

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD.

VOL. XLIX, NO. 40.

THE RECORD: NORTHVILLE, MICH., FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1919.

$1.50 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

VICTORY LOAN GOES OVER TOP

NORTHVILLE'S QUOTA OF $100,000 ALREADY ASSURED; OPEN FOR FEW DAYS LONGER.

The Victory Liberty Loan went with a whoop and all over the country the quota was quickly subscribed.

Northville's quota of $100,000 was quickly assured and no subscriptions will be received after May 5th. Until that time the two Northville banks will receive subscriptions from those who desire bonds, but as there is such a demand for them, no one will be solicited to subscribe.

Registered bonds must be paid for in full, but others may be paid for on the installment plan as heretofore.

The new bonds only run for four years and pay interest at the rate of 4 1/2%. It is a very attractive proposition and the bonds in consequence were quickly picked up.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS' BIG MAY PARTY

IS DATED FOR FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 3, IN HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM.

The interest shown in the forthcoming Knights Templar ball to be held May 9, is very gratifying and means that it will be a decidedly successful affair.

The Fischer Exposition orchestra of Kalamazoo, is to furnish the music, and they can be depended upon to give the biggest music values known.

Mr. Edward Snuggs, vocalist, is to be one of the features of this occasion, and Mr. Fischer promises that this specialty will add immensely to the pleasure of the guests.

The Fischers are touring Pennsylvania and will arrive in Michigan in time to come to this first appearance in the state.

BELLEVILLE CLUB ENTERTAINS NORTHVILLE

A dozen of the Northville Auto club members were guests of the Belleville club at a 6 o'clock supper last week and report a most valuable meeting and a very enjoyable time.

Interesting talks were made by C. C. Yerkes, L. A. Babbitt and Cass Benton for the Northville club and by Mr. Fisher for the Belleville club. Ypsilanti and other Washtenaw towns were represented by enthusiastic speakers, including R. J. Bird, of Pittsfield township, who may be one of Washtenaw's new county highway commissioners.

Ed Hines, County Road Commissioner, and president of the Detroit Auto club and Capt. Glibreath, secretary-manager of the Detroit club, made enthusiastic and instructive talks.

The dinner and entertainment by the Belleville club was a splendid affair and will prove of much value in the future work of the committees represented.

OUR LATEST DEFENDERS TO MARCH MAY 30

ALL BOYS WHO WORE U. S. UNIFORM REQUESTED TO JOIN IN MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCES.

Northville's tentative plans for our coming Memorial day honors to America's soldier dead include the participation of all the young soldiers, sailors and marines of this section, who have worn the U. S. uniform during the late war. It is indeed fitting that the veterans of the war of the 60's should be aided in their annual tribute to the memory of the nation's dead by those who have so recently formed the bulwark between their country and her foes, and efforts are already being made to have all the returned U. S. service boys of Novi and Salem as well as those of Northville, in uniform and in line here on May 30.

Lieut. Charles F. Murphy has consented to conduct the preliminary drills and all boys of this or any vicinity who have been in any branch of the service are urgently requested to notify the Record, by letter or in person, if willing to take part.

The government has been asked to furnish at least enough guns for a firing squad. Further particulars will be given in the Record next week.

RED CROSS LUNCHEON WAS BIG AFFAIR

The luncheon given in the High school building last Friday afternoon for the members and workers of the local Red Cross unit was one of the largest as well as one of the pleasantest social afternoon functions ever enjoyed in this village.

Two hundred and thirty persons were served by the efficient committee in charge, with a delicious repast, from tables spread in the domestic science dining room. The guests, carrying the necessary dishes, were deftly supplied with the various viands as they passed along the prettily decorated tables which were arranged in an open square, the long line of people leaving and returning to the gymnasium by two different doors.

Following the luncheon, a delightful program was given. A number of the members of the Schutte orchestra provided several very pleasing selections, including encores, and two young Detroit girls, the Misses Dorothy Brown and Virginia Hesse, played the piano with remarkable brilliancy, both gracefully responding to encores, and both giving their long and elaborate selections from memory, and in a manner that would have done credit to professional skill. Miss Monica Hesse, a still younger artist, delighted the company with two exceptionally charming readings, the second in response to an enthusiastic recall. The three talented young girls are nieces of Mrs. James Savage, daughters of her sister and brother, Northville residents in former years. Other greatly appreciated numbers were vocal solos, with encores by Miss June Perkins and Miss Johnson, with Mrs. J. B. Tinkham as the accompanist.

The chairman, Mrs. C. L. Dubuay, gave a most interesting summary of the Red Cross work accomplished by the Northville unit, also a condensed history of the inception and early days of the movement and the wonderful achievement of its founder Clara Barton.

Before the close of the meeting, the chairman requested that all who were willing to continue as organized Red Cross members, ready to assist at any time should move work be required would register, and about 160 names were recorded, as a result of this appeal, thus providing a good local working force for future needs of one of the grandest organizations the world has ever known.

Every worker certainly has reason to be proud of her part in the quantity and quality of the work done by the Northville unit since its formation, and of the efficiency and faithfulness of the officers, committees and leaders of the classes.

The splendid co-operation of the Salem ladies was especially mentioned by Mrs. Dubuay in her talk, as well as many other interesting features which cannot be given in detail here.

The work of the refreshment committee for Friday's gathering was enthusiastically commented upon on all sides, not only for the excellence of the menu but for the efficiency and lack of confusion with which so large a company was provided for. In this connection, N. I. Coiff won new laurels as a coffee artist.

Much regret was expressed that the vice-president of the unit, Mrs. Kittie Harmon, who has been constantly and untiringly active all along the line and one of those most interested in this social assembly of all the Northville workers, could not be present because of illness in her home.

FORESTERS' MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Court Northville No. 65, F. & F. A. will hold memorial services in Foresters' hall this Friday evening, April 25, in honor of a soldier member, James Roche, who gave up his life in France. This service is to be attended by the members only, all of whom are urged to be present.

The feature of the game was the high score by Hartman of Detroit, who averaged better than 200 in each game. Hartman has three times in various games made the perfect score of 300.

NEW COVERT ROAD FOR FARMINGTON

The grading for the new cement road up through the village of Farmington is being pushed with good results. The cement work will be commenced in about a week. When completed Farmington will have one of the prettiest main streets in the county. The road is being put down under the Covert act and the work is being done by the State Highway department. This seems to be a much more satisfactory plan than under the County commissioner act. The village of Orion is doing the same thing under the same act and in a short time that village will have a curb to curb paved Main street.

MAYOR COUZENS SAYS DETROIT'S 'SLEEP'

MUST WAKE UP TO ITS POSSIBILITIES TO TAKE ITS PROPER PLACE.

Detroit can become a larger and greater city than Chicago, but it first must rid itself of ultra-conservatism, which has kept it in the country-town class, Mayor Couzens declared Tuesday. "He declared there was no reason why Detroit should have to send to Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Akron and other cities to get its supplies for the automobile industry, such as steel, rubber and electrical equipment.

