ASKS RECEIVER

MOVIE PICTURE MAKERS AT NEW HUDSON QUIT BIZ.

CHICAGO MAX ROSS, DECLARES VENTURE IS CLOSED UP.

Oliver Labadie has started a court action against Max R. Ross and Harry Ross, in which he asks the appointment of a receiver for the Ross-Labadie Motion Picture company, which has a camp established at Kent lake, near New Hudson, this county, and a staff of movie actors numbering 20. According to Labadie's contention, Max R. Ross, of Chicago, came to the camp August 6, seized the books, paid off the actors and declared the venture closed.—Pontiac Gazette

BABY ERWIN PAUL WHITE DIED LAST SATURDAY.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. White and family have the sincere sympathy of many friends because of the severe affliction which has befallen them in the loss of their little son, Erwin Paul, who died Saturday morning, August 13, of infantile paralysis, after a brief illness. The little boy, one and one-half years old, much younger than any of his brothers and sisters, was an exceptionally bright and beautiful child, the idol of the entire family. The funeral services were held from the home Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. F. A. Brass. The little one was laid away in the Yerkes cemetery amid a profusion of lovely blossoms that gave abundant, silent testimony to the desire of neighbors and friends to express their sorrow and sympathy for the bereaved family.

God let us keep him for a little while—Perchance to make full strong the bonds of love—That draw us toward the home where angels smile—To welcome him to heavenly care above.

For such fair buds, this earth too soon—reverted lies—For rarest, perfect blossoming to be—But in the garden of God's Paradise—Shall come the sweet unfolding—full and free.

—D. F. H.

M. E. LADIES WILL GIVE ENTERTAINMENT.

The July and August committee of the Ladies' Aid society will give an entertainment in the M. E. church, at 7.30 o'clock, Monday evening, August 23. A very pleasing program has been prepared. Miss Clark of Spokane, Wash., is a very fine pianist and Miss Peters of Wayne comes highly recommended as a reader. Also others on the program are worthy of praise. Admission, 15 cts.

GAS HERE BY FALL.

The pipes for the Northville end of the new gas plant has arrived and work will be commenced toward digging and laying piping from Plymouth to Northville next week. Over at Plymouth service pipes are being laid and gas will soon be turned on. Manager Fox and President Harmon say the work will be rapidly pushed toward completion here and they expect Northville people will be served this fall.

KENYON-PATTERSON.

Miss Blanche Patterson of Caro and John Kenyon of Detroit were united in marriage at the Methodist church Tuesday morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. M. Pierce at 11 o'clock in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom.

After the services the guests repaired to the home of the groom's parents on Dunlap street where a wedding breakfast was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon left amid a shower of good wishes for a trip to Hamilton and Kingston, Ont. They will be at home to their friends on VanCourt avenue, Detroit, after September 15.

The groom is in the employ of the Mutual Benefit Insurance Co., of Detroit, having lived in Northville most of his life previous to taking up this position. Miss Patterson had frequently visited here and won many friends.

All the bodies have been removed from the old Presbyterian cemetery in the village. Lights will be placed and it is the intention of the council to make a public park of the premises.—Plymouth Mail.

New York people pay five cents a dozen more for white-shelled eggs than for brown ones. They don't eat the shells, either. Why do they do it, then? Oh, just because the grocer tells 'em the white ones are better.—Pontiac Press-Gazette

About thirty feet of Pere Marquette track midway between here and Wyom was washed out in Thursday afternoon's downpour. The afternoon train north was held up until it could be repaired, and went through here about 5:30.—Milford Times.

Wayne is planning on entertaining her largest crowds August 26 and 27, the dates for the second annual homecoming. Members of the committees who have been circulating posters and programs throughout all the towns and country for miles around report that everywhere they find the people eager to get to Wayne for the two big days which will be held under the auspices of Nankin lodge, 336, I. O. O. E.—Wayne Weekly.

