MANY ATTENDED

THE RECEPTION

The community reception tendered the teachers of the Northville schools last Friday evening was a most delightful affair, and was attended by a large company of the patrons of the school. The beautiful building in itself gave forth a cheery welcome and as the guests entered the upper corridors they were warmly received by a committee of young ladies, who presented each with a self-introductory card which made all feel at ease. After the guests had arrived the merry company was invited to the gymnasium where they were presented to the teachers, the members of the board of education with their wives being in the receiving line.

After a pleasant social half hour President C. L. Dubuair of the board of education extended a cordial welcome and his remarks were listened to with close interest. In behalf of the members of the board and teachers he urged all to take a deep interest in the affairs of the school and to acquaint themselves with the school's purposes and activities. Superintendent Bowen followed with an inspiring talk relative to the work of the school and he expressed his appreciation for the kindly interest the members of the board had always taken in the school, and invited the patrons and people of the district to feel that the school was their affair and that its success depended upon their co-operation and assistance. He told how the attendance of the school was increasing each year and if this condition continued more room would have to be provided within a year or two. The total enrollment this year is 448, which includes about fifty foreign students—those residing outside of the district. The enrollment in the various departments is now as follows: Kindergarten, 29; First grade, 37; Second grade, 38; Third grade, 30; Fourth grade, 44; Fifth grade, 35; Sixth grade, 38; High school, 189.

Following Mr. Bowen's remarks Miss Ruth Green, teacher of music and drawing, sang two numbers to the delight of all. Mrs. May Noble playing the accompaniment. Under the direction of Miss Green the school orchestra rendered a pleasing program and furnished music during the evening. With Miss Green directing the guests sang "America," and at the conclusion of this part of the program refreshments were served.

The committee in charge of the delightful affair was Mesdames Fred L. Carpenter, Don Yerkes, C. L. Dubuair, and C. A. Ponsford, who were ably assisted by a number of the young ladies of the school. C. R. Van Valkenburg sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and the guests were then given an opportunity to visit the various rooms and departments of the school.

So pleased were all present with the first community gathering, it was urged that many similar gatherings might be held during the winter.

WORK PROGRESSING NICELY.

The work of improving the Ford property on Main street, east, is progressing nicely. The first of the floors to be put in the building is finished, and the interior of the building is being given a coat of whitewash paint, compressed air machines being used to make the application. Grading of the grounds is now being done and if one may judge from present appearances Northville will have a handsome park next spring. Nothing is being left undone that will in any way add to the improvement of the building and the grounds surrounding.

CENTURY OF ODDFELLOWSHIP

The Oddfellows of Michigan are to hold their Grand Lodge, the 75th annual, in Detroit Oct. 21-24, the women's auxiliary, the Rebekahs meeting at the same dates. Five thousand delegates of the two orders are expected, and many pleasures are planned for the visitors. This year is the 100th anniversary of the founding of the order and appropriate commemoration will be a part of the program.

NATIONAL GRANGE MEETS.

At Grand Rapids, the National Grange will begin a ten-days' session November 12 next. It is expected that 2,500 candidates will take the seventh degree, which can only be conferred by the National body. The fifth degree is a county degree conferred by the county organizations. The sixth degree is a state degree, conferred by the state order. Officers of the state Grange will confer the sixth degree at Grand Rapids October 25.

CORDIALLY WELCOMED

THE NEW PASTOR

The Methodist church was the scene of a very enjoyable gathering Monday evening when a reception was tendered Rev. and Mrs. H. J. B. Marsh and family. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves and potted plants and the whole was admirably planned. Soon after eight o'clock the guests were presented to the new pastor and his family, the reception taking place in the church parlors under a canopy of flags and bunting. Mrs. F. S. Neal introduced the guests who passed down the receiving line to music by Scott Montgomery, Howard Stark, Stewart Goff and Peter Perkins. After the formal introductions had taken place F. S. Neal, as toastmaster, announced the evening's program, introducing each member with numerous pleasant remarks which kept the audience in splendid humor. Besides a number of selections rendered by the orchestra the musical part of the program consisted of two organ numbers by Mrs. J. B. Tibham, a cornet solo by Miss Elsie Reece, a piano solo by Miss Marsh, a violin solo by Howard Stark and two vocal selections by Miss June Perkins. Cordial welcomes were extended by C. A. Dolph, N. J. Goff, Roy Clark, Mrs. F. S. Neal, D. C. Bowen and E. E. Brown, each speaker expressing pleasure in welcoming the new pastor and his family, and wishing for them a most delightful and fruitful pastorate. During the program A. M. Randolph and Mrs. C. J. Ball were called upon for some remarks and they responded in a very fitting manner. Mr. Randolph told briefly of the early history of the church and of his acquaintance with every pastor who had served the society since its organization. Mrs. Ball though feeble told of her thirty years connection with the society and expressed her interest in the affairs of the church and her willingness to do her part. These two worthy citizens are fast approaching the evening of life, but with hope and faith undimmed. It is the sincere wish of many friends that the sunset may be peaceful and glorious. Mr. Marsh responded in a very pleasing manner to the words of welcome extended. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake and coffee were served. It was after ten o'clock when good night was said and the very delightful affair was brought to a close.

DEATH OF WILLIAM E. FRY.

One of the highly esteemed older residents of this township, William Eves Fry, passed away Tuesday evening, October 21, on the farm where his home had been for sixty years. Mr. Fry, who at the time of his death, was the last member of a family of eight brothers and one sister, was born in Sussex, England, November 17, 1832. He came to America with his parents, who first settled in New York state, coming ten years later to Livonia township, where most of his youth and young manhood were spent. September 8, 1857, he was married to Phoebe M. Simmons of the then township of Plymouth, (now Northville), and a year later he bought the farm where he passed the remainder of a long and respected life.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Charles Smock, with whom the parents have made their home in their declining years, one son, William A. Fry of Topeka, Kansas, a grandson in St. Louis, Mo., a granddaughter in Boulder, Colo., and numerous nieces and nephews, mostly of Rochester, N. Y.

Funeral services were held from the home Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. W. C. Francis of Detroit, with interment in Rural Hill.

FARMERS AND AUTOMOBILES.

The M. A. C. has recently gathered up some statistics in our neighboring county of Washtenaw that show that of the 1753 farms in that county, the residents on 1337 of them own automobiles, or as the report states "practically three-fourth of the farmers." Eighty-two tractors and 61 trucks are owned by farmers in the county, and 1034 of the farms have silos.

STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Michigan State Teachers' association is dated for Oct. 30-31, to be held in Detroit. An attendance of five thousand teachers is anticipated. On Oct. 29 the county normal teachers will banquet at the Hotel Tuller. Speakers of prominence will address the meetings of the association.

Money In This Bank Grows

What 4% Means

THE NORTHVILLE STATE SAVINGS BANK OF NORTHVILLE pays 4% interest, compounded twice a year. What does 4% compound interest mean? It means that if the interest is allowed to remain on deposit with the principal sum, interest will be paid on interest—that is, $1.00 placed at 4% compound interest, will double itself in a little less than eighteen years through the interest additions. To secure the best results it is necessary to set aside weekly or monthly a fixed sum from your income, and deposit it to your account. The tables here given show what may be accomplished by this method. The interest earnings equal from 20 to 50% of the money deposited during the periods shown. That is, if monthly deposits of $5 are made for twenty years, the total sum would be $1,200. With 4% compound interest, it will amount to $1,833.50; the earnings added equaling $633.50, or 52% of the money actually saved.

It Is Fundamental That High Prices Always Do Enhance Speculation

By Representative S. D. FESS, of Ohio

High prices always enhance speculation. When we are on a high-priced level people seem to think they are doing well. If a man is getting $6 today and has to pay $6 for what $3 would have purchased before the war he makes himself believe that he is doing well, because the $6 passed through his hands instead of $3. This is fundamental that high prices always breed speculation. High prices just now, as everybody must admit, are due to the conditions of the war, and they naturally invite inflation the like of which we have never seen in the world. The speculative spirit is not here, but it is everywhere. The crisis following the Revolutionary war was induced by excesses that precipitated a speculative era. The same thing occurred in 1819, 1837, 1857, 1873 and 1893. A crisis came to us in 1907. All will admit that in the years preceding 1907 we never had a greater era of industrial activity than at that time. The panic came at the very moment when the people were talking about the great prosperity of the country.

If ever there was a time when the world was wild with speculation, it is this minute, right now. I say to you gentlemen, that instead of your passing laws inviting speculation, enhancing the speculative spirit, we ought to be passing laws to relieve the period of speculation. If we do not get back to a sound business basis, where business is done on rational grounds, this country will see, as surely as we are here, a crisis that will come suddenly and swiftly.

A Commission Is Needed for Building a National System of Highways

By DR. H. M. ROWE, Past President A. A. A.

That a commission is contemplated by the Townsend-Bankhead bill will be the method of administration adopted by congress for building a national highway system is indicated not only by public sentiment but by the weight of government precedent.

Highways should be considered in the same class of public activity as railways, waterways, merchant marine, the national banking system, and, in fact, any of the great distinctly national undertakings. It seems a self-evident proposition that the building of a national system of highways will form an enterprise of such magnitude and such complexity as to put it entirely beyond the sphere of a single bureau or other subdivision of an executive department.

Highways are of such an all-embracing and general importance as to make it impracticable to intrust the task as a minor undertaking to any single government department. A commission would consider the needs of all of the departments.

From the standpoint of directness, of responsibility, timeliness of action and comprehensiveness of knowledge a commission devoting its whole time to the one single task could not fail to accomplish far greater results than would be possible through the medium of a cabinet officer who would be devoting the greater part of his time and attention to matters wholly foreign to highways. It would seem that the commission plan is unassailable.

The Producer Who Considers Utility Only and Not Beauty Will Fail

By GEORGE S. JOHNS, Chairman Exposition Committee

The primary purpose of the Art league in originating and planning the St. Louis Exposition of Industrial Arts and Crafts is to awaken the business men to the importance of original designs in industry. The producer who considers utility only without regard to beauty will fail.

The close of the war marks the beginning of a tremendous opportunity for American business in the world market. We must compete with the manufacturers of the world not alone in quality and price, but in design. Beauty of design, or line, form, color—the perfect combination of beauty and utility—is now a governing factor in salesmanship.

America lacks both schools of design and teachers of design. American business men—for the subject is of vital interest not only to manufacturers but to all business men who handle their products—must awaken to the necessity of making adequate provision for this vital necessity. We should develop our own industrial arts and crafts—our own designers and craftsmen.

We hope in this preliminary St. Louis exposition to lay the foundation for a great national exposition, which will exhibit the industrial arts and crafts of the United States. We hope eventually to have an international exposition.

In Economy and in Work Alone Lie the Salvation of Great Britain

By LORD CUNLIFFE, Director of the Bank of England

The main thing to remember is that we must all work with a view to making good the wealth we have lost in the last five years.

Those who have been fighting naturally want some relaxation. After the strain of war they want what is usually called a "lark." I should be the last man on earth to frown on that spirit. The soldier has well earned his playtime. But we should never lose sight of the fact that that playtime cannot continue indefinitely.

Remember we have drawn on the future. To win the war the British government had to pay for it. The government could do this only by drawing upon the nation's credit.

This the government did by turning itself into the nation's banker, and by issuing notes against the future. The government had no other alternative. The issue has little to do with the increased cost of living.

Now that the war is won we have to look to the future. In economy and in work alone lie our salvation, and unless we economize and work we shall never again be in the same happy position as we were in 1913.

Economy Corner

The following simple recipes have no harmful ingredients and will accomplish results as well as ready mixed remedies for the same ailments.

An Astringent Cream.

A well-recommended astringent cream is made from four ounces of mutton tallow, one and a quarter ounces of glycerin, one-half a dram of tincture of benzoin, a quarter of a dram of spirits of camphor, one-eighth of a dram of powdered alum, one-quarter of a dram of Russian isinglass and one-half an ounce of rose water. The rose water is warmed in a china egg set in hot water and the isinglass dissolved in it. The mutton tallow, which has previously been melted out at a gentle heat and added to the glycerin, is then blended with the rose water, and the other ingredients are added while the mixture is being beaten. This makes a cream which is astringent, tightening the skin, without allowing it to become flabby, as often happens when one is reducing flesh.

Receding Gums.

Good teeth are requisite for both health and good looks. Go to a dentist and have the tartar removed from under and around the gums, then use table salt on the gums several times a day. Scrub the teeth downward, never crosswise. The teeth should be cleaned before breakfast, after each meal and before retiring.

For a Slight Scar.

Spirits of camphor, touching the skin with it twice a day, will sometimes eradicate the spots left from pimples. The liquid should be gently rubbed in.

To Remove Corns.

Salicylic acid, 1 dram; trim the corn with a very sharp knife or razor blade. Apply the acid; cover with a piece of toilet plaster. In three days remove the plaster and the corn will come with it. Soft corns may be cured by wrapping the afflicted toe with a soft linen rag which has been saturated with turpentine, night and morning. Care should be taken to wear shoes sufficiently wide but not too large.

Excessive Perspiration.

Sponge off the parts affected at least once a day with boric acid; use 20 parts of hot water to one of acid. Also dust the face and neck and wherever it is necessary with a dry boracic powder.

To Overcome Odorous Perspiration. When bathing put a few drops of ammonia in the water, dry the skin well and dust with the following powder: Oleate of zinc, 34 ounces; powdered starch, 1 ounce; salicylic acid, 1 scruple.

For Chapped Lips.

To prevent the chapped lips that so frequently result from the high winds try rubbing the lips each time before going out with rose water and glycerin mixed in the proportion of two parts of the former to one of the latter.

For the Feet.

No. 1—Wash the feet in warm water to which a little hydrochloric acid or chloride of lime has been added.

No. 2—Bathe the feet often in a strong solution of borax or in common kitchen soda dissolved in water. Change the hosiery every day.

Breakfast Linen.

Colored breakfast linen is in favor. Square cloths which hang only a few inches over the edge of the table and small napkins, about 14 inches square, are either of colored linen or else are bordered with color. Some in sets show border wreaths of red roses, some show red roses with bright green leaves. They suggest breakfast sets of English china with its gay colors and stiff figures. The all-colored sets show pink, blue or yellow flowers on tan or gray linen.

