FORD INTERESTS HAVE 60 MEN EMPLOYED

Re-modeling And Repairing The Union Mfg. Co's Building—Will Install New Machinery And Begin The Manufacture Of Tractor Parts.

Henry Ford has come to Northville. After months of contradictory reports, it is now an established fact that the most famous manufacturer in America is one of the business men of our village. Operations were begun Tuesday at the former Dubuay factory, and a force of 50 or more men has since been at work removing machinery from one of the buildings in preparation for the laying of cement floors previous to installing the new machinery for the manufacture of tractor parts, which will begin as soon as possible.

Only one of the present buildings—the one formerly used as a dry kiln—is to be torn down. The Record is informed by Mr. Lockhart, the superintendent in charge. The others, however, will be entirely remodeled into up-to-date Ford factories.

All men living in Plymouth and Northville, who had been employed in the Ford activities at Dearborn, were notified to report here Tuesday morning, an instance of the Ford policy of consideration for employees' convenience.

Mr. Ford himself was in town Monday personally attending to the inauguration of his preliminary plans.

What the coming of the Ford interests to Northville will mean to the village and vicinity can only be told by the future. That it will mean much, is practically assured, and our community is entirely justified in feeling elated that our pretty town has been chosen as one of the places to benefit by the big Ford enterprises.

Mr. E. G. Leibald, private secretary to Mr. Ford, stated this week to The Record that the permanent factory will eventually be located over near the P. M. tracks, northeast of the present site of the Union Manufacturing plant, and the Union buildings were all to be torn down and the grounds graded up and made over into a park. The dam will extend from a point near the Yerkes mill to a point south of Robert Lanning's residence. The lake thus formed, Mr. Leibald stated, would cover some thirty-eight acres and would be suitable for bathing and boating purposes.

The factory proper when constructed and in operation would, Mr. Leibald thought, give employment to eighty men.

D. U. R. TO PAVE MAIN STREET TRACKS

THREE NORTHVILLITES PRESENT TO COMPANY STRONG ARGUMENT.

COMPANY SEES NORTHVILLE'S NEEDS AND AGREES TO CO-OPERATE.

Through the efforts of City Attorney C. C. Yerkes, Commissioner Cass R. Benton and Rep. Milo N. Johnson, in laying before D. U. R. officials Northville's needs for a complete paving along side and between their tracks on Main street at this time, that corporation has decided to complete the paving job on Main street without delay. Cement will be used between the rails and the work will be completed as soon as the rails and ties are laid up as far as the flag pole.

At first the company did not feel able to complete the paving work for a couple of years but thru the efforts of Messrs. Yerkes, Benton and Johnson, the officials were induced to see that Northville people were entitled to an extra effort on their part and plans were at once made to finish their part of the work in a manner in keeping with the splendid work completed by the County Road Commissioners.

This will make Northville's Main street one of the finest in the United States and much credit is due these gentlemen as well as the council, in their splendid results obtained, from the D. U. R. people as well as from the County Commissioners.

HOWE—GRANT.

The following from the Hillsdale Daily News will be of interest to the friends of a former Northville family: "A pretty home wedding took place September first at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Grant, when their only daughter, Miss Wilma Irene, was married to Chauncey J. Howe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Chapman of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Seitz; the groom by Clifton Dey. The bride was charmingly attired in white georgette over white satin and she carried a bridal bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaid wore pink georgette over pink silk, carrying pink roses.

The young people were the recipients of many presents.

The home was very attractively decorated with plants and flowers, the color-scheme being pink and white.

The bride was a graduate of the class of 1919, of Hillsdale High school. The groom is also a graduate of Hillsdale High school. After finishing his high school work he spent two years in college, after which he went to Chicago and graduated from the Northern Illinois College of Optometry. He is also a graduate of the Michigan and Indiana State Boards of Optometry. They will live in Fort Wayne, where the groom has a position as manager of the H. H. Rogers' optical store.

J. W. CLARK & SON BUY COAL-BUSINESS

Northville is now to have another new business firm—J. W. Clark & Son, Jess Clark and his son, Eural having bought out the Ambler & Schultze coal business, sheds and equipment, under the above firm name. It is unnecessary to comment on the fact of the new firm's reliability and the certainty that everybody will be sure of a square deal, as both father and son have passed practically their entire lives in Northville and vicinity, and they commence their new venture with confidence of the entire community. The difficulty of obtaining sufficient help and the increasing volume of their other branches of business have made it difficult for the retiring firm to continue along this line, which they have successfully carried on for years past.

The deal was negotiated by M. N. Johnson.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

The Woman's Home Missionary society will meet in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon, September 16. A potluck supper will be served. All cordially welcome. Members are reminded that this is the time of annual dues.

Northville State Savings Bank

We Are The Silent Partner Of The People

August 1st, 1919, this Bank changed its rate of interest on Savings Deposits from three to four per cent, thereby giving the people of the vicinity the benefit of a 33 1/3 Per Cent raise in income on their money. Now, for the Bank to play even on its profits it must assume the responsibility of caring for at least $100,000 additional business, and in order to save a loss in profits it must get that increase in business the sooner the better. The Board of Directors knew all this before making the change, but in order to meet competition of other towns and to keep the money at home for home use, it was decided to make the raise in rate.

We are glad to say that the people seem to appreciate the situation, since during the first month of August our Savings Deposits increased $25,000. Give us three more months of the same and we can all smile when we pay to you about $10,000.00 for spending money—your DIVIDENDS in the partnership.

"The Differences Are Superficial and the Resemblance Is Profound"

By H. A. L. FISHER, British Minister for Education

Great Britain and the United States are now linked together, and I for one believe that the union between the great English-speaking races is to be an enduring union. It will not require any written or formal text to cement it, as it is founded upon the possession not only of a common language and a common civilization but on an outlook upon life which is common, much as we may be tempted at times to insist upon trivial and superficial differences. I have traveled in America myself, and the more I saw of the great republic the more I was convinced that the differences were superficial and the resemblance profound. But I feel that it is of the greatest importance that from time to time learned men from America should come here to show us how we look in the mirror of American public opinion, what errors we have committed and how we may retrieve them, because it is only by such a process of instruction that we shall really arrive at that complete popular and mutual understanding which is the truest basis of political life.

Educate the Public to the Necessity for Game Protective Legislation

By JOHN B. BURNHAM, American Game Protective Ass'n

Almost everywhere except in North America the food shortage has caused appalling inroads on the game supply. Aside from the northern portion of North America the picture is one of nearly universal gloom, but here, I am glad to say, conditions are much brighter.

Next to the advance of civilization the chief factor that has reduced our game is the market hunter. Almost everywhere we have put an end to the commercialism of game, with the result that game is on the increase. The low water mark in many places has been passed. We have the laws and the machinery for putting them into effect.

From my viewpoint we now need better enforcement of existing laws rather than additional restrictions, which are only exasperating to good sportsmen. Where the law is not thoroughly enforced you and I know that such restrictions penalize the best class only and that the others do as they please. Closed seasons are worse than useless unless they are enforced and the vermin kept down.

In the United States antelope and mountain sheep have been exterminated under long closed seasons. In this instance it is true there should have been closed seasons, but they should have been enforced. It would be much better to lose the game without law than to lose both the game and respect for law at the same time.

Don't spring your law, no matter how good, until you are prepared to put teeth in it. Better err on the side of too great liberality than err in the other way. Educate the public to see the necessity for protective legislation. The great mass of testimony proves that paper laws play into the hands of the Huns of sport.

Great Conflict of the Future Will Be Between England and America

By GENERAL VON BERNHARDI, German War Writer

The next great conflict will be between America and England. I am not saying that with the idea to create distrust between those two powers, but I am stating it as a student of wars.

The same clashes of interests, a similar rivalry on the sea and in trade to that which prevailed between England and Germany and made it possible to foresee the coming of that conflict, point inexorably to a struggle between what are now the two greatest powers in the world.

How soon it will come or what form it will take I am not prepared to venture an opinion. It may not be even the first war to come, but it will be the great conflict of the future.

