GENERAL COMMUNITY DAY.

The Northville Women's Club of served Community Day at its regular weekly meeting last Friday afternoon and a very enjoyable and profitable program was given. The Hudson ladies' chorus of Detroit, furnished the musical numbers and their rendition of several selections greatly delighted those who were privileged to hear them. Mrs. Murray of Plymouth, president of the Women's club of that village, gave an interesting talk on the subject of "Neighbors" and Mrs. Alvord of Detroit, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, gave an instructive and inspiring address choosing for her theme "The Relation of the Woman's club to the Community." She urged her hearers to take an active interest in all matters pertaining to community affairs and she also admonished the ladies to become interested in politics—not as partisans, but to give their support to the candidate whom they believed would make the most faithful and efficient officials.

A reading, "Heroes" by a member of the quartet was one of the pleasant features of the afternoon's program.

REPUBLICAN RALLY TO-NIGHT.

A republican rally will be held at the Alceum theatre tonight to be addressed by Mrs. Alexander MacDonald of Detroit, Hon. Geo. L. Lusk of Bay City and Attorney David H. Crowley of Detroit. An orchestra will furnish music and the public is generally invited. Ladies are especially urged to attend this meeting.

This is the last and only republican meeting that will be held in Northville before election.

WORK STARTED ON NEW PRISON BUILDINGS

Work at the new prison farm of the Detroit House of Correction, which is located about four miles west and north of Plymouth, is progressing nicely, under the direction of Edward Dennison, superintendent. The farm consists of over nine hundred acres of land. The house on what was known as the O'Eryan farm, has been remodeled into a modern home, and is occupied by Superintendent Dennison and family. Two temporary buildings, each 35x75 are being built to be used as a kitchen and dining room and sleeping dormitory. With the exception of the foreman, this work is all being done by the prisoners, of whom there are about twenty-five at the farm at the present time. Another building to house a Delco lighting system, which will be used for the present, and a store room for supplies will also be erected at once.

Supt. Dennison, who has had many years of experience in prison management and had charge of the building of the big prison farm at Kalamazoo City, is very enthusiastic over the site of the new prison farm, which he says is a most ideal one for an institution of this kind. Mr. Dennison is a courteous and genial gentleman, whom it is a pleasure to meet.

Next spring work will be commenced upon the permanent prison buildings, which will cost in the neighborhood of a million dollars, and will take five years to complete. All of the construction work on these buildings will be done by prison labor. The prison will be modern in every way.

The Grand Rapids division of the Pere Marquette passes through the farm and a siding will be constructed at this point. When the prison buildings are completed, the Detroit House of Correction will be moved from Detroit to the new location—Plymouth.

BANQUETED THE YOUNG PEOPLE

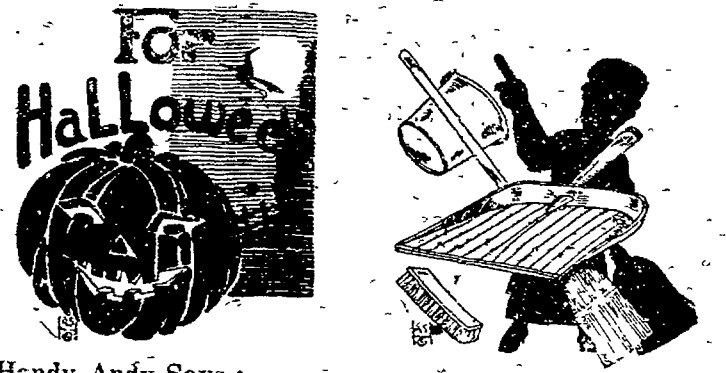

The banquet tendered the young people of the Presbyterian church on Friday evening last was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the year and was well attended. At 6:30 the young people were invited to the dining room where an appetizing dinner had been prepared by the young ladies of the church, the menu consisting of chicken and all the other good things which usually accompany such a spread. While the guests were at the tables, Rev. W. H. Hines outlined a plan for the formation of an organization among the young people, which should have for its object social activities, Bible study and the cultivation of a spirit of co-operation with the church. His suggestions were adopted and a committee was named to select the necessary officers and chairman of committees.

The company then adjourned to the auditorium of the church, where a program was enjoyed, under the direction of Mrs. S. W. Curtiss. Mrs. Harry Blake rendered a violin solo and kindly responded to the hearty encore given Mrs. J. E. Tibben gave two readings and Miss Curtiss favored the company with a very delightful piano number. After singing "America," the young people were invited to the dining room where numerous games and contests were enjoyed. Mrs. Curtiss as chairman of the entertainment committee succeeded in keeping the young people busy for an hour or more in a manner that caused a great deal of merriment.

The committee on nomination announced the selection of the following officers and chairmen of committees for the new organization:
 President—Mrs. Margaret Yerkes
 Vice-pres.—Mrs. Mary Alexander
 Secy.—Miss Helen Cunningham
 Treas.—Dorothy Bann
 Committee Chairmen:
 Social—Mrs. E. E. Brown
 Educational—Mrs. E. S. Beard
 Devotional—Mrs. E. V. Bellie
 Music—Carl Bryan
 Work—Mrs. W. F. Lemott

ELMER HOLLIS HURT.

Monday evening as Elmer Hollis was returning from Detroit in a Ford car on the Seven-Mile road, the car skidded on the Benton hill and tumbled over into the ditch, throwing Mr. Hollis out and cutting his foot on broken glass from the windshield. A fellow autoist came along and picked him up, bringing him to Northville to the doctor's office where his injuries were attended to, and later taken home.