Slim Lines and Gorgeous Fabrics

Dinner and evening gowns, perhaps as the result of a reaction after the restraint of war times, have swung to the other extreme and are as elaborate as ingenuity can make them, and rich beyond anything that has gone before for many a year. Cloth of gold and silver, satins with gold or silver figures scattered over their surfaces, brocades, rich embroideries studded with jewels, laces and nets that are a mass of twinkling sequins, fringes of all kinds, and always more gold and silver cloth, entice those who are looking for regal things to choose from. Metallic threads are woven in with silk in all the lovely evening shades so that rose and silver, turquoise and gold, blue, green and silver make wonderful shimmering cloths. Wherever fashionables foregather, there will be much glittering this winter.

And these rich fabrics are not monopolized by the full-fledged women of society. The younger set is allowed them as the foundation for frocks, usually veiled with tulle. Artificial flowers deck out pretty dance frocks and sparkling bands of sequins in all colors are used on tulle to match in color. For older women ostrich plumes enrich gowns where one might look for flowers, and are used in the evening coiffure and in the most splendid of fans.

A lovely example of a sequin-covered gown for evening appears at the right of the two pictured above. It is a combination of white and black, in which these glittering fabrics are at their best. This gown has long and almost straight lines and the skirt shows the disposition to grow shorter which is making itself felt. It is shortened at the front. A tuft of ostrich feathers at the left side in black and a big fan of black ostrich find themselves in a perfect setting. A wonderful Spanish comb makes a simple coiffure, impressive and in keeping with the gown.

But not everyone cares for so much glitter even for evening wear. At the left is a less pretentious gown that is dignified and beautiful. Black satin, georgette crepe, and headed bands of jet are put together in a composition that can hardly be improved upon—its lines are classic. Three-quarter length sleeves and a draped skirt (that is unusually long) take cognizance of the mode.

The way runs by Dunmell Raise to Wythburn, whose little church, one of the smallest in England, is neighbored by the Nag's Head Inn, where the old horsesmen and their wives put up their horses while attending service in olden times. The road then runs alongside Thirlmere, with the imposing mountain, Helvellyn, 3,118 feet, on right. Keswick town comes next; a considerable place for this part of the country, and with an oddly foreign appearance, caused chiefly by the church-like building (really the town hall) in the middle of the street. The chief industry is the making of lead pencils.

Derwentwater Loveliest Lake. But Derwentwater itself is the real reward of the journey. It is generally considered the loveliest of all the lakes, and it is also the most accessible, a good road encircling it. Beyond Keswick we pass Gretna Hall, once the home of Southey, and come to Bassenthwaite Water. Preferably taking the left-hand road, Skiddaw, 3,054 feet, is seen across the water. Cockerthwaite is some six miles further.

Touring England's Lake District

View on Derwentwater.

THE lake district of England, one of the most beautiful of regions, always has been a favorite resort of American tourists, not only because of its natural attractions, but also on account of its literary associations.

First among recorded tourists to Lakeland was Gray, the poet, author of the "Elegy in a Country Churchyard," says Country Life. He visited the Westmoreland and Cumberland lakes in 1766, the year before Wordsworth, the most outstanding among the lake school of poets, was born. He discovered the lakes, alike in a touring and literary sense, and being essentially of the eighteenth century, he fled from them, and the grandeur of their scenery in dismay. For not then had the picturesque been invented. The beauties of wild nature were not appreciated, and had they been the roads of that age and the lack of proper accommodation were powerful deterrents.

But for close upon a century Lakeland has been a greatly appreciated touring ground. Scenery and the literary associations with Wordsworth, Southey, Coleridge, De Quincey, and their circle, have attracted every type of holiday maker. First came the vacation reading parties of university students, then the honeymoon couples, to whom the Low Wood hotel, Ambleside, was once, in a sense, sacred; and then the railways brought tourists from far and near. But not until the automobile came upon the roads was Lakeland comfortably or thoroughly to be explored.

The tourist by motor car here has choice of every kind of road, or no road, and may, if he will, take his sport in pass-storming with the most adventurous, or take his sight-seeing along roads as good as any in this country. It is all a matter of taste and inclination. The ideal way of seeing Lakeland is undoubtedly that of selecting some central spot at which to stay and taking from it daily, out and home, excursions. This is so for several reasons; chief among them that of the somewhat limited area of the lake district, which may be stated at about thirty miles square. The lakes figure so largely in popular imagination that this will seem scarcely credible; yet any reference to maps will prove the truth of it. But it does not follow from this sheer matter-of-fact measurement that this region is easily seen or soon exhausted.

Grasmere in the Center.

Exactly in the center of the lake district is Grasmere, central geographically, and in its interest, for it was Wordsworth's home, and in its churchyard he lies.

There are five recognized centers for tourists in these regions: Windermere, Ambleside and Grasmere, about equidistant, some four miles from one another; Keswick, thirteen miles further north, and Conistone, somewhat isolated, seven miles southwest of Ambleside. It would be a thankless task to declare any preference among these, but we will take Grasmere as the very focus of the lakes.

Grasmere village is a sweet and gracious place. Here Wordsworth resided for more than fifty years. His later homes here are not accessible, but Dove Cottage, where he wrote his earliest and best, has been preserved as it was in his day, and is the resort of literary pilgrims, while the unpretending church beside the River Rotha is much the same as he knew it. That is an interesting day trip, along excellent roads, which takes us north to Cockerthwaite, the old market town at the extreme northerly edge of Lakeland, where his birthplace, in Main street, is still shown.

The way runs by Dunmell Raise to Wythburn, whose little church, one of the smallest in England, is neighbored by the Nag's Head Inn, where the old horsesmen and their wives put up their horses while attending service in olden times. The road then runs alongside Thirlmere, with the imposing mountain, Helvellyn, 3,118 feet, on right. Keswick town comes next; a considerable place for this part of the country, and with an oddly foreign appearance, caused chiefly by the church-like building (really the town hall) in the middle of the street. The chief industry is the making of lead pencils.

Derwentwater Loveliest Lake. But Derwentwater itself is the real reward of the journey. It is generally considered the loveliest of all the lakes, and it is also the most accessible, a good road encircling it. Beyond Keswick we pass Gretna Hall, once the home of Southey, and come to Bassenthwaite Water. Preferably taking the left-hand road, Skiddaw, 3,054 feet, is seen across the water. Cockerthwaite is some six miles further.

Returning from that town, the other side of Bassenthwaite Water may be taken, and the rest of the way back to Grasmere is identical with the outward run. The distance, including the circuit of Derwentwater, is about seventy-six miles.

But Derwentwater is worth a more leisurely trip, for its own sake. The trip from Grasmere to Keswick and the circuit of Derwentwater and back is thirty-five miles. The advantages are with the tourist proceeding to Keswick and there turning left and past the church, following the eastern side of the lake to Lodore, where the "Falls of Lodore," sung by Southey, will be found. Beyond we come to Shepherd's Crag, overhanging the road, and past the Borrowdale Hotel and the narrow pass called the "Gates of Borrowdale," whose rocks so greatly alarmed Gray 160 years ago. At Grange where the river Derwent flows out of Derwentwater, the road abruptly turns, to follow the western lakeside. In the pleasant vale at Grange is that giant rock, the "Bowder Stone."

The peculiar advantages of staying at Grasmere are many. Not least among them is that within five miles you have not only Grasmere itself, rivaling Derwentwater for loveliness, but Rydal Water, and the town of Ambleside, with Windermere, the largest and most popular of the lakes beyond. All are within an easy walk for the tourist staying at Grasmere, who will scarce take out his car when he can indulge in pleasant footpath rambles for a change.

The car is for farther afield. For example, the run to Penrith, along Ullswater. The out and home run is fifty-six miles. The best way from Grasmere is to take the Windermere road, as far as Waterhead, thence turning to the left and up to Troutbeck. The nearer route, up from Ambleside to Kirsstons Pass, is an exceedingly steep climb, but it can be taken on the return.

On the way to Ullswater the gloomy little mountain town of Brothers Water is passed, and then comes the descent to pleasant, sunny Patterdale. Here the seven miles long lake of Ullswater, the second longest of the lakes, begins, skirted all the way by a delightful road, with the waterfall of Aira Force midway, spouting from its woody glen. Ullswater ends at Pooley Bridge, whence it is seven and a half miles into the quaint old market town of Penrith, passing Yanwath Hall, now a farm house, but a good surviving specimen of the fifteenth century fortified border residence; and thence over the ancient Eamont Bridge, built in 1425.

FACTS AND FIGURES OF WAR

Immensity of Supplies Needed in Modern Conflict Revealed by Sir Douglas Haig

These are some of the amazing facts in Sir Douglas Haig's final dispatch: General headquarters received 9,000 telegrams in one day, and 3,400 letters, by dispatch-riders. One army headquarters had 10,000 telegrams in a day, and the daily telegrams on the lines of communication were 23,000. There were 1,500 miles of telegraphs and telephones, and 3,658 miles of railways, on which 1,800 trains ran weekly.

In six weeks 5,000,000 rations were supplied, by our armies in France, to 800,000 civilians in the relieved areas. Two hundred tons dead weight of supplies and stores were required daily for the maintenance of each division.

The total daily ration strength of our armies was 2,700,000. An addition of one ounce to each man's rations represented an extra 75 tons.

Over 400,000 horses and mules and 48,700 motor vehicles were used, and 4,500 miles of road made or maintained.

In 1914 there was one machine gun to 500 infantrymen in the British army; when peace came there was one machine gun to 20 infantrymen.

Over 700,000 tons of ammunition were fired by our artillery on the western front from August, 1919, to the armistice.—Montreal Herald.

Children's Spending Money. The practice of doling out money to the children by dribbles, when they tease for it, and without holding them to any responsibility in the matter of spending it, is undoubtedly responsible for most of the prevalent unthrifty among our young people. It is quite natural that this childish attitude toward money should continue even into the period when the young person becomes a money-earner on his own account, and oftentimes, into his adult life as well.—Thrifty Magazine.

Synopsis.—In 1832 Lieutenant Knox of the regular army is on duty at Fort Armstrong, Rock Island, Ill., in territory threatened by disaffected Indians. The commandant sends him with dispatches to St. Louis. He takes passage on the steamer Warrior and makes the acquaintance of Judge Beaucaire, rich planter, and of Joe Kirby (the Devil's Own), notorious gambler. Knox learns Judge Beaucaire has a daughter, Eloise, and a granddaughter, Rene, offspring of a son whom the judge has disowned. Rene's mother is a negress, and she and her daughter, never having been freed, are slaves under the law, although the girls have been brought up as sisters. Kirby induces the judge to stake his plantation and negro servants on a poker hand unfairly dealt by Joe Carver, Kirby's partner. The two hands contain five aces, and Kirby accuses the judge of cheating. Beaucaire, infuriated, agrees to attack Kirby, and drops dead. In the confusion Kirby and Carver are enabled to steal away. Knox tries to induce Kirby to give up his stolen winnings. Kirby refuses and after a hot argument he and Carver throw Knox overboard. The lieutenant swims ashore and reaches a hut. Knox lies unconscious for ten days. Recovering, he finds he is in a cabin owned by Pete, a "free nigger" who had shot him, mistaking him for an enemy. His dispatches have been recovered. Recovering from his wound, Knox sends Pete to bring Raynes, Beaucaire's lawyer, and they arrange, with Pete's help, to get the women to the cabin of an abolitionist, almost strunk, before Kirby comes. Knox and Pete start out for Beaucaire.

CHAPTER VI.

The Home of Judge Beaucaire.

The road we followed appeared to be endless, and so rough that I soon climbed down from my seat, an unplanned board, uncomfortable enough under any conditions. In the swaying, bumping, cart, and stumbled blindly along behind, tripping over stumps in the darkness, and wrenching my ankles painfully in deep ruts.

It was considerably after ten o'clock when we emerged upon an open plateau, and a glimmer of stars overhead revealed to me afar off the silver thread of the great river. Pete stopped the straining mule, a feat not at all difficult of accomplishment, the animal's sides rising and falling as he wheezed for breath, and came back to where I stood, staring about at the dimly perceived objects in the foreground.

"Out dar am de Beaucaire place," he announced, as soon as he could distinguish my presence, waving his arm to indicate the direction. "An' I reckon we better not fide no further, fer if Alick shud smell corn, he'd nat'ally raise dis whol' neighborhood—he's got a powerful voice, sah."

"Equal to his appetite, no doubt."

"Yas, sah; that's mostly what Alick am."

"How far away is the house?"

"Likely 'bout a hundred yards. Yer see dat light-out yonder, well dat's it, an' I reckon de ladies mus' be up yet, keepin' de lamp burnin'. Here's de slave cabins long de edge ob de woods, but dey's all dark. What's yer a-goin' fer ter do now, Massa Knox?"

I was conscious that my heart was beating rapidly, and that my mind was anything but clear. The problem confronting me did not appear so easily solved, now that I was fairly up against it, and yet there seemed only one natural method of procedure. I must go at my unpleasant task boldly, and in this case only the truth would serve. I was an officer in the United States army, and had in my pocket papers to prove my identity. These would vouch for me as a gentleman, and yield me a measure of authority. And this fact, once established, ought to give me sufficient standing in the eyes of those girls to compel from them a respectful hearing. I would tell the story exactly as I knew it, concealing nothing, and adding no unnecessary word; outline my plan of action, and then leave them to decide what they thought best to do. Strange, unbelievable as the situation was, proof was not lacking. Delia could be compelled to acknowledge that Rene was her child—she would scarcely dare deny this truth in face of my positive knowledge—and she, at least, must know that Judge Beaucaire had never during his lifetime given her her freedom. This fact could be established beyond question, and then they must surely all comprehend the necessity of immediate flight—that there remained no other possible means of escape from hopeless slavery. Desperate as the chance appeared, it was the only one.

It dawned upon me now with more intense force than ever before, the position in which I stood, and I shrank from the ordeal. A perfect stranger, not even a chance acquaintance of those directly involved in this tragedy, I would have to drag out from the closet, where it had been hidden away for years, this old Beaucaire skeleton, and rattle the dried bones of dishonor before the horrified understanding of these two innocent, unsuspecting girls. The conviction came to me that I had best do this alone; that the presence of the negro would hinder, rather than help the solution of the problem.

"Pete," I said, measuring my words, my plan of action shaping itself even as I spoke. "What lies in there between us and the house?"

"A duck patch mostly, wid a fence 'round it. Den thar comes sow' flower beds."

"No path?"

"Well, I done reckon as how thar might be a sorter path, sah, but you'd hardly find it in de dark. De bes' way'd be ter sorter feel 'long de fence, 'til yer git sight ob de front porch."

"All right, then. I am going to leave you here while I scout around. Keep your eyes open, and have the mule ready to leave at any minute."

