LANNING AGAIN ELECTED SUPERVISOR

SPLENDID CONTEST ON CLERK AND HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER.

THERE WERE 504 BALLOTS CAST OF WHICH 347 WERE SPLIT.

The Township Election Monday passed over with little excitement. There were not as many votes cast as last year. The Republicans ran away with nearly all the bacon, the only Democrat to get a slice being Stewart Montgomery, who was elected Highway Commissioner by a majority of 109. Following is the vote:

Supervisor—Lanning, 371; Kator, 101.
Township Clerk—Miller, 311; Heeny, 186.
Township Treasures—Sloan, 321; Van Valkenburg, 161.
Highway Commissioner—Stewart Montgomery, 304; Lawrence, 155.
Overseer of Highways—Johnson, 373; Schoof, 108.
Justice of Peace—Knapp, 342; Newton, 144.
Board of Review—Northrop, 363; Kholer, 117.
Constables—Perrin, 318; Lockwood, 162; Green, 746; Taylor, 127; Waterman, 346; Knight, 127; Brown, 351; Robbins, 125.

The town meeting was held at 2 p. m. and the following amounts were raised by tax:

Con agent fund	$1,500
Poor fund	200
Perm. hgh. way	2,500
Repair hgh. way	1,000
Woodchuck	50
Total	$5,250

CELEBRATES HIS FIFTIETH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY.

Saturday, April 1, was the fiftieth birthday anniversary of John Cobb, and was made an occasion for a family reunion. Relatives to the number of 30 were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Cobb at their home including Mrs. Alice Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Daley, Mr. and Mrs. Hurley Wesley and daughter, Mrs. Clara Wilkins and Mrs. Mildred and Milton Wilkins of Highland Park, Prof. and Mrs. Myron Cobb and daughter of Mt. Pleasant, Mrs. Arthur Rogers and three children of Marion, Mrs. Anna Cole and daughter, Nora and Mr. and Mrs. James Barrett and four children of Cherry Hill, Mrs. Orpha Cope of Owosso, Miss Rosetta Cope of Grand Ledge, Mrs. Henry Ballard and daughter of Sparta and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bogart of this place.

A four course dinner was served at noon, the table being attractively decorated in red and white. In the afternoon a program was given and as a surprise to Mr. Cobb a song was sung by the entire company entitled, "The Old Homestead" arranged from the "Old Oaken Bucket" by his sister, Mrs. Alice Peterson, telling of the old Cobb home, while a poem of his childhood days was read by another sister, Mrs. Anna Cole. The honor guest was presented with a handsome rocking chair as an anniversary gift.

Following a luncheon at 6 o'clock the evening was spent in games and a social time.

The visitors all remained over Sunday, returning home late in the day, voting the occasion an exceedingly pleasant one and Mr. and Mrs. Cobb the most hospitable of hosts.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

(By the Pastor.)

The subject will be, "The Place of the Church in the Social World." The evening subject will be "What Better is a Man than a Sheep."

The services last Sunday were well attended, let us do a little better next Sunday. Some in the community have not heard the Pastor as yet, and he has been on the field eighteen months. Is it not time old things passed away and all things become new? You know April is go-to-church month, so while others are beginning to cordially welcome you.

The B. Y. P. U. are now reorganizing and laying plans for larger work. We invite all who are not members of other societies to join us.

The superintendent, Mr. Lafty wishes to see every scholar in their respective classes every Sunday. Rally to all the services, April is rally month for all.

Have you found something? The pastor is looking for a man who will find an answer for you.

HUBBS MADE SPLENDID TALK SUNDAY.

Geo. C. Hubbs sales manager for the Dodge Bros. Automobile Company, of Detroit, gave a very interesting and instructive talk to the Bible classes at the Methodist church Sunday morning. He had an audience of sixty and later he talked to the whole school of 185. It was an appreciative audience and they were all very thankful that Mr. Hubbs felt inclined to leave his work in Detroit to come such a distance to help strangers. The message he left was one well worth dwelling upon. "Do what you can do." That means everything," said Mr. Hubbs. "No matter whether it's a kind word, a smile, a letter, a flower for some lonely heart, a little gift for some unfortunate, a word of praise for the pastor, superintendent, teacher or scholar. Its the "do what you can do" that counts. It's the little things that are great."

LEMON WAY DOWN SOUTH IS FLOR- IDA.

