

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD

VOL. XLIX, NO. 34

THE RECORD: NORTHVILLE, MICH., FRIDAY, MARCH 14, 1919.

$1.50 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

JAMES A. DUBUAR'S EARTHLY LIFE ENDED

James A. Dubuar, practically a life-long resident of Northville, entered into the eternal rest last Friday night, after an illness of several years, with heart trouble, during which, however, he had bravely refused to accept invalidism, but attended to business, even up to his final day on earth, going that day to his manufacturing plant as usual. His final suffering was of but a few hours' duration.

Mr. Dubuar, who was born in Aurora, N. Y. 69 years ago, had been a prominent factor in the active business life of Northville for the past 40 years. His passing leaves a vacancy which will not be easily filled.

In the local Presbyterian church, of which his father was pastor for almost a generation, he was an invaluable factor socially, officially and financially, serving with efficiency and devotion in many important capacities throughout the years, until failing health compelled a cessation of activities. He was one of its elders at the time of his death.

Mr. Dubuar also served the village as its president some years ago, and in token of respect the flag on the municipal flag staff was kept at half-mast from the time of his death until after the funeral. A number of business places were closed during the funeral hour.

The nearest relatives surviving are the wife, Camilla Swift Dubuar—niece and foster daughter of the late Dr. James M. Swift and Mrs. Swift—an only daughter; Mrs. Edward H. Lapham, one granddaughter, Elizabeth Lapham, a brother, Charles, and three sisters, Mrs. Frances Horton, Mrs. Barton Wheeler and Mrs. Pitt Johnson, all of Northville.

Funeral services, conducted by his pastor, Rev. Edward Belles, were held from the late home Monday afternoon, with interment in Rural Hill.

VERY LIGHT VOTE AT MONDAY'S ELECTION

As was to be expected, the vote at the village election Monday was very light, only 121 ballots being cast, out of a possible 4,000. There was no contest on, so of course everybody whose name was on either ticket was elected, "hands down." As a result Northville is assured of a capable set of officers for the ensuing year, and there is no doubt that the affairs of our municipality will be ably administered. It is to be expected that under new authority some new ideas may be introduced which will be to the advantage of all concerned.

FREE EXTENSION LECTURE AND CONCERT.

The next number of the course of extension lectures arranged by Supt. D. C. Boyen of the Northville schools will be given in the High school auditorium March 19, at 8 p. m.

The speaker will be Prof. D. H. Roberts, Supt. of the Training school of the State Normal college at Ypsilanti. The subject of the lecture is to be "Needed Reforms in our Schools."

The lecture will be preceded by a concert by Sennate's orchestra, which will render a half-hour program, beginning at 7:30.

AUCTION SALE.

On Monday, March 17th, commencing at 10 a. m., on the former Tillotson farm, 3 miles south of Plymouth, Fred E. Atchison will have a sale of 20 dairy cattle, horses, hogs, poultry, hay, grain and ensilage, farm tools, vehicles and harness, dairy tools and numerous miscellaneous property. Hot Lunch at noon. Frank J. Boyle, auctioneer.

EXTRACTS FROM SOLDIER'S LETTER

The following extracts are from a very entertaining but very long letter from Sergt. Kenneth Miller, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Watts of this place; who is with the Quartermaster's department overseas. The writer designated his experience as "Seeing France from a Box Car."

"As the shipment we were to convey into Germany was a rush one, we were hitched on to the rear end of a passenger train. Arriving at Tours, at 12:45 a. m. and finding we could not leave until 5:30 a. m., we tried to get out and get something to eat, but were politely informed by the M. P. that convoys were not allowed on the streets so we decided we did not want to go, anyway. Got some sandwiches from the French R. R. restaurant, then curled up in six blankets and went to sleep. Our bed was very soft, and comfortable—blankets on the top of six cases of Quaker oats. Aside from some sharp nails and pieces of wire we had as good a bed as one could wish for. We were awake bright and early as they bumped our home so hard that all the cases fell over each other, we saying ourselves by a headlong dive out of the door, landing in a mud puddle."

"As we followed the Loire river, the views were beautiful. Between Blois and Orleans, we saw something we thought was not to be seen in modern times—Cliff dwellers. Back of town, after town were houses and barns built into the hills, reached by little winding paths which seemed almost inaccessible. Orleans is the most up-to-date city I have seen in France."

"After leaving Troyes, we began to find ourselves in the war country, crosses here and there, grim reminders of battles above the clouds, shell holes, where German airmen had attempted to destroy the railroad, some places new tracks, where they had succeeded, camouflaged pits where the big guns had been, etc."

"At Metz we found ourselves in a beautiful city, surrounded by hills, all fortified, in what had been German territory for more than 40 years. Metz is modern in every way—streets, shops, one of the most magnificent passenger stations I ever saw. When the Germans said Metz could not be taken, they were nearly right. The system of fortifications is wonderful—but the Yankees knew how to fight. Metz was damaged far worse than was ever given out, and would have been still worse had the Americans fought with the same dirtiness as the Huns."

"As we went on, we had to admire the evidence of German thrift on every side. Every available piece of ground was under cultivation. At nearly every town we passed, we could hear a cheery American whistle among the sounds of everyday life, and looking out, would see the good-humored 'doughboys,' a strong contrast to the inhabitants. All vital points were guarded by the Americans, who were a source of much contemplation for the children everywhere."

SOLDIER WRITES OF BROTHER'S DEATH

The appended letter was received by the late J. A. Dubuar from the surviving one of the two Roche brothers, who were employees with him for years before their enlistment in the U. S. army:

"Mr. Dubuar: Dear Friend: I wish to inform you that your letter and papers were not received by James, but by me. I assure you that they were appreciated just as much. I cannot tell you how much it hurts me to say that while James was working in line of duty, he was injured very badly and was taken to hospital No. 28 at Nevers, France, where he died October 28."

"James and I were always together until lately and you don't know how I miss him. I would have let some one in Northville know of this sad affair before, but I did not know about it until two days ago. I had not seen him for 6 months."

"There are several friends looking for mail from James, so if you will kindly inform the Record of this I will appreciate it very much."

"Your friend,
BARNEY ROCHE."

TOWNSHIP CAUCUSES.

The Republican township caucus has been called for this coming Saturday afternoon, March 15, in Princess rink, and that of the Democrats is dated for Monday evening, March 17, in the Village hall. The only woman so far mentioned as a prospective candidate is Mrs. Emma Pinkerton Knapp, who has consented to be placed in nomination on the Republican ticket for the office of treasurer. This will give the new women voters of the township an opportunity to place a worthy member of their sex in a public position which there is no doubt she can fill in an acceptable manner.

THE VICTORY LOAN.

Patriotism is stimulated by war; but it must not end when war ends. War demands large government revenues; so does peace after war. War demands heavy taxation; so does the readjustment period. The end of the war calls for a higher and larger patriotism.

The American people showed high patriotism in taking the first four war loans. They did it under the inspiration of national rights and in support of the Army and Navy fighting for the flag.

The Victory Liberty Loan which is offered in April will bring out a higher and calmer patriotism.

It demands patriotism to face cannot and poison gas—yes, it does! But it demands patriotism to SAVE for the government when peace returns.

BASKET BALL.

Positively the last High school basket ball game of the season will be played at the school gym. on Saturday evening March 15, at 8. The local High school will play a strong team composed of Freshmen from the University High school graduates.

