals on the hoof.

"Often there is no market at all for animals in small lots, and this is the only kind of market that is worth much to the farmer. If beef is ever produced extensively on the farms, it probably will be as a sideline and not as the main product."

"In this case cattle in large numbers never will be produced by the man, as in the west. Therefore the central market, which suits the rancher and feeder, does not suit the farmer. He needs some kind of a local market."

"But where is the beginner in such a community going to find a market? He alone cannot find it; he must have the assistance of some of his neighbors. By co-operating, several farmers in a neighborhood can plan to raise the same kind of animals, have them ready for market at the same time and ship in carload lots."

CAPTURES AN EAGLE IN CITY.

Huge Bird Caught After Being Wounded by Puckish Ky. Man.

Paducah, Ky.—A large eagle captured in the city limits by Will Humble, a grocer, makes the seventh eagle caught in this section of the State in the past few months. The eagle was perched in a tree and was discovered by boys, who had tried to capture it with air rifles, but they did not hit it.

Humble used a shotgun in his attempt to capture the bird, but only slightly injured it. The bird is a genuine eagle, and where they come from is a mystery.

ROBERTSON IN MOVIES.

Noted Actor Sees Himself in Movie in Production of "Hamlet."

London—Sir John Forbes-Robertson today saw himself as others see him. At the New Gallery Cinema in Regent street, England's greatest Shakespearean actor watched with lively interest the first film performance of "Hamlet" which he, his wife, Gertrude Elliott, and a full company recently produced before the camera.

"It was an unique experience to play for the movies," said Sir John. "Imagine acting before an audience with no ears and only one eye. I found it required especial adaptability, as there is no stimulation of applause between actor and audience, that is inexplicable, but to many players necessary for the highest development of their powers. To a nervous, highly strung temperament it would probably be impossible."

"From an educational point of view the possibilities of the cinema are enormous, but when I approach the subject from a dramatic or stage view I am, beset with two things: first, will cinema do the theater harm, or will it in the end do the drama good? It is possible that film plays may at present take away a certain proportion of the usual audiences of suburban and provincial theaters; but I think that ultimately if the proper plays are produced by men who really know their work, the general theatre-going public will be increased, and the greater demand for good healthy drama will be stimulated."

"Taking in consideration that a large portion of the patrons of cinemas are children, it is a good thing for them to see a good play produced on the screen. Surely a Shakespearean play is a better educational feature than a cowboy drama."

Devoting Fortune to 'Down and Outs'

St. Louis, Mo.—Made wealthy by the death of his sister, Arthur Weaver, aged 49, a former rag picker, who less than a year ago went hungry for days at a time today continues to live in a 10-cent lodging house on North Broadway, while he uses his money to provide for the "down and outs." Within eight months he has expended $5,000 of the $20,000 he inherited in backing up his words of consolation. At that he isn't keeping up with his interest, for within a few days $20,000 will be due him. When Weaver was down and out an old negro woman called him into her shack and gave him a cup of coffee. When she learned he was penniless she gave him five cents. When an attorney informed him that his sister in New Orleans had left him a fortune his first act was to give the attorney $100 to show his appreciation of her kindness.

Saw Devil in Eyes Declares Murderer

Cincinnati, O.—"I killed her because I saw the devil in her eyes. The baby would have the devil in her eyes so I killed her too."

This was the explanation Coroner Foertmeyer said was given him by a man who claims to be Robert Monroe Maroney, aged 28, an actor of San Antonio, Texas, for the recent murder of his one-year-old daughter Frances and his wife, who was known on the stage as Ethel Willard.

The mother and child were shot to death as they slept in a room in the Hotel Walton. Maroney, half clad, ran from the hotel flourishing a revolver. He was pursued and caught by Coroner Foertmeyer says the man is insane.

Declares Women Are Semi-Children. Boston, Mass.—"Women are semi-children. The chief interests of most of them are only half as between dolls and their large real ties."

Suffragist circles were deeply stirred today by this statement of Morrison I. Swift, Socialist orator in an address on "How to Make Women Equal to Men?"

Swift said "women are worshippers of surface instead of soul, of toy idols and foppish externals instead of fine and noble human qualities and principles. This is why the average man is able to treat his wife as the oldest and probably the foolish child in the family, rather than as an equal."

Alleged Slayer Would Aid Lepers.

Chicago—Dr. Haldane Cleminson, convicted four years ago of wife murder, will go to the leper colony in the Philippine islands and spend the rest of his life treating the outcasts if the state board of pardons grants his release.

"Dr. Cleminson is yet less than 30 years old," said his attorney James E. Callahan today. "He is a brilliant man with wonderful capabilities. He feels that he has been wronged, but that by making this great sacrifice he may reinstate himself in the hearts of his friends."

Affidavits to show that Cleminson was not at home at the time his wife was murdered, will be presented to the pardon board.

Horse's Cold Cured Kills. Jackson, Mich.—L. D. Thompson, a farmer, had a sick horse. A veterinarian said it had a cold, and left some medicine. Thompson also had a cold, and after giving his horse the prescribed dose, swallowed one just like it. He will die; the horse is getting well today.