The biggest lemon ever "handed" anybody in our town was received at this office the other day from our old friend Tom Swan, formerly of here, now sojourning in Florida, and apparently having the time of his life. In fact there were two lemons, besides some flowers, palm leaves, cactus and some southern moss, but only one of the specimens of fruit was submitted to the measuring and weighing test. We can declare under oath that this lemon's longitudinal girth is 18 inches and its latitudinal disto. 16 inches while its specific gravity registers two pounds and six ounces. It has already been mistaken for a squash, and Tom wrote that it's name is Tropical Wonder which is certainly appropriate. He also enclosed some pictures of himself holding some fishes that were about the same length as Tom's legs as he held the trophies of his fishing skill in either hand.

Mr. Swan also gives in his accompanying letter a number of interesting facts concerning the various parts of Florida he has visited, mentioning the hunting, fishing and other pleasuring facilities to be found in Florida.

Northville School Notes.

(By the Teachers.)

Harold Dolk is a new pupil in the fourth grade.

Averil Henry of grade Three has been absent the past week.

Grace Franklin is back in the Third grade after an illness of a week.

Ival Franklin has reentered the First grade after a short absence.

Elton Thompson has entered the Sixth grade from the Novi schools.

Gertrude Kenyon of Plymouth visited the Sixth grade last week Wednesday.

Miss Alina Paddock of Milford visited friends in the Northville H. g. n. school last week.

Mrs. Ida Hendryx has presented 22 volumes to the Northville school library. They belonged to the library of Mrs. Hendryx's brother, the late James Hamilton.

The Eighth grade program Thursday morning, consisted of a reading by Ruth Cattermole, a piano solo by Stewart Coif and several songs by the Sixth grade girls. Mr. Misenar read one of Henry Van Dyke's best stories.

The Senior program Tuesday morning was in keeping with the Shakespeare celebration throughout the country this month. It consisted of a reading by Marie Wilcox, and a rendition of the court scene in "The Merchant of Venice" by the class.

ORIENT CHAPTER NO. 77, O. E. S.

ENTERTAIN.

The Eastern Star lodge of this place will entertain Kilwinning Chapter of Detroit this Friday. The visitors will conduct the initiatory work in the afternoon and a banquet will be served at 6 o'clock.

Orient Chapter will have charge of the evening work. The visitors are to come here in a special D. U. R. car.

CELEBRATED SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brosseau of near Clarencerville celebrated their 25 wedding anniversary last Saturday at their pleasant country home on the Five-Point road.

There were over seventy friends and relatives and children present to enjoy the 6 o'clock dinner and the mid-night lunch. They were recipients of many gifts and those present had a most delightful time.

DETROIT PRESBYTERY HELD 2 DAY SESSION

IN THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH HERE TUESDAY AND WEDNES- DAY.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Presbytery of Detroit held a two day session in the Northville church Tuesday and Wednesday. Included in the Presbytery are the counties of Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw and Livingston.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The Foreign society held forth Tuesday with Mrs. F. W. Clark of Detroit, president of the society, presiding. The devotional exercises were led by her, followed by a welcoming address by Mrs. D. P. Yerkes of this place. Mrs. A. R. Lewis of Detroit, responding for the visitors. Various reports were given by secretaries, which occupied the time till noon, when the ladies were served a luncheon by the Methodist Aid society.

The afternoon program opened with a devotion by Mrs. J. E. Webber and a solo by Mrs. A. E. Stanley. A very interesting talk was given by Miss Blanche Stevens who has been stationed in Korea. Miss Lucile Calkins rendered a solo and Rev. Webber dismissed the meeting with a benediction after the election of officers.

The young people of the church attended the evening session in which the boys' vested choir, Rev. Webber and Gordon Moffat, Ralph Taylor and Gibson Carpenter, took part. Harold Crosby of Detroit, president of the Young People's Union, delivered a speech as did Miss Bernice Wilkin, formerly missionary at Gumes, Cuba.

HOME MISSIONS.

Wednesday was Home Mission day and the morning assembly was opened by Mrs. D. P. Yerkes. Miss Wilson who is a member of the New York board of Women's Home Missionary society, again addressed the gathering while talks were given by representatives of the various districts, on the past year's work.