Handy Andy Says:

Take shift hardware is expensive because it doesn't last—yet there are hundreds of people who throw good money away every year on cheap hardware because it "looks" all right, but it's the test that tells—a good tool or piece of hardware lasts for years and becomes a boon companion to the man who uses it. A good tool outlasts several poor ones, therefore, it pays to buy a good article, not only for the sake of economy but for satisfaction on also. This is a safe place to trade because every article we sell is guaranteed to satisfy.

"One and Sole Aim Is to Bring Joy or Solace to the Human Heart."

By JOHN PHILIP SOUSA, American Musician.

I am fortunate, my friends say, not only to have been elected by nature to be one of her mouthpieces, but especially in having found her in an amiable enough mood to create the responsive, ears-contemporaneously with me. I can think of but few misfortunes equal to that of having to compose for unappreciative ears.

Of course, there is a great deal in the satisfaction of knowing that one's work is deserving of a generous reception and that it is likely to obtain this recognition in ages to come. But this, after all, must be but a lenten sort of compensation for the neglect and indifference of one's contemporaries.

I would not exchange my love of music for anything else on earth. Come, just ponder this; the doctor does much good, but the end of his task "leads but to the grave;" the lawyer aids many, but only at the expense and to the damage of others; the judge seeks to administer justice, but in doing so at times is compelled to consign some unfortunate to perdition—to the electric chair. And, so, through the whole gamut of all the liberal professions, except the profession of music.—Our one and sole aim is to bring joy or solace to the human heart. Can anything be better, finer, nobler?

The Standard Indictment of Husbands: "He Never Gave Me Any Money."

By CHARLES E. ERBSTEIN, Chicago Lawyer.

"And he never, never, gave me any money." What a familiar ring there is about those time honored words of complaint, this standard indictment of so many erring husbands.

How many times in the course of a long practice at the bar have these or words of similar import come to my ears, not from a beaten, abject creature clad in the livery of destitution but oftener than not from well groomed, cultured women of the world.

And more potent to foment deadly hatred and disgust than the discolored optic or the straying affection, is this cardinal marital sin, "tightwadism."

It represents that inevitable revolt of the independent, free-spirited American woman against the last struggling grip of old world ideas of masculine tyranny, the natural reaction of a liberty loving, active, kernal-minded woman against the sordid state of affairs which makes her the object of her husband's capricious bounty rather than the partner of his struggles and his property.

A clear statement of assets and liabilities and a budgeting of income and outgo in dollars and cents, not in gift or in payment, without faultfinding or self-deception, the adoption of a budget system to regulate the expenditures of both, the entrusting to the wife of a fixed, definite allowance for personal necessities, a rigid adherence to the standards laid down when the budget is adopted, and above all, a cheerful recognition of the fact that marriage is a partnership, full of joys, sorrows, wonders, disappointments, but none of mutual responsibilities, and in my judgment you have at least taken a step toward the solution of the financial question in marriage.

The More Civilized We Grow the More We Let Our Bodies Deteriorate

By CLARENCE DAY, JR., in "This Modern World"

Discoveries in surgery and medicine will also be overpraised. The reason will be that the race will so need these discoveries. Unlike the great cats, humans tend to undervalue the body. Having less self-respect, less proper regard for their egos, they care less than the cats do for the casing of the ego—the body.

The more civilized they grow the more they will let their bodies deteriorate. They will let their shoulders stoop, their lungs shrink and their stomachs grow fat. No other species will be quite so deformed and distorted. Athletics they will watch, yes, but on the whole sparingly practice. Their snuffy, old scholars will even be proud to decry them. Where once the simians swung high through forests, or scampered like deer, their descendants will plod around farms, or mince along streets, moving constrictedly, slowly, their liveness half gone.

They will think of nature as "something to go out and look at." They will try to live wholly apart from her and forget they're her sons. Forget? They will even deny it, and declare themselves sons of God. In spite of her wonders they will regard Nature as something too humble to be the true parent of such prominent people as humans. They will lose all respect for the dignity of fair Mother Earth, and whisper to each other she is an evil and indecent old person.

They will snatch at her gifts, pry irreverently into her mysteries, and ignore half the warnings they get from her about how to live.

Future of the United States Involves Future of All Civilization.

By SENATOR WALTER E. EDGE of New Jersey.

Up to the outbreak of the World war the average American visitor to Europe returned with his mind filled with the past—filled with the history, the art, the architecture, the literature and even the politics of centuries ago; now such a traveler comes home with his thoughts turned to the future, the future of Europe, of America and the whole world.

He realizes that now America's "splendid isolation" is at an end; that the future of Europe will affect the future of the United States, and the future of the United States involves the future of all civilization.

Beyond this, the traveler also may feel that a reasonable measure of idealism now must be injected into the consideration of strictly practical affairs. In other words, business must be transacted in a business-like manner, but without thought of a literal "pound of flesh" as an alternative in the settlement of accounts. And this view applies to the business of international diplomacy as well as commercial affairs.

Typical Styles in Coats

IT IS really something in the nature of a relief to find in coats an absence of the over-elaboration which characterizes gowns, dresses and some suits. Coats are sufficiently decorated, and it is only by comparison that they seem simple. Measured by the standards of other apparel, they, in fact, are a reserve in the matter of adornment. This does not apply to those evening affairs in evening coats that reach to the shoulders and which are embroidered with either delicate or bold designs, but to the practical garments for street wear that are the daily companions of many women throughout the winter.

