OUR ANNUAL FAIR WAS A DECIDED SUCCESS

Even Bad Weather Did Not Keep People Away—Large Exhibits and Good Programs

It was after tea o'clock Saturday night when the last of the fair visitors left the grounds and the fourth annual Northville Wayne County Fair came to its close. Saturday, of course, was the big day and from early morning until late in the afternoon people streamed through the gates on foot and in autos. The day was an ideal one, the best and most agreeable by far of the week, and people seemed bound to enjoy one day of sunshine anyway and so they came in groups and families. The crowd on the grounds for the afternoon program was probably the largest ever gathered here and judging from outward appearances everybody enjoyed the day to the fullest. During the progress of the races the grandstand was filled to its capacity and the track and grounds in front were crowded with a happy, jovial crowd, intent upon having a good time and determined to see it all. The crowd was remarkable for its good nature and nothing occurred during the whole four days to in any way mar the pleasure of the annual gathering.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday were cold, disagreeable days, but in spite of the inclemency the weather there was a good attendance on both Thursday and Friday. So well was the program carried out that all were determined to return for the last day and judging from the attendance most of them brought some one with them to enjoy the fair. A number of added attractions, not previously announced by the management, were given and thus Northville again demonstrated its determination to give full value in its entertainment values. Some one through a misunderstanding, doubtless, and on there would be fireworks Saturday night and many were disappointed. But this feature was the only one announced which was not given.

Just how the success will come out financially we are not able to state at this time, but it will require a week or more to check over the accounts. The program checks are being mailed out this week. However, one of the programs were put in cash on the spot. The office of the fair was situated at the corner of Center and Main streets, and the success of the fair was a great help to the local business. The fair was a great success and the local business was a great help to the fair. The fair was a great success and the local business was a great help to the fair.

FAIR NOTES.

There was a blizzard. The best ladies had a rushing business at their tent and served good meals for dinner and supper. The St. Charles were given their supper there Saturday afternoon and were well served.

Among the local firms making an exhibition in the main building, were the Detroit Edison Co., Northville Electric Shop, C. D. Kilgour, clothier, Woodward's, Bazaar and Phonograph Shop, Lyke & Lang, and Benedict Sons Co., and their displays attracted much attention.

George Ferguson of South Lyon and J. J. Fisher of Plymouth combined and made a very creditable display of farm tools and implements.

D. B. Bunn displayed Ford cars and Fordson tractors in the automobile section.

Ralph L. Richardson of the local Dodge Brothers dealer made a very attractive display of Dodge motor cars under a tent provided by himself. The exhibit was neatly arranged and all visitors to the tent were cordially received.

Charles Farms made an extensive exhibit of cattle and Duroc Jersey swine and horses, and captured a number of first and a few second premiums. The Mullan Stock Farm had a fine display of Berkshire hogs and carried off a number of blue and red ribbons. George Rattenbury had a number of horses in the draft class and he exhibited some very fine animals. He received a number of premiums. The Starkweather Stock Farm had on exhibition a number of fillies from their stables.

Brennan, Fitzgerald—Sink made their usual attractive exhibit of Jersey cattle.

The poultry show was one of the best ever seen here, there being about 400 coops with more than 500 exhibits. A. E. Fuller received the cup offered by the Lapham State Savings bank, D. W. Thrasher of Drayton Plains received the platform scales given by the Sumpson Scale & Electric Co. and Wm. Marvin of Detroit received the $100 cash offered by the Northville State Savings bank. Superintendent Ward worked hard to make his department a success and he deserves special praise for the manner in which he succeeded.

Due to the untiring efforts of E. M. Starkweather and C. H. Young the gate and syme departments contained big exhibits and many high-grade animals were shown. Nothing better was seen at the state fair than was shown here.

Charles Crocker came to attend the fair and brought with him a big squash grown on his farm. He received first premium for his product.

Fred Freeman exhibited fine stalks of corn upon which were ten well developed ears.

H. B. Clark received first premium on his splendid vegetable display, having one of the largest exhibits in that class.

The display of vegetables and apples was unusually good this year and the potatoes obtained any ever shown here.