"Bout how long yer be gone, sah?"

"I cannot tell you that. As short a time as possible. It may require considerable explanation and urging to get those three women to trust me. However, all you have to do is wait, and be sure that no one sees you. If you should be needed for anything at the house, I'll get word to you some way; and if I should send Delia and Rene out here alone, without being able to come with them myself, lead them into the cart at once, and drive to the boat. I'll manage to join you somewhere, and the important thing is to get them safely away. You understand all this?"

"Yas, sah; leas'tways I reckon I does. I'se ter take keer ob dem all, an' let yer take keer ob yerself."

"Exactly, because, you see, I haven't the slightest idea what I am going to run up against. There may be others in the house, and I might not dare to leave Miss Eloise behind alone without some protection. I shall endeavor to induce her to go to Haines at once."

Following some impulse, I shook hands with him, and then plunged into the darkness, my only guidance at first that single ray of light streaming through the unshaded window. As I advanced cautiously along the fence, a low structure built of rough rails, and thus approached more closely to the front of the main building, other lights began to reveal themselves, enabling me to perceive that the inner hallway was likewise illuminated, although not brilliantly. All about me was silence, not even the sound of a voice or the flap of a wing breaking the intense stillness of the night. I came below the veranda, still in the deep shadow, utterly unconscious of any other presence, when suddenly, from just above me, and certainly not six feet distant, a man spoke gruffly, the unexpected sound of his strange voice interrupted by the sharp grate of a chair's leg on the porch floor, and a half-smothered yawn.

"Say, sheriff, how long are we all goin' ter set yere, do yer know? This don't look much like Saint Leuee afore daylight ter me."

I stopped still, crouching low, my heart leaping into my throat, and every nerve tingling.

"No, it sure don't, Tim," replied another, and the fellow apparently got down from off his perch on the porch rail. "Yer see Kirby as bound he'll get hold o' them two missin' females fust, afore he'll let me round up the niggers. The papers is all straight 'nough, but they've got ter be served afore we kin lay hands on a durned thing. The judge tol' me fer ter do everything just as Kirby sed, an' I aim ter do it, but just the same I got ter keep inside the law. I dunno as it makes much difference when we strike the ol' town."

I Stopped Still, Crouching Low, My Heart Leaping into My Throat and Every Nerve Tingling.

"Tain't so much that, sheriff. I kin stan' it fer ter be up all night, but Bill wus tellin' me we might hav' som' trouble down ter the Landin' unless we finished up our job yere afore mornin'."

"Oh, I reckon not; what was it Bill said?"

"Quite a rigmorole frum fust ter last. Giv' me a light fer the pipe, will yer?"

There was a flare above me, and then darkness once more, and then the slow drawl of the man's voice as he resumed. "Some feller by the name ov McAdoo, down ter Saint Leuee, who's just com' down from the lead mines, tol' him that Joe Kirby got all this yere property in a game o' kyards on the boat, an' thet it wain't no square game either. I didn't git it all straight, I reckon, but accordin' ter the deal handed me thar wus two dead men mixed up in the affair—Beaucaire, an' a young army officer. Seems ter me his name was Knox."

"I didn't hear that."

"Well, enyhow, that's the way Bill tol' it. Beaucaire he naturally fell dead—heart, er somethin'—an' the other feller, this yere army man, he went out on deck fer ter see Kirby, an' he never cum' back. McAdoo sorter reckoned as how likely he was slugged, an' throwed overboard. An' then, on top' all that, we're sent up yere in the night like a passel o' thieves ter take these niggers down ter Saint Leuee. What do yer make ov it, Jake?"

"Wal," said the other slowly, his mouth evidently loaded with tobacco. "I ain't never asked no questions since I wus made sheriff. I'm doin' what the court says. Kirby's got the law on his side—no doubt 'bout that—but I reckon as how he knows it wus a darn mean trick, and so he's sorter sketched as ter how them fellers hvin' down ter the Landin' might act. Thet's why we tied 'em ter the shore below town, in the mouth o' thet creek, an' then he'd ter hoof it up yere in the dark."

"Of course we got the law with us, but we venter pull this job off an' not stir up no fight—see?"

"Sure," distastefully. "I reckon I know all that; I heard the judge tell yer how we must do the job. But why's Kirby in such a sweat ter git all these niggers down ter Saint Leuee?"

"Ter sell 'em, ah, git the cash. Onct they're outter the way there won't be no row. He'll let the land yere lie idle fer a year or two, an' by that time nobody'll care a whoop how he got it. But he's got ter git rid o' them niggers right away."

"Well, who the h-s goin' ter prevent? They're his'n, ain't they? Thar ain't no Black Abolitionists 'round yere, I reckon."

"Seems sorter queer ter me," admitted the sheriff, "but I did get a little outer that feller Carver comin' up. Carver is som' sorter partner with Kirby—a capper, I reckon. Tain't the niggers that are makin' the trouble—leas'tways not the black 'uns. No-body's likely ter row over them. It seems that Beaucaire kept a quadroon housekeeper, a slave, o' course, an' a while back she giv' birth ter a child, the father o' the infant bein' Judge Beaucaire's son. Then the son skipped out, an' ain't never bin heard from since—dead most likely, fer all this wus twenty years ago. 'Course the child, which wus a girl, is as white as I am—maybe more so. I ain't never set eyes on her, but Carver he says she's good lookin'."

Enyhow, the judge he brought her up like his own daughter, sent her ter school in Saint Leuee, an' nobody 'round yere even suspected she wus a nigger. I reckon she didn't know it herself."

"Yer mean the girl's a slave?"

"Yer bet! That's the law, ain't it?"

"And Kirby knew about this?"

"I reckon he did. I sorter judge, Tim, frum what Carver sed, that he wus more anxious fer ter git thet girl than all the rest o' the stuff; an' it's her he wants ter git away frum yere on the dead quiet, afore Haines er any o' them others down at the Landin' kin catch on."

"They couldn't do nuthin'; if thar ain't no papers, then she's his, accordin' ter law. I've seen that tried afore now."

"Of course; but what's the use o' runnin' any risk? A smart lawyer like Haines could make a devil out o' a lot o' trouble just the same, if he took a notion. That's Kirby's idee—ter cum' up yere in a boat, unbeknownst to enybody, de up down thar at Saundee's, an' run the whole bunch o' niggers off in the night. Then it's done an' over with afore the Landin' even wakes up. I reckon the judge tol' him that wus the best way."

There was a moment of silence, the first man evidently turning the situation over in his mind. The sheriff bent across the rail, and spat into the darkness below.

"The joke of it all is," he continued with a short laugh, as he straightened up, "this didn't exactly work out 'cordin' ter schedule. When we dropped in yere we rounded up the niggers all right, an' we got the girl whar there's no chance fer her ter git away—"

"Is that the one back in the house?"

"I reckon so; leas'tways she tol' Kirby her name was Rene Beaucaire, an' that's how it reads in the papers. But thar ain't no trace ov her mother, ner ov the judge's daughter. They ain't in the house, ner the nigger cabins. Leaves me in a dence ov a fix, fer I can't serve no papers less we find the daughter. Her name's Eloise; she's the heir et law, an' I ain't got no legal right fer ter take them niggers away till I do. Looks ter me like they'd skipped out. Thet's Kirby an' Carver, a comin' now, an' they're alone; ain't got no trace ov the girl or her mother, I reckon."

Where I crouched in the shadows I could gain no glimpse of the approaching figures, but I heard the crunch of their boots on the gravel of the driveway, and a moment later the sound of their feet as they mounted the wooden steps. Kirby must have perceived the forms of the other men as soon as he attained the porch level, and his naturally disagreeable voice had a snarly ring.

"Thar you, Donaldson? Have either of those women come back?"

"No," and I thought the sheriff's answer was barely cordial. "We ain't seen nobody. What did you learn down at the Landin'?"

"Nothing," savagely. "Haven't found a trace except that Haines hasn't been home since before dark; some nigger came for him then. Is that git safe inside?"

"Sure; just as you left her, but she won't talk. Tim tried her again, but it's no use; she wudn't even answer him."

"Well, by Heaven! I'll find a way to make her open her mouth. She knows where those two are hiding. They haven't had no time to get far away, and I'll bring her to her senses afore I am through. Come on, Carver; I'll show the wench who's master here; if I have to lick her like a common nigger."

The front door opened, and closed, leaving the two without standing in silence, the stillness between them finally broken by a muttered curse.

I drew back hastily, but in silence, eager to get away before the sheriff and his deputy should return to their seats by the porch rail. My original plan of warning the women of the house of their peril was blocked, completely overturned by the presence of these men. Beyond all question those I had hoped to serve were already aware of their position—someone had reached them before me—and two at least were already in hiding.

Why the time, the one most deeply involved, had failed to accompany the others, could not be comprehended. The mystery only made my present task more difficult. Why should Delia, the slave, disappear in company with Eloise, the free, and leave her own daughter Rene behind to face a situation more terrible than death? I could not answer these questions; but whatever the cause the result had been the complete overthrow of the gambler's carefully prepared plans. Not that I believed he would hesitate for long, law or no law; but Donaldson, the sheriff, refused to be a party to any openly illegal act, and this would for the present tie the fellow's hands. Not until Miss Eloise was found and duly served with the eviction papers would Donaldson consent to take possession of a single slave. This might still give me time for action.

I slipped along in the shadow of the house, without definite plan of action but with a firm purpose to act. The side door I knew to be securely locked, yet first of all it was essential that I attain to the interior. But one means to this end occurred to me—the unshaded window through which the glow of light continued to stream. I found I could reach the edge of the balcony with extended fingers, and drew myself slowly up until I clung to the railing; with feet finding precarious support on the outer rim. This was accomplished noiselessly and from the vantage point thus obtained I was enabled to survey a large portion of the room.

I clambered over the rail, assured by the first glance that the room was empty, and succeeded in lifting the heavy sash a few inches without any disturbing noise. Then it stuck, and even as I ventured to exert my strength to greater extent to force it upward, the single door directly opposite, evidently leading into the hall, was flung violently open and I sank back out of view, yet instantly aware that the first party to enter was Joe Kirby. He strode forward to the table, striking the wooden top angrily with his fist and knocking something crashing to the floor.

"You know where she is, don't you?" he asked, in the same threatening tone he had used without.

"Of course I do; didn't I help put her there?" It was Carver who replied, standing in the open doorway.

"Then bring the hussy in here. I will make the wench talk if I have to choke it out of her; she'll learn what it means to be a nigger."

I had but a moment in which to observe the man, for almost immediately Carver flung the door of the room open and Kirby swung impatiently about to face the entrance. Except for a possibility of thus attracting the attention of the newcomer I was in no special danger of being detected by those within. Carver thrust her forward but remained himself blocking the doorway. I use the word thrust, for I noted the grip of his hand on her arm, yet in truth she instantly stepped forward herself, her bearing in no way devoid of pride and dignity, her head held erect, her eyes fearlessly seeking the face of Kirby. Their glances met, and she advanced to the table, the light of the swinging lamp full upon her. The impression she made is with me yet. Hers was a refined, patrician face, crowned by a wealth of dark hair. Indignant eyes of hazel brown, shadowed by long lashes, brightened a face whitened by intense emotion, and brought into agreeable contrast flushed cheeks and red, scornful lips. A dimpled chin, a round, full throat, and the figure of a young womanhood. Kirby and I were sortly curved, altogether formed a picture so entrancing as to never again desert my imagination. With one bound my heart went out to her in sympathy, in admiration, in full and complete surrender. Before I could change posture, almost before I could draw fresh breath, her voice, trembling slightly with an emotion she was unable wholly to suppress, yet sounding clear as a bell, addressed the man confronting her.

"May I ask, sir, what this outrage means? I presume you are responsible for the insolence of this fellow who brought me here?"

Kirby laughed but not altogether at ease.

"Well, not altogether," he answered, "as his methods are entirely his own. I merely told him to go after you."

"For what purpose?"

"So pretty a girl should not ask that. Carver, close the door and wait outside."

I could mark the quick rise and fall of her bosom and the look of fear she was unable to disguise. Yet not a limb moved as the door closed, nor did the glance of those brown eyes waver.

"You are not the same man I met before," she began doubtfully. "He said he was connected with the sheriff's office. Who are you?"

"My name is Kirby; the sheriff is here under my orders."

"Kirby!—the gambler?"

"Well, I play cards occasionally, and you have probably heard of me before. Even if you never had until tonight it is pretty safe to bet that you do now."

"I know," she admitted, "that you won this property at cards and have now come to take possession. Is that what you mean?"

"That, at least, is part of it," and he took a step toward her, his thin lips twisted into a smile. "But not all. Perhaps Donaldson failed to tell you the rest, and left me to break the news. Well, it won't hurt me any. Not only this plantation is mine, but every nigger on it as well. You are Rene Beaucaire?"

"Yes," she replied, slowly, almost under her breath, and hesitating ever so slightly, "I am Rene Beaucaire."

"And you don't know what that means, I suppose?" he insisted savagely, angered by her coolness. "Perhaps the sheriff did not explain this. Do you know who and what you are?"

She rested one hand on the table in support, and I could note the nervous trembling of the fingers, yet her low voice remained strangely firm.

Origin of Drinking Pledges.

Pledging each other in wine was in reality nothing more than the survival of the once universal custom of parties drinking together in ratification of a bargain. It is in this sense that some Jewish and Russian couples drink wine at their betrothal ceremonies. The Hebrew, after drinking, dashes the vessel to the ground, in memory of the destruction of the Temple; whereas the Russian tramples the glass beneath his feet, with the plow wish: "May they thus fall under foot and be trodden to pieces who shall endeavor to sow dissension and discord between us."

Some Vienna theaters do without ushers by mounting electric lights in such positions that they illuminate the numbers on seats as long as the latter are unoccupied.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Never give a moment to complaint, but utilize the time that would otherwise be spent in this way in looking forward and actualizing the conditions you desire.—Ralph Waldo Tinsie.

SALADS AND SANDWICHES FOR VARIOUS OCCASIONS.

A sandwich is never out of season, for it is the substantial part of a meal at whatever time or place it is served.

If one desires a large quantity of filling for sandwiches, the following recipe will be a good one to follow. It may be easily divided. The dressing may be used on potato or other vegetable salads.