"If the city had the nerve to go forward it would provide the facilities for these industries and their workmen, and it could get them," he said. "But it gives them no encouragement to come. The city is the worst advertised in the country from the standpoint of transportation for its workmen."

And the Mayor might have added there is no reason for Detroit to go to Northville for its water or Toledo for its whiskey.

Several years ago the Record pointed out to then Police Commissioner Couzens that Detroit's chief aim in the world seemed to be to prevent automobiles from parking longer than one hour on Woodward avenue.

If the newspapers and politicians of Detroit had devoted the same amount of space and time to the welfare and progress of Detroit for ten years past that they have to knocking the U. S. R. Detroit would have been the leading city of the west.

ARBOR DAY MAY 2.

Gov. Sleeper has issued a proclamation designating Friday, May 2 as Michigan's annual Arbor day. The governor suggests that this day be made the occasion of the planting of memorial trees, each one named in honor of our soldiers, sailors and marines, commemorating their services and sacrifices for their country and humanity, also that in every city and village and township a Victory Elm should be planted to commemorate the great triumph of Freedom and Democracy.

MRS. ELLEN OLM DIED SUNDAY.

Mrs. Ellen Gibson Olm, for 25 years an esteemed resident of Northville, passed away Sunday morning, April 20, at her home in Northside. Although Mrs. Olm had been in failing health for some years she had not been confined to her home, but had walked out nearly every day even to the last day of her life.

She was the widow of Frederick Olm, a well known resident here, who died about five years ago. Ellen Gibson was born in County Armagh, Ireland, 63 years ago, coming to the home of her brother, Thomas Gibson, at Palmerston, Canada, about 40 years ago. The surviving relatives are a sister and brother, Mary and James, in Ireland, a nephew and two nieces. Thomas M. Mary and Margaret Gibson of New York city, children of her brother, Thomas, a niece, Mrs. Nellie Briggs of Detroit, daughter of her brother, James. Two sons and a daughter of Mr. Olm are residents here. Funeral services were held Tuesday in the Presbyterian church, of which she was a faithful member, her pastor, Rev. Edward V. Belles, officiating. Interment was made in the Yerkes cemetery.

MAIL BOOSTS FOR AUTO CLUB.

Says the Plymouth Mail: "In many places throughout the state automobile clubs have been organized with a view of improving local road conditions, and splendid results have been obtained through the efforts of these organizations. Our neighboring villages of Northville and Belleville have such organizations, and they are particularly anxious that Plymouth should get in line and form a similar organization. The co-operation of several clubs for better road conditions, would be a mighty big factor in bringing about some improvements on some of the highways in this part of the county. Let's get together, and organize an association, and join hands with our neighbors for better roads."

DIED FROM INJURIES.

George McFarland, who was terribly injured Saturday while working at the Stimpson plant here, died of peritonitis Monday, April 21, at 1:15 o'clock in the morning, in Grace hospital, Detroit, where he had been taken a few hours previously.

Mr. McFarland was born in Northville June 17, 1868 and had passed practically his whole life here. He had been employed at the Stimpson factory for the past 16 years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Susie McFarland, two sons, Claude and Clifford, and a daughter, Elvie, all of Detroit, also a sister, Mrs. Potts, of Milford.

Burial took place Wednesday from the home of Mrs. Wm. Hicks, where he had been boarding for the last two years.

NEW STATE ROAD IN SALEM TOWNSHIP.

After appealing to the town and county road commissioners for years the taxpayers along the U. S. Fishery road and in Washtenaw county for two miles west of the Wayne county line, appealed to the State Highway Commissioner with a petition covered by the Covert act and the State Commissioner will send in an engineer and after a survey is made the road will be built by state contractors. In some places they don't have to wait for county commissioners.

DR. JEPSON RETURNS TO PRACTICE.

Dr. B. Ruth Jepson of Detroit has announced that she has again returned to her osteopathic practice. For two years she has been in the employ of the Ford Motor company, and in that factory she made a special study of occupational diseases, physical and mental as well as the sociological and safety first systems in vogue there. Dr. Jepson will come to Northville one day in each week.

DEATH OF WAKEMAN GOULD.

Wakeman Gould, 82 years of age, a lifelong resident of this section, died last Friday night, April 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Culp, where he had been living for some time past. Mr. Gould was well known in Novi and Walled Lake as well as in this immediate vicinity. The burial took place Monday at Walled Lake.

SPRAY WITH "PYROX"

You cannot afford to grow food for bugs. It must be saved for yourself, your friends, both at home and across the sea.

So far as possible you want to protect your crops against loss by bugs and fungus. Pyrox does both. It kills apple worms and prevents apple scab. It kills potato bugs and prevents potato blight. It kills tomato worms and makes your tomatoes grow better.

That last point is one reason why so many are now using Pyrox. It actually has a stimulating and invigorating action on the foliage of many kinds of fruits and vegetables, so it not only protects the crop, but actually improves it; increases the yield and makes the crop worth more.

Be sure to order or get home your supply early in the season. Last season many people were disappointed because they did not have Pyrox on hand and could not get it for immediate use when they needed it, owing to the temporary shortage of supply.

The following inspiring poem written by Edwin L. Quarles, of Grand Rapids, Mich., has been dedicated to the Victory Liberty Loan:

ONCE MORE, AMERICA!

Once more, once more, America!—This is our glory day! And it from now the price is gold. We'll smile, and pay and pay! There's not a bargain on the books. We'll stop to question when our homes can pay for Victory—With coin instead of men.

Great things that never turn a shaft of light, wings that never flow, A better deal to settle now—Than France and England knew. The guns we never fired we'll charge—To profit, not to lose. And count them all less dearly bought—Than one small wooden cross.

Thank God for this America! For ship and shell and truck; Thank God, you million Mothers, for The blow we never struck!

Weep for our little mounds in France. But laugh with the Spring again—We'd rather pay for victory With money than with men.

IMPORTANT DRAINAGE WORK TO BE STARTED

Three hundred acres of wet land in St. Clair county will be drained during the next few months. In the course of important demonstration work being carried out under the direction of the Farm Mechanics department of the Michigan Agricultural college.

The college has contracted for the use of an improved "traction ditcher" which will be used to complete all the work.

General shortage of labor and the lack of skilled hand ditchers necessitated the adoption of machine methods. The demonstrations which are to be carried out in St. Clair county will serve as tests of the practicability of the machine work.

Twenty-acre tracts on fifteen farms scattered over the entire county are to be ditched and tiled. The work will be paid for by the owners of the land, the management being furnished by the college.

The General Motors Corporation is to follow in Pontiac the same plan that is in progress at Flint, and as announced by the Ford interests at Dearborn—the extensive building of homes for the employees of the big manufacturing plants and the selling of the homes to the workmen at cost, and on the easiest possible terms of payment. About 600 acres of land have been secured near the Oakland plant at Pontiac and 750 houses are to be built as soon as possible.

"You know, where Mrs. Green was in the middle of the afternoon," raged Bopp, turning on me, "and you didn't tell me, but let me tramp my feet off looking for her? Here I am, dying of weariness and lack of sleep, when a word might have saved me."

