STEAMER RAMMED IN FOG SINKS IN TEN MINUTES AND FORTY ONE PERISH

The accompanying photographs are those of the steamship Nantucket and Ferdinand J. Kuehn. The Nantucket is the steamship that recently collided with and sank the steamer Monroe, near the Cape Charles (Va.) lightship. Ferdinand Kuehn was the heroic operator of the ill-fated steamer.

During a dense fog the Nantucket, of the Merchants' and Miners' line, rammed the Old Dominion liner Monroe. The impact was terrific and the bow of the Nantucket was driven 20 feet into the hull of the Monroe on the port quarter, and the Monroe started to sink as soon as the Nantucket backed off.

The collision occurred shortly after midnight and four minutes later the Monroe had listed to port until it was impossible to launch the life boats on the starboard side.

HEROIC WIRELESS OPERATOR GIVES LIFE TO SAVE A WOMAN

Ferdinand J. Kuehn, twenty-one, of New York City, chief wireless operator on the Monroe, gave his life to save a woman, just as the ship was sinking.

He sent out wireless calls for help and his apparatus was rendered useless. He was last seen helping over the rail the woman to whom he had given his belt. The deck was then almost level with the water. He was carried down with the ship.

Rendering his life belt to a woman passenger. The crew, both white and colored, calmly obeyed Captain Johnson's orders to give women and children the first chance.

Mr. Harrington and wife, of Bridgeport, Conn., were forced to jump overboard. Mr. Harrington kept his wife's head above water for half an hour, by holding her hair in his teeth, but she died of exhaustion after being taken aboard the Nantucket.

LET THE GOVERNMENT BUILD HIGHWAYS

If Perchance It Could Not Find Ways of Making Wholesome Use of Increased Revenue from the Income Tax.

And, if after the government has more than it can use, let it become a trust fund for the benefit of the common good.

The government of the United States is now in a position to build a network of highways that will be a boon to the nation. The government has the power to build highways, and it has the money to do so. The government has the power to build highways, and it has the money to do so.

There are many ways to build highways. One way is to build highways that will be a boon to the nation. The government has the power to build highways, and it has the money to do so.

ROAD BILL PASSES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

By a vote of 282 to 42, Republicans joined up with Democrats, the House passed the $25,000,000 Road Bill. Every attempt to amend the measure was voted down.

The measure provides that the government, through its highway department, if one exists, may use the money in one of two ways. Either the government, after consulting with the secretary of agriculture, may design and build roads to be improved. The United States will be the owner of the roads, and the local government will be the operator.

ROCKEFELLER LEAVES CLEVELAND

Second of friends, John D. Rockefeller has decided to permanently leave Cleveland. He leaves $12,000,000 taxes is too much for the privilege of spending the summer at Forest Hill. His paintings and art treasures have been moved from Forest Hill and are being loaded with his automobiles and carriages. The famous picture, "The Disputed Boundary," valued at $87,000, which Mr. Rockefeller prizes very highly, has been shipped to New York.

Reason For Parcel Post

These times, in denouncing the act of the United States in establishing the parcel post as a crime, Mr. D. D. Austin makes a noise just like an express company stockholder. The express companies have only themselves to blame for the reduced business. Their charges in the past were extortionate and some of their methods indefensible. There never would have been any parcel post if they had been content, as every public service corporation should be, with reasonable profits.

TASTE OR DUTIES TO REGULATE COSTUMES

WHICH of the "five points" of dress do you take into consideration when you buy your clothes? Your duties, your pleasures, your income, your tastes or your complexion?

Most women think only of the last three and add to them a point which should not be taken into consideration, yet which is "more often" than "not" made the main factor in the case, and that is what other women wear.

The lure of the finery, as seen on the figures of other women; the envy of their costumes and jewels has within the past year wrecked more women's lives than one cares to count up. Branded as slothful, as having robbed their employers or as having sought shame in their desire for dainty clothes, scores of young girls and women have gone down upon the crime records of the various cities, their lives ruined by that feminine lust for finery.

And out of this has grown the novel campaign of certain men to regulate the costuming of women, which is raising such a storm of protest in the feminine world.

Up in Pittsfield, Mass., more than half the members of a graduating class are preparing to strike and do without diplomas unless the order passed by the board of directors that no girl shall spend more than $5 for her graduating dress is rescinded.

The mere men concerned say that the order was made so that there would be fewer heartburnings among the poorer girls, who cannot afford elaborate clothes, and that $5 ought to be enough for a "white dress," anyway. To this the girls reply that men have ordered dresses costing $25 and even $50 that they are going to wear.

Who is to blame? The girls or the men? And what is the point of law that a woman should live in such a state of ignorance?

