WILL OIL STREETS OF NORTHVILLE

TWO CARS OF OIL NOW ORDERED AND MORE LATER.

EXPENSE TO BE SPREAD ON TAX ROLL.

At Monday night's meeting of the council it was decided to oil the village streets and spread the cost on the tax rolls. The street committee was authorized to buy 2 car loads now (10,000 gallons) and another car later on. The oil will cost 2 1-2 cents with freight added, making the expense of the three cars about $400. The oil will be placed on all the principal streets of the village under the direction of the street commissioner.

This is certainly a commendable piece of enterprise on the part of the village council. Dusty streets are a bane not only to merchandise but also a menace to the health of the residents of the town. Besides all this the oil will preserve the present splendid condition of the streets which have cost thousands of dollars to build. It is estimated that $100 worth of oil each year will alone save $200 per annum in the repair and rebuilding of good roads. As has often been said good roads do not wear out but instead they blow away. If properly oiled they "blow" does not take place.

The council has voted to raise by tax $11,000. This will be a large amount compared with other years and if the village's valuation is $500,000 the tax rate will be about $1.22 on each $100 assessed valuation.

HANNA-MATHESON.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of George Hoyt Monday evening, April 26, when Mr. John Hanna was united in marriage to Miss Eva Matheson by Rev. Frank Brass. The bride, who looked very charming in a delicate blue gown, was attended by Miss Julia Perkins, Roy Matheson acting as best man. The bride was given away by her father, William Matheson. A sumptuous supper was served. Later, a considerable number of the friends of the young couple gathered at the house with guns and paws and gave them a "serenade," besides plenty of good wishes.

FAIR-KREEGER.

A large company of friends witnessed the marriage Thursday evening at 7.30 of Miss Lizzie Kreeger of this place to Benjamin Farr of Saginaw, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kreeger. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Lawrence of the German church and the attendants were Miss Lillian Witt and the bride's brother, Charles Kreeger. Mr. and Mrs. Farr are to reside in Detroit.

DOG AND PONY SHOW COMING.

The Perrine Dog and Pony Show, under the management of Mrs. Grace Perrine, gave one of the finest entertainments here last Friday that the people of this community have ever had an opportunity of witnessing. The dogs and ponies are educated almost to the point of human intelligence, and do most anything but talk. The band furnishes splendid music for the entertainment of a large crowd afternoon and evening, and every feature of the show was a demonstration of the refinement that can be brought about in a tent show that is owned and managed by a woman—Sturgis, Mich. Journal, July 3, 1914. This show will exhibit here in Northville Monday evening, May 3.

JOSEPH TABINSKI IS RELEASED

SENATOR TOWNSEND'S EFFORTS AT LAST REWARDED.

FINAL APPEAL TO THE BRITISH AMBASSADOR AT WASHINGTON.

After months of effort on the part of friends, the unwinding of several miles of government red tape and the manipulation of much international machinery, Joseph Tabinski, the unjustly accused former Northville High school student, has at last been released from the British military prison at Halifax, N. S. where he had been held for more than half a year by English military authorities under suspicion of being an Austrian spy. Young Tabinski had taken up a medical course in Detroit, but after the breaking out of the European war he was inspired with a strong desire to apply what he had so far acquired to the help of his oppressed people in the old country, so enlisted in the "first aid" department with the Canadian troops going to England. On reaching that country, placed under the usual examination he correctly gave his nationality as Austrian. He was immediately regarded as a dangerous character, and in spite of his protests of hatred toward Austria and his assurances of his sympathy with the Polish people under her oppression, he was placed under arrest, sent back, and imprisoned at Halifax. He appealed to his friends here, who, in turn, appealed at once to U. S. Senator,

JOSEPH TABINSKI.