PUBLICITY PLEASES OKLAHOMA INDIANS

Like White Brothers They Like to See Their Names in Print.

THEY WRITE FOR PAPERS

Rural Press of Southwest Publish Items as Prepared by Native Correspondents—It is Difficult for a Cheyenne to Think in English.

Colony, Okla.—The Cheyenne Indian, like many of his white brothers, is learning to derive keen satisfaction from seeing his name in print and in reading current neighborhood news relating to his people. A number of country newspapers in Southwestern Oklahoma have Indians as rural correspondents.

It is difficult for a Cheyenne to think in English, even though he may write English words. The following example of Cheyenne rhetoric is taken from a local newspaper:

"Cheyennes and Arapahoes were well pleased with camp meeting they all had lots to eat, while attending this meeting, number of Kiowas and Comanches were there also."

Indian police and some employees chased mad dog all night. Next morning Ed Haddley, killed the mad dog, near Julia Lizard's place. Indian police claim he bit several Indian dogs at different camps.

"Prudie Two Crows and Lizzie Benton are keeping house and doing their own cooking and washing at Two Crows' house. They are keeping the old man's house in good shape, while Two Crows is over on Boggy Creek with Bad Teeth's family. Fattening his team of horses, as Bad Teeth has lots of feed raised on Big Bodied Woman's allotment. Two Crows bought new horse from John Ketter to buy him with, with he says he is getting tired riding alone."

Indian wedding took place near Clinton some days ago between Jimmie Fall San and Emma Otterby. When they went in to register to marry, Pale Face, who they were told they could not marry just then for some good reason. So they have to live apart for some time."

Some new pine poles have been shipped to Clinton for Clinton Indians from Tomlinson River Agency. Next year Clinton Indians will have new poles to put up their teepees at the Indian fair. Good men, southern Cheyennes have made arrangements with the northern Cheyennes for these pine poles to be shipped down here. Southern Cheyennes have to send money up there to pay freight for shipping these poles, as money is very scarce with northern Cheyennes.

Colonel Arapahoes have gone to Left Hand's allotment north of Geary to attend Crazy or Foolish Lodge Creeping Bear and Lizard are chiefs from here in this Crazy lodge. This lasts four days after this is over with Cantonment Arapahoes will come over and visit Colonel Arapahoes and have another Given dance. Colonel Arapahoes went to Cantonment last year and had Given dance up there, and got good many presents given to them by Cantonment Arapahoes.

"Delegation of Cheyenne and Arapahoes that went to South Dakota to attend big council that was held by Sioux, came back home October 2. The Sioux chiefs told them that they did not want them to make any speeches but that they could attend the big council and see the Sioux making speeches. The Sioux chiefs had to say to the Arapahoes that they went into the council lodge to hear the Sioux making speeches. Cheyennes did not hear the Sioux, they all stayed away from the council lodge. Watan says next big council will be held near Pine Ridge agency next year. He says all the tribes were invited to attend this big council and it will last for several days. Sioux told them at this big council everybody would be permitted to make speech. The Sioux treated the delegation nice and gave them some nice presents to bring back home."

"Stone Road of Clinton was at Superintendent Small's office to see him about building nice four-room house on his allotment near Clinton. Stone Road is going to buy him nice team of mares that will have colts this coming spring. Stone Road does not run around like most Cheyennes, he stays at home."

GOES TO CHURCH IN NIGHTIE.

Has Sudden Call From Zion to Go Forward and Preach.

Carthage, Mo.—"Then Harry Shafer, a wealthy resident of Prosperity, a mining town near Carthage, had a vision in which God commanded him to call the people together and preach to them, he did not tarry even to dress before attempting to carry out the mandate at 4 o'clock in the morning."

Shafer walked to the Baptist church, several blocks away, clad only in his nightshirt, treading the frosty ground in his bare feet. He rang the church bell violently for half an hour.

LIGHT CAUSES FRIGHT.

Weird Apparition on Steps of Church at Athens, Ga., Alarms.

Athens, Ga.—Thousands of persons have come downtown nights to see the "ghost" in the porch of the First Baptist Church, which was discovered only recently, although it has been present just as visibly for fifteen years or more and never noticed.

The discovery was accidental. A young woman, stepped into the entrance of the church, which is in the heart of the business section, one evening after dark to tie her shoe lace. She fled screaming to the sidewalk, declaring hysterically that she had seen a "ghost."

Investigation proved that she had seen something. On the side step entering the main auditorium of the church was the figure of a woman draped in white veiling like a bride in her wedding garments. A tall woman holding her white flowers in one hand and lifting her trailing nebulous train behind her with the other. One foot is in the attitude of stepping off the first step down to the entrance space. Every fold of the white garments, the bend of the elbow, every graceful draping of the white veil, is clear.

The nearer one approaches, the clearer the clearer the vision. The "ghost" is said to be caused by some unusual lighting effect.

400 Inches Skin Saves Life.

New York—Mrs. John Angyal, wife of a quartermaster at Haverstraw, has given the last of a total of seventy-five square inches of skin, which was grafted on her husband's right leg during the last three months. While the operation was being performed a jury, before Supreme Court Justice Tompkins, at New City, gave a verdict of $6,000 damages to Angyal.