In the afternoon a drill and song by boys and girls of Mrs. A. E. Stanley's intermediate Sunday school class of the local church was given between the official reports. Miss Wilson then gave a resume of her work as a missionary in Cuba. Miss Lida Richardson of this place rendered a solo and a hymn was sung by the entire company.

The election of officers for the Woman's Home-Missionary society followed.

The members of the society, including visitors and local people numbered 150. Mrs. Jere C. Hutchins, wife of Supt. Hutchins of the D. U. R. came out with a special car and attended the session.

The meetings were of great value to this community, serving to create a wider interest in mission work.

W. R. C. NOTES.

The next regular meeting of the W. R. C. will be held in the Cattermole Hall next week Wednesday evening, April 12. There is to be no regular program at this time, however, April 9, being the fifty-first anniversary of Lee's surrender to Grant after the siege of Petersburg. You are all requested if possible to respond with some quotation or article of interest suitable for the occasion.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

(By the Pastor.)

The services of the Go-to-Church campaign for the month of April started in well at the Methodist church last Sunday. Let every member of the church and congregation rally to make every service the most helpful to the largest number possible. All strangers in town and others who have no church home, are cordially invited.

The sermon topic for next Sunday morning will be, "The Passion of Christ for the Will of God."

The attendance at Sunday school last Sunday was 183. It ought to be 200 next Sunday. Let every member help to make it so.

"Following the Peace Prince" is the topic for discussion at the Epworth League meeting at 6 o'clock.

The pastor's sermon topic for the evening service at 7 o'clock will be, "The Question of an Imprecious"

Prophet." The music is a most helpful part of all the services.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid society will be held at the home of Mrs. S. W. McLean Tuesday afternoon. All ladies of the church cordially invited.

There will be special services at the church Thursday and Friday evenings of next week. Also every evening of passion week. Let our people plan all their engagements so as to be present at all these services.

GARRICK THEATRE, DETROIT.

Taylor Holmes in "His Majesty Bunker Bean," accompanied by the entire original cast, returns to Detroit at the Garrick theatre next week, commencing Monday evening after a tremendously successful run of six months at the Cort theatre, Chicago. "His Majesty Bunker Bean" is a rare farcical play that is altogether delightful. It is surcharged with irresistible humor and studies in character. It is the last word in dramatic literature and simply revels in natural and native American fun.

A whole lot of fun has been made in the present irreverent age about the old "blue laws" of New England, but we are told that they had nothing on some more modern legislative freaks that could be revealed by a careful search of the statute books of various states and counties. It was recently asserted by a Washington man speaking to the Board of Commerce in Detroit that a Kansas law forbids the eating of snakes in that state; that

An Ann Arbor Interview.

Mr. Howard Tells His Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with an Ann Arbor man over two years' ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every Northville citizen.

Frank E. Howard, 504 W. Washington St., Ann Arbor, Mich., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble and was confined to my bed most of the time I could not turn over while lying down without having acute pains in the small of my back. If I managed to get up, I was only able to get about by using a cane. I could not sleep well on account of the frequent desire to void the kidney secretions and I was caused great distress by a burning sensation. Finally, I began to suffer from rheumatic pains, which made my case ten times worse. By chance, Doan's Kidney Pills aided all my suffering."

Over two years later, Mr. Howard said: "I am glad to confirm all I ever said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. I can add that I have used this medicine once or twice since with the best of results."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy, get Doan's Kidney Pills the name that Mr. Howard has twice publicly recommended. Foster-McClellan Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

WHERE THERE'S A WILL

A Detective Story Wherein the Mystery of the Conrad Murder is Unravelled.

SYNOPSIS

Gordon, a newspaper reporter, is awakened by a telephone summons to visit the residence of Anthony Conrad, a retired broker, who has been found dead on his couch.

Suspicion points to Gustav Conrad, his nephew, with whom he had quarreled the night before, and who to all appearances tried to commit suicide after killing his uncle.

Physicians find that Gustav has a chance to recover. The will leaves $5,000 to Gustav and the balance of the estate to George Mallet, another nephew.

Not satisfied with the apparent solution of the case, Semi Dual, the old man of Mystery, takes a hand in the tangled web of human life.

Dual asks Gordon to go with Johnson, the detective force and search the Conrad premises thoroughly for other evidence.

They find a footprint beneath a window and a finger print on the sill and also secure the will itself, for inspection and comparison with the two nephews' handwritings which Miss Burton aids in getting.

CHAPTER VI

A Decoy Letter.