To the coat that made their bellows expand last year, the hollow, voluminous and draped styles, similar weaves have been added along with them, some of them long-sleeved, some of them short-sleeved and some with very rich collars and the usual coatings are repeated in the velvet, divinity and wool.

broody is the almost universal embellishment on coats made of these materials. The rich surfaces of the popular clothes and the vogue for embroideries make the new coats handsome enough for any occasion.

Two representative models are pictured here, each of them having a collar and one of them deep fur cuffs. In the coat at the left tan-colored duvetyne is cleverly cut and the plain panel at the back seems to call for the large, embroidered motifs which are done in silk, matching the cloth. Hudson seal, in collar and cuffs, is the best of furs to choose for it. The dark gray coat of wool velours at the right is a very effective model with bloused back, draped sleeves and rows of covered buttons set in a row at the shoulders. Its coat of gray squirrel fur is very ample and becoming. It will be no secret that these coats are made in the United States and have delightful sleeves of the type which is typical of the season's styles.

AS SEEN IN PARIS

No Style Changes of Drastic Order Are in Evidence.

Long, Straight-Line, Long-Waisted Corset; Plaited Skirt and Cape, Hold Sway.

Now that we have all settled down for next winter we are able to realize, and with considerable satisfaction, that very few important changes have taken place in the world of dress. Changes have been made, of course, but none of a drastic order. We still have with us, observes a Paris fashion authority, the long straight line, the long-waisted corset, the plaited skirt—also the plaited cape—and picturesque sleeves.

Even the robe chemise is in evidence. True it is now decked out at the sides with loops, puffings or plaited panels, but the outline remains very much the same.

The one-piece robe and long tunic have proved so universally becoming that women refuse to give them up. For this reason our big dressmakers have set themselves the task of making unimportant changes—here and there while the dress itself, practically, remains unchanged.

It will be an exceedingly picturesque winter. All the best dressmakers in the Rue de la Paix and Place Vendôme are showing what may be called "picture style"; indeed, this feature is carried almost to the point of exaggeration.

For example, one charming model was in reality a smart little indoor gown, meant for outdoor use, but it would be the correct thing for a dance, in conjunction with a big velvet picture hat. And the same may be serge, affairs and shawls. But, though the accordion plait is first favorite, it is run close by the larger flat plait, which recalls the genuine "silt" of Scotch renown.

CHARMING SUIT OF HOMESPUN

A suit of homespun in an odd and attractive shade of blue. It is quite the thing for the frosty fall days; it gives plenty of warmth and makes it unnecessary to wear a heavy coat.

NOW THE CORSET IS TO GO

Tendency Among Women Is to Discard as Many Garments as Possible, Modiste Asserts.

American women are returning to the days of Greek goddesses when corsets, girdles and stays which bring straight from the shoulders were the style, according to dressmakers attending a recent annual convention of dressmakers.

Women in this country say Madame Marguerite, New York modiste, are getting thinner and do not have to wear corsets. Madame Marguerite said the tendency among women nowadays is to discard as many garments as possible.

"She discarded the petticoat and it isn't coming back," she said. "Now she is getting rid of the corset."

"Women are doing more than ever," she said. "They want to lose weight. It gives them their natural figure and allows the graceful use of their body minus the tightening corset."

Non-corseted gowns, dressmakers said, are having a great sale, indicating women are having considerable success in their dieting.

Slant Skirts With Pockets.

Slant skirts, quite plain, eight inches above the ankle, overlapped at the seams and stitched, are a plenty in the shops. They have pockets set on or in like those of a man's coat. These skirts are handy to wear with all kinds of long or short tunics.

When usually forms the foundation of these charming garments, though white striped or crossed barred drapery may be used with success.

If no patterns of just the straight simple designs desired are to be found, use a bodice-top chemise pattern, turning the lower edge up six to ten inches.

Buying a Hat

Selecting a hat with a thought to becomingness and "kindness to oneself," is not as easy as would seem. Especially is this the case with the woman no longer young. To such a woman, the brimless hat may be becoming, but the hat with some sort of a brim will be much kinder, as the softness of the shadow cast by the brim gives a softening effect to a face from which the first flush of youth has gone. Another point to be borne in mind is that women with sallow or brown skins should not wear any of the different shades of henna or mahogany that are so popular just at present. They should wear black or some shade of dark blue. Certain shades of purple also seem to counteract sallowness.

Cotton Thread Embroidery.

Some of the loveliest duvetyne and velvet frocks are embroidered in cotton threads. These are chosen because of the mellow old colorings in which they may be obtained. A new frock of dark blue duvetyne has such squares of dull blue and green braid alternating with squares of embroidery to give the impression of a lovely old mosaic. Other dresses show work reminiscent of antique book covers of eastern design.

The Sweaters of Today

A GOOD many handsome sweaters are now being made. They are made in a variety of colors. They emphasize the outstanding style feature in the sweaters of today: they are shapely and set trimly on the figure. There is nothing "stumpy" about the smart sweater coat shown at the left of the picture, with its snug-fitting, double-breasted body, or in the pretty slip-over model which hugs the figure about the shoulders and bust. It is gathered in at the waist with a knitted cord. Both sweaters have long sleeves—the slip-over adopting the bell model and relying on cord to hold it close to the arm.