It was a sad little "Italy" on Monday night when Frank Mecho, 17, member of a crew of M. C. R. R. workers, camped near Rudd's Mill, died from mushroom poisoning. Frank with two companions, John Simone and Toni Reichel, were taken severely ill last week Thursday, but no physician was called for a lapse of 24 hours. Finally Drs. Truesdell and Hathaway were called, the former since remaining in active charge of the case and who states that it is probable the companions of Mecho will recover.—Orion Review.

CARD OF THANKS.

We sincerely thank the many friends who have helped us in our time of sorrow with kind assistance, gifts of beautiful flowers and the furnishing of automobiles.

WEEK'S CALENDAR

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

(By the Pastor.)

In the morning the pastor will talk to the good people of the village. We cordially invite all good people. All good citizens may come. We look for a large congregation for there are many good people in Northville.

In the evening we shall not look for a very large house as we desire to talk to bad people, and this class is greatly in the minority. But in order to help make up the crowd come along if you are not very bad. It will help the average. If you are a bad church member you will feel quite at home in this crowd, and you will be treated just like the bad outsider for your chances are no better. If you are one of the town knucklers there will be something for you.

Ladies' aid in church parlors Wednesday, the twenty-fifth.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

(By the Pastor.)

The annual mission festival will be celebrated next Sunday. Services at ten o'clock in the morning and at two o'clock in the afternoon, standard time. Both services will be German. Meals will be served free of charge to all, in the school house adjoining the church.

The pastor of the congregation will deliver the morning address; Rev. Strason from Plymouth will preach in the afternoon. Every German welcome.

A week from next Sunday, August 29, the sister church at Clarenceville will hold their annual missionary outing. There will then be no services in our church at Northville. As our brethren from Clarenceville will visit us next Sunday, so we will reciprocate the call a week hence.

The conversation had turned to the many men who had met success. "There for instance," said one man, pointing down the street, goes a man who began life in poverty, and now lives on the fat of the land." "Where?" looked "Yes I know how," he replied. "He's an agent for an anti-rail concern."—Judge.

By their successful operations in the Sea of Marmara the British submarines have proved their worth. One of the sharpest thorns in the side of the Turks is the "E 11."

Among the interesting passages in John Hay's war time diary, printed in Harper's Magazine, is Hay's vivid account of the President's visit to Gettysburg and the delivery of the famous Gettysburg address:

"On our train were the President, Seward, Fisher, and Blair, Nicolay and myself, Sherman and Admiral Baynard, Bullard and Captain Isaacs, and Lieutenant Martinez; Cora and Mrs. Wise; Wynne MacVeagh, McDougall, of Canada, and one or two others. We had a pleasant sort of a trip. At Baltimore Schenck's staff joined us."

"Just before we arrived at Gettysburg the President got into a little talk with MacVeagh about Missouri affairs. MacVeagh talked radicalism until he learned he was talking recklessly.

"At Gettysburg the President went to Mr. Will's, who expected him, and our party broke like a drop of quicksilver spilled. MacVeagh, young Stanton and I foraged around for a while, got some oysters, then some supper, and finally, loafing round to the court house, where Lamon was holding a meeting of marshals, we found Forney, and went around to his place, Mr. Fehnestock's, and drank a little whiskey with him. He had been drinking a good deal during the day, and was getting to feel a little ugly and dangerous. He was particularly bitter on Montgomery Blair. MacVeagh was telling him that he pitched into the Tycoon coming up and told him some truths. He said the President got a good deal of that, from time to time, and needed it.

"We went out after a while, following the music to hear the serenades. The President appeared at the door, said half a dozen words meaning nothing, and went in. Seward, who was staying around the corner at Harper's, was called out and spoke so indistinctly that I did not hear a word of what he was saying. Forney and MacVeagh were still growling about Blair. We went back to Forney's room, having picked up Nicolay, and drank more whiskey. Nicolay sang his little song of "The Three Thieves," and we then sang "John Brown." At last we proposed that Forney should make a speech, and two or three started out *** to get a band to serenade him. I stayed with him, so did Stanton and MacVeagh. He still growled, quietly, and I thought it was going to do something important."

