will be given to the Lady, who will, in our estimation, give us the best answer to the question below. We offer $1.00 for the second best letter. Reasons for answer should be fully given and the best letter will be published in the next issue of the Record. All replies should be in by Tuesday morning, April 22, 1919.

The Question: "Does a delivery service and a reasonable extension of credit compare favorably with the chain store 'cash and carry' system?"

BANANAS

We sell this fruit by the pound and this is, to our knowledge, the only store in town where it can be so purchased. You are not charged the same price for a dozen small bananas as you are for a dozen large, hence you get exactly what you pay for.

GARDEN SEEDS

Plant bigger and better gardens with the best quality of seeds.

"The United States had 5,285,000 war gardens in 1918. It should have 10,000,000 'Victory Gardens' in 1919, for there are more millions of people than ever to be fed, and Uncle Sam must become the 'Joseph of the modern world,'" says a bulletin from the National War Garden Commission of Washington.

Some of Quality Seeds we have in bulk are: Peas—American Wonder, Improved Little Gem,warf Champion, Champion of England, Nott's Celsius and Telephone. Beans—Dwarf Large Aite Lima, Dwarf Black Wax, Ferry's Golden ax, Stringless Green Pod. Radish—Early arlet Turnip, Early Long Scarlet, French akfast. Cucumber—Imported Long Green arly White Spine. Corn—Mammoth White Cory, Stowell's Evergreen, Golden Bantam, Hollow Crown Parsnip, Savoy Leaf Spinach Sandwich Island Salsify, Early Curled Lettuce, Turnip, Onion, Carrot, Beet, Watermelon, etc. Now have our third shipment of Onion Sets, Yellow, Red and White or Silverskins.

NORTHVILLE AUTO CLUB'S ANNUAL MEET

GOODLY ATTENDANCE AND MUCH PROMISE FOR THE COMING YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Northville Auto club was held in the council room Friday night with an attendance of 38.

The following report was submitted by the Secretary and on motion was adopted:

To the Officers and Members, Northville Automobile Club:

For the year just past your Secretary begs to submit the following report:

While in our initial year we have not accomplished all that we should have liked, at the same time we believe that considering it as our first effort, and in the war period at that, we have done well and gained some results of value that could not have otherwise resulted except for our organization. It might be well to call your attention to a few things that have resulted in the benefit to (Continued on page 7)

WAYNE SUPERVISORS' ANNUAL MEETING

JAMES VERNOR GETS THE CHAIRMANSHIP AFTER 20 YEARS SERVICE.

Organization of the new Wayne county board of supervisors was effected at the first meeting of the year, held at noon Tuesday in the county building. Supervisor James Vernor was elected chairman by unanimous vote.

For the first time a woman was seated as a member of the board, Dr. Mary Thompson Stevens, president of the board of commissioners of the house of correction, is ex-officio a supervisor of Wayne county to represent the city of Detroit.

JOIN THE AUTO CLUB.

If you are not already a member of the Auto club you are urged to join now. No matter whether you are a car owner or not. It costs but $2.00. Many Northville people now belong who are not car owners. To be interested in good roads, or for the betterment of which conditions is sufficient. In case of sickness in the family of a member the necessary autos are furnished without cost.

Annual dues for 1919 are now payable at the Secretary's office, in the Record building or may be left with L. A. Babbitt, treasurer.

VILLAGE APPOINTMENTS.

Mayor Lanning has announced the following appointments for the various departments of our municipal administration for the ensuing year:

President pro tem—F. P. Simmons; Health Officer, Dr. R. Schuyler; Marshal, Ernie Lyke; street Commissioner, Perry Austin; Night Watch, John Lockwood; Fire Chief, Louis Lanning; Supt. Cemetery, Joseph Bartrum; Supt. Water Works, M. R. Seeley; Attorney, C. C. Yerkes; Board of Review, B. A. Wheeler, W. H. Ambler. This list assures a competent handling of village affairs, as nearly all the appointments have had previous experience along the designated lines, which should qualify them to do even better work than heretofore, if possible.

DEATH OF MARTIN SMITH.

Martin Luther Smith passed away Wednesday afternoon, April 9, after an illness of over a year. He was 77 years old and was the beloved husband of Matilda and dear father of Nettie M. (who died in 1887), Mrs. Dora L. Tousey and Edgar M. Smith of this place and Mrs. Don O. Norton of Detroit.

Funeral services were held at the late home Friday afternoon with burial in Rural Hill cemetery, Northville.

WATER RENTS DUE.

Water rentals are now due and all who do not pay up this week the water will be shut off. By order of Council

M. R. SEELEY,
Supt. of Water Works.

Demobilization Comedy.

Queer things happen in demobilization, remarks a writer in London. Evening Standards. For example, here is the case of Smith and Brown. Brown is the head of the "one-man business." Smith is his employee. Brown applies, successfully, for the discharge of Smith as a "ship" man. But his own application, on the ground of "one-man" business, was disregarded. Thus Smith is at liberty without a job; Brown, who had a job to offer him, is still in khaki.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as "Othine" double strength is guaranteed to remove these blemishes. Simply get an ounce of Othine double strength from your druggist, and apply a little of it at night and morning, and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear. While the freckles have vanished on their own, it is true that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and give a beautiful clear complexion. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

Is Your Work Hard?

Work which brings any unusual strain on the back and kidneys tends to cause kidney ailments, such as back ache, lameness, headache, dizziness and distressing urinary troubles. Kidney complaints make any kind of work doubly hard and neglected these dangers of gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease. It is your work, and on the back, keep your kidneys in good condition with Doan's Kidney Pills. You can't get them any other way.

A Michigan Case

G. T. Duesburg, 250 E. Tenth St., Holland, Mich., says: "I was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills several years ago, for at that time my kidneys were causing me a lot of annoyance by causing me to urinate irregularly. My back was lame and painful too. Doan's relieved me in a short time and I know they are all they are claimed to be."

FIVE YEARS LATER Mr. Duesburg said: "I just received Doan's Kidney Pills when my kidneys trouble me and they always give me relief."

FIVE FRIDAYS

By FRANK R. ADAMS

Indeed a Cheerful Tale

CHAPTER X—Continued.

I explained in words of one syllable that I had not called him because I did not know where he was, had a sore throat, was under physician's orders not to call any one, my mother had trained me not to yell at strangers, and, besides, I never did any calling except on Thursdays.

Vida pointed her finger at me for shame, the way children do, and led him away before I could think of anything more.

"Ned says," she smiled at me as they went on up the beach, "that heaven is a place where there are no dramatic critics."

"You tell him for me," I retorted, "that he knows more about heaven now than he ever will from actual experience—unless," I added, "the girl he is engaged to actually marries him."

She waved her thanks and trotted on at the fat magazine man's side. Yes, I said fat. There was something about him that was annoyingly fat, possibly his intellect. In figure he was no more fat than I am, but some way his avoidupous haunted itself flagrantly.

I disliked Mr. Clair so thoroughly and heartily for a few minutes that I nearly forgot what I was standing in the lake for. I gathered up my clams and went back to the house. With criminal caution I went in the back way, so that no one would see what I had brought, and built a fire in the long unused stove. In getting those bivalves to loosen up I ruined two hatchets, a can opener, a thumb and an already frazzled temper.

Lucile came downstairs while I was in the kitchen, but she did not come out where I was. I heard her asking some one in the living room "Who left the telephone off the hook?"

There was a mumbled reply in the voice of Captain Perkins which I did not catch. Lucile apparently put the receiver back in its place, because presently the telephone bell rang, and she answered it.

