NORTHVILLE MASONS HAVE HOME-COMING

PAST MASTERS OF F. & A. M. LODGE NO. 136 TO BE HONORED NOVEMBER 22.

AFTERNOON AND EVENING EVENT WITH ELABORATE BANQUET IN EVENING.

The annual home-coming of Northville lodge No. 136, and Past Masters' meeting takes place in the Masonic Temple here Monday afternoon and evening, November 22.

A big time is being prepared for and a large attendance is expected. The lodge will open at 3:30 o'clock p. m. when the first session headed by Past Masters F. R. Seal, Charles Booth and M. A. Porter will work the Third degree.

An elaborate banquet will be served at 5:30, then following music by the Blue lodge quartet, Past Grand Master Frank T. Lodge of Detroit will present new aprons to all the 18 Past Masters.

At the evening session the Third degree will be further exemplified.

Portrait of a Past Master of the lodge.

By the program on the 22nd, headed by Northville lodge No. 136.

During the afternoon session the visitor, and members will be photographed by Photographer Wisdom.

A neat little booklet has been issued.

sued for the occasion containing a full program of the event, together with the names of all the deceased members, all the active members, all the present and past Masters and all sojourners.

The booklet shows eighteen Past Masters still living, and sixty-nine members of the order who have answered the last roll call.

The existing Past Masters who are all to be present are as follows:

Francis R. Seal, B. A. Northrop, Charles Booth, Floyd A. Northrop, Marion A. Porter, Jas. A. Huff,

L. VanValkenburg, T. E. Murdock, Horace E. Gray, C. L. Brigham, Chas. R. Walters, S. D. Meserall,

Dean F. Griswold, H. Clay Foppert, Frank Carrothers, W. L. Tinkham, Nelson E. Bogart, A. B. McCullough,

*Affiliated.

The lodge was organized in 1865 with the following officers:

W. M.—A. L. Stevens
S. W.—W. P. Hungerford
J. W.—E. K. Simonds
S. D.—Joseph Nash

J. D.—A. H. Dipple.
Treasurer—Geo. E. Bradley
Secretary—J. P. Donaldson
Tyler—J. W. Elliott.

The lodge room was then located over what now is the Record Printing plant, at that time situated where the Lapham bank stands. The old lodge doors and wickets are still intact and the finger and knuckle prints about the peep holes still plainly show where the alarm was given at the order portals in those days. The picturesque Masonic quarters of today are certainly in great contrast to the old lodge rooms of '66.

GAS WILL BE HERE MONDAY

PLANT NORTH-NORTHVILLE COMPANY READY TO MAKE CONNECTIONS.

Manager Fox of the Pl Northville Gas company says his company will have the pressure service and be connected this week so as to start gas into Northville on Monday.

Service connections will be made to houses along the route of the pipe very early until all who wish are supplied.

Manager Fox calls attention to the company's ad appearing in this issue and to the fact that prompt service connections can now be made while those who wait till busy spring may have to submit to further delay.

BIG BAZAAR; BANNER BABIES

FARMINGTON O. F. S. LADIES HAVE DOINGS TODAY AND TOMORROW.

The O. F. S. ladies of Farmington are pulling off a big bazaar and baby show today and tomorrow. The bazaar opens today (Friday) to be followed by a chicken pie supper and then an informal dance. At the bazaar there will be found for sale about everything you want from popcorn to aprons and handkerchiefs.

The supper costs only 35 cents and the dance a half dollar.

On Saturday afternoon the baby show takes place and for a dime you can see 57 varieties of babies and there are prizes for nearly all of them. There's a prize for the one tooth baby, the fat baby, the black-eyed urchin, the smartest, prettiest, baldheaded, youngest, the walker, talker, smallest, and long distance bucker. In fact there's a chance for about every sort of kid that so far has inhabited the earth.

MAJESTIC THEATRE, DETROIT.

Emmy Whelan, star of many big dramatic and musical productions in both London and New York will be seen on the screen of the Majestic theatre, Detroit, next Sunday afternoon, in a new picture play "Her Reckoning." Miss Whelan will be supported by an excellent cast including H. Cooper Cliffe, last seen in pictures here with Ethel Barrymore. The topical review, a travelogue in colors, a comedy, new songs by Heary Seetrey, the popular baritone and orchestra and organ selections will round out the program.