"Then follows an account of the serenade and of the bibulous Forney's speech, in which in tipsy fashion, he mingled drollery and gravity. When the crowd greeted him noisily he said:

"My friends, these are the first hearty cheers I have heard tonight. You gave no such cheers to your President down the street. Do you know what you owe to that great man? You owe your country—you owe your name as American citizens." Mr. Hay adds:

"W. MacVeagh made a most touching and beautiful speech of five minutes, and Judge Stevenson, of Pennsylvania, spoke effectively and acceptably to the people. That speech (of Forney's) must not be written out yet," says Young as we went upstairs. "He will see further about it when he gets sober." We sang 'John Brown' and went home."

"Quite Shakespearian is this low-comedy interlude, coming just before the stately scene of consecration. Perhaps, after all, nature sometimes emulates Shakespeare.

"In the morning (of the 19th, Hay continues) I got a heast and rode out with the President and suite to the cemetery in the procession. The procession formed itself in an enormous sort of way and moved out with very little help from anybody, and after a little delay Mr Everett took his place on the stand, and Mr. Jackson made a prayer which thought it was an oration, and Mr. Everett spoke as he always does—perfectly, and the President, in a firm, free way, with more grace than is his wont, said his half-dozen lines of consecration, and the music vaulted, and we went home through the crowded and cheering streets."

Washington Legal Expressions

Legal education is paramount in Washington, and court vernacular is common. There are many clerks there who take a law course in college as a diversion, and more lawyers are graduated per capita in the national capital than any other city in the country. The law course is especially attractive because the distinguished members of the Supreme Court deliver lectures from time to time. Justice Brewer and Justice Harlan were very popular with their law classes and legal education is so prevalent that even in drawing room-conversation young ladies cautiously state that "In my judgment this procedure should be so and so," or "Whereas the parties differed, the facts were set forth in this manner," and the young swain insists on her direct answer "Yes or no" when the proposal of marriage is made, leap year or otherwise. At a quick lunch you may hear the expression, "Give me a potato, or potatoes, with the peelings attached thereto." "In detail state to the best of your knowledge and belief the component parts of the hash as set forth." When a lawyer reads a document the lines are perused by words, differentiating the various shades of meaning with all the adjectives known attached so that there may not be any loopholes for an extra word. Many a student dreams of the time when he may come back to the capital a full-fledged lawmaker, insisting with the confidence and exuberance of youth that he can make better laws than those over which he was compelled to pore while a student in Washington—not to except B'ckstone or any other authorities cited—"Affairs at Washington," Joe Mitchell Chaplin, in National Magazine.

Asa's Good Reign.

Lesson Text—II Chron. 15:1-15.
Golden Text—Draw nigh to God and he will draw nigh to you. James 4:8

Skeptics who formerly laughed at the record of II Chron 14:9 or at the reputed size of Xerxes' army are painfully silent in the face of the present European struggle where armies are reckoned by the millions. Abijah, Rehoboam's successor, easily defeated Jeroboam (ch. 13:13-20) because he "relied upon the Lord," and "Asa his son reigned in his stead."

1. Righteousness Exhorted, vv. 1-7. Returning from his wonderful victory over Zerah the Ethiopian, Asa is met over Zerub the Euphrates, Asa is associated by the spirit-anointed prophet, Elisha (Zachariah (v. 1). This man was taken into possession of by the spirit of God (II Pet 1:21; Num. 24:2; Judges 3:10; II Tim. 3:16). Thus it was that he commanded even the king, "Hear ye me" (v. 2). His first words were encouraging ones. Jehovah is with you," and the proof of his word was the victory Asa had just won (I Chron. 22:8; Rom. 8:31, Deut-20:1). That victory was a demonstration it involved an obligation and had a lesson for the king as well. viz. that if he had and his people would seek Jehovah they would find him but if they forgot him "he will forsake you." The words recorded in verse three were a fearful indictment ("without the true God" Job 2:32) and they are a sad gestive picture of this age that is so sadly in need of a "teaching priest" and is so constantly acting as though "without law" or (be it a law unto itself) that God was merciful (178-181-8 117-2), and in that there is nothing was working his good will. Thus it came that "in their green trouble" (i. e.) they sought Jehovah and "in his found of them" (see feeling like there was "no peace, and great vexations" also (Isa. 48-22)). Our Lord has prophesied even greater calamities in the last days of this apostasy (Matt. 24.6, 7) and the present apostasy in Europe can be largely traced to apostasy and to the treatment of God's people Israel.