Cheese Sandwich Filling.—Mix together one cupful of sour cream, three eggs, one tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar, a few grains of cayenne, one teaspoonful of mustard and one teaspoonful of salt. Beat all together in a double boiler until the eggs are broken; set over hot water and stir until it begins to thicken. Add three tablespoonfuls of vinegar; hot to the cream mixture. When cooked, until it coats the spoon, set aside to cool. Put one and one-half pounds of cheese, two green peppers and two sweet red peppers through a meat-chopper. Mix together, and add enough of the dressing to make the mixture spread easily. Use on thin slices of bread.

Cream Cheese Filling.—Cream two small cream cheeses, add gradually one tablespoonful of butter and one-fourth of a cupful of orange juice. When well blended, add half a cupful of chopped pimientos, one cupful of chopped walnut meats and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Mix well and spread on buttered graham bread.

Onion Sandwiches.—Chop fine a Bermuda or Spanish onion, and mix with a little well-seasoned French dressing. Spread on buttered bread and serve for Sunday night sandwiches (after church).

Carrot and Nut Sandwiches.—Mix together one half cupful each of ground carrots and nuts (peanuts, walnuts or pecans may be used). Add one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half tablespoonful of olive oil, one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Mix thoroughly and spread on slices of buttered bread.

Pressed Egg and Ham Sandwiches.—Chop fine six hard-cooked eggs, one green onion and one-half a green pepper. Mix with one-half teaspoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of prepared mustard. Place half of the mixture in a small greased pan. Press down, then add a layer of chopped ham, using one and one-half cupfuls, finely chopped. Finish with the rest of the egg mixture; pour over two tablespoonfuls of soup stock and place in a cool place until molded enough to slice.

And you who judge so harshly, Are you sure the stumbling-stone That tripped the feet of others Might not have bruised your own? Are you sure the sad-faced angel Who writes your errors down Will ascribe to you more honor Than him on whom you frown?

WHOLESOME GOOD THINGS.

Frostings for various cakes have not been the usual thing during the months of sugar shortage. The following are two desirable frostings which may be covered and kept in a cool place for weeks and, by adding a bit of moisture or heating over water, will be ready for use.

Fondant. This recipe has appeared before as candy foundation, but makes very satisfactory frosting. Use four cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of water and one tablespoonful of glucose. Boil until the sirup makes a soft ball when dropped in water. Set away to cool; when cool enough to bear the finger, stir until creamy. Put into a jar or bowl, cover with waxed paper and let stand until wanted. Take out what will be needed for icing, melt it over hot water, add flavoring, coloring or chocolate and spread on the cakes.

Another Frosting.—Use confectioners' sugar and milk or cream. To two cupfuls of sugar add a tablespoonful of cream, adding a few drops more until soft enough to spread. Try it on a small cake until of the right consistency; use what is needed and cover the rest, setting it in a cool place where it will not dry out. It will keep for three weeks or longer.

Bachelor's Buttons.—Rub together four tablespoonfuls of butter and ten tablespoonfuls of flour. Divide ten tablespoonfuls of sugar; stir five into the flour and the other five into two well-beaten eggs; flavor with anise and add to the flour mixture. Make into small walnut-sized balls, place on a buttered baking sheet and bake in a hot oven. Dip in fondant and sprinkle with nuts.

Sunshine Cake.—Take the whites of eight eggs and the yolks of six, one cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, salt and vanilla. Beat the yolks until thick, add vanilla; beat the whites until foamy, then add the cream of tartar; finish beating, until stiff; add the sugar, a little at a time, then add yolks and fold in the flour. Bake forty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., OCT. 24, 1919.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

There are a good many subscriptions on our list that expired with October, and Record readers knowing themselves to be in arrears will confer a very great favor by renewing their subscriptions promptly. Never in the history of this paper were weekly operating expenses as high as they are at the present time and it requires a lot of cash to keep things going. Labor, paper and everything entering into the production of a newspaper have increased in cost wonderfully and cash receipts of a few years ago would not now be sufficient to conduct this plant. We are striving to give Northville a good newspaper and from the many compliments we are daily receiving we feel that we are succeeding.

WHY NOT?

At the community reception last Friday night the proposition to have a series of such gatherings during the winter months was discussed. It was suggested that they should be of a similar character to the one then being held and which was enjoyed by every one present, but the idea of getting together with one's neighbors for an evening once or twice a month was suggested as a delightful program for the winter. And the Record arises to ask Why Not? In communities like Northville the people must provide their own enjoyment and pleasure at home or else the citizens of the community will seek entertainment elsewhere. To meet together as one merry, happy family would not only provide many pleasant social evenings, but such gatherings would do a great deal toward cementing our citizenship into community needs. There is too much of the spirit "everybody for themselves" abroad in the land today and naturally Northville is not free from that spirit.

Programs might be arranged with variation enough to please all who might attend the gatherings, and, if necessary an outside speaker could be secured occasionally to add a little spice to the series. Splendid programs could be given by Northville talent and as they always please, it should not be difficult to present something that would prove very entertaining.

The question, of course, at once arises, who will perfect the plans for such a series of "get-together" affairs, and there is where the "rub" usually comes. However a committee might be selected that have faith enough and interest enough in Northville and her citizens to bring this matter to a successful conclusion. Surely, the proposition is worth trying out.

LET'S PUT IT OVER QUICKLY.

Northville's quota for the Roosevelt memorial fund has been placed at $500 and it is desired by the local committee to have the matter closed up this week. Contributions may be left at the Lapham State Savings Bank, and large or small donations will be gladly received.

All the expense for the drive so termed, has been provided for by the personal friends of Mr. Roosevelt and every dollar received from the people will go into the fund for the memorial. Judge Jayne of Detroit addressed a meeting at the Presbyterian church Wednesday evening but the attendance was not large.

Northville has always been in the lead in these patriotic movements and it is desired that we shall hold our place now.

MANY TREES REMOVED.

The removal of the many shade trees on Main street, east, brings to mind the lines written by John Farley: Gray tombs of those one loved in life; Ruins of castles of earth's strife, A gnarled and stricken barren tree, Dim eyes that scan eternity. The mammoth oak tree standing near the Ford building has been neatly trimmed and made a thing of beauty. It is unfortunate that so many trees had to be removed to make way for street improvements.

Those Americans who attempted to tell the people of Ontario that prohibition was a failure over here in the U. S. A. evidently made a very poor impression. In the recent election over there the temperance forces won by large majorities. The city of Toronto gave a majority for the dries on all four questions and throughout the rural communities the dries won easily, in some instances the vote being 30 to one in favor of prohibition.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Garfield Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. VanBuren of Clyde, C. O. Garfield and R. H. Sackett and family of Detroit.

D. U. R. RATES UP TO HIGH COURT

Taking a firm stand on the basis that the Michigan legislature has no power to alter or change franchises between municipalities and public utilities, Attorney-General Alex. J. Groesbeck declared before the state supreme court Wednesday afternoon that the act of the 1919 legislature which gave to steam and interurban railways, under certain conditions, increases to two and two and a half cents a mile for passenger fares, was not applicable to the Detroit United railway or any of its subsidiary lines. On the other hand Attorney H. E. Spaulding, for the company contended that when the municipalities entered into franchise contracts with the D. U. R. in which certain rates were fixed and are included in existing franchises, they acted on delegated power as agents from the legislature, and the legislature could on behalf of the people change such contracts, with the company agreeing to such changes as in these cases.

This case is before the supreme court on appeal from a recent decision by Judge Howard Wiest in the Ingham circuit court. Judge Wiest held the entire law to be valid, including "proviso four," in reality the bone of contention, and issued a mandatory permanent injunction restraining the company from continuing to charge its new schedule of two cents, effective since last August 14, and in most instances an increase over existing franchise rates. Judge Wiest held there was no authority in law which prohibited the legislature from changing franchise rates.

Two situations are presented from the attorney general's viewpoint: either the entire law is invalid or if it is held to be valid it does not apply to the D. U. R. in communities and municipalities where franchise contracts fixing the passenger rates are in existence. Outside of such areas the law could be applied. Detroit Free Press.

GROCERY AND MEAT MARKET, EXCHANGE HOTEL and FEED BARN.

Dear Friends:

Poke Easley has been sitting up the last three nights, figuring on Building a Pigeon, and has his plans now completed, but the worst of it is, he has no lumber to build it and no Pig to put in it after he gets it built. I Poke had traded at Couch's Grocery and Meat Market he would have had enough saved up to buy the Lumber and the Pig too.

Well, my place is full of Bargains. I am sending Everybody away Happy and Loaded with Good Things.

The weather is cooler, and the same fire you keep warm with will stew some of the fine Beef I am passing out at Very Low Figures.

The same fire will bake some fine loaves of Bread, the kind the Lily White Flour is noted for. This is a Flour I am selling lots of. Also Rowena Pancake flour, ready to mix and bake, 5-lb. sacks at 40 cts., and the Domino Syrup, the Best Ever.

And do not forget the gallon cans of Apricots, Blackberries, Cherries and Blueberries, for about 1/2 the same quantity in No. 2 and 3 cans would cost.

And remember the Meadowgold butter in one-pound bricks, always good; also the Wilson Nutola in one and two-pound packages. Also have the Swift's Premium, the Motley and the Sunrise.

All kinds of Other Good Things to eat. Fine Potatoes at 35 cts a peck, $1.40 per bushel. The Bonita Coffee and Several other kinds of fine goods at lowest prices.

Also lots of Good Candy, Salted Peanuts, Oranges, Bananas and Lemons.

Six kinds of Bread at 14 cts. per loaf. Fried Cakes, Pies and Cakes. A new kind of Cookies from Chicago, very fine and fresh.

WAYNE HIGHWAYS WITHSTAND TESTS

Wayne county's concrete roads, famous the country over, have justified all claims made for them, according to the county board of road commissioners' thirteenth annual report, filed with the board of supervisors Tuesday. The commissioners say that "The test of them has proved that fundamentally we were right in developing highways that would attain the nearest possible approach to permanency." The commissioners point out that except for materials used, the first concrete roads built under the county highway system are not the standards today. "However," the report says, "these roads have stood up well and will continue to stand up for years to come." Detroit Free Press.

Mt. Clemens—Thirty persons were injured, some seriously, in a wreck on the main line of the Rapid railway, near Nelson switch early Monday morning, when three interurban cars were telescoped in a rear-end collision. A broken lead wire is given as the cause of the wreck.

BRILLIANT EXTRA CONCERT SERIES FOR ANN ARBOR

Concert series for the current season which will bring to the University city five exceptionally brilliant musical attractions. This announcement is the culmination of plans which Dr. Albert A. Stanley and his colleagues in the University musical society have had under consideration for some time but which were necessarily postponed until after the war. The fact that the regular Choral Union series of concerts was practically sold out several weeks before the opening number is a substantial justification for so extensive an expansion of its activities at this time. The course which will be known as "The Extra Concert Series" will include the following world-famous artists:

1. November 6, Alessandro Bonci, the distinguished Italian operatic star and singer of songs. He has just returned to America after an absence of several years. He will be assisted by Eleanor Brock, "The Nightingale of the South."

2. December 15 - The New York Chamber Music society. Carolyn Beebe pianist and director. This organization consists of eleven renowned musicians, and includes piano, violin, viola, cello, double bass, clarinet, flute, oboe, bassoon and French horn. A program of soli, duets, trios and other ensemble combinations will be provided.

3. January 23, Mischa Levitski, the young Russian pianist whose brilliant performance in Europe and America have placed him in a forefront position among piano virtuosos will be heard in recital.

4. February 28 - Caroline Lazari, the distinguished prima donna of the Chicago Opera company who has been engaged in a similar capacity by the Metropolitan Opera company for the current year. Will appear in a program of songs and arias.

5. March 31 - Trio de Lutece, consisting of George Barriere, flutist; Carlos Salzedo, harp; and Paul Keler, cello. These artists will join in an attractive program of soli duets and trios.

Mail orders for tickets for the entire Extra Concert Series will be filled in the order of receipt as near as possible to the locations asked for and will be mailed out about November 1st. Price $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 and $3.50. Address Charles A. Smek secretary Ann Arbor.

SUNDAY MEETING

After hearings about a hundred persons planning to go hunt ing Sunday for squirrels a Daily Press representative happened to mention the fact to Justice Fredenburgh. The latter volunteered some information which may be of use to those who have planned on spending Sunday in the woods. The hunting season is open on squirrels in the state, but there is a law in Oakland county which prohibits hunting any kind of game on Sunday. This law does not affect other counties. The mere possession of a gun in the woods on Sunday is held as prima facie evidence of violation. Not even the owner of the land can hunt on Sunday—Pontiac Daily Press.

ABOUT OUR NEIGHBORS

Interesting Items from our exchanges—gathered with pencil, paste pot and scissors.

The matter of securing township franchises has delayed the project of the Milford Electric Company to run service lines out from Milford, but Mr. Hubbell says this has been adjusted so that the work can be taken up this fall and pushed to completion wherever a sufficient number of patrons sign up—Milford Times.

A nuisance which confronts Redford and Redford township is the automobilists who try to burn up the new pavement, recently completed, on Lahser avenue to the Seven Mile road. If a few of this class of racing maniacs were caught and given a heavy fine it would go a long way towards having others obey the speed laws of our village—Redford Record.

After the machinery had been cleaned out of the old Robertson mill at Stoney Creek, the old wooden "spur wheel" was left outside the mill. The "spur wheel" was made by hand over a hundred years ago. The cogs were all worked by hand and but little iron entered into its makeup, save as a binder. The wheel is several feet across and weighs something near 500 pounds. It should be secured and sent to the state capital to be kept among the old relics of the state pioneer and historical society—Rochester Era.

Mentioning a former Northville pastor, the Orion correspondent of the Oxford Leader remarks as follows concerning the religious field in the former village: We note that Rev. Walker of the M. E. church has been returned to Orion for another year. The church and community are certainly to be congratulated. Brother Walker is a genial gentleman, and a worker in his Master's vineyard. But somehow it occurs to us that Orion is a hard field for a minister to labor in. The devil seems to have a strange hold on the community more especially during the resort season. When John Winter gets his dance hall, shaking, funk, whirl, eggs and other flop-doodle attractions running full blast the people seem to lose their heads and become amusement mad, and a preacher stands about as much show as a feather in a blast furnace. He has hard work holding a few of his flock in the straight and narrow way, while the majority of the members are off for a good time, leaving the minister to talk to "a beggarly account of empty benches."