Charles E. Townsend of Michigan, through whose persistent efforts the English ambassador at Washington, Sir Cecil Spring Rice, was finally induced to obtain Mr. Tabinski's liberation. The young man has been allowed to return to Detroit, but only under condition that he remains in the United States until the end of the European struggle, personal friends in Northville being required to vouch for his integrity of character and honorable observance of his parole. Although disappointed in his patriotic hope of helping his

DETROIT MAN INVENTS
NOISELESS CAR WHEEL

Edwin C. Madden Gives Successful Demonstration of "Silent Wheel" on Lines in Portland, Me.; Said to Solve Noise Problem on All Railway Trains and to Presage New Era in Transportation.

The age of the noiseless street car is at hand, when crowded city thoroughfares will be practically as quiet as a country lane and railway trains will speed across the continent with only a gentle hum as if carried on the wings of the wind. A "silent wheel," invented by Edwin C. Madden of New York, formerly of Detroit, is the agent that may bring about this revolution in the transportation business.

Medical authorities everywhere and the anti-noise societies throughout the country have long demanded, in the interest of public health, the suppression of the nerve-racking, health-destroying noises of railway traffic. In that respect, the wheel is an actual public necessity. It will eliminate the noise nuisance in a great degree, both for those who ride and for those who reside or do business on or adjacent to street railway lines. Incidentally, the wheel greatly reduces motor noise. The adoption of this wheel will largely restore property values which have been impaired or lost by reason of the establishment of street railway systems with their attendant noise nuisances.

Perfumed Warming Pans. Perfumed warming pans are used in some of the country mansions of France. When guests remain overnight the host endeavors to discover the scent each prefers, and thus the sheets are impregnated with heliotrope, rose, lily or other desired perfume.

A COIFFURE DINNER

A Novel Function at Which by Their Hair Ye Shall Know Them.

At a novelty in the shape of a coiffure dinner each guest was requested to come with his or her head dressed to represent some person or allegorical character.

The host wore a long white beard and white hair and furs which made him immediately recognizable as Santa Claus. The hostess, in brilliant colors with a scepter and head-dress and flowing robe, says What to Eat, was Aurora. A white coiffure sprinkled with silver dust to represent snow and icicles was Winter.

One exceptionally pretty effect was that of Elvira. She had an electric batter, concealed about her somewhere in easy reach of her hand and her head and neck were decorated with tiny electric lights which she could illuminate or put out at will.

Among the other characters depicted by their head dress was Spring, the funny man of the party, who had a bed spring fastened to his head, from which violets were apparently growing. Autumn, decked with colored leaves, George Washington wearing a white wig and peruke, tied with a black bow, Martha Washington, whose powdered hair was dressed to smooth hands and bedecked with a high shell comb. Nocturne, whose hair was as black as the plumage of night and who wore a coronet of gold stars with a crescent moon.

Animal Rock Builders

One class of rock builders are endowed with animal life. The pyramids and the sphinx are built of stone made by these animals. They are the lowest to us of animal life more species of life, some of which have the power of covering themselves with shells, so they are able to walk without feet; to capture their prey without hands and all by means of the gelatinous substance of which they are composed. They throw out threads of living flesh, which seize and digest their food—as though we could digest a beefsteak by taking it in our hands. The rock is composed of their cases or shells, and is thus full of organized remains. The stone of which Paris is built is composed of these fossil shells. Their form, marble and thus enter into the most beautiful forms of sculpture.

Manufacturing English Jams. While English jams have a large and enthusiastic following the world over, much of the manufacturing is done in France, where the fruit pulps constituting the base of many shipped to England in bulk, where they are compounded. Among the contributions of France in particular are black currants, cherries, raspberries, apricots, plums and similar small fruits.