A BROKEN LIFE

By ALLEN CHAMPNEY.

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

"Miss Cayenne, you said?"

"Yes."

"Why the peppery name?"

"You would know if you spent an evening in her company! Rightfully she is Miss Naomi Winters, but in a casual way the other appellation has become common. You may wonder at it, for she is not only beautiful but rich. Her eccentricities are constant and numerous, and young as she is they say she has a satiric and sarcasm of command that would make a star of an old Grecian pessimistic philosopher. Some deep disappointment must have ruffled the fair surface of her life, for she is a constant man hater and her apt ridicule of sham, pretense and affectation has not made her at all popular."

The speaker stood at a window of the lobby of the hotel at Walford, regarding a quietly appearing lady who was just passing by.

They casually discussed her, and turned away, but a man of about thirty who had stood directly behind them moved closer to the window. There was something more than interest in his face—a token of deep emotion and a thoughtful expression were in his eyes as he remained staring blankly out on the street. He had become a guest at the hotel and registered as Randal Paxton that morning. At the end of a protracted reverie he turned away with a deep sigh.

The lady who was the object of all this attention was life in harmony to outward seeing, with the designation that had been awarded her. Her face, though smileless, almost severe, was perfect in its contour. Her eyes, which at times were scornful or haughty, when in repose bore a half-hidden sadness that told of some secret sorrow.

A storm of censure and disapproval greeted her when she selected Alice Wade as her maid. A member of a family poor, obscure, the father of which was a drunkard, herself a deserted wife, Alice had been shunned, despised. With rare human pity Miss Winters took her up, lifting a depressed soul from gloom to sunshine and winning a devotion and love that was almost pathetic.

It was Alice who knew of countless deeds of charity done by her mistress in secret. It was she who knew that in her dark moody moments Miss Winters shut herself up in a room never visited by others. It was Alice who knew that her young mistress had loved and lost, embittering her life in the process.

The stranger at the hotel for three nights in succession passed some time in the vicinity of the house where Miss Winters lived. He was rather mysterious in his actions. He evaded pedestrians and never left his hotel during daytime. One evening he was near to the Winters' home, when Alice was hurrying towards the house. As she passed a hedge a rough looking man sprang into view and caught her arm.

"It's me, my pretty your roving, unfortunate husband. I hear you've got a job where there's lots of money and jewels. You've got to get me some."

"I wouldn't give you a penny if you were starving!" protested Alice and broke away. The man started after her. Paxton intervened, knocked him senseless with a single blow, and hurried the girl home.

"There, you are safe," he said, "and if that miscreant troubles you again just call the police. Why? What is that?" as a thunderous sound emanated from the house, startling, alarming.

"Something has happened. Oh, my young mistress!" palpitated Alice, and she rushed into the house, followed by Paxton.

into the wing room Alice dashed. At its threshold for an instant Paxton paused. A part of the ceiling had fallen and Miss Winters lay insensible on the floor amid its debris. This was the room where Miss Winters spent so many hours of meditation in solitude. Upon a table in the corner was a framed photograph, markedly resembling the young man; some trinkets of jewelry, a faded bouquet, evidently love mementos of a far past.

Paxton's face was colorless. He quivered like a strong tree shaken by a tempest as he lifted Miss Winters tenderly, carried her to a couch in the next room and telephoned for a physician. A great aspiration of relief swept his lips as an hour later Alice came to him and informed him that the doctor reported Miss Winters only temporarily stunned. Alice looked agitated as she glanced at the photograph and then at the stranger.

"You are the man?" she spoke in a low, intense tone.

"You mean, an old friend of Miss Winters, whom she has remembered?" replied Paxton. "Yes, I was her affianced husband. A scheming sister plotted to prove to me that she loved another. I left home a broken-hearted wanderer. Only a few months since I learned of the cruel conduct of my sister."

"Shall I tell Miss Winters this?" questioned Alice.

"If you will," and Alice went away and returned with a beaming face. "She knew all. She wishes to see you. Oh! make her happy, for I love her, even as you do," and leading Randal Paxton to the room where Naomi Winters awaited him, Alice closed the door after him, and those two, so cruelly parted, were reunited for all the future.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Adv.

The American National Anthem.

An amusing little story is told by Reginald T. Townsend in his description of Victory day in Paris in the Red Cross magazine. Mr. Townsend says:

"A group of Yanks passed singing 'Tipperary.'"

"What is that they are singing?" asked a Frenchman standing beside me of his neighbor.

"Don't you know? came the scornful reply of one who always makes a point of keeping up with world affairs. 'Why, that is the American national anthem.'"

COUNT FIFTY! PAINS AND NEURALGIA GONE

Instant relief! Rub this nerve torture and misery right out with "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Rub this soothing, penetrating liniment right into the sore, inflamed nerves, and like magic—neuralgia disappears. "St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain. It is a harmless "neuralgia remedy" which doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Don't suffer! It's so needless. Get a small trial bottle from any drug store and gently rub the "aching nerves" and in just a moment you will be absolutely free from pain and suffering.

No difference whether your pain or neuralgia is in the face, head or any part of the body, you get instant relief with this old-time, honest pain destroyer—it can not injure.—Adv.

Not Susceptible to Experiment.

"Now everything has its use," explained the guy who knows pretty nearly everything and knows it "Take poison for example."

"Excuse me!" said his long-suffering friend as he started to leave. "You can take it yourself, if you want to, but you can't work your experiments out on me."—Exchange.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Why use ordinary, rough remedies when Boschee's Syrup has been used so successfully for fifty-one years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis, colds, settled in the throat, especially lung troubles? It gives the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectation in the morning, gives nature a chance to soothe the inflamed parts, throw off the disease, helping the patient to regain his health. Made in America and sold for more than half a century.—Adv.

Pleasant to take and give satisfaction. A certain Relief for Feverishness, Constipation, Headache, Teething, and Stomach Disorders, and remove Worms. They tend to break up a cold in 24 hours, act on the Stomach, Liver and Bowels and correct intestinal disorders. Over 10,000 testimonials of relief.

Read a few extracts from the hundreds of unsolicited letters we receive every year, the originals of which are on file in our offices:

"I think MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN are grand. They were recommended to my sister by a doctor. I am giving them to my little three year old girl who was very puffy, and she is picking up wonderfully."

"I received a sample of MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN some time ago. I tried them for both my babies and found them to be a great cure for worms. The babies like to take them and cry for more."

"I am using MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS as directed, and have no trouble in giving them to the children as they are much easier to take than oils or syrups. I will always keep them on hand."

"We have used MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN at different times for past nine years, and always found them a perfect children's medicine and very satisfactory in every case."

"I think MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN are the best thing I have ever used, and my little boy has not had a sick spell since I have been giving him the Powders."

Used by Mothers for over thirty years.

Offers You Health & Wealth

Western Canada for years has been helping to feed the world—the same responsibility which has been placed upon her by the high prices for Cattle and Sheep are sure to remain, price of land is much below its value.

Land capable of yielding 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre can be had on easy terms at from $15 to $30 per acre—good grazing land at much less.

Many farms paid for from a single year's crop. Raising cattle, sheep and hogs brings equal success. The Government encourages farming and stock raising. Railway and Land Companies offer unusual inducements to Home Seekers. Farms may be stocked by loans at moderate interest. Western Canada offers low taxation, good markets and shipping; free schools, churches and healthful climate.

