EASTERN EDISON ELECT. COMPANY'S PLANS AND RATES

COMMUNICATION TO VILLAGE COUNCIL EXPLAINS PLANS AND RATES.

WILL AVERAGE LESS THAN 6
CENTS FOR HOUSES AND LESS THAN 4 CENTS FOR POWER.

Detroit, July 14, 1914.
The following letter received this week by the council will prove of interest to the people of Northville: The Common Council of the Village of Northville, Northville, Mich. Gentlemen:—Confirming our letter to you of recent date, in regard to street lighting service, in case your honorable body accepts our proposition to purchase your lighting plant, we desire to again call your attention to the following points:

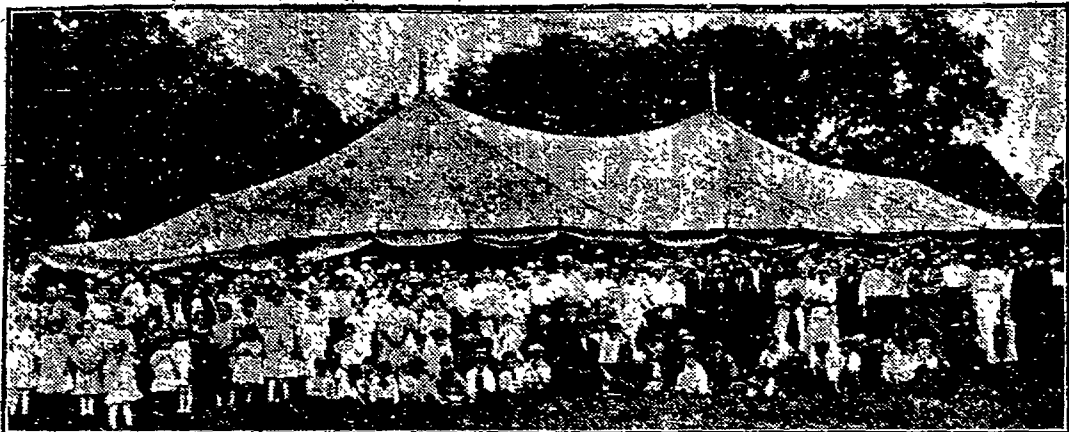

We are willing to enter into a contract for street lighting, which is so flexible that it is more in the nature of a working agreement than an iron-bound contract. That is to say, under the terms of this proposed agreement, the Village is not tied to any particular kind or size of street lamps. The Village decides upon the location of street lamps, and also upon the size and kind of lamps to be installed at each location. Furthermore, the Village authorities can change this as often as they please. The original installation, and also any changes that the Village may request are all made entirely at the Company's expense.

It may be possible that your present street lighting can be improved by installing smaller units closer together on some streets, and larger units spaced farther apart in some other locations. Very often this can be determined only by experiment, and our Company has always been willing to spend considerable time and money in this way to determine just what is the best method of street illumination for any particular condition.

The lamps generally used by this Company for street lighting, are the 60 candle power and 100 candle power Tugsten lamps, and arc lamps, but we can furnish anything any city desires. Our rates as quoted to you are $18.00 per year for

How the Central Chautauqua Circuit Is Operated

A TYPICAL CHAUTAUQUA SCENE.

The system of conducting a Circuit Chautauqua is an example of modern efficiency. Few people understand or comprehend the magnitude of such an undertaking. The Central Chautauqua system which furnishes our program will conduct similar assemblies in sixty-five other towns. In order to carry out their plans they have six large tents, each capable of seating over a thousand people. Five of these tents are in use at one time, and every day the last one is on the move. Each tent is in charge of a platform superintendent and a crew of tent men.

These tent men are usually selected from various colleges and universities. The entire number of souvenir programs issued by the Central System this year weighed over six tons. Thousands of billboard sheets, fence signs, tack cards, auto banners, street banners and other kinds of unique advertising material were used by the advance men. Though the routing of talent and tents is made with the greatest care, the total mileage for the whole season for all who appear on the program in the various towns will be 136,120 miles, or almost six times around the earth.

