SOME NEW "MADE IN AMERICA" CREATIONS

Here are some "made in America" costumes. At the left is a riding habit of crash linen trimmed with black and white lines, black satin stock tie and black straw hat. At the right: Navy blue taffeta dress, yellow and black striped corduroy, canary colored fox fur. Hat of yellow and purple mauve plush with white facings.

Household Hints

PREVENTS MOTHS

One of the serious problems confronting the housewife each spring is how to store furs and woolsens as to keep them free from moths while out of use.

Outside of cold storage the following is the simplest, most effective and most economical plan.

First, take each fur or woolen garment, beat it well with a light wooden rod, shake out thoroughly and brush carefully; then hang on a line for several hours, exposed to the sun and air.

After this sun bath, shake and brush again.

Next, secure suitable pasteboard boxes, such as tailors use, and in these lay the garments neatly folded. Then seal up the box carefully by gumming a strip of wrapping paper around the edges so as to leave no cracks.

Tobacco, camphor or cedar chips may be scattered over and between the garments, but these are simply repellents and are of no value if the moth eggs are allowed to remain in the garments.

If the preliminary work of heating, shaking, brushing and exposing to the sun and air and the packing are carefully done, there need be no fear of damage from moths while the garments are stored.

A SEASONABLE HOUSEHOLD HELP

After your housecleaning is finished just look at your leather upholstered furniture, cushions and table covers of leather. This treatment will remove that shabby look and that greasy appearance. Boil one-half pint linseed oil and allow to stand until nearly cold. Then add half pint vinegar, stir till well mixed and bottle. To apply, pour a few drops on soft duster, rub the surface to be renovated and afterward polish with soft cloth.

YOUR GARDEN

If you have some very small, fine plants that can't stand sprinkling, set take a small funnel, hold close to ground between plants and pour water through funnel.

A home made weed puller is made by taking a flat four or five feet long, cut a V shape in one end of it. Just put the V against weed, a little push, and it's out. Fine for large flower beds where you can't reach the weeds by hand.

THE TABLE

Fruit Rice Pudding—One cup rice, two cups water, one cup fruit, one cup fruit juice, half cup or more of sugar, two egg whites. Wash rice carefully. Boil with one cup water five minutes, then drain in sieve and rinse with cold water. Put rice in inside part of double boiler, mix with the fruit juice and one cup water heated until they boil. Cook this until rice is soft, then mix in sugar and suffly beaten whites of eggs. If you have cherries or some other sour fruit you will need more sugar unless the fruit has been canned with a good deal of sugar in the first place.

Let pudding become very cold, then turn it out on a plate and trim with some of the fruit that belongs to the juice. If you want an extra nice dessert, use canned pineapples and serve it with cream. Here are also a few changes for rice pudding: (1) Add two tablespoons coconut to rice custard and sprinkle a little coconut over top of white of egg before you put it into the oven to brown. (2) Use half cup grated maple sugar instead of white sugar, added to the rice. Serve this with grated maple sugar and a pitcher of cream. (3) Add two tablespoons grated chocolate to rice custard and cook until it is melted. When you add chocolate, serve pudding with plain or whipped cream. (4) If you can get nice fresh hickory nuts, add two tablespoons of these, chopped very fine, to the rice custard and sprinkle a few on top of the white of egg before you brown it. These changes will be found very good.

Creamed Cabbage—Chop fine one small cabbage, cook one hour, or until it begins to turn dark, seasoning with salt, pepper and plenty of butter. Before removing from fire sprinkle with one scant tablespoon flour; add cream to make a smooth sauce.

Scientists say the chances of being struck by lightning are four times greater in the country than in the city.

The State of Oregon has two women tailors and fourteen women attorneys.

Emphatic Fire Points

The more air a fire contains the less it will heat up in service. Over-inflation causes injurious vibration of the whole car. Under-inflation hastens breakdown, but gives easy riding. Heavy cars wear the roads down rapidly. Light cars do the same. Drive wheels wear the tires one-fifth faster than front three. There is no certain mileage in any tire. It's the driver's care that counts.

SIZE DOES NOT ALWAYS COUNT

There Have Been Many Men of Small Stature Who Have Made Good.

