NORTHVILLE'S BIG DAY CELEBRATING WAR'S END

Monday's Event, a Never-to-be-Forgotten Affair, Lasted from Dawn to Midnight and Then Some.

Gloriously-Mad People, Hundreds of Autos, Countless Flags, Dozens of Huge Steel Bells, Thousands of Whistles and Guns in Big Parade.

Like most other cities and towns and villages and hamlets between North America's circling seas, from the Arctic to the great southern gulf, our little city's outbreak of jubilation last week Thursday was but the prelude to the real thing in the way of celebration of the real thing. We thought we had done ourselves proud in the first instance, but Monday we found out that we had previously overlooked many effective sources of expression and countless joy-stunts in the demonstration of world joy at the cessation of world war. In every breast, consciously or unconsciously, was not only gratitude for the blessing of longed-for peace, but the soul-thrill of a world waking from the bloody nightmare of war to the white dawn of a new and glorious day such as no previous history of world peoples has recorded. For our share of the problems and sacrifices that still face the nations we had no thought, for one grand day at least.

While Northville people were a few hours later than the big cities in "going to it" the enthusiasm grew from the early daylight when the first factory whistle sounded until the long line of automobiles that formed a chain linking us to our sister village to the south resolved itself into its separate links.

In her lesser degree, according to her size and opportunity Northville did nearly everything that big Detroit was doing and several other things besides.

Soon after daylight, when the whistles had shrilled and the church bells and town bell had clanged their

PLYMOUTH'S GREETING TO NORTHVILLE:

Plymouth, Mich., Nov. 12, 1918.

The citizens of Plymouth, through its Village Authorities, extend to Northville and its citizens hearty congratulations for the splendid showing made and for their enthusiastic co-operation on the occasion of the Peace Day Celebration on Monday, in commemoration of the world's greatest victory.

The part contributed by Northville in that wonderful outpouring of patriotism and numbers will long remain a precious memory, cementing still more firmly the fellowship and unity of purpose between the sister villages, that have so grandly and fittingly been demonstrated ever since the beginning of the war.

was one of the happiest celebrations in town, putting in the greater part of the day as "Uncle Sam," sitting on the radiator of Ray Baker's car with its load of girls, and beating a drum which was carried all through the civil war.

Before noon, stores and residences all over town had blossomed forth in the national colors, and nearly every person on the streets was either carrying or wearing a flag. Whistles, tin horns and "squawkers" of all kinds were heard—when they could be—and shot-guns, revolvers, rifles and other firearms punctured the general din in all directions.

Wrapped in a big American flag which floated out behind his buggy, Comrade E. K. Starkweather, another veteran of the 60's, careered exultantly around town during the early forenoon. A delegation from Plymouth came over in several autos, behind one of which was dragged a "Kaiser" effigy, and "paraded" for awhile with our "bunch." Long before noon people from the surrounding country began driving in and at one o'clock the line began forming for Plymouth, where both towns were to join in a send off for the latest selects from this district who had been scheduled to leave for camp that day—but didn't.

Headed by a section of the Northville band followed by decorated cars—filled with Red Cross workers, "Uncle Sam" motor trucks and touring cars loaded with school-students, citizens of village and farming community, every car more or less elaborately decorated with the red, white and blue, the first end of the parade was entering Plymouth before the final cars had left the corporation limits of Northville. As the procession reached the village limits of Plymouth, factory whistles sounded forth a deafening chorus of welcome. Big locomotives added their voices to the volume of greeting, which was answered by the bells, guns, shouts and band instruments of the visitors. Scores of Northville people went over by street car, and the combined population of the two towns made a crowd of people that lined the streets in all directions along the line of march of the mammoth parade, in the formation of which the Plymouth section led, followed by Northville's long line of cars.

The plan of going to Plymouth was announced only a couple of hours before the time set for the start from here, but it was estimated that nearly a hundred autos were in line all displaying the colors and most of them furnished with poisonmakers of some kind. The Schrader delivery-truck swathed in bunting carried on its top the Goddess of Liberty, represented by Mrs. Harry Tatt, and filled with a squad of Northville business girls who had spent most of the forenoon marching around the streets carrying the biggest Star Spangled Banner they could get hold of. Not an accident marred the day so far as Northville was concerned, another cause of thankfulness to the fired, happy folks who fell asleep at night to the lullaby of a big bell which had been left standing at the foot of the flag pole, and which was industriously kept going by relays of youngsters until everybody but themselves had gone home, after the final demonstration of the day, a big bonfire on the main corner, accompanied by the firing of the last cartridges that could be found anywhere in town.

Altogether, Northville may well feel that she did her part in the first celebration of a day that will never be forgotten as long as history shall endure.

YERKES REYNOLDS

The marriage of two of Northville's well known young people, took place Tuesday evening, Nov. 12, at eight o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Mary Reynolds, when her daughter, Gertrude, became the wife of Vine Yerkes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Yerkes, Rev. Edward V. Belles performing the ceremony, in the presence of about 30 guests. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Alice Yerkes, was bridesmaid, their brother, Osmond, best man and Miss Hazel Bishop, maid of honor. The bride's gown was white georgette crepe and her flowers were white roses; the bridesmaid, also in white georgette, carried pink chrysanthemums and the maid of honor was gowned in coral crepe and carried white chrysanthemums. After the serving of the wedding supper the bridal couple "escaped" for a two weeks' wedding trip "somewhere."

LETTER FROM

JOHN COUCH

Under date of October 4, John Couch, who has suffered severe wounds in the service as a U. S. Marine, wrote as follows:

"Dear Mother: I am feeling fine, notwithstanding the fact that I am roughing it again. I can carry my equipment alright and I guess I am a soldier once more."

This is a nice time to travel in France, everything is so beautiful I thought it was an exceptional thing to see so many berries when I was in the hospital but now I find that they are all over France. While at the hospital the boys gathered a 10-quart part of them and the cook at our galley made it a large pie. I told him to help himself and what was left we would take to our little tent. Eight of us had all we could eat and say! it was good. We all thought about the pie Mother used to make.

"Some English women run a coffee counter here and with every cup of coffee you get a pleasant smile. I got this writing paper of them. Some of the boys seem to have a dislike for anything English but I find that I am naturally contradicting any one who says anything against the English, and every English woman I see I wonder if your mother was like her. Well Mother, I believe the war will be over soon and if I am still so as to be around I will try to come home quickly."

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION.

Mayor Coldren has received from the state department at Lansing a copy of Gov. Sleeper's proclamation calling upon the people of Michigan to observe next Sunday, Nov. 17, as Victory Sunday, and to "gather in their accustomed places of worship, and there by prayers and praise to render thanks to Almighty God for the triumph of our cause and the restoration of peace on earth."

BENEFIT FOR W. C. T. U.

The Northville W. C. T. U. gives a benefit entertainment at the Alseum Tuesday, Nov. 19 to raise funds to meet the $50 Liberty Bond pledge of the society. This is a laudable purpose which well deserves a liberal patronage. Do not forget it. Come. Interesting features other than the pictures are promised.

PATRIOTIC FUND PLEDGES.

Patriotic fund pledges for November will be payable at the Lapham State Savings bank on Friday and Saturday, November 15 and 16, during regular banking hours.

NOTICE TO NOVI PEOPLE.

A representative will be at each of the Northville banks and also at the Novi Town hall, this Saturday, November 16, to receive subscriptions to the Oakland County Patriotic Fund. If you have not already made your subscription, do so at once, as failure to subscribe must be explained to the war board.

Signed: NOVI WAR BOARD,
Dan Matthews Chairman.

The Kaiser as I Knew Him For Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

The jubilation with which the news of the sinking of the Lusitania was received by the German people was general. It was so significant that I believe America would have declared war immediately had it been known. I have failed to find a single German who did not exult over the Lusitania crime, and the activity of the Zeppelins in their raids on open towns evoked similar demonstrations.

That the views which the people held regarding the conduct of the war were strongly influenced by the public press, which was absolutely controlled by the government, was only to be expected. The fact that in peacetime the press of Germany was perhaps the most valuable in the world, made it a particularly valuable tool in the hands of the government in time of war.

The German newspaper is gospel to the people. The last word in any argument was always furnished by proof supplied by some newspaper article. "Es steht in der Zeitung," liberally translated, "The paper says so," was always final and conclusive. Nothing the papers declared was too preposterous to be believed.

