SIXTEENTH ANNUAL PRISONERS' REUNION

HELD AT THE NACKER HOME IN OAKWOOD SEPTEMBER 18-19.

The sixteenth annual reunion of ex-prisoners of the 22nd Michigan Voluntary Infantry was held at the home of Augustus Nacker, Oakwood, September 18 and 19. Those in attendance were N. H. Miller and daughter of Mr. Clemens, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Malcolm of Commerce, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Goodell of Novi, L. C. Mead and Daniel Craft of Northville, Mrs. C. W. Huber of Clarkston, George Button of Birmingham, Mrs. Libbie Solisby of Milford and Mr. and Mrs. Jonas, Frederick Klensendorf, Hamilton Woodman and Mrs. Mary Miles of Detroit. Besides these and the host and hostess there were present a number of invited guests, bringing the total up to fifty.

A gloom was cast over the company when it was learned that H. C. Daniels of Birmingham had met with an accident which prevented his attending.

The Nacker home was beautifully decorated in the national colors and delicious meals were served by the four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Nacker.

A campfire was built Friday evening and reminiscences of the famous battle of Chickamauga of Sept. 19 and 20, 1863 exchanged. Before farewells were said Mr. Craft, aged 81, sang a parody on "Marching Thru Georgia" and Mr. Miller, who is 82 years old, sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

A rising vote of thanks was tendered the Nackers for their hospitality and royal entertainment. The 1915 reunion will be held at the home of Mrs. Solisby at Milford.

RESTITUTION DAY.

Did you ever loan an umbrella and the borrower forget to return it? No? Well you are the exception. Did you ever borrow a book and forget to return it? I thought so. Almost everybody has neighbors who are habitually out of spices, postage stamps, coffee, or some little thing, who drop in and borrow and then when they make purchases at the store forget to make restitution, and the one who loans is out just that much. The other day I noticed in a newspaper that out in a city in Oklahoma of a very idea that was tried out in that city. The mayor issued a proclamation setting aside a certain day which was known as "Restitution day" and it was a feature of the social and business life of the city. It seems that someone suggested to the mayor that a good way in which to jog the memory of the borrowers was to have one day specially designated each year whereby all who have borrowed may be made to remember to return. The effectiveness of the plan in arousing dormant conscientiousness, and the miscellaneousness of these borrowed and forgotten articles were disclosed by some peculiar instances. The wife of the mayor received an ice-cream freezer which she had not seen before for two years. The editor of a paper received a calf halter loaned in 1893. Express wagons were kept busy all day carrying articles to add to and everybody enjoyed the day. Neighbors were seen tramping from house to house returning a cup of flour, a bit of thread, etc. Just as a suggestion, and it might make him popular or unpopular, according to whether you are a lender or a borrower, I would suggest that Mayor Johnson issue a proclamation and have a "Restitution day" in this city. I know several fellows who have borrowed small sums of money who might remember about them if their memories were officially jogged. There are some housewives who might get a large supply of provisions if all debts were paid and there are others who would have to scrape and save for weeks in order to pay their debts. One Pontiacer is taking inventory and trying to figure out whether he would be ahead or behind the game if he supported such a move. Let us hear more of this "Restitution day."—Pontiac Gazette.

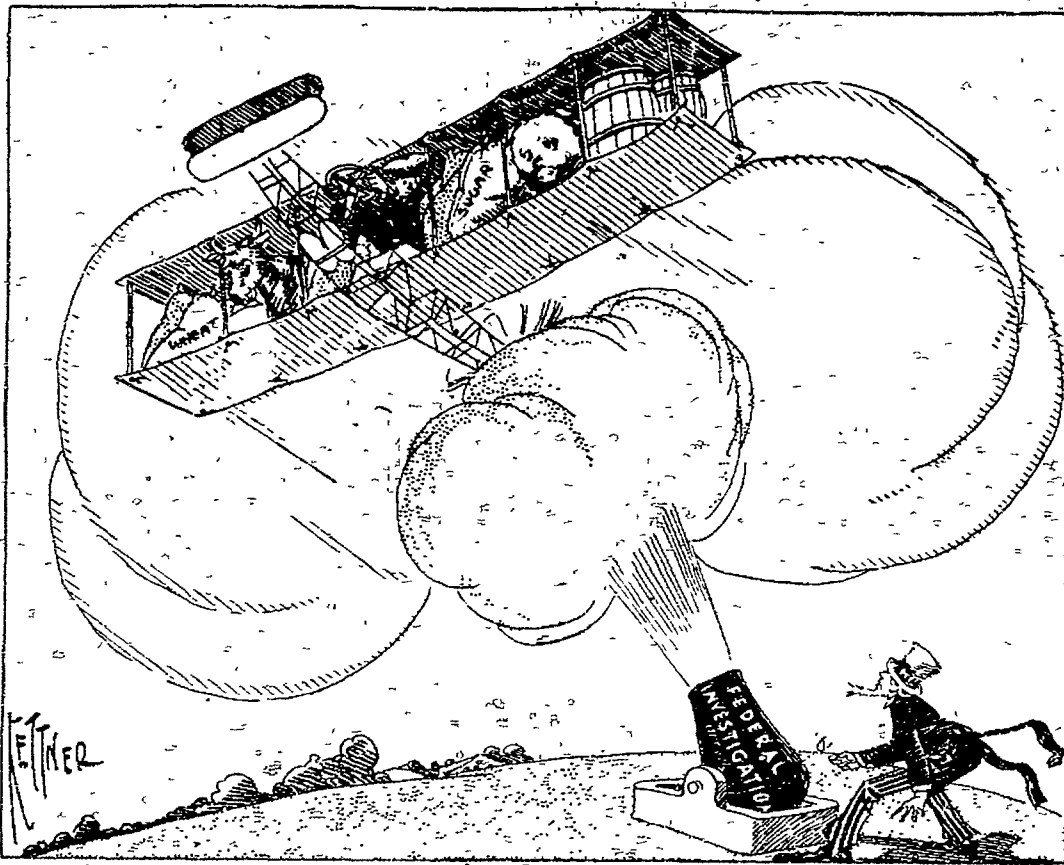

Wonder how it would work in Northville?

WEEK'S CALENDAR

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES.

(By the Pastor.)
Owing to the installation of the pipe organ in the Presbyterian church and the absence of the pastor of the Methodist church a Union service, both morning and evening, will be held in the M. E. church at which the Presbyterian pastor will preach. The subject of the morning will be: "The Church Universal." The evening topic will be "The Gospel and Personality." These will be the last services preceding the Tabernacle meetings. Members of all the congregations are invited to be present. Music by the combined choirs. The choruses will lead the singing in the evening. Offerings made through the envelope will be placed in the hands of the proper treasurer.

