O. E. S. OFFICERS PUBLICLY INSTALLED

In the presence of a large company of members of the order and invited guests the newly elected and appointed officers of Orient Chapter, O. E. S., were installed on Friday evening last. The ceremonies of installation were conducted by Past Grand Worthy Matron, Mrs. Ida Joslin and Mrs. Bruno Freydt, as marshal and the work was given in a very impressive manner. When the work of installation had been concluded Mrs. Belle Simmons, the retiring worthy matron, who had served the chapter most acceptably was presented with a past matron's jewel, the presentation being made by Mrs. Belle Tunham, in behalf of the members of the chapter. The other officers, who had served during the past year together with those who conducted the ceremony of installation, were presented with flowers, as was also Mrs. Georgia Tunham, the newly installed worthy matron.

Refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cake and coffee were served and a social hour followed. The chapter is in a very flourishing condition and during the past year has added 29 to its membership.

JUST WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

Republican economy in congress has cost Michigan the additional fish hatchery provided for by a bill Senator Newberry introduced last year. The sundry civil appropriation bill, brought before the house last Thursday carries only the usual appropriations for Michigan and the item of $50,000 for this hatchery at Northville was among the missing items which made up the billion and a half dollars claimed by Floor Leader Mondell as the saving made from original estimates.

The above appeared as a Washington dispatch to the Detroit Free Press on Thursday last, but Northville people are at a loss to know just what it means. Northville is not seeking a new hatchery, but it was hoped an appropriation might be secured to care for necessary improvements and to keep the property up to its usual standard. Northville's hatchery is one of the oldest ones established and for many years did a thriving business in the propagation of fish fry. Much of the work formerly done here is now being done at Charlevoix.

MAY APPEAL D. U. R. CASE TO U. S. COURT.

Attorney General Alex J. Groesbeck is going to see whether the United States supreme court can help him in his fight against the Detroit United Railway. This government lawyer began preparation to appeal the decision of the Michigan supreme court in the nation's highest tribunal.

Mr. Groesbeck is basing his latest contention on the ground that franchise is not a legislative act, hence is in the nature of a contract. He holds that franchises as affecting gas and telephone companies are permits, not franchises, in which the legislature permits the municipality to issue a franchise.

Mr. Groesbeck, however, is unable to carry before the United States supreme court his interpretation of the Smith railway act, as amended by the 1919 legislature which would put the D. U. R. outside in so far as gaining benefits of the act is concerned. This is mainly because of the practice of the federal court to be guided by findings of the lower courts in the state. He argues that it is a violation of the United States constitution to annul a franchise which he construed to be the same as a contract.

NEWLY ELECTED EPWORTH LEAGUE OFFICERS.

The following officers were elected Tuesday evening for the ensuing year: President, Jas. E. Sessions; first vice, Miss Ruth Henry; second vice, Miss Jessie Clark; third vice Mrs. C. R. VanValkenburg; fourth vice, Mrs. James Sessions; secretary, Miss Amy Sessions; treasurer, J. Ralph Pickard; pianist, Roy G. Clark; asst. pianist, Miss Irene Marr; chorister, Lee B. Shipley; asst. chorister, Mrs. M. S. Griffin.

NORTHVILLE HIGH SCHOOL WINS.

An exciting base ball game was played at Plymouth Tuesday afternoon, between the Northville and Plymouth high school boys, and resulted in a victory for the Northville team, the score being 13 to 8. The local players were accompanied by a goodly number of rooters.

SCHOOL CHILDREN PRESENT OPERETTA

The operetta, "Uncle Sam's Visit," given by the pupils of the grades in the Northville schools last Friday night was a most creditable effort and the entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by every one present. The affair was planned and directed by Miss Ruth A. Greene, supervisor of music, who was very ably and efficiently assisted by the teachers of the several grades represented; and the manner of its rendition reflected credit upon all who contributed toward its success. Uncle Sam was represented by Milton Hall, Columbia by Flossie Williams, "The Old Woman who Lived in Her Shoe" by Hazel Lanning and "The Boy" a real live, wide-awake American youth, by Lloyd Stillwell, and all did their parts splendidly. Uncle Sam and Columbia were escorted into the presence of "The Old Woman" by a company of soldiers—Boy Scouts, bearing an American flag, and their appearance upon the stage brought forth hearty applause.

The exercises were given in the following order and the pretty costumes worn by the children and young people, together with the spirited music to which the several selections and exercises were set, formed a program that was both entertaining and pleasing.

The Scottish Highland Song given by Joan Murrie and the Spanish dance given by Hazel Hogson are worthy of special mention and the young ladies were given hearty encores to which they readily responded.

First Grade—Shoemaker's Dance.

Danish

Second Grade—English Singing Game.

Third Grade—Dutch Kinderpolka.

Fourth Grade—Irish Jig.

Fifth Grade—Norwegian Mountain March.

Sixth Grade—Swedish Quadrille.

Seventh and Eighth Grades—Trotting.

Ninth and Tenth Grades—War Dance.

NORTHVILLE GIRL MAKES GOOD "OIL WEST."

One of the pleasant things enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ambler during the recent trip to the Pacific coast was their visit with Miss Katie White, 1414 Northville, the girl known in Los Angeles as the "oil queen" of the market. This young lady has "made good" exactly through her own persistence and ability.

Miss White who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. White of this place has been for some years a clerk and clerk with one of the wholesale jewelry houses in Los Angeles. Having now left that position for a more lucrative one in the office work of the Los Angeles production Co. she went to California about five years ago, and by her own industry has acquired a business training that gives her an enviable place in business life. While holding a major position she attended night school until she had fitted herself for something better, and besides other things learned to do art work that affords her a nice little income outside her regular salary.

LINKS READY FOR OPENING.

Andrew Robertson, who has charge of the Meadowbrook Country club this season, has the grounds in good condition and a number of members were on the "greens" Saturday and Sunday last. A delay in the formal opening of the club has been caused by the failure of the new pumping equipment to arrive as expected. It is hoped, however, that the opening may take place within a week or so. The club owns a very handsome property on the car line and a very enjoyable season is anticipated by its members.

SCHOOLS ON UNIVERSITY LIST.

Superintendent Bowen recently received from the Department of Education of the U. of M. the following letter from A. S. Whitney, professor of education:

"I take great pleasure in informing you that upon the recommendation of the Committee on Diploma Schools the diploma relation between your school and this University is continued for the term of two years ending June 30, 1922."

Work on drawing gravel for the completion of North Center street was commenced Monday morning. The cement work will start just as soon as a big cement car is secured.