Because Dr. I. A. Chapman died at Walled Lake without leaving anything in writing to indicate a contract to sell Detroit and Novi property to his son, Dr. Aaron L. Chapman, and son-in-law, August C. Berlin, it was necessary for the latter to go into court to have the verbal contract made binding on the Chapman estate. Judge Covert authorized sale of property in Detroit to the son, Dr. Aaron L. Chapman, and of a farm in Novi to the son-in-law, August C. Berlin. E. R. Webster appeared for the plaintiffs.—Pontiac Daily Press.

Romeo—A meeting of the Masonic lodge was held Monday evening to complete plans for the new Masonic temple. Enough money had already been subscribed at the meeting to pay for the building known as the Opera House block, which was bought at a cost of $8,000, and on Tuesday afternoon $12,500 had been subscribed. The excess amount will be used for extensive improvements to be made in the spring.

This will take the place of the religious work of the Y. M. C. A., K. of C. Jewish Welfare Board and other organizations. A committee was appointed to formulate plans as to how the new system will be handled.

A man's life—among men!

Reel them off—"Rio," Gibraltar, Ceylon, Yokohama—all the great ports of the world—are they only places on the map to you—or are they ports where you've gone sailing in from the high seas with every eye along the shore turned admiringly on your big ship—your ship! Every ocean has a United States ship sailing for some port worth seeing.

If you've any call in you for a full life—join, and color all your years ahead with memories of things worth seeing—with knowledge worth having—with an inexhaustible fund of sea tales and adventures picked up ashore and afloat that will make you a welcome man in any company.

Work?—sure, and a man's work it is, among men.

Play?—well, rather, with a bunch of men who know how to play. These comrades of yours carry in their ears the sounds of great world cities, or booming guns, or swashing seas—sounds you will share with them and that will never die away.

And when you come home, you'll face life ashore with level eyes—for Uncle Sam trains in self-reliance as well as self-respect. The Navy builds straight men—no mollycoddles.

Enlist for two years—Excellent opportunities for advancement. Four weeks holidays with pay each year. Shore leave to see in 100 days at ports visited. Men always learning. Good food, and first uniform outfit free. Pay begins the day you enlist. Get full information from your nearest recruiting station. IN MEMORIAM

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

A PROCLAMATION

To the People of the State of Michigan:

The people of the United States of America and its possessions, under the leadership of a nonpartisan association of friends and admirers of the Great American, are about to provide suitable memorials to the late Theodore Roosevelt.

It has been decided, during the week of October 20th to 27th, inclusive, to set forth the aims and purposes of the movement to the end that all shall have the opportunity to contribute to the fund for such memorials.

Theodore Roosevelt was an outstanding exponent of the "square deal" in all the relations of life, a champion of the common people, a passionate lover of his country, and an uncompromising defender of its institutions, its laws and its highest traditions.

Therefore, as Chief Executive of the State of Michigan, I deem it a high privilege to urge a universal participation in this movement, without regard to political ties, and the hearty cooperation of all citizens of the state in contributing of their efforts and their gifts to the perpetuation of Roosevelt's memory. In honoring him we honor the principles for which he stood and inspire in this and future generations a greater reverence for our beloved country.

It would seem fitting to observe in some special manner the twenty-seventh day of October, the anniversary of Roosevelt's birth, and I, therefore, suggest appropriate exercises in our schools and the holding of public meetings in all communities to mark the event.

Given under my hand and seal of the State of Michigan this twenty-fourth day of September, 1919.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER,
Governor of Michigan.

PATRIOTIC FUND

ASKS $5,250,000

IN NEXT DRIVE

CITY AND COUNTY WORKERS
MERGED INTO ONE BIG BODY
FOR NOV. 3 CAMPAIGN.

HOSPITAL ADDITIONS PROVIDED

Schedule of Giving is Made Much Lower Than That of Last Year.

Detroit Patriotic Fund directors have fixed $5,250,000 as the sum to be raised in the second annual drive which is to be conducted during the week of Nov. 3, in the city and county. Arrangements now are being completed rapidly for the drive.

It has been announced that there will be no separate organization of workers in the county this year. Lines of the various districts, however, have been extended from the city out into the townships and the district organizations will carry on the county work.

Fourteen separate appeals for funds which had been contemplated by hospitals and other community service organizations have been combined in the drive as have appeals which otherwise would have been made by the 55 institutions affiliated with the community union.

Capital Expenditures Budget.

Included in the sum to be asked this year is $1,980,000 under the head of capital expenditures. This is to pay the cost of the first year of a five-year program of extensions and reconstruction for a number of institutions. It is designed as a start toward relieving the city and Wayne County of the present shortage of 4,000 hospital beds.

The shortage has grown so acute it was found that an average of 100 persons are being turned away from hospitals daily. Only surgical cases are being accepted. Physicians, who have united as workers for the drive, have asserted that the city and county would be in a serious predicament should another epidemic like the influenza epidemic of last year occur or if there were a serious disaster such as a bad train wreck.

Suggested Giving Schedule.

The budgets which go to make up the complete sum include, besides the capital expenditures budget, $1,980,000 for maintenance of the institutions affiliated with the Community Union, $864,000 for foreign relief, $200,000 for the American Red Cross, $135,000 for the Salvation Army and $275,000 for reserve. Out of this reserve will be taken funds to meet Wayne County's quota for any drives which may be conducted during the year by any of the endorsed national organizations, making unnecessary further local appeals during the year.

As a guide to the givers this year, following the precedent set last year, a committee of the board of directors, composed of John W. Staley, Clarence H. Booth and Henry Russell have made up a suggested schedule of giving.

The percentages for the larger-givers as worked out by the committee is as follows: Income ranging from $3,000 to $5,000, 1½ per cent; $5,000 to $10,000, 2 per cent; $10,000 to $20,000, 3 per cent; $20,000 to $40,000, 3½ per cent; $40,000 to $60,000, 4 per cent; $60,000 to $100,000, 5 per cent; $100,000 to $200,000, 6 per cent; $200,000 to $300,000, 7½ per cent; $300,000 and more, 10 per cent.

Guide to Subscribers.

Members of the committee explained that the table is designed in no sense as an assessment but simply was fixed upon after the needs were considered as a means to guide-givers in making up their minds as to what their subscriptions this year should be.

Last year's drive was not considered by the committee, the tables being made up altogether from the amounts necessary to be raised this year. Percentages this year in all divisions are considerably lower than the percentages of last year.

Because there is such a large sum asked for hospital additions and other extensions which will be a direct benefit to the workmen of the entire county the committee included in the table 1 per cent of the 1918 incomes of corporations. Last year no direct appeal was made to the corporations but many of them made big subscriptions, in addition to large gifts by officers and stockholders. For employees of industrial plants the committee that two day's pay be subscribed.

Team captains and district chairmen in meetings at the Board of Commerce announced that their organizations practically are complete although it now is nearly three weeks before the campaign is to be started. There will more be than 4,000 workers in the drive.

The completed list of district chairmen has been announced as follows: District A, E. L. Ford, B. Paul H. Bailey; C. Julian Krolik, D. G. A. Lindke; E. B. E. Taylor, F. F. W. Hayden; G. E. D. Walker; H. George L. Bahl; I. L. W. Goodenough; J. Howard A. Coffin. W. Colburn Standish is chairman of the downtown district and Witter Peabody supervisor of the factory workers. Mrs. R. B. Jackson is again in charge of women's work and has named Mrs. E. C. Kanzer as her assistant.

Cardinal Mercier, of Belgium, addressed all of the workers at a meeting held in the Arena Gardens last Monday night. Practically the entire organization of some 4,000 workers were in attendance.

Concurrent with the Patriotic Fund drive the annual roll call of the American Red Cross will be held in the city and county. Workers in the Patriotic Fund drive will give all subscribers an opportunity to enroll in the Red Cross and new members for the Red Cross will be sought.

The $135,000 for the Salvation Army which has been included in the fund to be sought in the campaign is Detroit and Wayne County's quota of the $1,300,000 drive of the Salvation Army which was conducted last May. At the time of the drive no campaign was made in Wayne County, with the understanding that the Salvation Army would be included in the big drive to be held Nov. 3.

Enthusiasm is high. Chairman of the various districts in their meetings have announced that enthusiasm for the approaching campaign is as high as it was last year when Detroit and Wayne County electrified the whole country with subscriptions of $10,500,000 in one week for the "Enlist the Flag" drive.

Because of the war it was necessary to postpone extensions of hospitals and other community service organizations, despite their pressing need have been volunteering for work during the drive with the greatest enthusiasm, the district chairman say.

Federated giving for community service work which forms a most important part of the city and county's activities, according to the workers, has proved a big success during the year that it has been tried and the entire county has welcomed the opportunity of having one subscription made annually take care of their "bit" for the sick, the injured, the aged and the unfortunate of the community. The success of the trial which has been given the plan is in a big measure responsible for much of the enthusiasm which is being shown in advance of the campaign.

NORTHVILLE DEFEATS PLYMOUTH FOR THE FIRST TIME.

On Friday afternoon, Coach Millard's proteges walked through the Plymouth team for a 39 to 6 score, the first time in the history of the school that Northville has defeated the Plymouth school in football.

The contest was marked by ragged playing by both sides. It was a game by individuals and not by team work. The Northville line, composed of Litsenberger, Thorpe, Kestel, Buckley, Taylor, and Watts played a fair game. Moffat, Dey and Carpenter held down the ends for Northville. While Stillwell, Green, Chapman and Freydl all pulled off some good gains, their playing was not together and their interference was not good. The whole team played well on the defense, with the exception that they allowed Plymouth to complete pass after pass. This Friday the team will line up against Dearborn, at Dearborn. The Northville boys won the first game, but the Dearborn team is considerably strengthened and the game will be a fight every minute.

The schedule is as follows:
October 24—Northville at Dearborn
October 31—(Open)
November 7—Northville at Wayne
November 14—Plymouth at Northville
November 21—Northville at Royal Oak
November 27—Northville at Alma.

A game will probably be played either the 29th or the 31st. The team goes to Dearborn the 24th. Dearborn held Wayne to a close score and the game will be a battle from start to finish. Coach Millard has been drilling the team on some new plays and will open up plays on Dearborn which haven't been used this year.

Coach VanDorn of the Dearborn team was a full-back on the championship team of the 32nd Division. He has been working hard to get his men in shape and has threatened a defeat for Northville.

Lets go with the team to Dearborn. Give the boys a little support and watch the difference in their playing.

"What's in a Name?"
The French Island of Reunion has changed its name four times in 50 years. In 1793 it was Bourbon, as it had been for a century and a half, but the convention changed it to Reunion. Under the empire it became Isle Bonaparte; at the Restoration it reverted to Bourbon. Finally, in 1848, it became Reunion once more.

Pulque Trains in Mexico.
Pulque, the national drink of Mexico, is made from the juice of the maguey plant, large tracts of which are cultivated outside the City of Mexico. As a rule there are about eight hundred plants to the acre. The juice is extracted by the peons. It is shipped into town in long trains much like our milk trains here. The white liquid tastes like yeast and the consumption is so great that it is equivalent to two quarts a day for each person.

Silverite a New Metal.
A new development in the alloying of aluminum with other metals has just been accomplished by the production of "silverite." This metal is something entirely new and is composed of a mixture of aluminum and copper, zinc and steel in varying proportions, according to requirements. The alloying of steel with aluminum is somewhat startling and at first thought seems to be impossible, yet it is successful.

J., where he was mustered out after eighteen months' service. He was in the Forwarding Department, where the later work of his particular part of the U. S. army was the care of German prisoners. He is looking fine.

One of our best-known former residents for many years, Hiram Holmes, now of Ypsilanti, was visiting Northville friends Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Holmes, who is eighty-six years young claims that he is the oldest man of the second generation of the early citizens of this vicinity—and also the spryest—which nobody seems inclined to contradict as yet. He went from here to Detroit to visit his sons, Albert and Perry before returning home.

DETROIT THEATRES.

Detroit has taken very seriously to Grand Opera and the present season in the state's metropolis in this regard is rich in promise. Not the least important, and without question the most interesting from the popular standpoint, is the week engagement at the Shubert-Detroit Opera House (on the Campus), of the San Carlo Grand Opera company, which opens next Sunday night in a series of nine performances. This finely balanced singing body which numbers one hundred members, has become quite a feature in Detroit's cultural life, having visited there for six consecutive seasons, and always being received by music-lovers and society devotees with really great acclaim.

"Tea For Three," with Charlotte Walker and Earnest Lawford, comes to the Garrick Theatre Detroit, the week commencing Sunday, October 26th, this being the latest comedy by Roi Cooper Megras, which is announced by its sponsors as being "an angle on the triangle." Emphasis at the same time is placed on the fact that it is not an angle OF the triangle, and attention is called to the difference.

THE BASSETT REUNION.

A most happy event, long to be remembered, was the reunion of the Bassett family on October 8th, held at the old farm, now the home of George Bassett, of Novi. The six remaining members of the family—Mrs. Celestia B. Davis of Waco, Texas; Mrs. Vic B. Mersereau, of San Diego, California; Mrs. Mary B. Durfee and Eugene Bassett of Detroit, Samuel Bassett and Nettie B. Hulett of Novi, and the sons-in-law, Judge E. O. Durfee and Orren S. Hulett, were present.

Mrs. Jav Bassett of San Diego was the only living member of the family circle absent. The grand and great-grandchildren present, were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Durfee and children, George, Elizabeth and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Flinterman and daughter, Marjorie, Mrs. Katherine Hoyt; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hulett—Bud and Rosemary, Mrs. Max Hulett and son, Richard; Miss Edith Bassett; Charles Bassett, wife and family—Marion, Kenneth and Edna, Mr. and Mrs. George Bassett—Lewis, Donna, Rose and Myra, and Mrs. Gardner Selden.

Mrs. A. H. Wilkinson of Detroit, Mrs. Elizabeth Green of Northville; Mrs. Alzina Keys, Mr. Marion Coomer, wife and family of Pontiac; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Erwin; Mrs. Molly McBride and son of Birmingham, were cousins, who attended.

It is many years since this old home has had such a party. After a bountiful dinner the afternoon was spent in reminiscences and singing old songs, then to the music of Eugene's violin with Mrs. Mersereau at the piano, the older members forgot their years and danced the old-time waltz and schottische. Many cameras were brought into requisition during the day.

It should not be necessary to have a funeral to call together such a family gathering.

A press dispatch says Mayor Couzens attended a barn dance at Northville last week. We can understand why Henry Ford has been attracted to Northville by its natural resources, but just why Mayor Couzens should have to seek out Northville for a suitable barn to dance in is too much for us. But if Mayor "Jim" wants to "shim" in Northville, it's alright—Orion Review.

