CALLS FOR MORE SPEED.

In an appeal to the Pere Marquette Railway's army workers, President Frank H. Alfred calls attention to a poor showing made in operation for the month of June. He says in part as follows: "For sometime, however, I believe we have all of us been asleep at the switch."

"For instance, during the month of June last, our 24,914 cars averaged only 16.2 miles per car day. This is a very poor showing and a costly one. Now a little greater effort on the part of those who were responsible for the movement of these cars would have easily enabled us to make a showing of 24 miles per car per day, which in the aggregate would have resulted in 194,329 car-miles per day more. Taken in another way, we could have performed the same transportation service for the communities we serve under a 24-car-mile average performance, with 16,817 cars, which at the 90-cent per diem rate, would have effected an economy of $7,287.30 per day—or $218,519.00 for the month of June. A saving worth while."

President Alfred makes a further appeal to the men to be careful in setting cars on sidings to assure prompt loading and unloading, for immediate notification of the shippers, and for the conservation of coal.

"This appeal," he says in closing, "I make in the public interest as well as on the substantial grounds of individual welfare."

The Farmington band played at Franklin Aug. 7th at the homecoming celebration. At the close of the program a ball game was played between Franklin and Farmington, with Farmington winner.

WILLIAM GORTON RETIRES FROM BUSINESS.

After an honorable business career covering more than fifteen years in Northville, William Gorton has sold his clothing stock and good will to C. D. Kilgour, who has been a faithful employer of the Gorton store for the past few years. Mr. Gorton has been in active business for many years and he richly deserves the vacation he is now enjoying. He contemplates spending the fall and winter in the sunny southland and many friends in this community will wish for him a delightful outing. The Gorton store has enjoyed an enviable reputation for honesty and fair dealing and Mr. Gorton retires with the best wishes of his many patrons.

Mr. Kilgour, by the way, is familiar with the clothing business and he will strive to serve the public in a manner that will meet with the approval of the buying public. He contemplates some changes and improvements in the store and he will carry at all times a splendid assortment of clothing and furnishings for men and boys. The Record welcomes him to the business circles of Northville and we hope for him a continuance of the very liberal patronage that has been accorded the Gorton store all these years.

GIVEN BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Mrs. C. J. Ball was given a real surprise upon the occasion of her 57th birthday last Saturday by a number of her old friends and neighbors from Wayne Flat Rock and New Port. The ladies arrived at noon bearing well filled baskets and a generous pot-luck dinner was enjoyed. They also brought a basket of beautiful flowers for Mrs. Ball. The afternoon was delightfully spent with conversation and no one among the merry company enjoyed the gathering more than did Mrs. Ball. When the time came for parting the guests extended cordial good wishes for many more such happy birthdays for the esteemed friend.

Among the ladies present were Mesdames Walter Coz, John Teigler and Frank Chamberlain of Wayne; Mrs. Callins and Miss Fagnie Adams of New Port; Mrs. Stoffet, Mrs. Lautenschlager, Mrs. Near and Mrs. Pinck of Flat Rock.

RACE MATINEE AND BALL GAME.

On Saturday afternoon there will be a race matinee and ball game at the Northville Fair grounds, given under the auspices of the Northville Driving Club, and there will be three events in the race program, and a purse of $100 has been hung up for each event. Races will start at 1:30 and horses will be here from Dexter Park, Ann Arbor, Milford and those being trained on the local track will also take part. For the ball game two fast teams have been engaged and the fans will be given a treat. The ball game will be called at 3:00. Admission to the grounds will be 50 cents.

Charles Sturman of Witom was in town Wednesday.

HAD A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The fourth quarterly conference of the M. E. church was held at the church parlors last Wednesday evening and the bountiful pot-luck supper added greatly to the pleasure of the meeting. A social hour followed the splendid "feed" and the conference took place in the evening. District Superintendent E. J. Warren of Detroit accompanied by his wife, was present and as the various reports were submitted he expressed himself as being very well pleased with the progress made by the society during the past year.

Northville people will be pleased to learn that the meeting voted unanimously to extend a call to Rev. H. J. B. Marsh to remain for another year as pastor, and that he was granted a substantial increase in salary. Mr. Marsh has made many friends both among the members of his church and society and the people outside of that particular circle and all will rejoice that he is to remain in Northville. He possesses a pleasing personality and typifies by his daily intercourse with the people of the community the highest type of a Christian gentleman.

UNITED GUN CLUB MEMBERS VISIT LAKESIDE CLUB.

Five members of the United Gun Club attended the Merchandise & Sweepstake Shoot of the Lakeside Gun club held at Gay's Beach, Rockwood, last Sunday. Several fine trophies were offered, and a few secured by the United shooters. For instance, a $500 prize was won by a man who wears a 7 1/2 lb. and saw when it comes to finding the stuff to eat, hand it to our old friend Mr. Marsh, and it was a home made apple pie.

Other members from a large number of clubs participated in the day's sports from West Toledo Gun club, the Wolverine club, the Sunny-side club, the Birmingham club and Pilestone, the United and others. Altogether it was a most successful shoot and all enjoyed the sport.

The Wolverine club is planning a visit to us next Sunday, and we ought to all turn out and give them the welcome they deserve.

11 PASSAGE, Secy-Treas HELD ANNUAL MEETING.

The Northville Loan & Building Association held its annual meeting at the Library building on Friday evening last with a small attendance of shareholders. Messrs C. A. Dolph, L. E. Neal and J. W. Perkins were chosen directors to succeed themselves and John McCully was elected in place of George Hotelling whose term of office expired. The annual report was submitted.

The directors held a meeting immediately following the shareholders meeting and elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President—Spencer Clark
Vice President—B. A. Wheeler
Secy.—I. B. VanAnt
Treas.—C. A. Dolph

STARKWEATHER STABLES HAVE TWO VALUABLE COLTS BURNED.

Lightning caused a $50,000 loss to the stables of the Clinton View Driving Club park at Mt. Clemens on Tuesday. Three horses, Jay Commodore a pacer, and two two-year-old colts owned by E. M. Starkweather of this place perished in the flames. The entire racing equipment of the stables, consisting of harness, sulkeys and blankets was also destroyed. The two colts were very promising animals and gave every evidence of developing into fast steppers.

Temporary stables will be provided for next week's short ship races which will be held at the Mt. Clemens track.

REBUILDING THE DAM.

Workmen are engaged in re-building the dam at Phoenix and vast quantities of stone are being put in the stream as a foundation for the cement structure. Forms for the cement work are being made and the work will be rushed as speedily as cement and other material can be secured. The pond at Phoenix is being "mowed" and weeds are being cut all about the property of the Ford interests.

WOODS—DANYO.

Mr. A. C. Woods of Detroit, and Julia E. Danyo of Northville, were married Friday, August 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gregory in Detroit. The couple left Saturday evening for a trip through the east, visiting Niagara Falls, Albany, New York City, Washington and Providence, R. I. They will make their home in Detroit upon their return.

Back Lame and Achy?

Housework is too hard for a woman who is back-achy, nervous and always tired. But it keeps piling up, and gives weak kidneys no time to recover. If your back is lame and achy and your kidneys irregular, if you have "blue soles," sick headaches, nervousness, dizziness and rheumatic pains, use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have done wonders for thousands of worn out women.

A Michigan Case

Mrs. Nelson Rushford, 201 W. 12th St., Iron Mountain, Mich., says: "My back-achy and was weak and lame. When I stooped over my back would hurt worse. I felt weak and worn out and work became burdensome. Black spots often blurred my sight and made me dizzy. My kidneys were out of order. Through a friend's advice I gave Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. A few boxes rid me of kidney complaint."

Perfect for the College Girl

IT IS certain that one-piece dresses for street wear are to rival gowns during the coming fall and winter, and they may achieve leadership in the beginning of the season. Quite as certainly every fall wardrobe will contain one or more of these neat, convenient and economical garments. They are of the same character as suits, made of the same materials and adorned with the same trimmings. This makes it easy for the thrifty to convert a last year's suit into a this year's dress. An ingenious seamstress enjoys this remodeling of gowns and will find a variety of styles, ranging from very plain dresses to those that allow bunches of bright color and the introduction of clever draperies, which she can follow in her work. It is refreshing to have these changes in everyday clothes and substitutes for suits. Combinations of two materials, say satin and wool in the same color, solve the problem of sufficient material in made-over dresses.

The frock shown here will hardly tax the abilities of the average seamstress. Its skirt is straight hanging, with rows of satin band encircling it at intervals of about five inches and machine stitched, on one edge, to place. It is joined to a plain bodice at the waistline and has a narrow panel set on at the left side over the ends of the bodice. Satin covered, round buttons, set on in pairs, make a telling finish for this panel and the skirt may be taken as a criterion as to length.

The bodice has several details that are interesting. It opens at the side and on the shoulder, closing with satin fastenings. The sleeves are a little longer than elbow length and depend upon braid for their adornment, having no cuffs. Braid redeems the long part of the bodice from uninteresting plainness and a close set row of small satin-covered buttons extends from the braid to the throat. The collar is very new, being a wide ruche of accordion-plaited material like the dress, banded by a tie of narrow ribbon finished with a ruffle at the left side. A wide girdle of made of satin ribbon having a single long loop at the back, but the girdle may be of the same material as the dress and finished at the left side, where it fastens with satin-covered buttons. This is a little more practical than a cash end

What Late Summer Discloses

ONE thing distinguishes this particular summer from others that have recently preceded it, and that thing is its late summer millinery. August discloses hats that have no hint of autumn in them, hats that belong to the heart of summertime and none that are out of tune with it. The foolish practice of introducing wintry looking velvet headwear in the dog days has been abandoned and let us hope it has passed to that hour of out-grown follies from which no imbecile fancy ever returns.

It seems unnecessary for designers to attempt to add to their laurels, for there has been so much to admire in this season's millinery. And they have not made any radical new departure, but have delighted in taking the materials at hand and emphasizing those features in the seasons styles that show most vitality.

Two of the four hats pictured in the group above, proclaim the revival of ostrich plumes. One of them, at the top of the group, is of lace, with a long, slightly curved plume encircling it. The other is a narrow-brimmed straw shape with short uncured single feathers drooping over the crown; both are summery, cool-looking models.

At the right, an off-the-face, shape of straw braid and narrow picot-edged ribbon has a row of small bows made of the ribbon for its adornment. This is a hat that will be worn into the fall in a shape that we shall meet again in winter millinery.

The hat of black georgette at the left of the picture is typical of the styles in mourning millinery. Its narrow brim is faced with white georgette and smooth folds applied to it very neatly from large disks on the crown and brim. The long, square-meshed veil has tiny squares instead of dots woven in it and a border of georgette. There is nothing burdensome or oppressive looking in this handsome model in which the designer has achieved an unusually successful hat while exercising much reticence in the use of mourning materials.

WAYS WITH FRUIT.

Before the cherries are all gone, you may provide a tasty relish by canning:

Cherry Olives.—Fill a jar with well washed, firm, ripe, large, good-flavored cherries, without removing the stems. Half fill the jar with cold water and fill to running-over with good vinegar; add one teaspoonful of salt to every pint, seal as usual. These cherries are especially good with meats.

Raspberry and Currant Preserve.—Take six pounds each of currants and sugar with eight quarts of raspberries. Pick over, wash and drain the currants. Put them into a preserving kettle, adding a few at a time, and mash. Cook one hour, strain through a double thickness of cheese cloth. Return to the kettle, add sugar, heat to boiling point and cook slowly twenty minutes. Add one quart of raspberries, when the sirup again reaches the boiling point; skim out the raspberries, put in a jar, and repeat until all the raspberries are used. Fill the jars to overflowing with the boiling sirup and screw on the tops.

Preserved Peaches.—Peel and cut in halves sufficient peaches. Fill the cans packing as full as possible, then add granulated sugar to fill every crevice; seal and put into a bag lined hole, deep enough in the ground to escape frost. In the spring when the frost is gone, dig them up and you will find the most deliciously flavored peaches. A pit or two left in the peaches adds to the flavor. Be sure to mark the spot where they are buried, so the whole garden may have to be spaded to find them.

Green Apples and Onions Fried.—Slice two or three medium sized onions very thin; put to cook with a tablespoon of any sweet fat. When softened, add a pint of sliced green apples unpeeled. Add a little water, sugar and oil and cook until the mixture is well browned. Serve as a vegetable with soup.