The Little Babies contest created a great deal of interest and there were a number of fifty little tots shown. We hope to be able to publish names of the prize-winners next week. There were a lot of very attractive and healthy babies shown.

As usual the Woman's department in the main building was the center of attraction for all fair visitors. The display was very large and not enough room having been given the ladies in charge they were compelled to crowd the hundreds of pretty things into a pretty small space—so small in fact that they could not display them to advantage. The display of fancy work of all description, of insect fruits, flowers china painting etc. was most creditable and the ladies in charge worked hard to make the exhibit the "show place" of the fair.

The motorcycle race Saturday afternoon on Centre Square machine was a very good one. The winner was a very good one. The winner was a very good one. The winner was a very good one.

The races were very good and attracted large crowds to the grandstand. The afternoon horse race was a very good one. The winner was a very good one. The winner was a very good one.

"More Systematic, Orderly and Expeditious Movement of the Mails."

By REPRESENTATIVE MARTIN B. MADDEN of Illinois.

The work about to be undertaken by the joint postal service commission, which was appointed during the closing days of the last session of congress, is not an investigation of the postoffice department. It is a study of the best methods to be pursued in the operation of the department.

The purpose of the commission is to devise plans and recommend to congress for legislation for the better handling, dispatching and transporting of the mails. The commission will study all phases of the postal service with a view to formulating plans which it is hoped will eventually result in a more systematic, orderly and expeditious movement of the mails.

From the information now in the hands of the commission, it is apparent that something must be done to give more prompt mail delivery to the people of the country. Among the things the commission will study is the question of separating the parcel post from the first-class mail, the purpose being to give the first-class mail the right of way without in any wise slowing up parcel post.

An advisory council of seven prominent business men of the country has been elected by the commission. It is proposed also to employ expert engineering talent to make a survey of the facilities necessary to accomplish the purpose for which the commission was appointed.

The postal business is expanding at such a rapid rate that it seems almost impossible to supply facilities to keep pace with the growth. It is hoped that when the commission completes its work it will be able to recommend a system of handling the mail which will be up to date and meet the needs of the present and the future for some years to come.

"Constant Assault of Immigrants on English Language in America."

By ANATOLE FRANCE in New York Evening Post.

In the case of America there is one fact which, interesting enough, seems to point both for and against the progress of a great literary art developing. I mean the great and constant assault of immigrants on the English language in America.

They come from all over the world in great numbers there, bringing their own languages. In the fusion that comes of the new and the acquired languages English, just as in South America Spanish has degenerated to such an extent that I doubt if many of the literate people of this house could read "Don Quixote" in the original.

In the United States and Canada, however, the assault on the English language has had a more definite effect. On the contrary, I believe that the lower classes in America speak a purer English than the corresponding classes in England. Such a condition is a victory of the language promises something, just as the assault on it threatens the opposite.

But then the Americans are a very different people. So far from allowing such a splendid medium of expression as the English language to deteriorate they are guarding it with their own lives.

Type of Man Who "Redoubles His Efforts When He Has Forgotten His Aim."

By LYNN HAROLD HUGH, Retiring Pres't Northwestern Univ.

A famous Harvard professor with a gift for telling phrases once spoke of the type of man who "redoubles his efforts when he has forgotten his aim." There is a great deal of meaningless activity in the world. There are no end of people who do not know where they are going but use up a great amount of energy in the process of being on the way. The most pathetic product of contemporary education is the man who has found a method but has not found a purpose. He has developed a technique but he is really quite at a loss as to what use to make of it.

The quest for a purpose is a noble and notable adventure. Books and people, the past and the present, are all the while trying to guide the searching pilgrim. Every great biography reaches out summoning hands. History is trying to make its dominant morose contemporary every time it finds a reader. Literature would pour its passion into every responsive brain. And our unique literature sets all the fires of noble idealism burning.

In the midst of all this and all the summons of real lives about him, the student who knows that he must become a man of action and that great actions must have great motives behind them, must make his choice. It ought not to be difficult for him to find a purpose.

To Build Bridge of Sympathy Between British Nations and America.