The evidence was meagre. I discovered it after I was back in the cab and spending the long night and I gazed to myself.

So Miss Burton had a decoy letter. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

ually been new developments, and as fast as they are obtainable the Record will see that they are printed. Watch for our extra on the streets.

I tossed the paper aside and grunted. I could imagine that if Jimmy Dean saw that he would scold a large nigger in the newspaper woodpile. There had been a question in his eyes when I left him on the car that morning, and I knew that rather than think the Record bluffing over their lame story, he would be on tenter hooks of dismayed anxiety.

He would know that I had caught a lead he had not landed, and would be looking for the Dispatch to be "scooped" again. It was up to me to keep out of his way until the matter was safely in hand.

Well—the office where I sat appeared pretty safe. Still, I couldn't see why the boy didn't come back. He had been gone fifteen minutes, and that appeared long enough to me for him to have done the errand.

I picked up the paper again and read some more news.

Then I glanced at the clock and got up. I began to get nervous. What if Mallet wasn't so easy to lead into a trap as Marion Burton had thought?

What if, after all, he only gave a verbal answer and refused a written one and the boy had to be satisfied with that?

It was getting late, and if I had to stay for the sample of his writing I was going to be in a pretty fix.

I looked up the stairs and watched for a pair of blue clad legs to appear at the top. But no blue-clad legs appeared.

Unable to remain inactive for longer, I went out and climbed the stairs myself and looked down the street.

The direction of the Kenner Building, I had seen no sign of my boy.

A hand felt on my arm and I turned to see Tom Grant, one of the regular city men.

"Hello, look out," he said, "a car just came down the street."

I looked out and saw a car coming down the street. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool. I was not sure of it, but I was sure that she was not a fool.

came up.

"Hello, Grace!" he said, dropping out of step with the roundsman. "What you cooling your heels down here for—eh?"

"Same to you and many of them," I came back.

Johnson grinned. "I'm scouting," he explained.

"Scouting?" "That friend Dual of yours didn't seem to be exactly satisfied with all the statements of our friend Mallet. He told me to do a little work about the gentleman's flat and see what I could pick up."

"And what did you pick up?" I queried.

"I found a back door opening off his apartments and leading direct to a tradesman's entrance," said Johnson slowly. "That makes two ways in which it would be possible for any one to get out of his flat."

"But it doesn't prove anything at that," Johnson said.

"No," I merely settled a possibility. That seemed to be what was wanted."

I considered the matter while we stood there.

I wondered just what Dual knew that he had sent Johnson on this investigation, and more than anything else I wondered where my messenger had gone.

"Where are you going now?" I asked at length.

"Nowhere," said Johnson. "I'm just waiting around. I've got a shadow on Mallet, and I'm just watching. Bryce'll be down here before long, and we've a date with four friends at five o'clock. I've an idea things will begin to move shortly after that from what he told me after you left."

A blue-clad figure was coming up the street, dodging in and out among the pedestrians. I looked again to be sure, and at length I was certain that it was my boy.

I stepped back to the head of the stairs and met him as he came up.

"Sorry to have kept you waiting," he apologized as he held a bundle of papers in his hand.

"I've got them," he said, "but I've got to wait a moment before I can give them to you."

"What's the matter?" I asked.

"I've got to wait a moment before I can give them to you," he said.

seen his face glow almost with an inward light, and felt in that room in the tower like one treading the sanctuary of some pure temple, bathed in an atmosphere of pure love—all the struggling aromas of mankind.

And the wheel of justice was going around.

It seemed to me that each turn was setting the stage for the final climax of the drama of human weakness and selfishness which had caused the tragedy in so many lives.

The light of the day was lessening with each minute. The clouds, light and fleecy at noon, were heavy and black and threatening.

A low rumble of thunder growled across the sky as we drew up in front of the Record and stopped, carrying an import of violence, a muttered threat of what was to come.

I left the cab and mounted the stairs to the local room, and passed through it toward the door of Smithson's room at the far end. It stood partially ajar, and I could see that he had switched on the electric light above his desk. Its yellow glow shone about the crack of the door.

I crossed the room with a nod to one or two of the boys and tapped on the crack of the door.

"Come," snapped Smithson's voice. I swung the door inward and entered, and closed it until its latch clicked, turned and approached his desk.