The press was used to excellent advantage to conceal reverses, and to make the utmost capital out of successes. Right from the start the newspapers declared that Germany was fighting a defensive war, that the nations of the world had jumped on Germany's neck because they were jealous of her growing power.

The importance which the Kaiser and his leaders placed in public opinion among the German people is clearly illustrated by the announcements they made and the measures they resorted to from time to time, for home consumption.

When in December, 1916, for instance, the Kaiser realized that the resumption of unrestricted submarine warfare, which he had determined upon, might bring neutral nations, including the United States, into the war, he felt that it was necessary to do something to uphold the spirit of his people. It took the form of a proposal of peace to the allies.

This proposal was designed to accomplish two distinct purposes: First, it was to convince the German people that their Kaiser was really the peace-loving monarch he had always professed to be; second, it was to demoralize the allies by dividing them against themselves.

This much is certain: The Kaiser never intended the allies to accept the proposal he made. He admitted that much to me, as did also the Prince von Pless, his most intimate advisor. It was termed in such a way that the allies could not possibly accept it. But it served one of the purposes which it was intended to achieve, and nearly accomplished the other.

CHAPTER XVI.

Germany in Wartime.

While the German people have always been in thorough accord with the Kaiser's ambitious project which is so significantly described by the popular slogan, "Deutschland über alles," when the great war, which was to achieve Germany's aims, commenced, it came almost as much as a surprise to the Germans as it was to the rest of the world. They knew it was inevitable and they looked forward eagerly to "Der Tag," but when it arrived the bustle and excitement, not to say panic, which developed throughout Germany was so pronounced that in some cases it approached the ludicrous.

Obviously the people were kept in ignorance of the plans of their war barons in order that hostilities might come as a complete surprise to them and give color to the government's contention that the war was forced upon Germany.

So little thought did we give to the complexities of the political situation that on Friday, July 31, 1914, my wife and I started off on a motor trip. We had heard so many rumors of war within the previous few years that we saw no reason why an amicable solution should not again be found as it had always been before.

On our way out the Charlottenburger Chaussee we passed the Kaiser and the Kaiserin driving to Berlin from Potsdam at about sixty miles an hour, and there were other indications of activity, but we attached little importance to them.

When we reached Potsdam, however, and saw thousands of tons of coal heaped up between the railroad tracks which were ordinarily kept clear, we realized that preparations for war were being made in earnest and we stopped to consider whether it would not be better after all to return home. Such was our ignorance of war that we decided that even though it were not advisable to motor in Berlin and Potsdam, where we were bound, we might safely plan a tour in the Black Forest in Germany.

We had left Berlin late in the afternoon. In the evening when we arrived at Götha, we found that the bouncers, waiters in the restaurants and hotels had already left and that the older reserves expected a general call the next day.

The next morning we started for Frankfurt. As we passed through village after village, war preparations became more and more evident. Measures were being taken everywhere to arouse enthusiasm—youthful men gathered on school steps were singing patriotic songs, students were marching and speeches were being made in the market places.

About five o'clock that afternoon we arrived in Frankfurt. The whole place was in a fever of excitement over the mobilization posters and their resumption against the French was being aroused by "extras," which were handed out without charge, announcing that the French had already dropped bombs on the railroad at Nürnberg and that French officers in autos had over-ridden the borders. The ridiculous statements about French flyers dropping bombs on the railroad at Nürnberg had not the slightest foundation, of course.

The older people who had lived through the war of 1870 had interested audiences for once while they related past experiences and gave advice as to what preparations to make. A possibility of food shortage seemed to be uppermost in all minds, and the groceries were stormed with eager buyers. Sals suddenly jumped to 75 cents a pound and other things in proportion.

On Sunday, August 2, all the gasoline in the country was commandeered, and we heard of many American tourists being put out of their cars in the cities and even on country roads, no matter how inaccessible to trains they might be. We accordingly decided to stow our car away in an old wagon shed attached to a hotel and sought to return to Berlin by train.

At the railway station there was such a tremendous crowd that it was quite impossible to get anywhere near the ticket office, and anyway no promise could be given as to trains to Berlin.

Trunks and bags were piled high in every available space and it was months before that enormous pile of baggage was finally sorted out.

We decided to defer our effort to reach Berlin until Monday, since there seemed no hope of getting away that day.

On Monday morning the streets were filled with excited crowds destroying every sign with a French word on it and looking for spies. The papers had announced that the country was full of French spies, women as well as men. I saw the crowd stop an automobile, take a woman out and literally tear her clothes to shreds before the police succeeded in rescuing her from the mob and took her to the police station. The general supposition was that all the man spies were masquerading as women and the first thing the mob did was to pull out hair pins to see whether the hair was real.

On Monday evening, we managed to edge our way into the last through train to Berlin. We were side-tracked innumerable times to allow troop trains to pass through, and we were required to keep our windows closed so that no enemy passenger could drop bombs on the bridges we crossed. It was a hot August night and the lack of ventilation was most oppressive.

Our compartment was crowded with officers on their way to join their regiments and very grand and important they felt in their new field-gray uniforms which they have long been away in moth balls for just this opportunity, but which took the German people as well as the allies completely by surprise.

At Naumburg, which is about halfway between Frankfurt and Berlin, a company of soldiers boarded the train and guarded the corridors while a non-commissioned officer questioned the passengers.

My wife, who was asleep in a corner of the coupe I, was the only woman in the compartment. Believing that her sleep might be feigned and she might, in fact, be a man in woman's clothing, the officer yelled at her: "Where are you going?" Her American accent, revealed when she answered him, incensed him the more and he demanded angrily: "What right have you to use this train? Where is your passport?"

By that time I had produced all the papers of identification I could find and tried to tell him that my wife and I were returning to our home in Berlin, but he was too excited to listen and would have dragged us off the train had not an officer, with whom I had been talking en route, intervened and said: "I shall make myself personally responsible for these people." I was glad I had admired his new uniform.

From the coupe next to ours I saw soldiers drag six Russians, throw them down and kick them in the face, and one was a woman! The train pulled off as the crowd closed in on them so that I was unable to ascertain the fate of those innocent but helpless passengers.

When we finally reached Berlin, about five the next morning, it seemed like a dead city. There was not a droschke, a taxi or a tram in sight. Every available means of locomotion had been mobilized for the time being. As we had heavy bags, we simply had to find something to take us home and after half an hour's search far from the station I found an old cab driver who thought he could take us for the liberal bonus I agreed to pay him. We had hardly got seated when an officer tried to force us out, and only my wife's quick plan of illness saved him a black eye and me from being on a large fine.

After a long and weary wait, the efforts to capture spies were doubled, and the mob had a new lot of signs to tear down. We were forbidden to talk English on the telephone or on the street. We kept to our homes rather closely. Most of the buses, taxicabs and horses had been commandeered, and the only signs of life in Berlin were furnished by the officers driving madly about in high-powered cars which exceeded all speed limits and other traffic regulations.

After a few days, things began to return to normal again. The food supply seemed ample and the headlines in the newspapers were encouraging and the reports of victories upon victories so convincing that every one expected the war to be over within a very short time and they began to eat up the stores they had so excitedly collected.

Bread cards were initiated, it is true, but the amount allowed was more than adequate for all except, perhaps, the very poor who depend almost entirely upon bread.

The press began advising the people to conserve food but at the same time said that if curfews were taken there was no danger of there not being enough for all. School teachers gave daily talks to the children to eat everything on their plates. One went so far as to announce: "I always like my plate, children, and you should do the same."

The result of these warnings was merely to increase hoarding and buying from food speculators. I never knew of a single German who voluntarily deprived himself of a single article of food out of patriotic motives. The only sacrifice a German is willing to make for his country is the one he cannot escape.

As time went on and England's blockade became increasingly effective, the internal condition of Germany went from bad to worse, and long before I left Berlin, on January 22, 1918, conditions had become well-nigh unbearable.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Economic Situation in Germany.

By the spring of 1916, butter and meat had become extremely scarce in Berlin. My wife had remained in America, where she had accompanied me in the summer of 1915, and during her absence I dined at hotels and restaurants, where the food was still rather good. In June, 1916, I left for America again and just as I was leaving meat cards were issued for the first time.

I returned to Berlin with my family in October, 1916. Conditions had changed considerably for the worse during the summer. I found that every one who had the money had bought up every available pound of food and soap which had not already been commandeered by the government. Butter, potatoes, eggs, milk, flour, sugar, soap, bread and meat and dry groceries were all rationed and it was now no longer necessary for women to stand in line in front of the shops, sometimes all night, to await the morning opening.