WITH CENTRAL CHAUTAUQUA MEET IN NORTHVILLE, AUG. 16-20.

AUTOMOBILE THIEVES ARE ARRESTED

STOLE DETROIT CAR AND RAN OUT OF GAS, NEAR PLYMOUTH.

Shortage of gasoline resulted in the arrest of two alleged automobile thieves at Plymouth, early Sunday morning and the recovery of an automobile stolen from Detroit Saturday night. The prisoners are Max Barren, 17 years old, and Joseph Elman, 19 years old, both giving their addresses as Chicago. They say they were on their way to Chicago with the stolen machine when they ran out of gasoline two miles from Plymouth.

The automobile belongs to Dr. Cecil Vaughan, 1206 Woodward avenue, and it was stolen from Woodward avenue near Congress street, while Dr. Vaughan was attending a theatre.

When they finally secured gasoline of a Plymouth Everyman, Sherriff Springer was notified and he soon made the arrest.

Automobiles are a dangerous article to steal.

A READER WANTS TO KNOW YOU KNOW.

Northville, Mich., July 14, 1914.

A reader of the Northville Record has been wondering for several weeks past if the editor has the impression that he should be assisted with his paper like the King's Daughters help the unfortunate. Has the Northville Record become a benevolent society, or is it a business like any other business, and someone back of it running it for the money that is in it, like a grocery or dry goods store?

How long would one of our leading Detroit papers last if the editor got the idea that people should bring the news to them, they would be out of business in a day. The reader cannot remember of ever being asked by the editor or his staff for any news.

Possibly "A Reader" is ignorant enough to not know that practically every item appearing in the society columns (personals) of "Our Leading Detroit papers" is brought or sent to them, and they seem to be like the Record, still in business.

If "A Reader" will disclose his (or her) identity, we are quite sure that the young lady who conducts the society column in the Record referred to, will render an abject apology for the shock to the ethical nerves of "A Reader" which she has so innocently perpetrated by asking people to hand, or phone, in the names of their visitors.

CELEBRATED HER 79TH BIRTHDAY

Nearly forty ladies responded to invitations issued by Mrs. Jane Sessions, to assist her in celebrating her seventy-ninth birthday, Thursday, July 9th. She had completed her three score and ten, and by reason of strength and cheerfulness and a heart full of human kindness, has added these extra years to the allotted span of life.

Delicious refreshments were served, including a birthday cake, which was surrounded by seventy-nine candles.

Mrs. Sessions received some very pretty gifts. As the guests were about to depart the hostess requested that they sing "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." In the singing of this, it was noted that the voice of Mrs. Emily Swift, despite her over four-score years, yet retained much of its old time sweetness. It was a delightful afternoon and Mrs. Sessions is to be congratulated on being seventy-nine years young.

NEW THRESHER.

Miss Mahle Clarkson, formerly of Northville, now of California, was united in marriage to Geo. A. MacDonald at Riverside, Calif., on June 27. Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald will reside in Bishop, Inyo Co., Cal.

MONDAY'S STORM WAS A HUMMER

LIGHTNING WAS PIERCE AND WASHOUTS WERE NUMEROUS.

NARROW ESCAPE OF JOHN D. JR. AND BALANCE OF SEELEY FAMILY.

Monday's afternoon rain was probably just about the biggest one that ever struck this town. The torrents of water, were accompanied by heavy thunder and crashing flashes of lightning. The streets for a time looked like a river and the sewers were overflowing just like they do at times in Detroit. However it was soon over and no great damage was done except to gardens and country culverts and bridges. The D. V. & J. electric line lost a bridge between here and Mead's Mills, and the cars were not running for that reason on Tuesday.

A bolt of lightning caged through Mark Seeley's residence in great style. It started down through the chimney, went around the bed room walls, waking up John Jr., who lay on the bed, and then it jumped down the stairs into the front bed room and out on the lawn, but doing no damage beyond the raising of a few shingles and cracking of some plaster.