Paint and Your Pocketbook

Decay causes losses of thousands of dollars annually. These losses are caused by weather acting upon unpainted surfaces. Weather is a destructive agent. Repairs are expensive. They are usually neglected because they are not apparent—seldom are they looked for. Good Paint, properly applied before decay attacks your home, prevents depreciation in property values—make expensive repairs unnecessary. Painting is a good investment—it pays dividends in increased property values, minimum repair bills, and increased life of buildings.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

To keep a complete breeding record of even a small flock of chickens is not any easy task, as anyone who has had any experience knows, but accurate records are of inestimable value in building up breeds and flocks and are well worth the time expended in obtaining them.

FARM ORGANIZATIONS ASKED TO CO-OPERATE

Suggestions From Any and All Associations Wanted.

Department of Agriculture Seeking Solution of Present-Day Problems
—Frank, Honest Criticism Gladly Received.

In seeking solutions for present-day problems in which agricultural interests of this country are vitally interested it is the desire of the United States department of agriculture to secure co-operation and frank suggestions from any and all organizations directly concerned with farm progress, declared Edwin T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture, addressing a delegation of 100 farmers who called at the department representing the national board of farm organizations, while they were in session in Washington.

"The industries which this department is designed to serve are of tremendous magnitude and there is no one, I believe, who appreciates this more keenly than the secretary of agriculture," said Mr. Meredith. "If we are to serve the farmers of this country, and through them the nation as a whole, they must have contact with the department and the department with them. Therefore, I am speaking no idle phrase when I say that I want the suggestions which you men and others can give. Frank honest criticism will be gladly received also. It is by such contact of mind with mind that the best results will be obtained. I want you men to know that whenever you come to this department with suggestions or requests for help, we will do all in our power to serve you."

Replying to the secretary's remarks, on behalf of the visitors, William A. Brown, editor of the Farmers' Fire-Insurance Bulletin, Arlington, Tex., said that he greatly appreciated the frank request for suggestions which the secretary had given the delegation. He expressed the belief that individual farmers and farm organizations are working with the department and that they would meet the department in the same spirit.

with an individual number. This is also recorded in the chick index. When not more than 16 hours are kept, the toe punch can be used successfully for identification purposes. The punch is made in the web of the baby chick's foot. All chicks by the same dam are given the same toe punch. To make sure that the holes haven't grown together, it is an excellent plan to go over the chickens about two weeks after the first punch, and if the hole has filled in, punch it out again. This usually results in a permanent mark.

When leg bands are used the chicks must be looked over frequently to make sure that the bands are not becoming too tight. A tight band will prevent proper circulation and may cause fatal injury. Regular inspection, however, will avoid any such danger.

Putting Ring in Wing

When the chick is about six weeks old the band is removed from the foot and inserted in the wing. To do this, one of the chick's wings is spread and held against the light. A point is selected about one-fourth of an inch from the edge of the wing where there are no large blood vessels and with a small penknife a clean incision is made. There will be little or no bleeding from the wound. One end of the band is slipped through the hole and the ends are brought together. If there is no fastening the ends are simply lapped. The wing should not be pressed together or the band will be pressed together or the band will be pressed together.

FEED CONTAINING PROPER INGREDIENTS TENDS TO STIMULATE MILK PRODUCTION

Take Advantage of Their Maternal Tendencies to Make Them Profitable Producers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

A cow's yearly production depends largely upon the conditions of her life. During the first few weeks after freshening, the dry period before freshening gives the cow a rest and tones her up. After a cow gives birth to her calf, it is a good plan for her to produce a small calf to feed her offspring.

When the cow is again increased on the next day, this process is continued, and the grain increased every second or third day, as long as the cow continues to make a profitable increase in quantity of milk produced. The laxative feeds are gradually taken out of the ration after a few days and grains substituted, according to the need and economy of the ration.

This method of working the fresh cow up to give a larger quantity of milk may take from two to four weeks. The digestive and milk-secreting systems of some cows respond to increased feed more slowly than others. Best results cannot be obtained by attempting to bring a cow into her full milk flow during the first week following freshening.

Even though the fresh cow does not go off her feed her digestive system may be overtaxed and the keep edge worn off her appetite so her milk flow is not brought up to its maximum.

Checking Up Economy of Production

When milking the fresh cow, the determine continues to walk a little longer than usual in order to stimulate the milk-secreting glands to produce more milk. This is simply an imitation of the calf's efforts to satisfy its appetite and results in maintaining the flow of milk over a relatively long period.

Production a Guide for Feeding

In order to take advantage of this impulse to produce more milk, the ration should be increased gradually and also weigh the milk. He starts the fresh cow on a ration of five pounds of a high quality ration. He increases the ration to one-half pound one day and a pound it with the pounds of milk produced during the first two days. If the increased amount of milk is produced in a corresponding increase in milk, the grain is again increased on the next day. ## HIGH WAGES MENACE PRODUCTION OF FOOD

People Also Moving From Farms to Big Cities.

Increased Number of Men and Boys Leave Farming to Engage in Other Industries—Farmers Cutting Down Plantings

Scarcity of labor is a menace to the production of food because of high wages paid by farm laborers, high cost of farm equipment and supplies and because of increased movement of people from the farms to the cities as indicated by reports and letters that are reaching the United States department of agriculture from many sections of the country.

The most definite of these reports comes from New York state, where records of the population on 3775 representative farms on February 1 this year and February 1 a year ago were made by federal and state workers. It was disclosed that during the past year the number of people on these farms decreased nearly 3 per cent and the number of hired men decreased more than 17 per cent. If the same ratio holds for all farms in the state about 5,600 men and boys left farming to go into other industries while only about 11,000 have entered from other industries to farming. This is a more rapid movement from the farms to other industries than took place in the early part of the war.

The same conditions in varying degree exist in all sections, according to the federal bureau of crop estimates although they are not so acute as in the industrial centers.

Another New York report, applicable to some degree in every part of the country, is that farm wages this year will average 14 per cent higher than they were in 1919, although in 1919 they were 80 per cent higher than they were at the beginning of the war. Estimates from 350 farmers in all parts of New York state indicate that experienced farm help, hired by the month will be paid this year about $32 a month and board, as compared with $45.50 last year. Experienced married men, not boarded but provided with a house and farm products, are expected to receive on the average about $88.50 a month in cash as compared with $90 last year. Numerous letters to the department of agriculture from its field workers or from farmers indicate a widespread disposition to cut down plantings so that the work of cultivating can be attended to by the farmer himself or by members of his family. The assertion that farm's cannot pay the high wages demanded in competition with other industries and make a profit on their products is frequently made. Many farmers, also, declare it is unfeeling to them to be under the necessity of working ten, twelve or more hours a day when the tendency in other industries is toward a shorter working day, and a decreased output.

