THE NORTHVILLE RECORD.

VOL. XLVI. NO. 10.

THE RECORD - NORTHVILLE, MICH., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1915.

$1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

NORTHVILLE MAY GET CEMENT ROAD

CASS BENTON SEES A CHANCE TO COP ONE IN 1916 IF A HUSTLE IS MADE.

MAY ALSO BE OPPORTUNITY TO GET IT EXTENDED UP THROUGH MAIN STREET.

Wayne County's Good Roads commissioners—Messrs. Haggerty, Hines and Butler—contemplate next season the completion of what is known as the "Seven-Mile" road from Woodward avenue to Wilsey's corners at the south end of the Northville village corporation. That is they will complete it any how as far as Five Points on Grand River road and Northville may wait until 1917 for the finish. This road leading from Woodward avenue starting near the State Fair grounds runs through about as forsaken a piece of territory as the United States affords and just why the commissioners should insist on building the east end of this road before starting in at Northville or at least in Livonia at the east end of Northville township, is hardly conceivable.

Cass Benton believes that with proper influence the commissioners could be induced to commence the Northville end of the road at the same time, at least, as they do the end down at Woodward avenue. Mr. Benton says he will take hold of the matter and will use his best efforts to obtain such a result. He stands well with the commission and also with the board of supervisors and with the cooperation of Northville and Livonia people a satisfactory result may be obtained.

Mr. Benton also calls attention to the fact that when this road building is in progress a great opportunity for paving with cement all of Plymouth avenue and Main street will be offered. It is understood that the commissioners will build a cement road extension of this township road, in or through a village when such corporations will pay to them the amount of the State Award, $1,200 per mile. Mr. Benton thinks that perhaps $1,000 would bring such a road up as far as Center street. This would give Northville a road worth $20,000 for an investment of $1,000, or not to exceed $1,200.

CASS R. BENTON

Who will try for a Cement Road for Northville in 1916

Thus far Northville township has not been shown much favor by Wayne County's road commissioners. The Plymouth road, of two miles of gravel, is the extent and yet taxpayers of this township have built more miles of good roads than any other township in Wayne county.

If the commissioners are inclined to be fair towards Northville and will take all this into consideration and devise some means of connecting this town with a cement road to Grand River avenue. This would be six miles in Livonia, one and one-half in Reelfoot and six in Northville.

From Wilsey's corners to the Livonia town line there is a fairly good road, a part of the way it is a State Award road and if the commission saw fit to commence at Five Points and come west even that concession would be better than nothing, and a good outlet for the people of this vicinity would be had to reach Detroit, until such a time as the road could be finished into the village.

Northville people will be more than willing to co-operate with Mr. Benton and it may be possible to get a road from here to Detroit in 1916 and a paved street through the village.

LARGE CROWDS AT TEMPERANCE MEETINGS.

The temperance meeting held in Northville churches Sunday were highly successful both in attendance and in work accomplished. The speakers were C. H. Stevens of Detroit and Edwin Simpson of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League.

At the Union mass meeting at the Baptist Church in the evening a local committee was proposed for the purpose of circulating petitions for statewide prohibition. This is being done all over the state. The petitions must be signed by 50,000 qualified voters of the state before our legislature can order a special election for next fall. If the "drys" should win the election the law allows saloon owners a year and a half to close up their business before abdicating.

The local committee will be announced later.

GIFT PICTURE HAS HISTORICAL VALUE.

The item in last week's Record in regard to the picture recently presented to the Public Library by S. J. Lawrence is being, and the following interesting information from L. R. Hall.

I was by the Record that the Public Library has received a "Gift Picture" of the late Mr. Lawrence. The picture is a portrait of a man, probably one of the first settlers of the town of Northville. It is said to have been painted by a friend of the subject, who was a painter by profession. The picture is of great historical value, as it is the only known portrait of the subject. It was presented to the library by Mr. Lawrence, who was a collector of historical objects. The picture is of a man, probably one of the first settlers of the town of Northville. Inspector Edmanson of the University inspected the school last week. The few changes he suggested will be made, so that we are sure to be certified on the credit list for two years. He gave the school a high word of praise as well as the faculty.

A FAREWELL PARTY.

About 100 of the Northville community were gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lawrence for a farewell party to Mr. Lawrence, who is leaving for his new home in Detroit. While the party was in progress, some remarkably striking costumes were worn. Among them were a "pandemonium" costume and a "skirt" costume, wonderfully "dressed" in a very striking manner. Two exceedingly dark complexioned ladies mingled with the company on terms of perfect equality and one scholar, a man appeared who was later suddenly transformed into a lady. A pot luck supper was served, after which the hostess presented with a very pretty recognition pin to the order, with best wishes from the High and expressions of regret because of her coming absence.

The boy hero Tyltyl, will be played by the noted child actor, Mary Eaton, and with her in the role of Mytyl will be little Doris Patton and many other charming child actors. In short, as well as speaking parts. Skilled animal actors, Messrs. Henry Hingard and Thomas J. Fortney, will be seen in these happy ventures. Introducing a New Arrival in the City Model 43 Oldsmobile—1916

The body lines are low and smart; seats delightfully deep and soft. The car is very stylish, very well appointed.