While employed in the Henry Steers stone quarry at Jones Point he was knocked between cars and dragged a considerable distance. Nearly all the skin was torn from his right leg. Between 350 and 400 inches have been grafted on by Dr. George A. Leiber of Pierpont. Much of this was taken from Angyal's own body.

80 Pound Turkey Drops Dead.

Burgess O.—Buster, the champion heavyweight turkey of Crawford county is dead. Buster had the dignified weight of 80 pounds and had taken prizes in many poultry shows in this section.

His owner, Charles Ann Miller after the last show, fed Buster to the best of food and started putting on the finishing touches of fat on Buster could be killed up for dinner. Buster cooperated with his owner and ate early and late. Just as the turkey was putting on the final touches of fat in the hope of reaching the 90-pound mark, he dropped dead as he was being placed on the scales. Fifty fragmentation of the heart had killed him.

Girls Lured Men to Roulette Table.

New York When Ivy O'Brien, graduate, and Albert Davis, Wall street broker and associate of Reed and Vanderbilt are shortly arraigned on gambling charges, Deputy Police Commissioner Newberger will charge that they have won fortunes with the one little "toy" roulette wheel that was found in their room after their arrest at a tango tea in Murray's Wednesday afternoon.

It is said that a member of the Russian consulate, who was by no means the heaviest of the losers, was lured to Murray's by a pretty girl he met at the horse show and that he parted with $3,500 on the diminutive wheel.

Wireless Carriage Marriage Proposal.

New York—This time it was D. Thompson of Route 1000 Glasgow to Superior. Mrs. Thompson announced that she had received a proposal of marriage by wireless while speeding here on the liner Caledonia. Mrs. Thompson, now a widow, had a sweetheart years ago in Frank MacIntyre of Superior. MacIntyre wrote a letter proposing marriage 10 years ago. The letter was lost in the mails. This time MacIntyre took no chances and proposed by wireless.

Mrs. Thompson will visit her brother in Superior and will give MacIntyre his answer while there.

Woman Rides the Bumpers.

Pinecroft, W. Va.—Mrs. Marian Davis, arrived here after riding the rear of a Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train. Mrs. Davis, who lives in Roseville, arrived at the train as it was leaving Adenstone Junction, but she grabbed the rear of the last coach. She swung up and rode in her perilous position to Nemours, where the train stopped. There she found herself on a trestle and unable to board the train in a safe place before it pulled out. Again she held on behind. To the surprise of everybody she held to the train until it reached here, ten miles from Roseville.

Denies Office to Dead Man.

Carroll, Ia.—Judge Hutchinson decided that the death of Mr. Schreck, Democratic candidate for county supervisor, had invalidated the result of the election, at which voters, ignorant of the death, had given Mr. Schreck a majority. Mr. Patton, Republican candidate, claimed the election, as he was the candidate who received the next highest vote.

WILSON'S IDEAS ON TRUSTS APPROVED

Bills have been prepared for action by congress designed to carry out the recommendations of President Wilson. It is almost certain that some law will be passed by congress whereby officials of corporations may be punished for violating the anti-trust and other laws. "Guilt is personal will be the basis of such legislation."

Republicans as well as democrats showed their approval of President Wilson's message on trust regulation.

Representative Mann, republican leader, leading the applause which greeted its reading. Immediately after the message had been read, Representative Oscar Underwood, democratic leader, moved that the section relating to the creation of an interstate trade commission and for a law to regulate the issuance of railroad securities be referred to the committee on interstate commerce.

The chief points which the president singled out as a basis for legislation were:

1. Effectual prohibition of the interlocking of directorates of great corporations, banks, railroads, industrial, commercial and public-service bodies.
2. A law to confer upon the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development and improved transportation facilities.
3. Definition of "the many hurtful restraints of trade" by explicit legislation supplementary to the Sherman law.
4. The creation of a commission to aid the courts and to act as a clearing house of information in helping business to conform with the law.
5. Provision of penalties and punishments to fall upon individuals responsible for unlawful business practices.
6. Prohibition of holding companies and a suggestion that the voting power in numerous corporations might be restricted.
7. Giving to private individuals the rights to found suits for redress on facts and judgments proven in government suits and providing that the statute of limitation should run only from the date of conclusion of the government's action.

All Wrong

The Mistake Made by Many Northville Citizens.

Look for the cause of backache. To be cured you must know the cause.

If it's weak kidneys you must get the kidneys working right. A Northville resident tells you how.

Mrs. G. Barnhart, Northville, Mich., says: "For a long time one of my family has had kidney trouble. He complained mostly of his back but recently his condition was worse. His back was so lame he could hardly get around to work and there were sharp burning pains when the kidney secretions were passed. Not long ago he was compelled to stay in the house as he was so bad. For several days he was unable to straighten up and the pains got into his legs so that he couldn't walk without tottering over. He was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills and I got some at Murdoch Bros. drug store. After using two boxes he had wonderful relief. His kidneys acted regularly and he is now able to do his work without trouble. He is still using Doan's Kidney Pills and is confident of a complete cure."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Record was indebted to John Kenyon of St. Louis for a copy of a St. Louis paper's sporting page containing a cut of Earl Stimpson. "Hurrah for our Reilly, and here's hoping he turns out to be a valuable man this year for the St. Louis Browns," says John in his letter.