Sunday school will be held as usual. The parlors will be available for this purpose. It is hoped that the good attendance on last Sunday will not be affected by the slight change in program.

C. E. will at a meet as usual. The young people of the congregation and others not affiliated elsewhere invited to be present.

Remember the prayer meetings being held this week and next. The closing meeting in the M. E. church to-night. The meetings for next week will be held in the Baptist and Presbyterian churches. It is hoped that the remaining meetings will increase in attendance and interest. Much is still needed by way of preparation. These services will meet this need.

The Tabernacle will be on hand by the middle of next week. A large number of men will be necessary to assist in its erection. Volunteers for this work will be greatly appreciated. Mr. Tewksbury has this part of the work in charge.

The dinner and lecture given by the Missionary society was an unqualified success. The dinner was all that could be desired and the address of Mr. Evans very instructive. It may be of interest to know that it was also a financial success. The friends are to be thanked and congratulated over the affair.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' aid will be held Wednesday afternoon rather than the usual time. Matters of unusual importance which must be settled before the close of the month makes this change necessary. Mrs. Webber will entertain; a large attendance is desired.

The pipe organ which is now being installed will be ready for use immediately at the close of the special services. A more extended notice regarding the organ and its dedication will be given at a later date.

A cordial invitation is extended to the ladies of Northville and vicinity for our opening of Fall Millinery which occurs tomorrow, Saturday, Sept. 26. MRS. G. A. TINHAM.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

SCHWARTZ-SMITH.

Miss Viola Smith of this place and Mr. Leo Schwarz of Adrian were united in marriage by Rev. Father Bienawski at St. Joseph's church in Manistee on Wednesday or last week. The bride is a sister of Mrs. H. F. Farrell of this place.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

The fascination of vaudeville today comes from the numerous and varied novelties introduced in this class of entertainment. For this reason the program announced for the Orpheum theater, Detroit, next week is especially attractive. It includes Visions D'Art, a Parisian importation, the Great Asaki and company, three clever Japs and the Oxford Trio, originators of basket ball on bicycles who were seen here early last season when Harry Lauder appeared in Detroit on his annual tour. Visions D'Art introduces Miles DeLee, the "Perfect Woman" who will portray the principal figure in great paintings. Asaki performs roller and ice skating and water balancing tricks. The feature of the program is the "Eleven American Whirlwind Beauties" in a singing and acrobatic dancing specialty that is easily the peer of similar girl acts. Others on the bill include two Detroit boys, Shear and Herman, in some songs and patter styled "Nonsensical Nittyness," Woods and Woods, character songsters and Dunlap and Virdin, comedy entertainers. Hearst-Selig motion pictures of European war scenes and other news features and half hour concerts by Hyman Granover's orchestra, complete the program.

ROLLER SKATING ABROAD.

Paris Has the Craze and London Starts an Exclusive Sunday Club.

All Paris has gone wild over roller skating and the various rinks are gay all afternoon and evening with performers in various degrees of perfection. Even the parks and the streets have their skaters, and the broad asphalt walks of the Tuileries and the Luxembourg make fine practicing grounds for small boys and girls. The keenest of all skaters whether roller or otherwise are the English school-girls in Paris, and it is astonishing, says the Queen, to find how many there are of them.

In London the Olympia Skating Club, an exclusive organization for enjoying roller skating on Sunday afternoons, has aroused opposition among churchgoers, but it has come to stay, at least until Easter.

He Was Not Hypercritical.

"I don't want to be hypercritical," said a citizen, as he was negotiating at a Harlem garage for the use of an auto, "but I don't want that red-haired chauffeur to drive me. Give me another man."

"What's the matter with him?" asked the manager. "He's all right. Has he ever driven you?"

"No," replied the man who didn't want to be hypercritical. "But the other afternoon when the thermometer stood at 91 he went by my place alone in a machine, and I'm blest if he hadn't taken his hat off, exposing his head to a broiling sun, and kept his coat on—when he might have got some relief by taking off his coat and protecting his head with his hat."

"I figure it out that with a man who has no more intelligence than he displayed, it would be only a question of time till he'd land in a ditch or in a hospital. I don't want him."

First Hospital in New World.

It is said that the first hospital ever built in America was erected by the Spaniard Cortez in the City of Mexico in 1524. It was endowed out of the revenues obtained from the properties conferred on him by the Spanish crown for his services in the conquest of Mexico. The endowment was so arranged that it still exists and is paid at the present day. A supervisor is named by the lineal descendant of Cortez at present.

In this hospital women occupied positions as nurses and physicians, and to their care were all cases of obstetrics and women's diseases. Considerable was known by the Indians of medicine. The Mexican hospital is a fine building with arched and courtyard. It is an interesting landmark in the history of hospital construction and administration.—Medical Record.

Hall of Fame.

The Hall of Fame for Great Americans is the name of a building on University Heights, in New York City, in which are inscribed the names of famous American men and women. Nominations for the honor are made by the public and submitted to a committee of one hundred eminent citizens in the case of men and women. Votes are required and in the case of women only one. The first building, now open, in October, 1909.

Cause of Tidal Wave.

The great tidal wave which struck at Marsenne on June 1, 1909, appears to have been caused by a unusually high electrical charge of the atmosphere which is known to have existed during the period of the earthquakes which devastated the south of France. The powerful attraction exerted on the surface of the earth by this electric charge caused earthquakes on land and tidal waves in the Mediterranean.—Scientific American.

The Gypsies.

The origin of the people known as gypsies remains largely a mystery. Egypt, India, Persia and Arabia have in turn been pointed out as their original country, but there is but little definite knowledge on the subject. The weight of evidence is in favor of their having originated in India. They first appeared in Europe about 1400 and from the Danube region spread all over the Continent, appearing in England about 1520.

A Tongue-Twister.

Do you read by sight or sound? Do you skim the sense or pronounce the words as you go? Inaudible—but conscious! There are many readers who read by the ear, and when this writer had written the sentence—about Wick (there was an election there)—Wick is rich in Pictish relics—he leaned back and tried to whisper it, thinking of the next: "Wick is rich in Pictish relics." Say it three times quickly.

The Torpedo.

The use of the torpedo in naval warfare was thought of so early as the beginning of the last century that it may be said that the first practical application of torpedoes was made by the Confederates during the Civil War of 1861-65. So soon as their destructive character was demonstrated both sides used them quite extensively, and since the war between the States the torpedo has been the most dreaded weapon in marine warfare.

Quaint Little Clock.

An odd little clock is in the form of a crystal ball suspended by a leather strap to the top of a surrapp iron. The iron, which is really of silver or gun metal, stands on the desk or dresser on the metal base on which the foot rests when one rises, and the clock swings from its tiny leather strap.