A wheelbase of 120 inches permits of wide doors and an ample body. The tonneau measures 47 1/2 inches from rear seat to front seat; the front compartment, 41 inches from the inside of the seat back to the clutch pedal.

Solid cast aluminum running boards and toe board add a decorative touch which cannot be dulled with age. Circassian walnut was brought from forests on the Black Sea for the interior woodwork. The dash, of this wood, with instruments mounted flush and lighted with an incandescent is fascinatingly attractive. Two lockers for goggles, gloves, veils, smelling salts, a Thermos bottle, or other requisites to touring, mounted in the dash, serve your convenience.

Clear, thrifty, live hickory wheels in natural finish, equipped with non-skid tires, contribute a note of extraordinary distinction.

Model 43 reminds you of the well dressed athlete—so lithe and swift, yet so smartly attired you are glad of the opportunity to become better acquainted. More power by ten to fifteen per cent is delivered by the four cylinder, valve-in-head motor of this car than by the L- or T-head types of equal displacement. The weight is a surprise—only 2755 pounds loaded for the road. A gasoline average of 17 to 22 miles is also something quite unusual in cars of such size and power.

MUCH MONEY IN IDEAS.

It is estimated that from 250 to 300 million dollars a year is now being spent by the people of this country on moving pictures, and about 125 millions is invested in moving picture theatres and plants. Who would have believed that such a vast interest as this could be created out of nothing, in the short span of less than 20 years? During about the same period also the automobile has been developed, likewise the talking machine and the player-piano. Each one of these new ideas involves the investment of many millions of wealth. And yet there is no reason to suppose that the progress of invention will stop here. There are unlimited things remaining to be devised and developed for the use and diversion of mankind, and rich rewards await those who are willing to devote ingenuity and energy to the field.

GOOD ROADS AND R. F. D.

It is said that the Postmaster-General is contemplating the abolishment of the R. F. D. service from 4-towns on the Base line to Powers station on account of the bad condition of the roads there the year around. It is claimed that people living along the route make no effort to have the Linton commissioner fix this road which has been for years in a most deplorable condition. If the Postal authorities would adopt that plan all over the country, it would be only a short time before good roads would predominate everywhere. Townships where no effort is made for decent roads are no longer entitled to Rural Free Delivery of Mail.

FEATURES AT THE

NEW ALSEUM THEATRE.

Northville people are to be treated to a version of Alice Hegaa Rice's
"Mrs Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch"
in movies at the Alseum theatre
Saturday evening.

"Lovey Mary" is also combined with the former story. There are several circus scenes introduced--it will be remembered that Lovey Mary ran away and joined a circus--as did Mr. Wiggs. When the pictures for the play were taken (in California) Ringling's circus happened to be in that state so a staff of that organization was detailed to assist in the circus scenes. Ads and invitations were sent to society people of San Rafael and the result was an audience such as is seldom seen at a circus.

The two stories are too well known to need telling here. The pictures equal the books in interest

U. S. LENIENT WITH MEXICAN BANDITS; TEXAS RANGERS KILL ALL

Detachment of U. S. artillery patrolling Rio Grande.

There is a distinct difference between the methods employed by the United States troops on the Rio Grande and by the Texas rangers. While the policy of Uncle Sam is one of extreme leniency toward the bandits who cross the border, the Texas rangers are engaged in a war of extermination and spare none.

Household Hints

CANNING AND PRESERVING.

Tomato Preserve—Take enough ripe tomatoes to make ten pounds after they have been peeled and as much of the pulp taken out as can be. Put in pan or kettle and cover with five pounds granulated sugar. In the morning put on to cook and cook till tomatoes are transparent. Just a few minutes before taking off the fire add two lemons sliced thin.

Tomato Jam—Take peck of tomatoes and let cook all skins are off. Cut in small pieces, then strain through colander. Take five good-sized lemons, remove seeds, squeeze juice out, then cut lemons in small pieces, leaving seed in (as it is a better taste); then measure juice and take one cup less of sugar than of juice. Cook till thick. Put at once in glass.

Novel Way to Can Peaches—Select ripe fruit, cover with boiling water, let stand a few minutes and the skins will slip off easily. Cut in halves, remove stone and pack tightly in thoroughly sterilized jar. Make a thick syrup of sugar and water and pour hot into the jars of peaches. Seal and place in a pan of hot water until cool. Peaches not only keep well in this way, but retain their delicate fresh flavor.

Old Relish—One peck, ripe tomatoes, cut in small pieces, add one cup of sugar, two cups chopped parsley, two chopped peppers, two cups salt. Mix and let stand over night. Next morning add four cups sugar, one cup white mustard seed, two table spoons pepper, two table spoons all spice ground, four table spoons cayenne, two quarts vinegar. Put in jars and seal. This is fine and needs no cooking.

