THE MAN FOR WHOM THE NATION MOURNS.

Under the arrangements made by Mayor Chas. Coldren early Wednesday morning as a token of respect at the funeral hour of Colonel Roosevelt at 12:45 Bingham Scott Montgomery, E. C. Hunkley, Cleon Dey, Gibson Carpenter and Joseph Watts were stationed in various parts of the town and at the same moment taps were sounded. The wheels in every factory in Northville, as in all parts of the United States, ceased turning and all business places stopped business for two minutes following the first solemn notes of the bugles, and Northville had joined with the great world in mourning for a great man called beyond.

"TRAVELABLE" vs. "TERRIBLE"

In "Automobile Notes" in last week's Record, even the type and the proof-reader were so obsessed by the prevailing muddiness that an announcement appeared of the intention of the Northville Auto club "to get the New Wall Lake road in a terrible condition." As the section of road particularly referred to couldn't possibly be any worse than it is, it is only necessary to explain that the "terrible" word should have been printed "travelable"—into which condition the club still asserts the intention to have it brought.

E. H. DOYLE KILLED BY STREET CAR

Ed H. Doyle, one of Detroit's most prominent business men and half owner of the Majestic building, was killed by a street car in that city as he was crossing the track on foot at Jefferson and Woodward Sunday.

Mr. Doyle was quite well known among Northville's business men and his friendship was much prized. A splendid citizen, delightful neighbor and possessed exceptional business qualifications.

BALL—JOHNSTON

Married, December 19, by Rev. Dr. Vance, in the parlor of the First Presbyterian church, Detroit, Forrest L. Ball, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Ball of Northville, to Mrs. Harriet Johnston of Detroit. After the marriage ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Ball started immediately on a motor trip to Arizona where they will spend the winter.

FORD GETS POWER SITES

Options on most of the water power dam locations on the Rouge river between Dearborn and Northville are reported to have been secured by the Ford interests with a view to the establishing of plants at the various places for the manufacture of tractor parts.

AUCTION SALE

On Tuesday, January 14, Charles Smock is to have a sale of farm stock, tools and household goods on the premises 1 1/2 miles east of Northville on the cement road. The sale commences at 12:30 o'clock with George Rattenbury as auctioneer.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES

(By the Pastor.)
Next Sunday, January 12, there will be no services. On Sunday, January 13, there will be Communion services in the morning and the annual business meeting in the afternoon. All are invited to be present at both morning and afternoon meetings.

CARD OF THANKS

Roy Terwill extends sincere thanks to the R. & A. M. for flowers and to all friends and neighbors for help and sympathy during his illness.

WEEKLY CALENDAR

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

(By the Pastor.)
Union prayer services began in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday, Thursday evening, the meeting was in the Methodist church and the concluding service will be held in the Baptist church on Friday evening.

On next Lord's day the morning preaching service is at 10 o'clock, followed by the Sunday school.

The pastor was pleased to note the increase in attendance in the Sunday school last Sabbath and we trust it may continue and that interest may be revived in the hearts of many, who as yet are not attending.

Evening prayer service begins at 7:30 o'clock. We heartily invite you all to these services.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

(By the Pastor.)
"The Church Around the Corner."

Class meeting at 9:30. Morning service at 10. Sunday school at 11:30. Epworth League at 6:30 p. m.

Evening service at 7:30. Prayer and Bible study hour on Thursday night at 7:30.

We believe that your presence will be as great a help to us as it will be to yourself.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES

(By the Pastor.)
Next Sunday will be observed as Home Day. Let there be as far as possible a representative from every home in the congregation, and let all who can attend by families. The subject of the morning sermon will be, "The Relation of the Home to the Children."

"The Relation of the Children to the Home" will be discussed in the Young People's meeting at 6:30 p. m.

The Sunday school meets at 11:20 and has a place for you.

Evening service at 7:30. Subject: "Does God Ever Withdraw from Men?"

Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:30.

The Naomi Circle will meet with Mrs. C. A. Ponsford on Wednesday evening at 7:15. Please remember to bring money for the fruit book.

NOTICE

I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by any person except myself. No stock, tools or feed shall be sold or taken from the Bert Stanbro farm except by me, personally.

CHARLES PAULGER 2473p. Salem, Washtenaw County.