The league of nations will not prevent wars on issues and principles vital to a country and a people. It is a question of might and power. The domination of such a league will rest with the greatest number of guns and rifles and other resources potential or active. Its future, if it has a future, will depend on just how long England and America can agree in their control of the league; in other words, how long, with their clashing interests, they will get along together.

The league is an Anglo-Saxon affair and will last only as long as there is Anglo-Saxon unity.

"War, Promoting Hasty Marriages, Has Increased Domestic Tragedies"

By JUDGE JACOB H. HOPKINS, Chicago

The term just closed—1918 and 1919—will go down in the records of the courts as the biggest year in the divorce history of Chicago and Cook county, Illinois. It will no doubt be remembered by every one of 12,440 disappointed wives and divorced husbands. A total of 6,220 decrees was granted during the year.

The war, liquor and a seemingly increasing belief in free love are to be blamed for the unusual number of ruined romances.

The war, which promoted hasty marriages, has greatly increased the number of domestic tragedies. War weddings in seven cases out of ten proved failures. The young brides were afraid of those strange men they married two years ago. And some of the men, not knowing a woman's heart, came back as intimate husbands, when they should have wooed their wives all over again.

A great cause of unhappiness in married life is liquor. The next few months will see a great decrease in divorce.

Then, with the newspapers constantly telling of men being found with "other women," people have come to believe that it is almost legitimate. An extremely high percentage of broken homes is shattered by free love.

Afternoon Frock, New and Piquant

Among the experimental styles which have blossomed out for late summer wear and that hope to survive in fashions for winter, there are afternoon and evening frocks that show much draping of material about the figure. And so long as gowns or suits convey to us that they clothe a supple, youthful and corsetless figure, they are sure of attention. Not that figures are in reality corsetless or always youthful. But these are the things that must be suggested if the garment is to prove a success. The task of conveying the fashionable outlines lies with the corset maker and the dressmaker. Who are very much aided by the softness and limeness of the fabrics used.

One of the new draped frocks for late summer is shown in the picture above, made of silk with a satin stripe. Whether or not it is an import, it has a French flavor, with its rather short, split underskirt and bouffant over-drapery. In the underskirt and overstart the satin stripe in the fabric runs horizontally, but in the bodice and sleeves the stripes are vertical. All the interest in this frock centers in the management of the fabric, for nothing else is used. The long overdress is caught up in two very deep plaits to form the suggestion of panniers at the sides and a short tunic at the back, and it is considerably lengthened at the left side, where it ends over the split in the underskirt.

The quaint bodice is extended into a basque and joined to the skirt. A square neck and elbow sleeves are finished with full, soft puffs of the silk. A fine chemisette with a falling frill of lace across the front closes the story of this piquant frock which is so unlike its contemporaries. It has a quaint and sprightly style and many of the fibre-silk materials are especially well suited to it.

In the Kindergarten Class

A small boy, newly arrived at the dignity of pants, and a little girl in her new fall coat for school wear, invite the attention of interested mothers. These are children in the kindergarten stage and they are well clothed in the simple and good-looking things that are pictured here.

There is hardly a season which enters lacking light woolen coats in black-and-white checks for girls and misses. This one, for a little lady of four years or so, is cut to flare and is knee length. It has large patch pockets, with pointed flaps, that support handsome buttons, and a shawl collar of the checked material. The buttons are the special pride and glory of this coat and three of them serve to fasten it at the front. They are black with a ring of white, to match them to the coat. The over collar and straight cuffs of white pique which lend so much snowy freshness to this smart little coat are, of course, detachable, so that they may be kept clean, and several sets of them take their turn at service while their fellows go to the tub.

The entire suit worn by the little lad is washable. The waist and pants are designed with an eye to easy laundering, made of strong cotton materials and put together to last. In clothes for small boys these are the first essentials after the choice of fabric is made. After these matters are disposed of, design is considered, and it would be hard to find anything more engaging than this snappy little outfit. The short pants turn under at the bottom and fasten with elastic at the knee. The plain blouse is plaited into a wide belt in which long, vertical buttonholes are worked. It has long shoulders and long sleeves and a regulation sailor collar, trimmed with the usual three rows of braid. There are two rows on the sleeves, and on the left arm a very grand and impressive looking insignia. But the crowning glory of this suit, as of the little girl's coat, are the very large and handsome buttons that look more than equal to holding the pants and waist together. The belt laces together at the left side, and a wide silk tie completes the splendor of an outfit which shows its wearer to be a person of considerable consequence in a world of his own.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

In the petty cares and trials
That perplex us day by day;
Mid the tolls and self-denials
We encounter in our way;
When we feel our patience failing
And our courage almost gone,
Two things still well and availing
Keeping sweet and holding on.

CHOICE THINGS TO PREPARE NOW FOR WINTER.

A well stocked fruit closet is a source of great satisfaction to every housekeeper—and recipes for such are always welcomed.

To Can Green Corn Without Cooking.—To every nine cupsful of corn cut from the cob add one cupful of sugar and half a cupful of salt and one cupful of cold water. Mix well and be sure the sugar and salt are well dissolved, then seal in sterilized cans as usual.

Corn Salad.—Cut the corn from 12 large ears; chop one head of cabbage; sprinkle with salt and let stand three hours; drain off the water and add the corn to the cabbage; add a cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of salt, one-half cupful of ground mustard, four small red peppers, chopped fine, two quarts of vinegar. Cook until the vegetables are tender. Seal while hot.

Cucumber Chowder.—Take 12 ripe cucumbers, peeled and grated, and three onions, also grated. Squeeze the pulp dry; add chopped red pepper and salt to taste; thin with good, snappy vinegar and bottle cold. It should be of the consistency of prepared horseradish.

Cucumber Pickles.—Mix together one cupful of mustard and half a cupful of salt; stir into a gallon of good vinegar. When the cucumbers are gathered and washed they are dropped into this vinegar. When you have two quarts seal and put away in Mason jars.

Beet Relish.—Take one quart of chopped cabbage, one quart of chopped boiled beets, two cupfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of pepper, half a teaspoonful of cayenne, one cupful of grated horseradish and vinegar to make a mixture of the consistency of prepared horseradish.

Rhubarb Conserve.—Take three and a half pounds of rhubarb, three lemons, the rind of one. Boil the rhubarb one-half hour with two pounds of sugar; add lemon juice and one-half pound of shredded, blanched almonds. Cook again one-half hour.

The woman who has not loved, played with and spanked a child, has missed one of the cardinal joys.

A VARIETY OF TIMBALES.

For an entree or for a luncheon dish this dainty mixture is always considered a tidbit.

Chicken Timbales.—Melt two-tablespoonfuls of butter, add one-fourth of a cup of stale bread crumbs, two-thirds of a cup of milk and cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Add one cupful of chopped cooked chicken, half a tablespoonful of chopped parsley and two eggs slightly beaten. Season with salt and pepper. Turn into buttered molds, having the molds two-thirds full; set into a pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper and bake twenty minutes. Serve with Bechamel sauce.

Bechamel Sauce.—Cook one and one-half cupfuls of white stock with one slice each of onion and carrot, a bit of bay leaf, sprig of parsley, six peppercorns, and after cooking twenty minutes strain; there should be one cupful. Melt one-fourth cupful of butter, add the same amount of flour and gradually one cupful of scalded milk. Season with salt and pepper.

Sweetbread and Mushroom Timbales.—Cook two tablespoonfuls of butter with one sliced onion five minutes. Add one and one-half cupfuls of mushroom caps finely chopped, and one small parboiled sweetbread, finely chopped, then add one cupful of medium thick white sauce, one-fourth cupful of stale bread crumbs, one red pepper chopped, one-half teaspoonful of salt and the yolks of two eggs well beaten. Then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Fill buttered timbale molds, set in a pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper and bake fifteen minutes. Remove to the serving dish and pour around.

Mushroom Sauce.—Peel five large mushroom caps, cut in halves crosswise, then in slices. Cook in three tablespoonfuls of butter five minutes; dredge with two-tablespoonfuls of flour, add one-third of a cup of cream and one cupful of chicken stock; cook two minutes. Season with salt and paprika and add one chopped truffle.

Ham timbales are made the same as the chicken, substituting chopped cooked ham.