Kent stroiled in. "Say, Mr. Bopp," he said curiously, "will you tell me one thing?"

"Why, certainly."

"How did you ever come to find that chair on the cliff where you were sleeping all the afternoon? I passed you a dozen times, and I'd never have seen you at all if I hadn't heard you snore."

Vida came in carrying a pair of shoes, a coat, a pair of trousers and a hat.

"He's gone," she said briefly. "As soon as he saw me coming he dived into the lake and swam off rapidly. He looked back from time to time."

"He was afraid you would swim after him," I explained. "Are you in the market for old clothes?" I indicated her burden.

"No; these are his. He left them on the bank, and I thought I might as well bring them in. I suppose he will be killed."

"Who?" asked Lucile and Bopp.

"Mr. Clair," Vida answered. "He is trying to reach the mainland by swimming."

"Oh, the brave fellow!" Lucile exclaimed. "He is risking his life to get supplies to us. To think that I didn't like him very well at first!"

I explained gently that if Mr. Clair ever reached the shore, which was very doubtful, he would probably never think of us again.

"I wish I knew where Tootles is," worried Lucile.

"She must be in the house," Vida said.

"I've looked everywhere," Lucile declared despondently.

"But she is such a little doggie," Vida insisted. "Is there an unfinished part of the house in the attic where she might get in under the floor or between the inner and outer walls?"

"Why, yes, there's an attic," admitted Lucile, encouraged.

"We'll look on the stairs."

"I'll whistle," Lucile said, "and then we'll be just as quiet as possible. If she's here she'll answer me."

"Answer you? Can she whistle, too?" asked Jim, the frying pan engineer.

"No, of course not. When I whistle, if she's alive she'll whistle and bark."

"Shut up, Jim. Let her whistle," commanded Captain Perkins. "I never knew but one girl who could whistle good, and after a dentist pulled one of her front teeth she couldn't any more."

"Sh!" Vida said, laying a hand on the seadog's arm.

After a pause Jim asked, "Why don't she whistle?"

"She's tryin' to," explained the captain, who correctly interpreted the faint hissing sound which Lucile was performing.

"Maybe she ain't got enough steam in her boiler," Jim was earnestly endeavoring to be helpful.

"No; from the way she looks I think she's bust something," said his superior officer.

At last a faint hissing sound came from Lucile's puckered lips. No right minded dog would ever have recognized it as a summons to heed, but I heaved a sigh of relief. I knew at last that Lucile was safe anyway.

After a pause Lucile asked, "Did you hear anything?"

"Not yet," Jim replied. "Why don't you try slinging through a comb?"

"I meant did you hear Tootles bark?"

"No, ma'am."

"Then she's dead," Lucile nearly broke down. She looked around for a bosom on which to weep, but scorned both Bopp's and mine. "I loved her so."

There was a whispered consultation between Captain Perkins and Jim, and Jim tipped downstairs mysteriously.

CHAPTER XII.

"Oh, My Poor Tootles."

"AYE, if you tried again," said the captain to Lucile, "the pup might hear you."

You didn't whistle very loud the first time."

Lucile whistled again with a considerably more audible result. We all listened.

There was a faint whine and a short, sharp, but distant bark. I presume that I was the most surprised person in the party.

"There she is!" Vida declared. "I thought maybe she was up here."

"But that doesn't sound like Tootles," Lucile objected.

"It must be," Bopp announced this masterpiece of logic. "There isn't any other dog in the house, is there? Probably her voice sounds different far off."

"And probably she is peeped in somewhere and frightened. That might make her sound different. Ah! Why did I have that idea, and why having it, did I not conceal it in one of the recesses of my brain instead of voicing it to all?"

"Oh, my poor Tootles," Lucile began picturing her pet suffocating. "Maybe she is dying or dead already."

"Whistle again," directed the captain.

Lucile made several ineffectual attempts, but failed. "I can't," she declared. "I have to cry."

"Let me call her," I interposed. "She knows me."

As a boy I used to be able to make considerable racket by blowing on two fingers held at the proper angle in my mouth. I tried it with gratifying results. I must have been heard on the mainland.

The reply was immediate—short, snappy barks, still a long way off, but very reassuring as to vigor and delight.

"She's right under us!" Lucile cried. "No, over by the window, I should say," argued Vida.

"Poor darling, she has forgotten how she got into the place, and she thinks some one is keeping her cooped up on purpose. Please, Monty, keep on whistling. She does recognize you, and she'll know that help is coming. We must take up the floor."

In her excitement and time of need she had turned to me and not to Bopp. I didn't know how Tootles, whom I had last seen dashing up the beach amid a cloud of sand, could possibly have managed to get under the attic floor, but Lucile had called me Monty, and reason dismounted from her throne, and carnal was king.

I whistled blithely, piercingly, joyfully, coaxingly, and whenever I paused the barking rewarded me.

"Tear up the floor," Lucile ordered. "We can't let her stay there any longer."

"Haden't we better see if she won't come out by herself?" the captain asked tentatively. "It seems a shame to tear up that there planing."

"Nor for Tootles," Lucile replied. "What do I care for an old attic floor when my Tootles is in danger? She hasn't stay there another minute if I can help it." She tried to pry up a board with her finger nails.

"Wait," I requested. "Let me do this scientifically."

I wrenched a leg from an old armchair which had already suffered the amputation of one of its extremities and with that as a lever pried up one of the flooring boards at the ends which extended loose over the floor beams. As the plank came up amid a cloud of dust Lucile gave me a look such as must have rewarded Lancelot from the grandstand after he ran a curtain pole through a cast iron white hoop.

We assembled around the hole I had made. No Tootles in sight.

"Whistle," Lucile commanded me. I obeyed.

Joyful barks, but nothing more.

"Take up some more boards," Lucile might have been saying. "Wait until you see the whites of their eyes" or "Don't give up the ship."

"Haden't we better wait?" Captain Perkins was an earnest advocate of the Fabian policy.

"No."

I took up another board and yet another, stopping to whistle each time, without apparently getting any nearer.

"She's there somewhere," declared Tootles' foster mother, puzzled, but still determined. "Keep on until you find her."

I had taken up all but half a dozen of the boards when my foot slipped from the cross floor beam on which I was working and struck the lath which was nailed on the other side.

The lath offered but slight resistance. The plaster was even more fragile, and I went through rather hastily, clutching wildly at nothing in particular.

My last recollection was of Lucile's horror-stricken face as she saw me sinking from sight, like the villain in "Torna Doone."

My next conscious remembrance was of sitting flat in the middle of a bed, the springs of which were gently bounding me up and down after the fashion of a net into which a trapeze performer had dropped from the top of the tent. Above was a hole in the ceiling, around me were chunks of plaster and splinters of lath, and sitting in a chair by the window was Jim, his mouth open, emitting a series of short, sharp yelps.

Lucile, Vida, Bopp, Kent and the captain made a ring of faces around the hole in the ceiling.