For this week Saturday, Jan. 11, the offering is "Little Miss Optimist" with Vivian Martin, the charming little Paramount star, in the leading role. 15c.

Tuesday, Jan. 14, comes charming Clara Kimball Young, with her own company, in the Select picturization "The Reason Why."

Thursday evening, Jan. 16 the many Northville admirers of cute Baby Marie Osborn can see her again in "The Voice of Destiny," a play especially attractive to children. 15c.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION

(By the Press Correspondent.)

A Rally meeting of the local Union will be held in the home of Mrs. J. B. Cook on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 15, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Patterson of Plymouth will be present to speak to us, and we hope for a good attendance.

Notwithstanding the great war activities, much good has been accomplished and glorious results achieved. Let every member be in her place at this meeting. Bring your knitting if you wish. Refreshments will be served.

PATRIOTIC FUND PLEDGES

I will be at the Lapham State Savings bank on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, January 15, 16 and 17 during regular banking hours, for the collection of Patriotic Fund pledges now due.

W. J. LANNING

BIG PLAY COMING

Monday and Tuesday evenings, January 20 and 21, Northville people are to have the opportunity of seeing what is undoubtedly the most famous screen romance of the great war, D. W. Griffith's "Hearts of the World." In the making of the pictures, Mr. Griffith and his assistants, some of the brightest stars of the film world, were actually under bombardment three different times on the battlefields of France, once for four hours at a stretch, by permission of the French and British governments. Hundreds of other times Mr. Griffith and his camera men were under fire, and the former was once slightly wounded by a fragment of shrapnel. Don't fail to see this play.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

I will be at the Northville State Savings bank Tuesday, January 7 and Friday, January 10, for collection of taxes. This will be the last opportunity before the addition of the extra percentage.

C. F. CASTERLINE,
Township Treasurer.

She likes her Valentine—

When "The man with money" gets the girl he can take care of her.

Every ambitious father wants to see his daughter well provided for. After she leaves his home he wants her to marry a man who can make her comfortable and happy. He knows the spendthrift can't do it. He knows the man who is chasing get-rich-quick bubbles will go broke. He wants a young man with a bank account, so does the girl. And, young man, you have no business marrying until you have a bank account. OPEN one.

The Great Economy Event That Means
 So Much In Savings and Satisfaction To Thousands Of People—Our Annual

Midwinter Sale of Furniture and Furnishings

Discounts 10% to 50%

Savings Average 25%

In spite of the fact that there will be no decrease in furniture prices for some time to come, we have decided to hold our annual midwinter sale as usual. Not because it will benefit us—which it will to some extent—but because this savings event has become established as an annual feature at the Saw-Test stores, and we don't want to disappoint those thousands of our friends who look forward to it. That this is truly a savings event of exceptional importance is proved by the fact that many of the discounts bring the sale prices down to less than the wholesale cost of the articles. NOT INCLUDING THE COST OF SHIPPING. There isn't any doubt in our minds that this will be our greatest annual sale, and we can't urge upon you too strongly the advisability of making your selections as soon as possible.

A MIGHTY MONEY-SAVING OPPORTUNITY

We had planned months ago to make extensive alterations on our Main and Mezzanine Floors and Store Front.

Orders were placed for steel and other building materials. The contractors were ready to start to work when—

The War made it necessary for the Government to place restrictions on all building materials during the period of the War. We were forced to postpone remodeling until after the War.

With the sudden and unexpected signing of the armistice, and subsequent release of steel and other building materials, the contractors have swooped down upon us to start to work.

Our store is filled to over-flowing with heavy stock—tremendously which must be disposed of at once. We must reduce our stocks and re-arrange space to make room for contractors in order that they may work up and speedily.

We cannot remember a time in the history of our store when an overwhelming flood of values has been offered to the public. The vast importance of this event to the women of Detroit is self-evident.

During this great sale beginning January, there will be a series of Giving Events announced in the daily papers. WATCH FOR THEM!

Cataract Cannot Be Cured
by lotions, as they cannot reach the seat of the eye. There is only one cure for cataract, and that is a constitutional remedy. Cataract is caused by an infection of the mucous lining of the eye. When this tube is infected, it produces a running sound or noise, and when it is entirely healed, the result is a clear vision. Unless the tube is reduced and this tube is in normal condition, hearing is forever lost. Many cases of cataract, which is a disease of the eye, is caused by a mucous infection of the mucous surfaces of the eye. Hundreds of dollars for cataract medicine cannot cure cataract. WIXOM CHURCH NOTES.