"No," I heard her say. "Mr. Clair is not here." Then, after a pause: "No, Miss Dunmore isn't here either. Who shall I say called? Oh, you don't wish them to be notified?—Very well."

There was a click as of the receiver being placed on the hook.

I came in from the kitchen. Lucile greeted me pleasantly enough when I asked her how she had enjoyed her nap.

"I don't think I've been asleep," she denied. "I just rested, that was all."—I did not tell her that I did not believe her.

"Your mother called up," I said briefly.

"Called up?" Lucile repeated. "How could she?"

"From Huntington's island," I explained and went on to tell what I knew of Mrs. Green's experience.

"She had no right to frighten me so," Lucile exclaimed, also Lucile selfishly disregarded my sufferings; also those of Bopp. His emotions, I imagine, were chiefly confined to his digestive apparatus, but I suppose they must be classed as sufferings just the same.

I pointed out to Lucile that her mother had escaped only by a miracle.

"What possessed her to do such a thing?" Lucile was as petulant as a half awakened child.

"I had a brother once who used to walk in his sleep. There was a zebra there."

I interrupted Captain Perkins. "Your mother was scarcely responsible," I said.

"My brother was that way," chimed in the real estate captain. "You never could tell where you could find him nights. But the time that the zebra bit him was the curiousest, I allow."

"The zebra bit him?" Lucile's interest was aroused.

The captain settled himself to tell his favorite tale, but did not get started because Vida breezed in with a rather shamefaced Clair in tow.

She came directly to me.

"I'll take that ring, please," she said. "Do you really want it?"

"Certainly, I am entitled to wear it." "Of course she ought to have your ring," urged Lucile. "That one will do until you can get her something else. May I congratulate you, Miss Dunmore?"

"Has Mr. Blainey told you about it?" Vida asked, naturally surprised that a third party should take an interest in a jesting wager.

"He didn't need to," Lucile smiled. With Clair present I could hardly explain that Miss Dunmore had won my ring because she had made him propose to her. Thus I allowed myself to be misunderstood once more.

"No, no," he reiterated, "not now. What I want to ask," he began hastily, choked by emotion and one of my collars, which was a quarter size too small for him, "is how do you break off an engagement?"

"You have me there. I never broke off an engagement in my life. Some one else always broke my engagements for me."

"You mean you were jilted?" "That's a short, ugly word," I mused, tempted to put him in with the clams, "but 'twill pass—aye, it will serve."

"But I am afraid I won't be jilted," said Clair thoughtfully. "You see, I am a very desirable match."

I bowed and picked up a piece of cord wood.

He went on obliviously: "I am a woman hater. The ornamental sex has no place in the world of a man of genius. All my life I have escaped, and here on a bleak, inhospitable is-

"I am afraid I won't be jilted," said Clair.

land, where there are only two women. I am trapped by one of them."

"I take it that you are engaged to Miss Dunmore," I hazarded.

"Practically," he retorted, glumly. "She trapped me into a sort of proposal. I didn't know what I was saying."

"And she accepted you?" "Not yet," he replied, "but there is no hope; she will. I don't suppose she has met many men of culture among her associates, and I imagine I am a novelty to her."

"Man, I said admiringly, "you'd be a novelty to any girl."

"Thank you," said he absently. "But what can I do now?"

CHAPTER XI. "I Loved Her So."

"I explained innocently to Claire, 'when you get on the mainland you get a marriage license, and unless you prefer a church wedding I would suggest that you hunt up the justice of the peace and get it over with. I don't believe in long engagements myself.' I was perfectly willing to tease this pedantic braggart. We owed him something for that fasting article anyway."

"But I don't want to marry any one," he cried. "I must not sacrifice my career to romance and sentiment. I belong to the world. There must be a way out."

"If you don't want to marry Miss Dunmore, why did you arouse the spark of passion in her innocent breast?" I demanded.

"I don't know," he writhed in mental anguish. "I didn't dream that I was even being agreeable to her."

"Some women are more attracted by indifference than by attention," I comforted. "Others are fascinated by downright brute violence."

"I suppose there must be some charm about me that I did not dream of," he mused modestly. "Don't you think she could forget me if she did not see me for a long while?"

"I'm afraid," I sighed, "that, having once met you, no girl could ever forget you."

"Come now," he said sharply, trying to detect a smile on my face; "it isn't as bad as that. If I could get away and write her a letter saying that I had been taken down with some illness and could not as a dying man hold her to her promise, that would solve the difficulty."

"Rather a nifty idea," I commented, "but as a novelist you must know that the heroine always flies to the bedside of the stricken hero and nurses him back to life. There is no use. Miss Dunmore would not allow you to die."

"No, I suppose not," He abandoned this scheme reluctantly. Another thought brightened him. "The getting away part of it is all right. If I did that I could get put in jail or something like that where she couldn't possibly see me. While I was there I could write an article on prison reforms."

I heartily endorsed this scheme. The idea of seeing him in prison appealed to me personally. The colossal blindness of a conceited fatted like that trying to get away from a charming, sweet young girl like Vida alienated him from human consideration.

He mused a moment. "I'll do it," he exclaimed. "If I don't show up, mum's the word."

"You can't get away," I reminded him. "There's no boat."

"I forgot to tell you that I am the champion swimmer of the Brooklyn Athletic club. I think I saw some bathing suits hanging up in the shed. With one of those on it will be child's play to me."

Strangely cheered, he let himself out the back way and left me to the silence of my clams.

I left the clams to their own devices for awhile and went back to the living room. Vida was there idly taking impressions from my seal ring on some soft kneaded rubber that lay on Lucile's desk. Lucile herself was not in sight. The captain and the best cook who ever ran a marine engine were sunk deep in the gloom which surrounded the nonreading man when cut off from his kind and his employment.

"Well," said Vida when I stood over her like an accusing judge, "what have I done now? Shouldn't I play with this rubber this way?"

"You know what you've done," I said sternly. "You trapped Lipton S. Clair into proposing to you."

"There's nothing wrong about that," Vida protested. "How do you suppose any man ever proposes? You have to trap them. Were you under the impression that adult males want around looking for a chance to pay for some one else's board and millinery and hosiery and all that sort of thing? No, sir; the masculine mind is very wary. That's why we women have to be so much brighter than the men. It's a case of self preservation."

"He's afraid you meant it. He's going to try to swim to the mainland in order to get away."

"What! Swim to the mainland?" "Yes. He's a woman hater."

"Good heavens! He must not do that," Vida was genuinely concerned. "You might tell him that you are engaged to some one else. That might reassure him."

"I will," Vida got up determinedly and went to the door. "Which way did he go?"

"Tight down to the shore, I think," I said. "He seemed a trifle dazed, though, and might have wandered."

"Funny thing," interjected Captain Perkins, "the way a feller will wander sometimes. My brother, he used to walk in his sleep. I was going to tell you where the zebra bit him that time."

"Yes," said Vida eagerly, "tell us where the zebra bit him."

"Four'll have to hurry to catch him," I interrupted, "or it will be too late." The telephone bell rang.

"Hello. This is Blainey. Is Clair there?"

"No, he's not here now."

"Then let me speak to Miss Dunmore."

"Oh, they're out walking together again, I suppose," said my namesake sarcastically.

"No, not walking," I said, "swimming."

"What? At this time of night?" he yelled. "Not both of them? Vida can't swim."

"Maybe he is teaching her how," I suggested. I didn't know of any reason why I should ease his mind anyway. A little jealousy would be good for him.

"Oh!" He took the blow like a man. Then I heard him say faintly, "Good-by," and I hung up the receiver.

Lucile confronted me when I turned around. "Do you know where Tootles is?"