Shopping by the card system was very complicated and the quantities permitted by the ration cards so small that a well-balanced meal was an impossibility. To dine in a restaurant it was necessary to take a whole pocketful of cards and make a careful analysis of them before ordering the meager meal which the law allowed.

Empty boxes were used to decorate the depleted show windows of the shops. The fact that they were empty was not known to the public and very often the windows would be broken by hungry mobs who couldn't resist the sight of what appeared to be so much food. This led the government to order the shopkeepers to label the boxes "Empty Boxes" in order to avert such disturbances and riots.

There was simply nothing to buy in the food line except substitutes, and of these there were hundreds, each worse than the last. The remark: "If things get much worse, we shall soon be eating rats as the Parisians did in 1870" brought the rejoinder: "Well, that wouldn't be so bad; what I'm dreading is the time when we shall have to be content with rat substitutes."

When we finally had cards for coffee substitute, I gave up interest in substitutes and commenced to patronize the speculators, figuring that it was better to risk the penalties imposed by the law for violations of the food regulations than to ruin our health through undernourishment.

For a long time we were permitted to receive "presents" of bacon, ham, sausages, eggs and butter from Denmark, but this was finally prohibited through the influence of the Central Einkaufs Gesellschaft (The Central Society for Buying Food From Other Countries) which found that it was interfering with their graft.

This society was formed by a company of clever Jewish business men to buy food from foreign countries and sell it to the people, a small percentage of the profits going to the government. It not only developed into a most successful enterprise from the standpoint of profit, its prosperity being augmented by graft, but it provided a haven for the slacker sons of the proprietors and stockholders. Just before I left Berlin, this company, to hide their war profits, bought a building for three million marks, which they claimed was needed for the business.

One of the subterfuges resorted to by some of the war profiteers to conceal the extent of their gains and escape taxation was to invest their surplus earnings in works of art and other expensive luxuries. As the tax assessors were based principally upon the individual's bank deposits and the tax-collecting machinery was very much out of gear it was comparatively easy to evade the law by careful manipulation of one's bank account, and by disbursing profits received without having them go through the bank. A German whom I knew told me that he had disposed of an oil painting which had cost him $300 for no less than $85,000, the price of works of art and antiques having increased to a remarkable extent because of the demand for them from tax dodgers.

Under the stress of the changed food conditions the hungry German soon replaced the honest German. Germans had always had a reputation for honesty, but their claims to such distinction disappeared with the food supply. Necessity soon brought out all that was worst in the German character.

Although the government decreed a high fine and imprisonment as punishment for buying or selling anything which had been commandeered, speculators sprang up on every side and people bragged openly of what they had stored away.

The worst deprivation was in the lack of fats. The people showed it very plainly. One seldom saw a fat man or a fat woman, although before the war fatness was almost characteristic of the German physique. Indeed, I saw a father stout woman being followed by at least twenty boys who were jeering at her and making stinging remarks about the manner in which she had retained her rotundity. A fat person in Germany today is regarded with suspicion.

Naturally the weakened condition of the people makes them all easily susceptible to disease. Epidemics spread rapidly and I am inclined to believe that little care was taken by the authorities to protect the older people from infection. I know that my secretary's mother fell and broke both her legs last summer (1917) and was taken to the accident ward of a hospital where her fellow-patients were all crippled. Ten of the inmates of that ward died in a single day from dysentery, and the following day the death list was increased by twelve, the old lady with the broken legs being one of them. Twenty-two more bread cards saved at the expense of twenty-two useless women in one hospital alone—a fair record for two days!

I have no proof that these unfortunate victims of disease were deliberately infected by the hospital authorities, but the mere fact that twenty-two patients in an accident ward died from dysentery in two days is certainly evidence of gross carelessness if nothing worse.

To buy new clothes it is necessary to secure a certificate from the government to the effect that you are absolutely in need of clothing, and even then, you are compelled to give up the suit you are discarding.

Branch offices for investigating the necessity of replenishing one's wardrobe have been established all over the cities and they are always crowded. Women are in charge and they seemed thoroughly to enjoy their authority and their power to deny an application for new clothing.

When I left Berlin the law permitted a man just two shirts, two collars, two pairs of socks, etc., a year. Since soap had disappeared from the market so many inadequate substitutes had been tried that one's laundry invariably came home full of holes.

In November, 1917, I paid $100. for a suit of clothes which if it had been made out of cloth of good quality would have been worth about $35. As it was, the tailor frankly admitted that the goods were made of re-worked yarn, and because of the lack of cotton thread, the seams were worked with a material which looked like paper string.

This paper string was in general use at that time, the department stores all displaying notices warning customers not to carry their parcels by the string. Many purchases were no longer wrapped, to save paper, and no purchase amounting to less than $5 was delivered.

Before I left Berlin, artificial silk was the principal fabric obtainable for ladies' wearing apparel. Almost every woman in the land, princess or maid, was attired in artificial silk. It sold for $10 a yard. In normal times it would have been worth from 75 cents to $1. In the fall of 1917, a cloth suit was unobtainable for less than $300. It would have been worth $25 in normal times. All fur skins were needed for soldiers' wear and the few that were still obtainable for home use in the form of fur sets sold for $1,000 up.

Through speculators, we obtained some imitation soft soap at $4 per pound. People said it was made from human corpses, but it was the only thing available outside of the substitutes which were soap only in name. A small cake of toilet soap easily brought $3. A servant's plain wooden wardrobe, formerly costing $5, was unobtainable for less than $50. We paid as high as $8 a pound for butter, from a speculator, and my last Christmas dinner in Berlin consisted of a small goose, just enough for one meal for three persons, for which I paid $25.

One of the things the people missed most, of course, was their beer. While it was put on sale at 8 p. m. every night, only a limited amount was available and as soon as it was disposed of, only coffee or tea substitute, without sugar, milk or lemons, could be had.

The scarcity of metals required for munitions was evidenced early in the war when the interiors and exteriors of houses throughout the country were thoroughly ransacked and everything in the way of copper, brass or aluminum fixtures or cooking utensils that wasn't absolutely necessary was seized.

Horses were gradually disappearing from sight when I left early this year. One saw them lying about the streets where they dropped from exhaustion, and what disposition was made of their corpses can well be imagined. It is quite certain that no part was wasted.

Dogs, too, nearly vanished from city life. A man I know, who had kept a fine Newfoundland dog, told me that it had disappeared one night and the next day its skin was found hanging on the fence with a sign reading: "Died for the fatherland."

One of the principal articles of fresh meat to be seen in the butcher shops consisted of black crows. They were selling at 75 cents apiece. There was something ludicrous in the thought of the Germans being compelled to "eat crow," but there was little to laugh at in eating it oneself.

To obtain oil, prizes were offered to the school children to collect fruit seeds from which it could be extracted, and veritable mountains of the seeds were thus obtained.

The last meal I had in Berlin was on January 21, 1918, when I dined at the Hotel Adlon. It consisted of one sardine, three thin slices of cold smoked salmon soup which was hardly more than hot salt water, two small boiled potatoes and as a substitute for cornstarch pudding. No butter and no sauce of any kind were served. Black bread I took in my pocket. The check for this elaborate table d'hôte meal amounted to $4.50.

To sum up the situation as I was able to observe it, living conditions in Germany in January of this year were rapidly becoming absolutely unbearable. How much worse they can become without bringing on internal troubles which will bring about the collapse of the German empire can be only a matter of conjecture.

The twentieth century has seen such radical changes in world conditions, views and aspirations, that I am afraid history will prove but a poor guide to the future. In the past few centuries Germany has experienced several more or less serious social revolutions, but it would be dangerous to predicate very much upon those abortive uprisings.

As long as the officers remain staunch to the Kaiser little may be expected in the way of a successful revolution, no matter how discontented and rebellious the people at large may grow, but I believe that the time will surely come when the officers themselves will turn against their government.

There may be two revolutions. The civilians, consisting of women, old men and youths and others who have not been called into the army, may rise up, but their effort will be in vain. The defeat of such an uprising, however, may be the signal for a greater one in which a portion of the army itself will take part, and then a civil war will result which will have no counterpart in the world's history.

The basis for this belief lies in the fact that the officers of the German army realize the extent of the distress prevailing throughout the country. Their families, as well as those of the rank and file are suffering from undernourishment and privations, and they know, even better than their inferiors, the extent of the reverses which the German army has suffered and will continue to suffer and how the government has misrepresented actual conditions.