RAILROADS, STRICKEN BY WAR, ASK PRESIDENT WILSON'S AID

Bringing a story of hard times and near-bankruptcy because of the war in Europe, seven railroad presidents called on President Wilson a few days ago and asked him to co-operate with them in their efforts to bridge over the crisis which now faces rail lines. The president's callers were: A. J. Earling, president of the C. M. & St. P. R. R.; D. E. Willard, president of the E. & O.; Hale Holden, president of the C. B. & Q.; Frank Trumbull, representing the C. & O. and the M. & T.; Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern railway; Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania, and E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe.

BOY SCOUTS MAKE WAGONER BEHAVE

Oklahoma Lads Make Arrests Impose Fines and Collect the Money.

Muskogee, Ok.—The Boy Scout organization of Wagoner, Ok., is the most remarkable in the world and has extended its sphere of activities to such an amazing degree that the national organization is now making a study of the system in operation. This Scout organization has all of the regulations required in the Scout manual, but in addition to these the Wagoner scouts have a Scout bank, a complete court, police force, a corps of detectives and a force of deputy sheriffs.

And these are not make-believe organizations. The bank accepts deposits and lends money to Scouts, the court orders arrests, tries cases, assesses fines and collects them; detectives gather evidence of crime and lay it before the Scout Prosecuting Attorney; the deputy sheriffs make arrests. And this scope of activity applies to the entire city.

In fact the Scouts have "cleaned up" Wagoner. Blood was spilled in doing it, but the Scouts closed the whiskey joints, the gambling-houses and the negro dives that had defied the State officers for years. Wagoner today is one of the cleanest and most law-abiding towns in the State. The "bottoms," a negro section in the west part of town was one of the most notorious dive sections in the State.

Five murders were committed here in the month of March. Whiskey joints, gambling houses and houses of ill fame ran wide open. Whiskey was sold over the bar and strangers, white and black, young and old, were lured there and robbed and killed. It was the most dangerous section in Eastern Oklahoma after nightfall. Today men and women may walk through the "bottoms" at night as safely as on the main street of Wagoner. The Boy Scouts did it.

The Scouts were organized by H. H. Townsend, scout master. The scoutmaster made in creating a law enforcement organization of the Scouts has since made him Chief of Police. People smiled when the Scout movement was first started. Now the Scouts are the idols of the town and Townsend its most popular officer.

EATS 213 ONIONS.

Iowa Man Performs the Stunt in Thirty-three Minutes and Wins Contest.

Pavenport, Iowa.—Edward Meyer, a farmer, 20 years old, outdistanced five competitors in an onion-eating race, consuming 213 onions in thirty-three minutes for a wager of one acre of onion land at Pleasant Valley, north of here.

The land is worth $1,000 per acre. Meyer grew the onions eaten in the contest. His nearest competitor ate but 178 onions in the same length of time. Meyer wagered that he could eat more onions than any man in Iowa.

The deed to the land has been transferred.

BLOODHOUNDS GO TO SLEEP

Robbers Must Have Taken Scent Away With Loot, for Dogs Refuse to Get Excited.

Merrick, N. Y.—A bloodhound's life is not all that it is cracked up to be. Every time the Merrick postoffice is robbed—and it happens with a regularity that is getting monotonous—folks say, "Call out the dogs," and expect the pack of bloodhounds that the Long Island railroad keeps kennelled here for emergencies, to get excited about it.

The dogs used to get excited about it, but that was back in the days of their youth. It was great sport to go chasing off in full cry down Main street and out along the Merrick road, and keep the whole town on the anxious seat until it was time to come home with a chewed up woodchuck or chipmunk. But, of course, they could not keep that up indefinitely, and besides, the supply of woodchuck and chipmunk is running low.

When Postmaster Harry Zeller opened the office the other morning he found that about the only things that the yegmen had left untouched were the blotters, the inkstand, a portrait that hangs on the right hand wall and the last year's circus poster and by the "Men Wanted for the Army" lithograph. The safe was blown to bits and the back of the office was greatly damaged.

The postcards, the sheets of stamps and all the cash were gone. It was a clear case for the bloodhounds from the start.

Deputy Sheriff Murray Barbery alerted the kennels and the crowd around the office cheered as the pack, here in sight at the far end of the street.

"Here come the dawgs," was the cry. But this bit of encouragement only got them as far as the office door. From that point they had to be lashed and dragged forcibly inside, and made to sniff at the safe and the cash drawer. While everybody was trying to get Roger, the leader of the lot, to pick up the scent and be off, two of the pack found a soft spot behind the delivery window and were found some time later, fast asleep.

This more or less broke up the party. It was accordingly decided that either the yeggs had been careless enough to leave no scent or the bloodhounds had gone on strike, and that whichever it was the idea of running down the robbers with dogs was impracticable.

Use for Burnt Toast.

Crushed toast crumbs would appear a little bizarre as a cleaning agent nowadays. To grill a slice of bread until it was scorched, and then to pound it in a bowl or a mortar to a fine powder, was, however, a touch of economy, which was more than justified when the day came for cleaning drawing room or dining room, and gilt ornaments showed a lack luster which required attention. Toast crumbs were rubbed over the metal with a piece of flannel. The gilt ornamentation was afterward brushed with a plate brush over the surface, the crumb brighter being supposed to give a polish which could not be secured by any other means.

Winter Fogs.

People who suffer from annoyance of winter fogs in their rooms or offices should keep a kettle of water (preferably one with a long spout) on the fire always boiling. In a few minutes when the steam has diffused itself about the apartment, the fog will in a great measure be considerably lightened, and the remainder being so harmless the atmosphere will be much easier to breathe. Any irritation to the eyes, throat or chest is lessened.

Cheap Good Coffee Cake.

One cup suet, butter and lard mixed, one and one-half cups sugar. Add a little water, melt, add one quart milk and one yeast cake. Put flour into bowl, add a little nutmeg and lemon flavoring, beat all together, but not as stiff as bread dough. Let it rise, put in pans and let rise again. Press in little lumps of butter and put on sugar and cinnamon.

MICHIGAN NEWS

LANSING YOUTH ARRESTED.

Charlotte—Howard Eastman, the Lansing youth wanted for furnishing a saw to Charles Hickman, the alleged horse thief, who escaped from the county jail several days ago, was taken into custody recently. Eastman, it is said, has confessed his part in the escape, although he claims to know nothing of the present whereabouts of Hickman.

Eastman sent in the saw wrapped in a magazine addressed to Hickman, according to the authorities. Eastman has worked in Lansing automobile factories and it is averred, is well known to Lansing police.

RIGID REGISTRATION OF ALIENS PLANNED HERE

Lansing will be tightened against Canadians entering the United States, in accordance with a new rule adopted by the immigration authorities, and more thorough regulation will be enforced, says Inspector Flick.