Up at the Sadler springs the water overflowed and went across the sidewalks like a river.

Near the fish hatchery Marvin Ellsworth had a nice garden and after the rain was over, all the ground was washed down into the river just leaving his vines hanging by single roots. Marvin thinks he will yet be able to save the major part if he can find enough dirt left around his neighborhood to recover the underpinning of his plants.

ONE of the queerest things about some people is that they will not follow GOOD ADVICE when they KNOW they OUGHT TO. Perhaps we are all more or less that way. UNCLE SAM RETIRES AS STAMP COLLECTOR

Washington.—The postoffice department has stopped saving postage stamps, and its $100,000 collection has been moved to the National Museum. It includes American stamps and also many valuable foreign stamps. It is now being classified according to nationality, date and denomination by J. E. Leavay and T. T. Belote, experts. As a collection it is exceeded by that of the British Museum only.

Perhaps the most interesting specimen is the British stamp of 1840, which is nearly as large as the ordinary letter envelope, while its engraving is altogether grotesque.

SOME OLD STUFF

By the way, have you any corns on your feet? Want to get rid of them? Of course you do—and of course you have been told of no less than 4144 ways to rid yourself of them—but here's the advice of Dr. L. K. Hirschberg, of Baltimore: "Large, wide, loose and well-ventilated footwear are excellent cures." Old stuff, is it? Heard it before, eh? Probably. And if it were followed some of our would lose our pride and boast, our small shoe and tiny foot. But we'd gain in comfort and good temper, wouldn't we? And, by the way, some of this "old stuff" is worth considering. Things are not necessarily worthless, dangerous or to be ignored merely because they are old, are they?

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Washington.—Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer, who was invited by President Wilson to call at the White House to discuss business conditions, has accepted the invitation and will take lunch with Mr. Wilson.

He is understood to agree with the President's opinion that the outlook for business is good.

A different story will be told the President by a delegation of leading Chicago business men. They plan to protest to him against certain features of the pending anti-trust measures.

COMING OLYMPIC GAMES AROUSE GERMAN TURNERS

Berlin.—The interest that German sporting circles are taking in the Olympic games to be held in Berlin in 1916 is reflected in a remarkable increase in the organization of the turners.

The annual report of the national organization shows that 450 new clubs with a membership of 65,000 joined it in the course of the year. The general organization now consists of 11,000 clubs, having a total membership of 1,400,000.

WANTED—A GUILLOTINE! APPLY TO SWITZERLAND

Geneva.—The Moored District Tribunal, in the Canton of Valais, condemned to death a man named Meag for brutally murdering, during a quarrel, a neighbor named Furrer, the father of five children. The jury found that there were no extenuating circumstances.

The question now arises how to find the means and the machinery to execute the condemned man.

GREAT CATTLE RANCH.

Rockyford, Colo.—The Cudahy interests have shipped to their ranch near Ordway 2,000 cows to be used as the nucleus of what is planned to be the largest stock farm in the country for the breeding of packing house cattle. The cattle raised on the ranch have cost the Cudahys more than $200,000, and they will spend more than $1,000,000 on the ranch in the purchase of additional improvements.

SECRETARY LANE'S NEW ASSISTANT IS JUST PLAIN "BO"

Bo Sweeney.

Bo Sweeney of Seattle is the new assistant secretary of the interior. He arrived in Washington a few days ago to get acquainted before he starts work. Asked about his peculiar first name, he replied that it was just plain "Bo," with no frills or even a period. Mr. Sweeney is well known all along the Pacific coast, was a delegate to the Denver convention in 1896 and has served several terms in the legislature.

"I'M INNOCENT," PROTESTS DOCTOR'S WIFE; "I NEVER KNEW MRS. BAILEY"

Mrs. Louise Bailey.

Freeport, L. I.—(Special).—Despite the finding of bullets in the Carman house exactly like the one that killed Mrs. Louise Bailey in Dr. Carman's office last week, and in spite of the suspicions which were aroused when Carman learned that Mrs. Bailey had installed a dictograph in her husband's office, the wife of the Freeport physician still insists upon her innocence.