Take acetic acid and dilute it one-half in hot water, then apply to the smart spots on the skin while it is warm. Rub it if it gets too chilled. The hot acid will not hurt the skin, but it will kill the bacteria on the skin, and it is non-toxic, and may be put on at any drug store.

A rapid and practical method of removing stains and discolorations from the outer coats of china and crockerywork is to use oxalic acid and powdered pumice. Dissolve the oxalic crystals in hot water and saturate a small stiff brush in it, then dip the brush in the powdered pumice and rub the discolored surface briskly with the brush.

E. K. Stockweather writes from Denver that the Record never looks quite so valuable as when one is away from home. Accompanied by his son, Royal E. The St. Louis Sunday Globe had a fine write up with illustrations of Earl Stimpson. Jan. 27 "Reilly" goes south with the St. Louis Browns Feb. 15 and will work out in the training camp until the season opens. Mrs. Stimpson will visit relatives in Plymouth-Northville neighborhood until Earl gets located with his team. Here's hoping he makes good and we are quite sure he will. Earl has good habits, a good batting eye, is exceptionally quick on bases and has the making of a great ball player.

The well known and charming actress, Miss Lillian Russell, has been engaged to appear at the Rialto Theatre, on the west side of the Northville, and will bring her troupe of players, a superb and a superbly beautiful. This will be still another to the many city people who have found Northville an ideal location for home building and the act will tend to attract more wealthy professional people in the future, for whom there are plenty of lovely locations in and around our village.

Admirers of fighting cocks should visit Fred Moffat's pens near the Scale works. He has about one hundred of as handsome and scrappy birds as can be found in the United States. A number of them are champions of many a hard fought battle, and many more are in training. The process of training them for battles is very interesting and systematic as that practiced upon such scrappers as Volga and Jack Johnson. John Birch also has about a score of beauties in the same pens under training for future activity and they give great promise for coming rug work.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE
BIBLE STUDY ON
PRINCE OF DARKNESS VS. PRINCE OF LIGHT.

Luke 11:14-26, 33-36—Feb. 8.
"Look therefore whether the light that is in thee be not darkness."—Luke 11:35.

HOWEVER much the worldly-wise may scoff at the idea that there is a personal devil, prince over a demon host of spirit beings—rebels against God's government—let us always remember that this is the Bible teaching from Genesis to Revelation. The Bible explains that Satan was the first transgressor, that previously he was a cherub who lost his loyalty to God through pride, and that he seduced into disobedience those whom the Bible designates a demon host. Everywhere the Scriptures set forth that this demon host are associated with our earth, and are not in some far-off fiery furnace torturing dead.

The Bible indicates that God does not lack power to deal with these rebels, but that He is permitting them for a time to manifest the fruitage of sin, anger, malice, hatred, envy, strife, as a lesson for angels and men. They are under certain limitations. Scripturally styled "chains of darkness." Since the Deluge they have not been permitted to materialize as men. But they have sought intercourse with humanity, and their victims are said to be obsessed. When their victory is complete, the victims are said to be possessed of the demon and insane.

It is estimated that fully one-half of the insane are demon-possessed. As in the past intercourse was sought through witches, necromancers, etc., so today intercourse with humanity is sought through outboard boards, planchettes and mediums. Deceived by demon doctrines falcated in the Dark Ages (1 Timothy 4:1), humanity neglect God's testimony that the dead are asleep and "know not anything." Their thoughts perish, until their awakening in the morning of the New Dispensation.

Today's study introduces the Master delivering a man from demon possession. The people rightly understood the difficulty, but being opposed to Jesus some declared that the demons obeyed Him because He Himself was the Prince of Devils. Others said, Your miracles are all earthly; show us some sign from Heaven. Jesus showed that for Satan to cast out his own hosts would signify warfare in the demon camp, which would imply that Satan's house was divided and would soon fall; consequently such an argument should have no weight. To those who realized that He was casting out demons by the finger of God, the power of God there should be no doubt that this is evidence of special favor from God, and a revelation of His testimony that the power of God's Kingdom was being exercised in their midst.

When Israel rejected Christ, the Kingdom offer was taken from them and they were set aside for a time. The message has since gathered another Israel—drawing first all "Israelites indeed" and then the simity of every nation. Jesus' power in casting out demons showed that He was able to deal with Satan—and that if the Kingdom then been set up, Satan had a chance to have been set up. However, in view of the power of God, the work of Satan is now being broken up, and the Kingdom of God is being set up. Satan and all who are in bondage to him are being broken up.

The Binding of Satan. Jesus put Satan's control of the world, keeping him to a strong man armed and guarding his palace. He can maintain control of a stronger overcomes him and takes possession. Thus Jesus foretold that His Messianic Kingdom will be stronger than that of Satan and will bind him. The result will be the deliverance of mankind from the curse of sin and death, which has been upon human life for six thousand years.