Halibut Timbales.—Cook a pound of halibut in boiling water, salted, drain and rub through a sieve. Season with salt, cayenne and lemon juice, add one-third of a cup of thick cream beaten stiff, then the whites of three beaten eggs. Turn into buttered molds, set in a pan of water, cover with buttered paper and bake twenty minutes. Garnish with parsley and serve with Bechamel sauce.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

DAIRY FACTS

TESTING FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Every Precaution Should Be Taken to Prevent Contamination From Older Animals.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Calves may become infected with tuberculosis at an early age, and any effort to eradicate this dreaded disease from the herd should not overlook the younger animals. Diseased stock may undoubtedly transmit the infection to calves by association with them in the same stable or feedlot, and even by contact through a fence which divides the younger from the older animals.

The youngest age at which department of agriculture veterinarians recommend testing calves for tuberculosis is six months. In special instances,

Young Stock Running With Older Animals—They Are Subject to Tuberculosis If Any of Older Animals Have Disease.

however, numbers of animals under this age have been satisfactorily tested with tuberculin. The present regulations of the bureau prescribe a dose of two cubic centimeters of tuberculin for calves ranging from six months to one year of age.

MILK STRAINERS COMPARED

Absorbent Cotton and Filter Cloth
More Effective Than Wire Gauze or Cheesecloth.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Clean milk depends primarily on sanitary methods of production, but milk strainers as commonly used also have a direct bearing on the quality of commercial milk. Certain kinds of strainers cause milk to appear clean, but fail to remove all impurities. Of all the milk filters in common use only two—absorbent cotton and filter cloth —are reasonably efficient in actually improving the commercial quality of milk. Even these filters must be kept clean and changed frequently to insure satisfactory results.

According to reports from about forty thousand farmers wire gauze strainers are in more general use than any other kind, but studies with the microscope show plainly that the meshes are much too large to hold back any but the very coarse impurities. One thickness of cheesecloth or other cotton cloth is only slightly more effective than a wire gauze strainer, but when the cloth is folded to about eight thicknesses its ability to remove dirt in milk increases somewhat, but is still inefficient as compared to absorbent cotton or filter cloth.

Filter cloth, a specially made cotton cloth, smooth on one side, and "fuzzy" on the other, was found reasonably effective. This cloth can be obtained from leading dairy supply houses. The milk should be poured on the fuzzy side, the fibers of which stand up like the nap of a carpet, and remove all but a small percentage of the solid impurities. The most effective strainer of all, however, according to the experiments, was a layer of absorbent cotton placed between two thicknesses of cheesecloth.

At best straining milk is a practice that makes milk appear clean, and therefore more easily salable, but no strainer removes either the bacteria and objectionable flavors or the very fine dirt. As a consequence straining milk fails to improve its wholesom-ness to any noticeable degree. Clean milk is best obtained by sanitary methods which prevent, so far as possible, the entrance of dirt into the milk. This can be done best by having clean cows in a clean stable and milking with clean hands into sterilized small-top pails.

DAIRY NOTES

Build your silo; the cows will pay for it.

A change of pasture is good for both cows and pasture.

Cream should be cooled immediately
after it is separated.

Best returns from the average dairy cows come between the age of 5 and 8 years.

Do not forget that the separator parts should be washed and sterilized after each use.

A dose of Epsom salts sometimes will cure a case of blood in the cow's milk. It depends on the cause.

The Storm of the World Unrest

From the Christian Science Monitor

One of the most curious delusions of the human mind is the claim, put forward for it by one of the greatest of English writers, that it can ride in the whirlwind and direct the storm. It can, it is quite true, create storms, sometimes in teacups, and sometimes out of them. But the one thing, in the very necessity of its own inharmoniousness, it cannot do is to control its own handiwork.

It is this which has brought the new renaissance into being; it is this which really is riding the whirlwind, and directing the storm of the world unrest of today; and it is this which is ultimately going to bring order out of chaos. What, of course, has raised the storm is the power of truth in dominating the human consciousness to the point when a collision between the good and the evil became inevitable.

CULL THE FARM POULTRY FLOCKS

Two-fifths of the Missouri farm flocks fail to pay their feed bills. Unless a hen lays from 60 to 75 eggs a year she is being kept at a loss. High-priced feeds make it vital that only good layers be kept. To find the flocks of low producers, each flock owner should practice some method of culling, says T. S. Townsend of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. One Missouri county reported that 38,329 low-producing hens were culled from 853 farm flocks last fall with an estimated saving of more than $2,000 for feed. Proper culling reduces the feed bill but not the egg production.

The system of culling is based upon the fact that nature stamps the hen with certain visible characteristics which indicate the traits and habits of the individual. As in the human family the hard working farm wife is easily distinguished from the social butterfly of the city, so in the hen family certain visible characteristics indicate whether a hen has been a high layer or a loser. Anyone who studies the birds closely may easily recognize these differences.

The ideal time to give the flock a complete culling is about the middle of the molting period. This will vary with the different flocks but usually comes in August, September or October. The characteristics which distinguish poor layers from good ones are most evident between August 1 and November 1. At this time the birds are being prepared for winter quarters and some reduction in the number is usually desirable. The hens have finished the heavy season of production by this time and the poorer ones have stopped laying. The low producers will not lay during the fall and winter months and should be sold. The egg production will not be decreased.

Kerosene and Powdered Soap to Clean Floors

When oiled or varnished floors must be washed, they should be washed in this way: Add a tablespoonful of kerosene to every quart of hot water used and to every four quarts a tablespoonful of powdered soap. That is if you mix in a pail four quarts of hot water you should add just a tablespoonful of the powdered soap and four tablespoonfuls of kerosene. Dip a flannel cloth in this and wring it in clear, hot water, wring dry, rub the washed surface with this and then rub it with a dry flannel cloth. This method is tedious but it is sure to be satisfactory.

Limit Use of Word "Airship."

To settle linguistic difficulties which have arisen with the development of aeronautics the air service has officially decided to use the word "airship" only to designate dirigible balloons and other lighter-than-air types of craft. All heavier-than-air craft will be designated as "airplanes."

ARACHNE

I watch her in the corner there,
As restless, bold and unafraid,
She slips and floats along the air
Till all her subtle house is made.

Her home, her bed, her daily food,
All from the hidden store she draws;
She fashions it and knows it good,
By instinct's strong and sacred laws.

No tenuous threads to weave her nest,
She seeks and gathers, there or here;
But spins it from her faithful breast,
Renewing still, till leaves are rare.

Then, worn with toil and tired of life,
In vain her shining traps are set,
Her frost hath hushed the insect strife
And glided flies her charm forget.

But swinging in the snares she spun,
She sways to every wintry wind;
Her joys, her toil, her errand done,
Her course the sport of storms unkinder.

Poor sister of the spinner clan!
I, too, from out my store within
My daily life and living plan,
My home, my rest, my pleasure spin.

I know thy heart when heartless hands
Sweep all thy hard earned web away;
Destroy thy peared and glittering bands,
And leave thee homeless by the way.

I know thy peace when all is done,
Each anchored thread, each tiny knot,
Soft shining in the autumn sun;
A sheltered silent tranquil lot.

I know what thou hast never known—
Sad presage to a soul allowed—
That not for life I spin, alone,
But day by day I spin my shroud.

—Rose Terry Cooke.

Loss of Pitcher Toney May Mean Loss of Flag to the Cincinnati Reds

After all is said and done, the release of Fred Toney by the Reds looms up as the worst error committed by the Cincinnati club in the last five seasons. Getting Pat Moran was a stroke of wisdom which has already brought rich rewards—but releasing Toney was a mistake which may result in transferring a pennant to New York.

The mountaineer is pitching the most marvelous ball in either league. Up to date he has won nine games and lost but three, and in these 12 games but 21 runs have been scored off his delivery—less than two runs to the game.

If the game Toney has pitched this season had been for the Reds, instead of the Giants, the Reds would be now so far ahead of New York that McGraw's men couldn't see their coats for the dust.

Fred Toney.

The Cincinnati club didn't have to release or sell Fred Toney. It let a most valuable asset get away—a pitcher who, by this time, would have virtually clinched the flag.