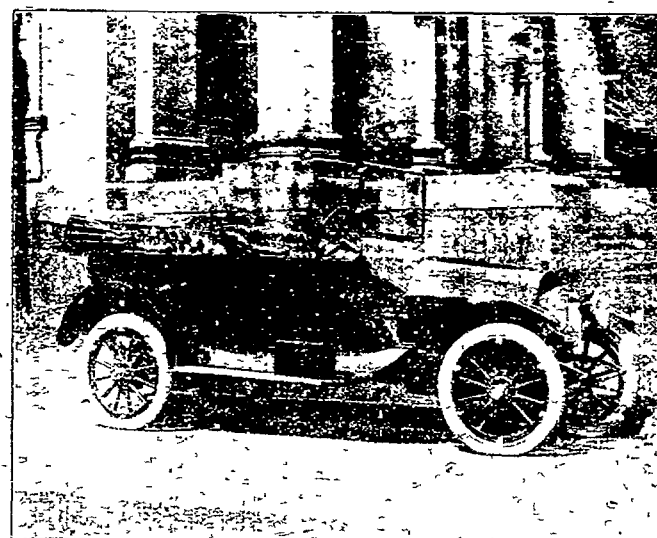

STARTING WORK ON DETROIT MOTOR SPEEDWAY PLANT LOCATED NEAR WYANDOTTE, MICH.

With a hundred teams, two steam shovels and a few hundred men work on the new Speedway located below Detroit is now being pushed on a "daylight to dark schedule." Double crews will be operated later as the contractors are under bond to complete their work by August 1st. The opening race, Labor Day, will be for a purse of $75,000, the largest ever offered in any sporting event in the world. This is bound to attract all of the leading riders of this and other countries.

Walter E. Flanders, president of the Maxwell Motor Company, states that he will enter three cars in this event and furthermore this gentleman predicts that the Detroit track will be the fastest in the world.

The Detroit Motor Speedway corporation is strictly a home organization, composed of leading businessmen of that city. In their gigantic proposition two reasons were given by the officials for placing stock on the market but the most important was that the general public would be more interested in the affairs of the concern if financially interested. The Indianapolis Speedway earns about 60 per cent per annum, so the Detroit people think that they have something that will not be long on the market.

"SUBSTITUTION" UP TO THE BUYER.

We have been hearing a great deal of talk, during recent years, from manufacturers of various specialties concerning what they designate as the "substitution evil." The complaint is made that certain articles have been brought to a high standard of perfection at an immense outlay of time and money, with the additional tremendous expense of persistent and unobtrusive advertising, as soon as said product has demonstrated its worth and achieved a big market, along comes somebody with something "just as good," at a lower price.

These goods are thus sold to those who will buy them, on the same and at the initial advertising expense, of the people who have put on the market the former proven product. On the face of it, it certainly looks like an injustice to the first manufacturer, and he is apparently within his rights when he "kicks," but what can be done about it? It is surely not a matter for legislation, since no person could be arbitrarily compelled to buy the better article—and in many cases he could not afford the price.

In these anti-monopoly times, even the big concerns must like their chances against competition, and, after making fortunes as is often the case before the "substitution" fellows "get on," must either be content with smaller sales or smaller profits.

And if the articles offered as "just as good" are relatively inferior, the buyer is the one who suffers most.

Again, a great many people want goods from automobiles to pencil sharpeners, from safety razors to paring knives, who haven't the money for the high priced articles. What they can afford, however, they need just as much as do the who get the best, and in some cases the lower priced product answers every purpose.

It is the matter of difference in price, not competition, that with the difference in value, it is after all up to the buyer, and he must decide for himself. And he must, there will always be plenty of people who get by with the cheap and could not possibly be convinced that a low priced article is as desirable from any viewpoint.

But the newspapers are having a hard time to keep their circulation steadily on straight, and the effort to phase out factions of the public they color the news just one way and then another.

A careful reading of them shows that they make the Germans and Austrians win on Mondays Wednesdays and Fridays, while the allies win on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays—and on Sunday the battle is evenly drawn.

It is a "war" popular interest in the time of war.

One more of the old spring "standards" for the country paragonists has been practically squelched by the march of modern progress—the sound of the carpet-beater, etc. The vacuum cleaner now bears the carpet beater to it.