Jesus likened the world to the poor demonic whom He had released from Satan's grasp. Satan's grasp is all who accept Christ are delivered. But Jesus declares that Satan will seek to regain control of such through the spirit of the world—pride, anger, hatred, strife, works of the flesh and the Devil. If Satan be not resisted, the blessings received from the knowledge of God will become an injury, and such a person will be worse than before he came into relationship with Christ.

The Master emphasized this, declaring that the light of Truth, the grace of God received must be let shine to the glory of God. Otherwise, the light would become extinguished and the darkness would prevail. The eye represents intelligence; and so long as we have the true enlightenment, or intelligence, the whole body is blessed thereby.

The eye, the light, here represents the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit, which has the greatest power to bless. Its loss would mean even greater darkness than we experienced before coming to a knowledge of God.

PALM OIL POSSIBILITIES

British West Africa Endowed With Unlimited Sources of Wealth—Palm Oil a Staple.

London—An interesting article in the Evening Standard points out that in tropical agriculture will be found the unlimited sources of wealth with which British West Africa has been endowed. The exploitation of the Nigerian tinfields and the gold mining ventures of the gold coast, which have been so freely advertised, sink into insignificance compared with the value of the vegetable products of the soil.

The cultivation of cacao, which began 10 years ago, has now reached a stage when the value of the amount exported is almost £3,000,000. The exports of ground nuts from the Gambia and Sierra Leone have attained a considerable figure, but the product of greatest importance is the oil derived from the oil palm, extracted from the kernels of the fruit, the export of which last year exceeded £5,000,000.

The oil palm grows in a belt of coast line nearly 2,000 miles in extent. It begins bearing after five years and continues for 80 or 90 years. The fruit is in the form of a large cone or pineapple, and each fully matured tree produces, on an average, 100 pounds of palm fruit annually. The fruit contains from 500 to 1,500 plump like drupes, from the kernels of which the palm oil is extracted, the residue being made into cattle food. When the native uses the fruit for food, he boils it and thus obtains the oil he requires, but when he prepares it for sale to the trader, he buries it for awhile, and then squeezes the pulp with his hand. By this primitive method he not only loses half the oil, but obtains it in a rancid state. This is the palm oil of commerce, which is shipped to Liverpool, Hamburg, and Marseilles, and is used in the manufacture of candles and soap, as a lubricant, and in the tinplate industry. Mr. Farquhar, conservator of forests, southern Nigeria, has written a most valuable treatise on the oil palms, which is published by the crown agents for the colonies, and sets forth the great possibilities which await the scientific exploitation of this vegetable product.

HORSE MEAT FOR BERLINERS.

Municipal Slaughter House for Equines Planned as Other Floods Soar.

Berlin—The prices of meat continue to rise and in consequence the city of Berlin will in a very near future establish a new municipal slaughter house for horses.

The consumption of horse meat is rapidly increasing, but there are complaints that the control of the authorities is not strict enough and that quantities of horse meat are being imported from abroad and sold to the poor in this city.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of a Berlin paper states that a Russian who previously buried the carcasses of horses slaughtered for their hides at Ryval and Dorpal has recently been making a big profit by selling down this horse meat and sending it to Berlin.

Such a thing ought to be impossible if customs regulations were properly enforced but libbing has been hinted at and the opposition press is demanding a thorough investigation.

—SONES NAILED TOGETHER.

Unique Operation on Houston Fireman is a Success.

Houston, Tex.—J. W. Williamson, a former member of the Houston fire department, has just undergone one of the most remarkable operations on record. Part of his shinbone was grafted into his thigh, secured by steel and six penicillin nails. A piece of lamb bone was then grafted into his leg. Williamson is now at the Baptist Sanatorium and will recover. An 11-pound weight is attached to the injured leg to make it the same length as the other.

Williamson lies in a box to prevent movement of his body tearing loose the bones just united. Last April he tried to catch a passing fire truck and was thrown. His thigh was injured but he thought it was only a sprain. Puzzled because the pain continued for months, an X-ray examination was made and it was found the thigh bone was broken. The flesh was laid bare and the top part of the thigh was crushed away and in its place a three-inch piece of the shin was substituted.

DREAM BITE MAY COST LIFE.

Kansas Imagines He is Chewing Tobacco and Injures Self in Sleep.

Wichita, Kas.—As a result of a dream, in which he bit the inside of his right cheek, John Burton, 55 years old, a retired farmer, of this city, is seriously ill with blood poisoning and may not recover. The entire right side of his face is badly swollen and one eye is closed.

Mr. Burton, who is a total abstemious from tobacco of all sorts, dreamed that he was learning to chew weed, and in the gyrations of his dream caught the inside of his cheek between his teeth and bit it, and the injury at first, but in less than a day blood poisoning began and it was necessary to call in a doctor.

REWARD OF UNSELFISHNESS

Armstrong was a handsome fellow, tall, and of a striking personality. For three years he had occupied a position as a night reporter with one of the largest city newspapers, and no doubt would have been content to get no further had it not been for his sweetheart, Ruth Burton.