Bridal Wreath Plucked by the Bride Herself

The Roman bridal wreath was of verberna, plucked by the bride herself. Holly wreaths were sent as tokens of congratulations, and wreaths of parsley and rue were given to keep away evil spirits. The hawthorn formed the wreaths of Athenian brides. At the present day the bridal wreath is almost entirely composed of orange blossoms.

IT IS TO LAUGH

Among Humorists.

"Ever borrow an idea?" asked the young humorist.

"Among us professionals it is considered permissible to borrow back and forth," said the old-timer. "However, I hope you'll avoid something a friend of mine once did, and has been sorry for ever since."

"What was that?"

"He stole a joke from a religious paper."

Cool.

"Some of us ladies are trying to abolish the dance."

"Well," said the polite proprietor of the hotel.

"And, as a practical beginning, we thought maybe you'd loan us your ballroom to hold a meeting in."

Pinning Him Down.

"You say Yorick Hamm is a big movie star?"

"Sure he is."

"Never heard of him. What's his salary?"

"Ten thousand dollars."

"Fix his class, boy, fix his class. 29 week or a year?"

Beehive.

"I wouldn't invest in that concern. They've got nothing."

"Why, I visited the plant, and it's a beehive of industry."

"Well, go ahead if you want to get stung."

Old Fashioned.

Mother—Yes, I certainly put Dorothy into some of these in the world.

Dorothy—Oh, mamma, must I? Can't I be just an ordinary woman like you?

A Selfish Man.

"How do you find your meals?"

"Excellent."

"Then you will recommend them?"

"Not I. If I do you'll get a lot more custom and then the meals won't be so good."

The Northville Record.

E. E. BROWN, Publisher.

An Independent Newspaper published every Friday morning at Northville, Michigan, and entered at the Northville post-office as Second-Class matter.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., SEPT. 12, 1919.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

"The Church Around the Corner." Subject: "Passion and Prayer." Sabbath school at 11:30. We need you here. Epworth League at 6:30. All young folks welcomed. Evening service at 7:30. Subject: "A Modern Pasture." Prayer and Bible study Thursday night at 7:30. You are always welcome here.

P. S. Please keep in mind that Conference begins September 16.

FARMINGTON FLASHES.

Fred M. Warner is now the owner of the Walled Lake cheese factory. Three county prisoners employed in repair work on the cement road near Stevens corners ran away last week during the noon hour. There were seven men in the gang, and they were eating their dinner near a piece of woods, into which the men are supposed to have gone while the deputy in charge was looking the other way for amputee.

FARMINGTON FLASHES.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Q. has a new son, born Friday, September 5. Wales Martindale is one of the students of the Pontiac High school. Fire from a gasoline heater broke out at the Crossman residence last Friday but the village fire department was called in time to prevent any great damage. Two men from Detroit drove an automobile along the new cement road for a quarter of a mile, Sunday night badly damaging the soft cement, and then knocking down the watchman who tried to stop them. They were chased and captured and taken to the county jail in Pontiac.

MILFORD FAIR NEXT WEEK.

September 16-19, inclusive, are the dates for Milford's 39th annual fair. This fair has come to be the yearly homecoming celebration for Milford when scores of former residents of that village and vicinity always make it a point to use the opportunity afforded for meeting and greeting old friends. Special attractions secured for this year in addition to the regular program are the Royal Minstrels with their jazz band and orchestra, Thursday, "Doc Cody," the clown and Miss DeCody, singers, Friday; Asa Wilkes the "Driveless Wonder," track horse Thursday and Friday. Also, there are to be base ball games Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Holly, Stock bridge, Howell and Northville competing for a $200 prize.

AMERICAN LEGION CONVENES.

The State Convention of the American Legion, the organization of the soldiers of the late war, is to be held in Grand Rapids, October 13, 14 and 15. All ex-service men of the World War are invited, whether members of the Legion or not. Any information desired may be obtained by addressing Howard C. Brink, Grand Rapids.

ANOTHER BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS.

Another new comer in Northville's business circles is Frank C. Harlow of Pontiac, who has bought the McKahn Fuel and Ice business, of which he has already taken possession. Mr. Harlow comes to our village with the highest recommendations both as a business man and a citizen. He is well and favorably known in Pontiac, where he has been engaged in the grocery trade for years past.

WHITE-ENGLAND.

The marriage of William H. White, Jr., of South Bend, Ind., son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. White of this village, to Miss May England of Plymouth, was solemnized Saturday, September 6, in the Woodward-avenue Baptist church, Detroit, by the supply pastor, Rev. Mr. McBurman, in the presence of a few immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Following the ceremony, a dainty wedding supper was served the bride party at the home of the bride's aunts, the Misses Trick, at 87 Allendale, Detroit. After a brief visit with relatives in Flint the young people went directly to South Bend, Indiana, where they are at home to their friends at 326 South Sixth street.

NOVI NEWS.

The funeral of Henry Brewster Wight, a former Novi boy, son of the late Charles Wight, a Novi merchant many years ago, was held from the Methodist church Thursday afternoon, Mr. Wight died in San Francisco, California, September 4, and was the last member of a family once one of the best known and popular in this section.

Mrs. J. S. Tipton left Sunday for her home in Auburn, N. Y., after spending ten days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bourne. Her mother accompanied her to Detroit, returning Monday evening.

FAIR NOTES.

The King's Daughters are preparing to serve lunches at the fair, as usual. A well-attended meeting of the directors was held Wednesday evening and very encouraging reports were made by the various committees, showing that matters are moving in a most satisfactory manner towards a big success all along the line.

Frank B. Shafer has been seriously sick this week. R. H. Baker was at Roscommon on a business trip last week.

NEW DRUG STORE TO OPEN SATURDAY

The store of the Northville Drug Co. (successors to Murdock Bros., for many years in business here,) will be opened to the public this coming Saturday. The interior of the store has been completely transformed and presents a most attractive appearance, with its fresh decorations, new counters, new shelving and new goods on display. The head of the business here, Lawrence Johnson is coming "back home," as he is a Northville boy, and Mr. Murdock, who will remain in the store, has a host of friends who are glad to know he is to stay in Northville. The new business will start with excellent prospects for success, toward which the good wishes of the community will be no small factor.

STREET CEMENT-LAYING PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Much satisfaction is expressed at the rapid progress of our street improvements, which is much more noticeable since the job of cementing was begun probably for the reason that every hour's accomplishments are so definitely visible now. At this time of writing, Thursday-Plymouth avenue has been opened for traffic as far as the Gilmore corner, Main street practically finished to Center street, the business block on Center from Main to Dunlap, cemented, and the work is now rapidly going on from Center street westward on Main street. President Lansing's comments particularly on the general good nature with which the public has put up with the many inconveniences of traffic, dirt and confusion in the upheaval necessary to such an important improvement. In the anticipation of the soon-to-be fine appearance of our village, almost everybody seems willing to forget all the present unpleasantness, which is certainly the sensible way of viewing the situation.

RED CROSS NOTES.

It is urgently requested by the Red Cross ladies that all our returned soldiers and sailor boys who have not obtained the sweaters intended for them should have the garments as soon as possible. Any member of the knitting committee—Mrs. C. L. Dubuar, Mrs. Georgia Yerkes or Mrs. Fred Simmons will attend to the matter, on request. It is desired that every one of the boys shall have one of these extra sweaters. They will come good now that cool weather approaches.

A number of the sewing machines used in the Red Cross work at the High school building are still there. These cannot be returned to the owners until identified. If the owners of these machines will go to the school and label them, or notify Mrs. C. L. Dubuar so that she can go with said owners and find out "which is which" the machines will be delivered where they belong, at once.

OBITUARY, REV. WILLIAM RISNER

William Risner was born in Germany August 22, 1847. At the age of seven he came to America with his parents. God called him to his heavenly home Sunday, September 7, 1919. He was married to Sarah Leavenworth March 7, 1868. To this union were born four children, Camilla Risner of Plymouth, Mrs. Eugene Root, who with her husband have tenderly cared for him in his declining years, Willie who died in infancy and Mark, now in the service of U. S. navy at Brest, France.

When the deceased was 27 years old he was strongly converted to the Christian faith and united with the Free Will Baptist church at Wixom. He was a man of deep convictions and lived up to same. Soon he felt a call to preach the gospel. Was ordained and successful pastor of Green Oak church for six years. Then, because of his wife's failing health and mind, gave up his chosen work and faithfully and devotedly cared for her.