By SIR AUCLAND GEDDES, British Ambassador.

The unrest in the world, which we have to meet today, is the product of the industrialization of the nation. In order to find a solution for the problems of unrest, the nations of European stock must declare a peace for Europe if civilization is to continue without a collapse.

The very foundation of friendship between the nations, that this end may be brought about, is the development of close sympathy between the British nations and that other great English-speaking nation, the United States of America. On the basis of such a friendship the peace of Europe can be established. I doubt if for many years it could exist on any other foundation.

And you Canadians, by accident of position, by community of interest, by knowledge and innumerable friendships, are especially placed to build the golden bridge of sympathy between the British nations and America. It is for you to build the bridge across the chasms of ignorance, and the abyss of misrepresentation, by which some have sought to create misunderstanding between us.

If we succeed in doing that, if you succeed, we will have taken the first step on the path which leads to the world of our dreams, a world of peace and a world of justice.

AVOID DISEASES BY PROPER CARE

Prevention Is Better Than Cure With Various Ailments in Poultry Flock.

WATCH CLOSE FOR OUTBREAK

Treatment Outlined by Bureau of Animal Industry for Roup, Chicken-Pox and Scaly Leg—Examine Fowls Often.

Disease is one of the handicaps to successful poultry keeping and should be guarded against at all times. Unless kept in a healthy condition, chickens will not grow properly and mature fowls will lose their vigor and vitality and become unproductive and unprofitable. It is far better to prevent disease by proper care and attention than to attempt to cure a bird after it is sick. It is important, therefore, to watch the flock closely at all times for any signs of disease, so that an outbreak may be checked as soon as it occurs.

Three of the more common poultry diseases are roup, chicken-pox, and scaly leg. The following treatments for which are given by the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture:

Affects the Eyes. Roup is a disease which affects the eyes, nose and throat. The first signs are watery eyes, swollen eyelids, loss of appetite, and a thin, watery discharge from the nostrils; after a few days the discharge becomes thick and interferes with the bird's breathing. In severe cases the side of the head is hot and badly swollen and the eyelids stuck together with a yellowish cheesy substance.

After a roup develops from a hard cold or is brought into the flock by a bird which has had the disease, it is important to keep the house clean and well ventilated, and disinfected. The birds are not exposed to drafts, and the birds are not exposed to drafts. If this is not possible, the birds should be put into a clean, dry, well-ventilated house. If the birds are not exposed to drafts, the birds are not exposed to drafts.

Chicken-Pox. Chicken-pox is a disease called sore throat. It is a very contagious disease. It is caused by a virus in the form of small white patches or vesicles which later develop into brown spots or crusts resembling the scabs of a sore throat. The birds are not exposed to drafts, and the birds are not exposed to drafts.

Apply a liberal quantity of carbolic acid to all the affected parts. The treatment for a short time will cause the scales to crusts to soften.

Fowls Kept Free of Vermin Are Less Susceptible to Disease.

and drop off when the tissue of sore underneath should be painted with tincture of iodine or five per cent solution of carbolic acid. Five pounds of fine powdered sulphur mixed with each 100 pounds of dry mash is also beneficial in effecting a cure. As soon as the disease makes its appearance spray the houses and coops thoroughly with some good disinfectant (preferably some wood preservative or coal-tar preparation), and scald the drinking fountains and feed dishes thoroughly with boiling water. Repeat every two or three days until all the birds have fully recovered. To prevent the disease, keep all roosting quarters clean, dry and well disinfected. During the summer, when the disease is most common, mix three pounds of powdered sulphur with each 100 pounds of dry mash, allowing the birds to eat all they want. Chicken-pox usually attacks late-hatched chicks more often and more severely than early-hatched ones, which makes it advisable to hatch as early in the season as possible.

Scaly Leg. Scaly leg is easily recognized by the enlarged, roughened appearance of the feet and legs. It is caused by a little mite which burrows beneath the scale and causes the formation of a yellowish powdery substance which keeps raising up the scales until they present an unsightly appearance. In severe cases, if the birds are not cared for, the joints of the legs become inflamed, sometimes so lame the birds that they are unable to walk.