II. Righteousness Executed, vv. 8-15. (1) The King's Part, vv. 8, 9. As I had shown himself worthy of the special revelation from God (a) he conduct (14:2, 3, 5) (b) his words of command and exhortation (14:4); (c) his care for and service in behalf of others (14:60); (d) his reliance upon and zeal of God (14:11). Verse eight is suggestive of the way he received this revelation: (a) he "took courage"—a word of commendation will revive any weary heart. (b) He "put away the abominations," most thoroughly, which his great-grandfather Solomon had brought into Israel, and in accordance with the word of God (Deut. 7:5). There are many strange altars in our land today, forms of religion that stand not the test of God's word and which not alone deceive the very elect, but are sweeping into their vortex the sons and daughters of the saints of God. Anything, no matter how esthetic or morally elevating or professedly religious, that measures not according to this word, should be torn down. (c) But Asa was destructive as well as destructive for he built again "the altar of Jehovah."

The People's Part, vv. 10-15.
(a) They obeyed and gathered together at Jerusalem, at the proper time and the place. (b) They offered sacrifice 'unto the Lord.' Here-fore their offerings had been to their selfishness or to 'strange gods.' Their gift was a costly one and the Lord's treasury is always a standard whereby to measure the work of grace in the hearts of his people. (c) They made another covenant 'to seek the Lord.' (Ps. 75: 3, 4. Amos 5: 1, 6.) Those who seek him and him (v. 14: 2) to seek him is pleasant to him but to seek him as their 'faith' all their soul. 'We find God in Christ.' (John 14: 9; 1 John 5: 20.) Whosoever ought him not were punished even so will those be who now turn from him (John 16: 8, 9; Matt. 25: 12). (d) They gave public testimony of their determination (v. 14). Love protestations are not always permanent.

Conclusion. Though Asa had a parental handicap (1 Kings 15:14) and lived in a corrupt court still he yielded to the teaching of God's word and therefore wrought a great reformation.

Recognizing the source of power in his own life Asa taught the people the word of God to seek God and to keep his commandments.

And as reformation was in reality religious revival and such is the only kind that has any permanency.

In the time of testing Axi (1) went to God for help; (2) pleaded the righteousness of God and the honor of his name; (3) went out to fight, trusting in God.

Revels brights and experiences bless us evermore a new light shinin in our dark life, the level of life be higher and the ideals of men and o communities are more noble and ex orted

No one can work his best without enthusiasm and revivals provide both inspiration and enthusiasm.

Pedro Lascurain, who was foreign-minister in the last established government of Mexico, is regarded at Washington as the best man for the work of restoring order and establishing a constitution in the war-torn republic. ## The Northville Record.

Published by NEAL PRINTING CO.

PRINTERS AND THE PARCEL POST

As a public utility the parcel post service has passed the "infant industry" stage. Its practical possibilities have been fully demonstrated, as the recent enlargement of its scope in including larger packages under present rates indicates. Its advantages should now be open to all classes of producers on an equal basis, and any unjust discrimination done away with. For instance, the rates governing the products of the job departments of the newspapers are at present decidedly unfair.

Certain kinds of printed matter enjoy the parcel post rates, but circulars, sale bills, festival bills and posters of any kind, sale cards, business cards, circular letters and the like are not permitted at parcel post rates unless the packages weigh more than four pounds. Weighing less, it costs at the rate of a cent for each two ounces. A package of the above weighing say three and a half pounds, will cost 28 cents to send. While the sender pays the postage at the start, yet it is charged up to the customer, therefore this provision of the postal law affects a large number of people who are engaged in various occupations. It is not for the printer alone that a change is desired, as the foregoing will convince.