A DINNER FOR A HOT DAY.

For a beginning to the warm weather, there is nothing more refreshing than the fruit cocktail.

With fresh berries, cherries, melons or citrus fruits one has a great variety from which to choose. A most dainty fruit cup may be prepared at jobs. Cut the edible centers of melons into balls with a French potato cutter, arrange them in the glasses, have both fruit and glasses chilled. Pour over a sauce made from Canton ginger, using some of the fruit and a tablespoon or two of the chopped ginger for a half dozen glasses. For those who do not enjoy the ginger flavor, make a mint sprig and garnish the glass with a sprig of fresh mint. An orange sauce with the mint is another good combination. In fact one may use any sauce at hand. The pink heart of watermelon cut in balls and served with any desired sauce is another attractive dish.

Chard in White Sauce.—Cook the midribs of chard until tender then serve in a white sauce or with a drawn butter sauce as if it were celery or asparagus. This makes another very edible dish and one which is very wholesome.

Chicken With Asparagus.—Cut up a chicken and stew until tender, saving the broth. Cut up the chicken and keep hot over hot water, not to lose its moisture. Cook a bunch or two of asparagus in the chicken broth, saving the broth and later cooking noodles in the same broth; in this way the seasoning of chicken and asparagus will season the noodles. Prepare noodles by adding flour to beaten egg until thick enough to roll out, then cut in strips and, after standing a few minutes to dry, cook them in the broth. Have off hot, put a layer of noodles on the serving plate, over this a layer of cooked asparagus, then a layer of seasoned chicken; serve hot. Celery salt pepper and salt are used for seasoning. Celery is used in place of the asparagus in a dish called wazmeim, which is most savory when prepared according to directions, using at least three bunches of celery to one fair-sized chicken.

ARE YOU REGISTERED.

Are you registered so you may take part in the forth-coming primary election? If your name was on the registration book last spring you will not need to worry, unless you have moved from one precinct to another. In that event you will need to notify your township clerk. If you are not registered you will be given an opportunity to attend to the matter on Saturday, August 14, and again on Sunday, August 21. The township board of registration will be in session on both of those days at the office of the clerk. As every one ought to vote at the primaries, every one ought to see to it that their name is on the registration list of their township.

The suspense is over. Both Mr. Harding and Mr. Cox now having been notified of their nomination the guns of the opposing forces in the approaching presidential campaign will soon be opened. Unless something unforeseen occurs to arouse the people the vote at the November election will fall far short of former years. Everybody is so busy—either busy making money or making a living—that they have but little time or rather will take but little time to attend to the matter of politics. As the campaign progresses interest may be aroused but it is a safe guess that there will be but little enthusiasm shown by the people of the country at large.

The primary election will be held on August 31st, at which time candidates will be nominated by all political parties for governor, lieutenant governor, member of congress, state senator and representative and for county officers. This is really the most important election of the year, because the men whose names will appear upon the party ballot at the November election will be chosen at that time. If you fail to go to the primary to express your preference for the candidates to be chosen you will have no excuse for being dissatisfied with the result of the day's voting. Every voter both women and men, ought to take time to attend the primaries.

D. U. R. BUILDING-IV PONTIAC.

Costing approximately $450,000, track extensions planned for Pontiac by the D. U. R. and upon which work is progressing at this time, involve the use of a great quantity of materials. The trackage to be laid is estimated at approximately six miles, about one-half mile of which will be standard construction. The complete work, D. U. R. engineers have estimated, will require 299 gross tons, 41-pound girder rail; 355 gross tons, 70-pound T rail; 6,306 white oak ties; 10,216 cedar ties; 368 cast welded joints; 1,762 joint plates; 45 hogs of track bolts; 2,538 tie rods; 3,374 pieces of sewer crock; 26,400 pieces of oak blocking; 13,000 feet of oak plank for crossings; 6,894 cubic yards of gravel for concrete; 634 cubic yards of sand for paving; etc. 2,530 cubic yards of cinders for ballast; 597,240 paving bricks; 29,208 sacks of cement; 226 kegs of track spikes. In addition, various other materials, such as tongue switches, "mate," frogs and guard rail, will be needed. The improvements will include a full interlocking plant at South boulevard and Sanford street and the reinforcing of east-Like street bridge—Michigan Manufacturer.

FORD'S U. P. DEAL.

The recent deal, by which Henry Ford became the owner of 400,000 acres of iron and timber land in the counties of Marquette, Dickinson, Iron, Houghton, Menominee, Baraga and Alger, and by which a factory employing 2,500 men is soon to be established in Iron Mountain, was made by the Michigan Iron & Land Company, with headquarters at Sault Ste. Marie. It is reported that Mr. Ford has extensive plans for the development of his property in the upper peninsula, his auto body factory being merely the start of his plans. The property has a number of producing iron mines and leases are held in reserve by the United States Steel Corporation and others. By this coup Mr. Ford actually receives royalties from the United States Steel corporation and other big iron companies instead of having to pay them. In point of actual area on well-defined iron ranges he has larger possible future mining reserves than the United States Steel or any other company. It is reasonable to predict 100 or more mines will be developed on the property. The hardwood alone is worth millions—Michigan Investor.

STATE FAIR RATES STAY DOWN AS COSTS GO UP

After a study covering several months G. W. Dickinson, secretary of the Michigan State Fair has determined it will be necessary to make only one price increase in the fair this year, from Sept. 3 to 12. Rising costs in every department, it had been thought would necessitate increasing all fair rates. Fees for entering various contests and exhibits this year will be the same as they were last year. Charges for livestock stalls, for feed, for admission to the grand stand, for all of the races and other exhibitions on the track and for the night entertainment, the cost of box seats and all other fees charged by the fair association will remain unchanged, with the exception of the adult charge for admission to the grounds which will be increased to 75 cents. Children's admission will remain at the same figure as last year. This decision has been arrived at, Mr. Dickinson announced, despite the fact that state fairs all over the country have found it necessary to make a general blanket increase in every department.

Olympic Games

The origin of the Olympic games is lost in antiquity. The Olympic festival was held in Greece, where the first race was in 776 B. C. The games were celebrated every four years and were then held in the city and fourth centuries B. C. The games continued until 393 A. D. when they were suppressed by the Emperor Theodosius. The modern series of Olympic games began in 1896 in Athens.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Items taken from The Record files of 1895, for the week corresponding to this week.

Born Aug. 10th to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lyon, a boy.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. August Miller Friday, Aug. 9th, a boy.

Born Monday Aug. 13th to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Turner, a boy.

W. C. Nicoll and family have gone to New York state on an extended visit.

Mrs. Mary Longworth of Delphi O. is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mauk.

Messrs Webster and Thompson inform us that their new grandstand at the Ball-Park is for sale.

A. B. Pomeroy and wife of Westmoreland Kans. have been at their brothers, Augustus Pomeroy, during the past week.

M. A. Porter has purchased one of the Kellogg lots on West Dunlap St. and will soon commence the erection of a neat residence.

The Northville Globe band, twenty pieces, has again secured the contract to furnish music at the state fair, Sept. 9th to 13th. F. S. Neal has assumed temporary management.

With this issue the Record begins upon a new year, the 27th. The Record has enjoyed a prosperous four years under the present management and its future prospects are very flattering.

James Leadbeater died Monday afternoon at his home. Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Baptist church. Beside the widow four children survive. Mr. Leadbeater was an honest, industrious, upright citizen and was held in high esteem.

James Moore, son of O. B. Moore, attempted suicide Sunday, by taking "Rough on Rats."

A physician was summoned and the prompt measures used quickly restored him. He resented advice given him by his father early in the day, and attempted this rash act to show that he did not propose to have his rights in any way abridged.

Northville's claims to distinction among other towns are numerous. It is a clean, well drained, lighted by electricity and well governed. Her streets and walks are presentable every day in the year. She has a good fire department and fire alarm service, water works, public drinking fountain, good banking facilities, fine hotel, brass band, opera house, town clock and crack base ball team. Beautifully located among the hills, surrounded by magnificent scenery, with good railroad facilities, Northville is undoubtedly to be an ideal residence town and business center of southeastern Michigan.

ANN ARBOR—Because Ann Arbor's water from a well on the Steere farm, eight neighboring farmers, filed suits for $7,000 to $10,000 damages against the city, charging that the city draws so much water that nearby fields are left dry and the ground is made incapable of growing crops.

MT. CLEMENS—The annual outing of the "Our Crowd" persons who have resided here for 25 years or more, will be held aboard the steamer "Clynet" August 19. Several hundred persons are members of the organization.

LANSING—John L. Austin of Highland Park, was appointed by Governor Steep today a member of the board of control of the Industrial School for Boys at Lansing vice W. H. Gay of Grand Rapids, who died recently.

Warning.

Never tell a girl that she is vivacious. If you do, she will think that it is up to her to giggle her way into your affections.—Hot Springs Arkansas saw Thomas Cat.

STATE FAIR SHOWS HOW TO CUT FARMING COSTS

How the mounting wages of farmhands is affecting Michigan agriculture is reflected in a number of ways in plans for the Michigan State Fair, at Detroit Sept. 3 to 12.

Farmers very generally are investing heavily in labor-saving machinery, despite its high cost. Manufacturers of this machinery are therefore asking record amounts of space to display their wares to the farmers.

That the farmers are prosperous despite the prices they pay for everything is indicated too by the demands of the automobile companies. They are fairly insisting on having more display space at the state fair than ever before, and G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager, is endeavoring to help them.

TRIPLETS TO GET PRIZE

So many sets of twins and triplets have been entered this year in the baby show of the Michigan State Fair that special twin and triplet classes have been included in the premium list. Norval A. Hawkins, formerly general sales manager of the Ford Motor Co. and now president of the Sturgis Baby Carriage Co., has offered a baby carriage specially built for triplets as a prize.

MURDER CASE GIVES STATE POLICE CHANCE

SUCCESS IN CONVICTING KILLER OF J. STANLEY BROWN HAS PROVED EFFICIENCY OF FORCE

In the solving of the mystery surrounding the murder of J. Stanley Brown, near Mt. Clemens the State Police did an excellent service to the state of Michigan. It was the first case of the kind to be assigned to this force, and it resulted in a way to reflect credit upon the organization and upon the men directly active in the solution of the problem.

However, the fact that one mysterious murder has been followed up relentlessly by the State Police is ground not only for present congratulation but for constructive achievement. It is a demonstration that a further effort should be made to provide means for avenging such crimes in the future. The methods of the detectives have become scientific and require specially trained men and the proper apparatus.

Our Michigan State Police deserve practical encouragement to the end that they may be of even greater service to the state.

FLINT MAN TELLS WHY STATE NEEDS TROOPERS

SAYS OPPONENTS OF CONSTABULARY ARE SAME INDIVIDUALS WHO OPPOSE ALL PROGRESS.

"I find that the class of people who oppose the State Police are the same class who knocked the good roads legislation and all other steps for real advancement," writes D. L. Troford, 770 Leith street, Flint, in a communication which he recently sent to the editor of the Flint Journal. The letter was printed in several newspapers in southern Michigan, and is as follows:

"There seems to be an impression with the public, that the State Police are not worth the price. A statement from Lansing tells how many banks have been free from robbery all the time they have taken and about $58,000 in fines, but no one seems to care to give them credit for the greatest good they have done. We are all wondering where we are going to get any timber in a few years. The northern part of the state has thousands of acres of cut-over land. Some of it has been cut for twenty years.

When a tract of young trees gets a start of twenty years it means a great deal to the future timber supply of the state. Not a year goes by without a lot of the cut-over land being burned over. I am located in the south part of Grand Traverse county at Interlocken and in our forest area last year Captain Cook and his little company of State Police saved an enormous amount of timber which twenty years from now will be valued in millions instead of thousands. I find that the class of people who oppose the State Police are the same class who knocked the good roads legislation and all other steps for real advancement."

I will be very glad to defend the State Police appropriation in an editorial before any club or other organization.—D. L. Troford.

STATE POLICE CAPTURE PERPETRATOR OF ASSAULT

After scouring the country for two days in search of the assailant of an eleven-year-old school girl Troopers Frank Stevenson and Archie Wesley of the Michigan State Police detachment of Grand Rapids, arrested Edward J. Pickett, 56, at the Michigan Soldiers' Home.