"I had never heard of Mrs. Bailey until the day of her tragic death," says Mrs. Carman, "and my husband and I are sure that he did not recognize her until she recalled herself to him. She was not a regular patient of his, and if she had been it is quite likely that I should not have known of it. Dr. Carman has a big practice, and his waiting room is often so crowded that additional chairs have to be taken in."

"On Monday I had been into New York and came home on a late afternoon train. Dr. Carman and I had been planning to go off together on a little holiday. We were going down to some farms that we have in New York and came home on a late afternoon train. Dr. Carman and I had been planning to go off together on a little holiday. We were going down to some farms that we have in New Jersey and take our little daughter, Elizabeth, who is nine years old, with us, and leave her there for the summer. On Monday, coming out home, I was talking to one of our friends here in Freeport about our proposed trip and he suggested that we make up a party of several automobiles and all go together."

Had a Bad Headache.

"When I arrived home I had a bad headache and was very tired, so I did not stop to eat dinner, but went upstairs and went to bed at once. After a while I heard the crash of shivering glass, and a pistol shot, and the excitement that followed. I jumped up and put on a dressing gown and ran downstairs, but my sister had already gotten down before me, and she made me go back upstairs. She did not let me enter the doctor's office at all, and so I did not see Mrs. Bailey."

"As for having had the dictograph in my husband's office, I will admit that I was jealous of him, and curious to know what he did. He was always laughing and joking with me about his conquests among the women, and teasing me about this woman and that one being his 'girl.' And whenever we went other people were always gazing at him, and telling what a devil of a fellow he was among the women. And it made me want to know just how much truth there was in it."

"So one day in the early part of May when I was in New York, I was passing a place where there were electrical devices for sale in the window, and I went in and asked if they had dictographs. They did not, and I asked if you get them of the Edison Company, and they said no, but there was a dictograph company, and the man got the telephone book, and hunted out the address, which he wrote down for me."

Angry at Disclosure.

"I went to the place, and in the conversation that I had with the man in charge I asked him if I bought one, could I rely upon its being kept secret, and he assured me that no one could ever possibly know about it, as they regarded all their transactions with their customers as confidential. With that understanding I bought it, and I consider that the company has treated me very badly in breaking faith with me and making the matter public."

"Of course, I am sorry enough now that I did install the dictograph, but nobody could foresee this sad accident that has happened in our house. As for the rest, everything that I have heard over it, and I have listened to my husband's conversations with his patients, has been perfectly proper and of a nature to allay all of my suspicions and renew my confidence in him. In a word, I wanted to know the real truth of my husband's relations to his patients, what he said to them and they to him, behind those closed doors, and I have found out through the dictophone."

"On Monday night I had a headache, as I said, and I was not listening, and so I heard none of the conversation that passed between my husband and Mrs. Bailey. All that I knew was the sound of the shot and the horror-stricken cries in the house."

BAILEY CASE STRANGEST OF MYSTERIES

The strangest thing about the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey is the perfect simplicity with which the tragedy was staged and enacted, for she was killed, not at midnight in some lonely and sequestered spot, but at 8 o'clock of a summer's evening, in the very heart of a fashionable summer resort, and in a house that is located on a popular driveway that literally purrs of a summer evening with automobiles.

Hundreds of persons must have been passing the spot a minute before and a minute afterward, yet in the midst of all this teeming humanity some one went unobserved across the lawn, raised a window and fired a fatal shot, and then walked away undiscovered. It sounds incredible, but it is true.

MONTENEGRO EXPECTS OUTBREAK OF WAR

Considerable attention is given to a report from Munich that King Nicolas I. of Montenegro, expects war to break out in the near future. This news was communicated by a physician whose name is not given, but who is said to be one of the foremost practitioners in the capital of Bavaria. The physician declares he was consulted recently by the king and crown prince of Montenegro. The doctor advised his royal patient to take a cure in the Austrian health resort, Bad Gastein, but the king rejected the advice with great indignation.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS IS CLAIMED BY CORSICA

Paris.—The Eclair states that it has received a number of documents tending to prove the Corsican origin of Columbus.