All the reason we can see why Brig. Gen. Scott's peace-making abilities shouldn't be regarded as tried out on the savage chiefs over in Europe is because the latter aren't peace-makers.

The "Wet and Dry" recent news from Oakland county has been as evasive and contradictory as the war news from Europe. And it isn't supposed to be censured, either.

No Hopewell Reader, the fellow named Thaw who was killed the other day over in Europe while flying wasn't Harry. He can't, you know.

Now that war in the senate over the ship-purchase bill is over the European war looms up big again.

And even good old Oakland is in the throes of a fraud investigation.

Moved by McLean and supported by Filkins that bills be allowed and ordered paid.

Yeas—Filkins, McLean, Barley and Montgomery. Nays—None. Carried. Report of W. L. Dillon, engineer, relative to breakwater at dam, received and read.

Also estimated cost of work:

Concrete 162.96

Clean up, $75.00

$484.71

Detroit, April, 26, 1915. The Honorable Council of Northville, Northville, Mich.

The writer wishes to make you the following report of work done at the dam as per the attached specification. I find the contractor has removed the obstructions such as trees, stumps, broken concrete and gate house and gate valve and that he did construct a temporary dam across the channel during the progress of the work, that he put in the core wall across the break in the earth works of the dam which had been washed out and I find that this wall is of the specified requirements as to length, height and width and is made of the required mixture and the above core does contain 20 and 24-100 cu. yds. of concrete mixture but does not contain any reinforcement as required in the specification. The earth fill required has been put in according to the specification and measures 520 cu. yds. on the east side and 171 cu. yds. in the rear of the spill way apron and that he also removed 240 cu. yds. from across the channel and into the base of the fill on the west end of the place to fill as originally specified. I also find that the detached wing wall spoken of in the specification was not removed but was put back and the concrete fill made to hold same in place. This wing wall had no foundation and cannot be made to hold without same. The temporary obstructions were removed and the work finished up as much as possible owing to the weather conditions at this time.

In conclusion the writer wishes to state that this dam is in a unsafe condition and would be even in the reinforcing bars had been placed in the core wall by the contractor and the 4 ft slot cut in the same as specified and that the extra earth fill he made had more real value than the bar and slot could have been for the reason that this wall was placed at the wrong point and should have extended deeper in the earth and had a suitable sub-base for at three points water is coming through the wall and embankment and is dangerous and on the west side of dam there are also three places leaking through caused by extraordinary strains of high water and ice from time to time.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM L. DILLON.

NO ILL EFFECTS IN "TWILIGHT SLEEP"

Dr. Jacob Heller Gives Result of 150 Treatments in New York
Jewish Hospital.

GREAT BENEFIT IN THE SYSTEM

Pain Incident to Birth Serves No Purpose in Nature and is Unnecessary, His Belief.

New York—While criticism has been made of the advisability of twilight sleep for women in maternity and some have been driven insane through the administration of the drugs necessary, Dr. Jacob Heller gives a report of 150 cases of twilight sleep in the Jewish Maternity Hospital, and says that none have suffered any permanent ill effects. Dr. Heller is supported by Dr. George O'Hanlon, superintendent of Bellevue and allied hospitals, who says that of half a hundred cases with which he is familiar there have been only good results, and that the only danger involved, is in the administration of the drugs, just as there is danger in the use of any powerful drug.

Dr. Heller had precedent in more than 500 successful cases of twilight sleep through Dr. Gauss of Kronig's Clinic, in Freiburg, who brought the use of scopolamine-morphine anesthesia in labor prominently before the world. He used it in 150 cases drawn from private and charity patients, and in his report, which is published in the Medical Record, he concludes: "Our small series tends to show that, judiciously used, with proper precaution, the method is capable of relieving pain in 94 per cent of cases and that it is free from any danger to life or health of mother or child."