Ruth's father, objected to Armstrong's attentions to his daughter on the grounds of his not being able to support her in the style to which she had been accustomed, hence his desire to work his way up into a position which would enable him to marry Ruth. Just then the telephone rang. It was the night editor on the end of the line.

"Is that you, Armstrong? The operator at Western just telegraphed that a man closely resembling George Otis was seen leaving the train from New York and is now somewhere in the vicinity. Take a run down there and see what you can find out. Wire me if anything turns up. That's all."

The case on which he was working was a notorious one. George Otis, forger and blackmailer, had heretofore escaped capture, although there were men scouting the country for him in all directions.

Armstrong alighted at the Western station about midnight. Making his way down a deserted side street, he walked until he came to a large, vacant residence and spacious grounds, surrounded by an iron fence. The place had a general air of being unoccupied and uncared for, yet Armstrong felt somehow that he might get a clue to Otis' disappearance if he could gain admission to these grounds, for this was the old Otis mansion, the criminal's former home. The scene was brightly flooded with moonlight. Armstrong discovered the gates were locked, so he resorted to strategy to get into the place. Climbing one of the great trees which lined the side of the street he managed to slide down its drooping branches and on to the grass within the fence.

Creeping noiselessly up to the house, he made a detour around it, but found nothing apparently out of the way. He waited and waited for about an hour, but not even a sound disturbed the stillness of the night. He was about to abandon the search, when an open cellar window, large enough to admit the body of a man, caught his eye.

Armstrong managed to crawl through it and get into the cellar of the building. In the moonlight through the window he discovered a pair of stairs leading up into the house, and stealthily, step by step, he mounted them. Opening the door, he found himself on the first floor. Nothing to be seen. The air was damp and musty, and altogether unpleasant. Cautionally he felt his way up the staircase to the second floor. At the head of the stairs he paused for he saw a light shining from under one of the closed doors.

From his viewpoint at the keyhole, he saw Otis' white open trunk, and everything in general confusion with the drawers of the dresser open. He was evidently packing up his effects in anticipation of a journey. Just then he turned around so that Armstrong could see his profile, not a bad looking face at the worst. He held a picture in his hand which Armstrong could not see, but the expression on Otis' face told him the story. Otis loved the original of the picture, whoever it might be. Just then Armstrong made a slight noise, and Otis looked up with a start. There were tears in his eyes and his face was working with an emotion which softened and even beautified it. He came forward, opened the door, and the two men stood confronting each other.

Otis spoke in a perfectly calm voice. "I know what you want, and will go with you," he said. "I told her it would be no use," he finished bitterly, glancing at the picture he held in his hands.

"Tell me about her," said Armstrong, briefly. Otis looked at him keenly.

"Of what interest is she to you?" he inquired suspiciously, but Armstrong's expression seemed to reassure him, for he said: "The little woman and I were sweethearts before I left this town when a boy, and now, well, you know what I did. I have been an outcast since. I met her in New York a week ago. She forgave me everything, God bless her, and we were to go to England and begin a new life. What are you going to do with me?"

Armstrong thought for a few moments with knitted brows. To capture this man meant honor position and Ruth. To let him go meant perhaps years of weary waiting to get such a chance of success again, but his tender heart resolved him.

"Get your things together. I'll help you—get to the girl," he said hoarsely. That morning Otis was on his way to New York. Armstrong went back to the office, and reported nothing on the case. Weary and dejected he went back to his rooms, where a letter awaited him from Ruth. Eagerly he tore it open and read: "Dear Arthur—I have the best of news for you, sweetheart. Papa has given in at last, and well, I can tell you about it better than I can write it. Come up as soon as you can. Lovingly, RUTH."—Gwendolyn G. Hackett.

AMERICANIZING THE N.A.V.

About 90 Per Cent. of the Enlisted Men Were Born in This Country. The report of Rear Admiral R. F. Nicholson, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, shows that 89.79 per cent. of the men in the service, exclusive of officers, are American born. More than 96 per cent. are American citizens.

This is a great change from a few years ago. In time there will be no aliens in the naval service, as the department is now enlisting only American citizens. Re-enlistment is not refused to those aliens now in the navy, however; so that it will be some time before they are all eliminated by death or retirement.

The transformation of the battle ships from vessels requiring crews of old-time sailor men to floating machine shops has made possible the enlistment of young Americans from the farms or inland cities.

More than 44,000 of the 47,612 men in the navy service are classed as whites. There are more than a thousand each of Filipinos and negroes. The remainder are Chinese, Japanese, Porto Ricans, Samoans, Hawaiians and North and South American Indians.

While awaiting the entire elimination of aliens from the service, which is of course the normal condition of affairs, the retention of a few Japanese, says the "Oriental Review," goes far to prove to the outside world the continuance of a real friendship between the two nations. The employment as diplomatic advisor of a New England international jurist in the Foreign Office at Tokio is the strongest possible testimony of Japan's implicit trust in the United States.