"No, I don't know where she is," I replied, with strict adherence to the truth. "Isn't she here?" I added guiltlessly.

"No, and I'm dreadfully worried. There are so many strange people in the house that some one may have let her out, not knowing how careful we are with her. She might get lost and starved or get her feet wet and have pneumonia, or a hawk might carry her off."

At this moment the unspeakable Bopp entered. He made a great show of weariness, dragging his feet as if they were too heavy to lift.

"Have you seen her?" demanded Lucile.

"No," Bopp said wearily. "I've tramped all over the island again and again. There's no ravine, no gully, no bush that I haven't investigated. She must have left the island."

"She can't swim!" moaned Lucile. "Her little legs are too short, and her fur would get in her eyes."

"What!" he yelled. "Fur get in her eyes?"

"Tootles is lost," I threw in by way of explanation.

"Tootles?" said Bopp, bewildered. "I've been looking for Mrs. Green."

"Oh, she's been found," Lucile explained.

"When?"

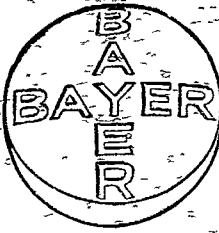

"Oh, hours and hours ago. She telephoned Mr. Blainey. She got in Mr. Kent's rowboat and was blown to a nearby island."

WHAT HE WANTED TO KNOW MUST PAY FOR OPPORTUNITY

Information, Not Money, Was the Thing That Farmer Required From Offending Automobilist.

Those to Whom Good Fortune Comes Usually Have to Make More or Less Sacrifice.

Lack of opportunity is the lack we most frequently bewail. Yet those at whose door opportunity seldom knocks and upon whom it bestows only the most grudging gifts may still cherish some consolatory reflections. Opportunity never presents itself to any one as a wholly munificent fairy; it always manages to exact some sacrifice for the benefits or advantages that it promises to confer. And usually the sacrifice is more or less commensurate with the opportunity. The man who laments the fact in which he must travel finds when the opportunity to struggle out of it occurs that disturbing consequences follow; breaking of ties that on being threatened take on a sudden new formidableness. The step upward means nearly always a step away from the old associates and the old associations. So many deferred considerations are suggested in the advances that opportunity makes that everyone can well appreciate the remark of a successful man: "I believe that some of my unhappiest times were those when I was given a chance to get ahead."—Exchange.

In the Spring-time

It's just at this time of the year that we need something taken from Nature to restore the vital forces.

People get sick because they go away from Nature, and the only way to get well is to go back. Something grows out of the ground in the form of vegetation to cure almost every ill.

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found herbs and roots provided by Nature to overcome constipation, and of these he selected Mayapple, leaves of Aloe, root of Jalap, and from them made little white sugar-coated pills, that he called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. When your intestines are stopped up, poisons and decayed matter are imprisoned in your system and these are carried by the blood through your body. Thus does your head ache, you get dizzy, you can't sleep, your skin may break out, your appetite declines, you get tired and despondent. As a matter of fact, you may get sick all over. Don't you see how useless all this suffering is? All that is often needed is a dose of castor oil, or something which is more pleasant, a few of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which he has placed in almost every drug store in this country for your convenience and health. Try them by all means. They are probably the very thing you need, right now.

Goodbye to that headache, tired or dizzy feeling, rheumatism, just on Dodd's. Three D's in name—box shown here. At all druggists.

Very Possible. "I dearly love rich and costly things," remarked Mrs. Gabalot, boastfully, to her friend in the street car. "They seem to satisfy my sense of the beautiful and the esthetic. For example, I am wearing my new hat, which cost me $35. I find a new delight in knowing that people have so far appreciated my taste as to turn around and gaze after me. I knew they were inwardly commenting on how very becoming it was."

Perhaps that is the reason," responded her friend, "but I am inclined to think it was because there is a $2.98 price mark still hanging to it."

SHE CURED HIM

By EDNA M. M'DONOUGH.

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure News-paper Syndicate.)

Mollie Marden, young, attractive and vivacious, had been married a year. The first few months of her new life had flown by quickly, each day happier than the other.

But gradually a change came over Jim. At first Mollie thought it was his absorption in business and went about quietly and unobtrusively so as not to disturb him. Then his apparent absorption gave way to an irritability. Mollie grew worried, and she had joyously made every effort to make the little apartment a haven of peace and happiness. She had never nagged Jim, and had been patient with his shortcomings.

"You're getting so matter of fact and so practical, dear," she protested one evening. "And I'm lonely for the old days. Do you know it's months since we've dined downtown and been to the theater?"

"That's your trouble, Mollie," this with the air of a great and wise man. "You're too frivolous. You let your vivid imagination of what things should be run away with you. I certainly am practical, and if you think you can make me over you are quite mistaken."

Mollie was hurt far more cruelly than she cared to admit. Then her eyes flashed fire. "And if you think you can make me over into a dull, middle-aged housekeeper you're mistaken, Mr. Man. It's rather queer you thought me so perfect before I married you. I guess I've been worshipping an idol of clay. Now I see you're all alike!"

It was her first real quarrel and her lips trembled.

"We'll not discuss it"—thus with an air of maddening finality from Jim.

She made a dignified and superior exit, but locked in her room she sobbed to herself, "He's horrid—and I won't stand it. I won't, so there!"

The next night when Jim came home no welcoming Mollie ran to greet him with loving enthusiasm. He looked in through the living and dining rooms. They were cold and cheerless and thoroughly unfamiliar. The filmy draperies had been removed from the windows.

"Mollie!" called Jim.

"Yes?" came a superior, icy voice from the kitchen, and he followed in its direction.

Mollie was bending over the stove in a most unbecoming and unfamiliar dark house dress, her pretty hair pulled back from her forehead in a hard, unbecoming knot—not at all like the usually smiling and prettily dressed Mollie.

"There's your supper laid out for you on the set-tubs. Cold meat, bread and tea. I didn't bother with any dessert," announced Mollie briskly and without giving him a look.

"What?"

"Don't bother me!" she snapped. "Just now I'm interested in this custard for Mrs. Jones, who is ill. Hurry up and gobble down your supper. I've no time to waste."

For a long moment Jim gazed at his erstwhile docile wife in unbelieving bewilderment.

"You're not sick, Mollie? Say, what's the big idea?"

"Simply that I'm following out your suggestions. I'm not going to be silly or frivolous or sentimental any more. I opine you are right when you say that I spend too much time trying to get effects to please you. It's not worth it! Hereafter you eat off the set-tubs. I'll keep the dining room and my efforts at pleasing for company who appreciate it, and I can assure you that I'll never waste another minute dressing prettily in the hope that you'll admire me. From now on I'm dull and drab and middle-aged, so far as you are concerned."

Marden opened his mouth, then closed it, opened it again, and then ate his slim meal silently and thoughtfully. Then he took his hat and went out.

A month before, Mollie would have dissolved into heart-breaking tears. Now she calmly remarked to herself: "Well, since he's going to lead his life in his own way I'll lead mine. Goodness knows no girl ever tried harder to please her husband, but now I'm all finished fussing. Guess I'll run over to Margaret Condon's. Her brother Burke was always rather sweet to me."

Then she dressed carefully. As she was going out she collared in the hall with Jim.

"Oh I beg your pardon" she said in her most polite, most aloof manner.

"Oh sure" granted Jim rather sleepily. He waited a moment while he searched her face anxiously.

"I—I just phoned down for some theater tickets. I thought it would do you good," uncertainly.

Mollie gave him an icy look. "Oh, you think it's as easy as all that to bribe me, do you?"

Then her tenderness got the better of her.

"Oh, that's wonderful. I'd love to go, dear," she said, before she caught her breath.