"Immigrants have been fooling the authorities," said Mr. Flick. "By shipping their household and personal effects by freight these persons have been able to pass the inspectors by carrying no baggage."

There is no intention to exclude admissible aliens under the new rule, which is simply an effort to register immigrants more closely, that their destinations and intentions may become a matter of record.

FLYWHEEL CATCHES HIS

HEAD AND HE IS KILLED

Adrian, Mich.—His head caught in the flywheel of a stationary engine, Lemuel Thompson, of Morenci, was fatally injured while filing a saw on the farm of L. A. Farley, about two miles east of Morenci. The engine needed some adjustment and while making the repairs with the engine running, Mr. Thompson received a shock, presumably from the magnet, which caused him to step backwards. He was caught by the fly wheel and his head brought down with great force against the engine supports. His skull was crushed. He died in a few minutes.

A widow and two children survive.

ARRESTED ON STORY—

TOLD BY YOUNG WOMAN

Flint, Mich.—William Franklin, federal white slave agent, is in Flint investigating the case of Charles Kutz, formerly of this city, who is under arrest at Reading, Pa., on a charge of violating the Mann act.

His arrest was the result of a story told by Bertha Bousher, formerly a waitress in the Dayton-house, in this city, to the effect that after he had left here, where they had become acquainted, he had sent her money to go to Reading. She alleges that he promised to support her there, but had failed to do so, although they had met several times. Kutz is 32 years old, and worked in a factory here until August, and the girl is 20.

FUGITIVE FARMER

FOUND UNDER BARN

Corunna, Mich.—Mike Reha, the farmer who escaped from the county farm recently, was found by the sheriff's force hiding under a barn at his home in Venice township. Although so ill that he had been compelled to use crutches, Reha had made his way, assisted, six miles to his home, hiding in the woods in the daytime and traveling at night.

TAKES FLASHLIGHT OF BOYS IN VINEYARD.

Saginaw, Mich.—G. H. Rhinevaunt, owner of a large vineyard in Saginaw, appeared at a police station with a flashlight picture he took at night of boys stealing his grapes. Five faces show plainly and officers are investigating.

DETROIT THEATRES

AT THE GARRICK

Manager Lawrence has arranged for a splendid list of attractions this fall, and the cozy Garrick will be the mecca for all lovers of high-class plays.

Former arrangements were to have the Garrick bookings in one of the other theatres, but, remodeling and renovating plans made it possible for this popular house on Griswold, just off of Michigan ave., to take care of the ever increasing crowds. The Whirl of the World was one of those shows that capture popular opinion and clinch public opinion.

Starting Sept. 21, Joseph Santley will be at the Garrick with that beautiful song show entitled When Dreams Come True. This is a strictly classical piece that everyone will enjoy to the utmost.

The following attractions for the Garrick embrace many of the most famous successes in the theatrical world, Manager Lawrence having decided to give Detroiters and visitors to the city the very choicest and best known productions of the decade. Sept. 28th, Forbes Robertson will give a farewell American appearance. Mr. Robertson has an enthusiastic Detroit and vicinity following, and the important engagement will be one to draw vast audiences. Oct. 5th, Frank Craven, who is scheduled as one of the biggest hits of the season, will present "Too Many Cooks," a real comedy of the farcical order that will delight his many followers. Following the attractions spoken of, Lew Weber, the Only Girl, Midnight Girl, and notable pieces will be staged. For high-class shows that are to be viewed only in strictly metropolitan houses, the Garrick, in Detroit, is the choice. Inter-urban station is only a few blocks away, so that visitors from nearby towns can make connections right after the show without loss of time.

AT THE CADILLAC

Mae Ward's Dresden Dolls is being presented at the Cadillac, Detroit, this week by a very capable company. It is delightfully odd and the scenic effects are of a most satisfactory sort. The opening scene in the department store affords wide scope for revelations of gowns and costumes, some rather scant, but the shapely chorus make them strikingly attractive. The final act is the Garden of Love with a full complement of songs, dances and comedy of a high class. Billie J. Morrissey is a live comedian, ably assisted by Manuel Alexander and Bert Jones, a typical Hebrew comedian. Mae Heigert and Gene Beudry add much to the entertainment, and dainty Mae Ward plays her part effectively and is winning many friends. The Dresden Dolls is worth while, and Manager Levy deserves the big houses that are forthcoming. The ladies' matinees are becoming exceedingly popular as the fall advances. On the 27th The Moorish Maids will be the attraction, with Sam Williams in the comedian role. It is an Oriental production that comes with strong recommendation from those who have seen it.

AT THE GAYETY

The Gayety has a dandy show in Sam Howe's Lovemakers, this week, with capacity houses the night. Sam Howe is a Hebrew comedian who has many imitators, but mighty few equals. Countess Rossi, in the leading feminine role, is putting a decided favorite. She is wonderfully talented, and the support, including Vera Desmond, Beanie Ross, Wm. Arnold, Albert Marks, W. Webster, Joe Barrett, Wm. Wyant, and Adelaide Adair, are all putting forth class in every section of the big show. The scenic masterpiece is rich and pleasing, the piece being "Russia"—with full opportunities for rich costumes and unique effects. Taking it all in all, The Lovemakers is a show it will be well to visit. The chorus is one of the finest seen in the Gayety in a long time. The following week sees Bert and the Bon Ton Girls, which has proven a big favorite along the route so far. A carload of scenic effects is carried. Mr. Baker is supported by Lucille Marion, Hazel Crosby, Harry Ward, Teller Sisters, Billy La Tort, and a beauty chorus of thirty-two.

AT THE FOLLY

The Folly is gaining heaps of friends these days with the typical burlesque shows that have always had such a large following. The present show is The Big Sensation, featuring Lydia Jospy, who is a delightful songstress. The Brizanza Trio make good, and Larry Smith, Chas. Hoback, Chas. Douglass, Pauline Russell, Mamie Champion, all are happily cast, and keep the ball rolling every minute. The two acts are entitled Palm Beach, making it easy to reveal the shapely curves of a large and well-trained chorus. The Hotel de Luxe is the closing skit, and it is one long scream. The music is timely and the entire performance keeps well up to the standard set by the Folly early in the season. The show that comes on the 27th is the big noise favorite, Miners' Bohemians, and those who know anything at all about burlesque realize that this means a show not to be beaten for spice and a gurgery chorus. Popular prices for Folly shows are giving big value, and the crowds are always in evidence at matinees daily and every night.

CANADA EXPECTS HER SONS TO DO GREAT THINGS ON EUROPEAN BATTLEFIELDS

Canadian infantrymen in mobilization camp at Valcartier passing over pontoon bridge on way to the front.