"Stop barking, you darn fool!" shouted the captain after a moment devoted to startled surprise by all concerned.

"Aye, aye, sir!" replied Jim, saluting.

"Then it wasn't Tootles at all," Lucile was overwhelmed by grief that was all the more poignant because it had been held off so long by hope.

"You have to admit that Jim is an all around bright young fellow," declared the captain proudly. "It ain't often you can find a marine engineer who can cook and do as good an imitation of a dog as that."

"But why," I fixed the captain with a malevolent eye, "why did he imitate a dog at this particular moment? What is the cause of this character study of a canine under a floor? Why not a dog out in the yard chasing his tail or a Newfoundland pup having an argument with a dilapidated shoe?"

"Why, this was a little idea of my own," stated Captain Perkins modestly. "When I see Miss Green was going to be all broke up if nothing answered when she whistled I told Jim there to go downstairs and pretend to be the pup, just so's she'd feel better."

"What I want to know, Mr. Blainey," Jim asked, with a brightly inquiring eye, "is how did you know just where that bed was?"

"I know where I saw that dog last," exclaimed Kent as one inspired.

"Where?" Lucile turned to him.

"He was outdoors hittin' the breeze this afternoon."

"Outdoors? She isn't allowed out. What was she doing?"

"She was vamping up the beach, and Mr. Blainey was running after her."

Guilt seeks out the criminal and fastens her brand upon him publicly. Policemen are but jailers. Detectives are only men who let nature do their work for them.

There was a nasty staccato laugh. I did not need to look to know that it was Bopp.

"Mr. Kent seems to have a very observant mind," he said.

Lucile looked at me reproachfully. "Is this true?" she asked.

"Yes," George Washington could have done no more.

"You didn't catch her?"

"No."

Nothing more was to be said. I had been tried, convicted and sentenced.

The telephone rang. Lucile went to answer it. The rest of us followed more at our leisure. When we had arrived downstairs Lucile was talking to some one over the wire, evidently her mother.

"I'm glad you're all right," she was saying, "and that you have had something to eat. Don't feel badly about breaking the fast. No one blames you a bit. That's all right. We would, too, if we could."

A pause, during which she listened, a frown gathering on her face.

"Don't you worry, mother. We're all right—all except Tootles. She is lost. What's the matter? You saw some one outside in the moonlight? A man with whiskers? Nonsense. No one lives there at this time of year. Everybody left in September. Just go to bed and don't think about such things."

We Must Be Prepared to Meet Organized Wrong With Organized Right

By GEN. LEONARD WOOD, United States Army

Wars are coming in the future just as in the past. It's a great deal fairer to tell the probable truths than to deny the probabilities. There will be times when we shall have to break the peace or break the faith. The blood of the martyrs was the seed of the church—not their words.

If you believe in arbitration remember your arbitrate better when you are strong. Love peace. Love justice. But be ready. The world is as it is. We are going to try to make it a better world, but don't forget organized preparedness. We must be prepared to meet organized wrong with organized right. Verbal massage, no matter how skilfully applied, may keep peace for a time, but not for long.

You have the gifts. The talents are yours. You've shown that. If you wrap these talents up and don't use them God pity you. Man will not. We must help ourselves or God will not find us worth helping.

You don't know the truth about your own wars. You've never been told it. And then this war! Try to realize what would have happened if you had been compelled to prepare unassisted. You didn't have to. Don't forget England held the seas for you. France held.

Our men rendered splendid service. They did what we expected they would do. But God pity us if we had gone in without the help of the allies.

It's always been so with us. It's nobody's fault. It's a national habit of mind. But are you going to throw away all the lessons and warnings? Some day you will throw away the last lesson, the last warning.

Our soldiers when we send them into battle have a fight to a sporting chance—same as the enemy. We've never given them that chance in any of our big wars.

To the women: Wars will come again. Your men will have to fight. You'd despise them if they didn't. Your men will die, of course. When the men cease to be willing to die for the flag and the country then it is over with the country.

When the "Rainbows" Broke the Prussian Guards—and the Hun Morale

By REPRESENTATIVE HORACE M. TOWNER, of Iowa

When Foch not only stopped the well-conceived offensive of the Germans, which was to be their final and triumphant march on Paris, but immediately launched a counter-offensive with what seemed reckless abandon against the German lines, he met with unexpected success. By hard and well-directed fighting he forced the Germans to retire on both sides of the Chateau-Thierry triangle. So rapidly was the assault pressed that the Germans, in danger of a disastrous rout, called into action their strongest reserves. It was then that the Germans determined to send the invincible Prussian Guards against the advance. It was the "Rainbow" division that met this onset of the Prussian Guards.

The Prussian Guards have been regarded by the German people for more than a century as the ideal of the German army. They have been considered not only as the best that German military science could produce but vastly superior to any other military organization in the world. They were not called into action except upon extraordinary occasions. They were sent against the Americans to demolish them, to put them to shame, to show their lack of training and incompetency. The Fourth, their crack division, the best of the best, hitherto undefeated, led the attack.

The guards charged in due form, but, strange to say, the Americans refused to yield. The "Rainbow" boys met the onset calmly and resolutely, and with such a well-directed storm of rifle and machine-gun fire that it blinded and stunned and finally stopped the fierce assault.

And then the boys from Camp Creek and Smoky Hollow counter-charged with a swiftness and ferocity that took the breath away from the wondering guards. The Americans simply went through the front ranks of the invincible guards as if it were an everyday diversion. Time and again the officers of the guards rallied the men to stop the American onset. Some say four times, some six, and others say nine times the guards tried to re-form and re-attack, but the Americans pressed them so hard they could not find a chance. The Americans pressed them not only in front but soon attacked their flanks. The Germans were in danger of being surrounded, and so there was nothing to do but retreat in order to prevent surrender or destruction. This they did, with difficulty, preserving their organization.

It was a glorious victory for the Forty-second division. It was a terrible defeat for the guards. It gave confidence to the allies all along the line. It did more to break the morale of the Germans than any other single action.

Trees and Birds a Vital Factor in the Life of Men and of Nations

By FRANK O. LOWDEN, Governor of Illinois

Trees are a vital factor in the life of nations and the life of men. They are one of the greatest resources of our wealth, but they are more than that. Without them most of our rivers would run dry. Without them many of our fertile fields would become arid wastes.

Without them much of the beauty and the charm of life would disappear. It is hard to think of a real home without trees. He who plants a tree today, under whose shade men and women may rest and children play a hundred years from now, is a benefactor of mankind.

You cannot think of trees without thinking also of birds. The birds of the air have been always deep objects of interest to mankind. Their beauty delighted the eye, their songs have cheered the hearts of countless generations of men.

It is only recently, however, that we have come to know that they are an indispensable factor in the economy of the fields. Without them the multitudinous insects of summer time would endanger every waving field of grain.

The trees and the birds! Let us teach our children in the schools to plant the one and protect the other and to love them both.

It's Clean, Sweep, Wash—The Live Long Day!