"You can't tell by the look of a frog how far he can jump."

That old and crude philosophy is as applicable to men as to frogs.

A story in the Star recently told of the arrival at the Union Station of four men; three of them alert, well dressed, impressive looking. The fourth wore a battered old gabardine, frayed at the buttonholes. His manner was timid and retiring. In size he was insignificant.

He was a little great man, Dr. Chas. H. Mayo, one of the greatest surgeons the world has ever known.

John B. Gough, the great platform orator, used to tell a story about himself, how he arrived late at a hall in Glasgow, where he was to speak. The place was packed. He could not get in.

To the crowd wedged into the front entrance he told that he must get in, he was Gough, the speaker. They looked at him, he was an undersized man, and laughed. They imagined that Gough, the great orator, must be a tall man.

He went to a side window, hoping to be able to crowd in there. It was already jammed full, and they, too, laughed when he told them he was John B. Gough.

Finally he went to a rear door and told the man on guard there that he was Gough.

"Yes, five or six other men have already told me that," the watchman said. Gough gave him a shilling to pass him in to the stage and after the lecture the doorkeeper went to him and said:

"Well, Gough, you're like a singed cat; better than you look."

Many men who do great things are small in stature and insignificant looking. Nearly all of them would pass unnoticed in a crowd.

Gen. Sir John French, Field Marshal in command of the British forces in France, "the incomparable Ney" of the British Army, is described by Herbert Corey as "short and squat in stature, a ludicrous figure on horseback, and not at all the sort of man in appearance one expects a cavalry leader to be."

And he is "quiet and unassuming." They are all—the men who do great things.

Lloyd George, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, one of the great men of England, is described as follows in Collier's Weekly:

"A short, stocky man about the size of LaFontaine, there was nothing distinguished in his appearance. He is known as 'the little Welsh lawyer'."

Lord Roberts, a great general, was known as "Little Bob."

Gaby was short and snaky. Lord Nelson, "the greatest sea fighter the world has ever known," was undersized and delicate. Napoleon was "the little Corporal."

Stephen A. Douglas was "the little Giant." Harriman and Jay Gould, winners of railroad money, were under five feet. So is John D. Rockefeller. For that might be extended to Columbus, disproving the popular belief that for a man to be a genius he must be tall. But still the world will keep on looking for a "Big Man City star."

When a girl's efforts sound like a conch shell buzz saw working overtime she is a technician, but what the neighbors call it wouldn't look well in print.

Many a man has let a good job get away from him because he indulged the delusion that no other man was smart enough to do his place.

Glimpses of Married Life

"Really, Mrs. Morton. I told the doctor I was coming over with him tonight to see if your family looked like such a nest of invalids as the number of doctor's calls would indicate. Do you arrange to take turns being sick?"

Mrs. Ellison had not been in the house since the baby came; she had publicly cut Nell at two gatherings, and Nell at two gatherings, and Nell at two gatherings.

She colored and tried to laugh off the speech. "I told Dick before his accident that three such families as ours would make a living for a doctor, but I think the baby is getting better. Mother seems to know just what to do for him; it's more a matter of nursing than medicine."

"I understood she was here; how you must enjoy her." The emphasis on "enjoy" was unmistakable.

"I do not know what we should have done without her," said Nell gratefully. "I'll call her," and she

"Do not disturb her; the doctor will not be long I think," demurred the lady, but Nell apparently did not hear.

"Oh, mother," she whispered, "come in and help me. What Mrs. Ellison is here. I positively am afraid to be alone with her. I feel as helpless as a lamb alone with a wolf."

"Humph!" snorted Mrs. Morton, hanging up her kitchen apron and starting for the living room.

"Good evening, Mrs. Ellison," she said, eyeing her with grim satisfaction. "We haven't met since that afternoon when you took it upon yourself to try to regulate my son's life and show me my duty as a mother."

Mrs. Ellison bowed coldly. "I understand you have had your hands full since then with other people's affairs," continued the imperious old lady.

"A varied interest keeps one young, you know," Mrs. Ellison tossed her head defiantly.