Quebec, Canada — Canada expects great things from her thirty thousand volunteers who will soon be fighting in European battlefields. And if the soldiers of the Dominion acquit themselves in this war as they have in warfare in times past, Canada will have no cause to be ashamed of them.

Canadian regiments won fame throughout the British empire and beyond in the Boer war; Canadian voyageurs manned the boats which bore Wolseley up the Nile to the attempted relief of Khartoum; Canadian troops crushed the Northwest rebellion in 1885, the Fenian raids of 1866 and 1870, the Papineau rebellion of 1837; they fought well in the War of 1812, and in the American revolution. Individual Canadian volunteers by the hundred fought in the ranks of the North and in the American Civil war; Canadian soldiers were with Grant at Petersburg, and with Sherman on the March to the Sea. Canadians marched with "Bobs"—Lord Roberts—in the famed advance from Kabul to Kandahar in the Afghan war, and Canadians battled desperately with Pulleine against the Zulus in the broken square at Isandlwana. A Canadian lieutenant rode with the Six Hundred at Balaklava, and a Canadian colonel was in command of the important defense of Lucknow in the Indian mutiny for the eighty-two slow days from the death of Lawrence to the coming of Havelock. Canadians were with Nelson at Trafalgar, and with Wellington in the Peninsula. Where the flag of England has gone in battle in the last century, there too have gone Canadians. At the present time it is estimated that there are 200 Canadians holding commissions in the regular British army—the standing army of the empire—of whom the majority are now in France with the expeditionary force under General French.

Hundreds of times have Canadians been mentioned in official dispatches, and scores of decorations have been won by them. Since the establishment in 1856 of the Victoria Cross—known throughout the empire as the "V. C."—a considerable number of Canadians have won the plain metal made from captured cannon, and inscribed "For Valour," which means that the holder has done some peculiarly notable deed of personal heroism in the face of the enemy, and which is undoubtedly the most widely prized honor of all upon Great Britain's lengthy list.

In the Boer war, four Victoria Crosses were won by Canadians. One hundred and sixty-nine soldiers of the Dominion were mentioned in dispatches by Lord Roberts, Lord Kitchener, and General Buller. Five Canadians won the "V. C." (Companion of the Order of the Bath), five more won the "C. M. G." (Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George), and seventeen others won the "D. S. O." (Distinguished Service Order).

Probably the most famous name in Canadian military annals is that of Inglis, the defender of Lucknow. Inglis, who was born in Halifax, saw service in the rebellion of 1837 in Lower Canada at St. Denis and St. Eustache. At the outbreak of the Indian mutiny in 1857 he was a lieutenant colonel and in command of the Thirty-second regiment at Lucknow, being next in seniority to Sir Henry Lawrence, the commander of the city. Five days after the siege of Lucknow began, Lawrence died of his wounds, and for eighty-two days, through July, August and until September 25, Inglis commanded the garrison in a siege which will be forever glorious in British history.

Sir Henry Havelock, by a memorable feat of arms, raised the siege. Inglis, "for his enduring fortitude and persevering gallantry in the defense of the beleaguered Lucknow against an overwhelming force of the enemy," was made a major general and fought in the defense of the city. Three young Canadian subalterns served under Inglis at Lucknow, and each was given a captaincy for gallantry, one of them later in the mutiny winning the Victoria Cross and subsequently having it presented to him in the presence of the whole garrison of Gibraltar.

The authorities state that the first Canadian to receive the Victoria Cross was Alexander R. Dunn, of Toronto, who was a lieutenant in the Light Brigade that charged into eternal fame at Balaklava. It is stated that when the Victoria Cross was instituted Dunn was unanimously recommended by the officers of the Light Cavalry Brigade as the man above all others who should get this reward and the man above all who had distinguished himself by his intrepidity, and he received the cross from Queen Victoria in person. He later served with distinction in the Abyssinian campaign under Napier.

HE "GLASSED" DETROIT

When an optician can use the phrase, "I Glasped Detroit," it means he has had a wonderful business, and must be satisfying his patients in no uncertain manner. Dr. L. Kaplan, the optician of Detroit, has had to take much longer quarters on account of his big practice, and now has one of the finest offices in the state devoted to the fitting of correct glasses. Improbable attention is given to optical pathology, and the finest service is assured. Anyone desiring perfect eye fitting and glasses at a fair price should not fail to see Dr. Kaplan, who is conveniently located in the Fisher Arcade at 251 Woodward ave., Detroit. Naturally the experience and equipment of such an institution is far superior to that usually found in smaller cities—and as the eyes should have the very best of care, those in need of glasses should take the trip to Detroit and secure the most scientific treatment and service possible—Adv.

Prominent Detroit Real Estate Man Talks of Business Conditions

In a recent interview, Mr. L. G. Palmer, of Detroit, who has very extensive real estate interests in that city, and who is in close and intimate touch with business conditions, said: "While some lines of business in Detroit have felt a slight depression on account of the war, this depression has not been felt in Detroit realty. Some of the banks for a time restricted payments to contractors—and a few building operations were retarded, but the banks now have announced that contractors and others can go right ahead, with no restrictions."

"Detroit has enjoyed a most phenomenal growth during the past year, many steel structures having been erected, and the population has steadily grown. The million mark for Detroit is not an idle dream, but will be an assured fact before many more years roll round."

"Travelers from all parts of the United States who have been able to get in touch with the conditions in Detroit at this time, all are loud in praise of business conditions, and the local merchants are stocking more fall goods than ever, with local sales brisk all along the line. It is evident that Detroit is on a most solid and substantial financial basis, and especially so in real estate, which does not fluctuate with outside conditions."

"I will be pleased to advise anyone at any time in regard to special Detroit realty conditions and opportunities, and would strongly advise any man or woman with a little saving account to place at least part of it in property in Detroit, where it will earn magnificent returns, at all times."

SOME GOOD POINTS FOR AUTOMOBILISTS

SAYS HILL CLIMBING ON "HIGH" IS HARD ON MACHINES.

REQUIRES AN EXPERIENCED DRIVER TO GET THE BEST RESULTS—MOTOR SHOULD BE GIVEN CHANCE.

The ability of a driver is more taxed in ascending hills than in nearly any other phase of driving. Each hill has its own characteristics and the driver ascending for the first time must bring into play all the knowledge gained from other hill experiences if he wishes to make the ascent with a degree of pleasure to himself and the others of his party.

There is a great deal of deception in all hills, deception which only wide experience can counteract. When approaching a hill from the level the grade is minimized and often a driver will have to shift gears and he wonders what is wrong with his motor, which theretofore was working perfectly. Later in the day of the driver comes back over the same route he will be surprised at the steep descent and for the first time becomes aware of the fact that he was climbing a steep hill on the upward journey although at first he did not realize it.