AUCTION SALE.

B. J. Bailey and S. B. Treat will sell their farm stock and tools at auction on what is known as the Hiram Cady farm, 1 mile west on Base Line road, and 1 mile north, on Wednesday, November 17, commencing at 10:00 o'clock, with hot lunch at noon. F. J. Boyle, auctioneer.

LOCAL WOMAN'S CLUB GOES TO DETROIT

THE LADIES TAKE A TRIP OVER THE D. U. R. TO THE BIG CITY FRIDAY.

WILL BE ENTERTAINED AT THE DETROIT MUSEUM OF ART OUT JEFFERSON AVENUE.

The meeting of the Northville Woman's club is to be held this Friday afternoon in the auditorium of the Detroit Museum of Art, by invitation of the director of that institution. The occasion is the annual Art Day of the club, in charge of Mrs. T. H. Turner, who has arranged for this unusual treat. Mrs. Turner's subject is "American Art," and reproductions of the paintings of the artists under discussion are to be thrown on the screen in due order. The Farmington Literary club has been invited to attend the meeting, and several former members of the local club who are now living in Detroit are also expected to be present.

FIGURES CONCERNING SCHOOL EXPENSES.

Editor Northville Record.

In your last issue you have some comments about the public school cost which may lead to wrong impressions.

The school district records show that for the year 1914-15 the expenditures for all purposes were $2,516.72. During this period there were 64 teachers and their monthly payroll amounted to $177.00.

In the year 1914-15 the expenditures were $10,855.47 and there were 140 teachers and their monthly payroll was $2,920.00.

During the year 1914-15 the school expenditures were $10,855.47.

From the above, Mr. Taylor was able to get total figures, but about right in the comparative figures.

A comparison of the figures of expenses shows that in 1914-15 the monthly expenditures were $2,516.72 and in 1914-15, $2,920.00. This is not an unusual increase considering the fact that we now have two buildings to take care of, and the natural advance of general supplies.

The large increase in expenses is due to the additional teachers and the larger salaries which are paid. Increased teachers' wages are not local but state wide and will naturally go higher. The present grade scale of wages is $45.00 per month for the first year; $47.50 for the second year and $50.00 for the third and following years. It will be found that the country school teachers are receiving from $35.00 to $40.00 per month, so that the local district is not extravagant in the matter of wages.

The standard of living, as between the two periods, should be compared and conclusions drawn and not the increase, or decrease, of pupils enrolled.

Yours very truly,
CHAS. A. DOLPH,
Secy. School Board.

In reference to the above the Record apprehends that "Taxpayer" simply sought to show that the cost of running the schools had practically doubled in the last 18 years, which assertion is borne out by Mr. Dolph's figures. The Record may have misquoted "Taxpayer's" exact figures or Taxpayer may have had them wrong.

There is no criticism to be made against the local school board. It is in charge of as good a body of men as is anywhere in the state. No graded school in Michigan has a better board. It's the system everywhere if any fault can be found at all.

It is a well known fact that the cost of running a school has materially increased in 18 years past just like it has in all industries. Also in order to keep up with the times and the advanced University requirements, all graded schools in Michigan have found it necessary to employ additional instructors. All this of course costs money, but no one regrets paying school taxes. The educational system; its free public schools, is what makes America so great. The only question now being debated by the great educators of this country is this: "Are the boys and girls getting a better education for all practical purposes, in the public schools, today, than they did 20 years ago?"

CITIZENS' MEETING.

Are you interested in Northville? Then meet the so called Civic Improvement committee at the council chamber at 7:30 next Monday night, November 15. The committee appointed to investigate this organization is ready to report. Every citizen interested in Northville's welfare should be there to either help to push or repeal the proposition, as seems most wise.

STOLE COPPER WIRE FROM D. U. RAILWAY

MAN AND WOMAN CAUGHT NEAR FARMINGTON COUPLE WEEKS AGO, PLEAD GUILTY.