"FIDDLE-FIT"

Keep Liver and Bowels
Clean and Active with "Cascarets"

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, sour, gassy stomach—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed fermenting food in the bowels.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system, is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will have you feeling clear, rosy and as fit as a fiddle by morning. They work while you sleep.—Adv.

What the Railroads Collect.

In 1916, a year of normal conditions, each person in the United States paid $25 for railroad freight, a bill of $125 annually for the average family. Therefore each increase of 25 per cent in freight rates above the 1916 level means an increased per capita tax of $6.25, or an increased tax for each American family of $31.25. Freight rates have increased more than 50 per cent since 1916, therefore the freight bill for the average family is now around $200, all of which is paid indirectly, of course. These figures are worth studying before we again dip into our pockets to help railroad finances.

ASPIRIN FOR HEADACHE

Name "Bayer" is on Genuine
Aspirin—say Bayer

Insist on "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in a "Bayer package," containing proper directions for Headache, Colds, Pain, Neuralgia, Lumbago, and Rheumatism. Name "Bayer" means genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for nineteen years. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets cost few cents. Aspirin is trade mark of Bayer Manufacturing of Monacacetilaldehyde of Salicylic acid.—Adv.

Worth Remembering.

don't forget that it will not hurt the world at all, while it may do you inconceivable harm. You are but a very small part of this old world and it will wag along just about as well without you as with you, so your complaints are not going to make so very much difference after all. Better keep sweet and do what you can to make conditions better instead of getting grouchy because things do not go to suit you. The cheerful man gets farther than the grouchy.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP.

In these days of unsettled weather look out for colds. Take every precaution against the dreaded influenza and at the first sneeze remember that Boschree's Syrup has been used for fifty-three years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis and colds, throat irritation and especially for lung troubles, giving the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectoration in the morning. Made in America and kept as a household panacea in the homes of thousands of families all over the civilized world. Try one bottle and accept no substitutes.—Adv.

Two of a Kind

Bing—The way these colleges scatter around their degrees is absolutely nauseating. Every Tom, Dick and Harry, with a little cheap notoriety can figure on getting one. The whole system is absolutely indefensible. Don't you think so?

Sam—Yes. I didn't get one either.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher. In Use for Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria.

Entirely Conditional.

He—So you wouldn't marry the best man living?

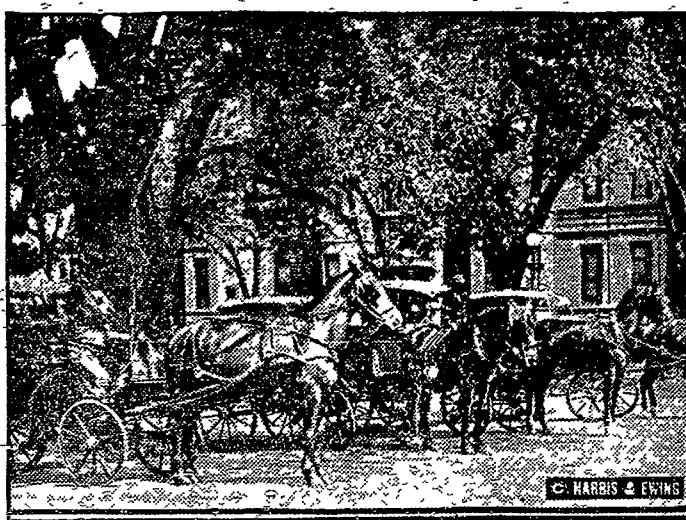

She—Well, not unless I was sure it would make a better man of him.

Far Worse.

"There is witchery in moonlight."
"And even more diabolical influences in moonshine."

MURINE Night and Morning. Eye Drops, Healthy Eyes, if they are Itchy, Smart or Burn, if Sore, Irritated, Inflamed or Granulated, use Murine often. Soothes, Refreshes. Safe for Infant or Adult. At All Drugists. Write for Free Eye Book. Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago.

Old Dobbin Still on Duty

Horses have not been entirely displaced by the automobile, though few cities could show a regular hackstand such as this one bordering a popular Washington park. The horse-drawn vehicle is a favorite for pleasure riding in the capital, especially in Rock Creek park and the Speedway where a slow pace is desirable.

Less Wheat for 1920

Reduction in Acreage Is Advocated

A reduction in winter wheat acreage from that of last year, and to a pre-war five-year average is advocated for farmers by the United States department of agriculture in a bulletin recently issued. It recommends that an acreage of 42,000,000 bushels winter wheat be seeded for the 1920 crop and that next spring 20,000,000 bushels of spring wheat be seeded. Under normal conditions this would give a wheat crop of 830,000,000 bushels. It would be enough for normal consumption, and give an exportable surplus of 200,000,000 bushels. A rye acreage of 5,500,000 to 6,000,000 bushels is advocated. A crop of 75,000,000 bushels would give 50,000,000 bushels for consumption and 25,000,000 bushels for export.

Chronometer Exceeds Its Previous Record, Varying Six-Hundredths of Second.

Showing a daily variation of but six one-hundredths of a second, says the Philadelphia Record, a chronometer entered in the competition at the Geneva conservatory exceeded the former record, made in the year 1891 by one hundredth of a second. One hundred and sixteen chronometers were entered in the 1918 contest, against 132 in 1917 and 105 in 1916. Of these 116 entries, five were marine chronometers and 111 pocket chronometers or watches, two of the latter being complicated pieces.

Professor Raoul Gautier, of the Industrial Arts society, writes Consul Lewis W. Hassel from Geneva, in reading a report on the competition, gives some interesting details on the tests which are made to determine the accuracy of the timepieces. The chronometers are graded on a scale of 1,000 points. The ideal watch would be granted 300 points for its daily precision, 300 points for its ability to support changes of position, 300 points for its ability to support changes of temperature, and 100 points for its ability to resume its normal precision after the changes of position and temperature. The different deviations of time are quoted in hundredths of a second. The maximum allowed at the Geneva conservatory for pocket chronometers is one-half second of deviation during one day's run, two seconds after the position has changed, fifteen one-hundredths for each degree of different temperature, and two and one-half seconds of deviation after having resumed the normal position and temperature.

Victor's Flag Is Always Placed at Top of Mast.

Originally the practice of hoisting flags on public buildings only part of the way up the flagpoles was a military one. Ever since flags were used in war it has been the custom to have the flag of the superior or conquering nation above that of the inferior or vanquished. When an army found itself hopelessly beaten it hauled its flag down far enough for the victors' flag to be placed above it on the same pole. This was a token not only of submission, but of respect. In like manner when a famous soldier died flags were lowered not only to indicate respect to his memory, but to show that he had succumbed to the greatest conqueror of all—death, for which flag space was left at the top of the staff.

There are Confederate soldiers' homes at Atlanta, Ga.; Austin, Tex.; Beauvoir, Miss.; Columbia, S. C.; Hermitage, Tenn.; Higginsville, Mo.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Little Rock, Ark.; Mountain Creek, Ala.; New Orleans, La.; Pewee Valley, Ky.; Pikesville, Md.; Raleigh, N. Total Oil Production in United States Last Year Was 355,920,000 Barrels

Oil production in Oklahoma last year, 108,800,000 barrels, was nearly twice its average yearly output, 53,800,000, since it began producing in 1903. California, beginning in 1881, produced 97,500,000 barrels last year as against a yearly average of 29,200,000. Kansas, 1896, production last year, 45,400,000; yearly average, 6,500,000. India Leads in Cattle Production With America Ranking Close Second

Contrary to popular opinion, the United States is not the world's greatest cattle country, says the New York Times. India has 100,000,000 more than America, though this country is second, and there are 29 countries that have more than two million each.

In the last 33 years Guernseys led by far all other breeds in numbers of purebred cattle imported into this country, and of the five breeds leading the importations four were distinctly dairy types.

More than 8,750 Guernsey cattle were imported; Jerseys ranked second in number, with Durhams, including Shorthorns, third; Holsteins fourth, and Ayrshires fifth. The volume of purebred cattle importations has been extremely variable.

These facts are brought out in a recent publication of the department of agriculture, which shows the trend of the industry in this country and its relation to the world trend.

United States Total War Casualties Reach 322,182.

The cost of the war to the United States in man power is now estimated officially as 116,492 dead and 205,690 wounded, a total of 322,182. These figures include losses to army and marine units on all fronts to September 1. Killed in action totaled 35,585, or 11 per cent of the entire list; died of wounds, 14,742; died of disease, 58,073; died of accidents and other causes, 8,092. Under the head of "missing" the announcement records a zero with the notation "all corrected."

Use Skins and Seeds.

Italian cannery men are now utilizing the skins and seeds of tomatoes, the former for stock food and the latter for oil, in its crude form, for soap and illumination and when refined for table use.

Mother's Cook Book

It is not what a man gets but what a man is that he should think of. He should first think of his character and then of his condition. He that has character need have no fear of his condition. Character will draw condition after it.

Milk Soup.

A soup that is very satisfactory, and one which may be prepared in a few minutes is canned pea soup mixed with a can of condensed milk. The combination seems especially pleasing. The frugal housewife keeps a goodly supply of all kinds of canned soup, which may be put up at home or bought at the grocery.

Cream of Tomato Soup.

Many housewives put up tomatoes especially for soup, straining them to remove the seeds. In a saucepan melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour, stir and blend, then add two cupfuls of strained tomatoes, a fourth of a teaspoonful of soda, a teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of chopped onion. Cook five minutes and then add one and one-half cupfuls of hot milk.

Serve hot with toasted bread. Whipped cream adds greatly to the soup, using a spoonful on top of each cupful as served.

Potato Soup.

Cook three potatoes until soft. Scald a pint of milk with two slices of onion in a double boiler. Beat the potatoes with a wire whisk, add the hot milk. Cook together one tablespoonful of flour, a teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of white pepper, celery salt and a tablespoonful of butter, add to the milk and potatoes and garnish with two teaspoonfuls of chopped parsley just before serving.

Rice Soup.

Cook a slice of onion in a cupful of hot milk, add one and one-half cupfuls of rice water saved from cooking rice, thicken with a tablespoonful of butter and flour cooked together; season with salt and pepper; add the milk and rice water and serve garnished with chopped parsley.

Cream of Pea Soup.

Put through a colander a pint of cooked green peas, add a quart of milk, a bay leaf and a teaspoonful of onion juice. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and when well cooked add to the first mixture. Remove the bay leaf, season and serve.

Any vegetables from carrots to turnips may be served in a cream soup.

CURFEW

Solemnly, mournfully,
Dealing its doom,
The Curfew Bell
Is beginning to toll.

Cover the embers,
And put out the light;
Toll comes with the morning,
And rest with the night.

Dark grow the windows,
And quenched is the fire;
Sound fades into silence—
All footsteps retire.

No voice in the chambers,
No sound in the hall;
Sleep and oblivion
Reign over all.

The book is completed,
And closed, like the day,
And the hand that has written it
Lays it away.

Dim grow its fancies;
Forgotten they lie,
Like coal in the ashes,
They darken and die.

Song sinks into silence,
The story is told;
The windows are darkened,
The hearthstone is cold.

Darker and darker
The black shadows fall;
Sleep and oblivion
Reign over all.

Gasoline and Carbolic Acid to Kill Bedbugs.

There are several standard preparations to kill bedbugs, roaches and lice which can be bought at a drug store. The Maine agricultural station recommends a lice powder made as follows: Take three parts of gasoline and one part of crude carbolic acid, 90-95 per cent strength; or, if the acid cannot be obtained as directed, three parts gasoline and one part cresol. Mix these together and add gradually, with stirring, enough plaster of Paris to take up all moisture—about four quarts of plaster of Paris to one quart of the liquid. Thoroughly mix the liquid and plaster in order to get uniform distribution and strength. The resultant powder is dusted on in the usual manner. Gasoline or benzene applied to the cracks of beds infested with bedbugs will exterminate them and sulphur candles have been used to drive them from rooms. Powdered borax is an effective agent for driving cockroaches out of a house.

The 1919 Potato Crop.

Commercial potato crop this year, as estimated by the government report, is 128,518 cars of 700 bushels each that are expected to be shipped from leading producing sections. Last year there were 146,648 cars. Crop in large eastern states is nearly equal to last year.

Uncomplimentary.

At one of the famous Lambs Club gambols, a young and aspiring actor appeared on the program in an imitation of Nat Goodwin.

Goodwin himself was present at the performance. After the gambol was over the young actor, much to his delight, succeeded in getting himself introduced to Nat.

"Were you present at the performance tonight, Mr. Goodwin?" he asked.

"Yes," was the answer. "I was there."

"And did you see my imitation of you, Mr. Goodwin?" continued the young man.

"Yes, I saw it," came the reply.

"And," persisted the aspiring youth, "may I ask you to give me your verdict on the excellence and fidelity of my art as disclosed in the impersonation of yourself?"

"Well," said Mr. Goodwin, "one of us is rotten."—Everybody's Magazine.

There is no wealth but life; life, including all its powers of love, joy and of admiration. NERVES GAVE OUT Serious Kidney Trouble Had Made Life Miserable, But Doan's Removed All the Trouble. Hasn't Suffered Since.

"I had such severe pains in my back," says Mrs. Albert Arkroyd, 304 W. Indiana Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., "that they almost doubled me up. Many a day I could not do my housework and at every move it seemed as if my back would break in two. My feet and ankles swelled until I had to wear large-sized slippers and sometimes I couldn't stand up."

"I had dizzy spells and dreadful headaches and a fiery flush passed over my face. I had a heavy weight been resting on my head; the pain could not have been more distressing. The least noise started me; I was so nervous, I couldn't control the kidney secretions and the pain in passage was awful."

"It began to look as though my case was beyond the reach of medicine until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. The first box benefited me and four boxes cured all the troubles. I have had no further cause for complaint."

TRACTOR WON'T JUMP FENCES

Some of the Arguments in Favor of Its More General Use—Will Not Bite, Balk, or Run Away.

Some of the many arguments in favor of the tractor are given as follows in Farm Life:

It will not bite, balk or run away. It will not shy at a loose scrap of paper in the road. It will not kick the stall at night and keep the tired farmer and his wife awake. It will not crib the manger.

It will not break out of the barn at night, jump the fence and eat your neighbor's cabbage.

It will not lie down in a particularly moist spot in the barnyard, roll over on its back and elevate its four feet into the air.

It does not have to be curried, sponged off or treated with horse liniment.

It is not addicted to colic, cough, heaves, spavin or wind-gall.

It will not snort in your ear or whisk its tail in your face.