He glanced up from under his green eye-shade and a crooked smile twisted his face, but for once he did not expend any sarcasm upon my absence from the post to which he had assigned me. Instead, he reached for a pad of paper, and drawing it in front of him, waited for me to speak.

I sat down by the desk and laid my hat on its top, then I leaned toward him and began.

OLD HEN ISLAND WASHED OUT

PILOT'S MARK FOR HALF CENTURY CARRIED AWAY BY MISSISSIPPI CURRENT

WAS CREATED IN SINGLE NIGHT

Old Land Flat Closely Allied With History of Memphis, Tenn.

Memphis, Tenn.—"Old Hen Island," that has been a pilot's mark on the Mississippi River for half a century, and closely allied with the history of Memphis is no more.

Only one of the "Old Hen's" little chickens remains. It is fast washing away. United States engineers say in a few months that "chick" will be gone and the history of "Old Hen and Little Chickens" will be written in memories.

"Old Hen Island" came into existence by a flank of the mighty Mississippi River. It was created in a single night 50 years ago, when the river took a sudden notion to pull away from its old bed and dig out a new entrance into Memphis Harbor. The swift current, cut around several points of sandy land, washing out new layous until several little islands were formed. They were so grouped about one big island that river men named them the "Old Hen and Little Chickens."

In days when flatboats brought great loads of produce to the South "Old Hen" was a safe harbor for them. It weathered many a craft on stormy nights and sheltered more than one shanty boat whose owner came into Memphis at night, committed depredations, and after creeping back to his shanty on the river and hurried away to safety.

A flock that snatched with a love romance was discovered that its head several years ago. Little Island, an island of the "Old Hen" to Adams was a cat boat then on the Arkansas river. It was named Old Hen.

We were coming from Memphis, he said, the king of the river. The first time he saw the river breaking in the first. Our cat boat was running like a cat, and she was a cat boat.

"An we rounded the point further west from the head of Old Hen Island, someone hailed me. I was on watch. We went to the wharf to slow down, and there stepped from a clump of bushes a slip of a girl not over 12 years old.

Capt. Horace Pugh was in command of the flatboat. He ordered us to land, and when we got the cat on board she told him a man had followed her mother and father from Lake Mead and finally murdered them. She escaped by running.

"From the little girl's story, her father had married a former sweetheart of the country on their trail for 10 years, and finally got his revenge by shooting the man and the woman, then dumping their bodies into the river. He crossed the river in a skiff and so far as I know was never arrested."

Old Hen Island was a splendid landing for coal boats a few years ago. The channel ran on its west bank until 1911, when it cut through, and steamboats deserted the old route in 1912. Now the sandbar is connected with the main Arkansas shore, and the mouth of the chute is filling, just as Frame's chute had filled, and cut off all the Old Hen's Little Chickens.

GETS NEEDLES FROM PATIENT

Doctor Finally Solves Mystery of Woman's Illness.

Seneca Falls, N. Y.—After baffling all the skilled physicians for six weeks, Dr. Fred Lester of Seneca Falls has cleared up the mysterious illness of Mrs. Homer Weyer by removing five sewing needles from her left side. Seven more needles are known to be somewhere in Mrs. Weyer's body. They will be removed by the aid of electricity.

Six weeks ago Mrs. Weyer accidentally swallowed a paper of needles which she placed in her mouth in order to take care of her baby. Nothing more was thought of the incident. A week later she was taken ill and complained of severe pains in her left side. It was diagnosed as pleurisy at first, but this theory was later given up and her condition baffled all physicians that were called.

An examination by Dr. Lester disclosed the points of two needles protruding thru the skin on her left side, which recalled to Mrs. Weyer the swallowing of the paper of needles. The physician removed in all five needles and the remainder will be extracted by the aid of strong magnetic current.

Beehive in Wall, "Ghost."

York, Pa.—A ghostly buzzing in the walls of the old S. B. Mumford home at Muddy Creek Forks, heard many times in 15 years, was explained when the weatherboarding was torn out. A hive of bees has occupied the space.

Fallen like rainbows are tokens of peace and both have a habit of appearing together.

There is always a great deal to be said on both sides of a question, which is not anything to do with either side.

In the best of women was satisfied with one more from man, but now she wanted all his earnings.

A man will have to do more than blow his own horn, if he wants to make himself heard in this world.

The man who laughs at trouble may not laugh long, but he is the last to laugh all right.