"You will never grow old, then, that must be a great comfort," Mrs. Morton eyed her keenly. "I suppose you know that Mrs. Rudolph brought Nell the news of Dick's accident and stayed to take care of the baby while Nell assisted the doctor. I thought I'd tell you that she did not see Dick. It's best to have the fountain of information properly informed."

It was evident to Nell that the old lady was enjoying the grilling she was giving the caller, and Mrs. Ellison seemed utterly at a loss. She did not know what to say to this fearless enemy.

"The Scotts were here to call today," said Nell, thinking to divert the conversation into pleasant channels.

"I learned of your neighborly misrepresentations to Mrs. Scott," continued Mrs. Morton. "I suppose you thought where you were not known your stories were more apt to be believed, but an antidote was administered and the poison proved harmless."

"Really, you speak in enigmas; I fail to understand you," said Mrs. Ellison.

"I think you can puzzle it out if you put your mind to it." The old eyes were looking at her over her glasses. "You ask Mrs. Scott to explain if you do not understand; she'll do it gladly."

Here the doctor came from the bedroom, and Mrs. Ellison rose, and with a black look at Mrs. Morton and a frosty good-night to Nell, took her

NEW ALARM AND CALL SYSTEM

Californian's invention Made Especially for Hotels.

A fire alarm and call system, invented by G. M. Homan, of Oakland, Cal., is intended especially for hotels. The system is arranged so that if an occupant of a room wishes to be called at any hour, say at 4 a. m., he inserts the plug at that hour on the clock dial in his room. Then when the hour hand of the clock in the office passes over 4 o'clock the circuit closes and the buzzer rings in his room for twenty-five minutes, or until he gets up and pulls the plug. The same action takes place in every other room where the same hour has been plugged. When the call is made in the room the drop on the annunciator board operates and the clerk, after replacing same, makes a note on the register that such a room has received a call, so that no complaint can be brought in.

Fire alarm switches with a red light to designate them are located in various places in the halls, so that in case a fire is discovered the closing of the switch will notify the clerk on which floor the fire is located by means of a bell and a light. He in turn rings a bell and turns on a light in each room by screwing down an aluminum ring on the clock until a contact is made on the dial. If the clock is high on the wall the switch is used. Hence all occupants can be notified at once.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION.

Notwithstanding the fact that we justly "point with pride" to our great American public school system it is unquestionable that there is still a lot of room for improvement in its practical application to the needs of the American youth. When the fact is considered that the average child is born with a very small percentage of the great percentage of our population, it is not surprising that the public schools have been past masters in the preparation of our compulsory school population. The public schools have been equipped for industrial citizenship. Why should not manual training be made a fundamental part of our compulsory educational system? Why should not the work that is done by special schools be commenced—and in many instances completed—in our free public schools? As in these special schools the individual capabilities are ascertained and developed into efficiency, why could not the same methods be followed in our public schools? Many a child who is positively incapable of acquiring "book learning" possesses a capacity for something else that if given a chance to develop by judicious training would change him from a discouraged or indifferent dullard into a self-respecting personality. The intellectually ambitious could be easily directed to intellectual achievements, but the opportunity should be open to all to make the most of what nature and environment permit. Natural capabilities, under proper cultivation, would develop far earlier in life than many realize. Our public schools have not yet attained to an individual basis of opportunity for all, although they are doing a good work for future citizens.

King Solomon asserted that there was nothing new under the sun, and we are prone to think the same assertion holds good even yet, but when we are told by the Detroit Journal that a Massachusetts man has an idea with a piece of newspaper in side of it, and that a Methodist preacher found a reader for the story, we can't help thinking maybe even Solomon would have considered the occurrence a novelty. However, well—the preacher and his wife and the man and the egg and the story are all from Massachusetts and we aren't but we do feel as if after all some of them would have to stay here.

Mr. Frank H. Hart of East Side, said a cable in Monday's Detroit News. An automobile did it but a spy? It was an auto, that will only hurt on the East side and not touch the west side is something new in machinery.

The proper answer would be to revise the calendar by taking off about fifteen days from May and putting it on April.

It's now a question whether Detroit isn't going to be too slow for fast time.

looked much like Woodward avenue

Detroit. There were at one time 25

autos and as many wagons and carriages parked about the business streets and every store was full of customers.