Four criminal arraignments were made in circuit court at Pontiac Monday morning by Prosecutor F. L. Doty. It was the first session of the court in the several weeks that Judge Smith has been holding court in Lapeer.

Benjamin and May Summers, the Detroit man and woman, who were caught in the act of clipping copper wire from the D. U. R. poles of the Northwestern division near Farmington on the night of Oct. 25, pleaded guilty to larceny of 500 feet of copper wire valued at $25.00. The man is middle-aged with gray hair, while the woman does not appear to be over 25. Sentence was deferred one week at the request of the prosecutor. They were caught while clipping the copper cables, which they had introduced into the bottom of a wagon. They were discovered at 2:00 o'clock in the morning by a train conductor, who had been notified by a man working on the line. The man and woman were arrested and taken to the Lapeer jail for Monday.

Now that the last resort hunter has fled away to his winter quarters, the little mud hens at Lake Orion can show their heads above water with more confidence, and they help to make a summer resort more attractive. Since the new game law came into effect there is no shooting by the small boys, and outsiders would have to pay $10 for a hunters license, so that, if a city man has a gun to shoot on lakes or in woods here, he keeps it well out of sight. Mud hens are not very good food anyway, and they look so pretty on the lake in pairs, that it is too bad to shoot at them and thus drive them away.—Orion Review.

Better Played Music==

—PLAYED WITH EXPRESSION; WITH FEELING; WITH ARTISTIC PERFECTION UNQUALLED IN ANY OTHER PLAYER-PIANO—

"Pianola" Player-Piano

The "Pianola" places the entire range of musical expression at your finger tips. One of its vitally important, patented expression-control features is

On the Metrostyle music rolls is a red line which designates exactly how some famous artist play the selection. With the Metrostyle pointer of the "Pianola" you follow this line, duplicating the interpretation of such artists as Paderewski, Bauer, Hoffman, Grieg, Carreno, etc.

Or, you can ignore the Metrostyle marking in part or entirely, and give to the selection your own interpretation.

With the ordinary Player-Piano the theme or melody and accompaniment are of equal importance. The Themodist, another exclusive expression-control feature of the "Piano," gives just the right contrast to melody and accompaniment, causing the melody to stand out just as the voice of the singer rises above the accompanying instruments.

Then, there's the Automatic Sustaining Pedal; the Graduated Accompaniment, etc., also features of greatest artistic value.

"Pianolas" are furnished ONLY in these makes: STEINWAY, STROUD, STEVENS, WHELOCK, STECK and WEBBER. $550 up. Liberal allowance on other instruments in exchange. Small Payments.

Note well this fact: no other Player-Piano has the Metrostyle, no other Player-Piano has the Themodist, etc.—no other Player-Piano approaches the "Pianola" in artistic musical results!

LET OUR SHIPPING ALONE.

President Wilson speaking for the United States has written a letter notifying England to "quit kicking our ocean freight around." Just because they have a war on their hands over there, England, France and Germany appear to think they can give this country a seat in the eye at any time without offense. Germany found out American people were in earnest in asking for a cessation in the killing of innocent American citizens, and England will find that the president is in earnest in demanding that American ships and American shipping be unmolested when operating between neutral countries.

You'll be surprised when you see what a nice warm lady's coat you can buy for $4.98 at Sutherland's—Oxford Leader Liner.

Maybe the nice warm lady will be surprised, too, when she sees her coat offered for sale.

The Northville Record has an editorial writer who offers one cent reward to the person parsing a bad piece of English found in the columns of an exchange. Is my hat on straight, my dear?

Perfectly and particularly perpendicular, we (blushingly) reply.

We judge that Editor Frank Sutton of the Marine City Reporter is paid ten cents. Else why is his picture shown in the last issue of the D. U. E. Electric News with his hat on and a watching the ball game expression on his face?

Adam planned it on a woman, and when the rest of us got caught we can't think of a more stupid excuse. Oxford Leader.

Now read's Gasper to be up to it.

In commenting on the fact that the French are the biggest smokers in the world, the Oxford Leader says: "The French are the biggest smokers in the world." The French are the biggest smokers in the world.