"Women are certainly inconsistent!" happily remarked Jim, a few minutes afterwards. "For weeks you've been thinking I was horrid, now you tell me I mustn't rumple your dress and I mustn't spoil your hair."

Then they both laughed gaily.

"You're awfully nice, Jim," observed Mollie. "And you're wonderful, Mollie!" whispered Jim, "without any making over."

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven upon thousands of distressing cases Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Indiana Building Plans.

Millions of dollars will be spent this year in Indiana in the construction of private and public improvements, according to plans now contemplated. The state council of defense some time ago started a survey of public improvement in the way of unfinished buildings, contemplated buildings and cost of roads, streets and sewers to be built this year. While not complete, answers to questions indicate that approximately $18,000,000 is to be spent for such work.

"Cold in the Head"

In an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh, persons who are subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the system, cleanse the blood and render them less liable to "colds." Repeated attacks of Acute Catarrh may lead to Chronic Catarrh. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. All Druggists have testimonials free. $1.00 for any case of catarrh that HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will not cure. E. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Perverse Critters.

"I can't help thinking something," said the discouraged farmer, "that she worse you treat your hens the more eggs you will get from them. I remember an old joke where one man asked another: 'How do you get so many eggs?'"

"Why," said the other, "I treat my hens so unscientifically they're all laying for me."—Boston Transcript.

A Kind Act.

"What did your wife give you for your birthday?" "A little peace. She spent the day with her mother."

"Movie" Targets. A new use for motion pictures is to provide a target for marksmen, with a pictured bird instead of a live one; or, for that matter, with big game moving in a jungle, and an airplane in the sky. The device, which seems to offer plenty of opportunity for innocently thrilling experiences is said already to be in preparation to supplant the older type of shooting gallery at outdoor summer resorts in the United States, and the present interest in gunnery seems likely to carry it all over the country.

KIDNEYS WEAKENING? BETTER LOOK OUT!

Kidney and bladder troubles don't disappear of themselves. They grow upon you, slowly but steadily, undermining your health with deadly certainty, until you fall a victim to incurable disease.

Stop your troubles while there is time. Don't wait until little pains become big aches. Don't trifle with disease. To avoid further suffering begin treatment with GOLD-MEDAL Eastern Old Capsules now. Take three or four every day until you feel that you are entirely free from pain.

This well-known preparation has been one of the national remedies of Holland for centuries. In 1696 the government of the Netherlands granted a special charter authorizing its sale. The good housewife of Holland would almost as soon be without food as without her "Real Dutch Drops," as she quaintly calls GOLD-MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Their use restores strength and is responsible in a great measure for the sturdy, robust health of the Hollanders.

Do not delay. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with a box of GOLD-MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Take them as directed, and if you are not satisfied with results your druggist will gladly refund your money. Look for the name GOLD-MEDAL on the box and accept no other. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

Middle Aged Women

Are Here Told the Best Remedy for Their Troubles.

Freemont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run-down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared." Mrs. M. Goppen; 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

How much does it cost to make a cake? That, of course, depends upon the size of the cake and the materials.

But, regardless of the kind of cake, suppose that for one cent you could absolutely insure the quality of that cake, wouldn't that be real economy?

Well, one cent is about the difference in the cost of a whole cake or a pan of biscuits made with Royal Baking Powder as compared with cheaper baking powders made from alum or phosphate—a trifle, indeed to have the quality and wholesomeness of your baking insured with

DETROIT AND THE TIME QUESTION.

At the time when Detroit's council voted last fall—and in spite of popular protest, at that—not to comply with the act passed by the U. S. Congress in regard to the daylight-saving time changes, the Record took occasion to comment editorially on the fact that by so doing that city practically assumed the position of announcing herself "the whole thing," as far as nearly all Michigan was concerned. An editorial in last Monday's Pontiac Press Gazette, in referring to the proposed bill at Lansing on the time subject, has some very pertinent things to say along the same line. Says the Press Gazette, in part:

"If the bill introduced in the legislature, requiring Michigan cities and villages to adopt Federal standard time, passes, it will not be possible for Detroit to upset and annoy the balance of the state by formally adopting eastern time during the winter months. The matter of time concerns not only the persons living in a city, but all having to visit it or to do business with its residents.

"The fact is that Detroit has upset the trolley schedule and that some of the Pere Marquette trains have been changed a full hour to better suit the demands in Detroit. These changes do not merely concern Detroit alone, but they affect all the cities and towns connected with Detroit, directly and indirectly, by interurban or steam roads. The handling of mail and telegraph matter and everything of an inter-city character has been interfered with by reason of the action in Detroit.

"There is no reason why Detroit with its population of 700,000 or 800,000 should be permitted to upset the arrangements and cause uncertainty and misunderstanding to a population of from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000. And that is exactly what Detroit with its persistence in maintaining a time not prescribed for the zone in which it is located has succeeded in doing.

"Possibly the legislature may be able to keep Detroit from becoming a nuisance to the other municipalities of the state. It will do so if the time bill be passed."

The Record is in full agreement with the Press Gazette's views on this subject, and believes that most of our Michigan legislators' constituencies would also agree that if Detroit can ignore a specific act of the Federal congress, it is time for her own state to take her in hand. Public Act No. 106 of the 65th Congress of the United States, after explaining the zone divisions and their limits, and all regulations of government service, therein says: "At 2 o'clock a. m. of the last Sunday in March of each year the standard time of each zone SHALL (not 'may') be advanced one hour; and at 2 o'clock a. m. of the last Sunday in October in each year the standard time of each zone SHALL by the retarding of one hour, be returned to the mean astronomical time."

We don't know just how Detroit managed to get away with so flagrant a violation of a federal act, but here's hoping the proposed state law may be enacted—and also enforced.

Novi News.

The M. E. ladies are to have an all-day bake sale this coming Saturday, at the postoffice.

Mrs. Mary Flint, who has been in for several weeks at San Pedro, Calif., is back at Chino and is improving.

Mrs. Carrie Bloss, who has been spending the past four weeks with her sister, Mrs. Mary Putnam and other Novi relatives will return to her home at Cadillac soon.

Well, I have lots of Good Things to Sell—5 kinds of Bread at 14 cents; No. 10 Cans Blackberries at $1.25; No. 10 Apples at 60 cents; lots of Seed Potatoes, Onion Sets, all kinds of Garden and Flower Seeds. One Barrel Sauer Kraut. Bring your basket and get a Gallon at 25 cents.

Caif Meal, 5 cents per pound. All Kinds of Tobacco. Am headquarters for Coffee—the best there is for the least money. A Large Stock of Brooms at 85 cents. Fine Boneless Ham—Pork, barrels of it, bought before the raise. Am selling at 25 cents per lb., with Beans to match.

And don't forget the Pickles—the Dill and the Sour and the Sweet, at the low price of all goods here.

And take about Candy! I have lots of the finest at low price. And remember the Fresh Beef, and Pork, and Sausage, and all kinds of Luncheon Meat. Peanut Butter in Bulk at 13 cts per pound—a fine chance.

Lots of Grape Fruit, Oranges and Lemons at low prices. If you don't see what you want, ask for it. I am in the market for Potatoes. If you have some to sell, let me know.

I will pay 38 cents CASH for good fresh Eggs. I have a new lot of Popcorn, in bulk.

Impurities in the Blood Directly the Cause of Many Human Ailments

This time of the year many people suffer from what is termed "SPRING FEVER" which in many cases is due to the stagnant condition of the blood because of the toxic poisons stored up within the body. You have a tired feeling and wonder why. It is because the various organs of the body are not doing their normal duties.