If the German officers consisted entirely of men of the old school—men who were willing to fight for fighting's sake and who would rather continue the war until the last German had dropped than give in—we could not look for much in this direction.

But the ravages of war have disposed of a large percentage of these bred-in-the-bone officers and their places have been taken by civilians who have been raised from the ranks. Therein lies the hope of a successful revolution.

I will not venture a guess as to when that will be, but I feel sure that it will certainly come about. Fortified by a large portion of the army, the German people will at last turn on their rulers and destroy the throne and the whole Hohenzollern regime.

In this connection, I recall a prophecy made early in the war by an honored colleague of mine of Dresden, an American dentist who had lived and practiced in Germany for forty years and understood the German people and their rulers as well, perhaps, as any man alive. He was a leader of his profession and a man whose judgment on all things was most accurate. He was in close contact with many leading figures of the German nobility.

"Germany will lose the war because her cause is wrong," he declared. "She will fight it through to the bitter end until the foundations of the empire are absolutely destroyed!"

THE END.

Caterpillars' Intelligence.

If caterpillars cannot actually think, it appears that they have a degree of sense not generally recognized. In a London institution lecture some time ago Frederick Enoch, who has been studying the insects for half a century, showed that they really seem to be conscious of their marking and coloration and are able to use the knowledge in protecting themselves from birds, their natural enemies.

Successful borrowers are the kind who get credit for their efforts.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISSONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of California Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without grunting, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "Fruit Laxative," they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grownups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

Too Much for the Skunk. Mr. Cackle Berry vouches for the following story:

A Frenchman, an Englishman, an Irishman and a German prisoner were in an argument as to which was the bravest.

A Yank overheard the controversy and decided to settle it. Pointing to a near-by poultry house, he told them that there was a skunk inside and asked the Irishman to step inside and see how long he could stand it.

Pat did as he was told. In five minutes he came out. The Englishman followed, but he stood it only four minutes. The Frenchman next tried it, but five minutes was enough for him.

It was the German's turn. He went in and the others waited. The minutes passed—one—two—three—four—five—six—seven, but no German. Eight minutes—ten—the skunk came out.

WHY WOMEN DREAD OLD AGE

Don't worry about old age. Don't worry about being in other people's way when you are getting on in years. Keep your body in good condition and you can be as hale and hearty in your old days as you were when a kid, and every one will be glad to see you.

The lungs and bladder are the cause of senile ailments. Keep them clean and in proper working condition. Drive the poisonous wastes from the system and avoid uric acid accumulations. Take GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules periodically, and you will find that the system will always be in perfect working order. Your spirits will be enlivened, your muscles made strong and your face have once more the look of youth and health.

New life, fresh strength and health will come as you continue this treatment. When your first vigor has been restored continue for awhile taking a capsule or two each day. They will keep you in condition and prevent a return of your troubles.

There is only one guaranteed brand of Haarlem Oil Capsules, GOLD MEDAL. There are many fakes on the market. Be sure you get the Original GOLD MEDAL Imported Haarlem Oil Capsules. They are the only reliable. For sale by all first-class druggists.—Adv.

Feel Lame and Achy?

Colds and grip leave thousands with weak kidneys and aching backs. The kidneys have to do most of the work of fighting off any germ disease. They weaken—slow up, and you feel dull, irritable, or nervous—have headaches, dizziness, backache, sore joints and irregular kidney action. Then the kidneys need prompt help. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands praise Doan's for quick, satisfactory results.

WEEKLY CALENDAR.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES.

(By the Pastor.)
General Pershing's Message to the Churches of America.
After all, it is a common fight—yours there, and ours here. What is necessary for the manhood of the soldier is necessary for the manhood of the citizen. The powerful resources of the nation which have been ungrudgingly placed at the disposition of the army are indispensable for the accomplishment of our duty. But we know that mere wealth and material resources, and even technical skill, will not suffice.

"The invisible, unconquerable force" let loose by the prayers, hopes, and ideals of Christian America. . . . It is incalculable. It furnishes the soul and the motive for the military body and its co-operation; it steadies us to resist manfully the temptations in which we find ourselves.

"We of the army think with gratitude and emotion of the unflagging service and wonderful trust in us of the churches at home. May we prove ourselves worthy of it."

The fighting is over, but the peace which has been won on the battle field must be won again at the Council Table and once more in the practical application of the reconstruction program. The same invisible, unconquerable force which General Pershing mentions as being so necessary to the success of military operations is still needed. May Christian America, by her prayers, her hopes, and her ideals, continue to set it loose.

You are most cordially invited to the four Sunday services of worship and Bible study at 10 and 11:30 a. m., and 6:30 and 7:30 p. m. Also to the Thursday evening prayer service.

The Martha Chapter will meet with Miss Thelma Ambler Wednesday evening, Nov. 20, at 7:15 o'clock. Mrs. Beth Ambler will assist.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

Evening service at 7:30. Subject: "The Message of the Rainbow"

Prayer meeting on Thursday night at 7:30.

You are heartily welcome to the above service.

The Woman's Home Missionary society will meet next Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 19, with Mrs. A. M. VanTassel.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES.

A memorial service will be held at 2:30 next Sunday afternoon for Harry Miller, who died in the U. S. Naval service in October. All who can should attend this service in honor of our departed sailor boy.

Novi News.

Mrs. Frank Clark is reported on the sick list.

Mrs. Archie Atkinson was in Milford Wednesday.

Mrs. Donelson made a business trip to Flint Wednesday.

Donald Durfee was home from the M. A. C. over Sunday.

Floyd Leavenworth is having a severe attack of Lumbago.

The W. B. H. M. circle met Thursday with Mrs. J. D. Hazen.

The Cheerful Workers will meet this coming Saturday, Nov. 16, from 4 to 4 o'clock with Miss Cora Banks.

Mrs. Burton Munro will be assistant hostess.

Miss Dora Nichols has gone to Detroit and Redford to visit friends.

The little babe of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hill, which has been dangerously ill, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dunham of Detroit, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hazen.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Johnson and son of Hudson, Mich., were visitors from Friday until Monday at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Frank Clark and family.

Novi, also had a Peace celebration Monday evening, with a big bonfire and all possible varieties of racket. "The Kaiser" was hanged, shot to pieces and finally cremated.

Rev. Mr. Brady of Pontiac will speak this Friday evening, Nov. 15, in the Baptist church in the interest of the Patriotic Fund drive. Music will be furnished by an orchestra from Pontiac.

There will be a praise service Sunday evening in the Baptist church. Come out and make this a meeting of Thanksgiving. By request, Rev. Neale will give an address on England and her religious beliefs.

Wixom Whisperings.

Alec Kay and wife of Detroit were Wixom callers last Saturday.

Mrs. S. S. Armstrong of Detroit is visiting her parents here; this week.

Mrs. N. Shermehorn was a Detroit visitor from Saturday until Monday.

Mrs. Bernard Kitson went to St. Johns last Thursday, to attend the funeral of her grandfather.

Flight Sergt. Ben Hopkins is enjoying a 10-days' furlough from Hemstead, L. I. Aviation Camp.

School began Wednesday morning, after a week's vacation, both teachers having been sick with "flu."

Fred Napier was operated on for appendicitis Sunday night at Grace hospital, Detroit. He is doing well.

Commerce township "went over the top" in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive and a flag has been raised here to demonstrate the fact.

C. A. Hopkins and wife and the Misses Sadie and Mildred Hopkins, all of Pontiac, visited their parents, A. C. Hopkins and wife over Sunday.

WIXOM CHURCH NOTES.

We expect to hold services next Sunday, both morning and evening, beginning at 10:30 a. m. and at 3 p. m. The C. E. will begin at 7. Eastern Standard time.

We cordially invite all to join with us Sunday morning in a service of special thanksgiving that the war has closed with victory in the interest of humanity and civilization. Special music.

If you wish to find the origin of the term slacker turn to Deuteronomy 23-21.

UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION VIEWS.

Hon. Herbert Hoover in recently discussing the live stock situation, when the work of the International Exposition was referred to, expressed himself in part as follows:

"I am very glad indeed to commend the efforts of the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago to stimulate and improve the production of live stock in this country."

"It must be the desire of every American to see our herds maintained and improved, for not only have we an enormous burden to carry in furnishing food during the war, but after peace has come this burden will be even greater if the world is to recover from the enormous destruction of animals without even greater human hardship than at present."