Models on established lines appear among the new displays having collars, cuffs, bands or other trimmings made of the heaviest zephyrs, in the form of a pile on a knitted base. These bands are sometimes plain and sometimes figured and are used in colors that contrast with the sweater they trim. Cream white is a favorite, and the effect is that of shaggy fur.

Speaking of fur, extravagant new models in sweater coats are displayed with collars and cuffs of skunk fur. These sweaters are closely knit and warm, and much enriched by the addition of fur, but the combination of fur and knitted yarn is a little startling.

So far the choice of sweaters does not indicate that garish colors are favored, but there are vivid blues and greens that are liked and occasional pheasant and henna models among other lively shades. The two sweaters pictured are made in a variety of colors. They emphasize the outstanding style feature in the sweaters of today: they are shapely and set trimly on the figure. There is nothing "stumpy" about the smart sweater coat shown at the left of the picture, with its snug-fitting, double-breasted body, or in the pretty slip-over model which hugs the figure about the shoulders and bust. It is gathered in at the waist with a knitted cord. Both sweaters have long sleeves—the slip-over adopting the bell model and relying on cord to hold it close to the arm.

Paris Tam Crazy.

According to the latest millinery advice, Paris has gone quite tam crazy—and tams of all types in a wide variety of materials, and a large proportion of them in bright colors have already found their way here.

Feather Fans.

Ostrich feather fans made of beautifully-shaded feathers of one color are a novelty of the moment, and fans made of a combination of ostrich and pheasant feathers are a close second in favor.

Semi-toilette in ivory lace and "sphinx" blue mousseline de soie.

said of many of the more important models. When they are exhibited one says: "Is it a border gown, or is it a frock for a dance?"

Platings of all kinds are amazingly popular.

In Paris they are doing wonderful things with accordion-plaited goods of filmy texture; they are also plating

SILK DUVETYN COAT FOR FALL

Garment Should Be Equally Attractive When Collar Is Buttoned Snugly or Opened.

For cool autumn days a cloth coat of some sort is really a necessity. Something warm and at the same time light in weight to be used while it is not yet cold enough for the luxurious wrap of fur.

An attractive coat of blue silk duvetyne will be very smart worn over a pretty afternoon dress. Cut with semi-kimono sleeves, which are tight enough to suggest those of a frock, and which are so popular this fall, it may be trimmed with a collar and cuffs of gray squirrel, which also are very popular at present. The collar should be cut so that it is equally attractive when buttoned snugly at the throat or opened on the shoulders.

A striking hat for wear with this coat is of black velvet made in a draped toque effect and trimmed at the side with a drooping cluster of coque feathers.

DR. THOUGHT HE WAS DEAD

Three Years or More Bronchial Trouble and Bad Cough Did Not Respond to Treatment. Was Given Up.

FEELING FINE NOW.

"For three years or more I had been troubled with bronchial trouble and a very bad cough. I just kept going down hill, my nerves were completely worn out it seemed and I had no appetite and I went down in weight from 140 pounds to 115 pounds and the doctor that treated me for two years just gave me up. I was so weak I couldn't get out of the house and thought I was going to die."

"I had tried everything there was to try until I saw Hypo-Cod advertised in the Detroit paper, so I sent for two bottles and before I had taken half of one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had the first bottle I was able to get out and walk around, so I weighed myself and I had gained five pounds on the first bottle and in a few days I was able to walk down town, and the people that thought I was going to die would ask me what I had taken, and I surely told them Earle's Hypo-Cod. I also met the doctor that had treated me for two years and he said 'Why, I thought you were dead,' but here I am feeling fine, and working every day, and weigh five pounds more than I ever weighed. I know if I had not taken this tonic I would have been dead now, or I believe so anyway. I know Hypo-Cod is the greatest medicine in the world and I cannot say enough for it," declared Mr. B. T. Owen, (painter) 511 N. Spear-moore St., Lansing, Mich.

You can get the genuine Earle's Hypo-Cod in the famous orange colored carton which has been recommended by thousands of users at your druggists.—Adv

Ouch! Such Pain!

It takes you right in the back! Sometimes in the arm, hip or foot.

It's all due to an over-abundance of that poison, called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of it. Such conditions you can readily overcome, and prolong life by taking the advice of Doctor Pierce, which is, "keep the kidneys in good order." Avoid too much meat, alcohol or tea. Drink plenty of pure water, preferably hot water, before meals, and drive the uric acid out of the system by taking "Anuric." This can be obtained at any drug store, in tablet form.

ROY RIVER, MICH.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's medicine with good results in my family for years. At one time I was taken with La Grippe and it left me run down and with pains in my hips and back. I took different medicines without getting any benefit. At last I sent and got some Anuric and took it and am feeling well and doing a good day's work. When I commenced taking the Anuric Tablets I could hardly get out of bed, felt as though a knife was sticking in my back."—A. C. BLEDGETT.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.

A good cake is an acceptable addition to any dinner.

Good Plain Chocolate Cake.—Beat one-fourth of a cupful of butter, also one egg; gradually beat the two together. Add three squares of melted chocolate, then add alternately one cupful of milk, half a cupful of hot water and two cupfuls of sifted flour, sifted again with one teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of salt, and three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in a sheet or tapers. Cover with white or chocolate frosting.