On Sunday morning the pastor will preach an installation sermon for the officers elect, with a formal setting apart to their various offices.

C. E. service at 7:00. Topic: "The Practice of Kindness," led by Mrs. Brass.

Preaching service at 8:00. Topic: "Non-Skid Christians." This may sound a little trifling, but I believe God appreciates Christians who stick to the King's highway. It is not at all uncommon to see once-was Christians wrecked by the side of the way of life. Come Sunday night and get the balance.

COMMUNITY POULTRY RAISING ENCOURAGED.

The formation of community poultry-breeding associations is being encouraged by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture as a part of its effort to assist in improving flocks and making poultry raising more attractive. Prominent among the advantages of community interest in better poultry are concentration of effort on one variety, opportunities for collective marketing, economy in buying and selling breeding stock, and increased skill in poultry management. Already 48 poultry-breeding associations have been formed. In Virginia a Barred Plymouth Rock association has developed a cooperative selling plan of a size that requires a manager to handle the business. Organizations of this kind are not only beneficial to the members, but by stimulating a larger output of high-quality poultry products they benefit the public as well.

MEASLES AND TUBERCULOSIS.

Do you know that measles is an important aid to tuberculosis?

The St. Louis Tuberculosis Society is calling attention to this fact and the Michigan Anti-tuberculosis association is passing it on to the people of Michigan. The fact is well known to health authorities but less well known to the general public.

It is a recognized fact that measles causes damage to the lymphatic glands of the neck, materially reducing the natural resisting power of the body against the invasion of tuberculosis germs, and is prone to excite to dangerous activity latent or quiescent tuberculosis, the existence of which may not have been previously suspected.

FINISH WHATEVER YOU BEGIN.

When America took up arms in answer to the inhuman challenge of Prussian "brutality" everybody knew that it was a large and a very hard military contract to carry through. But it had to be done and it was done. The Stars and Stripes are floating over the Rhine.

American soldiers are teaching good manners to hordes of arrogant Teutons, are showing disdainful Prussians that the man who ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city.

American soldiers are enjoying that best of all triumphs—the conquest of respect—victory over prejudice and malice. The future will attest that American bravery was more than physical; it was as great in the moral domain as in combat. Our men were unbeatable in battle, and they are merciful and magnanimous in victory.

We started out to win a World victory for Liberty and human rights. Thanks to the Army and Navy, we are now acclaimed by the nations of the world as conquerors of the invincible Prussian Guard.

But the civil population of America has not quite rounded out the enterprise. The soldiers have done their part. We have not done our part—the bills are only half paid. The banks are doing their best to help. They are mobilizing the savings of the people and lending the money to the U. S. treasury on "Certificates of Indebtedness." Hundreds of millions have been advanced to the government in anticipation of taxes to be collected under the new revenue act, or in expectation of liberal popular subscription to the Fifth Liberty Loan which will be offered in the spring.

This new loan must be as great a success as the Fourth of First. For two reasons: (1) Because the bills are not yet paid; and (2) because America will stand disgraced if these bills are not paid with the same boundless patriotism that our soldiers showed when they faced death at Catigny, Chateau Thierry and St. Michel.

Everybody must save up to buy Fifth Liberty Bonds.

ISO'S

Blighty! "What Hopes?"

By
Sergeant Arthur Guy Empey
Author of "Over the Top,"
"First Call," Etc.
O-O-O
Mr. Empey's Experiences During His Seventeen Months in the First Line Trenches of the British Army in France

The battle of the Somme was still raging. I had been hit by three rifle bullets, one through the left cheek, the other two through the left shoulder, while engaged in a trench raid for prisoners, and was on my journey to Blighty.

I remember being carried down a flight of steps and placed on a white table in a brightly lighted room, a doctor and a sergeant bending over me—a delicious drink of ale, then the whispered word, "chloroform," something like a gas helmet being placed over my nose and mouth, a couple of long, drawn, gasping breaths, a rumbling in my ears, then the skyline of New York suddenly appeared. I was quickly followed by the Statue of Liberty shaking hands with the Singer building, a rushing, hissing sound in my ears, like escaping steam, and then—blackness.