In the first place, it was only in large influx of American capital. 1844 that the well-known statue of the discoverer of America was erected in Genoa, whereas since 1820 there has been abundant evidence relating to the Colombo family at Calvi, including numerous notarial acts and deeds. A was named Del Rio, and it is an historical fact that Columbus' father was a weaver.

Seven states in the United States and four provinces in Canada have enacted laws authorizing municipalities of 10,000 population or more to establish city plan boards or commissions.

"JUST A LOT OF WATER."

Boy Would Not Advise Taking Trouble to See Niagara.

You think that perhaps so much talking about Niagara has kind of dulled the edge of your appreciation of it? I don't believe it. The first man that saw it probably said: "What's to hinder?" and didn't stare at it very long. Nothing to eat there, and it looked spooky, and anyhow standing where it was so damp would probably give him rheumatism. It tells in the guide-book how a man in the early days went to see the place, but it was a very cold night, and the tavern was comfortable, so he sent a boy to see if it was worth while. The boy came back and said it wasn't much; just a lot of water falling, and it was colder than all get-out, and he wouldn't advise it.—Eugene Wood, in McClure's Magazine.

Cruel Woman!

The tramp narrated to fellow wanderer the story of an intensely tragic occurrence. "Yus," he said, "there was a beautiful lawn in front of the house, nicely kept, and it looked a real good chance for getting a bit of honest sympathy. So I walks in, gets down on me 'ands and knees, and starts chewin' the grass. Out comes a kindly-looking lady as I ever seed, and wanted to know wot I was doin'. Told her I 'adn't had grub fer weeks, and was obliged to eat grass. She looked very sympathetically at me, and then said: 'My pore man. Come around behind the house. The grass is longer there!'"

An Impossible Combination.

They were talking of the strange sights to be seen in a great city, and one man paid his tribute to New York. "I don't believe one of you could think of any combination of circumstances that hasn't at some time occurred on the streets there," he said. "I reckon I know of one that's never occurred there," said Hiram Fowle. "What's that?" asked the other, curiously.

"I guess," said Hiram, slowly, "that you've never seen, nor ever will see, a brass band going in one direction and the heft of the folks going the other."

The Mind's Power.

"Zola," said a psychologist, "once wrote in a lady's album that his favorite amusement was writing and his favorite wish a sudden death. Zola died suddenly."

"And it is a strange thing," said the psychologist, "that those who prefer a sudden death usually have their preference gratified. It is one of those things which go to show the mind's mysterious power. Who knows but it is the very desire for death, quick, painless, undreaded, which actually causes that happy kind of death? The mind, you know, has a power that we have only just begun to understand."

The Way of the Reformer.

Every new truth which affects life must pass through a period in which it is hated before it attains the period in which it is loved. What people dread to change, what they wish to be let alone. They will kill the reformer, if they can, and only those reformers who refuse to be killed, but who for years together go on savagely, patiently, tenderly reiterating the same message, in the end have their way, and are believed.—Rev. Elwood Worcester's "The Emmanuel Movement" in the Century.

Why Pity the Farmer?

Mr. Mann of Gauda Springs, loaded a large fat hog into his automobile and took it to market in Arkansas City, where he got a good price for the porker. It took him a mighty short time to get the hog to town and get the cash for it. A few minutes' scrubbing fixed the auto so that it did not smell like a barnyard, and the hog probably enjoyed the ride. What's the use holding meetings trying to improve conditions of farm life?—Witchute (Kan.), Eagle.

GREAT EGG TESTER.