"The Exposition with all its collateral work naturally becomes a great Food Training Camp, and in so doing is performing a great service to the country."

This year's exposition will be staged on a greater scale than any of its predecessors and the dates are Nov. 30th to Dec. 7th.

"Keep the Bridge Open"

A dangerous condition exists among the American people today. We are an easy-going people, quick to feel that what we want to happen is about to come to pass. Don't forget that for four long years the Hun was master of the offensive power of this war. The Allies have scarcely had the offensive for as many months; yet we are feeling that peace is at hand.

Remember, the war has never touched German soil, and it must touch a lot of it if the war spirit is to be taken out of Germany. There are many aeroplanes on the docks in New York, waiting for ships. We have troops delayed through lack of ships. Put yourself in the place of the men who are fighting, and consider what ships and more ships represent to you. Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board, and Charles M. Schwab say we have completed 2,500,000 tons, but we must continue till we get 15,000,000.

The shipyards need men badly. "No person now engaged in shipyard work need apply," but other men looking for a place where red-blooded, real men are needed, and who want to get good wages for the winter's work, will do their country and themselves a good turn by writing or calling at the Great Lakes Engineering Works, River Rouge, Detroit, Mich. Get into the shipyard game.—Adv.

OBITUARY—DANIEL W. CRAFT.

The funeral of Daniel W. Craft, who died Thursday, Nov. 7, was held last Saturday from his late home, with Rev. W. C. Francis as the officiating clergyman, assisted by Rev. Mr. Adams of Oxford.

Mr. Craft, who was 85 years of age, was a veteran of the civil war and a member of the local Post, G. A. R. He enlisted in the 22nd Michigan Infantry Aug. 9, 1862 and served until the close of the war. He had lived in Northville for about 15 years, and was greatly esteemed. In his illness of several years past Mr. Craft was cared for by Mr. and Mrs. George Goodell, the former having been a comrade of the same regiment during the war of the 60's. Interment was made at Oxford, his former home, where Mrs. Craft was buried four years ago.

SOLDIER ITEMS.

Among the many interesting and pathetic incidents that have been constantly coming under the observation of our soldier boys on the other side, this one, recently related in one of Karl Bryan's letters to his home folks, is of peculiar interest to his brethren of the Masonic fraternity: As Karl and a comrade were carrying a frightfully wounded man from the field they were obliged to stop and rest. As they lowered the stretcher to the ground, the dying soldier, feebly indicating the Consistory ring which Karl was wearing said "thanks, buddy, I see you're on the square." They were the boy's last words on earth, spoken with his last breath.

Miss Ora Perkins who has been in New York for training as a U. S. nurse, sailed from that port Saturday for services overseas. Her name has been placed on the soldier honor roll of the Presbyterian church.

Word has been received here that Private Fred Smith of Montana, was killed in action, in France, Sept. 30. His parents were former residents of Northville.

Lieut. Raymond DeAutels left last Friday morning for Camp Millington, Tenn., after spending his furlough with his parents here.

Sergeant Elmer Jackson of the Motor Transport Co., A. E. F., has been recommended for promotion to a Captaincy.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sutton have received word of the death of the latter's brother, who died in France October 9th, of Pneumonia.

Harry E. Hunt, who enlisted in the Motor Training Corps, left last week Wednesday for Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Word was received here of the safe arrival overseas of Bugler C. D. Kilgour of Co. E., 124th Infantry.

Wendell Miller of the S. A. T. C. at Ann Arbor was home Sunday.

Don VanSickle was home from Camp Custer for the week-end.

Robert Limbright of Selfridge Field was home over Sunday.

Northville School Notes.

(By the Teachers.)
A Thanksgiving mask will be held in the gymnasium at the school-house on Friday evening, Nov. 22. Good music will be provided for the dancers and various other attractions as well as refreshments will abound. If you wish to have the best time of your life, begin making your costume so that you will be sure and be there. There will be further announcement later.

Most Necessary.
A bridle for the tongue is a necessary piece of harness.

Unlike Topsy— Swift & Company Has Not "Jest Grown"

Swift & Company, in fifty years of well ordered growth, has become one of the great national services because it has learned to do something for the American people which they needed to have done for them, in the way in which they preferred to have it done.

It has met each successive demand, in the changing conditions of national life, by getting good meat to increasing millions effectively, efficiently, economically, and expeditiously.

The Swift & Company packing plant, refrigerator cars, car routes, branch houses, organization, and personnel of today are the practical solutions, born of practical experience, to the food problems of half a century.

Because of all these elements working in correlation and unison, Swift & Company is able to supply more and better meat to more people than would have been possible otherwise, at a net profit per pound of meat so low (a fraction of a cent) that the consumer price is practically unaffected.

Strip away any portion of this vast, smooth-running human machine, and you make a large part of the meat supply uncertain, lose the benefit of half a century of fruitful experience, and scatter the intelligent energies of men who have devoted a life work toward meeting the needs of a nation in one vital field.

The booklet of preceding chapters in this story of the packing industry will be mailed on request to Swift & Company,
Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Illinois.

Has Detroit Found the Same?

The Answer is Found in the Straightforward Statement of a Detroit Resident.

We have been reading week after week in the local press of Northville citizens who have been rid of distressing kidney and bladder troubles by Doan's Kidney Pills, and we have often wondered whether the same high opinion of this medicine is to be found in our neighboring towns.
This frank and earnest statement by a well-known and respected resident of Detroit will set this doubt at rest.

"I, A. Hopp, butcher, Mack Ave.,
Detroit Mich., says: 'I have considerable heavy lifting to do and I blame this for putting my kidneys out of order. My back ached terribly and my kidneys were in bad shape.
I had to pass the kidney secretions too frequently and they were highly colored. I knew something would have to be done, so I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and started using them. Doan's fixed me up in good shape and I gladly recommend them.'

Price, 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hopp had. —Poster-Milburn Co.,

quick job Tuesday morning of cleaning up the debris of Monday's celebration.

alive than right now.

Next week Tuesday and Wednesday,
Nov. 19 and 20 are the last days the Red Cross committee will be at the bank to examine and wrap Christmas boxes for the soldiers. The 20th is absolutely the last day packages can be mailed, according to government regulations.

Little Miss Arline Richardson's fourth birthday anniversary was celebrated Monday by the entertaining of a party of eight children in the afternoon and evening. A dainty supper was served. The little hostess will no doubt always be sure of a birthday celebration, since Nov. 11 has now become one of the historic days of the nations, and will be made a day of rejoicing each year.

Of particularly sad circumstances was the double funeral held Monday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Lee Schultz, both victims of influenza, were buried side by side at Woodmere cemetery, Detroit. They died within a few hours of each other, leaving Wayne the loss of one of its most highly respected young married couples.

ried but five years. —Wayne Weekly.

A sermonette by Rev J. E. Webber of Royal Oak former pastor of the Northville Presbyterian church, was reprinted in the Milford Times last week from the Royal Oak Tribune.
The subject was the closing of the churches during the epidemic. Mr.
Webber taking the ground that the loss of the services for a few times might be a blessing in disguise in the way of greater appreciation of the privileges of Christian church worship.

That was certainly some advertising stunt for the American Bell & Foundry Co. Monday, although it was dictated by pure enthusiasm and not by any thought of business publicity.
No other place in Michigan could have furnished the bell music that was such a telling feature of the jubilee, nor very few places in the U. S., for that matter. A Detroit man was so impressed with that part of our demonstration that he tried to buy one of the bells to take to that city to use in the celebration there.

and not confined to the people of that church.

Plymouth certainly did herself proud Monday in the celebration line and in the handling of the immense number of cars and people that made up the parade. No less than three "Kaisers" were variously "executed" and even Bill H's supposed intimate friend, the Devil, was on hand in the procession. The manner in which so big an affair was handled reflects much credit on Village President Conner and his able assistant, Mr. Brown.

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

A small bottle of "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy and wavy.

Removes all dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine. It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—it costs but a few cents—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itching scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once. If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, misten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be—oh, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this. Adv.

THIS WEEK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time, and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness." Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2342 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.

CONSERVE EVEN AT BANQUETS JE PATRIOTIC.

Successful Dinner at Which Rigid Food Conservation Rules Were Adhered To.

WAR-TIME MEAL IS SUCCESSFUL

Students at New York State College of Agriculture Forego Annual Banquet.