If you desire to ship a piece of iron, bricks, farm or factory products a three-pound package can be shipped 150 miles for seven cents.

It is now time for the printers to protest, and they are doing so.

HALF-FOUR CARS DETROIT TO REDFORD.

Redford and way points are being given half-hour service, the half-hour car going only to Grand Lawn. However it seems that too many Redford people persist in coming home from Detroit, on the Northville line car, a condition which in no way relieves the crowding of the latter cars, as was intended. The D. V. R. proprietors intimate that if Redfordites do not take advantage of the half-hour cars they will be abandoned and run as double leaders at the even hours.

Among the amusing incidents at Park island in connection with the pig catching was a remark by a resort boy when they were trying to revive the pig on the shore that they had better send for the palmator.

Looks as if the incident wasn't very amusing for the pig, however.

Last week a Belleville woman who was helping to secure the hay crop while the sun shone for a few hours, fell from the load and broke her arm. Well, if women will "putt in" and try to crowd men out of their jobs—etc., etc.

Whatever may be said of the unpleasant generosity of Jupiter Pluvius this summer, it takes that mythological gentleman to effectively squelch the dust nuisance, anyway.

This season is peculiarly favorable to the mushroom family—and incidentally to the undertaking business, by logical sequence.

We would suggest mushrooms as another deadly agent for killing off the population in Europe.

Might almost call it a too much hyphenated situation—that Uncle Sam is up against these days.

Evidently a correspondence school for mushroom-eaters should be at once established.

A little sunshine now and then, is relished (or would be) by the dampest men.

"THEY SAY."

"They say!"—oh, well, suppose they do.

But can they prove the story true? Why count yourself among the "they"? Who whisper what they dare not say? Suspicion may arise from naught. But malice, envy, want of thought.

"They say!"—but why the tale rehearse, And help to make the matter worse? No good can possibly accrue From telling what may be untrue, And 's it not a nobler plan To speak of all the best you can?

"They say!"—well, if it should be so, Why need you tell the tale of woe? Will it the bitter wrong redress, Or make one pang of sorrow less Will it the erring one restore, Henceforth to "go and sin no more?"

"They say!"—Oh, pause and look within, See how thy heart inclines to sin; And least in dark temptation's hour Thou, too, shouldst sink beneath its power. Pity the frail, weep o'er their fall, But speak of good or not at all! —The Pathfinder.

BOY SCOUTS WILL HAVE FIELD DAY AT STATE FAIR

Michigan Youths Will Gather at Detroit.

One of the big features of the Michigan State Fair, Sept. 6 to 15, will be the grand review and field day of the Michigan division of the Boy Scouts of America to be held at the Fair grounds Friday and Saturday, Sept. 10 and 11. Boy scouts from Lansing, Bay City, Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Detroit, Pontiac, Mount Clemens, Flint and other Michigan cities will be attracted to the Fair grounds at Detroit to participate in the various contests.

The boy scouts will arrive in Detroit Friday morning and will go directly to the State Fair grounds, where they will camp in tents.

Prizes will be offered by the State Fair, and the boy scouts are already planning for the big event. The program includes a rally of troops and review, building of lean to, each team to be composed of eight members, with stability, workmanship, neatness of structure and lashing and time of building only to be considered; fire by friction contest, awards to be made to boy scout producing flame in shortest time; first aid (team of six and three patients), test, nearest application and accuracy of method used to be considered as well as speed; wall scaling, exhibition events by various troops and signaling.

In the first aid contest there are a series of five events, and the scouts are to be judged on the whole series. In the wall scaling contest the teams are to be composed of eight members each, and the start and finish points are to be ten yards respectively on each side of the wall. The height of the wall is to be nine feet. Time only is to be considered.