Some drivers are still making that error of attempting too much hill climbing on an direct drive. Many drivers consider a combination of lack of ability to shift gears and a hill and they prefer to barely crawl over on a direct drive, motor laboring and straining every part of it instead of shifting. The poor driving is not changing to a lower gear. By shifting to a lower gear the strain on the motor is reduced on the connecting rods and on the bearings is greatly reduced. It does not do a motor any harm to let it work 25 rapidly as may be necessary in climbing a hill on intermediate, but it does work injury to let the crankshaft speed drop and still keep in direct drive.

Some drivers imagine that it consumes more gasoline to climb a long hill on intermediate than on direct simply because the motor is working at a higher crankshaft speed. This is a debatable point; in fact, some of our best carburetor men declare that there is greater fuel economy in making the climb at a good speed on intermediate gear than in making it at a slower speed on direct. All matters considered, it is much better and generally much quicker to make the ascent on intermediate than on high.

Some drivers do not like to shift gears on a hill because of the difficulty they have in shifting gears either because of clashing the gears or losing too much car momentum when making the change. If this is the case then the driver has yet to learn the art of shifting gears.

Quite frequently the solution of hill climbing is found in not shifting gears on a hill but making the change at the bottom of the hill. Very often a hill can be climbed much more quickly by shifting from high into intermediate at the foot or before reaching the foot and letting the motor speed up to its best zone of hill-climbing efficiency. This is particularly true where the hill is of medium length.

THE CROCHET BRIGADE.

(No apologies.)
Half a step, half a step.
Half a step, half a step.
All toward the hotel porch.
Forward! Crochet Brigade.
"Charge for the chairs!" we said,
On to the hotel porch.
Charge the four hundred.
Forward, Crochet Brigade!
No woman there dismayed,
Crowded and stepped upon,
Waist and skirt sundered,
Their not to make reply,
Their not to reason why,
Their to "crochet or die;
On to the hotel porch.
Crowd the four hundred.

Newsboys, to the right of them,
Extras to left of them,
War news in front of them,
Volleyed and thundered;
Chatting of "chain" and "shell,"
Hard they crotched, and well,
Gossiped till out of breath,
Told all they had to tell,
Gabbled the four hundred.

Flashed their crochet hooks bare,
Flashed as they turned in air,
Black'ning a name or more,
Talking without end; while
All the world shuddered;
Shuddered for tales that spoke
Of Death, and hearts that broke.
Cossack and Russian,
Slaying and dying;
Shocking the world, but
Not the four hundred.

Sobbing to fight of them,
Wailing to left of them,
Weeping behind them,
Saddened and hopeless,
Snoored the crochet belle,
While horse and hero fell;
"D. M. C. cotton's up
Fifteen to eighteen cents!
Surely this war is Hell!"
All that was both'ring them,
Piffing four hundred.

How could they be so small?
Had they no brains at all?
While battles thundered?
"Cotton" the woe they fear;
Pennies once more they'd fear,
Silly four hundred!
—Winifred Sherman Gordon.

Importance of Healthy Kidneys

Northville Readers Should Learn to Keep the Kidneys Well.

The kidneys have a big work to do. All the blood in the body is coursing through the kidneys constantly to be freed of poisonous matter. It is a heavy enough task when the kidneys are well, but a cold, chill, fever, or some thoughtless exposure is likely to irritate, inflame and congest the kidneys and interrupt the purifying work.

Then the aching frequently begins and is often accompanied by some irregularity of the urine—too frequent passages, sediment or retention. Thousands testify to the wonderful merit of Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy for the kidneys only, that has been used in kidney troubles for 50 years. You will make no mistake in following this Northville citizen's advice.

Mrs. L. Charter, Dunlap St., Northville, Mich., says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has been that I highly recommend them. When my kidneys were out of order and I had backache I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they greatly relieved me."

Price 50¢ at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Charter had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Milinery openings.

Last day of Milford fair.

Mrs. Charles LaFevre has been critically ill all this week.

Catholic services will be held Sunday morning at 8:00 o'clock in Cattermole's hall.

Many country boys will attend agricultural colleges this fall, so that they won't have to work farming.

Owing to the fact that they have just had a vacation, many people are now forced to take a week off to rest.

The brick work on the new Balden bungalow has been completed and the interior is now being finished off.

Myron White received a bad cut on the thumb of his right hand while running the band saw at the Dubuque factory this week.

Tuesday's rain was badly needed both in the country for the crops and in the city to lay the dust which had become quite deep.

Some of the women's pages continue to publish instructions about putting up jams and jellies, when what many housekeepers really want is points on auction bridge.

Mrs. Smith, housekeeper for E. K. Starkweather, was attacked with a fainting spell during the morning services Sunday at the Presbyterian church. She has now recovered her usual health.

Two more crimes are now charged up to the account of the ubiquitous automobile. It is said to be doing things to the piano market, and—worse still—to be the cause of a general deficit in church attendance.

An 80-year-old man was so badly injured at Belleville recently, while assisting in taking down a building that his foot had to be amputated. This was one of the occasions when it doesn't pay to be smart enough at four score to do such work as that.

Mr. and Mrs. McGee who recently came here from Belleville so that the former might accept a position with the Stimpson Scale & Electric Co., have rented the house owned by Myron Robbins on First avenue.

Have you seen the 1914 comet yet? If you haven't and want to, get up very, very early in the morning before the stars fade and look over in the northeast, on the off side of the big dipper. You can see this particular comet again, after its present engagement, until 1914.

With C. A. Streeter selling strawberries and Mrs. Walker showing ribbons, we find we are a little mixed in our calendar. Oxford Leader. And the July weather during the central part of this month probably hasn't had a tendency to un-aiden on the subject.

I don't think of the Birmingham Post has been "up in a balloon" at the end of a thousand (notable) first time he ever really showed that he felt above the rest of us county newspaper folks, and he took care not to get too "upside" at that. But spen that air rope had busted?

Old Oakland is evidently in a danger of depopulation just yet. The July vital stat. bulletin credits the county with 108 births and but 45 deaths during that month. And besides this, the valuation was reduced to the tune of a nice little $5,000,000 by the equalization fellers, so probably more folks will be movin' in.

An amendment to the state constitution is to be submitted to the people of Michigan at the November election, which, if carried, will prevent fraternal insurance societies from raising assessment rates except by a majority vote of all members. The amendment provides, also, for several other changes affecting such orders.

Another election has been held at South Lyon on the pro or con of a new school building for the village, on which the vote was a tie at an election a few weeks ago. This time the pro-yes, 96 to 45. It is hoped to have the building completed by the opening time of school next fall. Congratulations are due to the public spirit that recognizes the importance of such improvements.