When you feel worn out, "tired to death" with the household duties—cooking, scrubbing, cleaning, dusting—(it all comes in the day's work in the household)—turn to the right remedy to strengthen

you. The poor woman whose back feels as though it would break, who feels dizzy, whose head aches, or black specks appear before her eyes, all are due to troubles essentially feminine which should be overcome.

The greatest boon to womanhood is a temperance tonic, made up of herbs, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. This is the "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce, used by him in active practice many years, and now sold by almost every druggist in tablet or liquid form. It has had a half-century of successful results in most of the delicate derangements and weaknesses of women. If she's overworked, nervous, or "run-down," she finds new life and strength. THE MEN IN CLASS A1

A sound, healthy man is never a back number. A man can be as vigorous and able at seventy as at twenty. Condition, not years, puts you in the discard. A system weakened by overwork and careless living brings old age prematurely. The bodily functions are impaired and unpleasant symptoms appear. The weak spot is generally the kidneys. Keep them clean and in proper working condition and you will generally find yourself in Class A. Take GOLD MEDAL Haaslem Oil Capsules periodically and your system will always be in working order. Your spirits will be revived, your muscles supple, your mind active, and your body capable of hard work. Don't wait until you have been rejected. Commence to be a first-class man now. High School Campaign Going Well.

Lansing.—Lansing High school, which sold the largest per capita number of stamps last year, is going right after the prize again. It has in its auditorium a replica of the Atlantic ocean with ships bringing back American boys from Europe. Each division has a ship, and when one club gets its own ship in, it starts on its way back to tow in a smaller-powered sister ship. The rivalry spirit has been a winner.

New District Leaders.

Grand Rapids.—Western Michigan this year will be under new leadership in the War Savings campaign. Carroll F. Sweet, vice president of the Old National bank of Grand Rapids is at the campaign's head. He is co-director of the state with Luman W. Goodenough, state chairman. Carroll M. Emerson is assistant to Mr. Sweet. Western Michigan already is probably better organized than it was at the end of 1913.

Prohibition's Saving.

Lansing.—State officials believe the coming of prohibition will aid the sale of War Savings stamps. While Michigan is "dry," there has been a great deal of rum-running. It is interesting to note that the national liquor bill—$2,000,000 annually—would more than cover the year's quota of War Savings stamps, which is $1,600,000,000. With July 1st coming on, it is believed much of this cash will turn stampward.

Interurban Lines in Game.

Detroit.—The Detroit railway street car and interurban lines have undertaken the organization of their 4,500 employees into War Savings societies with unusual vigor. The street car men's union is co-operating, and there is a general "happy family" spirit about the campaign. The unit of organization is the car barn and its department.

We are experienced, and know how to give service to the owners of Ford cars. Incidentally we are getting a few Ford cars and are able to make fairly good deliveries.

GLAD TO PAY COST OF PEACE

Millions of Lives Saved by Vast Military Preparation of Our Government.

FOE KNEW AND QUIT COLD

These Life-Saving Bills Must Be Paid and the Boys Brought Back to the Country They Love.

"The price of peace," of which the Victory loan is but a part, is large, but not nearly so large as it would have been had the war been fought to the annihilation of the German armies as our military leaders believed would be necessary. Had the war lasted as long as these leaders anticipated, hundreds of thousands of American youths and millions more of their allies would have been called upon to pay the supreme sacrifice.

That they were not forced to give their lives is in no small measure due to our government's preparations to crush the enemy completely. The industry as well as the main power of the nation was called into the government service, and a great war machine was created which the German general staff saw meant complete annihilation for their forces if they fought on, so they quit.

There were in France when the armistice was signed, 2,002,775 officers and men wearing the United States uniform. In the states there were more than 1,500,000 more in training or awaiting shipments overseas. This army had 1,500,000 rifles and 228,000 rounds of ammunition in France when the armistice was signed. There were 221,000,000 additional rounds on hand en route to France at this time. These figures do not deal in anything but infantry equipment.

Smokeless powder was being delivered at the rate of 4,800,000 pounds a week and high explosives at the rate of 8,900,000 pounds. We had on hand when the war closed, 419 tons of mustard gas, enough to load 419,000 shells; 654 tons of phosphorus, 511 tons of chlorophosphorus, 660 tons of white phosphorus for incendiary bombs, 308 tons of tannic tetrachloride, and 153 tons of titanium tetrachloride. We had enough gas to smother the German army. On the defensive side the government had developed the best gas mask known, and had produced 5,087,600 of them.

We had built 2,010 ten-ton caterpillar tractors and 1,588 15-ton machines for hauling great guns. There were 15,000 more of these under construction when the war ended. They had demonstrated their ability to drag the heaviest mortars, howitzers and rifles over any terrain, no matter how badly cut up or how wet.

Ten thousand Ford "baby" tanks equipped with two Ford engines, would have been on the front line by the time the Victory Liberty loan is to be floated. They would have been supported by thousands of the French "whippet" type tanks, and the big 35-ton American tanks driven by Liberty motors.

We had in France and in use at the army at home, 57,807 trucks of two, three and five tons capacity, 11,476 ambulances, 13,375 motorcycles and 29,421 motorcycles.

Our merchant marine was growing at the rate of 400,000 tons dead weight per month when the war ended, and we were turning out about 10,000 airplane engines a week, with planes to carry them.

German spies found this out. German spies knew that the U-boat had failed because of the barrage of mines that the British and American navies had strung across the North sea. German spies sent word to the general staff that in spite of their best efforts to check the Americans at the home base, they were outgeneraled. So the German staff learned that the Americans had thrown their unlimited resources into the scales with the allies, and the German staff turned "yellow" and quit.

That mighty preparation of which the above is but a fragmentary tale, is the reason why the Victory Liberty loan is the last of the war loans. Had the war gone on there would have been a fifth, a sixth, a seventh, an eighth loan—loans until the German hordes had been crushed and sent back into the heart of the fatherland. The need for these was eliminated by the mailed fist of our great preparation, which supplemented the gigantic efforts put forth by our allies.

"Let us, then," as the secretary of the treasury has said, "with thanksgiving to God that we were spared any greater price, meet the honorable commitments of our government contracted in behalf of the freedom of the world."

Impurities in the Blood Directly the Cause of Many Human Ailments

This time of the year many people suffer from what is termed "SPRING FEVER" which in many cases is due to the stagnant condition of the blood because of the toxic poisons stored up within the body. You have a tired feeling and wonder why. It is because the various organs of the body are not doing their normal duties.

Until nature takes hold you should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alternative and blood purifier. This can be had in taking Supreme Brand Blood and Skin Purifier which is composed of the following ingredients, many of which you know as old-time remedies: Ginger Root, Mandrake Root, Lactoria Root, Broom Corn Seed, Tritium, Alex. Senna, Sarsaparilla Root, Poké Root, Red Clover, Burdock Root, Potassium Iodide, Soda Benzoate and Soda Salicylate.

The Real Merits of this preparation are its powers of restoring and strengthening the system, cleansing and enriching the blood when it has become impure, such impurities often showing themselves by eruptions, pimples, blotches, etc. It stimulates nature to expel impurities from the system through the natural channels, thus cleansing the blood and restoring the system to a pure and healthy state, as through the blood all the organs and tissues of the body are reached.