The attack according to Capt. G. Strope, in command of the State Police patrol, was most brutal. It is said that Pickett met the little girl as she was on her way to school and dragged her more than 60 feet to the shores of Soft Water Lake. Pickett disappeared, and after he had left her the girl went to a neighboring farm house and told her story, giving a description of the man. Pickett was identified by the girl after his arrest by the State Police.

BOOTLEGGERS NABBED BY STATE TROOPERS

A few days ago Trooper Lynn Shrader secured a search warrant for Joan Chumclair and Nick Trelog's place, one mile off the Seven Mile road on the Elm road. Trooper Shrader took with him Troopers Scribner and Burch and Deputy Sheriff Springer. They found to one at home when they arrived but forced an entrance and discovered two complete "stills" and about half of another one, 350 gallons of raisin mash, 15 gallons of "moonshine" and two auto loads of jugs, bottles, coils, kegs and other utensils. They left the stuff in the house, and then hid to await the return of the owners. After several hours the men showed up and were placed under arrest by Trooper Shrader and Deputy Sheriff Springer. All of the paraphernalia was taken to the State Police post. Chumclair and Trelog were arraigned before Justice Phoebe Patterson, pleaded guilty and were bound over to the circuit court with bail fixed at $500 each. They were taken to the county jail.

Michigan Leads All.

Michigan has the largest farm bureau in the United States. It is Lansing, where incomplete tabulation of the membership campaign results showed 2,500 members, with the total estimated at close to 3,400. In the country, Michigan was the next largest with 2,850 members. Saginaw county is likely to become the second largest county in the country. It now has 2,635 farm bureau members, and expects soon to have more than 3,000. Membership of the Michigan state farm bureau now is 33,051, and it is growing at the rate of about 1,500 weekly. The southern half of the lower peninsula is now canvassed and the campaign is extending into the northwestern part of the state.

Oak Doors Thirty Feet High

The great oak doors at the entrance of St. Paul's cathedral in London are 30 feet high and are believed to be the largest one-piece doors in the world. They are nearly as old as the cathedral itself, and each leaf bears upon it the name of the carpenter who made it.

THE SQUIRREL

By MADGE WESTON.

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

Mr. Nathan Bennett was exceedingly annoyed. That had become his chronic condition since buying the Groundley place. He had always hoped to be the owner of the picturesque old mansion in its beautiful park setting, from the days when he had passed on his way to school.

Mischievous Nat Bennett loved to linger in those days before the impressive gates of the estate, watching the squirrels scamper across the lawn. There was little resemblance to the mischievous Nat, in this dignified and austere Nathan. But ambition had brought his own reward and Groundley place was his own. He had striven to enjoy himself there with something of the old-time enthusiasm, when he became aware of a disagreeable and interfering neighbor.

Miss Abigail Stevens had not "mellowed" with age. Nathan Bennett remembered her as a younger woman of "wedding nature."

Looking upon the night of his arrival at his new home, across to the white house that was hers, he decided that to ignore her presence there would be all that was necessary to keep the peace. Soon Nathan found his mistake. When Abigail Stevens was not frightened by his white chickens away from her side of the fence, she was throwing dangerous sharp stones in the direction of Nigger, his calm-natured dog, an animal too accustomed to friendly companionship, to know the meaning of fear. And when Miss Stevens was not engaged in endangering his live stock, she amused herself by penning certain complaints against himself and his household in general.

Mrs. White, the housekeeper, had a new grievance each evening. The busy man riding to and fro from his city office would drop these home-complaints. Nigger, upon one evening, had exhibited pitifully a bruised paw, while one by one white chickens were reported missing. But now the calamity had happened—Fannie was gone.

Nathan Bennett, in purchasing the home of his boyhood dream, had overlooked the misfortune of loneliness. In Nathan's life of endeavor love had found no part, and Fannie was the creature who comforted him with her plunkish ways and faithful affection. Fannie was a gray, park squirrel. It was Mrs. White who made the announcement of Fannie's loss when Nathan returned from a business trip. "She's been gone four days," said the woman, "and I saw her last on Miss Stevens' roof. She went in by the attic window."

The woman knew that no further warning was needed.

Angrily Nathan walked through the garden that evening. Fannie had been wont to come to him with a chirp of welcome, running up his arm to her reward of nuts. Tonight no Fannie came. Turning toward her, he went indoors, this time himself to write a note.

"If Miss Stevens did not at once produce his squirrel, she might be prepared for all sorts of unpleasantness," Mrs. Stevens at once responded to his letter. "I am sure you will be satisfied with me."

"Would he please send me a letter with your squirrel?" she wrote. "I will be glad to pay for it."

NORTHVILLE, MICH., AUG. 13, 1920.

ARE YOU REGISTERED?

Are you registered so you may take part in the forth-coming primary election? If your name was on the registration book last spring you will not need to worry, unless you have moved from one precinct to another. In that event you will need to notify your township clerk. If you are not registered you will be given an opportunity to attend to the matter on Saturday, August 14, and again on Sunday, August 21. The township board of registration will be in session on both of those days at the office of the clerk. As every one ought to vote at the primaries, every one ought to see to it that their name is on the registration list of their township.

The suspense is over. Both Mr. Harding and Mr. Cox now having been notified of their nomination the guns of the opposing forces in the approaching presidential campaign will soon be opened. Unless something unforeseen occurs to arouse the people the vote at the November election will fall far short of former years. Everybody is so busy—either busy making money or making a living—that they have but little time, or rather will take but little time to attend to the matter of politics. As the campaign progresses interest may be aroused, but it is a safe guess that there will be but little enthusiasm shown by the people of the country at large.

The primary election will be held on August 31st, at which time candidates will be nominated by all political parties for governor, lieutenant governor, member of congress, state senator and representative and for county officers. This is really the most important election of the year, because the men whose names will appear upon the party ballot at the November election will be chosen at that time. If you fail to go to the primary to express your preference for the candidates to be chosen, you will have no excuse for being dissatisfied with the result of the final voting. Every voter, both women and men, ought to take time to attend the primary.

About a year ago some of the cow-walks were taken out to make room for the new pavement and they are still out. Will the people who have occasion to cross Wainwright be compelled to walk in the mud and slush for another winter?

Remember your job. The Northville Fair is but a few weeks away. Are you planning to add something to the numerous department exhibits? The more we put into the fair the more fun those who annually visit it out of the enterprise.

What next? Over in Allen county the officers of the fair were killed when a team was thrown from under a harness. The horses were frightened by a passing automobile.

Over in Oshkosh county there are upwards of fifteen candidates for the republican nomination for senator, and a few districts yet to hear from.

With two Ohio newspaper men contesting for presidential honors the devil may be to pay in two printing offices.

What can a Paris gown be or not be that will shock Chicago?

D. U. R. BUILDING IN PONTIAC.

Costing approximately $450,000, track extensions planned for Pontiac by the D. U. R. and upon which work is progressing at this time, involve the use of a great quantity of materials. The track to be laid is estimated at approximately six miles, about one-half mile of which will be standard construction. The complete work, D. U. R. engineers have estimated, will require 299 gross tons, 91-pound girder rail; 355 gross tons, 70-pound T rail; 6,806 white oak ties, 10,216 cedar ties; 363 cast welded joints, 1,762 joint plates; 45 kegs of track bolts; 2,536 tie rods; 3,374 pieces of sewer crock; 26,406 pieces of oak blocking 18,000 feet of oak plank for crossings; 6,894 cubic yards of gravel for concrete; 634 cubic yards of sand for paving; etc.; 2,530 cubic yards of cinders for ballast; 567,240 paving brick, 29,208 sacks of cement; 226 kegs of track spikes. In addition, various other materials such as tongue switches, "mate," frogs and guard rail, will be needed. The improvements will include a full interlocking plant at South boulevard and Sanford street and the reinforcing of east Pike street bridge—Michigan Manufacturer.

FORD'S U. P. DEAL.

The recent deal, by which Henry Ford became the owner of 400,000 acres of iron and timber land in the counties of Marquette, Dickinson, Iron, Houghton, Menominee, Baraga and Alger, and by which a factory employing 2,500 men is soon to be established in Iron Mountain, was made by the Michigan Iron & Land Company, with headquarters at Sault Ste. Marie.

It is reported that Mr. Ford has extensive plans for the development of his property in the upper peninsula, his auto body factory being merely the start of his plans. The property has a number of producing iron mines and leases are held in reserve by the United States Steel Corporation and others. By this coup Mr. Ford actually receives royalties from the United States Steel Corporation and other big iron companies instead of having to pay them. In point of actual area on well-defined iron ranges he has larger possible future mining reserves than the United States Steel or any other company. It is reasonable to predict 100 or more mines will be developed on the property. The hardwood alone is worth millions—Michigan Investor.

STATE FAIR RATES STAY DOWN AS COSTS GO UP

After a study covering several months G. W. Dickinson, secretary of the Michigan State Fair, has determined it will be necessary to make only one price increase in the fair this year, from Sept. 3 to 12. Rising costs in every department, it had been thought would necessitate increasing all fair rates.

Fees for entering various contests and exhibits this year will be the same as they were last year. Charges for livestock stalls, for feed, for admission to the grand stand, for all of the races and other exhibitions on the track and for the night entertainment, the cost of box seats and all other fees charged by the fair association will remain unchanged, with the exception of the adult charge for admission to the grounds, which will be increased to 75 cents. Children's admission will remain at the same figure as last year.

This decision has been arrived at, Mr. Dickinson announced, despite the fact that state fairs all over the country have found it necessary to make a general blanket increase in every department.

Olympic Games

The origin of the Olympic games is lost in antiquity. The official list of winners begins with Cisseus who won the foot race in 776 B. C. They were celebrated every four years and were at their height in the fifth and fourth centuries B. C. The games continued until 393 A. D. when they were suppressed by Emperor Theodosius. The modern series of Olympic games began in Athens in 1896.

Items taken from The Record files of 1905, for the week corresponding to this week.

Born Aug. 10th to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lyon, a boy.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. August Miller Friday, Aug. 9th, a boy.

Born Monday Aug. 14th to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Turner, a boy.

W. C. Nigoll and family have gone to New York state on an extended visit. Mrs. Mary Longworth of Delphi, O. is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nauk.

Messrs. Webster and Thompson inform us that their new grandstand at the Ball Park is for sale.

A. B. Pomeroy and wife of Westmoreland Kans. have been at their brothers, Augustus Pomeroy's, during the past week.

M. A. Porter has purchased one of the Kellogg lots on West Dunlap St. and will soon commence the erection of a neat residence.

The Northville Globe band, twenty pieces, has again secured the contract to furnish music at the state fair, Sept. 9th to 13th. F. S. Neaf has assumed temporary management.

With this issue the Record begins upon a new year, the 27th. The Record has enjoyed a prosperous four years under the present management and its future prospects are very flattering.

James Leadbeater died Monday afternoon at his home. Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Baptist church. Beside the widow four children survive. Mr. Leadbeater was an honest, industrious, upright citizen and was held in high esteem.

James Moore, son of O. B. Moore, attempted suicide Sunday, by taking "Rough on Rats." A physician was summoned and the prompt measures used quickly restored him. He received advice given him by his father earlier in the day, and attempted this risk to show that he did not propose to have his rights in any way infringed.

Northville's claims to distinction as a better town are numerous. It is clean, well drained, lighted by electricity and well governed. Her streets and walks are presentable every day in the year. She has a good fire department and fire alarm service, water works, public drinking fountain, good banking facilities, fine hotel brass band; opera house, loop clock and crack base ball team. Beautifully located among the hills, surrounded by magnificent scenery, with good railroad facilities, Northville is undoubtedly to be an ideal residence town and business center of southeastern Michigan.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

ANN ARBOR—Because Ann Arbor gets water from a well on the State farm, eight neighboring farmers filed suits for $7,000 to $10,000 damages against the city, charging that the city had drawn so much water that nearby wells are left dry and the ground is no longer capable of growing crops.

CLERMONT—The annual outing of the "Old Crowd" persons who have resided here for 25 years or more will be held about the 28th of August. Several hundred persons are members of the organization.

LANSING—John L. Austin of Highland Park was appointed by Governor Sleeper today a member of the board of control of the Industrial School for Boys at Lansing, vice W. F. Gay of Grand Rapids who died recently.