Maple Syrup Cake.—Beat half a cupful of butter to a cream, add half a cupful of sugar, two well-beaten eggs and a cupful of maple syrup. Sift together two and one-half cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of ginger, and three-fourths of a teaspoonful of soda. Add to the first mixture alternately with one-half cupful of hot water. Bake in two layers or a sheet. Finish with caramel frosting.

Pear Bavarian Cream.—Drain the syrup from a can of pears. Soften one-third of a package of gelatin in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water then add to one cupful of the pear juice heated. Add the juice of one lemon and one-third of a cupful of sugar. Turn half of this mixture into an oval charlotte mold holding one quart and let chill on ice. Set the rest of the mixture aside on ice to harden. Cut thin slices from half pears and use these to line the mold. Do not put these in place until the jelly becomes firm. Press the rest of the pears through a sieve. Soften one-third of a package of gelatin in cold water and let it dissolve in a dish of hot water. Add the pear pulp, the juice of a lemon and grated rind if desired, one-third of a cupful of sugar, stir the mixture over ice water until it begins to set, then fold in one cupful of cream beaten very light. When the mixture holds its shape use it in filling the mold. When serving unacid and garnish with slices of bright colored jelly and whipped cream.

To Prepare Junket.—Heat until lukewarm one pint of milk. Dissolve one-half of a jar of tablet in half a tablespoonful of cold water. Add sugar half according to the milk, then stir in the table-spoonful of junket water. Let stand in a warm room until firm. Chill before serving.

But words are things, And a small drop of fish, Filling the day upon a thought, Produces that which makes the oceans, perhaps a million, things.—Byron.

CANNING WITHOUT COOKING.

Any fruit except perhaps pineapple, which is hard to mesh to a smooth pulp, may be kept indefinitely when mixed with equal parts of sugar. The fruit must be thoroughly cleaned, if berries green, or one crushed or the mixture will be sure to ferment.

To Can Rhubarb.—Wash the rhubarb cut into small pieces and pack into a sterilized jar. Fill the jar to overflowing with cold water. Seal as usual. Some advocate the repeating of the process for two mornings, then the third day seal and set away, leaving 24 hours between each change of water.

Tomatoes should be firm, ripe, but not overripe. Scald, peel and pack in jars. Be sure that the hard, green center is all removed. Pack when thoroughly cold; add a teaspoonful of salt and the same of sugar to a quart. Cover with cold water, seal and let stand upside down for two days. Then set away.

Grape jelly without cooking is delicious. Press the juice from the ripe fruit and add an equal quantity of sugar; stir and let stand until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved and then pour into the glasses and set in the sun for a day or two. Seal as usual. The flavor of this jelly is much superior to that which is cooked.

Beet Pickles.—The beets for this recipe are cooked, then chopped; add an equal quantity of chopped cabbage and as much celery and one cupful of fresh grated horseradish, one cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of cayenne and cover with fresh snappy vinegar. Can and seal.

Oil Pickles.—Slice, without peeling cucumbers one-inch in diameter; add to two quarts of the sliced cucumbers, four thinly-sliced onions, or a dozen small ones will make a better looking mixture. Cover with strong salt water and let stand overnight. Drain and add one cupful of olive oil, mustard seed, celery seed and enough vinegar to just cover. Seal and keep in a cool place.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By MARY GRABAM BOWEN

CHIPPY CHAPPY'S BIRTHDAY.

Chippy Chappy, the squirrel named after a chipmunk cousin, sent out invitations to his squirrel friends, saying that he hoped they would all come to his birthday party, the following day.

They all arrived on time, and they all brought Chippy Chappy birthday presents. Chippy Chappy was delighted and said: "Oh my dear Nutty Chum, I didn't expect you to give me such a lovely present. In fact, I hoped you wouldn't give me anything. These nuts are just what I want, though, and I do thank you."

Of course Chippy Chappy wasn't speaking the truth. He really had hoped to get a lot of birthday presents, and so he was asking his friends to come to his birthday party. Not that everyone who has a birthday party is like Chippy Chappy, gracious, merciful, goodness no!

But Chippy Chappy was quite a greedy little fellow. "Dear me, Bright Eyes," Chippy Chappy said, "you shouldn't have gone to so much expense and trouble, giving me such a lovely present." "I didn't go to so much expense," said Bright Eyes. "Of course, in a way I did, for now I have to get more nuts for my winter supply. But don't worry—I'm glad to do it for you!"

"Just What I Want!"

For Bright Eyes wanted Chippy Chappy to know that he was giving him a handsome present. He didn't feel in the least modest about it.

He felt like some people do who want to let others know their presents are expensive and fine, which isn't in the least a generous thing to do.

"It's good of you to come, all of you, and to bring me such nice presents. Now we'll use the party."

So they all sat down and ate some of the nuts which Chippy Chappy's friends had brought him for his birthday. They were a little surprised to see that they were eating some of their own gifts.

"Didn't you have something ready for supper years ago?" asked Nutty Chum.

"I didn't order, I thought you were bringing me birthday presents," said Chippy Chappy. "That is," he corrected himself, "I didn't think so at all; that is, oh dear, oh dear, I'm getting all mixed up. The bear has gone to my brain."

"Hurry," said Nutty Chum. "It's a cool autumn day."

"Then the cool autumn day has gone to my head," said Chippy Chappy. They began to squeal and shriek and argue now, and during it Chippy Chappy made several trips to his winter storehouse, where he put away a supply of his birthday nuts for good keeping.