Two sisters survive him, Mrs. Minnie Hake and Mrs. Lottie Card of Detroit; three grand-children, Lewis, Shirley and Rowena Risner, who miss a loved one.

Funeral services were held at the late Risner farm home, near Novi. His pastor, Rev. E. E. Cross of Rochester, officiating, assisted by Rev. Edward Dunlavy of Pontiac, who very impressively repeated Tennyson's beautiful poem "Crossing the Bar."

The remuneration of Wayne County's circuit court jurors has been raised to $5.00 per day, which will add, it is estimated, about $50,000 to the annual cost of court proceedings. Most of the county officials, also, are desirous of an increase of pay, and will apply for larger salaries on the basis of any action taken by the Detroit council raising the pay of city employees.

Doornbom has changed the names of twelve of its streets by village ordinance.

A Bit of Advice

First—Don't Delay. Second—Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache, headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. In such cases the kidneys often need help.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney trouble. They are recommended by thousands. Can Northville residents desire more convincing proof of effectiveness than the statement of a Northville citizen who has used them and willingly testifies to their worth?

Mrs. W. S. Dickerson, 25 Yerkes St., says: "I know Doan's Kidney Pills to be a good medicine for kidney disorders and one worth recommending to those who are in need of a reliable kidney remedy. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills now and then keeps my kidneys in good working order."

Price, 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy; get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Dickerson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. —Adv. 73

John E. Chambers of Detroit visited his parents, Wm. Chambers and wife, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Chamberlain of Pontiac were Wixom visitors from Friday evening until Sunday.

Mildred Harford left Sunday morning for Highland Park, where she will attend school the coming year.

Mrs. Thomas Sutton was quite seriously injured at Pontiac one day last week, by falling down stairs.

Frank Munshaw and nephew, Clayton Munshaw of Grand Rapids and Pontiac, were Sunday visitors at M. S. Pratt's.

The former was once a Wixom resident.

Mrs. Dolly Anton, who lived near Loon Lake, north of here, was killed in an automobile accident near Redford Sunday. She leaves a husband and quite a large family of children.

THAT DRIVER'S LICENSE

I'd taken out a license.

To drive my good old driver, which serves me in my business.

And also stirs my liver, I'd paid my road tax with a grin.

And thought how nice 'twould be to drive about the country.

The folks and sights to see.

And then the legislature up.

And passed a brand new bill.

That I must have a license too.

Or let my car stand still.

I got a blank and filled it out.

And then enclosed the "dough,"

And these are things the fellow said.

The state would have to know:

Had I ever been convicted.

"Of breaking auto laws?"

Had my license been suspended.

For just and legal cause?

How many miles I'd driven,

Was I crippled, halt or lame.

My age, my full-Christian name.

The color that my hair would be.

If my head wasn't bald.

And for a host of other things.

That application called:

I filled out every blessed line.

And says to him, "By-jing,"

I guess the family's all fix up.

To drive the blamed old thing.

But "No," says he, "That's where you're wrong."

This thing is just for YOU.

And if your family wants to drive.

Each kid must have one too.

I took one-out for Johnny.

For Bill and Kate and Nan.

And Pete and Jim and Nell and Bud.

And for the hired man.

So now the car is licensed,

And we are licensed too.

I hope they'll let us drive the thing.

The way we want to do.

—Adam Nutt.

A CHALLENGE.

If Manager German of the Northville Independents wants a game with the Cubs, all they ask is a square deal. If he can use men from Redford, Plymouth, Carleton, Northville and Detroit, the Cubs ought to be allowed to have two extra men, at least, from Novi or Commerce. The Independents haven't got to go away to play ball.

Just cover the Cubs' $100 and we will play them any day in the week.

FAIR NOTES.

The famous horse, Asa Wilkes, that created such a sensation at the state fair by pacing a mile in 2:16 without a driver, is to be one of the daily attractions at the Northville fair.

Ladies, don't neglect to inform yourselves in regard to the special prizes offered by J. A. Huff for a specified exhibit of baked goods. The articles offered are well worth winning.

Mrs. Flora Larkins reports excellent success in securing a fine list of desirable prizes for the baby show, of which she is manager.

Henry Van Aken has been drawn to serve on the Wayne County Circuit Court jury for the September term began his duties this week.

Experts or Theorists—Which?

The packing industry is intricate, complex—far more so than the railroads or the telegraph.

Every day multiplying needs of society increase its problems and multiplying responsibilities demand more of it.

Highly trained experts, specialists of years' experience, thinkers and creative men, devote their lives, their energies, their activities, to solving the problems of the packing industry and meeting its widening duties.

Swift & Company is not a few dozen packing plants, a few hundred branch houses, a few thousand refrigerator cars, and a few million dollars of capital, but an organization of such men. It is the experience, intelligence, initiative and activity which operates this physical equipment.

Can this intelligence, this experience, this initiative and creative effort which handles this business at a profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound from all sources, be fostered through the intervention of political theorists, however pure their purposes? Or be replaced by legislation? Does Congress really think that it can?

Let us send you a Swift "Dollar". It will interest you. Address Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill.

Most Famous Chinese Dish.

What has been considered by Oriental epicures as the daintiest dish in China, the birds' nest, is the product of the sea swallow, which constructs its nest of a gelatinous substance taken from sea moss. The Chinese method of preparing the nests for the table is to soak them and boil them in milk until they are very tender. Then they are placed in clear soup and are ready for use. On his trip to China, General Grant was much feted, and one of the dishes set before him was the birds' nest.

Most Valuable Plant.

No plant renders man greater service than does the wheat, because it supplies to the greater part—and the better part, too—of the western world its staff of life. From wheat the leading nations of the earth obtain their bread.

To Be of Influence.

If you can't swing things your way in life the sensible thing is to swing with things the way they are going. To be sure you can just abruptly cut away, but that leaves you out of touch with things. It may be a relief to your conscience to be beyond the reach of compromise. But you are also beyond the reach of influence. You can not hope to be able to mold character or even contribute anything toward bending it.

Opposed: Brothers' Church.

There were three of the Westleys, although only two of them had anything to do with founding the Methodist church. Sons of an English clergyman, and well educated, they were all pious men, but the older brother, Samuel, took no stock in "Methodism." In fact, he combated it, and wrote of it upon one occasion as "a spreading delusion."

TAFT OUTLINES LEAGUE PLAN

Puts It into Plain Language Free From Legal and Diplomatic Verbiage, in Response to Request.

MANY ARE CONFUSED BY PRESENT DEBATE

Danger That People Will Lose Sight of Basic Principles During Discussion of Complicated Details and Technicalities.

(By ex-President William H. Taft.)

The plan for a League of Nations is based on a few simple principles, which are not hard to understand when lifted out of the morass of technical discussion and freed from legal and diplomatic language. As the one authority best able to present these points without partisan bias, ex-President Taft has been asked to put the league idea into a few plain words for the benefit of millions of Americans who desire a better understanding of the plan but find themselves confused by the debate in the United States Senate. In response to this request he has written the following article.

Purpose of the League.

The chief purpose of the League of Nations is to keep the world in a state of peace. Another way of expressing it is to say that the league is designed to prevent wars.

We have just finished the greatest, which is to say the most horrible, of all conflicts between nations. We have won a glorious victory. But that victory will be wasted unless this war has made the nations ready to put aside their differences and cooperate to end war forever.

It is not enough, however, to provide for the prevention of wars and the settlement of disputes after they have arisen. We must foresee causes of trouble and remove them before they have reached an acute stage. Hence there must be provision for frequent consultations of members of the league for exchange of information, for agreement on common policies and for the gradual formation of rules of international law which at present are uncertain and incomplete.

The representatives of the great free nations which won the war have met at Paris and, after long consultation, have drawn an agreement which they believe will accomplish these ends. At the very least it will set in motion great changes which will result in universal benefit to all mankind. This agreement is called the Covenant of the League of Nations and it is a part of the peace treaty.