Of course, sentiment says that since the class should be one at graduation time it seems more fair to select a type of costume that even the poorest of the girls could emulate; yet here again the lure of finery comes in and the richer girls cry: "Why should we wear plain, and abash by backs just in, with the feeling of one of 'them'?"

And so it goes. But the act of clothes in the New York one of the most life insurance companies has recently passed a resolution ordering all women employed by them to dress "in a sensible manner in an office" and have put the ban on the most fashionable and the most expensive dress. The company says that it is a matter of common sense that the women should dress in a sensible manner in an office.

What is the result? The women are now in a state of confusion. They are not sure what to wear. They are not sure what to wear.

For Short Women

The popular style of the moment is the short dress. It is a dress that is not too long, not too short, not too wide, not too narrow. It is a dress that is just what you need.

The short dress is a dress that is not too long, not too short, not too wide, not too narrow. It is a dress that is just what you need.

An Incomplete Landscape.
Mr. Kreezus, the multimillionaire, was entertaining a friend at his elegant country home. "I was born and brought up in this neighborhood," he said, and when I was a boy I used to think what a fine thing it would be to have a house on this hill. It's the highest point of ground, you will notice, within a circuit of several miles, and the view from here is extensive."

"It is magnificent!" exclaimed the visitor.

"Yes, and when the time came that I could afford it I gratified my boyish ambition by buying the land round here and putting up this house."

"I have been in a great many places, and I have never seen a finer landscape than this."

"That's what I used to think, but I don't like it now as well as I did when I was a boy."

"What makes the difference?"

"It isn't complete."

"Not complete? Why, you own the landscape, don't you?"

"That's the trouble. I own all of it but that eight-acre patch over there beyond the creek about six miles away. The old curmudgeon that owns it won't sell it to me at any figure."

And Mr. Kreezus sighed sadly.

The Ashes of Columbus.
Columbus died at Valladolid, Spain, May 20, 1506 and he was buried in the Franciscan Monastery of that city. In 1512 his remains were removed to the Monastery of Las Cuevas, at Seville. Ten years later they were taken to Hispaniola, to the Cathedral of San Domingo, where they were later on transferred to Havana, Cuba. As a result of so many removals it is now next to impossible to say just where the great man's dust reposes, but probably they rest at Havana. If not there, then the whole matter is a mystery.

A Live Town.
Some are inclined to call this a dead town, when for some time there has not been a night that something hasn't been going on worth mentioning. A moving picture show every night, a revival at the Methodist church, with good music and gospel preaching, and a skating rink and lodges, and everything that human inclination for variety could wish, and then to think the town dead. If there is anything about the town that is dead you are it. You had better wake up some. Just think of a town this size with two bands! he ours!—Mount Airy (La.) Press.

THE LAUNCHING OF THE WORLD'S LARGEST SHIP, THE "VATERLAND"

This ship, which was built for the Hamburg American Line, is the largest in existence and is pronounced by marine authorities to be a marvel.

The launching of the giant ship was a complete success. As she went down the ways her weight was 31,000 tons and she took the dip without a hitch.

The "Vaterland" is 340 feet long, with 100 feet beam and has a plated depth of 73 1/2 feet. When fully equipped she will weigh 50,000 tons.

The Hamburg American Line is sparing no money in equipping the new ship. When completed it will be the fastest passenger ship on the seas. It is estimated she will steam 27 miles an hour.

PRAYER FOR AGED BY MRS. MORGAN

Asks That Fear of Death Be Taken Away.

PEACE FOR ELDERLY PEOPLE

New York Church Adopts Prayer, and
It is Published in Annual Calendar.
Notable Woman is Much Impressed With Beauties of Old Age—Asks That Undue Love of Life Be Taken Away.

New York.—Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, widow of the financier, is so impressed with the beauty of old age and the need of showing special favor to those of advanced years that she has sent to the Rev. Karl Reiland, rector of St.
George's Episcopal church, a special prayer for those who have passed, reached or nearly reached the allotted span of life. It is a prayer of the Episcopal communion, although not in the Book of Common Prayer.

Mr. Reiland was so impressed with Mrs. Morgan's letter and the prayer itself that he printed it in St. George's Calendar, with this note:

"Through the kindness of Mrs. J.
Pierpont Morgan a copy of the follow-

MRS. J. P. MORGAN.

ing prayer has been received, and we are very glad of the opportunity to print it. It is a prayer especially for those advanced in years.

The prayer occasioned considerable comment, and many parishioners expressed a resolve to repeat it daily.

The prayer is as follows:
O God our Heavenly Father, whose gift is length of days, help us to make the most use of mind and body in our advancing years. According to our strength apportion thou our hours. As thou hast parted our time, so part our strength.
Let thy peace rule our spirits through all the trial of our waning powers. Take from us all fear of death and all despair of undue love of life, that with glad hearts
at rest in thee we may await thy will concerning us, through Jesus Christ, our Lord Amen.