I opened my eyes. I was lying on a stretcher, covered with blankets, in a low-roofed, wooden building. Across the way from me was a long row of stretchers, each stretcher holding a wounded Tommy, some lying flat, others propped up by folded blankets.
Others were sitting on their stretchers tenderly caressing an arm bound up with white bandages.

Occasionally a stretcher, reclining on which was a muddy and bloody soldier, would be carried down the aisle by two stretcher bearers. This stretcher would be placed in an open space in the low opposite.

I could hear a hum of conversation all about me, and as my brain cleared snatches of it became intelligible.
My right hand seemed to be in a vice—I could not release it. Squirling in bed, which sent a sharp, shooting pain through my left shoulder, I tried with my unbandaged eye to see what was holding my wrist.

A Royal Army Medical corps man was sitting on the floor at the head of my stretcher, and had my wrist in his grasp. He was about twenty years old and looked dog-tired; his chin would gradually sink to his chest, as if he were falling asleep; then he would suddenly start, lift up his head with a jerk, and stare around the room. Pretty soon his eyelids would slowly close. I gave my arm a tug and he quickly opened his eyes; then across his face flashed a smile. To me it appeared like the sun rising from behind a hill at daybreak. That smile sent a warm glow through me. I believe that right then I was in love with his boyish face. Then he opened his mouth and, as is usual in such cases, spoiled it all.
"Strafe me pink, but you do tyke your own bloomin' time to come out o' chloroform. 'Ere I've been, bloody well bawny, a 'oldin' your bloomin' pulse."
"Out of the corner of my mouth I asked him:
"Where am I?"
Still smiling, he hailed a stretcher bearer across the way.
"I say, 'Awkins, this blighter wants a bloomin' map of France; 'e wants to know where 'e is."
"Awkins, across the way, answered:
"Tell 'im 'e's bloomin' well in Sam Isaac's fish 'ouse down Tottenham Court Road, awaftin' for 'is order o' fish and chips."
This brought a general laugh from the Tommies opposite me and on my right and left.
Somewhat incensed at their merriment, I retorted:
"Quit your kidding; for the love of Mike, have some sense. What's the matter? Am I wounded?" The stretcher bearer, still with the sunny smile on his face which made me feel a little ashamed at my resentment, answered:
"Naw, you ain't wounded, myte.
You just appened to fall down in the bloomin' road and one o' those blinkin' tanks crawled over you." This rather frightened me, and in a pleading voice I asked:
"Please tell me; what is the matter with me?"
The stretcher bearer leaned over and read from a little tag pinned to my tunic:
"G. S. W. left face—(two) left shoulder. Cot."
Then he carried on:
"It means that you 'ave a rifle bullet through the left side of your clock (face) and two bullets through your left shoulder, and that you're a cot case, which means that you won't 'ave to bloody well walk. Two of us poor blokes will 'ave to carry you on a stretcher. You sure are a lucky bloke; pretty cushy, I calls it."

discharge. That left 'arm o' your'n will be out o' commission for the rest o' your life. Your wife, if you've got one, will bloom in well 'ave to cut your meat for you, that is if you're lucky enough to get any blinkin' meat on the pension the Top 'Ats 'ome will
'and you."

A feeling of pride surged through me. In a hospital of wounded soldiers a severely wounded case is more or less looked up to, while a man with a superficial wound is treated as an ordinary mortal. I could read respect, perhaps intermixed with a little envy, in the eyes of the surrounding Tommies and medical men.
The door at the end of the ward opened. A howl came from the cot at my right, and a gruff Irish voice shouted:
"Close that damned door. You bloomin' hospital men 'ave no sense at all. Here I am, knocked about by a shell, and the likes o' youse puts me in a bloody draft. It's a good thing we 'ave a navy; with the likes o' you blokes in the army, we certainly need one."

A snicker went up from the patients.
Then a Tommy on my left answered this outburst with:
"Bloody nerve, I call it. 'Ere 'e is,
at covered with blankets, and grousin' about a little draft, and not many hours back 'e was lyin' in a bloomin' shell 'ole, with the wind a-blowin' the whiskers off 'im, and 'e a-prayin' for stretcher bearers. I'll wager a quid 'e belongs to the Royal Irish Rifles."