HOME CONSUMPTION OF PORK

Average for Each Farm Family Is Over 500 Pounds—Utilize Waste From Kitchen

Nearly two-thirds of the meat eaten on the farm is pork, the average farm consumption of pork being over 500 pounds per family. The greater portion of the pork products used by farmers is produced on the home farm. Swine specialists of the United States department of agriculture call attention to the fact that a small number of pigs can be raised cheaply. Kitchen and garden wastes, and sometimes dairy by-products, are available for feed. The farmer usually kills the hogs and dresses them on his own place. The hogs furnish a good variety of meat and also lard. The smokehouse, a common improvement on the farm, provides a convenient way for curing pork.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Exercise is essential for swine.

Fall litters generally develop more runs than spring litters.

The low prices of horses has influenced the less progressive to stick to the old methods.

Disinfect swine lots and houses every week or so with coal-tar dips or crude oil to prevent epidemics of disease.

Extensive tests at the Wisconsin station indicate that whey is worth about half as much as skim milk for hog feeding.

Along with this "better sire" movement let us keep in mind something which is almost as essential and that is better feeding.

DAIRY FACTS

MUST MAKE BETTER BUTTER

Imports Emphasize Impressive Lesson for Dairymen—Foreign Competition Active.

To meet foreign competition, dairy farmers of the United States must be able to produce a better quality of product and produce and market it more economically and more efficiently, according to specialists in the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture.

Arrivals of shipments of Danish butter are already affecting prices on the New York City market. Argentina is producing nearly three times the amount of butter and cheese consumed, and some of the surplus may be expected to come to this country to compete with our products in foreign countries. Before the war Siberia was rapidly extending its dairy industry and when conditions become settled in that country, it may be expected to come back as a factor in the world's market. Recently there have been signs of interest in dairying in South Africa, and the industry as developed in New Zealand and Australia must be reckoned with.

If the dairy products manufactured in the United States are of a better quality than those from other countries they need not fear competition. Canada's cheese industry illustrates this. A strict system of government supervision in the training of cheese makers in the operating of the factories, and in the grading, marketing and exporting of the product, exists there. This has tended toward an improvement in the quality of Canadian cheese until it ranks with the finest on the English markets.

The dairy industry in Argentina has grown rapidly since the beginning of the war. Before the war but ports from that country totaled 3,234 tons a year; in 1918 they were five times that. Cheese exports were far exceeded by the imports in 1913. Now the conditions are reversed—over 6,000 tons of cheese being exported in 1918. Today most of these exports are going to European markets, but should conditions become favorable it may be expected that some of these will come to this country. The bureau of markets warns dairymen to be prepared to meet this competition.

CANS BETTER THAN BUCKETS

Most Convenient for Collecting Milk at Barns and Conveying it to the House.

Milk and cream from even a few cows can be much more conveniently handled in regular milk cans than in the shallow pans and wide-mouthed buckets commonly used. Cans are convenient for collecting the milk at the barn and transferring it to the house. These cans may be bought in various sizes. For handling cream and skimmilk where separators are used, or even where cream is set to sour for buttermaking, the "shotgun can" is very convenient. It can be easily covered and set in water and is convenient to handle.

DIFFICULT CHURNING CAUSES

Among Other Things Cream May Be Too Thin and Temperature May Not Be Right.

Difficult churning may be due to several factors:

Too thin cream. It should test between 36 to 38 per cent fat.

Wrong churning temperature of the cream. Sixty degrees is about right.

In a few instances it may be due to the action of certain germs.

In some instances it may be due to feeding foods which produce a large percentage of herd fat.

Sour cream churns easier than sweet cream.

"Strict doesn't express it," replied the girl's friend. "Why she's that particular she won't heat her curling tongs over a spirit lamp!"—London Tit-Bits.

A Puzzler.
"Ma, when any one steals anything from you, mustn't you forgive him until he gives back what he took?"
"Of course not, my child."
"Then I'll tell Dick when he comes tonight that you say he must give me 'fraught back the kays he stole from me yesterday!"

"You and Grump seem to get along pretty well."
"Yes, you see he never borrows anything but trouble, and that's the only thing I ever have to lend."

A Contingency.
The early bird will get the worm. Of that there is no question; But if, alas, this worm should turn He'd get the indigestion.

Tarzan and The Jewels of Opar

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of "TARZAN OF THE APES," "SON OF TARZAN"

CHAPTER XVII.—Continued.

"He is worse than a crook," said a quiet voice behind them.

Tarzan turned in astonishment to see a tall man in uniform standing in the trail a few paces from him. Back of the man were a number of black soldiers in the uniform of the Congo Free State.

"He is a murderer, monsieur," continued the officer. "I have followed him for a long time to take him back to stand trial for the killing of his superior officer."

Werper was upon his feet now, gazing white and trembling at the fate which had overtaken him even in the fastness of the labyrinthine jungle. Instinctively he turned to flee; but Tarzan of the Apes reached out a strong hand and grasped him by the shoulder.

"Wait," said the ape-man to his captive. "This gentleman wishes you and so do I. When I am through with you, he may have you. Tell me what has become of my wife."

The Belgian officer eyed the almost naked white giant with curiosity. He could not quite determine the social status of this strange creature; but he knew that he did not relish the easy assurance with which the fellow presumed to dictate when he might take possession of the prisoner.

"Pardon me," he said stepping forward and placing his hand on Werper's other shoulder. "But this gentleman is my prisoner. He must come with me."

"When I am through with him," replied Tarzan, quietly.

"Both the law and the power to enforce it are upon my side," announced the officer. "Let us have no trouble."

"Your legal rights are not above suspicion," my friend," replied Tarzan, "and your power to enforce your commands are only apparent—not real. You have presumed to enter British territory with an armed force. Where is your authority for this invasion? Where are the extradition papers which warrant the arrest of this man? And what assurance have you that I cannot bring up armed force about you that will prevent your return to the Congo Free State?"

The Belgian lost his temper. "I have no disposition to argue with a naked savage," he cried. "Unless you wish to be hurt you will not interfere with me. Take the prisoner, sergeant."

Werper raised his lips close to Tarzan's ear. "Keep me from them, and I can show you the very spot where I saw your wife last night," he whispered. "She cannot be far from here at this very minute."

The soldiers, following the signal from their sergeant, closed in to seize Werper. Tarzan grabbed the Belgian about the waist, and bearing him beneath his arm as he might have borne a sack of flour, leaped forward in an attempt to break through the cordon.

His right fist caught the nearest soldier upon the jaw and sent him hurtling backward upon his fellows. Clubbed rifles were torn from the hands of those who barred his way, and right and left the black soldiers stumbled aside to the face of the ape-man's savage break for liberty.

So completely did the blacks surround the two that they dared not give fear of hitting one of their own number, and Tarzan was already through them and upon the point of dodging into the concealing mazes of the jungle when one who had snaked upon him from behind struck him a heavy blow upon the head with a rifle.