After they had finished quarreling though, Chippy Chappy thought he really ought to do something at his own party. So he led all the squirrels down to an apple orchard, where they nibbled some delicious apples and really had a fine dinner.

The squirrels were so delighted with the whole party as it turned out, that they told Chippy Chappy what a wonderful time they had had. Chippy Chappy was so delighted with their praise that he quite forgot himself and said: "Well, friends, come to my birthday party next week."

"How can you have a birthday party next week?" Nutty Chum asked. "Oh, I always have my birthdays in the autumn," said Chippy Chappy. "It's quite the nicest time of the year."

"That may be," said Bright Eyes, "but you're not supposed to have more than one birthday a year. I don't believe today was really your birthday after all."

SHEILA'S FRIEND

By MILDRED WHITE.

(© 1929, Western Newspaper Union.)

Sheila had been sent to the hill country because of poor health. Her Aunt Gwendolen, in care-free pleasure loving life, could not realize of sympathy with frailness, and the constantly added tasks of the city apartment had grown to be more than Sheila could bear. She must go away, the doctor said, and soon. Pretty, fashionable Aunt Gwen peevishly objected.

But the doctor was firm, and scribbled a certain country address on his prescription pad. "Tell Mrs. Saunders I sent you," he ordered crisply, and Sheila had gone.

The money question was not a very important one; living expenses in the far away village were not those of the city. Aunt Gwen none too graciously volunteered assistance from her sufficient store. "It is due you for your services," the old doctor drily remarked.

Sheila was not unhappy in her isolation. At first there was the novel sensation of freedom. Never had she been free to seek joy or relaxation and then she found delight in planning walks of exploration about the country. High upon the hill side, she viewed a great red house from her small window in Mrs. Saunders' home.

Sheila wondered who had selected that lonely space for the towered abode, and went down at last to ask her hostess.

"That's the old Wren place," Mrs. Saunders told her. "Used to be great going there when I was a girl and Miss Wren was a girl too. Thought we were honored to be asked to one of her fine parties, but now she's plumb alone. Folks all died off, and Worthy Wren's got queer living alone. Some us say she was in love with the man her sister married. I don't know, but Worthy and Ben Temple were sneaky from childhood and when Ben's Wren came back all bright and snappy from boarding school—seemed she'd grown up all at once and her ways had turned Ben's head."

He married Becky suddenly, and I guess Worthy never heard from either of 'em after they went off somewhere to live."

Sheila thought the story over as she stood up the hill. Miss Wren was in her planting garden when she got there.

"You would like to see my flower garden," she said. "Come right in, you are the most welcome, please visit your lot as often as you wish."

Sheila returned to the farmhouse again with spring months, and happily friendship also came to bloom between the lonely old woman, and the young girl. She found most of her comfort in the summer upon the pillared veranda of Miss Wren's home.

A fall came and fallen leaves covered beneath her feet in Miss Wren's garden. Sheila was loath to go back to the prison of Aunt Gwen's city apartment. Worthy Wren had promised to buy the girl a companion ship. She often laughed softly in memory of almost forgotten laughter. "Why don't you?" Sheila suggested, "leave this big place and go down to the village? It must have a great deal to offer it up."

It was then that her first realization came of her friend's real need. "It does take a good deal," Miss Worthy reluctantly admitted, "but the money I have may be made with care to last my life-time. I have almost in one room during the winter."

Sheila took to bringing certain donations for mutual luncheon parties after that.

"I wish," wrote Aunt Gwen, "that you would hurry back for the fall house cleaning Sheila, everything's in a perfect mess."

"Your progress," wrote the doctor back in the city, "is satisfactory. I know your needs and advise you to stay where you are for another month."

In the glory of an October moon, Sheila went up the hill with her offerings for a festive supper. Miss Worthy put logs on the fireplace and the tea table was drawn before it. The white head was bent close to the golden-brown one; when the doorbell clanged Sheila hastened to answer. A young man stood there in the moonlight, a big young man with a good-natured face.

The Northville Record.

E. E. BROWN, Publisher.

An Independent Newspaper published every Friday morning at Northville, Michigan, and entered at the Northville post-office as Second-Class matter.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., OCT. 29, 1928.

LET'S CLEAN IT UP.

Elsewhere in The Record appears a statement signed by W. J. Lanning, village president, and Stewart Montgomery, trustee, which will explain itself. There have been a number of rumors current about the village during the past two months connecting the name of our village marshal with the charge of boot-legging. The Record has endeavored to run some of these reports down, but has been unable to find any one who could or would produce evidence sufficient to make direct charge. At the meeting of the village council Monday night an opportunity will be given any one who knows anything about these reports to appear and to produce their evidence. This is a fair proposition and one that ought to be accepted by those who have been given publicity to the stories. The matter ought to be cleaned up and now is a good time to do the cleaning. If the marshal is guilty he should be removed, and if he is not guilty he ought not to be made the target for every wild rumor that may come floating about. Let's get to the bottom of this thing now.

When Northville voters go to the polls next Tuesday they will do well to remember that we have a fellow-townsman who is a candidate for an important office—Milo N. Johnson who is seeking his second term as member of the legislature. Mr. Johnson's record during the last session was a most creditable one and with his acquaintance he will be better able to represent his district when the legislature convenes in January. He is well qualified for the position and in every way worthy of the honor.

Next Tuesday will be election day. Vote early.

Four Canadian provinces voted dry in Monday's election. They are bound to keep all Iowa babies out on the move.