STATE FAIR SHOWS HOW TO CUT FARMING COSTS

How the mounting wages of farm hands is affecting Michigan agriculture is reflected in a number of ways in plans for the Michigan State Fair, at Detroit Sept. 3 to 12.

Farmers very generally are investing heavily in labor-saving machinery, despite its high cost. Manufacturers of this machinery are therefore asking record amounts of space to display their wares to the farmers. That the farmers are prosperous despite the prices they pay for every thing is indicated too by the demands of the automobile companies. They are fairly insistent on having more display space at the state fair than ever before, and G. W. Dickerson, Secretary-Manager, is endeavoring to help them.

TRIPLITS TO GET PRIZE

So many sets of twins and triplets have been entered this year in the baby show of the Michigan State Fair that special twin and triplet classes have been included in the premium list. Norval A. Hawkins, formerly general sales manager of the Ford Motor Co. and now president of the Sturgis Baby Carriage Co., has offered a baby carriage specially built for triplets as a prize.

MURDER CASE GIVES STATE POLICE CHANCE

SUCCESS IN CONVICTING KILLER OF J. STANLEY BROWN HAS PROVED EFFICIENCY OF FORCE

In the solving of the mystery surrounding the murder of J. Stanley Brown near Mt. Clemens the State Police did an excellent service to the state of Michigan. It was the first case of the kind to be assigned to this force, and it resulted in a way to reflect credit upon the organization and upon the men directly active in the solution of the problem.

However, the fact that one mysterious murder has been followed up relentlessly by the State Police is ground not only for present congratulation but for constructive achievement. It is a demonstration that a further effort should be made to provide means for averting such crimes in the future. The methods of the detectives have become scientific, and require specially trained men and the proper apparatus.

Our Michigan State Police deserve practical encouragement to the end that they may be of even greater service to the state.

FLINT MAN TELLS WHY STATE NEEDS TROOPERS

SAYS OPPONENTS OF CONSTABULARY ARE SAME INDIVIDUALS WHO OPPOSE ALL PROGRESS.

"I find that two classes of people who oppose the State Police are the same class who knocked the good roads legislation and all other steps for real advancement," writes D. L. Trofford, 770 Leith street, Flint, in a communication which he recently sent to the editor of the Flint Journal. The letter was printed in several newspapers in southern Michigan, and reads, in full:

There seems to be an impression with the public that the State Police are not worth the price. A statement from Lansing tells how many banks have been free from robbery all the time they have been in and about $50,000 in fines, but no one seems to care to give them credit for the greatest good they have done. We are all wondering where we are going to get any timber in a few years. The northern part of the state has thousands of acres of cut-over land. Some of it has been cut for twenty years. When a tract of young trees gets a start of twenty years it means a great deal to the future timber supply of the state. Not a year goes by without a lot of the cut-over land being burned over. I am located in the south part of Grand Traverse county at Interlocken, and in our forest fires last year Captain Cook and his little company of State Police saved an enormous amount of timber which twenty years from now will be valued in millions instead of thousands. I find that the class of people who oppose the State Police are the same class who knock the good roads legislation and all other steps for real advancement. I will be very glad to defend the State Police against any class of people who oppose any kind of other or better progress.—D. L. Trofford.

STATE POLICE CAPTURE PERPETRATOR OF ASSAULT

After scouring the country for two days in a net of the as many of an eleven-year-old school girl Troopers Frank Sawin and Archie Wesley of the Michigan State Police detachment of Grand Rapids, arrested Edward J. Pickett, 36, at the Michigan Soldiers' Home.

The attack, according to Capt. G. Strake, in command of the State Police patrol, was most brutal. It is said that Pickett met the little girl as she was on her way to school and dragged her more than 600 feet to the shores of Soft Water Lake. Pickett disappeared, and after he had left her the girl went to a neighboring farm house and told her story, giving a description of the man. Pickett was identified by the girl after his arrest by the State Police.

BOOTLEGGERS NABBED BY STATE TROOPERS

A few days ago Trooper Lynn Shrader secured a search warrant for John Chumick and Nick Trelog's place, one mile off the Seven Mile road on the Elm road. Trooper Shrader took with him Troopers Scribner and Barth and Deputy Sheriff Springer. They found no one at home when they arrived, but forced an entrance and discovered two complete "stills" and about half of another one, 250 gallons of ralsein mash, 15 gallons of "moonshine" and two auto loads of jugs, bottles, coils, kegs and other utensils. They left the stuff in the house, and then hid to await the return of the owners. After several hours the men showed up and were placed under arrest by Trooper Shrader and Deputy Sheriff Springer. All of the paraphernalia was taken to the State Police post Chumick and Trelog were arraigned before Justice Pebe Patterson, pleaded guilty and were bound over to the circuit court with bail fixed at $500 each. They were taken to the county jail.

THE SQUIRREL

By MADGE WESTON

Mr. Nathan Bennett was exceedingly annoyed. That had become his chronic condition since buying the Groundley place. He had always hoped to be the owner of the picturesque old mansion in its beautiful park setting, from the days when he had passed on his way to school.

Mischievous Nat Bennett loved to linger in those days before the impressive gates of the entrance, watching the squirrels scamper across the lawn. There was little resemblance to the mischievous Nat in this dignified and austere Nathan. But ambition had brought its own reward and Groundley place was his own. He had started to enjoy himself there with something of the old-time enthusiasm, when he became aware of a disagreeable and interfering neighbor.

Miss Abigail Stevens had not "mellowed" with age. Nathan Bennett remembered her as a younger woman of bewitching nature.

Looking upon the night of his arrival at his new home across the white house that was hers, he decided that to her presence there would be all that was necessary to keep the peace. Soon Nathan found his mistake. When Abigail Stevens was not frightening his white chickens away from her side of the fence, she was throwing dangerous sharp stones in the direction of his. His gallant nature, an animal too accustomed to friendly companionship, to know the meaning of fear. And when Miss Stevens was not engaged in endangering his live stock she amused herself by penning certain complaints against himself and his doghouse in general.

Mrs. White, the housekeeper, had a new grievance each evening. The busy man, riding to and fro from his city after actually overheard the home-coming of his wife, upon one evening, had exhibited pitifully thrown paw, while one by one the chickens were captured and the new the colony had increased—Fannie was gone.

Nathan Bennett, in purchasing the home of his husband's dream, had overlooked the misfortune of loneliness. In Nathan's life of endeavor love had found no rift and Fannie was the creature who comforted him with her pranks and ways and faithful affection. Fannie was a gray, park squirrel. It was Mrs. White who made the announcement of Fannie's loss when Nathan returned from a business trip. "She's been gone four days," said the woman. "And I saw her last on Miss Stevens' roof. She went in by the little window."

The woman knew that no further warning was needed.

Angry Nathan walked through the garden that evening. Fannie had been used to come to him with a chirp of welcome, running up his arm to her reward if none. Tonight no Fannie came. Pleading in vainly he went indoors, this time him off to write a note. At Miss Stevens' he did not once pause to consider the night he prepared for all sorts of impossibilities. He went to Miss Stevens' at once and pleaded to her. "I was in my room," she said. "I was in my room," she said. "I would not go to the south part of the state. I would not go to the south part of the state. I would not go to the south part of the state."

Nathan Bennett was exceedingly annoyed. That had become his chronic condition since buying the Groundley place. He had always hoped to be the owner of the picturesque old mansion in its beautiful park setting, from the days when he had passed on his way to school.

"I did not know it was a pet squirrel," the girl explained. "I am Gail Stevens, visiting my aunt. I coaxed your Fannie through the window because I was lonely and she was so entertaining."

"I can really understand," Nathan Bennett said, smiling, "that you would enjoy the relief of cheerful companionship."

And as the girl straightened her arm to transfer the squirrel to his Nathan Bennett clasped suddenly the outstretched hand. And in that clasp was the promise, strong, sweet, of well-being to a girl.

Michigan Leads All.

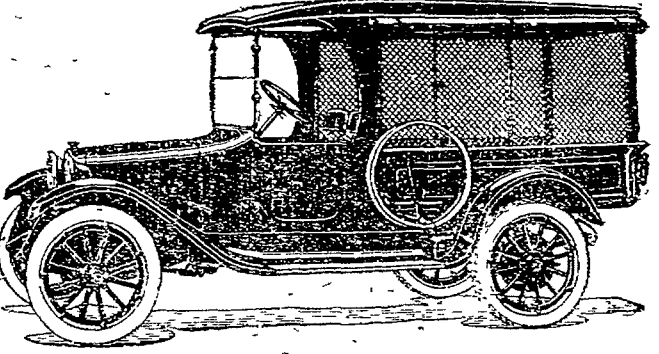

Michigan has the largest farm bureau county in the United States. It is Sanborn, where the completed tabulation of the membership campaign results showed 2,300 members, with the final tally estimated at close to 2,400. Irons county, Minn., was the next largest with 1,850 members. Saginaw county is likely to become the second largest county in the country. It now has 2,650 farm bureau members, and expects soon to have more than 3,000. Membership of the Michigan state farm bureau now is 53,051 and it is growing at the rate of about 1,500 weekly. The southern half of the lower peninsula now is canvassed and the campaign is extending into the northwestern part of the state.

Oak Doors Thirty Feet High.

The great oak doors at the entrance of St. Paul's cathedral in London are 30 feet high and are believed to be the largest one-piece doors in the world. They are nearly as old as the cathedral itself, and each leaf bears upon it the name of the carpenter who made it.

Novi News.

Mrs. C. Cadwell was a Milford caller Tuesday.

The Cheerful Workers will hold a cake and bread bake sale in the Post Office, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 14th. Bernard DuRoi of Detroit visited Floyd Hicks, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Flint visited the former's mother in Ypsilanti last week. Mr. and Mrs. Will McIlwain entertained friends from Detroit and Chicago, last Sunday.

Quite a number from here went to Pontiac last Wednesday to see the big show, or went to take the children.

Mrs. W. D. Flint expects to leave in a short time for the northern part of the state for a few weeks during the hay fever season.

Mrs. O. J. Lyon and little son of Hudson, Mich., arrived last Saturday to spend a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Donelson.

Henry Jones and wife of Detroit called on Mrs. Lizzie Coates last Saturday. He is a brother of Ruth Jones, who spent part of last year with Mrs. Coates.

Mrs. Irene Patterson of Plymouth, who died Saturday, July 31st, was the mother of Mrs. Frank Durfee, of this village. Mrs. Patterson was over eighty years of age and was highly esteemed by all who knew her.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gleason and little daughter left Wednesday for a trip through Canada. They intend to visit relatives at Toronto, Melancthon, which was Mr. Gleason's childhood home, and at Marsdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Almond Hosner, Mrs. Lloyd Hosner of North Farmington, Ferran Hillsdale of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burch of Milford visited at the Donelson home, Sunday.

The W. C. T. U. picnic held at the pleasant home of the president, Mrs. P. J. Taylor, at Walled Lake, last week Wednesday, was well attended, being represented by a large attendance from Walled Lake, also some from South Lyon—there being nearly 80 present. The tables loaded with so many good things that some of those who "indulged" in a beautiful dinner, expressed their fears of having an attack of indigestion. In the afternoon some races were "pulled off" under the supervision of Mrs. Effie Root. The little girls' race was won by Lillian Carr of Walled Lake, and in the boys' race the prize was carried off by little Darrell Johnson also of Walled Lake. In the ladies' race Mrs. Dora Donelson came off the victor and shared her prize with the losers. The recreational exercises were led by Mr. Lockwood of Holly, and in the afternoon Mrs. Carley of Royal Oak. Prayer by Rev. H. E. Sayles. The factor in a few well chosen words in his address of welcome was followed in response by Mrs. Griswold of Walled Lake. Mrs. Evelyn Annell gave a fine recitation. A musical number, "John Barleycorn's not dead," which only changed the place in his address, was well rendered by the quartet of the afternoon. Mrs. Carley, district president and Mrs. Lockwood county president, both the ladies gave splendid addresses which were very instructive and all of interest and together it was a very well spent afternoon being ideal and lovely to mark the occasion of these people.

MADE A GOOD RECORD.

When a manufacturer has a contract with a "business" associate and that contract is about to end, before renewing it he goes over the period of his relations with the gentleman and gives a careful scrutiny to his record. If the record is such as shows efficient service and high regard for duty it is said that he will renew his contract.