In an instant the ape-man was down and a dozen black soldiers were upon his back. When he regained consciousness he found himself securely bound, as was Werper also. Werper was visible in his protests. He explained that Tarzan was an English lord; but the officer only laughed at the assertion and advised his prisoner to save his breath for his defense in court.

Toward evening the column halted beside a stream, made camp and prepared the evening meal. From the thick foliage of the near-by jungle a pair of fierce eyes watched the activities of the uniformed blacks with silent intensity and curiosity.

Tarzan and Werper had been lying bound behind a small pile of knapsacks from the time that the company had halted; but with the preparation of the meal completed, their guard ordered them to rise and come forward to one of the fires where their hands would be unfettered that they might eat.

As the giant ape-man rose, a startled expression of recognition entered the eyes of the watcher in the jungle, and a low guttural broke from the savage lips. Instantly Tarzan was alert, but the answering growl died upon his lips, suppressed by the fear that it might arouse the suspicions of the soldiers.

Suddenly an inspiration came to him. He turned toward Werper.

"I am going to speak to you in a loud voice and in a tongue which you do not understand. Appear to listen carefully to what I say, and occasionally say something as though replying in the same language—our escape may hinge upon the success of your efforts."

Werper nodded in assent and understanding, and immediately there broke from the lips of his companion a strange jargon which might have been compared with equal propriety to the barking and growling of a dog and the chattering of monkeys.

The nearer soldiers looked in surprise at the ape-man. The officer approached the prisoners while Tarzan was still jabbering, and halted behind them, listening in perplexed interest.

And deep in the gloomy jungle amidst the darkening shadows of the falling night a hairy, manlike creature was swiftly southward upon some secret mission of his own.

To Jane Clayton, waiting in the tree where Werper had placed her, it seemed that the long night would never end, yet end it did at last, and within an hour of the coming of dawn her spirit leaped with renewed hope at sight of a solitary horseman approaching along the trail.

The flowing burpooze, with its loose hood both the face and the figure of the rider; but that it was Mr. Fie could the girl well know since he had been garbed as an Arab, and he alone might be expected to seek her hiding place.

She did not see the black face beneath the white hood, nor the file of ebon horsemen beyond the trail's bend riding slowly in the wake of their leader. These things she did not see at first, so she leaned downward toward the approaching rider, a cry of welcome in her throat.

At the first word the man looked up, reining in in surprise, and as she saw the black face of Abdul Mourak, the Abyssinian, she shrank back in terror among the branches; but it was too late. The man had seen her, and now he called to her to descend. She realized that resistance was futile, and came slowly down to stand upon the ground before this new captor and plead her cause in the name of justice and humanity.

Angered by recent defeat and by the loss of the gold, the jewels and his prisoners Abdul Mourak was in the pain and the rage wiped caution from his mind, and with a loud and angry roar, he topped the barrier with an easy leap and was among the horses.

What had been pandemonium before became now an indescribable tumult of hideous sounds. The stricken horse upon which the lion leaped shrieked out its terror and its agony. Several about it broke their tethers, and plunged madly about the camp. Men leaped from their blankets and with guns ready ran toward the pucker line, and then from the jungle beyond the boma a dozen lions culled by the example of their fellow, charged fearlessly upon the camp.

Amidst the cracking of the rifles and the growls of the carnivora rose the death screams of stricken men and horses as they were dragged down by the blood-mad cats. The leaping caravans and the plunging horses prevented any concerted action by the Abyssinians—it was every man for himself—and in the melee the defenseless woman was either forgotten or ignored by her black captors.

A horse, struck by a stray bullet, fell beside Jane Clayton, a lion leaped upon the expiring beast and upon the breast of a black trooper just beyond. Gaping fangs closed with a single sucking clench upon the trooper's tormented face, and the lion strode back across the body of the dead horse dragging his hind and body behind him.

Wide-eyed the girl stood watching. She saw the carnivore yelp upon the corpse, snappings, as the grisly thing swung between its forepaws, and her eyes remained fixed in fascination while the beast passed within a few paces of her.

The tiger-like of the body seemed to enrage the lion. He shook the matted clays voraciously. He growled and roared hideously at the dead man's face and then he dropped it and raised his head to look about in search of some living victim upon which to wreak his ill temper. His yellow eyes fastened themselves hatefully upon the figure of the girl, the breathing lips ceased, disclosing the glistening fangs. A terrible roar broke from the savage throat, and the great beast crouched in spring upon this new and helpless victim.

Quiet had fallen upon the camp where Tarzan and Werper lay securely bound. Silently and powerfully the ape-man strained at the bonds which fettered his wrists.

The muscles knotted beneath the smooth brown skin of his arms and shoulders, the veins stood out upon his temples from the force of his exertions; a strand parted another and another, and one hand was free. Then from the jungle came a low guttural and the ape-man became suddenly a silent, rigid statue, with ears and nostrils straining to catch the black void where his eyesight could not reach.

Again came the muzzling sound from the thick verdure beyond the camp. The sentries drew noses together watching the black spot from which the voice seemed to come.

They dared not approach their terror even prevented them from arousing their fellows—they could only stand in frozen fear and watch for the fearsome apparition they momentarily expected to see eat from the jungle.

Nor did they long to wait. A dark, bulky form dropped lightly from the branches of a tree into the camp. At sight of it one of the sentries recovered command of his muscles and his voice. Screaming loudly, to awaken the sleeping camp, he leaped toward the flickering watch fire and threw a mass of brush upon it.

The flames leaped high upon the re-juvenated fire, lighting the entire camp, and the awakened men shrank back in superstitious terror from the sight that met their frightened and astonished vision.

A dozen huge and hairy forms loomed large beneath the trees at the far side of the inclosure. The white giant, one hand free, struggled to his knees and was called to the frightful nocturnal visitors in a hideous medley of bestial guttural barking and growlings.

Growing the great eyes leaped forward toward Tarzan and Werper. Chalk led them. The Belgian officer called to him to rise upon the intruders, but the negroes held back filled as they were with superstitious terror of the hairy, red-robed, and with the conviction that the white giant who could thus summon the beasts of the jungle to his aid was more than human.

Drawn his own weapon the officer fired, and Tarzan feeling the effect of the noise upon his really timid friends, called to them to hasten and fulfill his commands. Chalk and a half dozen others wedded rapidly forward, and following the ape-man's directions, seized both him and Werper and bore them off toward the jungle.

By dint of threats, reproaches and profanity the Belgian officer succeeded in persuading his trembling command to fire a volley after the retreating apes. A ragged, straggling volley it was, but at least one of its bullets

NORTHVILLE, MICH., MAY 7, 1920.

MY MOTHER.

We read about the mothers of the days of long ago. With their gentle, wrinkled faces and their hair as white as snow. They were "middle-aged" at forty and at fifty donned lace caps. And at sixty clung to shoulder shawls and loved their little naps.