This is an excellent remedy for rheumatism, kidney trouble, and a general reconstructive tonic which should be taken especially by those who have had influenza or hard winter colds. Many people have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition. In all such ailments this remedy has accomplished a wonderful amount of good.

SUPREME BRAND BLOOD AND SKIN PURIFIER can be secured by calling the Northville Chemical Co., Phone 36-W., or purchased from Ambler & Son, where a stock is carried for the convenience of our customers.

Amusing Reason Why Brother S—
Was Made Known to the World as a Stingy Man

She worked at the minister's house for three days and then went to a neighbor and begged her to give her a place for the remainder of the week, so she could get home.

"Why," said the neighbor, inquiringly, "I thought you were employed by Mrs. S—? What is the reason that you are leaving?"

"I just can't stay there another minute," the girl told her. "Brother S— is the stingiest man I ever knew."

"Stingy! Why, the whole family is known far and wide for its benevolence. What in the world makes you say that?" she asked.

"Ma'am," whispered the girl tragically, as if she were revealing state secrets, "ma'am, don't you know, Brother S— sits up at one end of the table and measures out just how much every one of them can have to eat before he ever gives 'em a plate, even? I can't stay where there's any such go'n' on."—Indianapolis News.

Use for Old Batteries.

In open fireplaces, especially where wood is used for fuel, a gorgeous colored fire effect may be produced, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, by placing one or two old dry cells among the hot coals. The substance with which the top of the battery is sealed soon burns away and the heat sets up a chemical action, producing a gas which burns with a flame of vivid blue, purple and green. "One old dry cell will continue the spectacle for from half to three quarters of an hour, depending upon the heat of the fire in which it is placed. No danger attaches to this production of colored fire. It costs nothing, inasmuch as old dry batteries are ordinarily worthless but it will provide both pleasure and amusement at fireside gatherings."

Why Is a Kitchen Cabinet?

They had just passed the display window of a furniture store in which a nationally advertised kitchen cabinet was exhibited. In front of them walked a young woman attired in one of the latest style skirts.

"Why?"

"Because they both shorten steps."

FULL BENEFITS FROM PASTURES

Poor Farming Not to Realize Capacity From Native Grass Crops.

DURATION OF GOOD GRAZING

Development of Weeds Is Prevented and Fine, Even Turf Is Maintained Where Pasture Is Grazed to Its Full Capacity.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A prolific cause of the decline of pastures results from not stocking them properly. Farmers are frequently advised to graze their fields lightly if they wish to keep them permanently productive. The depleted western ranges being cited as glaring examples of what happens where overgrazing is permitted. Such advice is misleading for humid eastern conditions. It is poor farming to fail to realize the maximum benefits from the native grass crop. The ambition of the average stockman should be to realize the largest total gain per acre or the maximum gain per individual animal, of the highest possible production of milk, wool, pork, or mutton from the grazing areas without jeopardizing their future production.

Grazing Beef Cattle.

Where heavy beef cattle are produced it is not practicable to graze too closely, as the animals will not make sufficient gains to sell profitably. But with young cattle, or dairy cows, the risk would not be nearly so great, and the benefit derived from close grazing would far exceed the chance for loss. The extent and duration of the grazing is an individual matter for each farmer to decide, but in making this decision he should bear in mind that many of the unproductive and so-called run-down pastures in the best sections of the blue-grass region have resulted from too light rather than from too heavy grazing.

Grazing to Capacity.

Grazing to capacity usually operates to prevent the development of weeds, as well as to maintain a fine, even turf. The blue grass, red top, white clover, and other good pasture plants thrive and spread if kept closely grazed, while most weeds cannot live if their tops are cut off frequently. As a rule, in the average pasture the heavily grazed portions are comparatively free from weeds and possess a better sod than the area on which the grasses are too mature to be eaten by live stock, where the weeds usually run rampant. Furthermore, the character of the turf on a heavily grazed field will steadily improve, while that on a lightly grazed area will deteriorate correspondingly, according to the results of extensive grazing experiments.

Steers on Dry Land Pasture.

SUCCESS OF CLUB MEMBERS

Opportunity to Duplicate Achievement of Tennessee Boy Inspires Others.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One reason why more than 80,000 boys and girls in the South enrolled last year in the pig clubs, organized and conducted by the United States department of agriculture co-operating with state agricultural colleges, is seen in the opportunities offered them to duplicate the successes of other club members. For instance, here is the achievement of a Tennessee boy: Fifteen months ago he purchased a Duroc-Jersey gilt, giving his note for 12 months to the local bank. This pig has farrowed 27 pigs and has raised 21 of them. The boy sold three of the first litter at $25 each. Four of them now weigh nearly 420 pounds and are worth $320. The seven pigs of the second litter are worth $175, and the seven of the third are worth $105, while the mother—the pig purchased when the boy entered the club—is valued at $75. This means a profit of $750 in 15 months.

ENCOURAGE FOWLS TO RANGE

Provide Ample Shade and Feed Them Away From House—Litter Is Not Necessary.

It is not necessary to feed the laying hens in litter during the summer time. Encourage them to range away from the house as much as possible. Provide artificial shade if natural shade is not available. Feed them away from the house rather than at the back door and less trouble will be experienced in having the hens roosting on the doorstep.

LESS STRESS ON BAD POINTS OF TRACTORS

Principal Advantage of Machine Told by Dakota Owners.

Among Other Things Mentioned, It Saves in Time and Makes It Possible to Cover Desired Acreage in Proper Season.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Several hundred tractor owners in the Dakotas were asked these questions:

"What do you find to be the principal advantages of the tractor for farm work?"

"What are its principal disadvantages?"

The replies received have been summarized in Farmers' Bulletin 1035, just published by the department of agriculture.

Saving in time, making it possible to cover the desired acreage within the proper season, is put first among the advantages by a large percentage of the farmers. Other advantages mentioned are:

Ability to do thorough work, especially in hot weather, when horses are at a disadvantage.

Saving in man-labor, doing away with more or less hired labor and enabling one man to farm a larger acreage than he can with horses.

Economy.

This last advantage is mentioned by a larger percentage of Dakota farmers than of farmers in other States where similar investigations of the tractor have been made. This is doubtless because the cropping system followed in the Dakotas is such that the tractor can be used to advantage for more of the farm work than in most other parts of the country.

The principal disadvantage of the tractor, according to the reports made by these farmers, is its injurious effect on moist soil. This difficulty is a serious one in districts where the soil is heavy and where it is necessary to do a considerable amount of work in early spring.

Difficulty of operation seems to rank next as a disadvantage. A large percentage of farmers emphasize it. Other disadvantages mentioned are expense of operation, undue increase in investment, and delays on account of engine trouble.

In comparing the reports upon which this bulletin is based with those obtained from tractor owners in various parts of the corn belt several years ago it appears that less stress is laid upon the disadvantages of the tractor in the recent reports than in the older ones.