The man on my right retorted:
"Naw, I'm not in the Royal Irish Rifles, but I belong to a good outfit—the Royal Dublin Fusiliers, and I can lick the man that says they ain't." Just then from a corner of the ward, came the voice of a stretcher bearer: "Jesse, get the M. O. (medical officer). 'urry up—quick—this poor bloke's a-goin' west."

The man holding my hand suddenly released his grip, and rising to his feet hurriedly left the ward. A dead si-

"What's the Matter? Am I Wounded?" In a few seconds the door opened and I could hear low voices down in the corner. I could see the Tommies around me intently gazing in the direction of the voices. After a few minutes the door opened again, then closed, and Jones came back. I looked up at him and he solemnly nodded.
One more son of Britain had paid the toll of war.

My unbandaged eye suddenly became cloudy and misty and a hot tear rolled down my cheek.
The door at the other end of the ward opened and two stretcher bearers entered, going in the direction of the dead man. Pretty soon they left the ward, carrying a stretcher, on which was a still form covered with a blanket. The Irishman on my right was repeating to himself:
"Poor bloke, poor bloke; he sure done his bit, and it won't be long before he'll be pushin' up the daisies somewhere in France. And before this war is over, there'll be lots more in the same fix."

One of the Tommies, in an effort to be brave, addressed Jones:
"What's 'is name, Mike? What battalion is 'e from?"
Jones answered:
"James Collins, a lance corporal out of the Royal Warwick; five machine gun bullets through the right lung—hemorrhage."
The door opened again and two stretcher bearers entered, carrying a Tommy, his head lying flat, and a smell of ether pervaded the ward. We knew it was a case from the Picture (operating room). The stretcher bearers placed him on the right of the Irishman.
Jones now left me, and, getting a little white basin, went over to the new arrival. The Tommies turned inquiring looks in his direction. Answering these glances, he read from the tag pinned to the tunic of the patient:
"Shell wound, left foot—amputation."
Then and there I knew that I had lost my prestige.
In a short while the form on the stretcher began to mumble. This mumbling soon turned to singing; that Tommy sure could sing! He must have been a comedian in civilian life, because the Tommies were soon roaring with laughter; so was I, as much as my wounds would permit. Harry Tate, the famous English comedian, in his palmist days, never had a more appreciative audience. After a while the singing ceased, and the Tommies began conversing among themselves. The mainsprings of the ward were
"Blighty! What Hopes?"

wound was serious enough for him to be sent to England. The stretcher bearers were being pestered with questions as to what chance the Tommies had of reaching their coveted goal. I believe they all envied the man under ether, because, with a left foot missing, he was sure to be sent to Blighty.

A sergeant major of the Royal Army Medical corps entered the ward. The medical men promptly stood at attention, except one or two who were taking care of a patient. The sergeant major ordered:
"Get this ward in shape. The M. O. is coming through in five minutes—inspect cases and 'clear out'."

The medical men went from cot to cot, carefully smoothing out blankets, tucking in loose ends and picking up
"rag ends" (cigarette butts).
The sergeant major left.
In about ten minutes the door opened again and, with a smart "shun" from the sergeant major, a dead silence reigned in the ward. The medical men all came to attention, then the doctor entered, followed by a clerk and a R. A. M. C. sergeant. He stopped at each cot, carefully read the tag on the wounded man occupying it; passed a few remarks which the clerk jotted down on a pad of paper, and as he left each wounded soldier he made a cheering remark to him.

"When he came to me he asked:
"Well, how are you feeling, my lad," at the same time stooping over my tag.
"Huh—three rifle bullets, well, my lucky fellow—it means England for you."
I could have kissed that doctor.
Then he passed to the Irishman on my right. Stooping over him, he said:
"How are you, my lad?"
The Irishman answered:
"I'm a sick and I want to get out of here; I want to get out of here, out of this draft. Every tin minutes they're openin' and a-shuttin' that door."

The doctor, with a wink, turned to the R. A. M. C. sergeant and said:
"Shrapnel, left foot, knee and right breast. I see no reason why this man won't be ready for duty in a couple of days."

The Irishman, with a yell, answered:
"Dooty; how the hell can I do dooty when I can't walk?"
The doctor answered:
"That will be all right, my lad.
We'll fix you up with a cushy job at brigade headquarters, pounding a typewriter."