The fool is out for all he can get out of life, the wise man is in for all he can put into life.

A woman is never quite sure that a man loves her if she is in love with him herself.

When you step when putting your foot forward—From Judge.

HAY PICK PHILOSOPHY

No man is a complete failure who succeeds in making a perfect fool of himself.

A woman is sometimes known to do as she keeps.

Woe is all right, but don't make it a habit.

Genius consists in a talent for making good.

Misery is company, but it is usually of the unrequited sort.

To the great life is just another name for the morning after.

Even is the by-product of success.

BLIND MEN LEARN SALESMANSHIP

WASHINGTON CLASS MAKES PROGRESS WITH THIS, AS WELL AS ADVERTISING

OPENS A NEW BUSINESS FIELD

Brooklyn Association for Improving Condition of the Poor Encouraged

Brooklyn, N. Y.—With eyes sightless, but with typical perception abnormally keen, a group of 15 earnest young men are undertaking the study of advertising and salesmanship. Each Saturday afternoon the members of this unique class gather in a room on the third floor of the building, at 164 Livingston street, occupied by the Brooklyn Association for Improving the condition of the poor.

A short time ago Charles B. Hayes, director of the work for the blind division of the association, had upon a plan which he thought blind men who have received an education in the schools could become useful and independent members of society by entering careers of the trades and professions where a lack of eyesight would not prove an insurmountable obstacle.

The experiment was first tried with a class in advanced typewriting, specializing in the transcription of court testimony by means of the dictaphone. Three graduates of the first class have already secured good positions with court stenographers who have found their services extremely satisfactory. The success of the first effort encouraged Mr. Hayes to establish a class in advertising and salesmanship.

Guy Hubbard, who volunteered to devote himself to the work and give up his Saturday afternoons for the benefit of the blind students, is a man well qualified for the task. He is both a practical advertiser and an experienced teacher of advertising and public relations. He has been connected with the staff of the New York Herald Tribune, a trade publication, Mr. Hubbard is a former public relations agent and a contributor to the advertising and public relations columns of the New York Herald Tribune.

During the first few weeks the members of the class have shown remarkable progress and Mr. Hubbard justly prides himself on their accomplishments. Thus far he has secured for the order that much demand which had been discovered and that it was only a matter of a short time before the efforts of the students at preparing advertising copy could be presented as available for the use of the advertiser.

The method of instruction differs but slightly from that pursued in an ordinary class. The students receive weekly lectures and individual assignments and are given for preparation during the interval between sessions. This includes the preparation of advertising copy, which the members write on the typewriter, most of them being adepts at this touch system of operation.

No tuition fees are charged to members of the class, reading-room this morning. The class has grown rapidly and Mr. Hayes predicts it will be a matter of only a short time before a permanent institution for the education of the blind to the higher fields of endeavor will be established in Brooklyn.

Representatives of the Teachers' College at Columbia followed the movement with interest and promised their active aid in forming on the spot. It is expected that shortly the services of one of the professors of the college will be secured in connection with the organization of a class in advanced French for the blind.

The class in advertising and salesmanship is the first of its kind in this country.

FIRE GONG SAVES PIGGIE

Firemen Sent to Capture Animal Hear Clang and With Duty Calling 'Give Up the Chase'

Minneapolis, Minn.—Ed Welch and Arthur Spotswood, firemen at Station No. 11, still enjoy a semblance of a reputation as foot racers. They enjoy it yet because they have a good alibi for not catching the pig.

To start at the beginning so the pig can be identified, he it said that the pig was a prize pig. He was won in some sort of a contest and was healthy enough to break out of his pen and the owner's home.

The owner was a woman and she called up the fire station and sent an alarm of pigs astray.

Welch and Spotswood had outdone the speedy track athletes of the St. Paul fire department and were detailed to catch the pig.

The pig gave them an awful chase. It turned into a hurdle race because the pig turned under several fences. The fireman had just got the porcine fugitive in a corner and were closing in for the capture when they heard a fire gong. They had to let the pig go and answer the fire alarm from the De La Salle institute. The pig is still at large.

Trouble never disappoints the chap who is looking for it.

Household Hint

FOR THE HOME SEAMSTRESS

If your sewing machine is giving trouble, the stitch uneven or the needle seems to catch as it passes up and down the plate, the following suggestions may save the expense of repairs and the annoyance of having to submit to poor work:

Remove needle plate and remove any lint found there. The accumulation of lint found under the needle plate would cause needle to catch as it passes through.