As school has just opened, the class in geography may be supposed to be on the floor. "What is the capital of France?" "Paris," is the confident reply. "Wrong; it is Bordeaux." "What is the capital of Belgium?" "Brussels," comes the reply not quite so surely. "Wrong; it is Antwerp." "What is the capital of Russia?" "One timid youngster volunteers the response of St. Petersburg." Again the child is wrong, for it is "Petrograd."

Fall opening Saturday, September 26th, at Mrs. McCully's. You are cordially invited.

Two hundred and seventy-four days of 1914 gone.

Northville Electric Supply Co. has a new ad in this issue. Also N. Nevison.

Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen have recently been visiting at Orionville. They were entertained, no doubt, in the parlor.

Many people are willing to go on vacations and picnics to enjoy the beauties of nature if they can spend all the time playing bridge or 500.

Frank Bolton has purchased the Geo. Himman house on First avenue, now occupied by Fred Tubbs and family. Mr. Bolton expects to take possession soon.

Phone orders are still received at the village electric light plant for house wiring. The village has done no wiring for some time, having gone out of that business.

The Houghton Line defines a newspaper editor as "a man who must write on any subject whether he knows anything about it or not." D. U. R. Electric News.

The Second Annual Church Day, which had been extensively advertised for last Sunday, was a success, the churches being filled at every service. Why not make every Sunday a church day?

Northville voted Monday to sell its electric light plant to the Eastern Michigan Co. They were wise. South Lyon Herald. They did, but they weren't. It didn't carry, even half way.

The Record stated last week that Albert Stockman whose marriage to Miss Lottie White was announced was formerly a resident of Plymouth. Mr. Stockman has always lived in Northville.

J. R. Trufant of Ypsilanti underwent a serious operation recently and has been in a critical condition. He is in Dr. Kuhn's private hospital in Detroit and at last reports was holding his own.

Mrs. James Sessions received eight cash prizes on her exhibits of fancy work at the state fair this year. The prize pieces included a black net dress with applique work, several hat-burg articles and some pointed lace.

One of the most charming little entertainments of the season was given in the library Tuesday evening, but the attendance was very small, probably because of the stormy afternoon and the threatening weather at night.

Mr. Allen, who is employed on the M. & A. moved at family into the Northrop home on Dunlap street, formerly occupied by C. A. Pascard and family. The latter has long resided in the remodelled home's over the city goals score.

The highly cultured European armies don't line prisoners up against the wall and shoot them as the Mexicans did. They merely destroy all their buildings and crops, and starve their victims to death gradually. That is much more modern and is also a later style of civilization.

The following item from the Detroit News refers to one of the couples recently mentioned in the Record as having been married in church here many years ago:

Mrs. Sarah Scott Jackson died Monday evening, just 17 days after the fiftieth anniversary of her marriage to Dr. H. H. Jackson, dentist, 317 Jefferson avenue east. She had been ill for many months. Mrs. Jackson was born in Lenawee county 79 years ago and soon after moved to Northville with her family. She came to Detroit 41-years ago with her husband. A daughter, Miss Virginia Jackson, who resides at the parental home, and a brother, Homer J. Scott, New Hudson, Mich., survive.

Exhibition Fall Millinery at Mrs. Georgia Tinham's tomorrow.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Vogt wish to extend their sincere thanks to friends and neighbors for sympathy and kindness shown them during their recent bereavement; also for the beautiful floral offerings.

BRITAIN'S TROOPERS HELP FRANCE HURL BACK GERMAN FOE

British troops in trenches near Paris. (c) Underwood & Underwood.

The army of Great Britain has played an important part in the offensive and defensive movements of the allies. The British soldiers have proved themselves among the best fighters in the world, and in the fighting between Belgium and Paris heroically held their own against superior odds. This picture was taken after days of incessant fighting; yet notice the smiles on the faces of the soldiers. It's a hard matter to wear Tommy Atkins out.

SONG OF A CRIPPLED BIRD WINS CHILDREN

One-Legged Grosbeak Converts 10,000 to Protection of Wild Life of Country.

Colorado Springs, Colo.—The chirping of a one-legged bird has won more than 10,000 school children to the protection of bird and animal life in this section of Colorado. The little bird, a black-headed grosbeak, is a part of Dr. W. W. Arnold's "bird hospital," which he established last fall to care for those brought to him by the school children. There are five birds in the hospital at this time, all thoroughly cured.

The grosbeak was shot last fall, a leg and a wing being broken. A schoolboy found the bird and took it to Dr. Arnold and it received careful attention. The wing was healed but the leg was battered and had to be amputated.

This little stump of a leg is doing more to make the children appreciate bird life than all the books that could be written or all the lectures that could be delivered," said Dr. Arnold. "At the picture at Fort Morgan, a bird life when I showed 'Blackie' to the children a number of them cried. The bird kept up a merry song all the time I was talking, and I would wager that none of the children who saw it will ever harm a bird again. All the way up and all the way back the little fellow kept up his song attracting considerable attention."

"Colorado Springs is the only city in the world in which the children feed the birds systematically during the winter," Dr. Arnold stated. "Many of the Sunday schools take up collections to buy food for the birds, and the park commission has established little feeding pens and platforms. At the present time the parks are full of birds."

WRONG WORD WINS NEW TRIAL

Use of "or" for "and" Gives Pick pocket Another Chance

Macon, Mo.—Joseph Durkin, convicted of picking the pockets of a railroad man and sentenced to serve two years in the State penitentiary, was granted a new trial because one word was wrong in an instruction.

The instruction defined larceny as "wrongful or fraudulent stealing taking or carrying away." The court held that the conjunction "and" should have been used instead of "or."

Durkin has been tried three times before.

INTERMITTENT DEVOTION.

Mrs. Passer—That's right my boy, I'm glad to see you taking the baby for a walk. Do you do it often?
Willie—No, mum, not very. I see 'Calvin' every day dat she gets a nickel.

The Coward

It was "Circus Day" in Plympton, Mass.—a day always eagerly looked forward to by the inhabitants of the little provincial city, therefore everyone was out to see the street parade of the troupe. Showily caparisoned horses snorted and pranced restlessly in sharp contrast to the half dozen bonds-ome elephants padding calmly along in the choking cloud of dust raised by their own enormous feet.

Behind them came the cage of reptiles, the clanking of a half-dozen yellow eyes, and snarling, while padding restlessly from end to end of his towering cage, the huge lion king gave vent to intermittent roars of angry protest against his enforced captivity. Then came the lesser attractions.

It was in this same company also that Richard Agnew had won and won his wife, pretty Marie Duprez, the bravest bareback rider in the circus. Yes and one of the white canvas tents in your field had been the nursery and only home of his girl baby—brown eyed, petite Annee.