Black and White vs. White and Black. For many years a large department store has spent thousands of dollars on placards with which almost every article of merchandise is ticketed throughout the store, and only within a short time did they realize the amount of money that was wasted in using the white cardboard with black lettering. These white cards became soiled and shop worn if allowed to remain in place any length of time. The cards which are handled by customers in bins, trays, etc., are even more so. By substituting the black cardboard with white lettering this store has overcome this difficulty to a very great extent. The show cards are always clean, fresh and bright looking, and they last many times as long, saving the firm several hundred dollars in the course of a year.—Business.

An Almanac Started in 1686. The oldest almanac in existence is the "Almanach National," which has been issued by the French Government since 1686. Its name has been changed a good many times during its career of 226 years. Originally the "Almanach Royal," it became "National" in 1793, "Imperial" in 1805, and reverted to its original name nine years later. Since then the title has been altered four times. Like most publications of this sort the "Almanach National" has grown bulky with advancing years. The first issue contained forty-eight pages as compared with 1,550 pages in the current issue.—London Chronicle.

Mouse That Sings. A L. Fleagle of East Alton bought a lot of mousetraps to recapture a mouse which he says utters musical notes.

For three months Fleagle says he has heard musical sounds in his house at night and he was mystified. It was like the sound of a raney, but he knew there was no bird in the house. Fleagle caught three mice and among them he noticed one which was uttering notes of music like those he had been hearing.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

African Copper Mining. Copper mining in the Transvaal, although yet in its infancy, is regarded as a coming industry of promise. The great district of Zoutpansberg in the north, next to the frontier of southern Rhodesia, is the center of copper mining at present. In this district large ancient copper workings exist and these are now being operated along modern lines. While the output for 1910 was only 3,383 tons, a largely increased yield is confidently expected.

Water. Water forms three-fifths of our body, almost all food must be dissolved in water, before it can be digested and absorbed, waste products are removed by water, and it is water that regulates the body temperature by means of perspiration. Therefore, in all states of health a sufficiency is necessary. And in certain diseases, it must be remembered it is imperative to drink freely.

Once Buried Church. At Soula, in Gascony, a cross was discovered projecting above the sands. Further investigation showed that it was attached to a steeple, and later a well preserved church of the thirteenth century was excavated. The church is now in use.—Argus.

One Railroad's Record. Since the City and South London Tube Railway was opened, twenty-one years ago, only one servant of the company has been killed on the line.

South African Population. The Union of South Africa, which includes the Transvaal, Cape Colony, Natal and Orange Free State, has a population of 5,000,000.

SAILORS' AND SWIMMING.

Rear-Admiral Schroeder, while training the men on his fleet down in Guantánamo Bay, has discovered that some 2,500 of them don't know how to swim, and he reports to Washington that he has taken measures to remedy this defect in their nautical education.

It seems rather remarkable that sailors, with large amounts of water always conveniently near, should lack an art which so many landmen possess, especially as it is an art the possession of which a sailor is at any moment likely to be in more or less desperate need. It is a fact, however, that seamen as a class swim badly or not at all, and the reason is not far to seek, for when one comes to think about it, a ship in motion is about the worst thing in the world from which to go in swimming, and the sailor's opportunities for taking to the water, except by an accident, are much less numerous than those of the men ashore. Moreover, old sailors have been known to argue that since for them falling overboard usually means death, whether they can swim or not, it is better to lack a knowledge that only serves to prolong a hopeless struggle with the merciless waves. That, of course, is bad logic, but it has just enough of truth in it to create something of a plausible to the claim.—Popular Mechanics.

THE GIFT OF THE NILE. In his presidential address to the engineering section of the British Association during its South African meeting, Colonel Moncrieff dwelt upon the fact that Africa is especially dependent upon irrigation, and pointed out that modern engineers have not devised any essentially new method of supplying thirsty lands with water. He referred to the statement of Herodotus that Egypt is the gift of the Nile, and mentioned the latest conclusion as to the source of the Nile floods. This he said, is undoubtedly in Abyssinia. The observations of Captain Lyons have finally demonstrated that the rains falling in the immense basin of the White Nile are of no importance to Egypt. From June to August the Nile rises, and afterward sinks until once more the floods come down the Blue Nile from Abyssinia. Egypt is simply an irrigated valley 780 miles long, and apart from the Delta, which is 100 miles long, this valley is nowhere more than 15 miles wide, and in some spots less than a mile.

GERMAN CITIES PROSPER. Frederic C. Howe, writing in Scribner, says: "I know of no cities in the modern world which compare with those which have arisen in Germany during the past twenty years."

He praises them for their largeness of vision and far-sighted outlook into the future. Germany is building her cities as Bismarck perfected the army. They are thinking of tomorrow, and the facts which he presents about the expenditures in cities like Frankfurt, Düsseldorf, Munich, and Cologne, will be astounding to Americans. They have lavished money on the beauty of their civic centers, their docks, their parks, and the result has been not a wasteful expenditure but a tremendous increase in the social and industrial prosperity of the cities.

HIPPOS ARE QUICK. Colonel Roosevelt, in his art in Scribner, says that the hippos are as touchingly quick in their movements "for such shapeless-looking, short-legged things. By sheer muscular power they move at an increased rate of speed both on dry land and in deep water, and in shallow water they gallop very fast on the bottom, under water. Ordinarily only their heads can be seen and they must be shot in the brain." Kermit Roosevelt succeeded in photographing a hippo charging toward his boat with its mouth open. Several times the hippos swam under the boat and almost upset it.