The same rule should hold forth in the selection by the public of its officials. When a man presents himself as a candidate for re-election, the citizens are entitled to ask him "What have you done? How well did you do it?"

If such a question was asked about Irving J. Coffin, candidate for re-election to the office of sheriff of Wayne county, he could present a record for successful accomplishment of his duties that would unhesitatingly recommend him for re-election.

The office of sheriff during the regime of Sheriff Coffin has been one filled with added duties, due to the sudden growth of Wayne county. While this growth has been attended with a great amount of financial prosperity, it has also brought forth a wave of crime that called for the keenest sort of police work on the part of all engaged in the running down of criminals. Sheriff Coffin brought to the office of sheriff an experience gained through years of detective work and this experience stood him in good stead when crimes of a puzzling nature presented themselves. That he is a man who knows not fear was tested by the courageous manner with which he attacked a building known to be the headquarters of a gang of gunmen. A fusillade of bullets greeted him on this occasion but failed to stop him.

The increased amount of good roads in Wayne county have made necessary a traffic regulation system at certain bad intersections and under Sheriff Coffin a system was worked whereby deputies handled these crossings in a satisfactory manner.

The Detroit Police department states that during Sheriff Coffin's term, they have secured the fullest co-operation they have ever secured from the sheriff's office, and in the matter of the recovery of stolen automobiles, this and by the sheriff's office has been invaluable. One thing that has helped to create this splendid record has been the fact that when selecting a staff to assist him in carrying out the duties of office, Sheriff Coffin picked men who had had years of experience in police work, he picked such men purely on ability, regardless of race or creed and the result is the best and most efficient staff that ever functioned in the sheriff's office.

All of this has record has been one of government, a good job well done and in the people of Wayne county recognize in a public official qualities of efficiency they will surely apply business principles to politics and re-elect Irving J. Coffin to the office of sheriff, for "His Record Recommends Him for Re-Election."

business principles to politics and re-elect Irving J. Coffin to the office of sheriff, for "His Record Recommends Him for Re-Election."

U. OF M. HAS 2,100 ON PAY ROLL.

While a big school is primarily an educational institution it is a business proposition also. That the U. of M. is an important business factor at Ann Arbor is indicated by the fact that the school's expense account for the coming year is estimated at $3,700,000. During the past year John Christensen purchasing agent, took care of over 12,000 orders in his office alone. The question of the salaries alone is quite an item. Last year about $2,000,000 was paid by the University of Michigan in salaries and in June this year there were 2,100 people on the payroll.

FIREWORKS TO SHOW SIEGE OF DARDANELLES

Even surpassing the "Battle of Chateau Thierry" of last year G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager of the Michigan State Fair, this year has arranged to have presented at the fair Sept. 3-12 the "Siege of the Dardanelles" in fire works.

Each night during the 10 days of the fair there will be a complete program on the race track before the grand stand which will include some of the biggest of the big circus acts, winding up with the "Siege of the Dardanelles."

Charles H. Duffield, of the Theatre-Duffield Company, masters of pyrotechnics, asserts that the "Siege of the Dardanelles" is the most graphic scenic display his company ever has presented. Warcraft of every description will gather in a big scenic setting, representing the historic straits and will show how the great bombardment was conducted. The Turkish and German ships will sail out and give battle to the Allied fleet and with the rolling sea, depicted by James H. the great blazing ships will battle each other until the Turks and Germans are sent reeling back behind the ramparts of low hills and Turkish fortifications.

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

It is said that in a little town down in Georgia, a good-looking, well-to-do bachelor, and a prominent Mason, was being teased by the members of an O. E. S. club for not being married. He said, "I'll marry the one of you whom on a secret vote, you elect to be my wife." There were nine members of the club present. Each girl went in to a corner, using great caution in preparing her ballot and disguising her handwriting. The result was that there were nine ballots cast, each girl receiving one. The man remains a bachelor, the club is broken up and the girls all mortal enemies, united in the one determination that they will not speak to the brother again.

ABOUT OUR NEIGHBORS.

Interesting Items from our exchanges—gathered with pencil, paste pot and scissors.

Lawrence McGrain, a life long resident of Milford, died July 20th. at the age of 80 years.

Mrs. Irene Patterson, aged 80 years, one of Plymouth's oldest and most esteemed ladies, passed away July 31. Three children survive.

C. N. VanRiper, manager of the Heinz plant at Holly, is getting things in readiness for making a large amount of vinegar this year.

The Plymouth Post office is now located in the new bank building on Main St. New equipment has been provided, and the office is a credit to Plymouth.

State troopers and a local officer rounded up a gang of auto crooks, one mile east of Orion, last week. Two stolen autos were reclaimed, and the men turned over to Detroit authorities.

The three year old son of Henry Jegerlin of Milford was instantly killed by an auto Aug. 3rd. The child ran in front of the car so quickly it was impossible for the driver to stop in time to avoid hitting him.

Joseph La Blanche, 21, of Pontiac, was drowned Sunday afternoon as he was trying to change from one seat to another in a canoe on Sylvan Lake, in which he and a chum, Harry Hedges, had been paddling around the lake.

Leo Taube, Herman Helter, and Frederick Mann, Detroit, have purchased the "Lake Orion Boat" club property, which consists of 103 feet of water frontage. The price was $4,500. It includes one of the best bathing beaches at the resort.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Spies of Pontiac, their son Arthur, wife, and son Edward, of Eames station, near Orion, were instantly killed Sunday noon, when the D. U. B. special car Yolande struck their auto as they attempted to cross the tracks in front of the interurban, a mile and a half south of Orion.

More than 200 Detroit people had a narrow escape from death Sunday night at 9:20 o'clock when an interurban on the Orchard Lake division of the D. U. B. failed to respond to its brakes and crashed into the rear of the car that preceded it. The accident occurred a half mile south of Orchard Lake. The impact threw most of the passengers out of their seats, and several sustained painful bruises and cuts from flying glass.

The bus through the night at a high speed of a D. U. B. interurban crowded with passengers, came out of Detroit, ran about a point near Hadwell's pond, about a mile south of Pontiac, until brought to a stop by turning over just north of the Grand Trunk railway tracks on south Saginaw street, and will be in service Saturday night. Among the passengers who had to be taken through the rear end of the wreckage 14 were found to be injured to such an extent that they were taken to the hospital. The number of dead was placed at 25.

3500 PIGEONS RACE, ADRIAN FOR 101 MILES.

Over 1,000 pigeons belonging to the North Ark, Western, and Royal Homing club, were liberated at Adrian at 7:45 o'clock Sunday morning. One hundred and fifteen prizes were offered to the winners by the North Ark club the first 11 of which went to A. Aspell, C. Heylen, A. Schmeizer, O. Karl, E. Cousset, C. Meyer, A. DeVries, J. Degraeve, A. Monton, M. Piper, and H. Thiel. All of the 15 reached Detroit between 9:01 and 9:09 and 1-2 o'clock.

Pigeons from the Dix Avenue and Columbia clubs were liberated at Montpelier, Ohio. The Central Homing club liberated its birds at New Haven, Indiana.

Next Sunday the North Ark, Royal and Columbia clubs will take about 6,000 birds to Adrian, from where they will race. The Western club will take its birds to Montpelier, the Dix Avenue to Butler and the Central to Wabash.

Due to the late season this year, the birds have not been liberated before 5:30 a. m. They make better time when the sky is clear and the sun out, although they never lose their way in any kind of weather. Storms retard them and the birds dread them so much that if the storm be merely local they will go around it rather than through it, the owners say. In one case a pigeon that avoided a storm arrived at its destination an hour earlier than any of the remainder of the flock that went through it.—Free Press.

What we are doing to make Telephone Service Better

Hardly a week passes that does not see some plan or device in operation, or a prospect, that will make the telephone service more as we both would have it.

During the past three and one half years, for instance, more than 10,000 miles of additional telephone wires have been strung in Michigan. These additional lines have added greatly to the scope and quality of long distance and toll services.

A new cable connecting the upper and lower peninsulas of Michigan has also been placed. This cable has added greatly to the long distance service which we are giving Michigan.

More than 6,000 private switchboards have been installed in Michigan to date and as many more as can be procured will be placed at the disposal of subscribers desiring them this year.

All of these improvements and additions have been put through in the face of the most difficult material delivery conditions Michigan has ever experienced.

Great attention is being given the work in our operator training schools in cities throughout Michigan, that these young women may come to their tasks proficient, and with a full understanding of their responsibilities.

And so it is throughout every department of the business. Difficulties are being experienced. The results are not always all that we wish. But we will keep at work until we have overcome every obstacle to good service.

STATE FAIR PLANS
FUR ANIMAL SHOWFARMERS TO BE SHOWN POSSI-BILITIES OF UTILIZING WASTE
GROUND AND FARRERING
THEIR POCKETBOOKS.EXPERTS TO GIVE ADVICE AND EXHIBIT ANIMALS

G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager of the Michigan State Fair, in line with his policy of offering to the people of Michigan in the great exposition they own at least as many things of real constructive benefit to the state and its citizens as possible, this year has arranged to have presented at the fair a special exhibit of fur-bearing animals. Experts will be made to show the value of the state just how they can benefit by raising fur-bearing animals and experts will be present to lecture and give advice.

"Nearly every farm," said Mr. Dickinson, "has some waste land which can be put to practical use by raising fur animals and which can be made to pay a big profit. Containing furs by domesticating the animals also does away with the same and is attached to catching them in traps where they must die slowly and in agony. Fred C. Reinhardt, vice-president of the National Fox Breeders' Association, is to have charge of the exhibit and will be there all the time to assist those who might be interested in raising fur-bearing animals when they learn of the possibilities offered."

The exhibit will contain these animals: 10 pairs of black and silver fox, two pairs of red fox, two pairs of cross fox, one pair of blue fox, one pair of white fox, one colony of 12 shrews, one colony of 12 coons, one colony of beaver, one colony of 12 muskrats, one colony of mink, two pairs of weasels, one pair of martens, one pair of ermine, one pair of sable, one pair of wolves, one pair of badgers, one pair of woodchucks, two pairs of gray squirrels, one pair of black squirrels, two pairs of fox squirrels, one pair of cub weasels and two pairs of otters.

Fair's Baby Show
Makes Her Queen

This little lady was a queen for a day last year and thousands of Michigan people bowed down to homage before her. She was one of the first prize winners at the Michigan State Fair baby show. Elliott's home is at Birmingham, Mich. She is expected to be entered in the baby show again this year.

The State Fair baby show draws the interest of all Michigan each year. Hundreds of babies have been entered.

EILEEN LANE PINE.

ed already this year and the entries do not close until Sept. 1. Besides the chance of their babies winning the honor of being declared the best baby in Michigan, parents have the opportunity of obtaining free at the show a complete physical examination for their children. Dr. E. P. Mills, who will be in charge of the judging this year, will see to each mother a card showing in detail the exact physical condition of her child.

TROTTERS AND PACERS TO GO AT STATE FAIR

Trotters and pacers are to return into their own at the Michigan State Fair, Sept. 3-12. Two days, Sept. 6 and 11, have been set aside for horse racing. It is believed the best horses on the Michigan short ship circuit will be entered.

Races will be held on the half-mile track in front of the grand stand and special inducements are being made in the way of fat purses to bring out the fastest half-milers.

More than a month before the day set for the opening of the Michigan State Fair this year, Sept. 3, all of the concession space had been taken.

Blue blooded horses of the Grosse Pointe Hunt club are being groomed now for the big horse show at the Michigan State Fair, Sept. 3-12.

Farmington Flashes

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ramey are visiting in Laram, Colo., for six weeks. Mr. Don Button and children have been visiting her parents, at Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Eisenlord have been visiting at Franklin and Southfield.

Miss Reta Hutchinson, of Windsor Can., was a recent caller at the Leon Green home.

Mrs. Emma Hiles is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harry Cartwright, at Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jensen have rented the Warner flat, and will move into the same, shortly.

Prof. and Mrs. Babcock leave today for a short vacation, returning to Farmington August 30th.

Northville is to have a race matinee and ball game Saturday afternoon, August 14th, at the Fair grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ringle have as house guests, their daughter, Mrs. Jack Price, and children of Detroit.

Chas. Thumme and family expect to move to Plymouth, having purchased a home on Maple Ave. of that village.