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:

"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

"SAVE IN HIS OWN COUNTRY."

Like so many other words that have lived in vital strength through the nineteen hundred years since they were spoken in a far-off oriental land, the axiom "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country," is just as applicable now to human affairs as in those centuries long past. Instances multiply in support of the fact stated in the above words everywhere we turn. A particularly prominent case in point is that of the superintendency of Detroit's schools. Completely overlooking the dozens of competent men in their own city, Detroit's board of education went afar off and got Mr. Chadsey. Now that Chicago has done likewise and takes him away again—leaving the inference that Chicago, also, lacks able education leaders of her own—Detroit will, if precedent is followed, ignore her own splendid men and scout the country for some one else, (who, of course, is not good enough for his own native constituency). Meanwhile—to particularize—there is (and right on the job too) Detroit's own Frank Cody eminently fitted by education and experience to fill the position. And so it goes. In the matter of the police commissionership to illustrate among many others, who is better qualified for the duties of that office than George Walters? and yet a man from Mt. Clemens is the incumbent. Northville, too, has many times overlooked excellent material at home to go abroad for teachers. For example there is our Thadd Knapp, who has won for himself a most enviable position and reputation; but suppose he had been suggested a few years ago for the much less important place of Superintendent of schools in his own home town? There would have been that same old tendency to disbelieve in the worth of our own familiar talent that is evident everywhere. Not that we have not had many excellent teachers from abroad, but we probably had them here because of the fact that in most cases their worth was not realized at home. It is the age-old query all along the line, "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?"

Now that President Wilson is in Europe Vice-President Marshall in Arizona, Secretary of War Baker in Michigan, Secretary of State Lansing in Paris and Congress adjourned by law we ought to be able to have a decade of a time.

It is safe to say that those numerous daily get-away murderers in Detroit have their autos parked exactly to a hair mark, according to the police rules while they commit the crimes.

As we understood the Monroe doctrine referred to has reference to the little Michigan town down near Toledo.

Of course if the winter's snow chooses to come along in the summer time it may expect a warm reception.

The average man now is in a quandary to know whether to buy coal or ice.

SHUBERT-GARRICK THEATRE, DETROIT.

"Old Lady 31," a love story of old people and young people for young people and old people, with Effie Ellister of "Hazel Kirke" fame, in the leading role, comes to the Shubert-Garrick theatre, Detroit for the week starting next Sunday night, March 16, with the usual matinees. It is a play away from the beaten track and is just like moving to Detroit a happy party of dear old women and a few men from New England of 50 years ago, and introducing them in turn to an audience of today, but with hearts the same as all time. It is the story of youth, of youthfulness and more youth, that comes with advancing years, when the hearts remain young.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE RECORD WANT COLUMNS.

Women of Michigan This is Your Affair!

IS IT NOT PROVIDENTIAL that the first vital issue to come up since the women of this state have gained their franchise is that issue which most intimately and most seriously affects the life and happiness of woman—the house question?

IF THERE WAS ONE QUESTION on which women have always wished they could register their convictions it was on this one of the saloon.

ON APRIL SEVENTH the enfranchised women of Michigan will enjoy that golden opportunity—and for that reason we are absolutely certain not only of success, but of a vote so overwhelmingly against this last forlorn effort of the "Wets" as to end the matter for all time.

FOR WE CONFIDENTLY expect that the most intelligent vote ever cast in this state will then be recorded—the intelligent, clear-seeing decision of the women added to that of the men who previously voted this same question down.

FOR—MAKE NO MISTAKE—while the so-called "Light Wines and Beer" amendment sounds almost harmless, it is the old question under a cloak of verbiage—it means in plain language the reopening of the saloon.

AND YOU KNOW WHAT that means—women know only too well.

SO WE WILL NOT ATTEMPT to analyze that particular document here. Time enough for that before election day.

OUR PURPOSE NOW—our ardent desire—is to impress upon the women of the state, the necessity of registering at once.

TRUE, YOU HAVE until March 22nd—and in cities or townships of less than 10,000, until March 25th—to register.

BUT YOU KNOW how dangerous is delay. Something may come up—you may delay and then forget until it is too late—and then find yourself barred from exercising that precious privilege for which so many good women have fought so long.

DON'T DO IT—DON'T put off this matter from day to day. It is vital. You will want to vote on this amendment. We need not advise you how—there is no doubt as to what women will do on this subject.

ALL WE ARE ANXIOUS ABOUT is that you register—so you will be able to vote on this pernicious bit of attempted legislation on April seventh. And on every other issue that is to be voted on then.

IF YOU DON'T KNOW the conditions of registration, read below—we give a brief outline.

YOU WILL OBSERVE among other things that you are not asked to tell your age—merely to state that you will be 21 or over on election day.

SO THAT IS EASY— isn't it? And the rest is just as simple.

ALL YOU NEED DO IS—do it! Don't delay. Don't put it off. Exercise your voting privilege now that you have it. Prove that you prize and that you deserve it.

REGISTER!—Today is the best day.

BUT IF YOU JUST CAN'T go now, set down on your calendar a certain day and make a solemn resolve that on that very day you will go and register.

REMEMBER—MARCH 22nd is the last day, except in cities or townships of less than 10,000. Then you have till the 25th. But don't wait till the last day. Register now.

THEN YOU CAN VOTE—cast your first ballot against that dangerous bill, and as you may desire on any other—April 7th.

Simple Rules For Registering

Any woman 21 or over, an American citizen by birth, marriage or naturalization can vote—if her name is on the registration book.

You must appear in person.

Register with the city or township clerk any day except Sunday or holidays up to and including March 22nd.

In any city or township of less than 10,000 up to March 25th.

Register in your own name not your husband's. "Mrs. Smith"—not "Mrs. John Smith."

You do not have to give your age—only to state that on election day you will be 21 or upwards.

You must have lived in Michigan six months or more, and been a resident of township, village or ward 20 days preceding election.

Because of the tremendous amount of work to fall upon the clerk this spring by reason of the extension of the voting privilege to women, it is important that you register at once.

It is simple. Requires only a few minutes—only that you do it—now.

Statements That May Be Investigated
Testimony of Northville Citizens.

When a Northville citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Northville resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

Mrs. John Rührbrut, Church and Cady streets, says: "My kidneys get out of order at times and I have dull pains across my kidneys. I also have a tired heavy feeling across my back and through my limbs. Doan's Kidney Pills have always removed the awful misery in my back and helped me in every way. In a few days I have felt as well as ever."

DETROIT OPERA HOUSE (ON THE CAMPUS).

"Come-on-Charley," a satirization in three acts and five scenes, opens at the Detroit-Opera house, (on the Campus), Sunday, March 16th. The prologue which is short, contains a plan hatched in a lawyer's office, that is the key note of the actions which follow, and seeing the prologue adds much to the surprises that make up the evening. Twenty-two characters are required to portray the every-day people that take part in the comedy. The production is in four scenes including a lawyer's office, a shoe store in Stamford, Conn., a parlor of a suite in a distinguished New York hotel, and a room in a haunted house. All these have been constructed by a master-craftsman.

George U. Hobart is no stranger to lovers of humor and comedy. In "Come-On-Charley" he has combined comedy with touches of mystery and drama that put it in a class by itself, and is believed to be unique in many ways.