There will be no league worth talking about, however, unless the United States is a member. The decision as to whether the United States shall join rests with our Senate. The Senators, chosen by the people, will in the end vote as the people desire. For this reason the people themselves will decide whether or not the United States will join the league. In this question every citizen should have a voice. He or she can express opinion either by writing direct to Senators, by letters to the newspapers, by speeches in his lodge or local union or in conversation with friends.

Methods of Maintaining Peace.

Since the prime object of the League of Nations is to preserve peace—and to reap the benefits of peace—let us see how the league will operate to accomplish that purpose.

In the first place it will seek to remove the main causes of war. By the formation of an international court it will create a means for the peaceful settlement of disputes between nations. Then it will seek to compel the nations to make use of this court. This is nothing more nor less than an application of the rules and customs governing private individuals in civilized communities to the relations between nations.

Secondly, the League will seek to remove a great temptation to war by the general agreement to reduce the size of armies and navies. This will halt the race for military and naval supremacy which was largely responsible for the war just ended. The amount of armament any nation may maintain will be strictly defined. Thus it will be impossible for one country to overwhelm its neighbor by unexpected attack, in the way that Germany crushed Belgium and would have crushed France had not the other democratic nations gone to her aid. The idea is that each country may keep an army and navy large enough to enable it to fulfill its responsibilities as a member of the League, but no larger. The United States, for example, probably would be expected to keep a check on Mexico and the state of constant turmoil in that country would be taken into consideration in deciding how large an army we should need.

The third important safeguard which the League will set up is a system of penalties. This will make an outlaw of any nation or group of nations which goes to war in violation of the rules of the League. The outlawed nation will be boycotted by all the other members of the League and will find itself cut off from both business and social communication with the rest of the world.

How It Will Prevent Wars.

It is not claimed that the League of Nations will do away with war altogether. Every possible provision that human intelligence can devise will be made to settle international disputes peaceably. But should all these measures fail and two nations go to war, this is what will happen:

If both parties to the dispute have observed the rules of the League, the other nations will stand back and let them fight it out. War under such circumstances is difficult to imagine, however, because before the angry nations will be allowed to fight in accordance with the rules of the League, so much time must elapse that in all probability their anger will cool and they will reach an amicable understanding.

What we have to fear is that some nation will go to war in defiance of the League, and every precaution has been taken to suppress such a nation by the immediate use of the united power of the other nations. If international boycott failed to bring her to terms she would have to face a combined international army and navy. The founders of the League believe that the mere possibility of such a situation will prevent any nation from violating its agreement. Does anyone think that Germany would have begun war five years ago if she had known that nearly all the other great powers would combine against her?

Doing the World's Work.

In addition to settling international disputes peaceably the League of Nations will provide means for doing much of the world's work more systematically and effectively than can be done now when each nation is working only for itself. The people you know best and like best are those who work with you on the same job. It will be the same way with the nations of the future. The more they work together, the sooner they will come to understand and like each other.

For example, the League will establish an international organization for the bettering of labor conditions in different countries, for the protection of women and children and the native inhabitants of civilized and semi-civilized countries. One of Germany's greatest crimes has been her barbarous treatment of the helpless people in some of her colonies. One of the chief tasks of the League will be to look after peoples that are not strong enough to protect themselves.

The League will appoint commissions to take charge of various international undertakings so that they may be carried on, not for the benefit of any one nation, but for the benefit of the whole world. Provision will be made for promotion of fair and equal trade conditions.

These are only a few of the benefits the world will derive from the League. As time goes on we shall find more and more tasks at which the nations can work in common and a greater number of opportunities to remove causes which stir up jealousies and animosities between races and peoples.

Objections Answered.

Of course we cannot hope to make the great changes such as the League of Nations will bring about without opposition. Fortunately the war has taught us the great advantages of international co-operation. It was only by good team work that the free liberty loving nations were able to win Germany.

The treaty which the United States Senate is debating obligates the members of the proposed League to protect one another against attack from enemies outside their own boundaries bent upon conquest. Although this agreement (Article X of the Covenant) is vital to any arrangement which seeks to prevent war, it has been attacked on the ground that it would draw the United States into wars in various parts of the world and force us to send our boys to fight in quarrels which did not concern us.

We should remember, however, that the main purpose of Article X is to frighten nations tempted to wars of conquest from yielding to the temptation, by the certainty that they will be crushed if they begin such a war by a universal boycott and a union of forces of the world against them. If a big war breaks out again, the United States will be forced to take part in it whether we have a League of Nations or not. We tried hard enough to keep out of the war with Germany but found we couldn't.

A little war contrary to the League rules could be handled by the powers close at hand. Certainly it would not be necessary to send American troops to suppress an uprising in the Balkans when prompt action by the armies of Italy or some other nearby powerful nation could suppress the fracas before American troops could even get started.

Great Gain for Small Loss.

We had to make many sacrifices to win the last war and we made them willingly because we knew they were worth while. It will be the same in a smaller degree with a League of Nations. When men form a business partnership each one has to make concessions to the views and opinions of the other members of the firm. When we enter the League of Nations we may have to give up certain privileges, but the losses will be small compared with the profits. The United States will not have to sacrifice her independence or right to make her own decisions.

MR. FARM BUYER!

Now is the time to see that farm you intend to buy next spring, while you can see what it has produced this season.

I have a large list of farms located near the city of Lapeer, that are just as good, and lots of them better than any farms in this vicinity. I can sell these farms for $50.00 to $90.00 per acre, with good buildings and good improvements.

Below are the descriptions of a few of these farms:

50 ACRES. Level, black loam soil; well drained, barn 30x40 with gambrel roof, small horse stable, good livable house, 40 apple trees. Price $75.00 per acre. $1500.00 will handle. This farm has a crop of sugar beets of 14 acres upon it today, and it is estimated that it will produce 15 tons to the acre this year, possibly more. These beets are already sold at $10.00 per ton. You can readily see this farm is more than half paying for itself this season.

160 ACRES. Gravelly clay loam soil, lies nearly level, 145 acres under cultivation, good orchard, good 9-room house, one stock barn 40 feet wide and 300 feet long with water system installed in all parts of the barn, another barn 36x50 with full basement; and other outbuildings. This property is located three miles from Lapeer on good road, and I am authorized to sell at $85.00 per acre, and will accept $4,000.00 down on contract, possibly less, if sold to an experienced farmer.

I have another farm of 230 acres with 2 sets of good buildings, all fenced in woven wire, no waste land. Soil a level dark loam. This farm will compare in quality of soil with any farm between Plymouth and Michigan avenue. Price, $26,000.00, $6,000.00 or $7,000.00 down will handle.

Mr. Farmer, I have the pictures of these farms, the lay of the land, and crops now standing upon the properties, at my office. I would be pleased to show these properties to you, and gladly answer any questions you wish to ask regarding them, at any time you wish to call; or if you will phone me, I will be pleased to call upon you and give such information as you may desire.

CHAPTER XVIII—Continued.

"You take this one," said Barnes, and I will manage the other." He was in a hurry to get away from the house. There was no telling when the government agents would descend upon the place.

Barnes helped Peter to lift the trunk into the car and then ordered him to start at once for Herr's Tavern.

"You can return later on for your things," he said.

"I got 'em tied up in a bundle in the garage, Mr. Barnes," he said. "Won't take a second to get 'em out." He hurried around the corner of the house.

A dry, quiet chuckle fell upon Barnes' ears. He glanced about in surprise and alarm. No one was in sight. "Look up, young man," and the startled young man obeyed. His gaze halted at a window on the second story, almost directly over his head.

Mr. Sprouse was looking down upon him, his sharp features fixed in a sadistic grin.

"Well, I'll be d—!" burst from Barnes' lips.

"Surprised to see me, eh? If you're not in a hurry, I'd certainly appreciate a lift as far as the Tavern, old man. I'll be down in a jiffy. Stand aside! I'm going to drop."

A moment later he swung over the sill, and dropped lightly to the ground eight feet below.

"See, here, Sprouse, or whatever your name is—"

"Better hear me out," broke in Sprouse calmly. "I could drill a hole through you so quickly you'd never know what hit you. He went on. His hand was in his coat pocket, and a quick glance revealed to Barnes a singularly impressive angle in the cloth, the point of which seemed to be directed squarely at his chest. "But I'm not going to do it. I just want to set myself straight with you. In a word, I never got anywhere near the room in which the jewels were hidden. This is God's truth, Barnes. I wasn't the only one who was trying to get the baubles, my friend. It was a game in which only the best man could win."