The Irishman, with a groan of disgust, addressing nobody in particular, sighed:
"Out since Mons, and I, end in workin' a bloody typewriter at headquarters. Shuck me in skirts and I'll go as a manicurist."

The doctor, paying no attention to this remark, went to the next case and soon left the ward.
As soon as the door closed a string of oaths came from the Irishman: "Poundin' a typewriter at headquarters; just like the bloody British army; what in hell do I know about one of those writin' machines?
Just my luck. Why couldn't that shell have hit me in the hands. But I s'pose if I'd lost my bloody hands they'd made a tight-rope walker out o' me. Win this war—what hopes?"

The Tommies were eagerly questioning each other:
"What did he say to you?" "Are you good for Blighty?" "He marked England on my tag!" "What does base hospital mean?" Does it mean that I'm to stick it out in this bloody mud while you blokes are a-goin' to Blighty?" etc.

Pretty soon a stretcher bearer entered, carrying a little oblong green box, which we all knew, contained cigarettes. He was greeted with a chorus of:
"Gimme a fig, mate; I'm all out.
Come on, chum, don't forget me.
That's a good fellow. Let's have one."

Pretty soon every Tommy who was able had a lighted fig between his lips, and a sigh of content went up as he inhaled deep drafts of the smoke. I certainly enjoyed mine.

The sergeant major again entered.
The medical men came to attention.
In crisp tones he ordered:
"Get the convoy for England ready.
Look alive; the ambulances are expected any minute."

The stretcher bearers entered, bustling about, and the ward was in an uproar. Then, outside, could be heard the chugging engines of the waiting ambulances.

As each fortunate Tommy was carried to the more unfortunate ones who were to be left behind at the base hospital, bravely wished him a "Good luck, mate; give my regards to Trafalgar square. Be careful and don't lose your watch in Petticoat lane. Give 'er my love."

As I was carried through the door the cold air sent a shiver through me and my wounds began to pain. The effect of the chloroform was wearing off. Outside it was dark and confusion seemed to reign supreme. Lanterns were flashing to and fro and long lines of stretchers could be seen moving toward the ambulances.
I was placed in an ambulance with three others. A jolting noise as the gears were set, and with a jerk the ambulance started. That jerk made mested teeth.
But I A. P. why in the thought that at Brian's chaps my way to that longed-for Blighty!

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands, upon thousands, of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.
Women's complaints often prove to be nothing less than kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.
If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.
Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.
Don't delay starting treatment. Dr.
Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.
Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.
However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr.
Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper—Ady.

Art of Oratory.
"Didn't you ever catch yourself talking nonsense when you were making a speech?"
"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum.
"You have to give some audiences a few sentences they can't understand.
It impresses them with a sense of ignorance and tends to make them sort of independent."

After the "Flu" —Fever or Clean the Acidity and Toxins Bank Out of the Digestive Millions are now suffering from the after effects of the deadly "flu," a fever or a cold. Their appetites are poor; they are weak, and they are waiting for their strength to come back.

If these people could only realize that the return to health and strength would be greatly helped by giving attention to the stomach—that is, removing the acidity and toxic poisons from the entire digestive tract, making it act naturally, so that the body will receive the full strength of the food eaten—a great deal of suffering would be saved to humanity.

Everyone knows that the disease itself, and the strong medicines that have been taken, under the stomach, leave it hot and feverish, the mouth dry, the tongue coated, a nasty taste, and no desire to eat. This is a poor foundation to build new strength on.

Now, tens of thousands of people all over this country are using EATONIC for the purpose of cleaning these poisonous after-effects right out of the system and they are obtaining wonderful results—so wonderful, that the amazingly quick benefits are hardly believable, just as shown in the re-

VISITORS HERE AND ELSEWHERE

Mrs. Fred Foreman and two sons are visiting in Chicago.

George Baker and family spent New Years with relatives at Orion.

Scott Montgomery spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives at Milford.

James Smith has gone to Highland Park to spend the winter with his daughters.

Lieut. C. F. Murphy left Northville Sunday for Camp McClellan, Ala., his furlough having expired.

Donald Baker has returned from a trip to western New York state, where he spent New Year's with friends.