13 Month Year, New Calendar Idea

Scheme Launched by American Equal Month Association

A plan to save $50,000,000 a year in time and $15,000,000 in coin by the addition of a month to the present twelve month calendar has been launched by the American Equal Month association, according to an announcement made by that organization.

The idea is to divide the year into thirteen months of twenty-eight days each, making each month begin with a Monday. This, of course, will leave one day lying around loose in an ordinary year, so it is proposed to make that day New Year's day, an independent legal holiday, located between the last calendar day of the previous year and the first day of the following year. In leap years the extra day will also be made an independent holiday and will be slipped in between two months, where it will not be noticed.

The thirteenth month, or rather the extra month under the proposed system, will be called "Liberty," to make the calendar more American, the officials of the association say. Thus, the calendar will read January, February, Liberty, March, etc.

The saving in money will be through the abolishment of printed calendars. That is where the saving of time and labor will come in, it is averred.

The officers of the association state that the bill has been very carefully drawn for presentation to congress, and provides that the change will take place on Sunday, the first day of 1922.

Boys' Working Reserve Extended

Plans Would Place 500,000 on Farms This Year

An industrial unit of the United States Boys' Working Reserve, the aim of which shall be to maintain the agricultural training of all American boys between the ages of sixteen and twenty who are engaged in industry, is the plan of the Reserve for 1919. This unit is already partly organized after the plan of the Farm Unit of the Reserve.

Other plans for 1919 which the Boys' Working Reserve has announced are as follows:

To enroll and place on American farms 500,000 boys.

To afford all these boys training in farm practice before they go to the farms, by means of the central farm training camps and farm-craft lessons.

To help them raise enough food stuffs to feed Europe in 1919.

To maintain the education and welfare of all American boys of high school age.

Brains Necessary to Make Prosperity and to Prevent a Stagnation of Business

The Latins had a motto, "First live, then be a philosopher." Business is the thing which enables us to live. The workman of today, asserts a writer in Forbes Magazine, enjoys more comforts than the rulers of former ages solely because of the development of the vast, undefinable, all-comprehensive thing we call business. Civilization can only reach its highest levels where business flourishes. Where business stagnates, the people stagnate. In regions where business is undeveloped, there the people live rude, unrich, ignorant lives. What would be the value to China or Russia of a hundred men of the caliber of Davidson, or Ford, or Du Pont, or Vanderbilt, or Farwell, or Schwab, or Edison, or Coffin, or Rockefeller, or Replogle, or McCormick, or Thomas F. Wilson, or Woolworth, or Henze, or Patterson, or Baker, or Bush, or Doehny, or Gary, or Keith, or Perkins, or Ryan, or Shedd, or Speyer, or Stettinius, or Stone, or Vail, or our towering railroad giants?

WORDS OF WISE MEN

Providence is noiseless as it is irresistible.—Rev. S. C. Logan.

A man without self-restraint is like a barrel without hoops and tumbles to pieces.—Henry Ward Beecher.

But he who knows and knows that he knows, is a wise man. Follow him.—From the Arabian Proverbs.

All high and grand emotions scorn the tongue, that lies as helpless in the mouth as would be artillery to express the sound and grandeur of mountain thunder in tropical storms.—H. W. Beecher.

First Home of the Aztecs Was in Colorado County

Cortez reported that the Aztecs stated that they originated "in the North," and it is believed by reputable archeologists that this place "in the North" was in what is now Montezuma county, Colorado. This county is the home of the Mesa Verde National park, containing the ruins of the cliff dwellers, who are considered by some authorities to have been Aztecs, or, perhaps, the ancestors of the Aztecs.

Bible Mentions

There are mentioned in the Bible the names of nineteen different precious stones, six metals, 104 trees and plants, thirty-five animals, thirty-nine birds, six fishes, eleven reptiles, twenty insects and other small creatures.

Red-Haired Heroes Numerous Among Men Wearing Military Decorations Denoting Nerve

"Ginger for pluck" is an old saying which would seem to be confirmed in the bestowal of military decorations for bravery. "It was in the ruins of a demolished Ypres last Christmas Eve," writes a British officer in London Answers, "that I was first impressed by the large number of red-haired men who were receiving the military medal."

"Since that afternoon I have noted the complexion of every officer, and man wearing a military decoration, and the impression made at Ypres has been strengthened in consequence. There must be something in the old saying, for wherever soldiers are gathered together, there is a red-haired, herb-boned man in the midst of them."

"Take our most famous fighting division—the Invincible Fifth—this is composed almost entirely of Highland troops, and the Highlanders are nearly all full-blooded blondes. Of course, there are dark-haired heroes in plenty, but nevertheless red hair and pluck would seem to be synonymous. Red hair is common among our most daring armies, and although I cannot say how many holders of the Victoria Cross sport ruddy locks, I am prepared to wager that they form a large percentage."

"Scientists say that red hair is caused by a large proportion of iron in the system, and certainly carrots and freckles have been worn by men of iron while doing the work of men in the devil's own war."

Mothers' Cook Book

The first requirement for food nutrition is an adequate supply of fuel for all body activities. This must be accompanied by or include those substances which serve to build up the organism and maintain it in repair, constituting a so-called "balanced diet."

Simple Dishes, Good for the Children.

A delicious and easily digested dessert is:

Fruit Tapioca.

Soak three-quarters of a cupful of pearl tapioca in water to cover for one hour. Add one-half a teaspoonful of salt and put into a double boiler; add four tablespoonfuls of sugar and cook until transparent and soft, stirring frequently. Add a little more water if too stiff, then add one-half cupful of currant or grape jelly and stir until dissolved. Serve cold in a glass dish with cream.

Pineapple Dessert.

Spread rounds of bread with butter and cover with rounds of pineapple; set in the oven adding some of the juice to soften the bread. When well heated serve with a spoonful of jelly in the center of each pineapple round.

Rhubarb Betty.

Spread butter on small squares of bread, line the bottom of a pyrex dish with the bread and cover with canned rhubarb that has been properly sweetened. A few raisins finely chopped may be added, with a grating of nutmeg or spice, such as cinnamon.

Candied Yams.

Parboil three medium-sized sweet potatoes until nearly tender, then peel and slice lengthwise. Lay in a shallow pan of pyrex or earthenware and cover with one to one and a half cupfuls of canned peach sirup and dot with bits of butter, using two tablespoonfuls. Bake for 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Brown in a hot oven or under the broiler flame.

Tomato and Barley Soup.

Put four tablespoonfuls of sweet butter fat in a saucepan and add two medium-sized onions finely chopped, and fry until tender. Then add two quarts of boiling water, one quart of canned tomatoes, one cup of pearl barley and seasoning of salt and pepper to taste. Cook for three hours over a slow fire.

Strychnia Most Useful and Most-Used Stimulant to the Heart and Nervous System

Ask any physician "What is the most useful and most used stimulant to the heart and nervous system?" and he will answer "Strychnia," notes a writer in Milwaukee Sentinel.

Strychnia is an alkaloid found originally in the seed of the strychnos nuxvomica, the poison-nut tree found in India, Burmah and Siam and growing also in Cochinchina and Australia.

The tree is of moderate size and has a fruit the size of a small orange, with a hard shell and a bitter pulp inclosing one to five seeds, less than one inch in diameter and one-fourth inch thick and shaped like disks. It is the bitterest substance known, and when one has heart failure, or nervous exhaustion, or is run down or needs a tonic, some doctor is sure to give him the alkaloid from one of these peculiar Indian trees.