Pontiac people turned their watches ahead one hour Sunday night, thereby complying with the change of time in Detroit to eastern standard time. It was thought the change would obviate

The introduction of jitney buses in

HOW A GERMAN SUBMARINE SIGHTED AND SUNK THE LUSITANIA

Crosses on Lusitania show where torpedoes struck vessel.

The diagram shows the interior of the latest type of submarine now employed by the German navy against the shipping of the allies, and probably the type which sunk the Lusitania. The periscope is seen protruding above the surface, and in the tower officers are getting the exact location of the intended victim. Below the crew is seen preparing torpedoes for the tubes, to be launched as soon as the range of the big liner has been obtained. In the background to the right is seen the ill-fated Lusitania.

AMERICAN CHILDREN DIE ON LUSITANIA

These Philadelphia children were aboard the Lusitania when the vessel was torpedoed. They lost their lives, as did also their parents, who accompanied them.

INTERESTING NEW INVENTIONS

William B. Gage, a telegraph operator of Columbia, Mo., has invented what he calls a "wait-on-yourself" table. It is a ball bearing, revolving affair, turning whenever one of the guests desires. As Gage explains it, when a diner wants the mustard he simply whirls the table around until the mustard is "ferment" him. How the other diners keep track of their own meals during the whirling process is not explained, but Gage had a carpenter build one of the tables for him, and it is in operation now in his home, where he says it is giving satisfaction.

An electrical machine has been invented to reset pins in bowling alleys. The new electrical pin boy will reset the pins in a fraction of a second. An electric motor, controlled by magnets, does the work.

A camera small enough to be swallowed to photograph the interior of the stomach has been invented by a Danish surgeon.

A recently patented stairway for reaching seldom used portions of buildings folds into a ceiling and is hidden by a panel when not in use.

Unbreakable telephone mouthpieces and receivers are being made of steel around which the rubber insulator is forced through under high pressure.

A lunch pail with a lamp in the bottom by which the contents can be heated has been patented by a Pennsylvania inventor.

Two Oregon inventors have patented a garment for cold weather wear that includes coat, hood, mittens and slippers, all of which are filled with electric wires supplied with current from a storage battery to warm the wearer.

To guide a key to a keyhole in the dark there has been patented a V-shaped strip of metal to be fastened to a door, with the point surrounding the hole.

A new dustpan that a woman has patented has the handle on one side, and in front a guard plate over which the dust is brushed into a pocket section.

A ladder consisting of a single rod, bent to form hand and foot holds, has recently been invented by a New York man.

For the blind there has been invented a watch with the hours marked by raised dots and dashes that can be read by the sense of touch.

The times of a recently invented fork are diamond shaped, instead of flat. The inventor claims that this fork can be much more easily cleaned.

A phonograph is built into a new alarm clock to awaken a sleeper by playing his favorite tune instead of ringing a bell.

After a wild duck has been shot at several times it becomes suspicious. If it doubts the genuineness of ducks floating on the water it will fly away. The latest kind of decoy is one which gives forth a lifelike quack at regular intervals and also swims around slowly. This is so cleverly done that it is said the wisest duck "falls for it." Both the "quack" and the propulsion of the dummy duck are operated by a clockwork motor inside the decoy.

To answer the demand for a cheap and serviceable sled for youngsters, one made of wire has recently been brought out. To make a sled of wood requires considerable material of rather high grade, and it must be painted and varnished, which adds to the cost. A sled made of wrought iron or steel is heavy, which is undesirable. The sled of wire offers lightness and economy and is strong.

To insure the owner of a private Chevrolet kept in a barber shop that the only way there has been in vented a paper cap to cover it, which can not be removed without breaking a seal.

A Kansas man has invented a knife that will cut grapes four or five times as fast as the ordinary kind.

A griddle hung in the center of a room is patented. It is so made that it may be turned over to bake a cake on both sides.

A resident of Roscoe, N. Y., has invented what he claims is a miniature proof automobile tire and is said to have recently received $100,000 for the patent. The inventor is firm in the belief that he has solved the tire problem and that his discovery will eventually make him a millionaire.