In the signaling event each team is to have four members, both stations sending and receiving. The international Morse code is to be used. Accuracy and time are to be considered.

The boy scouts will have wireless apparatus at the Fair grounds and will demonstrate the manner in which messages are sent. Messages will be received from and sent to boy scouts in Ann Arbor and Mount Clemens.

One of the national directors of the Boy Scouts of America will have direct charge of the grand review and field day and will be assisted by scout masters from various Michigan cities. Actively interested in the success of the big gathering of the Michigan boy scouts is Dr. J. H. Sawyer, field secretary of the Detroit Y. M. C. A.

less appreciated because of the fact the new member of the family is a

On account of the addition made to the shelving at the Library by converting the gallery into a reference room, an entire re-shelving and remarking of the books will be necessary. As there are now over 4,000 volumes in the library this means a large expenditure of time and work for the members of the board. In order to accomplish it, the books must all be called in, and none—except those on the seven-day list are to be given out for the next two Saturdays, but it is earnestly requested that all books be returned. For each of the two weeks following the re-arrangement, each patron will have the privilege of drawing an extra book to make up for the two missed.

those days were also devoid of dis-

Ridicule.
It is an immense blessing to be perfectly callous to ridicule; or, which comes to the same thing, to be conscious thoroughly that what we have in us of noble and delicate is not ridiculous to any but fools, and that, if fools will laugh, wise men will do well to let them.—Doctor Arnold.

Taking Notice.
"Sitting up in four days, eh?"
"Yap." "This is rapid progress. The doctor said it would be three weeks before you could sit up and take notice." "But he hasn't seen my pretty nurse."

NEW HEAD OF FRENCH AT DARDANELLES

General Serrail.

The French seem to be having difficulty in finding the right man to head their expeditionary force at the Dardanelles. At first General d'Amade was chosen for this position. After his failure he was succeeded by General H. J. E. Gouraud. Now Gouraud has been asked to step aside and make way for General Serrail, who has been named commander-in-chief of the French army of the orient.

STATE NEWS

WATCH YOUR ICE CREAM, WARNS HEALTH BOARD

Fact It's Frozen No Guarantee It's Free of Germs.

Lansing, Mich.—Watch your ice cream and your ice cream is a warning sent out by the state board of health. Just because it is frozen is no sign that it is clean and free from bacteria and disease-carrying germs. Under the impression that warm weather is at hand, the Michigan state board sends out the following warning:

"That ice cream may be positively dirty never enters the minds of most people who are hot and thirsty and think they need refreshing. That it is frozen seems to be the only requisite. As a matter of fact, ice cream in the average town is made of the very poorest quality of cream or milk. It is made usually in cellars or in other insanitary places and is handled with the greatest lack of cleanliness. It is often refrozen and sold. Then there is the question of flavoring and coloring matters. Upon investigation these have often been found to be impure and injurious chemicals, and not fruit juices as supposed."

OVER 700 CHILDREN SENT TO INSTITUTIONS

County Agents Dealt With 6,347 Cases Last Year.

Lansing, Mich.—That county agents had considerable to do during the last year is shown by the report of the state board of corrections and charities just issued, and while Wayne county is not included in the compilation, it is shown that aside from this county and Keweenaw, all not reporting, 6,347 children, delinquents and dependents, were dealt with by the various county agents. 3,732 being boys and 2,615 girls. Of this number 69 were committed to the industrial school for boys at Lansing, 60 girls to the Adriatic school, 232 children to the Coldwater school, 71 to the University hospital at Ann Arbor and 131 to various private institutions.

Of the 571 placed on probation, but 35 were afterward committed to state institutions and seven to private institutions, leaving out the theory that these placed on probation for the most part made good.