But I love the modern mother who can share in all the joys. And who understands the problems of her growing girls and boys. She may boast that she is sixty, but her heart is twenty-three. My glorious, bright-eyed mother who is keeping young with me. —Florence Howard, in Ladies' Home Journal.

ACCOUNTS MUST BE PAID.

During the past few weeks we have sent statements to a number of our subscribers who are in arrears more than one year. Some of them have very kindly responded and have paid their accounts in advance. Others, largely through indifference have neglected to give the matter any attention. We must ask that these accounts be settled promptly. It is utterly impossible to extend unlimited credit on subscription accounts now and unless prompt payment is made of some of these accounts we shall be compelled to discontinue the paper.

SOME PRACTICAL PROBLEMS.

If a man can build a barn in forty days working steadily ten hours per day, how long will it take two men to build a similar barn working on the job eight hours per day?

If five years ago a miner could dig a carload of coal working ten hours per day for six days in the week, how long will it take the same miner to reduce the price of coal by working six hours per day for six days in the week and working around and around the mine about the perimeter of the work?

If a young lady pay eighteen dollars for a pair of shoes with a high top that she has to pay twenty-three dollars for a pair of shoes with a low top, how long will it take her to pay for a pair of shoes with a low top that she has to pay twenty-three dollars for a pair of shoes with a high top? (This is a question of the value of the shoe.)

There are practical problems in our social and industrial life and we give the answer in dollars and cents, especially when we are in a hurry.

Two persons have come in to be baptized and have volunteered their services to assist in cleaning up the city during the day to be dedicated to the "up" day. This is a splendid idea and one that should be adopted with profit by other cities. The city of Northville needs a real aggressive "clean-up" campaign about a week or two. Back alleys and old tumble-down buildings ought to be cleaned out not only for the benefit of the health of the community, but for the purpose of reducing the fire risks.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES.

They say that man is mighty. He governs land and sea. He wields a mighty scepter. Over lesser powers that be. But a mightier power and stronger. Man from his throne has hurled. For the hand that rocks the cradle. Is the hand that rules the world. —W. R. Wallace.

Mothers' Day next Sunday, May 9. Let us meet together and thank God for our mothers and for all the host of mothers whose faith and love and service has meant so much for the advancement of mankind. And for their sakes let us pledge ourselves anew to the cause of righteousness, justice and truth. Attention is called to the following changes in our Sunday morning program: Service of worship with sermon, at 10:30 instead of 11:30 as heretofore. Sunday school at 11:45 instead of 10:30. Evening service as usual at 7:30. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:30. Let us be prompt.

FORESTERS GATE DANCE.

A dance was given in the rink by the Foresters, Saturday evening, and a prize offered to the couple dancing the best waltz. Three judges were appointed and of the five chosen couples, Clifford Casterline and sister-in-law, Mrs. Gary Deal, were picked as the best dancers. Something out of the ordinary is expected every Saturday evening.

MOTHERS' DAY SET FOR SUNDAY, MAY 9

Governor Steeper has called on Michigan to observe Sunday, May 9, as Mothers' day, in the following official proclamation:

"Although its observance dates back but a few years, Mothers' day has already become a national institution and is fittingly and tenderly celebrated by all classes and conditions of people throughout the land. It is well that we should pause amid the hurry and bustle of life and let our thoughts go back to the days of long ago, as we cherish the memory of the mothers who left us. While they were with us their chief concern was our welfare and comfort and happiness, and the mothers of today are animated by the same spirit of devotion and sacrifice. Indeed, nowhere in human life is the spirit of unselfish service so well exemplified as in the devotion of mothers to their homes and families."

That we may pay a special tribute of affection to the mothers who still live and honor the memory of those who have gone from us, I designate

"Sunday, May ninth, next, as Mothers' day, and call upon our people, both young and old, to gather in their places of worship and take part in services appropriate to the day and by wearing of a red flower for the living and a white for the dear departed, to symbolize their love and reverence for the mothers of the nation. Let me suggest, too, that absent sons and daughters take this occasion to visit the mother in the old home, or when such a visit is impossible that they send a message of cheer and greeting. By this day mothers know that in the rush of affairs they are not forgotten."

I further request the people of Michigan, Sunday, to display the United States flag in their home or other suitable places, as a fitting expression of their desire to pay homage to American motherhood."

MOTHERS' DAY.

The church calendar has become so full of days that one sometimes wonders what one is left for common every day. Mothers' Day is a different thing. It is a most appropriate day to have a world wide observance and that is why it is so popular. We have all had mothers and the very Mother's Day is a day to love and honor them.

Mothers' Day will be observed next Sunday at the Methodist church with a program of spiritual music and other interesting features. There will be a service of prayer and devotion and a collection for the mothers' fund. We have all had mothers and the very Mother's Day is a day to love and honor them.

We send all our good wishes to all mothers and mothers-to-be. We hope that the name and memory of the one who rocked them to sleep, fed them and taught them the truth, will be a source of their delight and joy.

Let every body make a special effort to be present.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

Next Sunday being Mothers' Day a sermon appropriate to the occasion will be preached by the pastor at the morning service. Everybody should try to attend this service. Come wearing a flower in honor of mother—a red flower for her if she is still living in this present world—a white flower if she has passed out into the great beyond.

In the evening we will have an evangelistic service. Subject: "God was in, and with whom we all have to do."

Morning service at 10:30. Bible school at 11:45. Evening service at 7:30. Mid-week service at 7:30 every Thursday.

The ladies of the Baptist church turned out with their vacuum cleaners, brooms and mops and did a very thorough job cleaning the church last Wednesday. As an all-around bustling good-natured pull-together praying band of workers the Baptist ladies are hard to beat.

The Baptist church is within $300 of going over the top in its efforts to raise $3,000 dollars as its share in the big New World Movement. From reports that are coming in, it looks like the denomination will reach its objective of $100,000,000.

Every rehearsal brings the American Legion musical comedy, "Step In," nearer to perfection. The Beguine chorus will be a joy with their songs and dances, assisting an able cast of ten. Lots of music, lots of action at the Alhambra theatre, Wednesday evening, May 20th.

Why Is Northville Firm?

Because Its Citizens Have Learned The Truth.

After reading this generous and encouraging report from Mr. Clark, those who have the misfortune to suffer, as he did, will naturally long to get similar relief. But to get the same good as Mr. Clark had, you should get the same remedy. There are, of course, other kidney pills but there are no other kidney pills the same as Doan's. That is why Northville people demand the genuine.