Wash the bird's legs well with soap and warm water and remove all loose scales. Rub well with a half-and-half mixture of kerosene and linseed oil (melted lard or vaseline may be used in place of linseed oil), or fill a can with the mixture, and at night after the birds have gone to roost, dip each bird's legs into it, allowing them to soak for a minute, then return the bird to the roost. Repeat the treatment every three or four days until the scales are removed. Oil of caraway used in the same manner is also very effective. To prevent the disease, spray the roosts, dropping boards and all near by cracks and crevices thoroughly and often so as to keep them free from mites. Examine the bird's shanks occasionally, and if any signs of scaly leg appear, rub the places well with oil, as before directed, to prevent the disease from developing.

MARKETING RESULTS ARE UNSATISFACTORY

Social Clubs Are Not Suited to Co-operative Work.

Special Organizations Serve Useful Purpose in Educating Members in Organized Effort—Valuable Preliminary Step.

Many communities which became interested in co-operative marketing have an existing organization formed for other purposes, such as a farmers' club or social or educational society. Some persons strongly advocate the use of such associations for co-operative marketing purposes in place of forming a special organization. The fact must not be overlooked, however, that the machinery provided must be suited to the work in hand, so the United States department of agriculture usually associations for promotional or social purposes are not at all adapted to marketing activities. To call upon them to perform the work will hamper the activities for which they are designed and produce unsatisfactory results in marketing. Organizations of the kind indicated have, however, and do serve a very useful purpose in promoting co-operative marketing associations by encouraging discussion and investigation of plans and methods. These organizations also serve to educate their members in organized effort and this is a valuable preliminary step to co-operative marketing activities.

STATION MAKES BIG PROFIT

Arkansas State College Farm Sold Various Kinds of Produce to Amount of $15,000.

Co-operative experiments must be carried out upon an experimental station farm to find how the average farmer can make or save money, but in spite of these overhead expenses the Arkansas state college farm sold produce worth $15,000 last year. The department of horticulture representative received $1,250 for the crop of Yellow Transparent apples, the annual nursery branch sold 22 pigs for $5,500, and the potato crop brought the farm $1,320.80. Other products raised the farm receipts to the total given above.

The loss of profit is not unimportant in agricultural experiment work, but these sales figures show that scientific, well planned farm management can overcome the handicap imposed by unusual expenses.

PRODUCTION OF SEED CROPS

Practically All Small Vegetables Will Be Considerably Less Than in Former Years.

The production of practically all small vegetable seed crops will be considerably less this year than in 1919 or 1918, according to reports received by the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. The reductions range from 83 per cent for spinach to 12 per cent for lettuce. Increases are shown for garden pole beans, garden peas, and onion sets.

A slightly larger production than last year of the early crop of alfalfa seed in the Southwest is indicated. Due to small average and lighter yield per acre a production of timothy seed of approximately 80 per cent of last year is forecast.

POULTRY NOTES

Cull your flock.
Keep the layer, sell the loafer.
Every hen is either a layer or a loafer.
The hen which is constantly going broody is not a good hen to have in the flock.
Of the infectious diseases of turkeys, blackhead is the most destructive.
Fertile eggs are not so good for marketing nor for packing for winter use as infertile ones.
Cull your flock and get rid of the poor layers and give the good producers a chance.

DOMESTIC ANIMALS AND POULTRY LISTED IN BETTER-SIRES MOVE

Herd of Purebred Jersey Heifers—Calves Should Be Encouraged to Eat Good Roughage at an Early Age.

With 222,322 head of domestic animals and poultry listed in the better-sires movement, livestock owners of the country show noticeable activity in building scrub sires and also scrub female stocks. Within the last three months more than 1,000 persons notified their state agricultural colleges and the United States department of agriculture that henceforth they would breed their domestic animals only to purebred sires. This is in accordance with the nationwide campaign to increase efficiency in production.

According to quarterly tabulations made by the department of agriculture, there has been a steady decline in the percentage of scrub female stock kept on farms where purebred sires are used, the present figure being only 2.3 per cent. By contrast, the percentages of better-bred females on farms using purebred sires are: Purebreds 47.5, grades 40.2, and crossbreds 9.7.