FALLS FOR ANCIENT SWINDLER: OUT $5

Hillsdale, Mich.—While all the clerks were absent except Miss Carmen Her, two young men entered Corv's grocery store at Hillsdale, asking for cigars, and giving in exchange a $10 bill. She changed this, giving them a $5 bill and the rest in silver. One of them then asked her to give him another $5 bill for five ones, which she did, handing him the bill before receiving the five ones. He

Glimpses of Married Life

"Where she could have gone in the few seconds it took me to slip on my kimono and slippers is beyond me." Olive sat on Jo Parsons' porch relating her exciting experience with the ghostly visitor who tried to frighten her into giving up marrying the doctor.

"Do you know my theory?" Jo leaned forward eagerly in her chair. "I think the woman has a hiding place near there where she secretes herself to watch and listen. She fled to that, and watched the searchers in their quest of her."

"It looks reasonable," mused Olive. "After we quieted down and went to bed she crept out. I hope she got under cover before the terrible thunderstorm came in. I'd hate to think of any human being abroad in that."

"Here comes Roger," exclaimed Jo. "Stay and have dinner with us, Olive, and tell him about your ghost. He's so hard headed I would like to know his opinion. I'll run and dish the dinner." Jo disappeared, waving her hand at her husband as he came up the walk.

"How are you, Miss Dunn?" Parsons extended his hand as he came up on the porch. "That thunderstorm last night washed the air and cooled us off in great shape." He puth's hat on a rack in the hall and seated himself in the rocker vacated by his wife.

"There's quite an excitement in town," he began, leaning back luxuriously and crossing his knees. "I did not know Fairport ever indulged in excitement." Olive swayed softly back and forth in the porch swing.

"Well, a genuine ghost would stir most any place. Fairport is alive enough to get a thrill over that."

"A ghost?" Olive sat up alert. "Tell me about it."

"Parsons started a moment in surprise at her sudden interest. "Yes, a ghost; the real article this time. Old Gorsley, you know of our hermit who lives in a cave by the river, don't you? He flees human beings as he would the plague. Olive nodded. "Well, he has been jarred out of his seclusion by a visit from a spirit."

"When?" breathed Olive. "Last night in that terrible storm. I don't know why ghosts should mind a ducking, but I had always supposed they kept their beds in storms," Parsons chuckled. "Today old Gorsley came into town and asked the marshal if anyone was missing. The comfortable old soul began to feel himself to see if he was all there, while Gorsley went on to relate that during the height of the storm he had heard a wild ceiling, and screaming accompanied by a knocking on his door. That anyone should knock on his door at all was terrifying enough. It hasn't happened for fifty years; but on such a night! He looked out of his peephole of a window and a ghostly figure was standing there wringing its hands and beseeching him to open his door. Gorsley covered his face with his hands and rushed away to hide in his bed, thinking his hour had come. The knocking continued some minutes, accompanied by the crying. Then all was still. The old fellow stole again to his window and saw the figure going off through the woods toward the river. When he thought the thing over, it occurred to him that ghosts could enter closed doors, and he began to be afraid he had refused to give a human being shelter in a storm. The marshal assured him our population was intact, as far as he knew, and the old fellow smiled away comforted. He's a kind-hearted old curmudgeon."

"Dinner is served," said Mrs. Parsons, appearing in the door. "We have peas from our own garden for the first time today. I'm glad you're here to enjoy them, Olive."

MOTHERS' PENSIONS NUMBERED 1,099

Wayne Fed. With Delta Second, Under First Year of New Law

Lansing, Mich.—From August 11, 1913, to June 30, 1914, a total of 1,511 petitions were filed under the so-called mothers' pension act of which number 1,099 were granted which applied to 3,211 children, with a total amount paid in advances amounting to $25,541.91. Of this number Wayne county had 274 petitions for assistance filed of which 124 were granted with claims paid of $16,116.81.

Several counties did not present a single claim. They being Branch, Charlevoix, Chippewa, Grand Traverse, Lake, Leelanau, Mackinac, Muskegon, Oshtemo, Presque Isle and Schoolcraft. Roscommon county made no report to the state board of corrections and charities.

FARM LABORERS' WAGES IN KENT COUNTY HIGH

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Federal agents who have just completed a survey of farms in Kent county, find that the average wages paid farm laborers in this vicinity is $12 weekly and board, a higher figure, everything taken into consideration, they believe.