Also on the front page of the great banks of the world is now written: "The world is now written on the front page of the great banks of the world."

And now for a British word-riddle. If President Wilson is in earnest or just a fool.

PLYMOUTH EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

On Wednesday evening, November 2, at St. John's Episcopal church in Plymouth, the Rt. Rev. Chas. D. Williams, bishop of Michigan, made his annual visitation, upon which occasion he bestowed the apostolic rite of confirmation upon four candidates. There was a very large congregation and the church was filled to capacity. The musical part of the service was rendered by a vested choir of about twenty voices from Trinity church, Detroit, under the leadership of their director, Wm. H. Broadbent, and it is not too much to say that the singing was an inspiration to all present. The service commenced with the processional hymn, "For all the Saints who from their labors rest," a shortened form of evening prayer followed and after the singing of the hymns, "Soldiers of Christ, Arise," during the singing of which the candidates advanced toward the altar, the confirmation service was proceeded with. The candidates were presented to the Bishop by the lay missionary, Hy Midworth, who also read the special lesson. After the laying on of hands the hymn "Oh Jesus I have promised" was heartily sung by the choir and congregation. This was followed by an address by the Bishop. Much credit is due to the ladies of the church for the very beautiful way in which the altar and chancel was decorated with ferns, pink and white carnations and chrysanthemums. The Warden and Vestry are also to be congratulated for the excellent arrangements made on the occasion and so neatly carried out.

Divine service at 10 a. m. Sunday, November 14. Morning prayer, litany and sermon. All seats free. Visitors from Northville cordially invited. St. John's Episcopal Mission, Plymouth.

WEEK'S CALENDAR.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

(By the Pastor.)
"The Christian's Obligation," will be the pastor's subject at the Methodist church next Sunday morning. In the evening the theme will be, "Religion as a Convenience."

The Sunday school at 11:30 extends an invitation to all who are not connected with other schools. Topic for next Sunday's study is, "Daniel in the Lion's Court." The newly organized orchestra is adding much to the musical interest of the school.

At 6 o'clock the Epworth League will consider the subject, "The Promises—the best of values—at the White House."

use of Spiritual Certainty," under the leadership of Prof. F. W. Wheaton.

The official board of the church has adopted the new financial plan, ordered by the General conference, and all members and friends of the church who may wish to share a part in the financial support of the work, are requested to be at home to receive the solicitors who are to make the canvass of the church, between the hours of two and five o'clock next Sunday afternoon.

The Queen Esther girls will meet at the parsonage next Monday at 7.30 o'clock.

The regular monthly meeting of the Home Missionary society will be held at the home of Mrs. James VanDyne Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. We hope all members will be present.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES.

(By the Pastor.)
Morning service at the usual hour. Topic: "The Christian—A Man Among Men." This sermon should be of special interest to that class of individuals who think that becoming a Christian somehow separates one from the interest and fellowships of other men. Any who are inclined to this opinion are specially invited to this service.

The Sunday school is the chief educational agency of the church and as such is of value to all seeking after the truth. It is not primarily a matter of supporting the Sunday school for its sake but for your good. Remain to the Sunday school next Sunday.

The Christian Endeavor meets at six o'clock. It is hoped that the goodly attendance of last Sunday will be repeated at the next meeting. The pastor is to lead "Church Unity" is the subject for discussion. The young people are all urged to be present with some good ideas on the subject.

Evening service at 7 o'clock. Subject: "The Real Trouble Makers." We still believe that the evening service is worth an hour of any man's time. It is held in hour and a half and will not pay a reasonable dividend.

Each week remember the business meeting and social tonight (Friday) in the church parlors.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

(By the Pastor.)
Sunday morning the pastor will discuss the question, "Where is the greatest enemy of our Christian civilization, Germany or Prussia?"

The evening topic will be "God's Abomination for the Spiritual Hunter."

Try to be present both morning and evening. We shall endeavor to interest you with both of these subjects.

Let us all rally to the Sunday school and Young People's service. The topic for the B. Y. P. U. will be "How the Denominations May Unite in Service," led by the pastor.