A resident of Philadelphia, Pa., has patented a new apparatus for filing saws the teeth of the saws are "set" by a blow delivered by an automatic hammer which is so arranged as to be operated by the foot of the operator, leaving both hands free to handle the saw. The device is attached to the side of a barn or shed.

A portable metal roof made in sections, has been patented by a Kansas man for protecting hay stacks from rain.

A Texas inventor's hair drying brush that is heated by electricity is provided with a scheme to prevent it burning the scalp.

To avoid the use of towels in public places, there has been invented a device in which a person's hands are dried with a current of electrically heated air.

Don't cultivate the potatoes when out in bloom, or coming out, unless you want a lot of stunted little tubers. Cultivate them before they get that big, and hoe them clean of weeds.

Kerosene will soften boots and shoes that have been hardened by water and makes them as pliable as new.

The income tax doesn't bother the man whose principal holdings consist of castles in the air.

SUBMARINE CAPTAIN MAKES RECORD TRIP

Lieut. Withers.

Lieut. Thomas Withers, command of the T-1 and also in command of submarine division, left week made a record breaking trip from Key West to New York. The distance traversed without stop was over 1,200 knots, a feat never before accomplished by an American submarine.

AUTO HORN SAVES HIM FROM MOUNTAIN LIONS

He Thought His Last Hour Had Come but Luckily He Had the "Honk-Honk" Weapon.

Sacramento, Cal.—Charles Jackson, driver of the mail stage between Macksville, Cal., and Gardnerville, Nev., has found a new use for his automobile horn. As a weapon against attacks by mountain lions Jackson says an automobile horn has no equal, and Jackson is in a position to know.

While driving to Gardnerville the other day Jackson was confronted by two mountain lions, made savage by heavy snows and the resultant lack of food. The brutes disputed the right of way with Jackson, who was unarmed. The horses took fright and became almost unmanageable.

"I thought my last moment had come," said Jackson. "The lions were preparing to leap upon me or the horses and that would have been the end of us both. I yelled, cursed and prayed at the top of my voice, but the lions were not a bit scared. They came creeping toward me and the frightened, shivering team."

"Suddenly I remembered I had a good noise producer in a package under the wagon seat. It was an automobile horn I was bringing in for the postmaster. I grabbed that horn and pressed the bulb as hard as I could. The honk-honk of that horn did more than all my yelling, for the lions turned tail and ran down the hill as though pursued by a thousand demons."

"I'll either carry a gun or an auto horn on the rest of my trips this winter," added Jackson.

Before turning oyster soup into the tureen put into the dish a heaping tablespoonful of finely minced celery and half as much chopped parsley. The flavor of the soup will be much enhanced.

A mother is always seeking a good match for her daughter—yet a good match is merely a cheap stick with a head on one end of it.

Some men do not think they are being treated right unless you say to them: "What are you going to have?"

Rich relatives are used by poor men as objects at which they can point with pride and expectancy.

"They say Max's newly acquired wealth has gone to her head."

"Yes, she's wearing nothing but imported millinery!"

Baldness Cured!

He reads the promises of "hair tonic" makers eagerly, tries many of them and is disappointed. Few cases have ever been helped when the hair starts to go. The logical way to overcome baldness is to have a natural topcoat, which duplicates nature itself. Don't be bald and look old, but see me today for convincing proof of what I do for you.

TESTED AND PROVEN

There Is a Heap of Saloce in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation.

For months many readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done. What other remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit?

Mrs. John C. Aubrey, Fifth St., Pontiac, Mich., says: "A dull, nagging pain in my back annoyed me for six years. I paid little attention to it at first, but it kept getting worse until I saw that something had to be done or trouble would follow. I could see after I used the first box of Doan's Kidney Pills that the pains in my back were getting less and I got another box. By the time I had taken this, I was completely cured. I have not felt the trouble since."