The Misses Adaline Wixom, Ida and Zaida Steele are spending some time at Charlevoix with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ross are taking a trip to Kingston, Watertown and Alexander Bay, Canada, and the Thousand Islands.

Mrs. Elwin Pooler of Cherry Hill, Mrs. Ed Stuart and Mrs. M. Partridge of Plymouth, were recent callers at the Wm. Heene's home.

The John Landow farm has been purchased by the Methodist Children's Home of Highland Park, and will be converted into a summer home for the institution. Cottages, a large dormitory, and other features will be built. Dedication ceremonies will take place as soon as the home is ready for occupancy.

An approved summer resort program of outdoor movies is to be instituted here according to a statement made by Rev. Sidney D. Eva, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. The lawn on the east side of the town hall is to be used for benches, which will seat the spectators, as well as for the projecting machine, which will throw pictures on a screen stretched on the house of W. E. Heene, across the street. As yet the plans are tentative, and no announcement has been made as to the date when the program will begin.

If present plans materialize, Farmington's home-coming, Sept. 4, is to be one of the biggest affairs of its kind ever attempted in the country, according to announcement made by Rev. Sidney D. Eva, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. While complete arrangements have not been made as yet, it is planned to have the program begin in the morning with a parade of floats, decorated automobiles, a band, and the Knights Templar. The afternoon is to be given over to games, speeches, etc. One of the features of the home-coming will be the beauty contest and the crowning of the queen of the home-coming. Prizes are to be given for the winner of the athletic contest, which will include climbing of a graced pole races, etc., and for the decorated automobile, the best tance dress, and the best patriotic float of Camp Fire Girls and Boy Scouts. Besides the program, there is to be a reception for old Farmington residents held about noon.

NEWBERRY HAS TILL SEPTEMBER
17 TO APPEAL

Announcement was made Wednesday that under an order issued by Associate Justice Holmes of the U. S. Supreme court, Senator Truman H. Newberry and the other defendants convicted at Grand Rapids on charges of violating the election laws, are to be allowed until September 17 to file appeals with the supreme court. The appeals were to have been filed late last month, but owing to inability to complete the record into the cases the extension of time was allowed.

The Mascot of the Pacific Fleet.

The proudest member of the Navy with the Pacific Fleet is "Mick," Admiral Rodman's spaniel. From the tip of his tail to the tip of his nose "Mick" is a real sailor. The rooster he sees come the better he likes it. "Mick" struck his head through a life ring, at the photographer's suggestion, and is giving an imitation of a true patriot looking for an argument. Every man on the New Mexico is "Mick's" pal.

DETROIT THEATRES.

Jimmy Hisssey's musical revue, "Tattle-Tales," will begin the second half of its fortnight's engagement at the Shubert-Detroit Monday night. Despite the fact that this is a new play, done by a new author and producer and that it is a very practical its premiere, there is nothing about the performance that would indicate its newness. On the contrary the entertainment moves with the precision and clarity of a show that has been on the boards for an entire season, and the first-week's audiences apparently enjoyed it as well as anything offered here during the last year.

Thompson Buchanan's laughter comedy, "Civilian Clothes," which was offered here last season with William Courtenay in the title role, will be the offering of the Bonstelle company at the Garrick next week, beginning Monday night.

"Civilian Clothes" tells the story of a young society girl in search of adventure who goes to France as a Salvation Army worker and there meets a young captain who has been cited for bravery and after a brief courtship secretly marries him. The captain takes it for granted he has married a girl from his own station in life. Soon after the girl returns home and after a short time sees the name of her husband in the casualty list and secretly mourns his loss. But the captain is not killed and at the end of the war he returns home dressed in a suit of civilian clothes of loud patterns and very much misfit.

Tip for Mothers.—The way to keep a boy looking neat is to handcuff him, shackle his feet, and give him sleeping powders every five minutes.

Constitutional Government the Sure Base of Our American Liberty.

By CHARLES EVANS HUGHES.

In an appreciation of the difficulties which have accompanied the period after the war, we must avoid a distorted view and we must not fail to realize that the great heart of the nation has not changed in a few months, notwithstanding the absence of a compelling motive and the rush of competing interests.

Unless we have in peace time that dominant sentiment which prompts a continuous and self-sacrificing devotion to public ends, the sacrifices of patriotism in war will have been in vain. Our national ideals are not bound up in anything short of establishing and maintaining constitutional government as the sure base of liberty.

It is a spurious patriotism that is linked to the triumph of any creed or class, or becomes the vehicle of bigotry. The common good rooted in the essential institutions of justice and individual liberty—that is the natural ideal.

We have talked so much of free institutions that we are apt to think that they will take care of themselves. Our recent and current experiences should disabuse us of this notion.

The motto for democracy must be educate, educate, educate. You can find no other security than the intelligence and conscience of the people. But you cannot at once educate and stifle opinion.

There is hope in the free air, there is tonic in confidence in ultimate success of what you strongly believe to be true, but the policy of denying free expression of political opinions is death to the republic, for that expression is its vital force.

The practice of putting large discretionary powers at the disposal of officers needs a curb. The patriot in peace demands government upon established principles, and he should always be ready to contest officialism and bureaucracy, with its readiness to suppress individual freedom.

A Department of Conservation With Its Secretary a Cabinet Member.

By J. H. WALLACE, JR., Alabama Conservation Commissioner.

One of the most vital needs of this country is the establishment of a department of conservation, with a secretary who is a member of the president's cabinet, to conserve the people's game and natural resources of the nation. The creation of a department of conservation would unquestionably result in a more complete administration of our various conservation statutes, and would undoubtedly contribute in a higher degree to the preservation of our resources.

Each passing year records the depletion of some great natural resource. Our forests are being cut down, our fisheries are being depleted, our minerals are being exhausted, and our game is being exterminated. It is the duty of the government to protect these resources, and to conserve them for the benefit of the people.

The establishment of a department of conservation, with a secretary who is a member of the president's cabinet, is a necessary step towards the conservation of our natural resources. It is a step which will result in a more complete administration of our various conservation statutes, and will undoubtedly contribute in a higher degree to the preservation of our resources.

It is a step which will result in a more complete administration of our various conservation statutes, and will undoubtedly contribute in a higher degree to the preservation of our resources.

In proportion that our country possesses its natural wealth in the same measure will it continue to prosper and grow in wealth and power. The establishment of a department of conservation will infuse new life and vigor into our existing conservation laws, and additional measures will be passed by congress and the states which will have been down to them at least a fair portion of the treasure of nature's storehouse.

These People Who Are Thrifty and Clean—They Inherit the Earth.

By MRS. TILLIE J. FRANKENTHAL, Chicago Barker.

If everyone would only budget—there would be no need in the whole world. It is injudicious spending and no saving which brings need and want and dependency. You will find among the neediest people the greatest necessity for systematic saving. And usually they are the ones who always have a penny to spend for some nonessential thing.

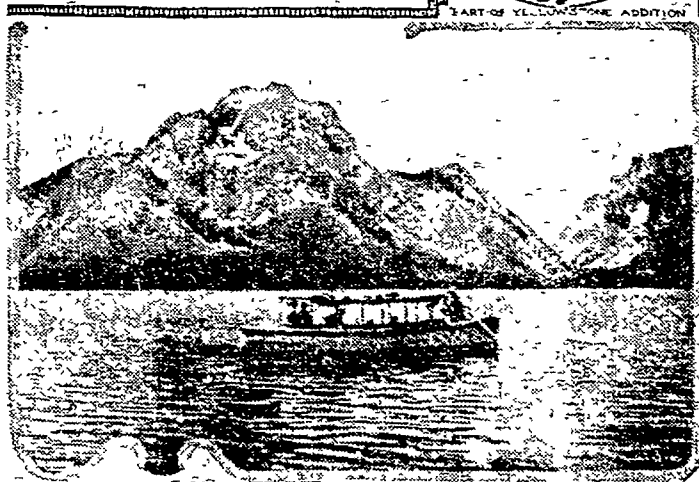

Women are woefully ignorant of matters of finance, but it's not to be wondered at. No one has ever taken the trouble to explain the workings of money to women, or to any one else, for that matter. What folly it is to expect a girl, reared with no thought of money, its needs or its uses, to become a frugal and skillful manipulator of it when she has a home of her own.

Finance should be taught in schools, and I think the time will come when the world will agree with me. I don't mean the old stock interest problems and intricate sums. I mean the successful manipulation of money, the graceful art of saving and the intelligent application of the knowledge that money will earn money. Such a scheme will work for our national advancement and for security of many, many people.

These people who are thrifty, and clean—they inherit the earth. They are prepared for whatever calamities come upon them. They've saved to meet just such an emergency. They are happy, because they know they have saved to make themselves secure. They have eliminated the worry from their affairs, all by using foresight and thrift.

Life's not money that is the root of all evil. It is the hoarding of money. But it is the bickering-over money which brings a deal of the unhappiness in the world and the lack of it which brings out most of the suffering. And for all this the simple budget will bring relief.

Climbing Mount Moran

Mount Moran and Jackson Lake

IT IS proposed to add about 1,000 square miles to Yellowstone National park on the south; legislation to this effect is now pending in congress. This enlargement includes the Teton range near the Idaho-Wyoming line Jackson lake and the headwaters of the Yellowstone river. It will give Yellowstone National park magnificent scenery of a kind it needs. Grand Teton (13,747 feet), highest peak of the Teton range, has been famous as a landmark since the days of the early fur trade. Mount Moran, 11,100, on the west side of Jackson lake, has never been ascended, according to legend.

In Company with Roy Jeffers, A. C. F. R. G. S. secretary of the bureau of Associated Mountain Clubs of North America, I set out for the ascent of Mount Moran. The narrative runs: My wife and I entered Yellowstone park by the new eastern approach through Rhinoceros corner, climbing through dense forest, a series of walls of gray and brown.

After some time we reached the Grand canon of the Yellowstone river, a magnificent canyon of a kind it needs. Grand Teton (13,747 feet), highest peak of the Teton range, has been famous as a landmark since the days of the early fur trade. Mount Moran, 11,100, on the west side of Jackson lake, has never been ascended, according to legend.

The ascent of Mount Moran was a difficult task. We had to climb a steep, rocky trail, and the weather was very bad. We were forced to stop several times, and the climb was very tiring. We finally reached the summit, and the view was magnificent.

HUMAN NATURE VS. IDEALISM

Communist Theory of Ownership of Land, Put to the Test in Russia, Has Proved Dire Failure in Practice.

Article XXVI.

By FRANK COMERFORD.

The bolshevik government seized industry, the working man took over the factories. It was part of the plan of communism. The promise was that the socialization of industry would increase production and free the workers from exploitation. The owners and managers were driven from the plants. These men were of the bourgeois class. They had no place in the new scheme of things. They were "tainted" with success. They had intelligently and efficiently built up their industries. This was enough. The bolshevik government denied them citizenship and drove them from the enterprises they had built.

Everything was to be owned in common; private property of all kinds had been abolished. The men who worked in the factories or mills were to be their own bosses. They were part of the state, and the state owned and operated everything. The government of the factory was to be by committee; every man was the equal of every other man; orders were given and orders taken with this thought in mind. The result was inhumanity. Every man was boss; all were "tainted" with success. The business brains having been driven out, insubordination having come in, production declined until it almost ceased. Many workers gave up in disgust and returned to their villages. The exodus from Petrograd was marked. Prior to 1917 Petrograd was a city of nearly 2,000,000. In 1918 its population had shrunk to less than 700,000. Factories closed. Again the theory of communism, when put to the test, failed.

Trotsky Had Remedy.

Trotsky, in confessing the failure of the bolshevik program to successfully socialize industry, charged it to the "abolition of the intellect." By this he meant that the bolsheviks drove the specialists, the technicians and managers of industry, out of business, and the working men, not having the training for these places, requiring special skill and knowledge, were unable to operate the machinery. Trotsky presented a remedy. He said that the intellectuals have the benefit of special training and education and experience and that shops and factories should be run by specialists, material and working men, and not by the "tainted" managers, the intellectuals, experienced foremen. But Trotsky has not lost faith in the plan of industrial communism, nor has he lost belief in the theory that it can be made to increase production. He says that the bourgeois class, when forced into the factories by the state, do not work with the same ambition to make a success of the business that they did when it was their private property and they had a personal profit interest in its success. Thus they are guilty of withholding their best from factory management under the bolshevik schemes of communism. This he calls the "sabotage of the intellect."