Mrs. Sutton's Sunday school class will serve a 20 cent supper in the parlors of the church this Friday, evening from 6 o'clock on.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

(By the Pastor.)
German communion services next Sunday morning. Announcements will be received just before the service begins. Please do not forget that the service is in the morning, at 10 o'clock, standard time.

The confessional service occurs a half hour earlier.

The regular quarterly meeting of the voters will be held in the afternoon at 2 o'clock.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY.

Christian Science service in the Ladies' Library Sunday morning at 10.45 o'clock.

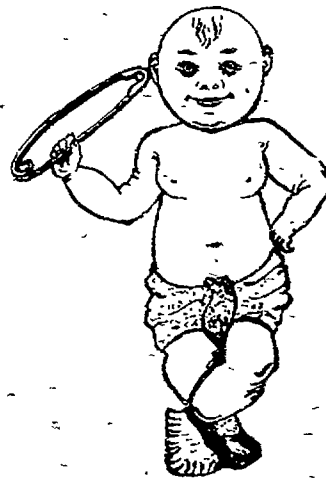

Novi News.

Judd Richardson has purchased a new Dodge Bros. automobile.

Edward Seeley has been drawn to serve on the circuit court at Pontiac next month.

Isaac McNitt has returned home from a month's stay in Hillsdale county, making the trip in his Oldsmobile.

John Broegman of this place died very suddenly early yesterday morning. He had been in apparent good health and was preparing to take the milk as usual about 3 o'clock when, in getting into the wagon, he was stricken and died in a short time. Death is thought to have been caused by a burst blood vessel in his head and a slight paralytic stroke. Mr. Broegman had lived near here many years and was highly respected. He leaves a wife and eight children, three daughters and five sons. Final arrangements had not been completed at the time of publication.

The re-arrangement and re-cataloging of the books at the Ladies' Library has brought to light the fact that the following books are missing: The Marble Faun, Rover Boys Down East; To Right the Wrong, Rachel Armstrong; Tom, Dick and Harriet; Penrod, Lefty O' The Blue Stockings; The Riverman and The Boy Scouts. All fines will be remitted if the persons holding these books will return them at once. The problem of keeping the library supplied with books is not so easy a solution that the ladies can afford to lose any. Several of those listed belong to series.

In reference to the necessity of the seventh grade instructor teaching German in the High school, members of the school board state, this was a matter that was overlooked in engaging the High School force this year and as Miss Phillips is the only teacher who could fill the bill, it seemed necessary to take her out of the seventh grade for an hour in the forenoon and an hour in the afternoon. The board hopes to find in the near future some better solution of this problem which is not satisfactory but under existing conditions seems the best that can be done for the present.

A rather stern, abnormally looking lady stood on the curb on South Saginaw street the other evening, just at dusk. She was about 40 years old, comfortably well dressed and apparently perfectly able to take care of herself. Just then a jumpy auto came along and the driver noticed her standing alone on the walk. With an eye to business, thinking possibly she was looking for a conveyance, the driver approached the curb and addressed the lone woman as follows: "Going to the other end of the city, lady?" For a moment she stared at him without saying a word, but her eyes showed fire. Then she let loose: "I'll let you know, young man, I ain't no 'joy rider'! When I go riding in an automobile with a perfect stranger I will let you know it! I just wish I knew who your mother was, so I could tell her!" The driver, mindful of the safety first slogan, did not linger at the curb. When last seen the lone lady was still spitting fire.—Pontiac Press-Gazette.

"THE WARE CASE" AT THE GARRICK THEATRE, DETROIT.

"The Ware Case," which the Garrick company will offer at the Garrick theatre, Detroit, all next week, with Lon Tellegan as star, supported by Montague Love, Gladys Hanson, Albert Bruning, and an unusual cast, has been termed a sensational mystery play of surprises. The first production is being made in this country in Cleveland this week, and after the Detroit engagement the play goes from there directly to New York City.