Until nature takes hold you should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alternative and blood purifier. This can be had in taking SUPREME BRAND Blood and Skin Purifier which is composed of the following ingredients, many of which you know as old-time remedies: Ginger Root, Mandrake Root, Licorice
Root, Broom Corn Seed, Tridacum, Alex. Senna, Sarsaparilla
Root, Poke Root, Red Clover, Burdock Root, Potassium Iodide, Soda Benzoate and Soda Salicylate.

The Real Merits of this Preparation are its powers of restoring and strengthening the system, cleansing and enriching the blood when it has become impure, such impurities often showing themselves by eruptions, pimples, blotches, etc. It stimulates nature to expel impurities from the system through the natural channels, thus cleansing the blood and restoring the system to a pure and healthy state, as through the blood all the organs and tissues of the body are reached.

This is an excellent remedy for rheumatism, kidney trouble, and a general reconstructive tonic which should be taken especially by those who have had influenza or hard winter colds.
Many people have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition. In all such ailments this remedy has accomplished a wonderful amount of good.

SUPREME BRAND BLOOD AND SKIN PURIFIER can be secured by calling the Northville Chemical Co., Phone 36-W., or purchased from Ambler & Son, where a stock is carried for the convenience of our customers.

We Must Feed Germany, So That She May Pay for the Evil She Has Done

By ROBERT LANSING, Secretary of State

Germany has suffered bitterly, is suffering bitterly. She has paid a fearful penalty for the crime of plunging the world into four years of blood and fire. Today starvation and want are the portions of the German people. Violence and murder stalk through the streets of their great cities. Political institutions, industrial enterprise and the very structure of society are tottering. It is the price of their own evil-doing, the just retribution of their crimes.

Political chaos and outlawry have supplanted the highly organized government of imperial Germany. Social order is breaking down under the difficulties of defeat and the hopelessness of the future. Like the anarchy which for years made an inferno of Russia, the fires of terrorism are ablaze in the states of Germany. It is no time to allow sentiments of vengeance and hatred to stand in the way of checking this conflagration, which will soon be at the German borders and threatening other lands.

To make Germany capable of resisting anarchy and the hideous despotism of the red terror Germany must be allowed to purchase food, and to earn that food industrial conditions must be restored by a treaty of peace. It is not out of pity for the German people that this must be done, and done without delay, but because we, the victors in this war, will be the chief sufferers if it is not done.

You may demand reparation as much as you please, but unless the German people are furnished materials for their industries and commercial opportunities to sell the products of labor in the foreign markets, and unless the laborers have food Germany can never pay, even in part, for the evil she has done. Furthermore, if the present state of chaos continues and the political power continues to grow weaker, there will be no responsible German government with which to make peace; there will be no government strong enough to carry out the conditions of the treaty of peace.

I say to you men of France and men of America, and to you men of the allied powers that there is no time to be lost if we are to save the world from the despotism of anarchy, even as we have saved it from the despotism of autocracy. We must make peace without delay, and ships laden with food must enter the harbors of Germany. We have reached a crisis in the affairs of the world.

Civilization's Most Powerful Machine Now Is Unified Religious Bodies

By F. B. SMITH, Interchurch World Movement

Political parties of the United States can be backed into the ocean tomorrow by churches united on any moral issue.

No league or society of nations formed politically can stand unless supported by a league of churches and a unity of moral ideals.

Civilization has at hand in unified religious bodies the most powerful machine for moral and social advancement concerned in any age.

Bringing the inter-church movement down to plain facts and figures, it corresponds in the moral and religious field to the co-ordination of commercial effort and achievement accomplished by the National Association of Commerce. We do not base our efforts on doctrinal or organic unity but on co-ordinate Christian effort. The movement leaves every man free to follow the doctrines and spiritual ambitions of his own creed or church.

Any society of nations, the proposed league of nations, must crumble unless the world is leavened with a unity of moral ideas. These moral and social ideals can't be put over by unrelated denominations. We desire unity in the matter of economic justice and on all moral issues and do not concern ourselves with the splitting of hairs or theological discussion.

Tomorrow 174,000 preachers will go to work, all driving at the same thing—the advancement of the world's moral welfare. If this army of spiritual leaders were united in a battle for some great issue, nothing in the world could stand against the drive.

Defeat Reveals the True Character of the German Nation and People

By J. E. LOUGH, Professor of Psychology

From the viewpoint of a psychologist the German mind is showing the same imperfections in defeat which it exhibited so conspicuously while the war was in active progress. The most striking trait of this character is a lack of moral fiber, which throughout history all nations, like all persons, have looked up to as a supreme attribute. The Germans have shown themselves to be merely brutal thugs.

The flight of the kaiser is an indication of their type of mind. This man runs away; he has not the fiber to stand and share in the fate of his people, which he brought about by his own acts. Yet in Germany no one appears to have uttered one word in criticism of the kaiser's course.

The surrender of the German fleet, from the Teutonic viewpoint, was the right thing. They would rather be live cowards than dead heroes.

It seems inconsistent that this appalling cowardice should be exhibited by the same people who fought their way into Belgium, France, Serbia, Russia and Roumania. But it is a matter of everyday observation that any cowardly person will maintain what he may term his courage as long as he is winning.

The pretense of a defensive war which the Germans have set up affords another indication of this same mental characteristic. If we grant that the masses of their people believe that the war was defensive we are confronted by the fact that the nation abjectly surrendered before a foot of its territory had been conquered.

The lack of Germany's realization of the wrongs which she has done leaves the world sick at heart. Yet we look in vain for the faintest expression of regret from the Germans for their atrocities. The simple reason for this lack is that they do not realize they have done anything wrong.

Before the war the Germans had pretty well concealed their true national character by making a display of several admirable qualities. The truth has at last burst upon us and there is no mistaking it.

Economy Corner

Hints for House Cleaning Time.

Having cleaned floors, woodwork and furniture, the attention turns naturally to floor coverings, which need frequent cleaning. Waxed floors should rarely be washed except before re-waxing, and a wood floor can be kept from scratches if the legs of the chairs and tables have a bit of felt pasted on the bottom. For this purpose old felt hats may be used.

Care of Rugs.

Good rugs can be safely scrubbed, and professional rug cleaners do this work very successfully. It is a good idea to stipulate that they are to be simply scrubbed with suds when turning them over to the cleaner. For sometimes a bleach is used on them. Scrubbing is perhaps the most satisfactory method of cleaning a first-class rug, but might prove fatal to one made of poor material or dyed with inferior colors. Nearly all rugs redye well, but this is work for a professional, and not for the housekeeper.

Ordinarily all that is needed is a vacuum cleaner to keep rugs thoroughly clean. If you have none, take your rugs into the yard and sweep them thoroughly with a broom. This will keep the wall-paper and hangings clean and you won't have to breathe the dust which you are sweeping. A good sweeping with the carpet sweeper will do in the meantime.

To Keep a Rug Flat.

When the edge of a rug persists in curling up, lay over it, on the wrong side, a damp cloth, and on this place a moderately hot iron. Let it stand for a few minutes and the steam will make the rug lie perfectly flat.

An old corset steel dress-stay, or piece of stiff wire cut stitched diagonally at the corners, on the wrong side of a much used tapestry rug, will keep it from curling up.

Another way to avoid the turned-up corners of rugs is to sew a pocket of some cheap material on the underside of each corner; then slip in a piece of tin, which you can have cut the exact size at a hardware store. The corners cannot curl.

The Care of Matting.