J. P. Morgan accompanies his mother to the services and sits in the seat
his father occupied for half a century.

MARKET FOR COCKLEBURS.

Farmer Makes a Shipment to Indian Doctor in Spokane.

Russellville, Ark.—An express shipment of a peck of cockleburrs consigned to Spokane, Wash., was the unusual product given the express company here by J. J. Detrich, a Pope county farmer. The selling of cockleburrs, which the shipper says are used by an Indian physician in Spokane in compounding a salve, is uncommon. The product being generally considered a nuisance.

O. Henry, author of "Cabbages and Kings," once used the burrs to good advantage in his fiction, a consignment of the burrs being scattered over the streets of a small town in the torrid zone to compel the natives to buy ice.

LURE OF CITY KILLS FOX.

Dazzled Reynard-Fails to Look Out For the Cars.

South Norwalk, Conn.—A fine specimen of red fox, usually the "foxiest" of foxes, blinded by the headlight of a trolley car, was struck and cut in two here. The conductor, Harry Bouton, has claimed the bounty on the pelt.
The spot where the slaughter took place is but a short distance from the center of the city.

BIG GAS WELL ON FARM.

Tapped at a Depth of 350 Feet—Produces Five Million Feet Daily.
Evansville, Ind.—A well on the farm of George Hornby, four miles north of this city, is producing 5,000,000 feet of gas a day, and experts say this would supply the entire city of Evansville.

Hornby was drilling the well for water recently and struck gas at the depth of 350 feet. He at once called in W. J. Rodgers, an oil man, of this city, and they decided to keep the find a secret a few days until they could lease about 20,000 acres of land in that locality.

Many oil and gas men are expected here to look over the field. Rodgers and other experts say the well on the Hornby farm is not a shale well, and that conditions in the new field are similar to those in the Casey (Ill.) field.
It is expected other wells will be drilled,
and Rodgers predicts that both gas
and oil will be found in abundance.

COW'S KICK CURES MAN.

Stammered Badly Before Blow, but Now Talks Fluently.

Redwood Falls, Minn.—A kicking cow which swung a foot against the throat of Gustav Reinfeisch, a farm hand, thirty years old, cured him of stammering.

The blow made the man unconscious
for several minutes, but when he regained his senses and attempted to say unkind things to the cow he found he could do so without stammering.

Then his voice became extreme praise of "considerate bossy," for he had stammered all his life and had spent all he could save in trying treatments he hoped would cure him of the impediment.

Aside from bruises on his throat,
Reinfeisch did not suffer injury.

WRONG MAN GETS MEDAL.

Person Saved Receives the Carnegie
Decoration and $1,000.

Butte, Mont.—An odd mistake has been disclosed by the announcement of the Carnegie medal award in which it appears that a rescued man is the recipient of a bronze medal and $1,000 because he needs it instead of the rescuer.

To Roy Hubbard was awarded the recognition by the Carnegie hero commission. He was one of the uncommon men whom John Lindquist, a former Marathon runner and well-known athlete rescued Hubbard and another workman had fallen victims
to give in a gas pit, when Lindquist, attracted by a crowd in the street, descended and bore the unconscious men
to safety as the crowd cleared.

FINDS SISTER AFTER FOUR YEAR SEARCH

Slager Rescues Girl After Chase Across Continent.

San Francisco.—A heartbreaking
search for his little sister consumed four years of Louis Slager's life, took him from his home in New York city and launched him on a long, wearissome and often often seemed a hopeless quest.

His search terminated here, where he met her for the first time in the four year interval and under dramatic circumstances.

Slager, four years ago vowed to his mother that he would devote his life to finding his sister, and one of the results of his efforts is the arrest of Jacob Wolfsofsky, member of an opera troupe. The girl's name is Lilie Slager, and she was seventeen years old when she fled from New York.

Wolfsofsky will be turned over to the federal authorities for possible deportation.

Louis Slager is twenty-five years old.
In the family four years ago were Slager, his widowed mother and his little sister, Lilie. The girl is unusually attractive.

Filled with sorrow and horror, Slager
quit his employment and started in pursuit.

When she saw her brother she cried out and rushed toward him. He caught her in his arms. Brother and sister wept.

Indian, has been ordained to the Catholic priesthood by Bishop Kondek. He is the second of his race to be ordained in the United States. Rev. Albright Naganouet was ordained several years ago for the diocese of Oklahoma.

Gordon's grandfather was Anton Gordon, one of the first settlers in this country. The town of Gordon was named in his honor. He was influential with Chief Hole-in-the-Day, and his counsel prevented an uprising of the Chippewas in 1802.