His life was worth living in those days.

But since the awful accident that had deprived him of both health and nerve, he had been miserably unhappy. He closed his eyes against the sting of starting tears. This scene brought it all back so clearly—the night when, just after an unusually trying performance he had announced his intention of quitting circus life for a less nerve-racking passion of rage, had declared the would never leave the ring for the humdrum routine of the home; and then when she had caught up Annee, buried the one word "Coward" at him with stinging scorn, and had flung herself out of the tent into the night's engulfing blackness!

And in all the weary months that followed, he had found no trace of her, or of the child. Well, he was down and out now—his health broken, and his nerve gone. Marie was right—he had proved himself a coward.

He pulled his hat lower. He would not see the sights nor hear the old familiar sounds that still thrilled his heart; that set every pulse leaping with desire to be back once more in the excitement of the circus arena—where even the danger attending each performance had been but an additional joy. Oh, it only he could summon back the splendid nerve and courage that was once his!

The procession had halted—and a huge touring car was slipping and skidding down the street—heading straight for the animal vans, despite the heroic efforts of the chauffeur to control its erratic course.

On it came, a veritable juggernaut of destruction. It struck the van, carrying the lion's cage squarely—the terrific impact smashing car, van and cage. As the bars cracked, the surly brute within leaped free of the wreckage with a roar of rage, and stood with lashing tail and frothing mouth, quite still in the middle of the street.

Then, above the incoherent shouts of men—above the frightened screams of women and children—there rang out a woman's voice, shrilling in frenzied terror.

"My baby! O God, my baby, my baby!"

Richard Agnew heard, and frantically beat back all who barred his way, for from the opposite sidewalk, shone Marie's white, agonized face—and directly in front of the maddened lion, stood laughing, brown-eyed Annee, her chubby hands outstretched, her soft lips curved in baby coaxing.

The man's heart seemed to stop beating—he swayed dizzily; then his blood raced through his veins like liquid fire, his heart steeled, and with all his old time agility and nerve, he bounded into the air, and came down between his baby girl and the working, dripping jaws and blood-shot eyes. With a backward sweep of a tense hand, he snatched the child to him in a fierce embrace, then tossed her straight into the waiting arms of his wife. Then the cruel paws flew into the air and struck him to the earth. The crowd awoke from its paralyzing stupor of fright. A shot rang out and King, too, fell—his head resting on the crushed breast of his victim!

Men rushed forward then women sobbed, gathering their children within their sheltering arms. In the midst of the confusion, a man in clerical garb stepped to the side of the inert mass in the street.

Kneeling, he lifted one of Richard Agnew's hands. It fell back with the awful helplessness of death. He bared his head and stood up.

"My friends," he said, "he is gone! But let us thank God; for as brave a man as true a hero, as ever fell on the field of battle!"

Every hat came off, every head was lowered; and when at last the brief prayer fell into silence, Marie Agnew, convulsively clasping to her heaving bosom the child rescued from the very jaws of death by the splendid bravery of her husband, the man she had cruelly branded as "Coward!" staggered blindly to her desolate home, there to live through, as best she might, the long years of unavailing repentance that stretched before her—MRS. MARY LOUISE BUZZELL.

A New Oldsmobile for $1285

Come In and See This Car

This year there is a new Oldsmobile. Naturally it stands where all Oldsmobiles of past years have stood—in that small group of leaders, five or six at the most, which have constantly made surpassing quality the all-important consideration.

For the past two years there has been an insistent call for a smaller, lighter Oldsmobile, with the characteristic completeness and refinement of the big Oldsmobile "Six."

At last it is accomplished. The new Oldsmobile is now ready for your inspection. You are invited to call and mark the difference between this car and the host of ordinary machines that sell for almost the price of this Oldsmobile masterpiece.

Priced in Your Favor

When this new "Four" was announced only a few months ago, a price of $1350 was decided upon and so advertised. But the demand was underestimated. The tremendous ovation that greeted the new car meant only one thing: Big Quantity Production. Building in thousands where it was thought hundreds would suffice, a price of $1285 can be afforded. This saving of $65 goes to you, where it justly belongs.

This is a genuine Oldsmobile—in construction, in finish, in completeness of detail and equipment. It is an aristocrat in appearance and performance.

True Oldsmobile Quality

Look at "The Greatest Six-Cylinder Car in America" through a reducing glass and you see the new Oldsmobile "Four." You will find the same grace and beauty that characterizes the Oldsmobile "Six," reproduced in this new car of 112-inch wheel base.

Delco-Equipped

The Delco-starting and lighting system leaves nothing to be desired in electrical equipment. It has been adopted as standard equipment on cars costing twice as much as this, yet the Oldsmobile "Four" offers it at no extra cost.

Circassian walnut woodwork throughout. All instruments set flush in the dash, immediately under your hand—starter, lights, speedometer, eight-day clock, etc.

Every Known Refinement

Comfort for the driver: 26 1/2 inches from cushion edge to clutch pedal. Wide, 22-inch doors. Deep, luxurious upholstery and long easy springs, balanced perfectly, absorb road shocks and vibration. Cast aluminum foot and running boards; extra large gasoline tank fastened to main frame in rear. Concealed tool box, standard tool kit, tire pump and jack. Extra strong artillery wheels of solid hickory, twelve spokes front and rear, natural finish.

Jiffy curtains; cape top with host; tire iron at rear.

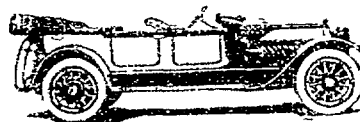

Shipping weight only 2485 pounds.

Its low center of gravity makes it seem to "hug the ground," yet it has ample road clearance.

The Motor of Motors

American and European engineers agree to the unmistakably superior efficiency of the compact, small bore four-cylinder motor with overhead valves, for a car of this weight.

The unit power plant of the new Oldsmobile is of this modern type—four cylinders, measuring 3 1/2 x 5, cast en bloc, three point sus-

Do You Prefer a Six?

The output of the "greatest six-cylinder car in America" is being increased to meet the 1915 demand. So on passenger touring body type, $2875. We will be glad to give you complete information on this wonderful car.

pension. All valves are enclosed and all working parts covered. Here is a quiet motor with specially designed Oldsmobile silencer—a motor of great flexibility, equally delightful for city or country driving.

Come and Pass Your Opinion on This Car

This is unmistakably the car for the man who seeks distinction without prohibitive cost—who demands in the car of his selection all that "Oldsmobile" has meant since motor cars were first built.

By good luck we have persuaded the Olds Motor Works to allot a few of these new cars to this territory. No matter what price you are thinking of paying for a car, do not fail to examine the Oldsmobile, first. The most important points of its superiority can only be appreciated by a demonstration.