A summary of progress. Outstanding facts in the progress of the better-sires movement on July 1 were as follows: Livestock owners participating 2,078; highest state enrollment, Virginia, 302; highest county enrollment, Pulaski county, Va., 409; states co-operating with the department, 46. The campaign has been in progress nine months.

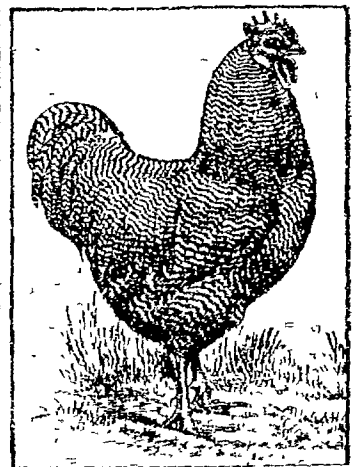

The following breeding stock has been listed in the campaign: "Listing" means that all males are purebred and that females are bred only to purebred males.

Cattle	4,241
Horses	4,241
Swine	4,241
Other poultry	4,241

To meet the demand for facts and figures on the progress of the better-sires movement, the department has prepared a collection of fifty short items. This information, which includes results of experimental tests and other observations may be had by requesting it from the bureau of animal industry.

Poor Cows Entail Loss. Although as a result of the better-sires movement is directed by the United States department of agriculture in cooperation with extension divisions of the various agricultural colleges, it is receiving active support also from breeders' associations, the farm press, business organizations, and individuals. A Middle West farm paper urges that 2,000,000 cows should be disposed of by dairymen of the United States because the poor cows entail loss in production. It is pointed out that inferior cows are incapable of returning a profit, no matter how good the market prices may be. The disposal of such cattle, it is believed, would be quickly followed by their replacement with dairy cows of improved breeding.

Interest in Hawaii. The better-sires movement is more than an effort to bring about the use of purebred sires, since it provides that the male breeding animals possess high individual quality as well as being purebred. The breadth of interest in these activities is shown in a letter received by the department from the agricultural editor of a prominent Hawaiian newspaper, referring to better-sires activities in continental United States, he points out the need for improved stock in Hawaii and requests suitable information.

Standard Bred Barred Plymouth Rock. Attention and illustrations "to get our farmers really interested in better stock."

Service to County Agents

To enable county agents and others who address farmers' gatherings to discuss the stock improvement of livestock, the department is distributing a typical 20-minute address entitled "A plan to make the country scrub-free." The address is one recently delivered by a representative of the bureau of animal industry at a farmers' meeting in Virginia. The numerous anecdotes, illustrations of incidents in county agent work, and practical breeding suggestions make the address especially adapted for communities desiring to improve live stock but which have thus far taken no definite action. Copies of the address may be obtained from the bureau of animal industry.

ASSOCIATIONS HELP FARMER

Elevator Companies Not Only Handle Grain but Purchase for Members Various Supplies.

Co-operative marketing associations frequently purchase supplies needed by their members. Many of the farmers' elevator companies not only handle grain but purchase for their patrons coal, lumber, twine, brick, flour, feed, oils, and other supplies. Fruit and vegetable marketing organizations in many instances buy co-operatively such supplies as fertilizers, spray materials, and packages. Marketing associations thus not only assist the farmers in disposing of their products, but are also of service in buying farm supplies which are needed by them.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Serum and sanitation make the best preparation for the warfare against hog cholera.

Almost any good farmer can succeed with sheep during the fall, winter and spring months.

Hogging down corn is an economical way to harvest the crop and prepare hogs for market.

It is very important that both the ewes and lambs have plenty of good feed during the summer and early autumn.

UNITED GUN CLUB HOLD REGISTERED SHOOT.