AVOID HAVING PIGS CRUSHED

Eight-Inch Plank Should Be Nailed Around Pen About Eight Inches From Floor.

To prevent having pigs crushed in the farrowing pen, do not permit the sow to make a nest of her bed, but keep it comparatively level. Around the sides of the pen, nail an eight-inch plank, horizontally, and about eight inches from the floor. By use of this contrivance many pigs will be saved from being mashed against the wall.

HE GOT THE GEORGES MIXED

Baseball Expert Evidently Had Something to Learn About Prominent Men of the World.

A former pitcher in the now defunct Northwestern league, who sought peace and quiet in a Seattle shipyard, was discussing the war and kindred topics during a breathing spell one day. This hurler is well known for the speed and "stuff" he gets on the ball, and is not credited with more gray matter than the law allows.

This latter circumstance possibly accounts for his end of the following conversation:

"This war sure has changed things around some," opined the ballplayer.

"How now?" queried his friend.

"Well, you take England, for instance, England always had a king until a short time ago."

"What's the matter? Some one take a shot at King George?"

"Why, no, not that. They just don't call him King George any more. Leastwise the only thing you see in the papers these days is Premier George."

The watches, which bear inset in gold on the cases the monogram "A. E." of the Belgian sovereigns, are to be presented by King Albert and Queen Elizabeth to soldiers who have specially distinguished themselves and also to prize-winners of military competitions.

Long-Lost Ring Restored.

A Goodstone (Surrey) lady has just recovered her wedding ring, which disappeared five or six years ago while she was feeding a calf.

It was thought the animal had swallowed the ring, and as it could not be found the calf became known as "the golden cow."

A few days ago the cow was purchased and killed by an Oxford butcher, who, being informed of the lost ring, made a search and discovered the ring embedded in an internal organ. The ring has been restored to the owner.—London Mail.

GAVE UP

Had Lost Twenty-Five Pounds From Kidney Trouble. Doan's Restored His Health.

J. B. Ragless, carpenter, 210 W. 60th St., Chicago, Ill., says: "My back gave out completely and I had to quit work. I could hardly endure the pain in my back, and nights I tossed and turned, unable to sleep. Often in the morning my back was as stiff as a board so that I couldn't stoop to dress myself. When I did manage to bend over, everything before me turned black. My head seemed to be whirling, and sometimes I was so dizzy I had to grasp something to keep from falling. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage, getting me up at night and they burned cruelly. I lost my appetite and had to eat and went down twenty-five pounds in weight. After I had given up hope, I was persuaded to use Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. Soon after, I passed an examination for life insurance and I'm glad to say my cure has lasted."

A Triumph in Summer Dress

There may be excuse for enjoying the talent that can take two such familiar fabrics as embroidered net and eyelet embroidery and convert them into a dress as unusual and distinguished as that pictured here. It is this ingenuity in making the best that can be made of materials that delights the critic of dress, more than anything else. Whoever designed this altogether charming dress for a summer day, showed a positive genius for adapting simple means to a triumphant end and has achieved a pretty masterpiece.

This dress, which is just all that one could ask for, is made of goods that are washable; and while it lasts will therefore be able to add freshness to its other beauties. It has a straight skirt bordered at the bottom with a wide band of eyelet embroidery which is joined to a plain petticoat of fine lawn or batiste. The band of embroidery used for this deep border is hemmed up along one edge. The other edge is trimmed off, the portion trimmed away including the row of round eyelets that finish the embroidery pattern on each edge. This row of eyelets appears in the girdle and in the seams of the coat.

The long straight coat is of net with a figure scattered over it, a simple embroidered motif. It has also a deep border of the eyelet embroidery at the bottom and pointed pockets of it set on at each side. The introduction of the eyelet embroidery in seams is a touch that tells in this design. The long net sleeves have a narrow band of eyelet embroidery at the waist and the girdle is made of it.

Narrow black grosgrain ribbon, in two lengths is fastened to the eyelet girdle at the right side and looped to the center of the front. It is free to fall in two ends from these. This is the final quiet touch to a dress that has the refinement of white and marvelously clever designing to make it the envy of more pretentious gowns. The hat and shoes to be worn with it are obliged to measure up to its excellence; to be of the same character.

Sweaters

No wardrobe is complete without at least one sweater. Men, women, boys, girls and even babies wear 'em, says Dry Goods Economist. Men cling to the serviceable wool sweater coat or athletic sweater, boys accept the same styles, but women and girls demand many styles and materials from which to make their selections. Silk, fiber silk and wool are the predominating materials, at this particular season woolen sweaters, of course, being the leaders.

Large Hats Extend Their Conquests

The large hat for summer wear, adroitly managed to extend its field of usefulness, is now a part of the headwear of gray-haired matrons as well as a favorite with young women. It has won out, or the older matrons have, by a gradual progress. In these days so many women of middle life have a youthful carriage, youthful figures, and handsome faces that they select millinery to match up with these rather than with their graying hair. Occasionally one sees a matron with dark eyes, fresh complexion and white hair, full of vigor and dressed superbly to set off her style. It has to be conceded that such a woman possesses more distinction than youth can hope for, in her appearance. And large hats on gray heads have been worn by these older discriminating dressers, but this year they are announced by the authoritative costumers and featured among the showings of lovely millinery for Easter.

In the group of three hats shown here, all pictured on youthful models, the large black hat at the top is better suited to the older head. It is not extreme in size and is made of fine malines, with curtain edge that softens it and a flange of black velvet on the under brim. The crown of malines is blocked into shape and has a band of velvet about the sides. Against this band there are set four big ostrich feather "pin-wheels," made of long, black flues.

Below at the left, a large hat of orchid-pink crepe reveals an irregular brim, narrow in front, much wider at the back and a soft crown. The brim edge is finished with an overcast stitch made of embroidery silk. Blossoms and foliage are embroidered in a heavy silk on the crown and brim. This would make a good choice for a bride-maid's hat, and be effective in any of the light colors.

The remaining hat has a broad brim, covered with crepe geargette, a crown of georgette and the very becoming curtain edge which is so attractive in malines or lace or georgette hats. Hats of this character are shown in all the fashionable light colors. Fine chenille used in the manner of embroidery silk, is applied to the crown in long parallel, stitches placed in groups, with a cross-stitch ornament between the groups. This is a very practical large hat and is made in many colors.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.
Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent, it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what "Swamp-Root," the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing five cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores—Adv.

There may be nothing new under the sun, but the imitations frequently surpass the original.

Nervousness and Headaches Caused by Acid-Stomach

There is a much closer connection between the stomach and brain than most people imagine. It is because of this close connection that indigestion, belching, sour, gassy stomach and other stomach miseries—all of which are sure signs of acid-stomach—are so often followed by severe attacks of blinding, splitting headaches.

Nervousness, sleeplessness, irritability, mental depression, melancholia and many other disorders which affect the brain can also nearly always be traced to the same source—acid-stomach.