SIMPLEST OF FOOD SERVED

Women Play Most Important Part in Bringing About Reform—Patriotic Americans Urged to Eat More Fish in Place of Meat.

The banquet which is overelaborate and which is a meal served in addition to the necessary daily meals or which uses foods that our government asks us to conserve has no place in the wartime program. Yet there are occasions, according to the United States department of agriculture, when the war activities may be helped by having those interested in kindred subjects gather at a meal, so why not have a dinner, or "banquet," if you choose to dignify it by that name, which takes the place of a regular meal? Such a meal will serve to get people together and at the same time may teach a real lesson in food conservation.

Not long ago the students at the New York State College of Agriculture were confronted with the problem of whether they should forego their annual banquet or whether they should make it a wartime meal. They decided upon the latter course, and it turned out to be one of the most successful gatherings they had had. As one of the speakers expressed it, the meal not only served the purpose of calling attention to the possibilities of serving a dinner while adhering strictly to food regulations, but the banqueters themselves were immeasurably better off and would feel better next day because of the simplicity of the food served.

The Part Women Play.

No one has a more important part to play in bringing about this banquet reform than women, since they are very often charged with the duty of providing the meal, especially in connection with meetings held in churches and similar community centers.

Here are two menus worked out as suggestions with the foregoing principles in view. They make liberal use of fruits and vegetables, for both are plentiful and healthful. Use any of the vegetables and fruits that are procurable in your locality. Patriotic Americans are being urged to use more fish, hence the fish in place of meat; or, for the inland community, the use of poultry. Old poultry can be sacrificed for such a purpose, as the meat is cooked and ground before using. The menus also make use of wheat substitutes and are planned to use a minimum sugar allowance.

More novel, but perhaps not so appropriate for general use, is the meal centered around one food product, such as a harvest supper, using corn in as many ways as possible, or a cottage cheese or coconut dinner.

Have Corn Pop 100 Per Cent.

It isn't everybody who can pop corn successfully. Either it does not pop at all or else only a small percentage of the grains burst into kernels that are crisp and flaky. For good results the first requisite is to avoid having the corn too dry. It should not be kept in a warm or heated room. New popcorn may be used as soon as it has dried out sufficiently. If properly stored it may be ready for use by Christmas.

If old popcorn will not pop on account of having become too dry, the popping quality may be somewhat restored by moistening or sprinkling with water before popping. If very dry it may be soaked in water for a while and then spread out to dry for a few days before using; or the dry corn may be put in a shady place outdoors for a time where it can absorb moisture from the open air. If injured by frost while yet green or immature or if harvested before ripe, or heated when it is being cured, or if weathers and weathers have damaged the corn, the trouble may be remedied by these methods.

Given good corn, the next necessity is a proper kind of fire. Do not take too much popcorn at one time; not so much as to cover the bottom of the popper one kernel deep. Hold the popper high enough above the fire or heat to keep from burning the kernels or scorching them too quickly. The right degree of heat for best results should make good corn begin to pop in 1½ minutes. This gives the maximum volume of increase in popping. If it begins to pop in less time or it too large a quantity of corn is put in at one time the product will not be so crisp and flaky. If it takes much longer for the popping to begin either the popcorn is of poor quality or the heat is probably not great enough, or there may be other interfering causes, such as drafts of cold air.

If the popcorn is of first-class condition and the heat properly applied one pint of unpopped corn should give fifteen to twenty pints of popcorn. Popcorn has considerable value as a food, and, aside from its use as a confection, when properly prepared for the table is superior to many breakfast foods now on the market.

Dry Pumpkins and Squash.

Well-matured pumpkins of any variety make an acceptable dried product which only requires soaking, for use later in pies or custards. The deeply-colored, solid-fleshed varieties are the best for the purpose. Squash of the winter varieties may also be cured, in the same way.

Cut into strips one-half inch wide, peel and remove seeds, then cut the long strips with a rotary slicer or by hand into slices one-half inch in thickness. Blanch in vigorously boiling water for three minutes, or preferably in steam for five minutes. A wash-bottle partly filled with boiling water and fitted with a support which will hold a wire basket containing the material just out of the water makes a good steamer. Some varieties blanch more slowly than others; the treatment should be continued until the pieces have lost the opaque character and have become transparent, but must be stopped as soon as this result is obtained.

Spread one or two pieces deep on the trays and begin the drying at 135 degrees. As soon as the pieces have become somewhat plastic the temperature may be increased, but should not be allowed to exceed 160 degrees at any time. The material should be stirred frequently in order to discover and spread out any parts which are not drying properly. If the drying is done in the sun it will be necessary to spread the material in a single layer and turn the pieces over after a few hours' exposure.

Pumpkin or squash should be dried until the pieces are leathery and show no moisture upon the freshly cut surfaces when bits are cut open and strongly pressed between the hands.

As the material is removed from the drier, place it in a large clean pasteboard or wooden box, lined with paper, and cover to exclude insects by stretching a piece of mosquito netting over the top. Place the box in a warm, dry room and stir the material thoroughly daily, for ten days. The drying meanwhile slowly continues and the whole mass reaches the uniform condition which it must have before it is permanently packed.

Put in pasteboard boxes lined with a double thickness of waxed paper in paper or plastic bags, and place in a cool, dry place.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Small kindnesses, small courtesies, small considerations, habitually practiced in our social intercourse give a greater charm to the character than the display of great talents and accomplishments—M. A. Kelly.

GOOD THINGS FOR WINTER.

Tomato Conserve.—Take five pounds of ripe tomatoes, three lemons cut in slices, two pounds of white sugar, one cupful of citron. Cook until thick, then add one cupful of walnuts and one and a half cupfuls of seeded raisins.

Piccalilli.—Take a peck of green tomatoes, two heads of cabbage, three green peppers, four onions, six large cucumbers and four pounds of sugar. Put through a meat grinder and sprinkle with salt, using one cupful, let stand overnight, drain and add the sugar with vinegar to make the piccalilli of the right consistency.

Mustard Pickles.—To a gallon of vinegar add one-half cupful of mustard, one cupful of salt, two cupfuls of brown sugar. Pour this over the cucumbers, cover with horseradish leaves. The cucumbers may be added as they are picked.

Sweet Cucumber Pickle.—Cut three quarts of medium-sized cucumbers one inch thick, cover with three quarts of water and a cupful of salt, boiling hot. Let stand three days; pour off the liquid and reheat; repeat the fifth and seventh days. Then take one-half vinegar and water with a piece of alum the size of a walnut, pour boiling hot over the pickles and let stand three days. Then drain and put the pickles in a clean jar sprinkle with chopped onion, chopped green pepper and raisins; cover with equal quantities of vinegar and brown sugar boiled together. Add a bag of spices, cinnamon and cloves.

If you have a mind to adorn your city by consecrated monuments, first consecrate in yourself the most beautiful monument of gentleness and justice and benevolence—Epictetus.

HELPFUL HINTS AND ECONOMIES.

FEW leaves of parsley, the same of celery, may be dried and put into a tight container, then in winter when a bit of such flavor as needed, here it is all ready, costing nothing. Since a carrot that is one too many to cook, and dry in the warming oven; dry a few mushrooms—in fact, dry almost any small bit and it will be useful later. A small handful of all these vegetables, dried and put together in a can, may be used as soup flavoring when needed.

Stalks of cauliflower may be cut in two lengthwise, tied in bundles and cooked then served with a white or hollandaise sauce. The cooked stalks may also be used in salads.

A rich fish soup may be prepared by using the trimmings and water in which fish has been cooked. Add a bit of onion, mace and an equal amount of milk with the liquor and serve as a bisque.

A ham bone may be purchased at the market often at small cost. This, with cabbage, turnips, potatoes and carrots, will serve as a fine-broiled dinner. Instead of cooking a whole head of cabbage for a meal, stuff one-half of it with any good flavored meat, with bread crumbs and seasoning; cook it in stock or gravy and use as a main dish. Another day shred the remainder and serve as coleslaw or as a salad. Some of it may be cooked, seasoned with salt, pepper, butter and milk, with a few crackers for thickening.

Was there a half cupful of rice, a spoonful of cereal of any kind left from breakfast? Save it and add it to the griddle cakes for breakfast or to the breakfast muffins.

Fruit butters, jellies and jams may be used on bread in place of butter, but let us not forget that the growing child needs the growth determinants found in butter and milk. If the child drinks plenty of milk, the jellies may be used in place of butter very often.