Higher prices for eggs are certain when you can guarantee them to be tested, especially with the Electric Daylight Egg Tester. This machine is the most advanced idea in testers—with speed and accuracy unequalled. The egg rotates as they pass over the strong light so the entire surface is inspected. No dark room is necessary, and the price is very reasonable. Either regular electric current or battery can be used. The full details of the Electric Daylight tester are very interesting, and should be sent for. The company is also looking for live agents in every town and the agency will make a good lot of money for the right parties. All communications should be sent to the general offices, Mead-Kidd Sales Co., 143 Jefferson Ave., Detroit. This location is less than a block from the Interurban station, around the corner on Jefferson. Come in and see the demonstrations when in town.

ADJOURN AND GO HOME.

Senator Charles E. Townsend rightly says it's time for congress to adjourn. In a lengthy speech in the senate Mr. Townsend in part said:

"At no time within the past two months has there been for one continuous hour a quorum of the senate, present in this chamber. During most of the time fewer than a dozen members have been present in their seats here. Members of this body are today in Europe and in other foreign countries seeking rest and pleasure; a number are at their homes trying to induce their constituents to return them to the sixty-fourth congress; a number are in hospitals; some have died. The majority, however, will vote for the administration program even though they may have doubts as to its necessity or wisdom.

"Nearly every senator will admit that he is mentally and physically fatigued. It would be better for the country if these matters were postponed until December. In the meantime all the senators could go home and talk with the people whom they serve.

"Business is sick, and all the psychological mental healers cannot cure it, and especially it will not recover so long as it is made the shuttlecock of political weavers. The people want congress to adjourn and go home."

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

Governor Ferris announces his candidacy for re-election. He has made a splendid official, one of the best Michigan has ever had and the Republicans will have to inaugurate a lot of get-together meetings if they beat him. Mr. Patterson will be the Pull Moore candidate and is also a candidate who must be reckoned with when it comes to splitting up the Republican vote.

The G. O. P. starts out with a big handicap in the fight for re-nomination between Al G. Gresham, Fred Martin, Dale Chase (Gresham), George Lill, Washington Gardner and W. S. Linton, because of the superiority of candidates in the primaries.

In driving to Detroit, from Northville one can get along very comfortably by going near the Port Huron. There are a few lines of streets along the Detroit avenue route out near the water works which are not at present torn up. Sprague road ever could be confined to the side on reaching Detroit and the city because about every street is all over parts of the city are bottom side up and torned on.

Henry Ford told President Wilson that prosperity was abroad in the land. Large clouds right now. Most any of us would say the same thing if we had a few million dollars rattling around in our pockets like Henry's.

The really mean thing about Huerta's resignation as president of Mexico is that just after we have learned how to pronounce his name, he quits and leaves us with a name we cannot even spell.

MRS. PINKERTON
DIED ON MONDAY

ONE OF NORTHVILLE'S BELOVED PIONEERS; NEARLY 85 YEARS OLD.

One of the oldest and most generally beloved residents of Northville, Mrs. Christiana Covert Pinkerton, widow of William Pinkerton, passed away Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. O. Knapp, after having been in feeble health for the past two, or three years.

The Pinkertons were among the pioneer families of this section, and an integral part of its social and religious history. They came here in early days from Seneca county, New York, settling on what is still known as the Pinkerton farm—a few miles north and east of town. In Novi township Mrs. Pinkerton had been a resident of the village for many years past. She was one of the earliest and most valued members of the Northville Presbyterian church, and her life was a true example of all that is most desirable in Christian character and conduct. She was in her eighty-fifth year, and had been a widow for eleven years.

Funeral services were held from the home, Thursday-afternoon, Rev. J. E. Webber officiating. The burial was made in Yerkes cemetery.

CLAIMED HE WAS CRUEL.

Dog Shot Several Times By Owner Returns to Home of Neighbor.