FALLS CAPTIVE TO THE SILENT DRAMA

Genevieve Hamper, who in private life is the wife of Robert Mantell, and who has won an enviable reputation as a delineator of Shakespearean roles, has capitulated to the lure of the movies. Mrs. Mantell lives with her husband and three-year-old son Bruce at Atlantic Highlands,

GINSENG MUCH HIGHER; THOSE WHO HELD ON WIN

Eaton Rapids, Mich.—The price of ginseng is advanced to such an extent over the price that was offered last fall that the buyers here who held on to their product for more than five figures, are going to get good pay for "hauling in."

The 1914 crop of roots are $1 a pound more than the highest offerings in fall and winter, and in addition to what they held over, they have a good crop to haul over this fall, both of ginseng and golden seal.

DON'T THROW AWAY YOUR OLD WORN AUTO TIRES

They are still good for many hundreds of miles if you send them to the factory in Toledo. The Toledo Double Tread Tire Company, big building up a big business and a wide spread reputation for doing what they say they will do—the old worn-out casings and make good serviceable tires from them—tires that are practically puncture proof and blow-out proof—and save you the price of a new one. Two old casings are joined together, vulcanized and sewed by the lock-stitch method. The cost is small.

The Toledo Double Tread Tire Company also supply one or both casings when desired. If you have any worn-out casings you will do well to ship them to this Toledo concern and let them save you the price of a new tire. Send shipments prepaid. Their address is 1111 Adams street, Toledo, O. Write for their price list.

BUYING HORSES BY THOUSANDS

Twenty thousand horses have been gathered at the British remount depot at Lathrop, Mo., and all the pens there are full. Until the horses can be inspected and shipped out no more will be bought. The horse receipts at Kansas City this year show an increase of 75 per cent and dealers say that more than 90 per cent of the offerings have been taken by representatives of European belligerents.

Mules are being bought up as fast as offered and are shipped at once to the seacoast for England or France, a few going to Italy. The supply is not up to the demand and prices are going up.

As a result of the demand for horses and mules abroad, the breeding business is booming and hundreds of farmers are replacing cattle with broodmares.

NEW RURAL ROUTES PUT ON

Two hundred and eight automobile rural delivery routes, distributed among eight states, go into operation August. Approximately 11,440 miles of rural roads will be traversed six days a week during August by automobile.

Orders have been issued authorizing 208 motor routes. Two experimental routes were put into operation in Pennsylvania July 1 at Quarryville. The routes vary in length from a fifty-mile minimum to sixty-four miles, and will be operated from nine to twelve months a year.

Motor routes thus far established in the different states include 104 in Oklahoma, three in Kansas, fourteen each in Texas and Indiana.

Alseum Special, "Neptune's Daughter" Monday Eve., Aug. 23.

The biggest feature yet shown at the Alseum theatre will be "Neptune's Daughter" which comes here Monday evening. It is now being run in Detroit for the second time, having had a record run of sixteen weeks in that city last year.

The name part is played by Anette Kellerman known as the perfect woman for her beauty of face and to "and as the 'diving Venus' for her wonderful swimming and diving feats.

The magnificent spectacle of "Neptune's Daughter" was made in the waters of the Atlantic ocean along the shores of the Bermuda Islands. Beside Miss Kellerman there are about sixty other feminine swimmers, who, as mermaids, appear in the picture. The tails of the mermaids were designed by Miss Kellerman and are an elastic fabric covered with green spangles in imitation of scales and each weighs 40 pounds. The limbs of the swimmers are tightly bandaged and the tail drawn over them and fastened at the waist. Despite this difficulty, the mermaids swim with all the grace of the denizens of the deep.

"Neptune's Daughter" may be seen at the Alseum theatre Monday evening, August 23. The prices of admission, 35 cents and 25 cents, are set by the Kellerman Co. Reserved seats at Murdoch's drug store.