A DANDY POWER ENGINE

That Is Needed Everywhere—Sold at the Right Price

There is growing demand for the all-around power engine that can be depended upon for efficiency, power and economy, as well as simplicity in running. Prices heretofore on the high grade power engines have been high, but the Decker & Becker Co., 10 Jefferson avenue, W. Detroit, Mich., are offering a four horse power engine complete at $65.00 that has every improvement and which is a wonder at the price asked. It has 4 1/2 inch bore, 6 1/2 inch stroke, 26 inch fly wheel, cylinder head is completely water jacketed, the base is strong and rigid, weight 700 pounds. This is but one of many models offered by the above concern. Those interested in power engines should drop a postal for quotations and full descriptions of any horse power required. Prices subject to advance so do not delay.

A NEW KIND OF STORE

In the whole world there is not another store like The Parlan Machine Company of 122 Fifth Ave. Boulevard, Detroit, Mich. Mr. Parlan, this is truly your big store.

The huge plant and mammoth warehouses are literally crowded to the roof with the most wonderful bargains by automobile repair parts, accessories and supplies, all filling a floor space of over 100,000 square feet.

Mr. Alfred O. Dink, the President of this progressive company, last week bought the entire stock of a large lot of four automobile concerns, and flung them in for good cash. These recent acquisitions mark the sixtieth anniversary of the company taken over by The Parlan Machine Co., making it the largest and most complete automobile repair parts accessory and supply house in the entire world. Buying and selling for cash enables them to quote prices for service and repair parts 50 percent below manufacturers' quotations. All middlemen's profits are eliminated and the consumer gets all benefits derived therefrom.

The company will read free upon request a large catalogue starting with the name of the parts they have to offer on repair parts and accessories for all makes of cars.

For the benefit of rural patrons a large and complete mail order department is maintained, and mail orders will receive the same careful attention as if a personal call to the factory was made.

VISIT THE SPEEDWAY

Visitors at the grounds of the Detroit Motor Speedway will be welcomed. Automobileists may drive in at the Sibley avenue entrance at the nearest gate to West Jefferson avenue and in fairly dry weather the dirt road extending around the grounds inside the track enclosure will be found good. About 400 men are at work

W. J. KASIK, HAIR SPECIALIST

The above is the picture of a man who overcomes baldness and who has a reputation on country wide for best results. Mr. Kasik states that his natural hair toupees are not a mark of vanity, but no man wishes to appear older than he is. Bald heads can be restored to natural, youthful appearance, colds overcome, and a toupee is a toilet necessity demanded by men who appreciate good looks, health and appearance. Mr. Kasik is a master in hair goods of all kinds. Men and women desiring hair goods will do well to come and see him at his office at 301 Woodward Bldg., corner Clifford and Woodward avenue, Detroit. All work is fully guaranteed to satisfy the most particular persons.

HAVE PUT THE "WAY" IN SPEEDWAY

In less than two months these men have shown Detroit that a speedway on the western edge of the city near Wyandotte is a reality and not a "dream." Houses for a army of laborers to erect and build in have been erected, sheds for a hundred teams of horses and trucks have been built and what is more to the point, the foundation work on the 2 1/2 mile concrete course is nearly a third completed. The big Labor Day 500 mile open-wheel race for a purse of $25,000 should make Detroit the center of the automobile racing world.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

(By the Pastor.)

Sunday morning service will be in honor of the Men's Bible Class. The men of this class will occupy seats in the body of the church, and the officers will be seated upon the platform. The sermon will be in the interest of the men of our church and community. The subject will be "Possession—A Manly Trait and The Church's Need." Sunday will be known as Father's Day in the churches of the village.

At the evening service we will welcome the members of the G. A. R. and Relief Corps. Subject, "A Free Nation in an Enslaved World." This will be a union service, and we gladly welcome the members of the other churches in town to meet with us.

May has continued to be a good month for us in our church work. Last Sunday was stormy but the spirit of our people was cool. The evening attendance was certainly an evidence of the interest and loyalty of the Northville Methodist folks. Let us rally for the best Sunday so far in May. Make every Sunday a hale better than the one preceding.

The Epworth League convention is held this week Friday in Wyandotte. Delegates to the number of 25 or more are going. The Queen Esthers will meet with the Plymouth Queer Esthers this week Friday. Take the 6:30 car out of Northville.

Sunday morning, May 30, will be observed as Golden Age Day. If you know of any old people, who can not get to church, but who can come by automobile, please notify the pastor as soon as possible.