A warrant was applied for last Friday by E. A. VanLeuven against Ray Johnson of the P. M. railway, on the charge of cruelty to animals, but Justice Knapp decided that the offense was not sufficiently intentional to demand an actual arrest, although had enough to deserve a reprimand. Mr. and Mrs. VanLeuven state that a small dog belonging to the Johnson family had become so attached to them and Mrs. Mary Palmer that it would not stay at home. Resenting this, they say Mr. Johnson proposed to give the dog away. Mrs. Palmer and family offered to keep and care for it, rather than have it taken away, and supposing the owners to have agreed to this, they provided quarters for it on their own premises. Thursday evening of last week, the VanLeuven saw Mr. Johnson called the dog, and on being reminded that he had given it to Mrs. Palmer, informed her that his wife had previously given it to other parties. He then took it to the depot and holding it with a string, shot it several times and returned home. Directly afterward, hearing a peculiar noise at her door, Mrs. Palmer opened it and the little animal staggered in, a pitiful spectacle to behold, mangled and blood-soaked. The family, almost beside themselves at the sight of the little dog's wounds and suffering, summoned Dr. Cavell who put a quick and merciful end to the little creature's pain. Called to Justice Knapp's office and shown the law and penalty in regard to cruelty, Mr. Johnson claimed to be sorry and asserted that he supposed he had hit the dog when he let it, and that it was in a sickly condition, anyway.

There will be no League service until the first week in September.

Gertrude Guller

One of the least appreciated of all those who appear in musical productions is the accompanist. Yet much of the success of more prominent parts is the sympathy and precision with which the piano is played. Miss Guller is an excellent accompanist, and, what is more, a versatile musician. As vocalist, violinist and pianist in the concerts on the last day of the Chautauqua she fills a modest, but an important place.

All over Northville you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work. Northville people are telling about it—telling of bad backs made sound again. Mrs. J. Palmer, Linden Ave., Northville, Mich., says: "My kidneys were out of order and as the result I had terrible headaches. I used Doan's Kidney Pills because I had seen them advertised and they cured me. Another of my family had a great deal of trouble from the kidneys. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage. When Doan's Kidney Pills were used, they gave relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Palmer had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

A small fire caused some excitement at the farm home of Ube Tibbits about 8 o'clock on Thursday evening of last week. A lamp which had been lighted and left in one of the upstairs rooms exploded and burned a part of the furniture in the room, tho its progress was very slow because the windows and doors had been closed, so that there was no draft to fan the flames. Mrs. Tibbits discovered the smoke and with her father-in-law summoned near-by neighbors who succeeded in putting out the fire.

ELECT. COMPANY'S

PLANS AND RATES.

60 candle power lamps, and $24.00 per year for 100 candle power lamps, and $60.00 per year for the arc lamps.

If still larger units are desired, we can furnish a 600 candle power lamp for $66.00 per year, or 1000 candle power lamp for $75.00 per year.

These rates all cover all-night every night service.

In regard to so-called ornamental street lighting for some of the main business streets, we recommend for this purpose, a single light, iron post with 100 candle power or larger lamp.

These posts should be set on both sides of the streets, the spacing depending on the size of lamp used.

We are willing to make an installation of this kind at our own expense, based on a ten (10) year contract, the rate for this service depending upon the type of post selected.

These posts can be obtained in all degrees of ornamentation and beauty, costing all the way from $30.00 to $130.00 for the posts alone. We can furnish you 100 candle power lamps, mounted on good looking iron posts and fed by underground cables, burning all night and every night in the year for $30.00 per lamp per year.

In regard to rates for power, the proposed franchise provides that these rates shall not be higher than those charged in the City of Detroit.

Detroit has a reputation among all the large cities of the country as a city of cheap power. We now have 100,000 horse power in motors connected to our lines in Detroit. These motors are in all sorts and sizes of factories, ranging from a two (2) horse power installation to some of several thousand horse power. In all cases these people are using electric power because it is cheaper than any other source of power within their reach. Some of these factories run twenty-four hours per day, and some use power but not two hours per day. We have developed, during some years' experience, a schedule of power rates to fit all these various classes of power users.

These rates are given in the "Rate Book" enclosed herewith. There is no doubt that some of these rates will fit any present or prospective power customers in a Village like Northville. We also wish to emphasize that in any Village or City in which we are doing business we can furnish power in any quantity whatever.