N. L. Clark, retired farmer, Grace avenue, Northville, says: "It has been some time since I have had to take Doan's Kidney Pills, but speaking from past experience, I couldn't advise anyone to use a more reliable medicine than Doan's. Whenever my back bothered me or my kidneys acted irregularly, Doan's Kidney Pills soon rid me of the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Clark had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Sandpaper Label

A device for protecting people from taking doses from poison bottles by mistake is a sandpaper label. The ordinary label is pasted on a piece of sandpaper large enough to go all around the bottle so that when any one takes up the bottle in the night, no matter how dark from sleep, he may be the touch without fear of the sandpaper rubbing away and recognizing at once that the bottle contains poison of some kind. The printed label tells the name of the poison in the bottle.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

In the matter of the estate of ELLEN Y. MEAD, deceased.

We, the undersigned, having been appointed by the Probate Court for the county of Wayne, state of Michigan, commissioners to receive and examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against said deceased, do hereby give notice that we will meet at the Northville State Savings Bank, Northville Michigan, in said county, on Saturday, the 3rd day of July A. ## LELAND URGED FOR GOVERNOR

At a conference held at Lansing Saturday afternoon it was decided by friends of Hon. Frank B. Leland, of Detroit, regent of the University of Michigan, who had gathered from various parts of the state, to present him with a formal pledge of their support as candidate for governor in the approaching primary.

A general discussion of the urgent needs of a man on whom all Republicans might unite contributed some very earnest and heartily paid tributes to Mr. Leland, not only as a representative citizen of the state, but a man in whom the people could place the utmost confidence, beside being fully qualified in every way to guide the destiny of Michigan through the trying times which all felt are to come.

Particular emphasis was laid on the fact that in Mr. Leland's primary canvass for choice for governor four years ago, he received more than 90,000 votes, and there was very small doubt that he would not only be supported by the same friends in the coming campaign, but add to them, because of his well known conservatism, a much greater number.

For the last several weeks friends from all parts of the state have been urging him to permit his name as a candidate, but not until Saturday was there any formal action.

A committee was appointed to confer with Mr. Leland and present the sense of the gathering, with the assurance of the most enthusiastic support.

Early Decision Promised.

A report of the meeting was given to Mr. Leland at his home Saturday evening. It is true, said Mr. Leland, that during the last several weeks many of my friends have written and called, asking me to become a candidate for governor.

I scarcely know how to express my appreciation for the great compliment they have paid me. I have given the matter consideration, and at the request of so many of the Republicans of the state, I can hardly see how I can decline to become their standard bearer.

However, I will soon reach a decision in the matter and make an announcement of my conclusion. Detroit Free Press.

BEAVER OUTSELLING ADVISED THIS SPRING.

Because of the unusually late season, farmers should use more out and barley seed in their planting this spring, dealers find that the demand for the M. A. C. Farm Crops Department is unusually high. Instead of the usual six to eight pecks per acre, growers are advised to plant nine or ten pecks to the acre.

The majority of Michigan farmers will be forced to the "green" rule and barley in May this year, says Prof. Cox. Oats planted as late as this will not stand as well as usual, and a heavier planting is advisable. Nine or ten pecks of either oats or barley should be planted to the acre this spring.

NEW HAY BULLETIN READY AT M. A. C.

A special bulletin on Short Season Hay Crops has just been completed and is ready for distribution at the Michigan Agricultural College. The frequent failure of clover seedlings during the last two seasons has created a great demand for the annual or quick-growing crops to meet the immediate need for hay or roughage.

The bulletin, which is edited by Prof. C. R. Megee, of the M. A. C. Farm Crops Department, takes up spring and early summer sown crops. Oats and peas, oats and vetch, corn, soybeans, millets, Sudan Grass, sorghums and crimson clover are the crops discussed.

Copies of the Short Season Hay Crop bulletin (Circular No. 42) may be had free by writing to R. S. Shaw, Director of Experiment Station, M. A. C. East Lansing, Michigan.

THISTLE FORK STIRS ANCIENT QUARREL.

Geo. Rattenbury and Jim Weston, both living out Northville way, and at the time employer and employee, respectively, had a quarrel six years ago. George said he fired Jim; Jim says he quit. Until last Wednesday neither had spoken to the other, since the trouble.

Information given to William H. Quaine, assistant prosecuting attorney, Thursday, was to the effect that Jim stirred old memories Wednesday by using a thistle fork on George, piercing him with its tines in three places. The assistant prosecutor authorized a warrant for Weston's arrest on a charge of felonious assault.

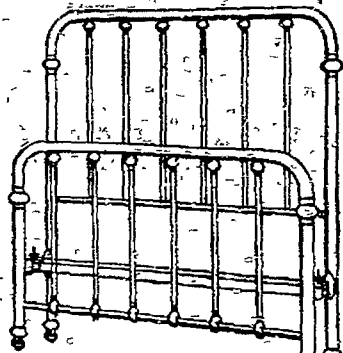

Both Rattenbury and Weston have been employed recently on the new tuberculosis sanitarium under construction at Northville.—Detroit Free Press.

RETURNS TO NORMAL ACTIVITIES.

The Michigan anti-tuberculosis workers are about ready to return to their normal activities after having concentrated on wartime tuberculosis work, was shown by the large attendance at the annual conference of the Michigan Anti-tuberculosis association held in the Senate chamber in Lansing last week.

Workers from all sections of the state were present, and the prevailing note of the convention was a return to such health work as was done before the war, only on a larger scale.

This was the first annual conference of the Michigan association since the opening of the war. The last meeting before this one was held in Battle Creek at the time when Camp Custer was under construction. In the meanwhile the work of the association has not relaxed but it has been to a large extent work brought on by war conditions. Special attention has been given during the past couple of years to tuberculosis among soldiers and among persons rejected by the draft, while the normal activities of the association were subordinated to the special demands of the country.

From now on however the work will proceed along normal lines although the association will continue to help the ex-service men as long as such help is needed. The feature of this year's work is the Public Health crusade among Michigan school children.

South Lyon—L. W. Lovewell will handle the wool in this section for those farmers who wish to consign their clips to the Michigan Farm Bureau at Lansing.

ABOUT OUR NEIGHBORS.

Interesting items from our exchanges—gathered with pencil, paste pot and scissors.

Pontiac—A theatre costing $140,000 and that will seat 1,200 persons, is being built for Jacob Kovinsky.

Holly—There is a splendid prospect of this town having a chair factory locate here. The Board of Commerce is considering the proposition.

Ann Arbor—Told "her roof was on fire," a red-haired girl in a university league house here today called the fire department. Firemen failed to find flames.

Milford—The American Legion here has purchased a building lot, and intends to erect a Community hut similar to the Y. M. C. A. huts in the army camps.

Farmington—The water works extension, which were put up to the people at a special election held last Monday, lost out with a vote of 90 yes and 156 noes.

Redford—Earl Churches 24 years old, was killed when the tractor he was driving tipped over backwards, last Friday. He was well known and liked by everyone in his vicinity. He leaves a father, brother and sister.

Plymouth—The local High school will have its eight and last debate May 24, at Ann Arbor to determine the state championship for Michigan.