Sir Hubert and Lady Ware's domestic life has been none too happy on account of Sir Hubert's many escapades and his gambling associates. During a party at the Ware estate in Middlesex, Eustace, Ede, a brother of Lady Ware's announces his intention of going out to the lake for a plunge and is drowned. A mark is found on his forehead and the supposition arises he hit his head while diving and was drowned. Later developments prove Sir Hubert was, practically bankrupt and that by Ede's death his wife came into a large fortune. Sir Hubert is accused of the murder. All the stagecraft of a master that can be brought to bear, makes this scene one of surprising intensity, which is only increased in the last and final act, where again the unexpected stamps "The Ware Case" as a play that will be enjoyed and talked over long after it has passed from our view.

"What were you doing here so late last night?" asked Julia Osgood as she breezed into the office. "I was out in society last night and when I saw your light I had half a notion to stop."

"My light?" Julia asked. "I don't get you. I was in the bosom of my family last night. I was in bed by eight o'clock."

"Indeed it was not. I came clear to the window and intended to call to you, but the shade was drawn so low that I could only see the track of light, so I thought I would not."

"What do you suspect? You seem upset," John stared dully at her. Julia hung up her hat, seated herself at her table and fell to work making the machine clatter. The two worked for an hour or more without speaking. Suddenly Julia shoved back her chair and came over to his desk. She was about to speak when the door squeaked and looking up they saw Tyler enter.

"We were just talking about a queer thing that I noticed last night," Mr. Tyler. I was returning home at about ten o'clock last evening when I saw a light in this office. I was just asking Mr. Suter here if he was working last night. Tyler's eyes traveled to John's face. John shook his head.

"I was not here. I suppose the janitor was late about his work," said John, after a pause.

"Very likely," remarked Tyler. "I will have the matter looked into."

He looked sharply from one to the other and left the room.

"What did he come in for?" asked Julia. "He made no errand."

"You knocked all the ideas out of his head by your information about the light. I thought it worried him."

"It couldn't have been thieves, could it? We would have heard about it before this if anything had been taken."

"Oh, surely. There is nothing wrong. The janitor was cleaning the office."

"At ten o'clock at night? Hardly!"

"I wish I traced that Tyler," continued Julia in a low voice as she turned back to her work.

"Well, he has no money to lose. Let James do the worrying. He is a sharp business man, and a good judge of human nature. I guess it is all a matter of prejudice on our part. I hope I have not sown the seeds of suspicion in your candid nature," chaffed Suter as she took her place at the desk again.

She tossed her head and smilingly assured him that her nature was still sweet and unspoiled, and so the matter was dropped. But the subject kept bobbing up in her mind and she would think, "What could that light have meant at ten o'clock at night? I mean to go around that way every time I am out, and the next time I see a light I shall do some investigating on my own account."

Julia's most intimate girl friend was dragged past the gloomy pile of buildings so many times that she finally rebelled and said that Julia must seek her excitement in other quarters if she wished to count her.

The subject had nearly passed out of her mind when something happened that recalled her old suspicions.

CAMEL HAS FOUR STOMACHS.

Stores Water in Cells and Opens 'Em When It's Thirsty.

The stomach of a camel is divided into four compartments, and the walls of these are lined with large cells, everyone of which can be opened and closed at will by the means of powerful muscles, says the Presbyterian.

When a camel drinks, it drinks for such a long time you really think it never means to leave off. The fact is that it is not satisfying its thirst, but is filling up its cistern as well. One after another of the cells of its stomach are filled with water, and as soon as each is quite full it is tightly closed.

Then, when the animal becomes thirsty, all it has to do is to open one of the cells and allow the water to flow out.

Easily Answered.

One day as Pat halted at the top of the river bank, a man famous for his inquisitive mind asked:

"How long have you hauled water for the village, my good man?"

"Ten years, sir."

"And how many loads do you take in a day?"

"From ten to fifteen, sir."

"Ah, yes! Now I have a problem for you. How much water at this rate have you hauled in all?"

The driver of the watering cart jerked his thumb backward toward the river and replied:

"All the water you don't see there now, sir."

COOK WITH CURLING IRON

Ft. Worth Housewives Do This When Gas Fails.