The two days' shoot of the United Gun club was a great big success. There were thirty-six entries on Saturday for the 175 target program, and the Hartford Brothers' trophy attracted twenty on Friday. The Hartford Brothers' trophy was presented to the members of the Michigan Gun Club League, to be placed in open competition among the amateur shooters of the league, as a handicap trophy. This is a four-win trophy, the permanent holder being obliged to make the winning score from the 22-yard mark. The trophy was hotly contested for, going to Mr. Banknecht on a shoot off for tie with Mr. Dietrich. The two shooters tied up on the good score of 49 out of a possible 50.

The Registered (50 target) shoot on Saturday also showed some excellent scores. Howard Benson of Lansing, was high gun with 163 dead ones. The second place went to a tie between R. Miller and F. Brint, with 161 apiece to their credit. This honor was not shot off, but rests undecided.

HANDSOME SALES ROOM.

Ralph L. Richardson has opened a very attractive Dodge motor car sales room in the Filkins building on North Center street. The building has been repaired and the interior has been attractively decorated and in all its appointments the sales room compares favorably with anything of its kind seen in the large cities. Mr. Richardson has shown commendable enterprise and his efforts in behalf of Dodge products is worthy of success.

JOHNSON-FORD.

The Baptist parsonage at Redford was the scene of an early autumn wedding on Friday, October 1st when Miss Gladys Ford, daughter of Mrs. Amelia Ford, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles H. Johnson son of H. D. Johnson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold Davis, pastor of the Redford Baptist church. The bride was attractively gowned and wore white roses and the bridesmaid, Miss Averil Miles, carried red roses. James Green attended the groom as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, who are residents of Northville, will make their home in this village. The young couple have a host of friends who wish them happiness and prosperity.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Dr. N. J. Malloy will be in Northville every Monday. Those desiring to see him may leave names and addresses at Horton's drug store.

OUR FAIR WAS A SUCCESS

FAIR NOTES.

ment and stands—all had something of interest for some of them. Northville people were glad to have them here for the day and we trust they will come again.

The Wayne County Red Cross Chapter made a very creditable display and a tent located near the main building attracted many visitors.

The Wayne County Farm Bureau had an exhibit of more than ordinary interest, showing grains, vegetables, cold pack canned goods and some of the handsomest pigs raised this season by members of the Northville pig club.

In the base ball contests Holly defeated Wayne on Wednesday and owing to weather conditions the Plymouth-Bucks did not appear for the Thursday's game. A picked nine of Northville players were defeated by the Detroit Creamery team in a five inning exhibition game. Friday the Detroit team defeated Holly.

The Plymouth band furnished music for Wednesday and Thursday and the Northville band supplied the musical entertainment for Friday and Saturday. Both bands acquitted themselves creditably and their selections were given generous applause by the crowds.

The Foresters entertained big crowds at their dances during the three last days of the fair.

The dance pavilion on the grounds was well patronized Saturday afternoon though its nearness to the merry-go-round detracted from its pleasure to some extent.

Charles Welch had a very extensive display of garden vegetables and won a number of premiums on individual exhibits.

The Boy Scouts had a tent near the secretary's office and some of the boys were on duty all of the time. They rendered faithful and efficient service and are to be commended for their interest and desire to make the fair a success and to contribute to the comfort and pleasure of the strangers who spent the week in Northville.

The performances given on the platform were well received while the work of the Flying LeVans was very noisy nothing better having been even in Detroit. Prof. Kelly and his troupe held the crowds late in the afternoon on Thursday and Saturday. A young lady made her parachute drop on Thursday and Prof. Kelly made a triple jump on Saturday.

Our Lizzie is not made of tin,

With brains to spare, she's sure to win.

Why Lizzie, What makes you so happy and cheerful these days?

I'll tell you, Blanch, it's a secret, but Tom and I are going to get married and we have each taken out stock in "The Loan" for we do not intend to let any minister pull this: "Stop! You are extravagant" business on us. We'll flash our Loan Books on him before the ceremony, See?

As I was saying, there were many reasons for our joining "The Loan" but the main ones were these:

1st. It pays better. I have heard that dollars increase in "The Loan" nearly as fast as Jack Rabbits up North.

2nd. We will not need our money for some time and it can be used to help some one buy or build a home, and when we get ready to build, there will be plenty paying in to help us out—you see "The Loan" is a sort of "Help-one-another" concern.