Replace the needle plate and give machine a kerosene bath as follows: Take out thread, fill all oil holes with kerosene and run machine hard for a few minutes; then leave it for a few hours, until the kerosene will have evaporated and the dirt have been cut out by the oil. Then use good machine oil.

Do this every once in a while, and your machine will be kept in good working condition.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Use waxed paper, like bread is wrapped in, to rub nickel on stoves and nickel-plated teakettle, percolator, etc. It keeps them shining like new.

To clean white shades; take shades down. Just take a white cloth, wet with alcohol, then rub on shade. Take clean cloth and wipe. Hang shade up on window without letting it get dry. Also good to clean clothes.

Escalloped Peas and Salmon—Make a sauce of two table-spoons flour, one table-spoon butter, one level tea-spoon salt, pinch of pepper; mix well. Add one cup boiling milk and let come to boil. Then take one can red salmon (crush it well) and one of peas; put in baking dish one layer of peas, then one layer of salmon, then one layer of sauce, and so on until all is used. Sprinkle half cup bread crumbs on top and a few bits of butter. Put in oven and bake one-half hour. Serve hot.

Carrot Croquettes (new)—Wash, scrub and boil half dozen medium carrots until tender. Wash and grate carrots. Squeeze out the juice. Add one cup of the juice and one juice, half teaspoon chopped sweet pepper and half teaspoon salt. When mixture is cold, mold it into balls, roll in cracker crumbs and egg fat.

French Fruit Cake (eggless, butterless and milkless)—Two cups of raisins, two cups water; boil together 10 minutes. Add enough water to make two cups after raisins are taken out. Put into hot, raisin water two-thirds cup shortening (lard or other will do), two cups brown sugar, a little salt. Take three cups flour, one heaping teaspoon cinnamon, one of cloves, one teaspoon soda and no of baking powder, sift into the other ingredients while hot. Stir thoroughly. Bake slowly. Citron peel may be added, also chopped nuts, if desired. This is a delicious cake and will keep months a long time. This recipe makes two cakes. Steamed and served with boiled dressing, will make a good Thanksgiving plum pudding.

Mock Cherry Pie—One cup cranberries, one cup chopped raisins; one cup granulated sugar, one cup boiling water, one table-spoon vanilla, three table-spoons flour; mix all together. Makes filling for three pies.

Baked Corn With Oysters—Put one can corn in buttered baking dish, add one pint oysters, enough milk to moisten slightly; season, sprinkle with bread crumbs. Brown nicely in oven.

Fruit and Nut Salad—One large pineapple, one-quarter pound shelled almonds one-quarter pound shelled filberts, one dozen maraschino cherries, lettuce, cream or mayonnaise dressing. Remove rind and eyes from pineapple and cut flesh into small pieces. Blanch nuts by pouring boiling water over them and allowing them to stand a few minutes, when the skin can be easily removed. Chop fine and add to pineapple. Pile in little heaps on lettuce leaves, cover with dressing and decorate with cherries.

WHAT FAST AUTO CAN DO

Energy of Machine Going Sixty Miles an Hour Is Terrific

It was going sixty miles an hour! That is the favorite expression used when describing the speed at which a train or an automobile travels past.

What if an automobile traveling at the rate of sixty miles an hour should come to a sudden stop, such as, for instance, by striking a heavy bridge abutment?

A fair idea of the completeness of the wreck may be had by imagining the machine falling from a height of 125 feet, or from the top of a ten-story office building. An object falling from a height of 125 feet would have the same velocity at the instant of striking the ground as the automobile would have traveling sixty miles an hour.

The energy possessed by a 2,400-pound automobile traveling at the rate of sixty miles is 299,000 foot pounds, which is the same as the of a load weighing 1,000 pounds at the instant of striking the ground from a drop of 25 feet.

We see a resistance of 6,600 pounds applied to the automobile. It would come to rest in a distance of four feet in one second of time and in coming to rest would be doing work at an average rate of over 500 horse power—wonderful.

REMARKABLE ARCHERY

Skilled Archers Could Kill a Man at 500 Yards

In the days when the buffalo was found in vast herds on the western plains there were Indians who while riding at a gallop could send an arrow through a buffalo's body. Remarkable as this archery was, it did not equal that reached by the archers of ancient times. It is of record that the McRaes of Gairloch, Scotland, were skilled archers that they could hit a man at the distance of 500 yards. In 1794 the Turkish ambassador at London shot an arrow in a field near that capital 415 yards against the wind.