The broom, even the covered one, is not good for matting, and neither is the frequent use of the wet cloth. The carpet-sweeper, used across the grain, is better; and the vacuum-cleaner is, of course, best of all. But in between the latter two comes the hearth-brush, which is a life-preserver to the matting and a labor-saver to the houseworker. To go over a matting-covered room with a dustpan and one of these brushes is a matter of only a few minutes. These soft-hair brushes, thus used, raise little dust; they keep the matting and the corners in proper condition, and they do not roughen and injure the matting's surface. Another merit is that they may be washed without injury if they are quickly dried.

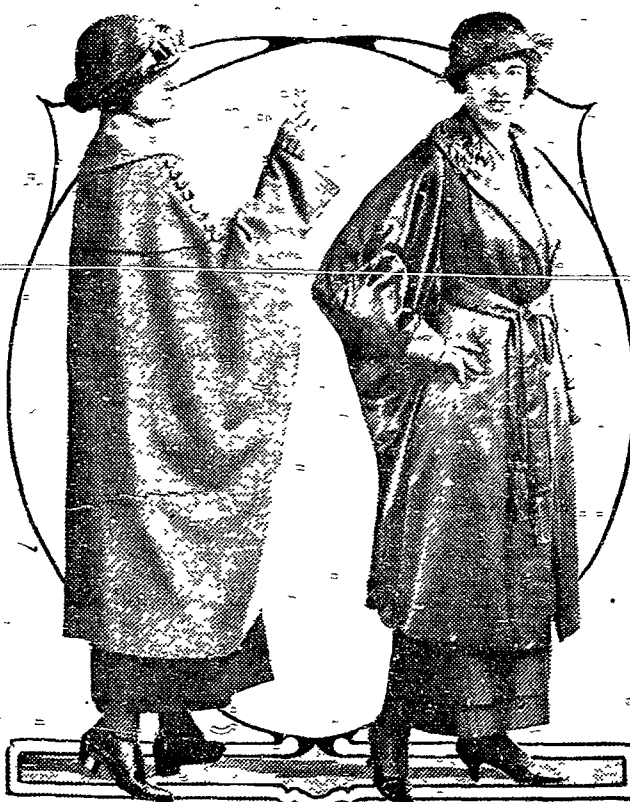

To Lay Straw Matting Smoothly.

This is a hard thing to do as the cheaper grades are likely to get wrinkled and to wear in ridges. When you put the matting down, get it as smooth as possible; then, with a pail of hot water, to which a cupful of common salt has been added, mop and wash the matting as if it were dirty. Use the salt water freely, renewing often enough to keep it hot. Wash with the grain of the matting, and leave it quite damp. In drying, the matting will shrink into place. The salt toughens the straw and prevents it from breaking.

Spring Colors.

The warmest of colors are in fashion for spring. All the shades of red are included and most of those of browns and yellows. Tomato red, rose color and flame are mentioned.

Capelike Wraps

It seems that we cannot say "wrap" this season without meaning "cape" or "dolman." Yes, the dolman is with us again, along with the cape and with wraps in which the two are combined into one. There is really a future in favor of these loose hanging, graceful garments and no end to the variations by which designers make them interesting. Two of them are shown here, one of cloth and one of satin, the first a utility wrap and the second a dressy but very generally useful wrap combination of cape and dolman.

The wrap at the left, of heavy cloth, may be made of any good coating. It is almost a cape pure and simple, with slits for the arms to which deep cuffs are set on. It is cut with a deep yoke, with buttons decorating it at each side in rows. It has an ample collar of the material and is recommended by being comfortable as well as stylish. It is very simply designed, as these wraps go, and looks the part of a smart and serviceable belonging in the spring wardrobe.

The satin wrap is one of the many handsome models in black, some of them having collars and linings in silks of contrasting colors, always in quiet tones. This particular garment is all black, with silk-embroidery on the collar and in a simple pattern on the cuffs. It is very full, with an ample shawl collar and a sash of the satin, that loops over at the front and is finished with flat silk tassels at the ends.

A little excursion through the shops in search of wraps, leads one to think that the end of these capelike garments is nowhere in sight. There is nearly no limit to the variety of interesting models which can be turned out, and chances are they are due for at least another season's popularity. A cape is never old-fashioned looking and the demand is now for full, mantle-like wraps graceful and ample, that designers can vary to the limit of their ingenuity.

Julia Bottomley

Flame and Cloud Gown.

A new creation that London calls "a flame gown," is a wonderful draping of crepe de chine. The lower part of the gown is of deep flame pink, which fades in color to the top of the gown until it is of the softest pink that is almost white, just like a flame or a cloud, and it might be explained as a gown of flame and cloud effect.

SAVING CEREALS FROM SMUT LOSS

Simple Seed Treatment Will Prevent Injury to Different Kinds of Grain Crops.

FUNGUS PARASITE IS CAUSE

Wheat Crop of 1918 Suffered to Amount of 25,500,000 Bushels—No Justification for Growing Smutted Grain.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

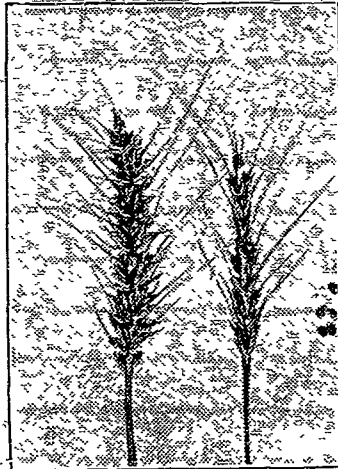

There are a number of different kinds of smuts which attack the different cereals—wheat, oats, barley, and rye. The most striking feature of these diseases is the appearance of a fine, dark-colored dusty material which replaces the seed of heads of the grain. This dusty material is the spores or seed of the fungus parasite which causes the disease. Perhaps the most serious of these grain smuts is the stinking smut or bunt of wheat. When the wheat matures it is found that the grains are replaced by false kernels or smut balls. These are easily broken up in a fine dusty material—the smut spores. These have a disagreeable odor, hence the common name of this smut. This odor can readily be detected on the leeward side of a ripening wheat field. It is also very evident during thrashing and on stored grain.

Estimated National Loss.

It is estimated that the national loss due to wheat smuts—principally the stinking smut—on the 1918 crop amounted to 25,500,000 bushels. The two States of Minnesota and Nebraska lost 3,000,000 bushels of wheat from stinking smut alone. The estimated loss from oat smuts in 1918 is 110,000,000 bushels, and the estimated loss from barley smuts is 6,000,000 bushels—a total of 141,500,000 bushels of the three grains.

Loss Is Preventable.

And practically all of that loss could have been prevented—easily prevented. There is no justification for growing smutted grain; specialists declare. Smut is borne on the seed. Clean grain becomes contaminated in thrashing, sacking, storing and milling. The preventive is to treat all seed wheat before it is sown—either soak it in or sprinkle it with a formaldehyde solution in the proportion of 1 pound of commercial formaldehyde to 40 gallons of water. That is true, at least, for practically all of the country. In Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California the soil is infested and absolute prevention cannot be attained by seed treatment. But that is due to local climatic conditions and, apparently, soil infestation does not occur throughout the rest of the country, and seed treatment is all that is necessary to prevent smut.

Smutted Wheat.

FATTEN CATTLE ON ALFALFA

Iowa State College Says It Is Cheap Form of Roughage Even at $30 Per Ton.

In reply to inquiries as to whether an attempt should be made to fatten cattle without alfalfa, on account of its scarcity and high price, the animal husbandry department of Iowa State college says alfalfa, even at $30 a ton, is still a comparatively cheap form of roughage, and it will pay to feed it, at least in limited quantities. Fattening cattle do not need alfalfa for all their roughage, however. Cattle fed corn with half of their roughage alfalfa and the other half well cured corn fodder without ears should make almost as great gains as cattle receiving corn and alfalfa for all their roughage.