FULLER WEDDING.

A quiet autumn wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fuller, Saturday evening when their eldest son, George Russell Fuller, was united in marriage to Miss William Mudge of Wayne. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Marsh of the Methodist church at seven o'clock in the presence of the immediate family. The happy couple will make their home at River House, where the groom is employed by the Detroit Edison Co.

ENTERTAINED AT DINNER.

Last Friday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Filkins on DuPont Street was the scene of a merry dinner party, which Guy C. Filkins entertained the members of the Hudson ladies' and gentlemen's quartet, two of the leading musical organizations of Detroit. The guests were given an opportunity to see Northville and surrounding country during the evening, being taken a auto by Messrs. C. S. and B. S. Filkins. The ladies called at the Christensen home and were permitted to visit the orchard and they were so delighted with the cordial welcome extended they volunteered to sing for members of the Christensen household. The dinner followed the auto ride and the pleasant good fellowship will long remain a pleasant memory.

Mr. Smith is the eldest son of the Honorable Edward Curtiss Smith, former governor of Vermont and Mrs. Smith, and grandson of John Gregory Smith, Civil War governor of Vermont. He was graduated from Yale, class of 1912. No date has been set for the wedding.

UNION MEETINGS ARE FULL OF INTEREST

The Union revival meetings began Sunday evening in the Methodist church and the auditorium was full of people from the different churches of Northville as well as people from "outside." There was a splendid spirit in the meetings from the first note of the organ until the benediction was pronounced by Rev. E. V. Belles. The audience was deeply moved and the meeting closed with a consecration service in which many took part and there was also some who began the Christian life. The meeting was addressed by Geo. N. Baker of the George N. Baker Co. of Detroit Tuesday evening was W. C. T. U. night and the address was made by M. C. McRayne "Mac," who paid a splendid tribute to the heroic work of the union, and then addressed the audience on a simple scriptural theme.

Considering the very wet weather there was a fine congregation present and again a deep spiritual feeling was manifest. We feel that Northville is having a splendid opportunity for moral and spiritual uplift. These men do not claim to be eloquent speakers, they are simply plain, every-day business men. They ask no remuneration for themselves, not even the gasoline, except a free will offering at the close of the meetings for Mr. E. J. Rollings, musical director. Mr. Rollings was director for the Brederdolf evangelistic party and is a fine chorus leader. He devotes all his time to this work. The sole object the Business Men have in view is building up the spiritual life of the churches of Detroit and vicinity. They believe the only solution for the present day unrest is the gospel of Jesus Christ. The fact that these men make the drive from Detroit and return every evening regardless of weather should appeal strongly to the members of the men of Northville and regardless of church affiliations, they should give these men their earnest and hearty cooperation. This is indeed gospel without money and without price.

The meetings will continue thru the week and all of next week. Citizens of Northville let us give this movement our cordial support. Other matters can be put over and attended to again later but this is an opportunity that must not be ours again.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

Next Sunday morning the pastor's sermon topic will be, "What It Is to be Converted." The sermon will be illustrated by the conversion experience of one of the greatest men that ever lived, and will be helpful alike to Christians and any who may wish to be saved. A most hearty invitation is given to all.

On account of the union revival meetings at the M. E. church, there will be no service here Sunday evening.

The September and October birthday meeting of the Baptist Ladies' Aid society was held last Friday at the home of Mrs. Henrietta Williams. The meeting was unusually well attended and proved to be a very happy occasion. Mrs. P. Towers of Detroit, gave an excellent missionary address and also recited excellently some highly entertaining and appropriate selections. The financial reports were most encouraging. A motion was passed to install a new furnace at once in the church, and the painting of the church and parsonage now seems to be fully assured, as soon as weather permits, next spring. More than fifty meals were served to the members and their visitors, by the birthday ladies.

ENTERTAINED WAYNE LADIES.

Monday evening "For-Get-Me-Not" five L. O. T.-M. entertained forty ladies from Wayne. As I was saying, there were many reasons for our joining "The Loan" but the main ones were these:

1st. It pays better. I have heard that dollars increase in "The Loan" nearly as fast as Jack Rabbits up North.

2nd. We will not need our money for some time and it can be used to help some one buy or build a home, and when we get ready to build, there will be plenty paying in to help us out—you see "The Loan" is a sort of "Help-one-another" concern.

They are New Buffalo, Saginaw and Plymouth.

The new work represents an outlay of $5,782,000. The chief items are as follows:

New rail, 275 miles	$2,285,000
New Buffalo yards	750,000
Passenger locomotives (12)	735,000
Coaches and baggage cars	650,000
Saginaw Improvements	600,000
Plymouth improvements	325,000
Toledo-Ludington division ballasting	152,000
Thornapple bridge, Detroit division	135,000
Grand Rapids storehouse	125,000
Station at Belding	25,000

Authority was given for the laying of 275 track-miles of new steel, but owing to slow deliveries of the mills, only 169 track miles have been laid this season. This is a condition that prevailed in the steel industry the world over.

Over 50 miles of new ballast has been laid on the Toledo-Ludington division of the 75 miles authorized. Work on the balance will be resumed April 1st.

The American Locomotive Works is now constructing 12 Pacific type passenger locomotives and delivery is expected for December 1st.

Twelve all-steel coaches and 12 all-steel baggage and express cars are being built, and delivery is expected early next year.