3rd. It's the style. We'll, by what you say, I think it is a pretty good thing to belong to.

"Now You Have Said Something." Go to McCully's any Saturday night and the man at the desk will get you started.

And place your orders for your winter supply of COAL NOW. The fuel situation is not promising to say the least, but we are bending every effort to secure enough to meet the needs of this community.

It is to your advantage to have your orders in early and we can thus fill your bins from the cars and that will help later in the season. One thing is very certain, and that is that coal will not be cheaper, but everything points to an advancing market.

AGE OF USED CARS

IS OFTEN CONFUSED

DEALER OFFERS TO GIVE ACCU-RATE INFORMATION, EVEN TO PEOPLE WHO BUY FROM COM-PETITORS.

An unusual service, in view of the fact that it is intended primarily for persons who do business with a competitor, has been announced by Ralph L. Richardson, Dodge Brothers dealer in this city. The service is for the benefit of those who buy used Dodge Brothers motor cars on the open market and who are in doubt as to the age and condition of the car.

Any man who buys a used Dodge Brothers motor car, if he brings it to us for inspection, can learn definitely when the car was built," said Mr.
Richardson. "While we operate a used car market ourselves, we will gladly give this information because we feel that a man who owns a Dodge Brothers car is a member of the family, regardless of whether he comes in through the front or back door, and we owe him certain definite courtesies.

Owing to the fact that Dodge Brothers cars are not built in series, models and never have shown any material change in appearance, it is often very difficult to determine just how old the car is. Therefore it is easy to make gross misrepresentation to prospective purchasers. Many a man has been told he is buying a 1919 Dodge Brothers car when in reality the car was built three or four years earlier. Unscrupulous persons occasionally resort to this practice deliberately, but very often it is done through error as persons outside our own organization have no accurate way of deciding this important point.

Dodge Brothers have supplied us with complete records of production, so that we are enabled, through certain numbers on the cars to tell just when it was built. Therefore it is apparent that nobody is ever deceived on this point when he buys from our used car market. It is also our policy to overhaul every car we take in before putting it back on the market.
We insist on having used cars in good condition before they are sold. This policy makes satisfied customers, for it tends to maintain the good reputation of Dodge Brothers motor cars.

It would pay the public to be more careful in buying used cars. People should insist on the accurate information they are entitled to when buying a car, and above all know just when they are doing business with a dealer to determine whether their money is well and satisfactorily invested. If the person they are buying from or whether managed by the dealer is the sole object of the deal.

desirable we shall be glad to help along the cause of better used cars by giving purchasers the information that will enable them to tell whether they have been honestly dealt with.

OBITUARY.

A few months of illness, Mrs.
Mary Ann passed away at her home in Novi, on October 4th, 1920.
Mrs. Hagen was born February 18, 1849, and was a pioneer of Novi, having passed her entire life in that township. On March 4th, 1876, she was united in marriage to Lewis Putnam, who died in June 1882. She was the mother of five children: Genevieve, four are living—Zadiah Dunham of Ypsilanti, Marion Chapman Grant and Clyde Putnam of Novi, and one daughter Mrs. Carrie Bloss of Cadillac.

A loving mother, a conscientious christian, she gave to those who knew her an incentive to sweeter and purer living an example of sacrifice, duty and love for others. "None knew her but to love her. None named her but to praise."

TELEGRAPH COMPANIES TO PAY FOR MISTAKES.

"There is no reason why the telegraph companies should longer be permitted to avoid responsibility or to limit their liability to a nominal amount," says Examiner Patterson of the interstate commerce commission.

After listening to testimony by the Michigan State farm bureau, cooperative shippers and business men of the country, Patterson has recommended that telegraph companies should be liable for damages to the extent of $500 for losses occasioned the senders through mistakes on un-repeated valued messages and on repeated valued messages the liability should not exceed $5,000.

Serious losses to shippers have occurred through mistakes in price quotations in telegraph messages for many years but the senders of these messages had only nominal resources.
The attempt to make the telegraph companies responsible in this matter was begun last summer.