It will not "haw" when you tell it to "gee" or vice-versa.

You do not have to pull on the lines and holler your head off when you want it to stop.

It does not "up and die" just as the spring work is coming on.

Almost every man has the mistaken idea that he is essential to the workings of the universe.

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit.

The kidneys are the most over-worked organs in the human body. When they break down, under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulated and crystallized look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do "turn" into deadly Bright's Disease.

One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism.

To Acquire Greatness.

The best guarantee to greatness is an intense interest in a great program. Then it is that the fellow becomes so full of the job that he hasn't time to think about whether he's great or not. He sees the thing to be done and becomes so full of how to do it that he rises without knowing that he's becoming great in the eyes of the world. So the best thing is to be filled with your job and work it until it gets the fruits.

GOOD LOADING IN CARS AND PRECAUTIONS AGAINST DEVELOPMENT OF DISEASE URGED

Hucksters Salvaging Damaged Potatoes in Freight Yard.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Cars of fruit and vegetables are often dumped at large market terminals but persons who witness this proceeding should not conclude that this practice is uneconomical or done to keep up prices, according to men in the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. The wholesale dealer is not in a position to resort and repack damaged produce and often enough decay is present to render the produce unsalable in its original container or bulk shipment.

Sometimes hucksters do go over the damaged cars and salvage a limited amount of food. More often, however, the labor cost of such salvage work is greater than the value of the products saved.

Losses May Start on Farm.

There are many causes for loss of perishable foods between the farm field and the market. Some of these causes go back to the time crops are harvested. Take potatoes, for instance, which are injured in digging. Unless these injured potatoes are sorted out and not packed with the good potatoes, rot may develop in the shipment and spread rapidly to other potatoes, especially if the temperature in the car is favorable for rot to develop.

Another source of great loss in perishables is found in lack of care in loading. The packages must be spaced to permit air circulation and also braced to prevent shifting. Temperature can not be controlled in loads packed solid without any air spaces between the containers, while bracing must be carefully done or packages arrive containing only a part of their original contents.

Although care in packing, loading, and bracing cars of potatoes, cabbages, and the less perishable fruits and vegetables is necessary to prevent damage in ordinary freight cars, it is far more necessary for highly perishable products that move to market in refrigerator cars, such as strawberries, peaches, pears, grapes, lettuce, and celery. Such products, even with the best of care, may arrive at city terminals in damaged condition, caused by delay in transportation, overripeness, or disease developed in transit because temperatures were not under control while the cars were en route.

Disease in Shipped Products.

In the case of plant diseases developed in transit there may not have been any indication that the disease was present when the car was loaded, and perhaps the shipper thought that his crop was free from disease. Proper refrigeration, plenty of ice and air circulation holds diseases in check and unless long delays in transit occur such perishable produce might arrive in good condition. Such shipments, however, often deteriorate rapidly after being unloaded and must be handled quickly and consumed before rot develops.

Through the food products inspection service of the department of agriculture, the facts concerning losses through plant diseases developed in transit are being studied and laboratories have been established at New York and Chicago to work on these diseases. Plant pathologists now report on shipments that develop disease and this information is made available to producers and shippers where the fruit and vegetables were grown in order that prevention may begin in the field and packing house.

SECURING LABOR IS DIFFICULT PROBLEM

Maintenance of Steady Supply Worries Stock Farmer.

He Is Compelled to Use Temporary Help at Harvest Time Which, in Many Cases, Is Unreliable and Quite Expensive.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the most serious phases of the farm labor problem is the maintenance of a steady supply of labor and the interest of the laborer in farm operations. In both of these matters the farmer who has little or no live stock has a much more difficult problem to solve than the one who maintains the maximum amount of live stock consistent with his farm operations. For example, the farmer who devotes his entire effort to grain production or cotton production is confronted with a keen demand for labor at the most critical period in the crop year. He has the rush during the planting season, which shortly is followed by the tremendous demands of harvest. Between times, especially during the winter, this demand is not so urgent and he is, therefore, compelled to use temporary help (especially at harvest time), which, in many cases, is unreliable and expensive.

The farmer whose operations make possible the distribution of the maximum amount of labor throughout the year is in a much stronger position from every standpoint than the one who is compelled to call in large numbers of temporary helpers at critical times.

Live stock production is a year-round proposition and therefore makes possible such a distribution of labor. Furthermore, live stock are interesting to nearly all human beings. There is much more to interest the average man in watching the growth of the young animals or the fattening of feeders, and much less drudgery, even in feeding operations, than there is in the tilling of the soil and the cultivation of the crops. Beautiful as growing crops unquestionably are, and necessary as they are to the maintenance of live stock, the farm which only has growing crops lacks for most people the vital thing which is necessary to make country life attractive.

Many farmers recognize the appeal which animals have for the average man and cater to this in handling their employees. For example, there are cases where the farm owner gives the laborer a share in the animal produce of the farm, such, for example, as every tenth pig, which becomes the property of the man who takes care of the hogs, or a calf now and then a lamb.

Where there is a year-round requirement for labor it is also possible to utilize to better advantage the services of married men, and their wives and children can often be useful. Where laborers are not needed on the farm the year around there is not the advantage of this preference for married men.

THRASHING TO SAVE WHEAT

Farmers of Minnesota County Prevented Loss of $77,000 by Using Clean Methods.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Members of the farm bureau of Kittson county, Minnesota, saved $77,000, or about $500 to each thrashing machine, by using tight-bottom racks, canvas under the feeder, cleaning up when required after each setting of the machine during the thrashing season. A conservative estimate of the saving by clean thrashing by this county was 27,500 bushels of wheat, 20,400 bushels of oats, and 10,000 bushels of barley.

GENERAL FARM NOTES

The wise use of cover crops will conserve the fertility of the soil and better its physical condition in many cases.

In purchasing commercial fertilizers consider the cost of the crop to be grown as well as the price of the fertilizer.

A good dog is like a good son—he stays at home at night. Kept in good habits, he is a guardian rather than a murderer of sheep.

Few animals like rye as a steady diet as they do oats or corn. When rye is crushed and mixed with ground oats or corn it makes good horse feed.

Drain tile set over each celery plant blanches it nicely. Paper or boards may be used in cool weather, but are apt to decay the plants in warm weather.

Clover will contain the proper amount of dry matter to make good silage if allowed to stand until somewhat more than one-half of the blossoms are brown.

It is said that exposure to weather causes greater destruction to farm implements than using them. Avoid this loss by storing all machinery and tools properly under shelter before winter sets in.

DAIRY FACTS

LOVE FOR GOOD LIVE STOCK

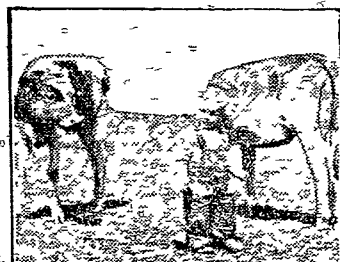

Boys' and Girls' Clubs Teach Members That Cattle Raising Is Most Profitable.

The two most valuable assets for the amateur stockman to possess in order to become a successful live stock breeder are: First, an interest and incentive for raising good stock, and second, practical experience supplemented with a thorough technical knowledge of selecting, feeding, judging, and breeding, according to J. T. Tingle, of the Colorado Agricultural College, who says: "Most of our greatest live stock breeders of today entered their profession on account of their love for good stock and their practical experience enabled them to make a success of the business."

Both theoretical training and practical experience are necessary for the best success. Especially is this true at present—a time when feed, labor, and stock are high. There has never been a time when the live stock industry demanded a more thorough knowledge of proper feeding, breeding, handling, and selecting than at present.

The objects sought through the boys' and girls' clubs include the above essentials for success, and in addition they endeavor to teach the members that the work is enjoyable, profitable, instructive and offers an incentive for securing an agricultural education. Boys as well as men are looking for practical training and there is no better way for them to secure it than through the clubs.

"Every farmer and stockman should be more than anxious for his son to get into some kind of live stock club. He should not only advise his boy to enter a club but should encourage and urge others to join by offering prizes and stock at reasonable prices in order to promote the work and further the better livestock movement. Purebred breeders can well afford to sell club members stock at reduced prices in order to build up an interest in these young stockmen for raising registered stock. Increased interest means greater demand for purebreds and the better the demand the better will be the future sales."

FEED FOR MILK PRODUCTION

Many Old Cows Will Increase Capacity if Fed on Properly Balanced Ration.

There are a large number of old cows that will increase their capacity for milk giving if fed on a properly balanced ration and with a large amount of succulent food the year round. This is what develops the capacity of the cow. A great many cows are never fed with the idea of getting out of them the greatest amount of milk possible each year, with due regard to the health of the cows. If, however, the old cows were fed with this idea in mind, they would continue to give a large mess of rich milk.

SUMMER MONTHS ARE TRYING

Cows Giving Milk Should Have Plenty of Feed, Pasture With Water and Good Shade.

Take good care of the cows. The summer months are always trying on cows giving milk. They will need plenty of feed, pasture with water and shade. Unless special care is taken of them they are likely to fail and not be in condition to produce in winter when prices of dairy products are high. Give the cows all the protection possible from flies.

DAIRY NOTES

Keep the dairy cow out of all drafts of stable windows.

The milk cow on the general farm ought to be a money-maker.

A satisfied cow is probably a satisfactory cow.

A summer silo for the dairyman will pay even better than a winter silo.

The average dairy cow makes dairy-ing unprofitable; it's the better-than-the-average cow that pays.

A good cow is worth more than most people believe. A dairy cow that yields an abundance of milk is indeed a valuable animal.

"Well, boy, what do you think of him?"

The boy squirmed in his seat, but made no reply.

"Come," said the teacher. "Speak up. What do you think of Nero? Was he a good man? Would you care to introduce your sister to such a man? Would you like to know him?"

The boy squirmed again; then he whined:

"Well, Nero never done nothin' to me."

Clay Output Falls Off.

The quality and value of the clay mined in the United States in 1918 showed a considerable decrease in output but an increase in value compared with 1917. The total quantity of clay mined and marketed this year is estimated at 2,840,000 short tons, valued at $9,207,500, or $3.28 a ton. This is a decrease of about 304,000 tons or 10 per cent, in quantity, but an increase of about $1,165,000 or 14 per cent in value. The imports decreased in both quantity and value.

Values of Precious Stones.

"Emeralds ranked with rubies and sapphires, as the most costly gems of the ancient world. Then diamonds were worn in a rough state. The art of cutting the precious white stone was not discovered until the fifteenth century. When the flashing brilliance of the diamond was brought to light, Emeralds are still fashionable. They are rare, and good ones are becoming rarer. Carat for carat they are as valuable as diamonds."

The First-Cup and Saucer.

The beverages of the sixteenth century were water, mead, sack and ale. In the middle of the next century tea was introduced, and with it came the Chinese or 'china' teacup. The handle of the cup came from Mediterranean lands. Originally it was made of thick and strong earthenware and applied to heavy jars and lamps.

RUSSIANS HIT BY FAMINES

Shortages of Food Date From 1600—8,000,000 Persons Reduced to Starvation in Famine of 1911.

Next to the proletariat of India and China, the Russian peasant feels the pinch of poverty and hunger more keenly and more frequently than any other, says the National Geographic society. One of the earliest Russian famines on record was that of 1600, with a death toll of 500,000 peasants. Cats, dogs and rats were eaten; and even the strong overcame the weak. Human flesh was sold in the markets. Three Russian famines of recent date were among the most severe in history—in 1891, 1906 and 1911. During the ten years following the first of these, the government allotted nearly $125,000,000 for relief, but the sums were not always judiciously expended. In 1906 the government gave 40 pounds of flour a month to all persons under eighteen years old and over fifty years. Those between these ages received no allowance, and the older and younger shared their pittance with the others.

The famine of 1911 extended over one-third the area of Europe and affected 30,000,000 persons, while 8,000,000 were reduced to starvation. Weeds, the bark of trees, and bitter bread made of acorns, constituted the chief diet.

Kissing either wife or child was a punishable offense in England in the seventeenth century.

RED CROSS AIDS AILING SOLDIERS

Organization Asked by Government to Seek Out Disabled Ex-Service Men.

FREE HOSPITAL CARE GIVEN

United States Pays Compensation While Treatments Are Administered in Public Health Institutions.

The American Red Cross has been asked by the United States government to use its efficient organization to seek out disabled and ill ex-service men, and to try to induce them to accept the government's offer to provide free treatment in public service hospitals, and compensation while the treatment is being administered.

The government estimates that there are fully 50,000 men in this country who are unable to work at full capacity because of wounds or disease contracted in the line of duty who should be receiving this treatment. So far only about 4,000 men have applied for such service.

A statement issued from the national headquarters of the Red Cross in Washington shows that a great misapprehension exists among the discharged men regarding the government's plan.

"Due to misunderstandings and misapprehension a surprising number of disabled service men are scattered throughout the country not knowing the benefits which are still theirs," the statement reads.

"Back to the hospital" after he has donned "civvies" and tried to keep going at civilian occupation is about the hardest order a soldier wants to hear. Acceptance of the government offer does not mean a return to service. The hospitals are civilian institutions. They are separate institutions, and are not connected in any way with the army or navy.

"The Red Cross is constantly discovering men who, through ignorance or prejudice, are losing the advantages of this wonderful service. So effective has this work become that the government has asked the Red Cross to make this a part of its regular relief work. All that is necessary is for the ex-service man to apply to the nearest Red Cross chapter. Arrangements will be made there for him to enter one of these hospitals after examination by a district public health officer, and if his trouble is the result of service with the army or navy he will be given transportation and admittance to a public service hospital.

"The Red Cross is now engaged in maintaining a program of recreation, occupational therapy, meeting the problems arising in the homes of disabled men, household and legal difficulties and affording many miscellaneous services to keep the men who are in the hospitals contented with their lot."

This work of the Red Cross is one of the important branches outlined for its post war work and a part of the funds raised in the Third Red Cross Roll Call, November 2 to 11, will be devoted to this purpose.

LOANS $50,000 TO SOLDIERS.

Loans totaling approximately $50,000 have been advanced to about 4,000 disabled soldiers by the American Red Cross for personal uses while these war veterans were adjusting their affairs with the federal board for vocational training. These loans are in no sense looked upon as charity either by the soldiers of the Red Cross, the latter considering this bit of financial assistance a part of its war obligation.

Red Cross liaison officers are in touch with all the district officers of the vocational board and the public health service. These Red Cross men are able to help the soldiers when the government check miscarries, during the interval between approval for schools and placement in school, when subsistence and transportation are needed by those denied training, and under various other conditions.