CULLING PUREBRED FLOCKS

Just as Rigid Work Needed to Insure Vigor as Would Be Practical on Lot of Mongrels.

The purebred flock needs just as rigid culling to insure vigor as you would practice on a flock of mongrels which are being culled for the same purpose. As a usual thing the farmer with grade stock will only keep the best grades, while the farmer with purebreds may be less energetic in his culling and save everything that possesses the slightest resemblance to a good specimen of the breed represented.

MENACE TO ONION-GROWING

Small Insect Causes Big Loss to Crop Annually—It Also Preys on Other Garden Crops.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The onion thrips is an insect so small that it is almost invisible to the unaided eye, but it is prolific and the most serious menace to the onion-growing industry of this country. It causes an annual loss to this crop alone, estimated to be at least $2,250,000. Though the insect has a particular liking for onions, it preys upon other garden and truck crops, such as cabbage, cauliflower, cucumbers and melons, and also has a ravenous appetite for greenhouse and many ornamental plants, particularly roses.

The first indication that an onion field has been attacked by thrips is shown by the leaves, which become whitened. In advanced attacks the leaves are curled, crinkled and twisted, and finally die down permanently. To control this pest, begin spraying with nicotine sulphate solution as soon as there is any evidence of the insect. If spraying is delayed until hundreds of young thrips are present the crop will be seriously injured. The spray material is made by the following formula: Three-eighths of a pint of nicotine sulphate (30 per cent), 4 pounds of dissolved soap and 50 gallons of water. Spraying should be done thoroughly and applied as a fine mist.

It is not advisable to plant other crops, such as early cabbage and cauliflower, upon which the thrips feed, near the onion fields. After onions, cabbage and related crops are harvested, the field should be cleaned up to destroy any breeding places of the insect. They will continue to thrive on any portion of these plants or weeds that might remain in the field. It is a good practice to plow as deeply as possible and harrow the ground after harvest. Much of the injury can be avoided by planting as early as possible and by using quick-acting fertilizers after the onions are well set or the bulbs have begun to form. Onion fields should be watched constantly and the plants should be kept growing thriftily, since once the plants become checked in their growth from any cause the thrips will multiply more rapidly than ever and it will be a hard fight to save the crop.

CORN MOST IMPORTANT CROP

Farmers Having Live Stock of Any Kind Should Plant Liberally—Plant on Time.

Corn is one of our most important grains that should have attention this year. It is hoped that more care will be given to the preparation of the soil and planting on time than is sometimes given.

Those who have hogs, work teams, a few beef calves and in fact animals of most any kind should plant liberally, provided, of course, their land and the seasons ordinarily favor corn. The meat supply next year will depend very largely upon the grain crop this year.

HOME WOODLAND

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In case of fire you will find a home-grown barn is very convenient means of replacing the loss and a great saving in money. Keep the home woodland growing.

When there is a strike in the coal mines you will find it very comfortable to have plenty of home-grown wood. Keep the home fires burning.

When you need extra money to pay off a mortgage, a doctor's bill, or for a college education for the children, you will find a reserve fund in the woodland handy. Keep the home folks protected.

PUT FENCE AROUND CHICKENS

Either That or One Around Garden for Proper Protection of Various Plants.

When farmers have chickens and a garden, as all should, it is best to have a fence around the garden or the chickens. Usually the chickens are fenced out of the garden but allowed to glean over the fields and forest near by. Care should be taken to have a chicken-proof fence around the garden so the plants will be protected.

AIRCRAFT MATERIAL DISPOSAL EXPLAINED

INTERESTING ARTICLE BY LIEUT. ENANT "CHARLIE" SESSIONS, FORMERLY OF NORTHVILLE.

The question has been asked, "what is the government going to do with the enormous amount of material and machinery accumulated for aircraft production?"

We will attempt to answer this question as follows: The government has organized the Material Disposal Department of the Bureau of Aircraft Production, which is based on business principles in an endeavor to dispose of all material and machinery at fair market prices and with the predominant idea of playing absolutely fair with the trade and dealers. It is not the intention of this department to unload this material and machinery on the market at ridiculously low prices which will tend to demoralize not only the trade and dealers, but the manufacturer and consumer.

This material disposition department is divided into eight districts, namely: New York, Boston, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Dayton, Detroit, Chicago and San Francisco. All these districts are under the jurisdiction of the Washington office, from which are issued bulletins covering the following fourteen classes of material and machinery:

- B-1 Machine tools and fixtures.
- B-2 Electrical machinery.
- B-3 Dies, tools, jigs and gauges.
- B-4 Chemicals, paints and oils.
- B-5 Metals.
- B-6 Motor accessories.
- B-7 Lumber.
- B-8 Hardware.
- B-9 Buildings and lands.
- B-10 Fabrics.
- B-11 Scrap.
- B-12 Shop equipment.
- B-13 Office equipment.
- B-14 Miscellaneous.

Each district office is under the direction of the district manager, who has built up an organization of local salesmen, with one head salesman for each of the above fourteen classes.

Lieut. C. C. Sessions, manager of the Buffalo district, wishes to impress on the minds of the people in this district (which extends east to Syracuse, south to Pennsylvania line, west to Erie and north indefinitely into Canada) that every person, no matter how small his requirements might be, will receive equal consideration and be given the same privilege of purchase.

When you hear the many stories that the government is giving away material and machinery at ridiculously low prices, don't pass this Bolshevik propaganda to your neighbor without first calling Lieut. Sessions on the telephone (North 5031), or still better, call and see him in his office at 2050 Elmwood avenue and get the facts.

Farmington Flashes

FARMINGTON FLASHES.

Mrs. M. A. Whitford has returned home from a two months' visit with friends at Oxford.

Oliver Cromwell of Detroit spent Sunday the guest at the home of his niece, Mrs. Rosby Botsford.

The Invincibles of the M. E. Sunday school recently enjoyed a very pleasant evening at the home of Donald Banfield.

The Young People's Missionary society met at the M. E. parsonage last week Wednesday evening. There was a good attendance and all enjoyed a very interesting and instructive meeting.

The Woman's Home Missionary society held a very interesting meeting in the M. E. parsonage with Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Benson, last week. Mrs. Numer of Detroit gave a fine and instructive address to the ladies.

The Farmington Township War Board meeting was held in the town hall Saturday evening, April 12. Several important matters were taken up and all returned soldiers were requested to be present.

Louise White arrived here April 9, from Bellflower, California with the body of her son, Glenn White, for burial in Oakwood cemetery in the afternoon. A short burial service was held at the grave. The son died November 18, 1918, and was placed in the vault at Bellflower until ready for shipment. Mrs. White intends making her home with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Goers, for the present, instead of returning to California.

Oliver P. Hazard of Detroit came to Farmington last week to celebrate election day and spend a few hours visiting with old friends who greatly enjoyed his company. Mr. Hazard was looking fine and told of his first experience of coming to Farmington on a spring election day 65 years ago. When a lad of eighteen years he walked down from Novi and hired out to P. Dean Warner, father of our Governor Warner, who conducted a general merchandise store at that time 1854. He reported that Mrs. Hazard, formerly Miss Lucy Botsford, and sister of the late Mrs. P. Dean Warner, was also enjoying good health.

The following is the result of the Farmington election:

EXTENSION OF TIME GRANTED.

Collector of Internal Revenue, James J. Brady of Detroit, says:

"An extension of time from March 15 to May 15 was granted by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for the filing of these returns.

"All employers of labor are required to make these returns. Organizations, such as corporations, companies, partnerships and etc., are required to file returns showing the salaries and wages paid to the officers and employees.