Their opponent will be the Western State Normal High school at Kalama, Mo.

Milford—Directors of the Oakland County Fair association have determined to open the big show on Saturday this year. It is believed the day will bring out a record attendance. It is to open on Wednesday, Sept. 15, closing on Saturday, Sept. 18.

Wyandotte—The heavily laden motor trucks that have been racing up and down the Dixie highway as a result of the switchmen's strike, are playing havoc with the highways, especially those leading from Monroe county to Toledo. Parts of the roads are as full of holes as a sieve.

Holly—The body of Porter A. Wright reached Holly Friday. He died in Kearney, Neb., while on his way home from California. He was taken suddenly ill after the train had passed Omaha. A doctor and nurse who were fellow passengers, did all they could to render aid, and when the train stopped at Kearney he was taken to a hospital. Specialists were called, but within an hour he had to surrender.

One hundred and twenty-three carloads of live stock destined to the Detroit stock yards, were handled by the Erie Marquette railway, on Sunday, May 2nd. These 125 carloads made up three trains, which were supplied from various parts of Michigan and formed a rather unusual state shipment to arrive in Detroit on one day. The cattle were in fine condition.

In Other Words, Self-Control. True enjoyment lies always along that royal middle ground—the use of all functions and powers, but with the imperial hand of mastery upon all. Otherwise there are always heavy penalties to pay. —Ralph Waldo Trine.

THOS. B. COUCH

Groceries, Meat Market and General Merchandise.

Dear Friends:—

Poke Basley is getting very thrifty these days. He chaws tobacco and then dries it, and then smokes it in a pipe and then uses the ashes for snuff.

Well, I now have a new lot of canned goods, pineapples, plums, peaches, raspberries, blackberries, strawberries, apricots, gooseberries, pears, peas and corn in large and small 10 cans, for large families; at about 1/2 the price of small cans. A lot of good mild cheese and a lot of old stored cheese. I am mentioning the old store cheese so Bob Lanning will see it as he likes strong cheese. I also have a lot of the finest candy I have ever had. Bob is a good candy buyer also. He never buys less than $1.00 or $1.50 worth at a time, as he says he has so many children, and grandchildren, and great-grandchildren, to give it to.

And do not forget the barrels of flour, cornmeal, oatmeal, shredded cocoanut and pickles, and pepper, fish, salsoda, chicken rice and oyster shells. Just arrived—Salted Peanuts, roasted peanuts, 25 and 20 cents. Pop-corn 10 cents per lb. Dates and figs, and lots of new things from Chicago.

I have my new ice box set up and full of ice. If you need anything in the fresh or smoked meats, this is sure the place to get it. Your credit is good. If you need an accommodation, call on old Couch.

Lawn Grass Seed in bulk. Will sell at a low price.

MARGARET MATZENAUER, SOLOIST, CONTRALTO, ANN ARBOR MAY FESTIVAL, MAY 19, 20, 21, AND 22, 1926.

The Ladies Library association will hold a flower show in the early part of September.

Checks and paid yank silks, 28 inches wide at only 50 cents per yard at Holmes-Dainger & Co's.

Miss Emma Alexandre, for a number of years teacher in the Northville schools, has resigned her position and will return to her home at Ann Arbor. Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Lottie Howlett of this place, to Charles D. Shattuck of Plymouth, for May 22. The wedding will take place at Ypsilanti.

Plymouth—Mrs. Luther Peck has been elected one of the vice-presidents of the Women's Homeopathic League of Michigan, which was organized at Ann Arbor, May 1th.

"Extra size, extra quality Martell's quills at $1.01 each! Any lady who owns as good a quill as these, that didn't cost them $1.50 or more, I will make her a present of one of mine."

T. G. Richardson, the Cash Outfitter.

In one of the most hotly contested games witnessed here for some years, the Northville boys beat the Plymouth team yesterday by a score of 10 to 4. The victory was due to German's fine pitching throughout the game. Reef was umpire.

The real funny part of the ball game, yesterday, occurred when Leet, in running for a "pop-up" fly, went sprawling over P. King Ambler. King stood in the way, and having his eyes and mind elsewhere than on the "pop-up," before he knew it, he was on his back in mud turtle style with legs, arms and head in air. No one was injured.

Mrs. Rollin H. Beal, whose illness has been mentioned from time to time, passed away Saturday morning. She had been a sufferer with cancerous trouble and death came as a welcome relief. Besides the husband there remain three children. The funeral occurred Sunday afternoon conducted by Rev. A. Nord. Interment was in the family lot at Lakonia.

The funeral of W. Purd Sessions, whose death occurred Wednesday, was held from the home Sunday afternoon. Rev. Sein Reed officiated and made some very fitting remarks. Purd Sessions was the youngest living son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sessions, and brother of Charles. He was nearly 100 years of age and had lived in or near Northville nearly all his life. He was a doer and two children survive.

Wixom Whisperings.

Don Hopkins of Lansing was home over Sunday.

Mrs. Nettie Martin was a Northville visitor Sunday.

N. W. Ball and wife were callers at the Patton home Sunday.

Chas. Bentley and wife of Detroit are visiting at H. P. Oulick's this week.

Mrs. Harry Denton and children are visiting her parents, I. R. Stevens and wife this week.

Mrs. Blanche Thompson returned Monday from her winter's sojourn in St. Cloud, Florida.

Mrs. Taber of Flint was an over-Sunday guest of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. P. A. Brass.

Ed Collins and family and J. B. Smith and Mrs. M. M. Hoff were Wixom visitors Sunday.

Dr. Cecil Carter and baby of Detroit were guests at James Pithers a part of last week and this.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Strong, 56 Detroit, April 28th, a son. Both parents were formerly of Wixom. Wilbur Waterman and wife received the sad news of the death of the former's mother, Tuesday. She resided in the vicinity of Northville.

Mrs. W. Strausbaugh and daughter, Juanita of Hastings, who were visitors here a part of last week and this, returned home Tuesday.

DETROIT THEATRES.

Ohrer Morosco's all-star cast will be seen at the Garrick theatre; in "Mamma's Affair," the week beginning May 10th.

"Mamma's Affair" is for laughing purposes only and has to do with the strenuous efforts of a hypochondriac mother to be constantly ill and under the attention of a physician; a condition which requires the entire attention of her young daughter and which finally results in the latter's nearly becoming a real patient. The mother never travels without a list of doctors in each town she visits. She finally calls in the wrong physician—or rather a real physician and the right one—who quickly realizes the situation starts out to cure the mother and save the daughter's health by a most amusing treatment of pure mental know-beating. He succeeds in a most laughable and satisfactory fashion and incidentally develops and wins a bride in a fascinating and most exciting romance.