"I know the truth now about Room and Paul," said Barnes significantly.

"You do?" sneered Sprouse. "I'll bet you a thousand to one you do not. The girl was led to believe that they were a couple of crooks and that they fixed me in that tavern down there. Isn't that what she told you? Well, that story was cooked up for her special benefit. Room was the Baron Hedlund. Hedlund came up here a week or so ago to keep a lookout for his wife. The baroness is supposed to be deeply enamored of Prince Ugo. He found letters which seemed to indicate that she was planning to join the prince up here. When he heard of the arrival of a lady at Green Fancy the other afternoon, he got busy. I admit that I am the gentleman who telephoned the warning up to the prince. They tried to head the baron and his man off at the cross-roads, but he Nicholas blitted in at this unfortunate juncture. He made the mistake of his life. Ugo jumped back into his room. In less than a second he was out again. He landed squarely on Nicholas' back as the fellow turned to escape. I saw the steel flash. Poor old Nick went down in a heap, letting out a horrible yell. Ugo dragged him into the room, and dashed back into his own. A moment later he came out again, yelling for help. There was only one thing left for me to do and that was to get out on the roof if possible, and wait for things to quiet down. I got out through a trap door and stayed there for an hour or so.

"Well, to shorten the story, I finally took a chance and slid down to the eaves where I managed to find the limb of a tree big enough to support me—just as if the Lord had ordered it put there for my special benefit. I was soon on the ground, and that meant safety for me. I had heard Ugo tell the others that Nicholas said the man who stabbed him was yours truly. Can you beat it?"

"And now comes the maddening part of the whole business. He said that the crown jewels were gone! The thief was running downstairs when he staggered to the door. If we are to find the crown jewels, my friend, we will first have to find Prince Ugo. He has them."

"I don't believe a word of this yarn," said Barnes flatly. "You have the jewels and—"

"Look here, Mr. Barnes, I'm not going to double-cross you again. That's all over. I want to get that scurvy dog who knifed poor old Nick. If you can give me a lead, I'll try to run Prince Ugo down. And if I do, we'll get the jewels."

"We? You assume me, Sprouse?"

"Well, I can't do any more than give my promise, my solemn oath, or something like that. I can't give a bond, you know. I swear to you that if I lay hands on that stuff, I will deliver it to you. Might just as well trust me as Ugo."

"Get in the car," said Barnes suddenly. He had decided to take a chance with the resourceful, indefatigable rascal. There was something convincing about Sprouse's version of the affair at Green Fancy.

Barnes told him that he knew of Prince Ugo's flight. Sprouse looked thoughtful for a long time.

"So O'Dowd knows that I really was after the swag, eh? He believes I got it?"

"I suppose so."

"The only one who thinks I'm absolutely innocent is Ugo, of course—and Mrs. Van Dyke. That's good." Sprouse smirked his lips. "I've got a pretty fair idea where I can find Mr. Loeb. It will take a little time—a couple of days, perhaps—but sooner or later he'll turn up in close proximity to the beautiful baroness."

CHAPTER XIX.

A Trip by Night and a Late Arrival.

Shortly after sundown that evening, the Rushcroft company evacuated Hart's Tavern. They were delayed by the irritating and, to Mr. Rushcroft, unpardonable behavior of two officious gentlemen, lately arrived, who insisted politely but firmly on prying into the past, present and future history of the several members of the organization, including the new "backer."

Barnes had devised a very clever plan for getting Miss Cameron away from the tavern without attracting undue attention. She was to leave in one of the automobiles that he had engaged to convey the players to Crowndale, where they were to "show." In case of detention or inquiry, she was to pose as a stage-struck young woman who had obtained a place with the company at the last moment through his influence.

When the hour came for the departure from Hart's Tavern he deliberately engaged the two secret service men in conversation in the taproom. Miss Cameron left the house by the rear door and was safely ensconced in Peter's automobile long before he shook hands with the "rat-catchers" and dashed out to join her. Tommy Gray's car, occupied by the four players, was moving away from the door as he sprang in beside her and slammed the door.

Peter's efforts to stay behind Tommy's venerable but surprisingly energetic car were the cause of many a gasp and shudder from the couple who sat behind him in the bounding car. He had orders to keep back of Tommy but never to lose sight of his tail light.

"Are you there?" he whispered.

"Yes. Isn't it jolly, running away like this? It must be wonderfully exciting to be a criminal, always dodging and—"

"Sh! Even a limousine may have ears!"

But if the limousine had possessed a thousand ears they would have been rendered useless in the stormy racket made by Peter's muffler and the thunderous roar of the exhaust as the car got under way.

Sixty miles lay between them and Crowndale. Tommy Gray guaranteed that the distance could be covered in three hours, even over the ylle mountain roads. Ten o'clock would find them at the Grand Palace hotel, none the worse for wear, provided (he always put it parenthetically) they lived to tell the tale! The luggage had gone on ahead of them earlier in the day.

Soon after ten o'clock they entered the town of Crowndale and drew up before the unattractive portals of the Grand Palace hotel. An arc lamp swinging above the entrance shed a pitiless light upon the dreary, Godforsaken hostelry with the ironic name.

Miss Cameron was warmly conscious of the thrill that had come into her blood when he carried her up the stairs in his powerful arms, disdaining the offer of assistance from the suddenly infuriated Tommy Gray.

"Rehearsal at eleven sharp," announced Rushcroft. "Letter-perfect every one of you. No guessing. By the way, Miss—er—upon my soul, I don't believe I got your name?"

"Jones," said the new member, shamelessly.

Barnes went down to the dingy lobby. A single, half-hearted electric bulb shed its feeble light on the desk in front of which stood a man registering under the sleepy eye of the night clerk.

Barnes was turning away when a familiar voice assailed him.

Whirling, he looked into the face of a man who stood almost at his elbow—the sharp, impassive face of Mr. Sprouse.

CHAPTER XX.

The First Wayfarer Has One Treasure: Thrust Upon Him—And Forthwith Claims Another.

"What are you doing here?" demanded Barnes, starting. He seized the man's arm and inquired eagerly: "Have you got the jewels?"

"No, but I will have them before morning," replied Sprouse coolly. "Would you be surprised if I were to tell you that his royal highness is hiding in this town? Well, he certainly is. The Baroness Hedlund has been here for a week or ten days. She goes by the name of Mrs. Hasselwein. I popped down here this afternoon and found out that she is at the sanatorium, but that she expects to leave tomorrow morning. I made another trip out there this evening and waited. About eight o'clock Mr. Hasselwein strolled up. He sat on the veranda with her for half an hour or so and then left. I followed him. He went to one of the little cottages that belong to the sanatorium. I couldn't get close enough to hear what they said; but I believe he expects to take her away in an automobile early in the morning. It is a seventy-mile ride from here to the junction where they catch the train for the West. I'm going up now to make a call on Mr. Hasselwein. By the way, what is the number of your room?"

"Twenty-two, on the next floor."

"Good. Go upstairs now and I'll join you in about ten minutes. I will tap three times on your door."

"Why should you come to my room, Sprouse? We can say all that is to be said."

"If you will look on the register you will discover that Mr. J. H. Prosser registered here about half an hour ago. He is in room 30. He left a call for five o'clock. Well, Prosser is another name for Ugo. He left the cottage an hour ago. Came in a jitney or I could have got to him on the way over."

Barnes, regardless of consequences, dashed over to inspect the register. Sprouse followed leisurely.

"See!" cried Barnes, excitedly, pointing his finger on the name "Miss Jones." "She's in room 32—next to his. By gad, Sprouse, do you suppose he knows that she is here? Would the dog undertake anything?"

"You may be sure he doesn't know she's here, or you either, for that matter. The country's full of Joneses and Barneses. Go on upstairs. Leave everything to me."

Barnes had been in his room for twenty minutes before he heard the tapping on his door. He opened it and Sprouse slid into the room. The instant the door closed behind him, he threw open his coat and coolly produced a long, shallow metal box, such as one finds in safety vaults.