To eliminate this difficulty, Trotsky proposes that the bolshevik government turn its attention to the education of the working men, provide technical schools and schools reaching business management, and in this manner make competent managers and technical experts out of workmen. It is his opinion that workmen educated to be experts and managers would retain their class sympathy and their interest in the success of the class struggle.

Had Forgotten Human Nature.

The bolsheviks are strong on theory. Trotsky fails to take into consideration some simple fundamental truths. He fails to reckon with human nature as it is. He thinks of it as it should be. Let us take an example which illustrates and emphasizes the difference between bolshevik theory and practical experience. Let us suppose that the bolshevik government establishes schools for the purpose of training men in business management and for technical work. Then enroll in these schools workmen who, at the time, are entirely "class conscious." They are ardent communists when they enter the front door of the school on the first day of their attendance. They attend school for several years. The time spent in school and the education given to the men makes a change in them. They become conscious of the power of education, of their fitness for a better class of work. Education gives them a sense of superiority, and I do not mean superiority in the arrogant or boastful sense. The trained mind is conscious of training. It is a more ambitious mind. The men are not less human. They want to get out of education material benefits. They feel the sense of leadership. When they graduate, these men leave the door of the school different men in aspirations and ambitions. Take them back to the factories and in time cases out of ten you will find that you have made managers, foremen, experts out of them, and that they are conscious of it. There will be some few whose great idealism will inspire them to go back into the shop and work for the common good. Such men are the exceptions to the rule. The great majority will insist upon recognition of their greater skill and demand compensation for it. Their thoughts would be: "Now that I am skilled and educated, now that I take on my shoulders a larger and more important responsibility, I am entitled to increased consideration, and a larger reward. Why should I be put on the level with the men who haven't the capacity I have and who do not shoulder the same responsibility I do?" Trotsky's plan reminds me of the intensely maternal hen, that after practicing on white door knobs, discovered some eggs in a barn, and with great enthusiasm began to set. In the course of time her patience and motherhood were rewarded. As soon as her brood was able to walk she took them on an excursion to the river bank to give them a warm banquet. When she reached the water edge she was startled at seeing her young ones paddle into the water and without even so much as a good-by, swim off.

The test of the communist theory is whether or not, when put to practice, it increases production. The theory of the communist is that it will increase production by inducing men to work because they are their own bosses and are guaranteed an equal share in the production. The practical fact which upsets the theory is that human beings are moved to work by their desire for gain. Human beings have this strain in their blood. It is organic; it is a part of them. I do not refer to greed. I mean that all experience proves that human beings are individualists. The average man thinks of himself and his interests a dozen times to the one time he thinks of the general interest of society. This is true even of the man who gives much thought and has much concern for the common good. He may be generous to a fault, but he wants to acquire the thing and then give it. Competition, notwithstanding all the theories of the idealists to the contrary, quickens life, stimulates men to work, makes for progress. Everywhere about us we see in our daily experiences evidence of this fact. Life is a gamble in the sense that everything is uncertain; life itself is uncertain. No man can plan or program his tomorrow. While I am not a fatalist, I can see from my own life and from the lives of others that many things come to pass over which we have no control. It is the effort of man to provide against unfavorable contingencies, to compete with chance, which makes him basically a competitor with every other man.

Element of Human Nature. Take the poker game. Men who play the "national game" will tell you that they play for the fun of the game, not for the money, and they are speaking the truth. Try an experiment, play a game for matches instead of for money and observe the effect upon the ambition and skill of the players. Maybe it should not be so, but we are not dealing with "should not be's." The life problem must be handled from the point of view of things as they are.

While the theory of communism is beautifully ideal, human beings are not. The ugly fact is that selfishness is at the bottom of nearly all personal endeavors. It stimulates men to work. It is the will to work.

Two years' experience with communism in Russia proves that the experiment is a failure. It disorganized life, demoralized people and diminished production. Instead of curing poverty, it made poverty universal. Instead of removing the spots of cancer—poverty—from the body of civilization, communism is causing increased production, is making the entire social body a cancer.

Northern France Recovering.

Production has been resumed in about one-half the factories of northern France, where the outbreak of the war paralyzed industry and where battles raged for four years. Of this number, however, about 13 per cent have been at work only a month. Figures examined by the correspondent of the Associated Press, who is visiting the war zone under a special dispensation of the government, showed that in this region 30,000 plants employing 800,000 workers were razed by gunfire, looted or badly disorganized.

Austria Seeks Loan in Paris.

Herr Reiss, Austrian secretary of state, will go to Paris to negotiate an advance of from 150,000,000 to 200,000,000 francs, to be guaranteed by a rental of the Austrian tobacco monopoly. It was announced in Vienna.

An Anglo-American group has been negotiating with the Vienna municipality regarding the erection of water power stations to supply electricity to the city at a cost of 30,000,000 francs, the works to be completed within three years.

Poles Bar Bolsheviki Advance.

Poland has her entire army marshaled along the Russian frontier to form a barrier against the western spread of bolshevism, according to an interview with Cardinal Krawkowski, archbishop of Warsaw, printed in the "Corriere d'Italia." The cardinal says, however, that Polish detachments are too weak to withstand the pressure from the east, which, he says, may last from 20 to 25 years.

Mankind Easily Governed.

Nothing appears more surprising to those who consider human affairs with a philosophical eye than the easiness with which the many are governed by the few.—Hux

For Midsummer and Fall Wear

The midsummer fashion, showing of the great French houses are interesting not only for the clothes themselves, but because of their influence on autumn styles. In planning a wardrobe for a new season—and one begins even in midsummer to think of clothes for fall—there is always more or less uncertainty as to what we shall choose. We do not want to reproduce in our dress the styles which were worn early in the summer, so it is very desirable to have a point of departure and fresh ideas to give impetus to our plans.

Madeleine et Madeleine have made an elaborate showing of models covering both advance ideas for autumn export and midsummer ideas for local customers. They now stand almost in the position of dictators, having made such a marked success since their debut last August. It was this house that sounded the death knell of the "pamper" by refusing to give its sanction to a fashion which had been exploited prior to August, 1919, when they had their first opening. They have kept to straight figure lines, with a strong note of the Oriental, especially the Egyptian girle and bodice.

Sashes of Slender Grace

The sash is still one of their most prominent features. From the Egyptian girle to the modern sash the Madeleine et Madeleine models pass abruptly with nothing in between to link the two, and yet, after all, they are not so far apart in the final effect, especially when the broad ribbon sash is tied at a low waistline, with a perk butterfly or an oblong bow at the left side.

Many of the most charming dresses shown in this line, have wonderful sashes developed from metal ribbons or broad moirés and chiffon weight taffetas. The ribbons are almost as broad as the single width taffetas, and yet so soft that they fall in graceful, slender lines. Even the simplest dress is given a wonderful amount of style when a big ribbon sash is properly adjusted.

A generous use of white organdie with silk has been, and still is, a favorite combination with this firm. In the spring they made entire foundation dresses of tucked and plaited white organdie, with overskirts of dark serge. The costume was then completed by a blue serge cape lined with white organdie.

Little dresses made entirely of blue serge or silk and fluff white organdie frills down the entire length of the front, which lapped after the manner of the coat dress. They have incorporated the same idea in a perfectly charming way into their midsummer things, featuring extensively black taffeta combined with white organdie. For the chateau life, which abounds in France, nothing more appropriate can be imagined than these charming dresses.

Model With Two Jackets

The body of a notable model, which is cut in chaise style, is made of white organdie. It begins with tiny pin tucks placed at the depth of a very shallow yoke. These pin tucks continue to below the hip line, where they begin to widen gradually until the last tuck, which just above the knees is two inches wide. Below this broad tuck the remainder of the dress is of black taffeta.

Black taffeta coat with deep points at the bottom, formed by a curved opening at the back and a diagonal crossing at the front.

There is a black taffeta ribbon girle finishing with a big rosette and lots of flying ends of taffeta ribbon. Where the plain organdie yoke and sleeves join the body of the dress there is a little line of open work, and on the very short sleeves, which are practically nothing more than shoulder caps, are two dainty frills of real Valenciennes lace. A single upstanding frill of lace surrounds the half low, round neck.

The story is not complete with just this little dress, the adorable part being the fact that it has two jackets, one in pure white organdie and the other in black taffeta. Both jackets are made in exactly the same style and are trimmed with wide platings of matching materials, the white organdie one with white organdie and the black taffeta one with black taffeta. The jacket sleeves are very short, leaving the arms almost bare. The plaited tunic stands up about the neck and follows the one-side lapped front. Just at the waistline there is a big rosette of the plaiting with a button center, and at either side are double rows of plaitings, which stand out over the hips.

Can one imagine anything more chic or cool to wear at a tennis, tea or garden party? If one has occasion for a hasty drive to the station the white organdie jacket is immediately replaced by the one of black taffeta. When muddy goes indoors for music or dancing either jacket is quickly laid aside and the charming little dress, almost invisible in its simplicity, is all that can be desired in an afternoon dancing frock.

Coat With Self-Plaitings

The dress has been ordered by half a dozen women of high social position, and one can imagine that there will hardly be an important social event during the summer season in France where this costume will not be seen. It is to be copied in crepe georgette for American women who find it difficult to preserve the pristine freshness of organdie when their trunks are packed and unpacked.

The taffeta coat trimmed with self-plaitings is a prominent summer idea. A great many houses are showing models of this character and among the unusual things offered by Madeleine et Madeleine is a seven-eighths length coat with deep points at the bottom, these points being formed by a curved opening at the back and a diagonal crossing at the front. This coat is designed to be worn over any sort of light summer dress. In the collection it is shown in connection with a yellow chiffon frock handsomely embroidered. It has the simplest lines imaginable. The impression of a low waistline is given through the slight draping under the arm.

Strong emphasis is being placed on black Chantilly lace dresses. Frocks of black lace are fast taking the place of the colored ones seen earlier in the season despite the fact that a black lace dress never tends to make a woman look any younger than she really is. The vogue for black evening dresses has been augmented by the Parisienne, who has a great liking for such a frock topped by a lacy black hat. Black lace dinner dresses are seen at the smartest evening gatherings. In these the apron and tunic skirts over narrow foundations of lace, satin or taffeta are used. The bodices are extremely simple. Long transparent sleeves appear in most of the lace dinner dresses. These are newer and smarter than the very short sleeves.

One of the most charming of these dresses has plaited panel points of Chantilly lace falling over a slender foundation skirt of black satin and a peasant bodice.

FEW SIDELIGHTS ON HOG RAISING

Farmer Will Find That Green Herbage Makes Pork Production Most Profitable.

ALFALFA BEST FORAGE CROP

Some of Heavy-Yielding, Quick-Growing Plants Will Add Much Feed—Liberal Allowance of Grain Must Be Supplied.

The farmer who provides pasture for his hogs whenever possible is the one who makes the production of pork most profitable, says the United States department of agriculture in Farmer's Bulletin 951. In epitome, the advice given in the bulletin is:

Green herbage is essential to the economical production of pork.

A permanent pasture supplemented with quick-growing, heavy-yielding temporary forage crops is most satisfactory.

It Does Not Pay Nowadays to Raise Hogs on Grain or Mill Feeds Alone.

Alfalfa Is Best Crop.

Alfalfa, where it can be grown, is undoubtedly the best forage crop for hogs.

On an average one acre of permanent pasture should be kept for each brood sow.

Some of the heavy-yielding quick-growing forage crops will add much feed to the quantity produced by a permanent pasture.

There should be mature crops such as corn, soy beans, peanuts, or velvet beans, for finishing the hogs in fall. Oats, rye and wheat give satisfactory winter grazing.

Green forage alone is little better than a maintenance ration. If rapid gain is desired, the hogs should have a liberal allowance of grain. The rule should be "all the grain they will eat without waste."

Growing forage crops and "grain them off" on the land is an efficient method of improving soils depleted of organic matter.

The exercise obtained in grazing exerts a beneficial influence on the health of hogs.

Various Forage Crops.

The various forage crops for hogs, each discussed in detail, are: sorghum, winter grains, alfalfa, lucerne, and clover.

Hogs in Alfalfa—Alfalfa Is One of the Best Forage Crops for Pork Production.

red clover, crimson clover, soy beans, velvet beans, cowpeas, peanuts, chufas, sweet potatoes, mangets and rape.