At the Shubert-Detroit commencing Sunday night, Messrs. Shubert will present their New York company of the long Broadway run in "Maytime" for one week with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

"Maytime" is so far removed from the jagg-jungle of conventional musical comedy that the arrangement of the re-advent in Detroit is calculated to bring a wave of genuine joy to all. Of course, there is the same beautiful ensemble of singing and dancing girls and the same opulent array of gorgeous costumes of the four periods.

Be Master of Difficulties. Grapple the first difficulty that comes up. Wrestle till you down it. If it takes till break of day. Get on top of it with both feet.—Archer Brown.

DEAR MOTHER, MINE
 (By Ben B. Hoover).
 Seems that God took all the sunshine,
 Every flower and precious gem,
 And shaped, with holy blessing,
 An eternal diadem.
 Then He must have had the angels
 Weave a cloak of purest love,
 Full of sacrifice and kindness,
 And the treasures from above
 It seems as if He summoned
 Patience, tenderness and grace,
 And imposed a world of virtue snugly in each tiny space.
 And then, almost completed,
 Breathed a spark of life divine,
 Crowned His living work with glory—
 Give me you, dear Mother, mine.

 Mr. and Mrs. Robert Park have not yet learned of Mrs. Park's death at her home in Detroit, the latter part of February, since no notice was sent
 The Record at the time Mr. and Mrs.
 Park and son spent several years in Northville with her sister, Mrs. Wm.
 E. Ambler, and the family were regular attendants at the Methodist church when in town.

Mrs. Albert Bauman spent last week in Detroit with relatives.
 A number of the local Shriners attended a ceremonial at the Armory in Detroit, Friday evening, April 30th.
 Full train service was restored on the Pere Marquette railway following the recent coal shortage, effective
 May 3rd.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lanning of Detroit, a son, on Saturday,
 May 1st. Mr. Lanning is a former Northville boy.

Mrs. E. A. Kohler reports to this office of finding a hen's egg, which measured 7 inches one way, and 8 inches the other.

Among the marriage licenses issued on Wednesday, was that of Francis Wilkinson of Northville and Mabel Corlins of Plymouth.

Carl VanValkenburg has been honorably discharged from the service, and has returned home from the east.
 Carl says he intends to stay in Michigan from now on.

Today is Arbor day and each member of the Woman's club of Northville is requested to plant a tree in their own yard and also make a bird house.

The Martha Chapter of the Presbyterian church will meet on Wednesday evening May 12th, at the home of Mrs.
 George Hills on Main street. The meeting will begin at 7:30.

The Schrader furniture store and chapel is being painted and when finished will add greatly to the appearance of the Central St. business block.

The brakes on the 19:30 car, Wednesday evening, failed to work, and as a result part of the noon railing on the upper deck of the hand stand was badly demolished by the force of the collision.

DEATH OF NORTHVILLE CITIZEN.
 The sudden death of George Smitherman which occurred at his home on North Center street Wednesday, May 5th, gave us a great shock to his many friends.

He arose as his usual good health
 Wednesday morning and went to the barn to feed the chickens. His family becoming alarmed at his prolonged absence found him unconscious on the barn floor having suffered a stroke.

A doctor was hurriedly summoned but
 Mr. Smitherman passed away in less than an hour.

He was born in Kent county England 75 days ago, and had lived in Northville for nearly 20 years. His widow has daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Brown of Detroit, Mrs. Ina Bauman of this village, and one son, Roy G.
 Smith, of Detroit, survive him.

Mr. Smitherman was a valued member of the Masonic fraternity, the G.
 A. M. and W. R. C. and deeply sympathetic towards the bereaved family in their sorrow.

Funeral services will be held from the home Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

BOYS and their CLOTHES

To be a boy is to want a dog. It needn't be a fine Airedale or a Scotch collie; just a little "cur dog" will do.

But when it comes to a suit it's different; he wants a "thoroughbred." It takes good "good stuff" to stand up under the kind of treatment he gives his clothes.

We know it, too; that's why we developed a new idea in boys' clothes—

$12.50 to $20.75

They've certainly made a great hit with mothers of boys.

Models—Single or double-breasted, plaids, belts or plain effects Patterns—Plaids, stripes, fancy or plain, finished or unfinished worsteds, blue serges, beautiful tweeds—many of the finer ones tailored by Hart Schaffner and Marx.
 Linings—Extra good plain and fancy alpaca.
 Trousers—One and two pairs; cuff and knicker styles; double seat and knees; belt loop slides; belts of same materials as suits; extra good linings; watch, hip and side pockets.
 Other Features—Full or disappearing belts; flap or patch pockets; pockets held firmly by canvas stays; seams doublestitched; and taped; sleeve linings back stitched to withstand tugging and pulling; buttons reamed so they will not cut thread.

Is like counting your chickens before they are hatched. For the time being it makes you feel good to think what you are going to do if a certain thing happens.

It's the reverse in "The Loan," though, for frequently in settling up with a stockholder we hear him say "That's more than I figured on."

The Cost of Upkeep

A telephone is like a car. It costs a lot to keep it in good shape. The cost of a telephone is not just the purchase price, but the cost of the upkeep. It is a constant drain on the pocket.

WE MUST HAVE YOUR SUPPORT
IF YOU ARE TO HAVE THE TELEPHONE

It has always been a policy of the Telephone Company to keep its property in such repair that its subscribers receive the greatest possible benefit.

But to keep things "ship shape" requires money, more money today than ever before. Materials cost more and wages have increased in an attempt to keep pace with the increased cost of living.

The Telephone Company is working hard to make ends meet, to keep its property in a good operating condition and to pay wages which will secure the most efficient and loyal service for the telephone user.

YOUR support to the telephone will make it easier for us to serve you.

Insyde Tyers Give You Service.

They Give You
Greater Mileage

Insyde Tyres add from 1,000 to 5,000 miles to the life of a casing by reinforcing it and preventing blow-outs, put in when tire is new.

Insyde Tyres eliminate 90 per cent of all punctures by preventing sharp articles from reaching the tube.

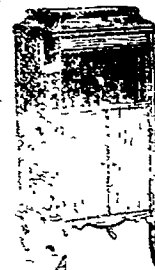

Insyde Tyres save their small cost in a short time and may be used over and over again in several casings.

Insyde Tyres are made of tough rubber-impregnated fabric, which is practically puncture and blow-out proof when placed inside of an outer casing.

The Recognized Leaders

If the verdict of the world counts for anything the COLUMBIA GRAFONOLA occupies a place held by no other musical instrument in the history of civilization. The natural advantage of priority, the prestige and power of leadership, and the commanding position of the Columbia Graphophone Co. enable it to produce an instrument without a peer in the qualities of technique, tone and convenience; an instrument accepted by musicians as the standard.

We have a good assortment of these machines in our display room and we shall be glad of the opportunity of demonstrating their superior tone quality to you. You can make no mistake in having a Columbia placed in your home.