Text books on medicine frequently refer to "emergency heart stimulants" meaning by this drugs used by a hypodermic injection to produce prompt stimulation of a weakened heart. Some of the most valuable heart stimulants require a good deal of time after being given to produce their effects, hence the need of "emergency heart stimulants." Strychnia, we know, is a splendid emergency heart stimulant. A tree which has various species—several hundred, in fact—throughout the world, and is of some medical interest, is the acacia. The acacia senegal is the type of tree which furnishes gum acacia, or gum arabic. While acacia is not possessed of any marked curative properties of itself, it is a constituent of many important preparations in pharmacy, as, for instance, in the making of emulsions, where its heavy mucilaginous qualities make it a valuable vehicle for oily and resinous substances. It is also widely used in the preparation of pills and troches.

Gum catechu a substance containing tannic acid and used in dyeing, which was at one time used as a remedy in cholera and dysentery, comes from the acacia catechu and acacia sumatra, both native to India.

Japan's Urban Population Rapidly Increasing as in Other Civilized Countries

When we speak of Japan mainly as an agricultural country this gives an inadequate conception of the great strength of the urban population which is increasing in Japan as in other civilized countries, writes H. M. Hyndman in Asia Magazine. Apart from Tokyo, with its 2,000,000 inhabitants, and Osaka, with 1,400,000, there are five other cities which have together a population of 2,000,000, and there are in all 66 towns with a population of over 50,000 each. Moreover, the greater part of the larger cities and towns are collected close together in comparison with the total area of the Japanese islands. Railways now connect the main industrial and agricultural centers, supplementing the admirable water communications by sea and canal. This concentration of industrialism and improvement in transport combine to give Japan a focus of material influence which can scarcely fail to increase her pressure upon China in time to come. A glance at the map shows how this long procession of islands from Saghalien to Formosa, lying like a series of wharves along the coast of eastern Asia, with its outposts and inlets at Korea, on the Liaoning peninsula, at Kiao-Chau and now at Fukuoka, gives Japan an enormous commercial as well as a strategic advantage in the competitive war of the near future, as compared with her rivals in Europe or in America. Never in history was so remarkably favorable a geographical situation in the hands of one nation, controlled by men capable of taking full advantage of it and looking to the future of Asia as in some sort the heritage of the Japanese race.

THE PINES

Couldst thou, Great Fairy, give to me, The instant wish, that I might see Of all the earth's that one dear sight Known only in a dream's delight, I would, beneath some island steep, In some remote and sunbright deep, See high in heaven above me now, A palm tree wave its rhythmic bough!

And yet this old pine's haughty crown, Shaking its clouds of silver down, Whispers me snatches of strange tunes And murmurs of those awful runes Which tell by subtle spell and power Of secret sympathies, the hour When far in the dark north the snow Among great bergs begins to blow.

Nay, thou sweet South of heats and balms Keep all thy proud and plummy palms, Keep all thy fragrant flowery case, Thy purple skies thy purple seas! These boughs of blessings shall not fall, These voices singing in the gale, The vigor of these mighty lines! I will content me with thy pines! —Harnett Prescott Spofford

Problem in Feeding Cow Is to Satisfy Appetite

The problems involved in winter feeding are usually distinctly different from those of summer feeding. Pasture (or green feed), usually the basis of summer feeding, is not available. Broadly speaking, there are two factors involved in this problem, first to satisfy the needs of the cow and second, to suit the pocketbook. The cow must have an ample supply of feed of a palatable nature, and this feed must be supplied at a price which will permit a profit on the feeding operation.

WHETHER CALF WILL BECOME DESIRABLE ADDITION TO HERD DEPENDS UPON CARE

Feeding Calves of Different Sizes in Homemade Stanchions—This Method Insures Each Calf His Share of Feed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

More calves see the light of day in the spring and draw their first breath when the air is filled with the fragrance of many blossoms than during any other season of the year. Whether these calves will become star boarders, producing little milk of no profit for their owners, or be desirable additions to the dairy world, will depend not only upon the care that is given them but upon the feed and management of their mothers. Poorly nourished cows say dairy specialists of the United States department of agriculture, give birth to weak calves that are hard to raise. Cows which have an abundance of palatable succulent feed and are in good body flesh and healthy, thrifty condition at calving time are more likely to produce well-developed, strong, thrifty calves which will respond normally to proper feed and care. It is false economy for any dairy cow owner to withhold feed from a dry cow, as this is likely to affect unfavorably the future welfare of the calf, as well as later milk production by the cow.

Nature's method is to have the calf stay with the cow until it can support itself. In modern dairy farming, however, because of the value of the butterfat and whole milk the dairyman separates the calf from the cow soon after birth. The milk produced by the cow for the first few days has properties which put the calf's digestive system in good working order. It is, therefore, necessary that the newly born calf have this milk.

Teaching Calf to Drink.

The longer the calf remains with the cow, however, the harder it is to teach it to drink, but if it is usually a simple matter to teach a good, robust calf to drink, if taken when not more than two days old. Before this is attempted a calf should be kept from the cow for about twelve hours; it will then be very hungry. About two quarts of its mother's milk, fresh and warm, should be put into a clean pail and held in front of the calf. Sometimes it will put its nose into the pail and drink without coaxing. Dairymen are not fortunate enough to have many calves that will do this, however, and in most cases it will be necessary to use a little forceful persuasion in assisting the calf with its first meal away from its mother. Let the calf suck the fingers, and by this means gradually draw its nose into the milk, when the fingers should be removed carefully as soon as the calf gets a taste of the milk. Patience is necessary for this operation may have to be repeated two or three times before the calf will drink alone.

A calf weighing 50 pounds at birth should have about eight pounds of whole milk a day, while a 100-pound calf should have about twelve pounds.

BETTER CROPS PAVE WAY FOR LIVE STOCK

Seed Corn and Cultivation Given First Consideration.

Agricultural Agent in Louisiana Works Out Systematic Plan to Improve Crop Yields—Alfalfa Acreage Increased.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

To establish "safe farming" in Pointe Coupee Parish, La., the local agricultural agent has worked out a systematic plan to improve crop yields and introduce more and better stock. Proper field selection of seed corn and the best methods of cultivation were given first attention. In the fall of 1917 the first concrete evidence was had of the success of this work when more than 100 carloads of corn were shipped from the parish. In 1918 a seed-demonstration plot was grown and corn produced on the area won first place at the Southern Louisiana fair. Through the agent's efforts nearly every farmer now has an alfalfa patch producing at the rate of nearly five tons an acre. During the last year the alfalfa acreage was increased more than 100 per cent. Under the agent's direction hundreds of purebred and high-grade sires and dams have been imported, and native scrub cattle have been given way to animals of quality. Hogs and sheep have also been greatly improved and now practically every farm family produces enough meat for its own use and many have a surplus for sale.

The amount of milk should be gradually increased until at the end of the second week the calf should receive from 14 to 16 pounds a day. Its mother's milk should be given a calf for the first four days, then any good whole milk can be used, but preferably it should not contain more than 4 per cent butterfat. Best results can be obtained by feeding young calves three times a day, with the periods between feedings as nearly equal as possible. When fed in this way the calf does not overload its stomach and the digestion of the feed is more evenly distributed throughout the 24 hours. Regularity in feeding is important. When calves are fed but twice a day the feeding should be as nearly as possible 12 hours apart.