The secretary of the ambassador, on hearing the expressions of surprise from the English gentlemen present, said the sultan had shot 500 yards. This was the greatest performance of modern days, but a pillar standing on a plain near Constantinople recorded shots ranging up to 800 yards. Sir Robert Ainslie, British ambassador to the sultan, shot a record in 1798. He was present when the sultan shot a record of 800 yards.

NEW SALES MANAGER FOR KING AUTO SALES CO.

E. J. Flint has taken charge and will have the management of the King Auto Sales Company, Michigan distributor for the eight cylinder King product at 498 Woodward Avenue according to a statement issued by President Altemus Ward, Jr. of the King Motor Car Company.

While Mr. Flint comes to Detroit's retail automobile colony as a stranger he comes into the business with a résumé of experience that is paramount to success. For years he was consulting engineer and consulting sales expert for one of the largest railway equipment companies in the country and has approved the purchase of many thousands of dollars worth of machines. Mr. Flint resigns a lucrative position with the Chalmers factory to take up the management of the King distributing business in Michigan.

In making the selection Mr. Ward states the officials of his company were greatly influenced by Mr. Flint's business record which was of such quality that it commanded immediate recognition. New ideas were what the King organization was seeking for the Michigan business. They wanted a man who would have modern business methods and would not handicap the King Auto Sales Company with antiquated automobile selling policies.

Mr. Flint has already taken charge of the local sales force. He does not intend to make radical changes, preferring to gradually work in his policies until they become part of the business. His enthusiasm will be a strong asset to the King Auto Sales Company and will do much to push the Company rapidly to the front.

It has been a long time since the King Motor Car Company has been making Mr. Flint declares. "Having been in a position to know what other big men in the automobile industry think of the King and the organization manufacturing the car, I have given the question of selling King cars much thought. In fact I have been awaiting an opportunity for an opening with good territory."

"Here in Detroit the King has a large number of cars in operation with a clientele of customers that makes business a real pleasure. While I have not met the dealers in the state I feel sure from my investigations that we have a strong state organization. Our co-operative policy together with the product that the King has for the year is bound to make our state business strongly successful."

"We will carry on our business here in Michigan on these same sound principles that have brought the King Motor Car Company and their large distributors to the front. It is my policy to step into this position and see reports on my desk for local salesmen delivered withinness."

NEW ROADS MAY NOT BE MAINTAINED BY STATE

TIFFIN—Arch Smith, of the state highway department, addressed the township trustees and district road supervisors of Seneca county at the annual good roads meeting here. He brought the official information that Seneca county this year will receive $39,000 from the rum-malt, lottery, county and auto license funds for improving and maintaining county roads. He created a sensation when he declared that there is no definite assurance that the state will maintain a road after it is once taken over. He asserts that the future legislation will undo what has been done in this line unless the state road status is definitely fixed in a constitutional amendment.

NEW FACTORY FOR LIMA

LIMA—The Lewis Bros. Manufacturing Co. of Rockford, O., has decided to locate in Lima, and closed a deal with the Chamber of Commerce. Excavating was begun for the new factory buildings the company will occupy. The manufacture of indoor finishing will be the principal product. Two hundred men will be employed. This is the fourth factory to locate in Lima since January 1.

RAILROAD YARDS TOO SMALL

TIFFIN—Because the local yard of the Big Four railroad are not large enough to accommodate several trains at one time without blocking the street crossings, officials are now ranging the train schedule. After a flood of complaints that the crossing were closed by the trains, police have been stationed at each crossing to keep them open during the heavy traffic hours.

The Entente Powers have formally declined Lansing's proposal to disarm merchant vessels.

They are still at large.

Does It Run On Kerosene?

THE most important feature of a farm power engine today is the fuel it uses.

That, more than anything else, determines its usefulness and economy.

At present prices of gasoline and kerosene, you could not afford to accept a gasoline engine as a gift, if you had to use it.

You could better afford to pay a big premium for a Mogul kerosene engine.

See the Mogul work on kerosene. Ask your dealer to show you the difference in fuel cost between a Mogul in any size from 1 to 50-H. P., and a gasoline engine of the same size. The figures will surprise you.