HUGE OVERSEA SHIPMENTS MADE BY RED CROSS.

Two million crates, bundles or barrels, weighing 218,310,000 pounds were shipped by the American Red Cross to twenty-one countries from ten ports in the United States between April 1, 1917 and July 1, 1919, according to reports sent to national headquarters in Washington. This tremendous volume of business was shipped across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans during the war and after the signing of the armistice from New York, Baltimore, Boston, Montreal, Newport News, New Orleans, Philadelphia, San Francisco and Seattle. In addition to this great store of supplies, the Red Cross purchased supplies in the countries where it operated, both for the soldiers and afflicted civilians.

"Our patriotism should stand the test of peace as well as war. There is a necessary work to be performed before the American Red Cross can withdraw from Europe."—President Wilson.

RED CROSS NEED OF MONEY TOLD

Work Must Be Carried On Across the Waters and in the United States.

PEACE PROGRAM PLANNED

Enrollment Is a Vote of Confidence in the Future and an Appreciation of Tasks Accomplished.

The American Red Cross is preparing to launch its third Roll Call, to be held from Nov. 2 to 11, for 20,000,000 annual members and $15,000,000.

The first question that will arise is: "Why does the Red Cross need money? The war is over."

National headquarters of the American Red Cross has answered this question, and has outlined graphically the reasons why it is necessary to raise $15,000,000 for its international, national and local work.

In brief the answer is as follows: "Because the actual war work is not completed. The Red Cross cannot lay down its responsibilities to the American soldiers, sailors or marines until everyone of them has been released from service, recovered from illness or wounds or receiving proper care, or back in the place in the world from which the war snatched them."

"Because the American Red Cross is planning to launch a comprehensive program for peace times, designed to prevent the needless waste of human lives through preventable diseases and accidents in America; continue and broaden its home service work and public nursing, first aid, home hygiene and Junior Red Cross activities."

"Because by a recent act of Congress medical, surgical and dietary food supplies valued at $35,000,000 were turned over to the Red Cross by the government, the supplies having been purchased for use with the American forces. These supplies are scattered throughout Europe, many of them far from the places where they are most needed. The prompt and efficient distribution and handling of these supplies means the maintenance of a force of trained workers where the supplies are and where they are most needed."

"Because pestilence and starvation have gripped many European countries because of the war. These countries are unable to cope with their own difficulties, and the only force organized with facilities capable of stepping into the breach and bringing order from chaos is the Red Cross. Typhus is sapping the man strength of many countries, and the American Red Cross is using every available power to check it."

"Because the Red Cross must be prepared to meet emergencies arising from disasters at home and abroad."

The Red Cross membership must be maintained at its present high standard. Every enrollment is a vote of confidence in the past performances of the American Red Cross and a reaffirmation of the belief in the principles for which it has stood in the past and its plans for the future."

The Red Cross, having committed itself to a definite and comprehensive program, cannot turn back, and to go forward it must have as general a membership as possible and ample funds to provide for any contingency."

LOCATES MOTHER AFTER FOUR DAYS IN DESERT SANDS

Four days by camel from Damascus, in a little desert village nestled in the blazing sands, lived the Syrian mother of an American soldier, waiting, yearning for word from her son who had gone to far-off America.

George Hamway, the son, enlisted with the American colors when this country went to war, and fell fighting in the Argonne, leaving to the mother a $3,000 government insurance policy. The address of the mother was vague. She lived in the heart of the desert, four days from Damascus—that was the only address George knew.

The task of finding the mother was given to the Red Cross mission in Palestine, and the search was started immediately. Strange by-ways of that land of mystery—the great desert—were visited by Red Cross workers, and at length the mother was found.

She was taken to Damascus by camel, accompanied by witnesses establishing her identity, and after much palaver it was explained that the American government would make remittances to her which meant comparative affluence for her declining days.

CLUBS TO AID RED CROSS.

A series of club days are being arranged by the Red Cross as a forerunner of the Third Roll Call to be conducted from November 2 to 11. Business, commercial, rotary, Kiwanis, advertising, fraternal, woman's and other clubs are being invited to set aside one meeting day to be devoted to the Red Cross.

BAPTISTS SEEKING $100,000,000 FUND

The largest campaign ever launched in its history was proposed vigorously to the eighty-fourth annual meeting of the Michigan Baptist convention in session at Flint by the general superintendent, Dr. E. M. Lake, of Lansing, in his annual address and report submitted at Wednesday's session. He recommended that every county and city be divided by class organization with the Northern Baptist convention for raising, in the national area, $100,000,000 in the next five years, of which Michigan should raise more than $2,000,000.

A TIMELY WARNING.

Editor Record:

I deem it advisable to inform the public through your valuable paper as to the instructions given to the Health officers of Michigan concerning the "Flu" and other communicable diseases.

R. M. Olin, State Commissioner of Health, ordered a convention of health officers, which was held at Lansing last Tuesday. I attended the convention and will state some of the new rules which are absolute laws, as the Health commissioner and Health officers are a law unto themselves.

The "Flu"? All cases of the "Flu" will be absolutely quarantined. This includes all the family from head-winner-down.

People unable to pay will be supplied with a doctor and a nurse if necessary. In case of death the funeral will be a quarantined funeral—that is, no one will be allowed to attend except those quarantined, and no outside from the quarantined house can attend. The funeral director must see to this. Persons guilty of breaking quarantine will be immediately reported to the prosecuting attorney. The fine is $100, or imprisonment.

All physicians are urged to report all cases of communicable diseases. Any physician who fails to do so will be fined and his license revoked for two years.

The use of vaccine in the "Flu" is deemed unwise as no vaccine yet discovered will prevent the disease.

Health officers have the absolute supervision of the schools under 1,000 pupils. Teachers have the absolute right to send any pupil home whom they mistrust is sick or ailing. The family physician must be consulted and the pupil cannot again enter school except as by a card from the Health officer.

In case of epidemics the closing of the school is left to the Health officer. In case of closing, the pupils are to go home and are placed under quarantine and no pupil will be permitted to leave home or go on the streets. Any pupil found on the street or away from home will be reported to the prosecuting attorney.

Mr. Reader, do you realize that last winter over 12,000 people died of "Flu" in Michigan. Just think of it! Those people, if living would make about six villages the size of Northville. What good is wealth and property if the "Flu" comes along and takes away your children?

Do all you can to help the Health department for the "Flu" epidemic is expected to return again this winter. The above rules will be strictly carried out and the rich and poor will all be served alike. All offenders will be immediately reported to the prosecuting attorney.

DR. R. SCHUYLER,
Health Officer.

Bay City—Beginning Oct. 18, for 12 days a "safety first" campaign will be held here for the benefit of employees of the Pere Marquette Grand Trunk Michigan Central and Detroit, Bay City & Western railroad employees. An absolute non-accident period is one of the sole objects of the drive, it is said. Lansing—State High Commissioner Frank F. Rogers has approved contracts during the past week for the construction of 32.7 miles of state trunk line roads at a total cost of $419,837.86. While the mileage is not great, the macadam and concrete construction boost the total cost.

To The Boys and Girls of Michigan:

Lansing, Michigan, Sept. 25, 1919.

October 27 is the birthday of the late Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. Colonel Roosevelt, for nearly eight years our president, was, during the greater part of his life-time, our most valued public leader. He was known as the "typical American." He was fearless in his advocacy of what he believed to be right and in his attack upon that which he held to be wrong. His courage, his integrity, and his tireless energy made him our most popular national hero. Probably nothing expressed his philosophy of life more clearly than this quotation, "In short, in life, as in a football game the principle to follow is: Hit the line hard; don't foul; don't shirk, but hit the line hard!"

His picture will be dedicated on his birthday and if, as you look at the likeness of that strong, energetic face, you will vow that you will be good Americans, live clean, strong, true lives and that you will fight the battle for purity and honesty in public life as he fought it, I believe you will please him more than you could in any other way.

Cordially yours,

T. E. JOHNSON.

Superintendent of Public Instruction.

WHOLE NATION TO HONOR MEMORY OF ROOSEVELT

WILL CONTRIBUTE MONUMENT FUNDS THROUGHOUT UNITED STATES AND ITS POSSESSIONS.

OCTOBER 20-27 DATE SET

Michigan Organizes to Raise $200,000 Share of $5,000,000 National Quota; Every Citizen Will Be Given Opportunity to Participate.

Perpetuation of the memory of Theodore Roosevelt, the man and the American, is the purpose of a campaign which, during the week of Oct. 20 to 27, will raise a fund of $5,000,000 in the United States and its possessions.

The plans of the national committee in charge, headed by Col. William Boyce Thompson, call for a suitable monument in Washington and the establishment of a national park at Oyster Bay, Long Island, which, it is hoped, will include Sagamore Hill, the home of Col. Roosevelt to be preserved like Mount Vernon and the Abraham Lincoln home at Springfield, Ill.

Michigan is to have a prominent part in the movement, which is already under way throughout the whole country and in Cuba, Panama, Hawaii, Alaska and the Philippine Islands. The state's share of the quota has been set at $200,000 and an organization is now being formed to conduct an active campaign in every county.

The state organization is headed by Paul H. King, who was appointed chairman for Michigan by the national association. He is being aided by the following committee of prominent state people: Col. Charles B. Warren, chairman of the executive committee, Gustavus B. Pope, vice chairman, Detroit; Harry O. Turner, secretary, Detroit; Thomas P. Phillips, director of public relations, Detroit; Russell A. Alger, Detroit; Clarence L. Ayres, Detroit; John W. Blodgett, Grand Rapids; Dr. F. P. Bohn, Newberry; David A. Brown, Detroit; Fred W. Castor, Detroit; M. J. Cavanaugh, Ann Arbor; Frank Cody, Detroit; Gern J. Diekmann, Holland; Frank D. Eaman, Detroit; Woodbridge N. Ferris, Big Rapids; Rt. Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, Detroit; P. J. M. Hally, Detroit; Mrs. Rena L. Hamilton, Detroit; Col. Frank J. Hecker, Detroit; Thomas E. Johnson, Lansing; William Livingston, Detroit; Mark T. McKee, Detroit; Alfred J. Murphy, Detroit; Mrs. Truman H. Newberry, Detroit; Charles A. Nichols, Detroit; Patrick O'Brien, Houghton; Chase S. Osborn, Sault Ste. Marie; Thomas W. Payne, Detroit; Rev. M. S. Rice, Detroit; J. H. Rice, Houghton; Mrs. Abby Beecher Roberts, Marquette; Mrs. Huntley Russell, Grand Rapids; Albert E. Sleeper, Bad Axe; William Alden Smith, Grand Rapids; Otto E. Sovereign, Bay City; Mark W. Stevens, Flint; Mrs. Ethel Ridgley Vorce, Grosse Ile; Lt. Col. George B. Waldo, Detroit; L. Whitney Watkins, Manchester; Miss Bina M. West, Port Huron; N. C. Wright, Detroit; Carl Young, Muskegon.

Chairman King has already appointed a chairman in each county and these leaders are naming men and women workers in every city, village and township, to carry the message of the campaign to all the people.

Gov. Sleeper has issued a proclamation calling the attention of citizens to the movement and urging universal co-operation. Thomas E. Johnson, superintendent of public instruction, has communicated with school commissioners and superintendents of schools, teachers and pupils, asking for their whole-hearted support. The Michigan house of representatives, at the last session of the legislature, adopted a resolution calling on the superintendent to place a picture of Col. Roosevelt in each school room in the state and Mr. Johnson is now making the distribution and suggesting that the pictures be dedicated, with appropriate exercises, on Roosevelt's birthday, Oct. 27. Students in the university and in all state colleges are being asked to take an active part in the campaign.

The work of the intensive campaign has been divided so that special efforts may be made by large civic groups of citizens. The following days have been set apart:

Sunday, Oct. 19, Church Day, with

MICHIGAN'S TRIBUTE TO COL. ROOSEVELT

On Jan. 15, 1919, the Senate and House of Representatives of Michigan, met in joint convention in Representative Hall, Lansing, to do honor to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt. Following the delivery of eulogies by various members of these bodies resolutions were unanimously adopted paying tribute to his memory. After referring to the great sorrow caused by the Colonel's death the resolutions read:

"Whereas, Colonel Roosevelt's long public career and private life were marked by a refreshing courage, prophetic vision, an inspiring devotion to principle, reinforced by a dynamic personality, a pure heart and an active mind and body, all of which he combined to elevate the standards of our political morale and in more recent years to strengthen and stabilize the ideals that recreated our national spirit from almost indifference to one hundred per cent Americanism; and

"Whereas, his voice and acts have done so much to promote and stimulate the youth of this and future generations along the pathway of clean living, square dealing, respect for authority, intellectual development, physical upkeep, military training, religious tolerance and devotion to the flag; and

"Whereas, all Michigan has a proper sense of the great constructive service Colonel Roosevelt has given to mankind as a public servant and as our nation's most distinguished private citizen, and having desire to give expression to this common feeling of appreciation of a great and honorable name; therefore be it

"Resolved, By the legislature, acting for the citizens of Michigan, in joint convention assembled, to pay tribute to the memory of our beloved president, that these resolutions be spread upon the journals of the Senate and House of Representatives, and the same be suitably engrossed, duly authenticated and forwarded to Colonel Roosevelt's family at Oyster Bay.

Every newspaper in the state has been asked to lend its aid in setting forth the purposes of the campaign and the number of editors who have pledged their co-operation is indicative of a splendid result.

Plans are perfected for a speakers' bureau that will provide an able presentation of the memorial association's aims at every public gathering in the state between now and the end of the campaign. One hundred speakers, many of whom served as four-minute men during the war, will be available for meetings anywhere in the state on application to state headquarters.

"It is the earnest wish of everyone interested to remove absolutely all thought of partisanship from the Roosevelt Memorial Association," said Chairman King, in a discussion of campaign plans. "Theodore Roosevelt is removed from the field of partisan politics. His memory is the common heritage of all Americans."

"America would honor Roosevelt the man in order that his many qualities may be fused into the life and spirit of American youth. Undiluted honesty and square dealing, uncommon wisdom and foresight, dauntless courage and tireless energy, service and sacrifice, born of a love of America that with him amounted to a passion—it is to these qualities which one man has been able to embody, that the people of America seek to erect a permanent memorial. All citizens, regardless of party, who believe that the memory of such a man will inspire the future generations of Americans are earnestly invited to assist by their energy and their gifts."