Cleanliness Essential.

Successful raising of calves requires absolute cleanliness. Calf pens should always be kept clean and be supplied with plenty of dry bedding. Discarded feed should be removed from the feed boxes, which should be thoroughly brushed and cleaned each day. All milk fed should be fresh and clean, which is true also of other feeds. Milk pails should be scalded thoroughly with boiling water, or sterilized with steam if possible.

At the beginning of the third week either skim or separated milk may be substituted for whole milk at the rate of one pound a day. The daily ration may be increased from two to four pounds, depending upon the vigor of the calf. When the calf does not drink eagerly what is offered, the quantity should be cut down. The ration at the end of the third week usually should be approximately one-half whole and one-half separated milk. During the fourth week the change should be continued until by the end of the week only separated milk is fed, unless the calf is very delicate. With especially vigorous calves the change to separated milk can be made about a week earlier. The quantity fed can be increased gradually to 18 to 20 pounds a day.

Six months is probably a good average age at which to wean calves from the milk. The age depends upon the cost of the milk in relation to the value of the calf, its breed, size, vigor, etc. The season of the year and the other feeds available also must be considered. When the best of hay, silage, and a good variety of grains are available, or when good, succulent pasturage can be provided, the calf can be weaned earlier; also the stronger and more vigorous the calf the earlier it can be weaned. On the other hand, the more valuable the calf the more expense the owner is warranted in developing it, and the later it will probably be weaned. If skim or separated milk is plentiful, calves may be fed it with profit until they are eight or ten months old.

FEEDING CALVES

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Feed regularly. Be sure that the milk is always sweet and warm. Use only clean pails. Feed the calf a little less than it wants. Reduce the amount of milk one-half if the calf becomes sick.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Hog cholera can be kept down.

If you can't buy a herd buy a heifer.

Beet pulp is not as valuable as corn silage for food.

It is false economy to crowd animals to save building materials.

Alfalfa is considered the best kind for sheep, but all kinds of legume hay are good.

Sheep kept in unclean yards or in soggy pastures soon become subject to foot rot.

It is not advisable to have salt alone in any kind of container at the free disposal of hogs.

Clover hay is important to the health and growth of the young sheep in particular and all sheep in general.

LIFT-OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift—sure, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, seft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

Womanlike, Etc.

Old Bumpus was puzzled. Women were queer, there was no doubt of it.

"Oh, dear, I wish we had a big, lovely house!"

"What for?" said Old Bumpus, just to humor her.

"I'd like to give a party," she answered.

"Have you such a crowd of friends it would give you pleasure to invite?"

"Yes. But such a lot that it would be heavenly not to invite!" said his wife.

FREE INFORMATION FOR HOMESEEKERS.

The U. S. Railroad Administration has assembled information regarding farm opportunities in the several states, and will furnish it to homeseekers free on request. The work will be done through the newly established homeseekers' bureau, headquarters in Washington.

"We are receiving about 1,000 letters a week from persons who wish to engage in farming," said J. L. Edwards, manager of the Agricultural Section of the U. S. Railroad Administration. "The inquiries come from every state, asking about agricultural advantages in undeveloped territory. We furnish dependable data, and through our service many investors have been able to find just what they were looking for."

"Our information is put out in form of illustrated booklets, by states, sent to those sufficiently interested to write and tell us what kind of a farm project they have in mind, and naming the state the opportunities in which they desire to invest. Homeseekers can find in the U. S. Railroad Administration's 'The United States' productive land as reasonable prices and on liberal terms, first class markets, excellent transportation facilities, a satisfactory climate, and ideal living conditions. Now that the war is over, I look for a revival of farm development beyond that of any previous period. Correspondence from homeseekers is solicited. Address, Room 2000, Homeseekers' Bureau, U. S. Railroad Administration, Washington, D. C.—Adv.

A Mistaken Signal.

Camping in the Maine woods, a New Yorker was awakened from a deep slumber by a strange knocking just outside the tent.

Listening a moment, he said to the guide:

"Wonder if that can be a member of my lodge? It sounds like the signal of a brother Owl."

"No," replied the guide; "unless I am greatly mistaken, that's brother woodpecker."

IN RECOVERED TRENT

Old Consiglio Castle in Trent.

By LLOYD ALLEN, Special Staff Correspondent.

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union)

TRENT, in the upper valley of the Adige, has just been restored to Italy, and at the peace conference the final pact between the nations that fought Germany will undoubtedly give Trent to the Italian nation for all time.

Leaving Padua early in the morning in one of the powerful automobiles of the Italian supreme command, in the first party of newspaper men to visit these lands reclaimed from Austria, I arrived in Trent by way of Verona after a five-hour ride, during which we passed through the wrecked villages that mark the old mountain battle fronts of the Austrian and Italian armies.

Along the fine rock roadways that run along the Adige river, a swift-flowing mountain stream, a sign line of refugees was plodding along, on foot for the most part, returning to homesteads deserted during more than two years of war.

Just a few miles north of Verona the first sight of war's destruction was the little wrecked village of Marco, for two years under shell fire. As we passed through the place the evidences of battle were still ample. Austrian trench helmets, clips of cartridges and discarded trench spades were to be seen scattered among the piles of stone and timber of wrecked homes. The beautifully frescoed village church was nothing but a shell of walls.

On the roadway leading up to Marco hundreds of Austro-Hungarian prisoners were busy repairing the roadbeds. Some wore their very ornamental dress overcoats lavishly in the display of knotted braid and fur.

Towns of the Trentino.

Trent in itself is a rather inconsiderable town. If had a war-time population of some 25,000 persons, a large majority of whom were Italians, we were told. In peace times the population is around 40,000. But in the whole province of Trentino there are more than half a million people, and it is the province, as well as the town, that Italy fought for at the cost of 400,000 men killed and nearly a million wounded.

Back of the Italian demand for the Trentino is a sentimental reason, and a practical commercial reason. For the sentimental and national side first, Italy points out, through her biggest statesmen, generals and propagandists, that 420,000 of the 600,000 persons living in the Trentino are Italians speaking the Italian language. Trent as well as the smaller towns in the Trentino, such as Rovereto, Ala, Arco, Levico and Pergine, are filled with buildings of Italian design, decorated with Italian art and using the Italian language in the schools and offices.

We passed through several of these towns. The people on the streets were as Italian as the street-crowds of Padua, Verona and Vincenza, cities of the Venetian plain through which we passed in the earlier stages of our trip. Signs, decades old, on the buildings of the Trentino were in Italian, advertising the wares certain Italian merchants were trying to sell.

The practical reasons that Italy has for keeping her tricolor flying from the mountain cities of the Trentino are numerous and vital.

Every Available Inch Tilled.

First of all the Trentino is a very productive region where vineyards and grain fields flourish on both sides of the Adige, producing large quantities of food. It can be said truthfully that every available inch of land in this section is in a state of cultivation. To an American farmer the intense method of soil tilling would prove a revelation.

Only through centuries of careful work with hoe and plow has it been possible to create the garden that extends from Verona, where the Adige river strikes the Venetian plain, to the impassable mountain valleys many miles away where the absolute absence of soil forbids any attempt at farming.