Whole milk for the children, whatever the price, must never be forgotten. Use skim milk for a thousand and one dishes in which whole milk is used—for soups, sauces, puddings, cocoa, etc.

Keep stockings from getting runs by stitching three or four times, three inches from the top.

Old nightgowns may be cut off at the waistline and made into perfectly good undershirts and will last a long time. The nightgown is usually worn

DRUGGISTS!! PLEASE NOTE VICK'S VAPORUB OVERSOLD DUE TO PRESENT EPIDEMIC

Tremendous Demand Last Few Days Has Wiped Out Excess Stocks That We Had Estimated Would Last Until Next January. Last Week's Orders Called For One and Three Quarter Million Jars—Today's Orders Alone Amount to 932,459 Jars.

Big Shipments Are En Route to Jobbers. Until These Arrive There May Be a Temporary Shortage. All Deals Postponed—Buy in Small Lots Only.

RETAILERS CAN GET IMMEDIATE SHIPMENTS DIRECT BY PARCEL POST.

This advertisement is written on Monday, October 21st. It is directed to the attention of all distributors of Vick's Vaporub. Both wholesale and retail. In an emergency such as the present epidemic—our duty—and your duty—is to distribute Vick's Vaporub in the quickest possible manner to those sections stricken by influenza. We therefore, call your careful attention to the following:

DANGER OF SHORTAGE IF SUPPLY IS NOT CONSERVED

On October 1st we had on hand, at our factory and in twenty warehouses scattered over the country, sufficient Vaporub to last us, we thought, until January 1st, allowing for a 50 per cent increase over last year's sales and not counting our daily output. This big excess stock had been accumulated during the summer months.

Then this epidemic of Spanish Influenza hit us—and in the last ten days this stock has vanished. At first we thought this tremendous demand would last only a few days, but it orders have run.

Wed., Oct. 16 18,554 doz.
Thurs., Oct. 17 25,223 doz.
Fri., Oct. 18 32,276 doz.
Sat., Oct. 19 45,893 doz.
Mon., Oct. 21 77,705 doz.

Up to Saturday, October 19th, we have actually shipped for this month $400,234.10 or over two million jars of Vaporub.

THE PROBLEM NOW IS TO DISTRIBUTE VAPORUB QUICKLY.

Most of this tremendous quantity is still en route to the jobbers, but freight and express are both congested nowadays, and it may take some time before this supply reaches the jobbers. In the meantime, therefore, it is necessary that we distribute, as widely as possible, the stock that we are manufacturing daily, together with that now on the jobbers' and retailers' shelves, in order that it may get to the influenza-stricken quickly. Our normal output is about 4,000 dozen per day. We are putting on a night shift, but it will be a little while before that is producing.

WHAT WE ASK THE WHOLESALE DRUGGIST TO DO.

Last Saturday we notified all of our jobbers, by Special Delivery, as follows:

1st—Deals and quantity shipments of all kinds are cancelled. Fill no quantity orders of any kind, whether taken by our salesman or by your own. Sell in small lots only.

2nd—Order from us in as small quantities as possible. If you are out we will try to ship a limited amount by Parcel Post or express, and pay the charges ourselves.

3rd—In order to make distribution still quicker, we will ship direct to your retail customers quantities not more than three (3) dozen 20c size at any one shipment.

4th—We are now out of the 60c size and will be for the next ten days.

WHAT WE ASK THE RETAIL DRUGGIST TO DO.

Buy in as small quantities as possible. If you have any quantity orders, given the jobbers' salesman or given to our salesman, don't bother about them—no need to write us—it is absolutely impossible to fill these orders at this time. If the jobbers in your territory are out of Vick's Vaporub, we will ship you by Parcel Post, prepaid, quantities not more than three (3) dozen 20c size in any one order. Naturally, we can't open accounts at this time, so your check or money order for this amount must accompany order. Don't write us stating to ship thru your jobber, as we then have to wait until we write this jobber and get his O. K. If your wish the goods to come thru your jobber, have him order them for you.

SNOWED UNDER WITH CORRESPONDENCE.

Our force has already been "shot to pieces"—twenty-four of our men are wearing Uncle Sam's khaki—and this recent rush has simply buried us. All our sales force has been called in to help in the office and factory. We just mention this so you won't hold it against us if your wires and letters aren't answered promptly.

SPECIAL BOOKLETS ON SPANISH INFLUENZA.

We will send, on request, to any retail druggist, 100 or more little booklets, just issued, on Spanish Influenza, giving the latest information about this disease—its history—the symptoms—the treatment—and particularly the use of Vick's Vaporub as an external application to supplement the physician's treatment.

NEW WAYS TO USE VAPORUB.

In addition to the usual method of using Vaporub—that is, applied over the throat and chest and covered with hot flannel cloths—our customers are writing us daily telling of their success in using Vaporub in other ways, particularly as a preventive. They melt a little in a spoon and inhale the vapors arising, or melt it in a benzoin steam kettle. Where the steam kettle is not available, Vaporub can be used in an ordinary teakettle. Fill the teakettle half full of boiling water, put in half a teaspoon of Vaporub from time to time—keep the kettle just slowly boiling and inhale the steam arising.

According to a Bulletin just issued by the Public Health Service, Dr. Stiles recommends that the nose and throat be kept coated with some oily substance. For this purpose Vaporub is excellent—just put a little up the nostrils from time to time and sniff well back into the air passages.

Acid-Stomach Makes Millions Old Before Their Time

What is it that robs so many people of their vitality, youth and good looks—makes them all in and decrepit, years before their time? Some say it's rheumatism that is ailing them. Others complain of chronic stomach or liver trouble. Others are bilious. Life is a burden to multitudes of dyspeptics. Severe headache, extreme nervousness, insomnia, mental depression, melancholia, anemia, dizziness, vertigo, heart and chest pains, constipation, etc., claim other multitudes. Sometimes these people are downright sick. More frequently they are just weak, sickly and unattractive, not knowing exactly what is the matter with them. Nearly always they resort to medicines of one kind or another in the hope of getting back their health and strength. And nearly always they are disappointed, because medicines don't build strength unless they set the stomach free from acidity, allowing it to take full strength out of the food eaten.

What is it that causes teeth to decay? Dentists say—acid mouth—that use acid formed by the fermentation of small particles of food lodged in the teeth is powerful enough to eat right through the hard enamel. An acid-stomach prevents a similar condition. Excess acid retards digestion. Food in the stomach ferments and causes pain. Gases affect the heart action. The intestines become the breeding place for countless millions of deadly germs or toxic poisons. These poisons are carried by the blood into every part of the system. The famous scientist Metchnikoff, said: "If the system could be kept free from these toxic germs, people might easily live a hundred years or more."

The only safe thing to do is to rid the stomach of its excess acid at once. A pressed compound that absorbs the excess acid and carries it away through the bowels. Thousands upon thousands now know of EATON'S and its amazing power to clean out the excess acid and leave the stomach sweet, cool and strong—giving it a chance to properly digest food so that you get full strength of what you eat and in this way help Nature build up vigorous health, strength and vitality to take the place in a few days, of sickness, lassitude, weakness.

EATON'S is worth your trial. Its possibilities for restoring health, vigor, energy and vitality are beyond telling you in mere words—you must "just try it."

EATON'S is absolutely guaranteed, so get a big box from your druggist. If it does not help you your money will be refunded. If your druggist does not keep EATON'S, send your name and address to the Eaton Remedial Company, 1018 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., and they will at once mail you a big box and you can send them the money for it after you receive it.

WHAT CAN WE DO?

Some time ago the Red Cross called attention to the need of very simple and substantial layettes. They are given to mothers who are destitute; those whom war has driven from their homes or left without support. The attention of women is called to this work again. Many women know how to do the plain sewing required and are so situated that they can work at home. More conveniently than in the Red Cross rooms. Making layettes will appeal to most of them.

Information as to materials and number of garments required, must be got from the Red Cross chapters, and also the patterns, since all are made according to the standard fixed by the Red Cross. The layettes needed for these little ones must be most practical. It is a beautiful work and ought to bless the woman who gives her time and loving thought to it as much as it benefits the little unprepared for life that arrives in a chilly world.