THE FIGHTING WOLVERINE. A wolverine, a kind of weasel-skunk-bear-like animal, will run a whole pack of wolves, and the scent of a wolverine will make a domesticated wolf tuck his tail, bristle, bark and growl into a hurry-up. The dog seems to remember what the wolverine did to his grandpa. The wolverine is a tough, blue-muscled, bull-necked, thick-headed, short, stout-legged scrapper. Hunters call him the "skunk bear." He fears no animal fights fair and nicks anything double his weight.

PEOPLE THEMSELVES

BRING ABOUT WAR.

Ehhu Root in a recent speech declared that after all is said and done it is not governments but peoples that must maintain peace; and that war will never be done away with "so long as people fail to exercise proper self-restraint and the courtesy that the people of the world demand. We in America must learn that we can not continue a policy of peace with our suits. We must learn civility." There is much good sense in that. Peace between nations, like peace between individuals, depends upon sympathy and understanding, and these come from the practice of forbearance, kindness, courtesy.

As individuals resent slurs on their honor and integrity, so do nations; and a handful of jingoists, talking loudly of the superiority of another nation, can do more to disturb international amity than all the governments can correct. More charity must be exercised, and a great willingness to recognize that difference does not imply inferiority, and that all the virtues are not inherent in one country and in one race. Peace must rest finally upon a sense of brotherhood, and this depends upon recognition of the civilities and decencies of human intercourse.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

OPERATING IN THE DARK.

Up-to-date stenographers use the typewriter automatically, pretty much as pianists play in the dark. This not only relieves the eyes, but gives greater freedom to thought and movement of the body, and puts a large part of the work upon the centres of the automatic nervous system in the tip of the spinal cord, which act more or less independently and without concentration and fatigue of the higher brain cells. Some can type with a rapid dictation in the dark with only seeming playful effort, and a few can use two fingers, chew gum, talk, laugh and work all at the same time.

NECESSARY PROTECTION.

The people of the West are too frightened to regard their country as one to be merely agricultural for any great length of time, the people of the West, instead of looking to the East, will soon be largely manufacturing for themselves, and they must see the wisdom of maintaining a policy which will conserve their future. And even at the present time all intelligent Canadians from across to ocean recognize that the tariff must have regard to the interests of the country as a whole, and that from the point of view of all Canada a protective policy is simply indispensable.—Halifax Herald.

HUMAN NATURE.

Two persons who consider themselves to be good judges of human nature may be estimating the character of a great and good man or woman who has evidently weaknesses and defects. The one person may see only the weakness and the defect. Both may report correctly what they see, and their reports may be entirely different.

Banks Accepts New System

At last accounts 1620 national banks had decided to come into the new federal reserve banking and currency system. This number includes nearly all the largest banks. Other national banks are coming in now at the rate of 100 a day, or more. The state banks are slower to act, being under no pressure, but there is no longer much doubt that the new system will be accepted by nearly all.

A correspondent with the New York Evening Post inquires as to the meaning of the word "blunt." The best definition of the word is embodied in the one blank platform of the old "Boaters' Club" of Chicago, which reads: "We stand unflinchingly in favor of everything."

Some of his old time revolutionary friends in Russia are disgusted with Gorky because of his "tendency to good living and his love of comfort." As a "pauvre Souffrant" the Russian Government may find him less objectionable.

NOVI NEWS.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Myers a 13 pound girl, Jan. 29.

John Hroegman has purchased G. A. Sutton's farm and the latter is to soon move to Northville.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Greger entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Gleason and Charles Brown at a chicken dinner, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Sutton were tendered a farewell reception at their home Tuesday evening, they being about to move to Northville, where they will make their future home. Mr. and Mrs. Sutton have been closely associated with Novi for many years and will be greatly missed, especially at the Baptist church, where they have so efficiently labored that their aid in various church departments will be a great loss. After music and recitations and the serving of a bountiful supper, Rev. Hiley in behalf of the 50 or more friends present, gave Mr. and Mrs. Sutton a set of sterling silver tablespoons, as a slight token of the esteem in which they are held here in Novi.

Two fishermen were living near each other. One of them was very poor, and the other his boat. A visitor called on the one who had no boat, and thinking it was the one who had lost his wife, and the other his boat, he said: "I am sorry to hear of your loss." "Oh, it ain't much," he replied, "my wife was a good one, but she was a rickety old cuss. When I went out with her I was always in danger of my life." "Indeed?" he offered her to his mate, only last week, but he wouldn't have her, but I have had my eye on another for some time now, and—" that the old lady could stand no more of the old man's innocent denunciation of the weaker sex, and hurriedly took her departure.

Dangers of a Cold.

Do you know that of all the minor ailments colds are by far the most dangerous? It is not the colds themselves that you need to fear, but the serious diseases that they so often lead to. For that reason every cold should be gotten rid of with the least possible delay. To accomplish this you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy of great help to you. It loosens a cold; relieves the lungs, aids expectoration and enables the system to throw off the cold. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.