"A separate return for each employee whose salary for 1918 was $1,000 or more, is required. "Banks, trust companies, etc., must make returns showing interest paid to, or credited to the account of, an individual if the amount so credited or paid was $1,000 or more.

"Real estate agents are required to report the gross amounts received in rents or other income and remitted to their principals if such amounts for 1918 were $1,000 or more. Form 1099, upon which reports must be made, may be obtained from the offices of collectors.

Why Is Northville Firm?

Because Its Citizens Have Learned The Truth.

After reading this generous and encouraging report from Mr. Clark, those who have the misfortune to suffer, as he did, will naturally long to get similar relief. But to get the same good as Mr. Clark had, you should get the same remedy. There are of course, other kidney pills but there are no other kidney pills the same as Doan's. That is why Northville people demand the genuine.

N. L. Clark, retired farmer, Grace avenue, Northville, says: "It has been some time since I have had to take Doan's Kidney Pills, but, speaking from past experience, I couldn't advise anyone to use a more reliable medicine than Doan's. Whenever my back bothered me or my kidneys acted irregularly, Doan's Kidney Pills soon rid me of the trouble." Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Clark had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Advt. 71

Motorists in the last year, mainly through the efforts of this club:

(1) Lengthening of plank and widening of the P. M. railway crossing on the Novi road just north of the Base Line road.

(2) Electric Alarm bell at the P. M. railway crossing at the Base Line road crossing at the Northville Condensery.

(3) Electric alarm bell and wide crossing plank at the D. U. R. crossing at the end of the Northville drive cement road as it enters the village at Plymouth avenue.

(4) Getting the Oakland county road commissioners interested in the making of the roads passable from Novi village on the Novi road for a couple of miles. These roads had been impassable for months when taken up with the Oakland county officials at the instigation and co-operation of members and others of Novi residents at a meeting held in the Novi town hall on May 16, 1918. In less than one week the road was once more passable.

(5) Interesting the Wayne County road commissioners in the floating of the Plymouth avenue road. The club offered to take over this work under a contract and after submitting their proposition to the Wayne Commissioners their engineer came out from Detroit and after investigating the proposition and going over the road, a contract was made with Mr. Mathewson along the lines suggested by the Northville club. In consequence this road through the successful efforts and splendid ability of Wm. Mathewson and his son, Roy, the Plymouth road between Northville and Plymouth has been in the best traveling shape during the year that it has ever been since it was built. This shows what can be done with a float and a very little gravel, when the work can be done at just the right time, and kept up.

(6) Through the courtesy of Hy. Commissioner Montgomery a new culvert was put in or repairs made on the Salem road at or near Will Tousley's. Of course this culvert in question would have been fixed in a few days anyhow, but in this case it was called to the attention of Mr. Montgomery by the Club, much sooner than it would otherwise have been in the regular course of events.

(7) The widening out of the road on Griswold street just northeast of the P. M. overhead bridge was another matter long needed and in which the village authorities lent hearty co-operation and accomplished the work in fine shape soon after the importance of it was called to their attention.

(8) Through the co-operation and courtesy of the Detroit Auto Club the "Seven-Mile" road and the Northville Drive has been signed the whole distance, and added to this has been the very attractive signs put up by the Deep Springs Water company.

(9) An agreement has been made with the Wayne County Commissioners that they should within one year bring the cement road up through the village. On our part we have assured the Wayne Commissioners that we would assist in the taking of the road from the north end of Center street east as a gravel road to the Novi road and from there that we would co-operate with the Novi Commissioners or Oakland Commissioners, in getting the road extended on to the Grand River road or so far as is not already built.

We believe that our united efforts for 1919 will accomplish much more than all this and that you will be more than pleased and more than repaid for your assistance and co-operation. The road from Northville north to Walled Lake should be one of our chief aims in new undertakings. This is one of the most traveled roads in the state and that it should be made a state highway is of great importance. The mile west of the Northville township line on the U. S. Fishery road in Washtenaw county is also of importance and the finishing of the road from the Washtenaw county line east of the Thayer school house for a mile should have consideration to make a complete state road from Northville to Ann Arbor. The Base Line road from Center street east to the Novi road is a matter which was brought to the attention of our township authorities at the annual town meeting, and by a unanimous vote, it was ordered built by township authority.

We have at present 111 members and the number can be believed easily extended this year to 200. The total receipts for the year were $222. The expenses were as follows:

150 Auto Emblems at 60c	$90.00
Printing	27.06
Postage	21.20
Express	1.13
Telephone	.20
Clerical service and office exp.	53.55
Incorporation fees	5.30
Membership in S. A. A.	10.00

Total $208.93
Balance, cash on hand 13.07

We have bills payable of $30.00 for the last 50 Auto emblem membership tags which is due next August.

The Secretary has given much of his time in the last year in carrying out of this work but feels that in the coming year some of this should be done by committees from the membership. We also believe that the board of directors should be made 12 or more and that monthly meetings of the officers should be had, to make the work more effective.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

F. S. NEAL, Secretary.

The following board of directors were elected for the ensuing year: C. C. Yerkes, T. G. Richardson, L. A. Babbitt, F. S. Neal, M. N. Johnson, W. L. Tinsman, N. C. Schrader, C. A. Ponsford, Cass R. Benton, Dan Mathews, George Groll, Harry Bogart, Roy Terrill, Chas. McLaren, Roy Larkins.

Some enthusiastic remarks were made by Messrs. C. C. Yerkes, Harry Bogart, and Rep. M. N. Johnson.

It was reported that the mile on the Novi road from the South Lyon road towards Northville had been ordered built as well as the half-mile on the Base line road in the village from Center street east to the Novi road.

A committee was ordered appointed by the board to solicit new members and the board of directors increased to 15.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed it has a tendency to close, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

On that day will start the Victory Liberty Loan campaign which is to show that our people in Northville and Wayne County, who so ardently sought Victory, are willing and quick to pay the price of Victory.

Official figures not yet having been released by Washington, it is not possible to announce Northville Township's quota, but the interest will be 3 3/4 per cent.

Whatever that quota may be, Northville Township, we may be sure, will realize her opportunity and complete her wonderful record of supporting our government.

Never has Northville Township failed to respond the interest will be 4 3/4 per cent now.

But more than all, Northville will do this in reverent memory of its hero dead—as a final tribute, and as a pledge that they have not died in vain.

STATE WILL AID COUNTIES TO HANDLE AUTO LICENSE RUSH.

As a substitute for Representative Charles Evans' bills, the Senate committee on state affairs reported out a new measure known as the Dafeo-Evans bill which gives the secretary of state the right to send his employees into counties to handle automobile licenses. The original Evans bill would have required all county treasurers to be sub-agents for the secretary of state.

As amended by the senate, the automobile tax bill increases the tax on automobiles 10 cents a hundredweight, but there will be no change in the horsepower tax. The tax on trucks is increased from 15 to 25 cents a hundredweight. A straight tax of 50 cents per hundredweight is provided for all trailers.

Representative Evans estimates the additional revenue from the increased tax will amount to approximately $300,000 per year.

On third reading, the house passed by a vote of 53 to 10 Representative John Y. Martin's bill to create the Michigan state park commission and appropriate $200,000 to purchase land for state parks along the Great Lakes.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS NOTES.

(By the Press Correspondent.)
The next meeting of Allen M. Harmon Woman's Relief Corps will be held in Forester hall Wednesday evening, April 23, at 7:30. The attendance at last week's meeting was small on account of the storm, but three new members were initiated and three more names ballotted upon.

Let us have a good big attendance at the next meeting.