The Stage Woman's War Relief is still asking for cast-off kid and chamolite skin gloves, bits of soft leather, old soft covers and any other pliable leather that can be used for making jackets for aviators. Women are asked to send in the leather and if possible to have gloves cleaned before sending them. Those of chamolite skin can be washed, but kid gloves must be cleaned in gasoline. The cleaning is not imperative, but it is greatly desired. Soon we shall have a greater number of aviators than ever, and the more aviators the more leather jackets must be made for them. Send gloves or other suitable leather by parcel post to the Stage Woman's War Relief, 366 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Amber Blouses.
Flesh-pink chifon and georgette blouses are being worn so universally now that women of exclusive taste have rushed to another tint, and that tint seems to be amber, not yellow, and not tan, but the indescribable golden shade produced by sunlight shining through clear amber. A simple tucked bodice blouse becomes, touched by the magic wand of amber, an exclusive model worth several dollars. Amber station blouses cost still more, and amber or amber-tinted with white lace is exceedingly distinguished in price.

Modish Lines.
Some of the new frocks are made with bodices somewhat on the lines of a sweater. The weight of the skirt is not supported by the bodice, instead the skirt is carried to the waistline and the blouse is adjusted outside of it, with the merest hint of draping to indicate the position of the waistline without defining it. A frock built upon these lines is of white satin, with the neck cut square at the back and sides. A narrow collar of old blue crepe and cuffs of old blue were the trimming.

REGULAR TOLL FROM HENS

German Systematic in Their Demands for "Caddy" Products—General Requirement of Foodstuffs.

The systematic method of securing food is shown in the regulations of the Bavaria egg-supply office. By this regulation, poultry keepers are required to deliver to the government 40 eggs for each hen kept. The 1918 quota was due in September at a fixed price of four cents per egg. By this regulation, the German states plan to feed the population when food products fail to reach the markets in sufficient quantities by voluntary sales. Inasmuch as the supply of grain has been greatly reduced, and the number of hens as well as the power of a small flock will doubtless long for the privilege Americans have of doing what they like with their own eggs.

In Hungary for the fourth time this year, the food minister ordered a general requisition of foodstuffs from consumers and producers alike. Except for a sufficient home supply to last until the first part of August, the following principal foods were seized: Wheat, oats, maize, potatoes, millet and fats.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe despondent. It makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp Root, the great kidney liver and bladder medicine will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase the medium and large size bottles at all drug stores. Adv.

HEALTH TALK

Spanish Influenza or Grip

BY DR. LEE H. SMITH.

An old enemy is with us again, and whether we fight a German or a grip, we must put up a good fight, and not be afraid. The influenza runs a very brief course when the patient is careful, and if we keep the system in good condition and throw off the poisons which tend to accumulate within our bodies, we can escape the disease. Remember these three C's—a clean mouth; a clean skin, and clean bowels. To carry off poisons from the system and keep the bowels loose, daily doses of a pleasant laxative should be taken. Such a one is made of May apple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap, and called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Hot lemonade should be used freely if attacked by a cold, and the patient should be put to bed after a hot mustard foot bath.

To prevent the attack of bronchitis or pneumonia, and to control the pain, Auric tablets should be obtained at the drug store, and given every two hours, with lemonade. The Auric tablets were first discovered by Dr. Pierce, and as they finish the bowels and cleanse the kidneys, they carry away much of the poisons and the virus.

It is important that broths, milk, buttermilk, ice cream and simple diet be given regularly to strengthen the system and increase the vital resistance. The fever is diminished by the use of the Auric tablets, but in addition, the forehead, arms and hands may be bathed with water (tepid) in which a tablespoonful of salt has been dissolved in a quart. After an attack of grip or pneumonia, to build up and strengthen the system obtain at the drug store a good iron tonic called "Iron-Tonic" Tablets, or that well known herbal tonic, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Don't Belittle That Backache—Stop It.

Kidney and Bladder Sufferers Regrettably Recall Their Neglect of First Symptoms.

Use Caution—Get Dodd's.

If kidney disease attacked suddenly as does Appendicitis or a fever, you would be forced to bed immediately. But it doesn't—its process is slow, destructive and fatal.

You can't afford to disobey nature's first warnings—slightest backache, throbbing pain thru loins, stiffness in stooping or lifting. Take heed immediately of these as well as spots appearing before or pulsing under the eyes, rheumatic pains, nightly aching.

Thousands upon thousands have been relieved in the past 40 years by using Dodd's—quickly, easily, safely and revive sickly kidneys. Be sure your druggist gives you Dodd's—pat. round box with three D's in the name—for dis-eased, dis-ordered, deranged kidneys. No similar named article will do. Satisfaction or your money back.

GREAT LAKES NAVAL TRAINING STATION

Editor Northville Record:—Am writing to you to speak a good word for the work of the Navy Y. M. C. A. on this station.

They have the best sort of entertainments for us, in the shape of movies, boxing events and athletics of all kinds.

Their huts of which there are 22 on this station, are homes when off duty, and believe me, we surely appreciate the chance to write letters to the home folks in them.

We also enjoy good music, have entertaining games and good reading matter, and enjoy a thousand and one little privileges that a "feller" appreciates when he "needs a friend."

The Navy Y. M. C. A. has proved a friend to the boys in the recent "flu" epidemic also, and many were the lads who will remember what they did for us.

Now I wish the old home paper would print this letter and ask the home folks not to forget the "Y" when their financial campaign opens in November. They will work with the Y. C. War Work Community, Y. W. C. A., Salvation Army, American Library Association, and the Jewish Welfare people for a common fund, and it will all be for the boys in the camps.

May I have a copy of the paper sent me in care of F. H. Payne, Y. M. C. A. secretary, Lake Bluff, Illinois? Would be glad to have two copies if you can spare them.

Hoping you will give this space:—

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Freydl and family are again occupying their residence rooms above the store after several months at their farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Horn of Marine City, Mr. and Mrs. Nacker of Navarre, Albert Craft and wife of Oxford and Mrs. Ida Howell of Ortonville were in Northville Saturday to attend the funeral of D. W. Craft.

Mrs. Emma E. Bailey of Detroit, Past Department President of Michigan W. R. C., was a noon luncheon guest of Mrs. T. G. Richardson Wednesday. Mrs. Bailey was in town to conduct the annual inspection of the local Relief Corps.

Back to the Land.

Mr. Valentine Davis, a prominent vegetarian, declares that if the soil of England was cultivated as was done half a century ago it would feed 24,000,000 people and find employment for 750,000 men.

AUCTION SALE.

On Thursday, November 21, Mrs. Robert Mackey is to have a sale of horses, cattle, farm tools, poultry, hay, and grain, potatoes, harness, 1½ h. p. engine, etc., on the premises one mile west of Salem village. Sale begins at 10 o'clock a. m., with lunch at noon. Frank J. Boyle, auctioneer.

will be at Dr. R. Schuyler's office in Northville, Monday, November 18. Examinations for glasses made at private residences by appointment, without extra charge. City Optical service right at your own home and everything guaranteed. I will come to Northville sufficiently often to give satisfactory service. I keep your glasses in order.

"Where Can I Safely Buy an Overcoat?"

That is a question a good many men are asking themselves right now. Many have already solved the problem by coming to Mabley's.

SELECT AN ALL-WOOL MABLEY OVERCOAT.

We have only one kind of overcoat fabric—all wool—at the bed-rock low price. It's the only kind successful, self-respecting men wish to wear, and it is the only kind a store with a reputation such as Mabley's would ever offer to its customers.

Your Mercy Dollars Can Not Be Too Late

There are still many patriotic Americans in this County who, possibly through no fault of their own, cannot as yet say, "I have done my share."

Some have moved into our County since the close of our War Chest Drive—others who were here were not called upon and asked to subscribe when the drive was on.

While the majority of our citizens gave generously, the total in War Chest is far below what we would like to have. All of the Patriotic Organizations in the field are increasing their forces and their work among the soldiers every day. As more soldiers leave our shores, more patriotic workers and supplies are needed for them. As the battle line progresses farther and farther into the devastated districts of France, Belgium and Germany, heavier and heavier will become the expense of keeping up the canteens and huts in the field.

More money is needed. If you have not subscribed, do so now. If you have subscribed, can't you increase your subscription?

To Those Who Have Not Yet Given

President Wilson has stated that no limit will be placed on the number of men to be called to the colors—and there can, therefore, be no limit to the funds given to these great war service organizations to properly care for these fighting men.

If you have not already made your subscription to the Patriotic Fund, make it TODAY. Your money is NEEDED. And be sure that your gift represents your just share in this splendid work. Do not make those who have already given bear part of your burden.

Among those who can give, only the Kaiser's friends will fail to subscribe. Where do you stand?