When the main that supplies Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex., with natural gas was broken recently as the result of floods, housewives and cooks in those cities were left for more than a week practically without means for cooking, as few of the houses are equipped with any but gas stoves.

In this emergency every heat generating device that could possibly be used was pressed into service. The most generally used devices were electric irons and curlers.—Popular Mechanics.

TO QUIT TALKING ON WIRES

Old System Soon to Be Abandoned, Says Nikola Tesla.

Nikola Tesla, the electrical expert and pioneer in the field of wireless telegraphy and telephony, sounded the death knell of wires as a means of communication, in an address in New York last week. "The wireless telephone is the instrument of the near future," he said. "It is practical. A few mechanical details need to be improved, that is all."

For military purposes a United States army officer has designed an automobile that will carry fourteen men, with full equipment and three days' rations, 800 miles on one filling of its fuel tanks.

SEEN AT WAR BENEFIT FASHION FETE

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

To Freshen Furs—Furs when taken out in the fall are often found to have a mussed, crushed appearance. They can be made to look like new by the following process: Wet the fur with a hair brush, brushing up the wrong way of the fur. Leave it to dry in the air about half an hour, then give it a good beating on the wrong side (do not beat the fur) with a rattan. After beating it, comb, combing it up the right way of the fur.

Easy Window Cleaning—Buy a chamolite and use clear water with a tablespoon of ammonia in it. Dip change in water, wring lightly, rub over window once, dip in again, wring dry and wipe with towel. When the window gets dry it will be clean and shine beautifully.

If apples will not cook in pies, sprinkle them with one teaspoonful of vinegar to a pie.

Many women find moving hard on account of house hunting. To make this easy: first write down just the kind of a house you want, how many rooms and conveniences, locality, amount of rent you can pay (no woman has a right to pay more than one week's pay of her husband for a month's rent), then hand this itemized slip to one or more good real estate agents. The moving will be half-done. Pack up and get ready by degrees.

THE TABLE

Cream Cheese—Half pound cheese and one tablespoon butter; run through food chopper. Fine for either table use or sandwiches. Will keep much longer than the dry cheese.

Economical Use of Lamb Chops—Rib lamb chops "Frenched" are costly. To broil the lower ends with their scant flesh is to char them into uselessness. A savory luncheon dish, however, may be made of these lower or rib ends. Have the butcher crack the bones close up to the main, meaty part of the chops, so they may be easily detached. Stew these gently for an hour, adding salt and pepper at the last, and set away to cool. Next morning remove the fat which will cap the top; slip bones from meat; cut meat into inch lengths, removing superfluous fat; reheat slowly in their own liquor. Cooked vegetables may be added, such as onions, peas, carrots, mushrooms or boiled potatoes. Chicken with butter and flour before serving. This is good on toast or as the center of a bowl of mashed potatoes.

Spanish Macaroni—Cook enough macaroni in salted water so as to have one pit when cold. Cut two slices of bacon in small pieces and fry; add one or two minced onions to this, let brown, then add one small green pepper finely chopped, in this stir pint of tomatoes. When hot remove from fire. Butter baking dish, put in a layer of tomato mixture, then a thin layer of cold, minced meat, then a layer of macaroni, seasoning a little. Repeat this until dish is full. Pour over this some milk and place a little butter on top; place in oven until well baked or browned.

Fried Apples—Put bacon fat in frying pan (if preferred to butter). Cut apples in thin slices after cores and skin have been removed, put in frying pan and let cook slowly until thoroughly done. Before serving, sweeten to taste with sugar. This makes an appetizing dish and can be used in place of vegetables.

French Fried Potatoes—Pare potatoes, cut them in balls or any fancy shape. Soak in cold water one hour. Then dry on a towel. Drop quickly into fat hot enough to brown them by the time they come to the surface. They are done when they float. Skim them from fat, drain on brown paper, salt and serve at once.

Chapman Mfg. Co., Toledo

A recluse is one that doesn't get out, who remains with his own kind, all of whom flatter each other with what they want to hear rather than what they should know. A cigarette would be little if any more injurious than a cigar if it were smoked in the same way. There is a standard in everything human—something to measure by.