Concerning the objection "raised against any attempt to relieve childbirth of pain and suffering," Dr. Heller says: "It is argued that since nature, that encourages propagation in every possible way and manner, could not have been so cruel and incontinent as to inflict untold suffering on half of the human race, or perhaps on half of living creation, and thus handicap her own work, if she had no distinct purpose in that pain and suffering, and that any interference with that purpose will be resented by her in some manner. Kroyig tries to meet that argument by saying that a very great number of our present day women to whom twilight sleep is particularly beneficial, are so far removed from nature as to make their labor border on the pathological, and therefore, to save interference is not only justified but clearly indicated."

"In our opinion, subjective pain incident to childbirth serves no purpose in nature, but is rather an unnecessary result of an unchangeable natural law, that all severe muscular effort is accompanied by pain."

In all of the treatments at the Jewish Maternity Hospital the technique followed at Freiburg was practiced without deviation. Dr. Heller describes the work, in part, as follows:

When it was determined by the effect of the contractions on the cervix and membranes that the patient was in active labor, she was removed to a dimly lighted room, away from the general noise of the hospital. After her pulse and respiration, the fetal heart, as well as the frequency and duration of the contractions, were observed and noted down on record, she was given an initial injection of 1 c. c. of a 2 per cent solution of morphine-narcotine precoat, which is equal to half of the powdered drug. Through the same needle and without removing it she was injected with 15 c. c. of a 31,000 of 1 per cent solution of scopolamine hydrobromide, equivalent to 1-133 of a grain. One hour later a second injection of scopolamine alone, one-third of the original dose—that is one-half c. c. of the same solution—was given. Half an hour after the second injection the memory test was applied. If her answer was ready and clear she was given another half c. c. of scopolamine at once; if not, we waited with the third injection for the hour. She was then constantly watched and the injection of 1.5 c. c. of scopolamine repeated on the slightest sign of reappearance of memory until she was relieved.

In 122 cases, or 81.3 per cent, we succeeded in obtaining a complete amnesia and an almost equal degree of analgesia. All that occurred during the time the patient was under the influence of the drugs was wiped out of her memory.

"In 15 cases, or 10 per cent, we failed to obtain any marked results."

COW FINDS A SILVER DOLLAR

Makes Her Owner Happy by Bringing

Home

Three Brothers, Ark.—Henderson Adkins, a farmer of this place, is the owner of a cow which seems to know the real value of a dollar. A few nights ago, while Adkins was milking, he noticed something bright shining in the fork of the cow's neck. He worked it out and was very much surprised to find that it was a silver dollar. No one has claimed the dollar, and it is believed that the cow will run out in the public road—stepped on it where it had been dropped and caught edge-wise.

Glimpses of Married Life

"Where is Nell?" asked Dick's mother as she climbed out of the carriage on returning from church. It was the Sunday when Mrs. Ellison's letter was received.

"In her room," answered Dick without looking up. "I saw her asleep?"

He shook his head. "Something has happened that teams came to her eyes. She began to sob convulsively."

"There, dear child, try to be quiet; I have something to say to you. Dick has told me all about it, dear. He has showed me the letters, the one from the spiteful meddler and the boasting one from the shallow little trifle. Dick tells me he never said a thing to that girl that he could not have said in your presence; never was any more than civil to her. He blames himself for his obstinate refusal to avoid all this gossip and save you this pain, but that is all he has to regret of, and I believe him."

Then, as Nell continued silent: "May I send him to you, little daughter? He needs you and you surely need him. Let him tell you what he told me." She nodded acquiescence.

Low rumbles of thunder were heard as Dick sank on his knees by the bed and took his wife in his arms; as the cooler air reached him he picked her up and carried her to a chair by the window and tucked a shawl around her, for she was shaking from head to foot. Nell snuggled her face on his shoulder and took long, quieting breaths of the cool air as the chair swayed back and forth.

HAVE MCCOMBS AND WIFE SEPARATED?

Mrs. William F. McCombs.