The fields on either side of the river are broken into small lots, thousands being as small as a city block; many are much smaller in order to completely fill a segment of rock-jockeyed earth. On these plots, that have been leveled with infinite care, the farmer of the Trentino grows grain, garden truck, grapes, and often other fruit. The grapevines are kept pruned to about four and a half feet high for the main stem, which grows to the thickness of a man's wrist, while the tendrils are trained onto sticks, or in many cases to trees that are kept pruned down to a thick stump six or seven feet high with small branches half an inch in thickness protruding in a sheaf from the stump.

Ancient Consiglio Castle.

During the middle ages Trent was a typical fortified city crowded with an old feudal castle. Built in 1490, this stronghold, Castle Consiglio, has come down to the present generation in a beautiful state of preservation. While the Austrians held Trent the place was used as a kind of town jail. Cesare Battisti, native of Trent, an ardent pro-Italian who had the nerve to enlist in the Italian army against Austria, was shot in the courtyard of the castle, and is today the town and the Italian nation's martyr.

Stored in the wonderful old castle were 80,000 captured Austrian rifles. Piles of gas masks, trench tools, murderous trench knives and other odds and ends of fighting man's equipment were stacked in several of the large rooms.

In one of the main corridors was a typical Austrian torture machine. It consisted of two rings, the first about nine inches from the floor and the second about four feet above ground. The practice was to fasten a prisoner's ankles to the lower ring by means of a piece of rope, while the unfortunate man's hands were tied behind him through the upper ring. This threw all the prisoner's weight on the wrists and ankles. Usually a man fainted after several hours.

Inspection of the old Consiglio castle revealed how the war machine of the sixteenth century—for the castle itself was a fort—had been made to serve the purposes of the twentieth century war lords.

In the highest room of the place, a circular chamber of the tallest tower, was all that remained of a German wireless outfit. The operators had made themselves comfortable in the damp old place by putting storm windows in the loopholes that were originally cut for the convenience of cross-bow men.

To get to the tower one has to pass through a frescoed courtyard where men were hanged centuries ago. About five or six feet from the old gallows, a double affair, runs a sheltered gallery from which the dukes and their courtiers, sheltered from the weather, could witness the execution.

Some of the public squares in the city of Trent have fine old buildings in Italian architecture, decorated from ground to roof with gorgeous frescoes, the coloring of which is still vivid.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Would you throw away a diamond because it pricked you? One good friend is not to be weighed against the jewels of the earth. If there is coolness or unkindness between us, let us come face to face and have it out. Quick, before love grows cold—Robert Smith.

TASTY TIT-BITS.

A most delicious and economical accompaniment to roast beef is

Richmond Corn Cakes.—To three-fourths of a cupful of canned corn add one-half cupful of milk, one-half table-spoonful of sugar and two eggs well beaten. Mix and sift seven-eighths of a cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one table-spoonful of baking powder. Combine mixtures and drop by spoonfuls in buttered muffin rings; set in a buttered dripping pan. Bake in moderate oven.

Cadillac Chicken.—Wipe a chicken dressed as for broiling; sprinkle with salt and pepper; place in a well-greased broiler and broil over a clear fire for eight minutes. Remove to a pan and rub over with the following mixture: Cream four table-spoonfuls of butter, add one teaspoonful of mustard, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vinegar and one-half teaspoonful of paprika. Sprinkle with three-fourths of a cupful of buttered crumbs and bake until the chicken is tender.

Swedish Halibut.—Wipe a slice of halibut weighing one pound. Place in a shallow earthen baking dish; sprinkle with salt, pepper and brush with melted butter. Drain canned tomatoes and add three-fourths of a cupful of pulp, add a teaspoonful of powdered sugar and spread over the fish. Cover with one-half sliced onion. Bake 20 minutes; pour over one third of a cupful of heavy cream, and bake ten minutes. Remove the onion and garnish with parsley.

Jellied Prunes.—Pick over, wash and soak one-third of a pound of prunes in two cupfuls of cold water; cook in the same water until soft. To the prune water add enough water to make two cupfuls. Soak two small half table-spoonfuls of gelatin in half a cupful of cold water; dissolve in the hot liquid and add one cupful of sugar, one fourth of a cupful of lemon juice; add prunes and chill. Stir twice while cooling to keep the prunes from setting.

Why this longing, this foreboding sighing, For the life of untried and untried? While the beautiful, all around thee living Offers its low perpetual whirling. —Harriet Winslow.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

We may still indulge in the favorite shell fish. Try this recipe:

Norfolk Oysters.—Cover the bottom of a baking dish with three-fourths of a cupful of hot boiled rice; cover the rice with one-half a pint of oysters; pour over one-half cupful of white sauce, dot with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper; repeat, using the same amount of ingredients. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven 30 minutes.

Barbecued Ham.—Soak two thin slices of ham in lukewarm water 20 minutes. Drain, wipe, cook in a hot frying pan until delicately browned, and remove to a hot platter. To the fat in the pan add two table-spoonfuls of vinegar, one teaspoonful of mustard, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of paprika and one-half teaspoonful of sugar. When thoroughly heated pour over ham and serve at once.

Cracker Plum Pudding.—Pour four cupfuls of scalded milk over one and one-fourth cupfuls of rolled cracker crumbs and let stand until cool; add one cupful of sugar, four beaten eggs one-half a grated nutmeg, one table-spoonful of salt and one-third of a cupful of melted butter. Parboil one and one-half cupfuls of raisins in boiling water; cover, add to the mixture. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake slowly two and one-half hours, stirring the first half hour. Serve with any preferred sauce.

Fruit Cream.—Soak a table-spoonful of granulated gelatin in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water; dissolve in one-fourth of a cupful of scalded milk and add one-half a cupful of sugar and one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Strain into dish and set into ice water, stirring constantly, and when the mixture begins to thicken add the whites of two eggs beaten stiff and one cup of heavy cream beaten stiff, one-third of a cupful of stewed prunes cut in bits, three figs chopped and two table-spoonfuls of blanched and chopped almonds. Mold and chill.

Concerning Mirrors.

In the early part of the sixteenth century mirrors first became articles of household furniture and decoration. Previous to that time—from the twelfth to the end of the fifteenth century—pocket mirrors or small hand mirrors, carried at the girdle, were adjuncts to ladies' toilets. The pocket mirrors consisted of small circular plaques of polished metal fixed in a shallow circular box covered with a lid.

Spring Suit of Plain Cloth

One may choose a straight-line suit or a belted suit, or one of the always popular semi-fitted models, with equal assurance this spring. But there is a youthfulness in straight-lines that is very engaging. The added length of fashionable skirts compels designers to test about for means of softening these uncompromising straight lines and here is one clever solution of this difficulty. The skirt is slightly draped at the back so that it inclines toward the ankles, hanging in from the hips down. At the back a row of bone buttons, set several inches apart, accentuate the long line.

The coat has a panel-back, and is longer at the back than at the sides. It is open to the waistline. The designer has introduced pleasing curves at the bottom and called attention to them with a silk strand that follows their lines on the side panels and is extended to the back in an attractive arrangement. Patch pockets, outlined with braid, also have curved flaps at the top, bound with braid and finished with a bone button.

This coat fastens with two buttons and loops at the front over one of those smart silk vests that play so important a part in spring fashions. As summer comes in, these may be replaced with vests of thinner materials or be left off, with light blouses taking their place in supplying the note of crispness and freshness which is the glory of tailored suits.