A factory desiring one thousand horse-power can be taken care of promptly, as well as the man desiring a two horse-power meat grinder, or a blacksmith wanting a one-half horse-power blower.

In regard to rates for lighting, the proposed franchise provides that these rates shall not be higher than those charged in Detroit. The Edison Company has in Detroit over

61,000 residential lighting customers.

In 1913 these 61,000 customers paid on an average 58 cents per kilowatt-hour. These same rates applied in the Village of Northville would probably average during the first year between six and seven cents per kilowatt-hour. Beginning with the second year, after the people become accustomed to the fact that the more current they use the less the rate will be, this average will probably drop to about six cents or fully twenty-five per cent less than the present village rates.

Under the Detroit rate there is no meter rent in addition to the charge for current. If the bill for current

FAMILY STARVE WHILE AUDITORS REFUSE THEM AID.

because he does not believe in the following personal service Judge Hulbert has inaugurated.

Mrs. Dovedite married 14 years ago. Her husband, who conducted a small butcher shop, died after an illness of two years. The widow and the two little children were penniless. Mrs. Dovedite remarried. There were three more children. Her husband, a D. U. R. employee, died May 28 of pneumonia.

Through the carefully adjusted windows, a gentle draught swept the mahogany desks of Auditor Buhner, and Moeller Saturday. The high ceiled offices of the auditors' suite on the first floor of the Wayne county building were delightfully cool. These offices, the most luxurious in the county building, are finished in rich mahogany throughout, even the large meeting room. There are 15 hand carved chairs, the tops surmounted by the heads of animals. These chairs cost $40 each.

(The cost of these chairs alone would keep the Dovedite family in comfort for a year.)

A large mahogany table occupies the center of the room. Ranged around the walls are more chairs, less expensive chairs. For the comfort of the auditors it they should become weary, there is a heavily upholstered sofa placed near a large window.

The walls of all the offices are of polished mahogany panels that reach high up to the semi-twilight of the ceilings. They are finished hand somely.

Spare No Expense Here.

Even now—while Mrs. Dovedite and family and the hundred or so other mothers are wondering why they cannot obtain the relief the law of the state of Michigan says they may have—these panels are being snatched and refurnished at large expense.

The individual offices are of the same color and furnishing scheme. Huge brass fans, of well known, high-priced brand, help keep the air cool, fresh and ever-changing. There are no carpets, but rugs of good quality supply this lack.

There is no malodorous, white or stained marble in the Dovedite home. There are no electric fans, no overstuffed couches, no $40 chairs. But the home is tidy, the children clean and neat. They keep cool by going barefoot. They are clad in clothes that are half worn. And it won't be long now before the leaves will turn, the lake become coated with ice and the earth be snow hidden.

Mrs. Dovedite is of an independent nature. She asked for the pension, which she cannot obtain, because of Auditor Buhner and Moeller, and she can't do washings.

The cost of the auditors' offices runs into thousands of dollars. But the luxury is confined to this suite—Detroit Evening News.

Since putting the above in type, the auditors have agreed to comply with Judge Hulbert's request. The Detroit News' criticism evidently was too much for them.

Auditor Buhner deeply resents insinuations that he is out of sympathy with the pension scheme, and would, if he could, withhold all such relief.

"If the auditors disapprove of the purpose of the law," he said, "all they need to do is to test its constitutionality in the courts. I am convinced that the measure would be declared unconstitutional if the question were raised. But as a matter of fact, we are all heartily in favor of granting any relief we can to destitute mothers. If any of them are suffering now, it is the fault of the juvenile court authorities for not expediting their cases. We have promptly paid every pension that has been granted thus far."

The auditor also objected to being blamed for the somewhat luxurious furnishings of his offices.

"It is true that there are some expensive fixtures here," he admitted, "but they were not bought by us. They were here when we came, and we are not responsible for any of them. There has been no outlay for 'fixings' during our term. Do you see any electric fans about here? I guess not, though I bet every judge in the building has one. Whatever else we may be guilty of, we cannot be accused of spending the county's money on our personal comfort."