A rumor has been widely circulated in Washington that William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Mrs. McCombs have separated. Mrs. McCombs has spent much of her time during the past several months at the home of her parents, Col. and Mrs. John R. Williams, in the national capital. ### Household Hints

DISHES FOR PARTICULAR HUMORS

Candied Sweet Potatoes—Pare and halve sufficient sweet potatoes; put in frying pan; cover with water; add one cup brown sugar and one-half cup butter; cook on top of stove.

Sauerkraut, Pork and Dumplings—Select a meaty piece of back bone, which is also reasonable in price, cook until tender, remove from kettle, rub with fat and brown in moderate oven. Put sauerkraut in pork broth and boil one hour. Make light dumplings, using one pint flour, two teaspoons baking powder, pinch of salt, enough milk to make soft batter, pour in well greased tin and steam one hour over sauerkraut and gravy.

Jefted Knuckle of Veal—Cover a knuckle of veal with cold water, let simmer two hours, then add one bay leaf, six cloves, salt and pepper to season rather highly. Return to fire and let simmer another hour. As long, slow cooking is necessary, a fireless cooker is the ideal thing. Remove all the meat from the bones and chop or cut into small pieces. Boil the liquor down to a quart; to it add two tablespoonsful of sharp vinegar. Place in bowl or mold until firm and very cold. Slice and serve with crisp lettuce and rich dressing. This is excellent and takes the place of both cold meat and salad.

Chicken a la Cordon—With Rice Balls—Clean and dress a plump hen. Remove meat from bones, saving latter for soup. Dip each piece of chicken in olive oil and then in flour. Place in baking dish, season well and add tomatoes, finely ground green peppers and onion. Pour over whole sufficient cold water to cover, add small pieces of butter and cover. Bake slowly in moderate oven four hours, then uncover until brown, remove from oven and over the top place tiny rice balls made by mixing grated cheese and cooked rice and well beaten egg together and forming into balls and frying a delicate brown in deep fat. This with a dessert makes a complete meal and is very nourishing and comparatively inexpensive.

SODA HAS MANY USES—A teaspoonful of soda and eight drops of carbolic acid; put in cup, fill with fat and brown in moderate oven. Put sauerkraut in pork broth and boil one hour. Make light dumplings, using one pint flour, two teaspoons baking powder, pinch of salt, enough milk to make soft batter, pour in well greased tin and steam one hour over sauerkraut and gravy.

Soda is a fine tooth powder. Keep a jar of soda with your toothbrush. After wetting the brush, dip into soda and brush teeth; rinse with water. It preserves teeth and keeps them free from tartar.

Often people could save a trip to the doctor if they would take a half teaspoonful of soda, pour on some peppermint essence, put into the mouth and drink some water to wash the soda down.

For the bath water soda is most excellent. It softens the water and cleanses the skin. Use a tablespoonful (rounding) to every half gallon of water, and more soda when one has been perspiring.

Use a tablespoonful of soda in a quart of water to rinse the bowels when necessary.

In place of baking powder, use one level teaspoon of soda and two level teaspoons of cream of tartar to a pint or two cups of flour.

Soda can be used to soften water for dishwashing; can be used to whiten clothes, same as borax.

When dressing a chicken or any fowl, after the feathers are off and the hair singed with a cloth in warm water, put on a spoonful of soda and rub the chicken and see how it cleanses the skin; then wash in warm water.

There's a Big Difference in Coffee.

A traveling salesman offered me a bargain in Coffee. He said it was a brand his firm was closing out. It had not been a good seller, his firm was going to put in a new line of Coffee, and that I could buy the old brand at several cents less. I told him I was afraid if I bought it I would be closing it out some day at less than I paid for it. I further stated that I would rather stick to

CHASE & SANBORN'S COFFEE for in the five years I have sold this line I never had to close out a single pound of it. In Chase & Sanborn's Coffee you get every cent's worth of value you pay for. We don't have to cut the prices to sell them. The COFFEE IS RIGHT and the PRICE IS RIGHT.