So often you hear people say "I am so nervous I think I'll fly to pieces"; or "It seems I never get a good night's sleep any more, my nerves are all on edge." Little do they dream that acid-stomach is the direct cause of their troubles because very often there are no pains in the stomach at all. So you see, you can't always judge an acid-stomach condition by the way your stomach itself feels.

If you are weak, nervous, unfit—if you are not up to your old time form—if you lack your accustomed enthusiasm, energy and pep—make this test and see if it isn't acid-stomach that is holding you back—robbing you of your health, strength and vigor.

Get a big box of EATONIC—the wonderful modern medicine that so quickly puts an acid stomach to rights. It is in the form of pleasant tasting tablets that you eat—like a bit of candy—doesn't want one penny of your money unless EATONIC helps you.

Brings instant relief from indigestion, heartburn, sour belching, food repeating, bloating and gas and makes the stomach cool, pure, sweet and comfortable.

Dentists warn us against the bad effects of acid-mouth, pointing out that the acid eats through the enamel of the teeth, causing them to decay. You can easily imagine then the amount of damage excess acid will cause to the delicate organization of the stomach!

Thousands of people are using EATONIC and the results obtained are so remarkable as to be almost unbelievable. Yet their letters of gratitude, many of which are received daily, prove absolutely that EATONIC does all and even more than we claim.

The medical profession, too, recognizes the great value of this wonderful remedy. A learned Michigan doctor, wrote recently: "I have had such wonderful success with EATONIC that I want every one to know how quickly it will neutralize the acidity of the stomach (acid-stomach) and the stomach will soon be sweet and normal again, and the sick man well and happy once more."

So be sure to get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today. If it fails in any way give you the kind of satisfaction you want, take it. He will refund your money. He doesn't want one penny of your money unless EATONIC helps you.

FROM THE STABLE TO THE TABLE

—DIRTY FLY.

Swat the fly. Do you know that now is the time to prevent the propagation of flies—probably the greatest modern pest. Each female fly which has hibernated is capable of propagating 399,743,434 healthy offsprings each and not work over time. Think of it please, and again think of it; and keep on thinking till you wake up and act. Get the flies now—not after they have laid their eggs. Scientists have proven time and time again that the common house fly spreads diseases more than any other element. This was conclusively proved in the Cuban war—where typhoid fever caused 3 deaths for 1 caused by war casualties. The gravity of the fly nuisance is fully appreciated by the U. S. army experts, and in consequence millions of dollars are spent every year for the destruction of breeding places and see the results. Each man in Uncle Sam's army is worth 20,000. Every day lost in sickness means so many dollars to the army. No investment has yielded better dividends than the money spent in sanitation. The prevention of an epidemic in a cantonment means the saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars figured by the U. S. standard, i.e.: A man is worth to the U. S. $20,000. His average work is $3.00 per day of 8 hours. Every hour's work lost means the loss of 37½¢, plus the expense of medicines, nursing, etc. In case of death the loss is $20,000 plus burial expenses. And yet many of our towns and villages will howl over the expense of cleaning the streets, the building of sewers, the care of water works, etc.

The legislature will vote willingly the money necessary to prevent a spread of hog cholera, but will buck like an army mule on paying for free vaccination for inoculation against typhoid fever or free serum protection against lock-jaw or hydrophobia. Think of it. It is alright to protect the hogs and cattle but the poor children—well, they can take their chances. Ninety per cent of flies breed in manure piles. I must say it, human or animal, and yet how few people will willingly remove this breeding place or go to the expense of building a cesspool and doing away with the old-fashioned privy. Think of a fly's life: Here it is: Born in a manure pile, fills up on the garbage pail, goes back into the privy, and often gorging on this diet visits the kitchen, washes his feet in the milk pail, stops to complete his toilet on top of the chocolate cake, visits the sink and after a refreshing draft of water, investigates the sick room, walks thru the spittoon and after gathering up some dainties there strolls around the patient's face, scrapes his germ-laden feet on the baby's nose, washes his face in baby's milk and sits down to rest on a piece of candy left for future consumption. But why go on? Get him now. Prevention is easier by far than cure.

Dr. T. B. Henry.

Stamp Machines in West Michigan. Grand Rapids.—War stamp selling machines, which worked so successfully in Detroit last year, are being distributed through western Michigan. They are similar to the cash boxes on the pay-as-you-enter street cars. The purchaser drops in a 25-cent piece, turns a crank, and the stamp drops out. Placed in stores, restaurants and banks, these machines pick up a surprising amount of coins. One department store in Detroit, at the campaign's height, averaged $700 a week per machine. Grand Rapids stores and other business concerns are putting them in rapidly.

Factory Societies Forming.

Detroit.—Probably the best organized industrial plant in the state for the war savings campaign is the Hudson Motorcar Company, with twenty-eight active War Savings societies in operation. Growth of the membership in these societies has been rapid. The Hudson campaign has been conducted with emphasis on the fact that not one is asked to join unless he does so of his own free will. Detroit's other industries—of which there are 1,000 employing over 100 men each—are swinging into line.

Not a Botanical Specie.

The artichoke, which originally came from Barbary, is not a botanical species, but a variety of the thistle, which grows spontaneously all along the African coast of the Mediterranean from Morocco to Palestine.

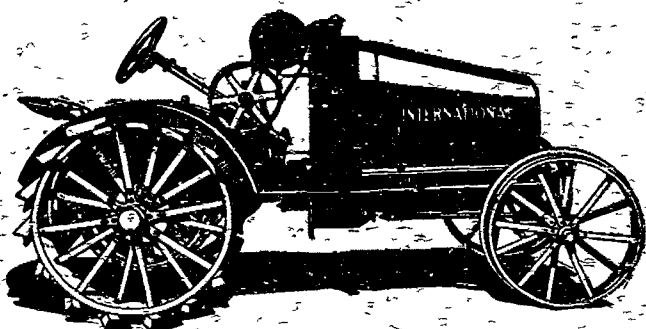

CIVIL SERVICE EXAM.

A civil service examination is to be held at Howell, Michigan, by the U. S. Civil Service Commission May 21 next for the position of postmaster at Plymouth, the present incumbent, H. W. Brown, having resigned after several years' service. Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 65, and residents of the delivery jurisdiction of the Plymouth office, also must be U. S. citizens. The salary attached is $2,300 per annum. Application blanks may be obtained at the post-office in question or from the Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C.

RED CROSS NOTES.

International 8-16 Operates on Kerosene

WHEN you are using a good tractor, the biggest single item of expense is the fuel bill. While it is true that a gasoline tractor works cheaper than horses, this International 8-16 does its work at less than half the fuel cost of a gasoline tractor. The saving in fuel alone is enough to pay for the tractor during its lifetime.

The International 8-16 has a four-cylinder, vertical, water-cooled, valve-in-head engine with all working parts completely enclosed, yet easy to get at for adjustment. It has a throttle governor that regulates the amount of fuel used exactly in proportion to the load, doing away with all fuel waste.

This tractor costs less to buy and less to run than any tractor of equal quality and capacity that we know of. You ought to come in and see it soon. Can be seen at G. W. Deal's Garage.