For a suit of this kind substantial weaves in wool are to be selected. A tricot, gabardine, serge or broadcloth. Men's wear serge, for the business woman, or any one else who is on the street much of the time, is as good a selection as can be made.

Taking Out Fullness.

It is surprising to the amateur to see how fullness can be coaxed out of the tops of sleeves, seams, a little careful easing of the full edge along the scant one. Don't get discouraged if your neckline bulges or your sleeve puffs. Just rip it apart, and, holding the full side to you, baste it to the under one, allowing the material to lie, not puffed up between stitches, but just easily. The machine stitching will distribute the fullness so it is scarcely noticeable.

Group of Hats for Young Women

Facetious husbands speak of it as "spring millionaire," with a spice of malice, and cartoonists are indulging in their annual pastime of poking fun at new spring hats. They jibe but they admire, and leave no room for doubt that they take notice. Meantime the milliner, with more assurance and serenity than ever, places such gems of the millinery art as are pictured here in her shop windows. There, after a brief triumph, they pass on to crown fair heads.

The hat at the top reveals a transparent crown of malines, that is blucked like a braid crown. At its side there are semicircles joined by bands of piping braid. This is set on to a milan brim faced with georgette and edged with a falling fold of this soft material. At the side one of the numerous small ornaments made of ostrich feathers is posed, and a stitched band of ribbon lies about the crown.

A hat of piping braid is shown faced with satin, with a crushed sash of wide satin ribbon about the crown, with roses set against it at intervals. More flowers bloom on spring hats than for many seasons.

The third hat has a crown of chrysanthemum braid and a milan brim that rolls up at the edge. A gay wreath of flowers and fruit is posed against the crown and narrow ribbon is tied about it. This ends in a bow that lies flat to the brim. There are a great many of black hats in the spring displays, of lustrous straws, or lined with ribbons and flowers. Field flowers are popular on them, and occasional short lace veils falling from the back help out in producing quaint effects and bringing to mind millinery of long ago.

Trimming Hints.

Enormous braided buttonholes with buttons at one end form the trimming of some of the new dresses put out by Truett. On one there are three of these, forming the entire trimming of the bodice, the topmost one being at least six inches in length, the center one perhaps five inches and the one nearest the waistline possibly four inches. Four graded buttonholes, a similar construction trim the upper part of the front panel of the s-

FRANTIC WITH PAIN

Long Suffering From Kidney Trouble More Than Words Can Describe. Doan's Brought Health and Happiness.

Mrs. Anna Thorson, 290 South St., Stamford, Conn., says: "I hadn't any more strength than a child, and after sweeping my back hurt me more and more. My headaches were so bad it seemed as though my skull were being torn into shreds and I would finally lose track of everything and lie in a stupor for hours. I felt I had to keep going or lose my mind and I kept up often when I trembled all over with weakness. My feet were swollen and every bone in my body seemed to ache. My fingers got almost as rigid as pieces of wood and the knuckles swelled. The kidney secretions were dark colored, scanty and terribly burning. I suffered more than words can describe. I finally began using Doan's Kidney Pills and I believe with all my heart that they kept me out of the grave. I am well and happy after going through enough pain to drive me frantic. Doan's saved my life. Sworn to before me this 13th day of Sept., 1915."

U. S. CONGRESSMAN QUICKLY FINDS STOMACH RELIEF

Joseph Taggart, M. C., from Kansas, Declares EATONIC Best for Indigestion He Ever Used.

A congressman hears many arguments for and against different reputations. His mind is open to conviction, but before he casts his vote on any measure he insists upon evidence that, on its own weight, carries conviction. In the case of "EATONIC" Joseph Taggart, Congressman from the 2nd District, Kansas City, Kans., decided that a trial of the remedy would furnish the most conclusive proof. Read his decision and do what he tells you. "One box of EATONIC will convince the most skeptical. It is the best remedy I have ever tried for indigestion."

M. C. 2d Kan. Dist., Kan. City, Kans. "Nearly all stomach trouble is caused by too much acid in the stomach. EATONIC neutralizes the excess acidity and enables you to eat what you like and digest what you eat in comfort. It keeps the stomach in a state of perfect health. Here's the secret: EATONIC works up the acidity, drives the gas out of the stomach, the bloated goes with it. Costs only a cent or two a day to use it. Get a box today from your druggist."

THRIFT SCHOOL PLAN OUTLINED BY EXPERT

Dr. Shailer Mathews Explains Scope and Purpose of Great U. S. Educational Movement for Saving.

By DR. SHAILER MATHEWS.
(Chairman of U. S. S. Educational Committee for Seventh District and Vice Director for Illinois.)

Thrifty will be taught in the schools of the states constituting the Seventh federal reserve district.

The children of Iowa will help prepare the Little Lessons in Thrift which are being written by Prof. Macy Campbell of the Iowa State Teachers' college, under the general direction of an educational committee of the district. Besides the chairman, the educational committee consists of W. E. Larson, department of public instruction, Wisconsin; J. V. McNally, Detroit public schools, Michigan; and Macy Campbell, Iowa State Teachers' college.

The Little Lessons in Thrift appear fortnightly on printed sheets. The lessons are prepared for the different grades in the schools. They are illustrated and interesting. They teach savings as a phase of good citizenship, give problems of arithmetic in terms of thrift stamps, chewing gum, candy and other things a child buys.

It is a new field which is thus being opened up and the war savings organization is rendering a great service to the rising generation. Nor is it all mere theory. The teaching of the principles of thrift is combined with a sort of manual training in thrift, through the sale of War Savings Stamps in schools.

Along with these Little Lessons in Thrift the educational committee furnishes the schools with pupils' thrift cards, on which the teacher keeps an account of the amount, however small, which the pupil brings to her for the purpose of buying stamps. This practice itself becomes educational, because the pupil gets introduced to simple bookkeeping and banking.

These plans have received the heartiest co-operation of the school administration in the various states and cities. The parochial and private schools also are co-operating in the use of the material and plans prepared by the committee.

The young men and women of the next generation will have a higher respect for thrift and a better understanding as to how to spend their money, for they will learn even in the primary grades that thrift is not miserliness but a way of spending money so as to make it for them.

MISSIONARY CENTENARY.

Three big rallies of the Methodist church members of Michigan are to be held this month in preparation for the great Centenary financial drive which is to be held the first week in May. Each session is expected to be the largest protestant church meeting ever held in Michigan. Delegates from churches all over the state will be given an intensive training for the Centenary and will hold rallies in their churches later. It is believed that every member of the church in the state will be brought in a giant organization to work for the raising of the $120,000,000 which is to be used to carry out the world's reconstruction program planned by the Methodist Missionary Centenary.

Bishop Henderson, in charge of the Detroit area, will be back from a tour of battle-torn Europe in time to attend all the sessions. He will tell a story from first hand information of just what must be done to rebuild Europe and is expected to point out to the delegates the part the Centenary has to play in the work.

The opening rally will be held in the First Methodist church at Grand Rapids, March 18 and 19. The second will be in Central Methodist at Detroit, March 20 and 21 and the third at Marquette March 24 and 25.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

(By the Press Correspondent.)
The W. C. T. U. will hold its next regular meeting March 19, at the home of Mrs. Dell Westcott, No. 56 Plymouth Avenue. Let every member try and be at this meeting, as it is necessary to elect delegates for the 6th district convention, which convenes March 25-26 at Lansing.