M. and Mrs. Wm. Richardson left Sunday for Highland Park, where they will make an extended visit with their son and family.

Mildred and Eugene Johnson of Highland Park have been recent visitors at the home of their cousin, Eleanor Martz.

Miss Margie Putnam of Novi is spending a couple of weeks at the home of her uncle, Fred Hicks and family.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Kelley left town Wednesday morning to visit for a few days with friends in Port Huron and other points in that part of the state.

Mrs. Misener and little daughter and the former's mother, Mrs. Winchell, of G. and Haven were Sunday guests at the home of Dr. T. S. Ball and Mrs.
Ball.

Ralph Lyke, formerly of Co. A, 2nd Bn. Heavy Tank Service, returned from the East last Friday with his honorable discharge from the U. S. army.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ford were New Year's guests of friends in Flint, and while there called on Rev. Ralph N.
Pierce and family, formerly of the local M. E. church.

Mrs. Lenora Peer was a caller in town Monday on her way from one nursing case to another, her most-recent convalescent patient being Faye Carpenter of Wixom, a former Northville High school student, who has been very sick with pneumonia following influenza.

Mrs. Floyd Caswell and children are guests this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Lanning.

Mrs. R. R. Ball of Detroit was in town Thursday, first time she has been out since her illness with influenza.

Mrs. Glen Hale and twin children, of Birmingham have recently been spending a week at the home of Mrs.
Hale's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sowie and family.

Representative M. N. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, returned to Lansing Wednesday after a few days' stay in town. They report themselves very pleasantly situated in their temporary home, having been fortunate enough to secure an up-to-date, furnished residence the owners of which are spending the winter in the south.

The following visitors were in town Wednesday to attend the installation and banquet of the local Woman's Relief Corps held in Foresters' hall:
Mrs. Elsie Babcock, Mrs. Lucinda
Collins, Mrs. Maggie Honeywell, Mrs.
Ella Thurber, Mrs. Myra Tuttle and Mrs. Gertrude Wilkinson, wife of Pontiac and Mrs. Horatio S. Earle of Detroit.

William Phillips of Highland Park was a Northville visitor Tuesday evening and Wednesday, and attended the annual meeting of the American Bell & Foundry Co. Wednesday.
While very pleasantly and profitably situated in his present place of residence, Mr. Phillips still thinks there is no place quite like good old Northville and no friends like the old friends.

Walter Helmes of Livonia died Wednesday night of influenza in a Detroit hospital.

T. G. Richardson and family are rejoicing over the fact that with the assistance of his nurse he has been able to walk out of doors for a very short distance this week.

Mrs. F. L. Newton received a letter from her nephew, Morris B. Daily, who spent the holidays at his home in Buffalo, stating that on his return to duty at Boston January 2nd, he was advanced to Chief Yeoman on the U.
S. S. Winnammet.

About Deep Breathing.
Many people act on the principle that because deep breathing causes dizziness it does not agree with them. But if they will practice the breathing lessions vigorously they will find that gradually they can take all the deep breath-they want without the slightest discomfort. Take ten breaths in ten seconds and gradually decrease the number of inhalations.

Price of Love.
Prospective jurors in breach of promise suits may be interested in this "personal" from the London Express: "Mary—waited three hours at appointed spot until questioned by suspicious policeman. If this is the price of love, it is too heavy a one for me to pay. Farewell. Potts."

Back to the Land.
Mr. Valentine Davis, a prominent vegetarian, declares that if the soil of England was cultivated as it was done half a century ago it would feed 24-000,000 people and find employment for 750,000 men.

Are You Open-Minded?

The average American is open-minded.

American business is conducted by true Americans of vision, open-minded men who believe in their country and strive to meet their country's needs.
The men in the packing industry are no exception to the rule.

The business of Swift & Company has grown as the nation has progressed. Its affairs have been conducted honorably, efficiently, and economically, reducing the margin between the cost of live stock and the selling price of dressed meat, until today the profit is only a fraction of a cent a pound—too small to have any noticeable effect on prices.

The packing industry is a big, vital industry—one of the most important in the country. Do you understand it?

Swift & Company presents facts in the advertisements that appear in this paper. They are addressed to every open-minded person in the country.

The booklet of preceding chapters in this story of the packing industry, will be mailed on request to