Canned Tomatoes—Select tomatoes (not too ripe), wash, slice in a kettle of boiling water, add to it ten or twelve tomatoes, let them remain over the fire until the skins begin to burst, then remove them with a sliver fork and place in colander so they drain well (if you allow them to remain in the water too long they will lose their flavor). Add more tomatoes to the boiling water until you have one-half bushel, scalded, which will fill eight quart jars. After removing skins, put them in a large preserving kettle and before boiling, skim off one quart of the water. Put over fire, being careful not to let them scorch. When they reach the boiling point, let boil one hour. This may seem a long time to many, but here lies the success. Do not forget to skim off all scum that rises, for it is that which forms the acid which causes tomatoes to spoil so easily. After boiling one hour, put them in sterilized jars, and be sure that the covers are in good condition, place same in hot water on back of stove, before using put the rubbers in a pan of cold water (saves airtight jars off from). This may seem like a long time, but it is very simple and above all it is good. We often hear complaints from ladies who claim they cannot keep tomatoes for winter. Why? Simply because they don't boil long enough.

Peach Germantown—To a peck of peaches take five pounds sugar and a pint of vinegar. If peaches are ripe, no water is needed, but if not ripe, add water to make a thick syrup. Put over a low fire, stirring constantly to prevent burning, and let cook from thirty to forty minutes. This quantity makes about 10 quarts of the finished product. It can be put away in crocks and kept fresh.

Fruit Butter Hint—To avoid the long, tedious stirring of fruit butter, set the pan in the oven of a large water tub. It will cook evenly without burning or splashing walls or floors.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY LOTS EVA LEONARD

"See!" Dick waved a draft for $80 before Nell's face. "Dividend on my oil shares."

"Good!" Nell's eyes glowed. "I'm not quite so big a fool as I was last summer," he gloated.

"Oh, I'm so glad you didn't lose that money," said Nell, worried when I thought it was all gone. Now we can have the new leather chairs for the dining room."

"Remember, this was my personal money that I invested, and of course the increase is mine to spend as I like."

"What I asked was, would you like to spend it for the chairs? We need them so badly," Nell smiled up hopefully into his face.

"You are very active in helping me spend my money, it appears. I stipulated when we entered on this arrangement that if an allowance was what you wanted, we would have allowance to the bitter end."

"Don't be a fool, Dick. I'm not supposed to buy dining room chairs with my housekeeping money, nor with my own personal fund for dressing myself and baby. If you are never to buy furniture, what do you expect us to do, go without to the end of time?"

Dick looked at the ceiling and smiled with a superior smile on his face.

"My, but you are good company," remarked Nell, looking up from her darning after the clock had ticked away ten silent minutes.

"Would you mind getting your books, your housekeeping and personal account books?"

"Why?" she queried.

"I want to look at the footings," he answered.

"There were to be no questions asked."

"Could I?" she asked.

"If you could save $5 a month out of your allowance," he answered.

"How long will the oil last?" was the next question.

Dick shrugged his shoulders. "There is where the gamble comes in."

"I'll ask Mother Morton before I venture," Nell carried her books away.

STATE NEWS

PEACH MARKET IS CLOGGED IN STATE BY LARGEST CROP

The growers are not discouraged. They know that nature was so provident that everywhere there is a peach tree, that tree has put forth a prodigious yield. Another year Berrien county might have put as big a crop and Elberta would be snapped up at $2 a bushel. The failure of the peach crop to yield profit will not cause much hardship because not many of the south fruit growers have "all their eggs in one basket."

CRIMINAL TENDENCIES.

After a careful study of 1000 young criminals and their ancestry Dr. Edith R. Spaulding, resident physician of the Reformatory for women at South Framingham, Mass., and Dr. William Healy, director of the Juvenile Psychopathic Institute, Chicago, have been able to find "only 15 cases which in the least suggest inheritance of criminalistic traits."

"In no case of the thousand," they say, "have we been able to discover evidence of anti-social tendencies in succeeding generations without also finding underlying trouble of a physical or mental nature, or such starting environmental faults or misadventures as develop delinquency in the absence of defective inheritance."

They say there is much evidence of the indirect inheritance of criminalistic tendencies; that is to say, a child born of criminal parents is almost certain to be brought up in an environment that would lead to the child a criminal even if he had been born of the most moral parents.

It is impossible to say where heredity leaves off and environment begins. "With inherited imbecility, no environment could make a good citizen. On the other hand, if a normal individual were brought up in diver of vice from infancy, with no moral enlightenment, he, too, would be a poor type of citizen."

They regard habitual drunkenness as an expression of nervous weakness which may be either inherited or acquired. Commending on one of the cases that seemed suggestive of criminalistic inheritance, they say:

"The boy, however, suddenly waked up in the midst of his atrocious environment, broke up his gang, reformed the worst member of it, and thereby upset our evidence that he had inherited any criminalistic tendencies. This made us skeptical of acceptance of 'proof' in the future."

Drs. Spaulding and Healy note "no factors in producing young criminals that sometimes run in families and that are factors of genius as well as of crime. These are superabundant energy and lack of inhibitions. The first, with ideal environment and wise guidance, will make a man a valuable member of society, but with repression and undesirable association is likely to make a criminal. The second manifests itself in a spirit of abandon and absence of fear that make its subjects seek adventure."