Suggested cropping systems are given, but the statement is made that it is impossible to plan a succession of crops that will be satisfactory for any large number of farms and that each farmer must plan his own system according to his conditions of climate, fertility, and layout of fields.

Copies of the bulletin can be had free on application to the division of publications, United States department of agriculture.

SPRAY TO KILL PLANT LICE

Sucking Insects Must Be Controlled By a Contact Insecticide to Close Breathing Pores.

Plant lice are sucking insects and therefore must be controlled by a contact insecticide that will destroy them by closing up the breathing pores of their bodies. The best material to use is a forty per cent solution of nicotine sulphate, using one teaspoonful to a gallon of water to which an inch cube of hard soap has been added. The soap serves to spread the material better over the foliage. Since the lice are generally on the under sides of the leaves, they must be struck by the spray in order to be killed.

VARIOUS FACTORS IN RURAL ASSOCIATIONS

Bureau of Markets Has Given Much Valuable Assistance.

Bulletin Issued by Department of Agriculture of Great Interest to Those Engaged in Co-operative Organizations.

In the United States there are some 14,000 co-operative marketing associations. To many of them, the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture, has given valuable assistance by furnishing specimen copies of by-laws and by indicating proper methods of organization and administration.

The Organization of Co-operative Grain Elevator Companies" is the title of bulletin No. 860, just issued by the United States department of agriculture upon this subject. The bulletin is addressed to those who desire assistance in the formation of co-operative grain elevators, but the subject matter is treated in a manner that makes the bulletin of interest to those engaged in other lines of co-operative endeavor as well. The scope of the pamphlet is limited to matters regarded as fundamental and general, and it is intended that the suggestions and recommendations be considered with reference to and in connection with special co-operative laws and the laws governing corporations in each of the several states of the Union.

The bulletin points out that the success of any organization, whether co-operative or for private profit, rests on social or economic need; a sound organization plan, and efficient management. It then details the various factors that produce these basic conditions. It dwells upon the organization of local stock companies, private elevators of the capital stock form, and co-operative associations incorporated under special co-operative laws. These common forms of organization of farmers' elevator enterprises in the United States.

Under the chapter of preliminary survey, matters of local conditions, cooperative membership, capital, value of business, and methods of survey are covered. Then the process of actual organization are discussed in a suggested form of by-laws governing the organization.

The bulletin also contains some general suggestions regarding the selection of the plant, the choice of directors and a manager, a maintenance agreement, emergency capital and speculative tendencies. The appendix gives detailed forms to cover every phase of the administration of the organization from a capital stock subscription contract to a form of stock certificate, and service and maintenance agreement.

The pamphlet has been written by experts in matters of co-operative associations. It is the composite result of actual experience and should prove of valuable assistance to those interested in co-operative marketing. The bulletin may be had upon request of the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

TOBACCO ACREAGE IS SMALL

Area Occupied by Crop Is Very Insignificant, Being 1,901,200 Acres in 1919.

Since the estimate of 214,400 acres of tobacco in the United States made by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture, for 1913 the area has regularly increased to 1,947,000 acres in 1918 and 1,901,200 acres in 1919, with intermediate census acreages from 1879 to 1909.

Tobacco is one of the "principal" crops, and is rated as one of considerable importance from a national point of view, and of high importance within the limits of some of the states, and yet the area occupied by it is a very insignificant fraction of farm and of crop area. The census for 1909 found 1,294,911 acres devoted to tobacco, and this area was 0.41 per cent of the total crop area and 0.15 per cent of the farm area.

PLAN FOR FATTENING FOWLS

Amount of Meat Birds Will Put on Depends Largely on Their Care and Nature of Ration.

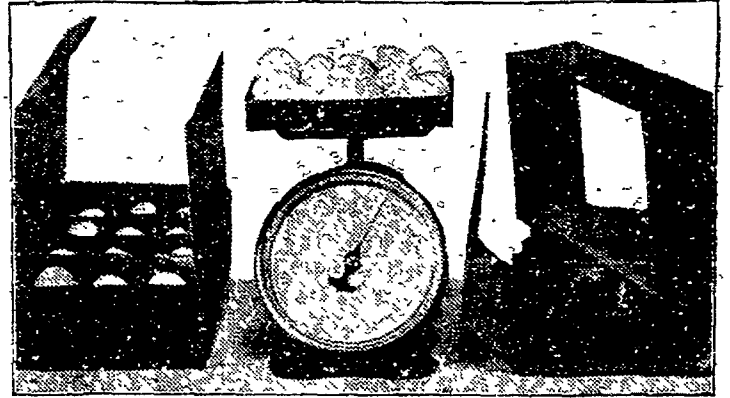

When fowls or chicks are being fattened, they are growing into meat. The amount of meat they will put on their bones depends on their care as well as on the ration. Discontented fowls will not fatten, neither will dirty or crowded fowls. Mature fowls will be contented in a dark place with little or no exercise, and put on flesh. Young stock will be restless and must have a certain amount of exercise up to the last "finishing" stage of the process. Pure water and plenty of it, and fresh air are essential.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Uniformity is what counts in the beauty of a farm flock. It is half the fun of keeping sheep to see all look just alike.

There isn't a man living who could have predicted the past year's sheep or wool market. Why do so many think they can correctly forecast that of the coming years?

SHIPPING EGGS BY PARCEL POST IS MOST PROFITABLE PRACTICE

Parcel Post Scales Are Almost a Necessity for the Mailing of Many Eggs.

Parcel posting eggs has long surpassed the experimental stage. Its practicability is demonstrated by the fact that more parcels of eggs pass through the mails than of any other product.

While the great bulk of eggs which come from distant producing territory will continue to be shipped by other methods, it is no doubt true that many clues can be supplied with a considerable portion of their fresh eggs from within the first and second zones by parcel post to the advantage of both producer and consumer. By such direct contact the producer should secure better prices for his eggs than are realized by present methods of marketing, and the consumer should obtain a fresher quality at no increased cost, or frequently, even at a reduction in price.

Packing Eggs for Shipment

Eggs for direct marketing, if the trade requires it or if it can be done without any disadvantage should be assorted as to size and color. Eggs irregular in shape, those which are unusually long or thin shelled, or which have shells otherwise defective should be kept by the producer for home use, so that the package in transit may be reduced to a minimum.

Regardless of the particular style of design of the container used, each egg should be wrapped according to parcel post requirements so that it will not shatter in transit. Soft wrapping paper or newspaper should be used around each egg, separating it from the United States department of agriculture suggest, should the eggs shake about in the container the danger of breakage to the time is increased.

Average Weight of Eggs

Average 1 to 4 eggs will weigh about one and a half pounds to the dozen, or one cent per egg. The weight of a single dozen of eggs is a certain product of the weight of the dozen, and will run from two to three pounds, depending on the nature of the particular container, the size of the eggs, and the packing and wrapping used. If the container is a very light one and the eggs small, the parcel may fall within the two-pound limit, and the postage, therefore, within the first and second zones, or the 150-mile limit, would be 6 cents. Most parcels containing a dozen eggs will exceed two pounds, but will not reach three; therefore the postage on them will be 7 cents within the first and second zones. A parcel containing two dozen eggs will add perhaps 2 cents to the postage, though, sometimes only 1 cent, depending on the nature of the container and the packing and wrapping.

It should be observed that the larger the parcel (within the size and weight limits) the cheaper is the postage, as the first-pound of each package costs 5 cents within the first and second zones, while each additional pound, up to 30 cents but 1 cent; so that while a 1-pound parcel would cost 5 cents postage, a two-pound parcel would cost only 6 cents, or 3 cents a pound. A 20-pound parcel would cost 24 cents, or 1.2 cents per pound, and a 50-pound parcel would cost 34 cents, or but 1.25 cents a pound.

Wrapping and Addressing Parcels.

The appearance of the parcel depends largely upon the manner in which it is wrapped. Odds and ends of paper and twine are not of value for this purpose. Every producer who aims to make a business of shipping eggs by parcel post should procure a supply of good, tough paper of the proper size to wrap his parcels, and also good string, though not too heavy, cord or twine that stretches very little.

To insure prompt delivery the address should be written plainly on the wrapping of the parcel. Much trouble is caused by illegible or faulty addresses, or by poorly written addresses.

BEST OPERATION OF THRASHING MACHINE

Time and Grain Can Be Saved by Proper Adjustment.

Careless Operator Who Doesn't Know Different Parts Is Compelled to Make Frequent Stops for Needed Repairs.

Even with the most efficient operation of thrashing machines under the best of conditions it is probably not possible to save all the wheat, say experts of the United States department of agriculture. The careless operator, however, who does not know what the different parts of the machine are for, or who does not watch them closely while the separator is running, wastes a great amount of grain unnecessarily. He will surely have to make frequent stops for repairs and adjustments. Every time a machine stops the whole crew, usually several men and teams, must be idle until it starts again, a loss of time to everybody concerned.

The waste of grain through inefficient operation of the thrashing machines, though possibly not a serious matter to the individual farmer, is a matter of perhaps millions of bushels to the nation as a whole. When we consider that there are 6,000,000 farms in the United States, it is evident that a waste of only a bushel a set would be an enormous loss to the aggregate.

An standard thrashing machine will do its work with little waste of grain or loss of time if kept in good condition, adjusted properly for the particular job on which it is engaged, furnished with the proper amount of power applied correctly, and watched intelligently while in operation. Nevertheless, it is true that a great deal of time is lost and a large amount of grain wasted unnecessarily in thrashing. All thrashing machine manufacturers have endeavored to make their machines as efficient as possible, with the idea of having the construction such that they will give a minimum of trouble and do satisfactory work. However, there are so many parts to a thrashing machine that it requires careful attention at all times, and it must work under such a wide range of conditions that numerous adjustments must be left for the operator to make in the field.

Milking Cows

No two cows can be milked alike; the individuality of the animal must always be studied. Thousands of good cows are ruined annually owing to improper milking.

IN SELECTING FARM

Scan It Carefully

Idle Land May Be Liability Instead of Asset.

In selecting a farm often too little attention is given to the condition of the soil and the lay of the fields with reference to ease of cultivation. Crop land in itself is of little value unless it is so situated that it can be made to yield profitable returns through the use of labor and machinery. A farm of 100 acres valued at $100 per acre may be a much better bargain if practically all of the land can be put to some profitable use than another farm of 100 acres purchasable at $50 per acre of which large areas are practically without utility owing to streams, swamps which cannot be drained or rough, stony areas not suitable even for pasture.

It is essential, therefore, that not the total area as conveyed by the deed or contract be considered but the area available for profitable use. Any additional land may be really a liability instead of an asset, since very often the returns are not even sufficient to pay the taxes. A great many mistakes are made on this point alone, the buyer frequently thinking that he can crop the land in one way or another, but later finding that conditions are such that it is more profitable to permit it to grow up to brush or woods than to attempt to cultivate it.

Farmers' Bulletin 1038, "Selecting a Farm," gives many valuable suggestions to the prospective buyer. The bulletin may be had free, upon request, of the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

POULTRY NOTES

Any good grade, wholesome feed will grow chickens if fed rightly.

Oyster shells and grit should be supplied to the fowls at all times.

Clean the house and yards at regular intervals and so render them sanitary.

Red mites can be eliminated entirely by caustic lime roasts and any other infested places with equal parts of gas tar and kerosene.

FREE DEMONSTRATION OF THE CELEBRATED ONE-MINUTE WASHER

We will have a demonstration of these well known and popular Washing Machines at our store on

Wednesday, and Thursday Next,

August 18th and 19th

and we invite the public to call and see these machines in operation.

You are going to buy a Washer before long, and why not come in and see just how simple these washers are to operate?

Every modern home needs a Washer—they are as essential to the housewife as cultivators or other machinery to the farmer.

We have a model for you—electric, power, or hand machines—a model for any purse.

Husbands, come in now and see these washers—don't let your wife wreck her health over a washboard and tub of hot suds. Let the "One-Minute" relieve her of the cares and drudgery of wash day.

The "One-Minute" has been the leader in the field of mechanical washers for twenty years. There are over a million satisfied users of the "One-Minute." It is built of the best materials throughout—in the best mechanical manner and is backed by an unlimited guarantee of satisfaction.

This machine is equipped with an oscillating cylinder disc by which you may change your washer into a cylinder and oscillating principle.