"With my compliments," he said dryly, thrusting the box into Barnes' hands. "You'd better have the countess check them up and see if they're all there. I am not well enough acquainted with the collection to be positive."

Barnes was speechless. He could only stare, open-mouthed, at this amazing man.

"My God, Sprouse, have you been in that man's room since I saw you down—"

"All you have to do is to keep quiet and look innocent. Stay out of the hall tonight. Don't go near the door of

No. 30. Act like a man with stamina. I said I would square myself with you and with him, too. Well, I've done both. Maybe you think it is easy to give up this stuff. There is a half-million dollars' worth of nice little things in that box, small as it is."

"I cannot begin to thank you enough," said Barnes. "See here, you must allow me to reward you in some way commensurate with your—"

"Cut that out," said Sprouse darkly. "I'm not so virtuous that I have to be rewarded. I like the game. It's the breath of life to me."

"The time will surely come when I can do you a good turn, Sprouse, and you will not find me reluctant," said Barnes, lamely.

"That's different. If I ever need a friendly hand I'll call on you. It's only fair that I should give you a tip. Barnes, just to put you on your guard. From now on, I'm a free agent. I want to advise you to put that stuff in a safe place. I'll give you two days' start. After that, if I can get 'em away from you, or whoever may have them, I'm going to do it. They will be fair plunder from then on. Good night—and goodby for the present. Stick close to your room till morning and then beat it with her for New York. I give you two days' start, remember."

He switched on the light suddenly. There was no sound for many seconds, save the deep breathing of the two men. Then, with infinite caution, Sprouse turned the knob and opened the door a half inch or so. He act the room so abruptly that Barnes never quite got over the weird impression that he squeezed through that slender crack, and pulled it after him!

Many minutes passed before he turned on the light. The key of the box was tied to the wire grip. With trembling fingers he inserted it in the lock and opened the lid.

A half-million dollars' worth of nice little things, Sprouse had said!

He did not close his eyes that night. Daybreak found him lying in bed, with the box under his pillow, a pistol at hand, and his eyes wide open. He was in a graver quandary than ever. Now that he had the treasure in his possession, what was he to do with it?

He solved the breakfast problem by calling downstairs for a waiter and ordering coffee and rolls and eggs sent up to his room. Singularly enough the waiter solved the other and more disturbing problem for him.

"Some robbery last night," said that worthy. "Feller up in one of the cottages at the sanatorium. All beat up, something fierce they say."

"Up in—Where?" almost shouted Barnes, starting up.

The man explained where the cottages were situated.

"Seems he was to leave by auto early this mornin', and they didn't know anything was wrong till Joe Keep—he's driving a car Mr. Norton has for rent—dill Joe'd been settin' out in front for nearly half an hour. The man's wife was waitin' fer him up at the main buildin' and she got so tired waitin' that she sent one of the clerks down to see what was keeping her husband. Well, sir, him and Joe couldn't wake the feller, so they climb in an open window, an' by gosh, Joe says it was terrible. The feller was layin' on the bed, feet an' hands tied and gagged, and blood from head to foot. He was unconscious. Joe says, an' my God, how his wife took on! Joe says he couldn't stand it, so he snook out, shakin' like a leaf."

"Is—is the man dead?" cried Barnes, agast.

"Nope! Seems like it's nothing serious: just beat up, that's all. Terrible cuts on his head and—"

"What time did all this happen?"

"Doc Smith figgers it was long about midnight, judgin' by the way the blood coagulated."

"Did they get away with much?"

"Haven't heard. Seems as though the burglar—must be—been more'n one of 'em, I say—wasn't satisfied with crackin' him over the head. He stuck the point of a knife or something into him—just a little way, Joe says—in more'n a dozen places. What say?"

"I didn't say anything."

"I thought you did. Well, if I hear anything more I'll let you know."

beat them to it. If there was to be a fight, they didn't want it to happen anywhere near the house. I believe Ugo is the one who got the baron—or Room, as you know him. Now, that is the true story of the little affair.

"To go back to my own troubles. When I got out into the hall night before last, after leaving her room, I heard voices whispering in Prince Ugo's room. I beat it up the stairway into the attic. Nothing happened, so I sneaked down to have a peek around. The door to Ugo's room was open, but there was no light on the inside. He came to the door and looked up and down the hall. Then some one else came out and started to sneak away. I leave you to guess the sex."

THE THIRD NORTHVILLE FAIR.

The third annual Wayne County Fair at Northville, dated for Sept. 24-27, inclusive, has every indication of being even a greater success than the two preceding ones, which is certainly saying much. There are many reasons for this belief. More permanent improvements have been made this year including the erection of a large main building, in place of several of the big tents used to house former exhibits; new grandstand, etc.

Practically all the livestock exhibition space has already been taken, insuring an especially fine show along that line. The entries will embrace some of the finest dairy and breeding stock in this part of the state.

The poultry and pet stock section, under the supervision of A. E. Fuller, one of the foremost poultry-prize takers of the state, has been a big feature formerly and is expected to be better, if possible, this time, and the same is true of the agricultural and horticultural exhibits, which won unqualified praise last year.

The woman's department, which was pronounced by many to be actually superior last year to that of the state fair, promises, also, to be even better this time.

The four-day program includes a registered shooting tournament, put on under the auspices of the Deep Springs Shooting Club, for the Michigan Handicap Three-Win trophy, valued at $100, with $50 added money.

A baby show with a long list of special prizes; ball games for every day; and a fine list of horse-racing events is scheduled for three of the four days, with purses aggregating $1100.

Numerous tree special attractions have been secured, including a drill by the famous Moslem Patrol and Band, of Detroit, 104 strong, Saturday, and Sam Carruthers, colored quartette and dancers, from Chicago, every day.

The shooting tournament, baby show and a ball game, are to be on the opening day—Wednesday. Thursday, horse races; ball game, Plymouth vs. Wayne; Friday, horse racing events; ball game, winners of Wednesday's and Thursday's games, Saturday.

A HOME---A LOAN

Do you want $2,000 in twenty years from now? Sure, you'll take it then or any time before, but listen, this money is something you have to save up yourself. We are informed by a reliable party, that $5 deposited monthly at 4% interest, compounded semi-annually, will in twenty years amount to $1,833.50. That's close, but not quite enough. Don't be downhearted. Try us. Now listen again.

Take out ten shares of our stock—on which you will pay $1.25 a week or $65 a year—and in about eleven years this stock will mature. Leave the money with us and every six months we will send you a check for $20, semi-annual interest on same.

Take these checks and deposit them in a Bank (of course you would make a little more by turning them back into the Association, but we don't want the earth and you will receive them before the end of the month) also take out ten shares of our stock and pay on same for about nine years more and then the whole will put up as follows:

10 Shares Matured Stock	$1,000 00
Withdrawal value of 10 Shares installment Stock	771.50
Banking account	428 18
	$2,199.68

During these twenty years, you have paid to us $1,300, the difference or $899.68, is velvet, so you see that not only have you been making a mighty good thing for yourself but you money has helped us to carry on the work for which we are organized—helping people to secure their Homes—and to this end we ask your help and co-operation.

2:16 clip every afternoon. This horse was one of the leading attractions at the State Fair this year. The officers and committees are sparing no possible effort to outdo their creditable past achievements and make "the only fair in Wayne county" (State Fair excepted) more than ever worthy that honor.

If you want to know what rare and unusual enjoyment Camels provide smoke them in comparison with any cigarette in the world at any price!

CAMELS are a cigarette revelation any way you consider them! Take quality, or refreshing flavor and fragrance; or, that wonderful mellow-mild-smoothness you never before got in a cigarette smoke! Yet Camels are so full-bodied and so full-of-satisfaction you marvel that so much delight could be put into a cigarette!

Camels expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos makes them so irresistibly appetizing! And the blend explains why it is possible for you to smoke Camels liberally without tiring your taste! You will prefer Camels to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

You'll realize pretty quick, too, that among the many reasons you smoke Camels is their freedom from any unpleasant cigarette aftertaste or unpleasant cigarette odor!

Once you know Camels you won't take much stock in premiums, coupons or gifts! You'll prefer Camel quality!