A new bridge spanning the Thornapple river on the Detroit division is under way. When completed it will permit the use of the heaviest type of locomotives in use.

New Buffalo, which is to be made a division terminal and classification yard on November 1st, has been a busy place all summer. Over $750,000 has been expended in betterments here. About 20 miles of track has been laid on a 100 acre farm, a new coal dock has been constructed, a 90 foot turn table and a 16 stall round house have also been built. Over 200 employees will make their headquarters here. The New Buffalo yard will greatly expedite traffic on the Chicago-Petoskey division.

Saginaw improvements consist of a 30-stall engine house, a machine shop and power house and a 500-ton coal dock.

The Plymouth betterments consist of a 15-stall engine house, a new 100,000-gallon capacity water tank and a 100-foot turn table.

At Grand Rapids a storage house has recently been completed at a cost of $125,000 and a new station at Belding at an outlay of $25,000.

DETROIT THEATRES.

A sumptuous orgy of color and beauty which fairly makes the spectator gasp and thrill under the spell of its bewildering splendor is "Aphrodite" the mammoth spectacle which F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest will present at the Shubert-Detroit opera house, for one week beginning Sunday evening, October 31st, with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Never in the history of the modern stage has any dramatic offering scored the sensational triumph that was registered by this gorgeous spectacle at the Century theatre, New York, last winter and this season at the Auditorium in Chicago. In the latter city "Aphrodite" played to the highest receipts ever known in the history of the Auditorium.

"Aphrodite" is a staging on a colossal scale of the glories of ancient Egypt, employing 300 people in its presentation and a scenic equipment which requires a special train of 11 baggage cars for its transportation. The list of names associated with its authorship and preparation reads like a list of theatrical fame. Percy Anderson of London, the famous artist who is now seventy-two years of age, and who suffered from shell shock while sketching battle scenes at the front during the war, designed all of the eight hundred costumes used in this play. His original sketches have been faithfully copied in America by Carl Link, the artist whose stellar sketches for "Chin Chow" have been widely published in America.

Nora Bayes and "Her Family Tree," "Made in Detroit" musical play at the Garrick theatre will remain at the house for another week after bringing out one of the most substantial hits in the history of the theatre.

Admired with the highest praise by the dramatic critics and by the public as well it has already broken the house record for advance sale of seats and promises to leave the theatre at the end of the second week only after establishing a new mark in the attendance record for an engagement of that length.

FORD MADE MOTORS FLY.

Ford-built Liberty motors were used in the four airplanes, which made the recent trip from Mitchell field, Long Island, to Nome, Alaska, and return. Cap St. Clair, commander of the expedition, in a letter to the Ford Motor Co. says the motors made the long journey without repairs of any kind.—Detroit Journal.

Difference in Belief.

HELPFUL SEPARATE SKIRT

Everyone thinks well of the separate skirt but the business woman, more even than others, has reason to be its devoted admirer. By means of a skirt or so, and a generous supply of blouses and smocks, she is able to give the spice of variety to her daily garb and to tone up her toilette to almost any requirement the day may hold.

In wool fabrics the plaid, striped and barred patterns have provided for great numbers of separate skirts, but plush materials have not been wholly neglected. A handsome model for such a skirt appears in the box platted design shown above.

School Amendment

Michigan's property owners paid last year an aggregate of over One Hundred Millions for taxes.

The Budget now being prepared by Commissioner Foote shows a demand for more State Taxes than last year's total by several millions of dollars.

The dumping of the Private School Pupils of Detroit alone on to its Public Schools would cost that city Twenty-Eight Millions for new buildings and Three and a Quarter Millions a year for maintenance.

The same cause would increase the School Taxes of Grand Rapids by Fifty Per Cent.

The Direct Taxes of every district would be increased, with no increase in Primary School Fund money.

The total amount of new money to be raised by taxes for Educational Purposes in Michigan if the Private and Parochial Schools are closed by law, in addition to sums already annually expended, is estimated at Forty-Five Million Dollars for Buildings and Seven and a Quarter Millions Annually for Teachers and Going Expense.

The Educators of Michigan unanimously agree that it would take ten years to provide the school facilities which would be demanded if the Private School Pupils have to be educated at Public Expense.

THE GREATEST MOTHER IN THE WORLD.

You, who live in the country. What if you had a child who was sick or who in school seemed dull and unable to learn?

You know a great many times a child is not really stupid; it may be its eyes need attention and glasses, would correct the trouble so the child could see.

That's why the American Red Cross is doing such a splendid work in rural communities through its Public Health program.

The children are the material from which this citizenship is to be made and it is a sacred trust to be handed down that these children be given the fullest chance to develop both mentally and physically.

Wouldn't you like to know what the Public Health program of the American Red Cross does?

It is divided into 4 main parts: (a) Public Health. This work is carried on by 12 trained nurses in every township in Wayne county, outside Detroit.

Then there's a clinic to take care of and make strong, crippled children. Can you imagine a finer thing than giving health and strength to a child with a badly defective body?

(b) Home-nursing promotes an educational program. Classes are formed in home-nursing and care of the sick and the aim is to reach every woman in the county through these classes.

(c) What is eaten is a big and very important question to every one and especially to children. They must have good food and properly cooked, if they are to grow strong.

Just to show you how important good food is, last year in the county communities in Wayne county 50% of the children were underweight because of malnutrition.

This is entirely wrong and unnecessary, and it is to correct just such conditions that the work of the nutrition specialist is being done.

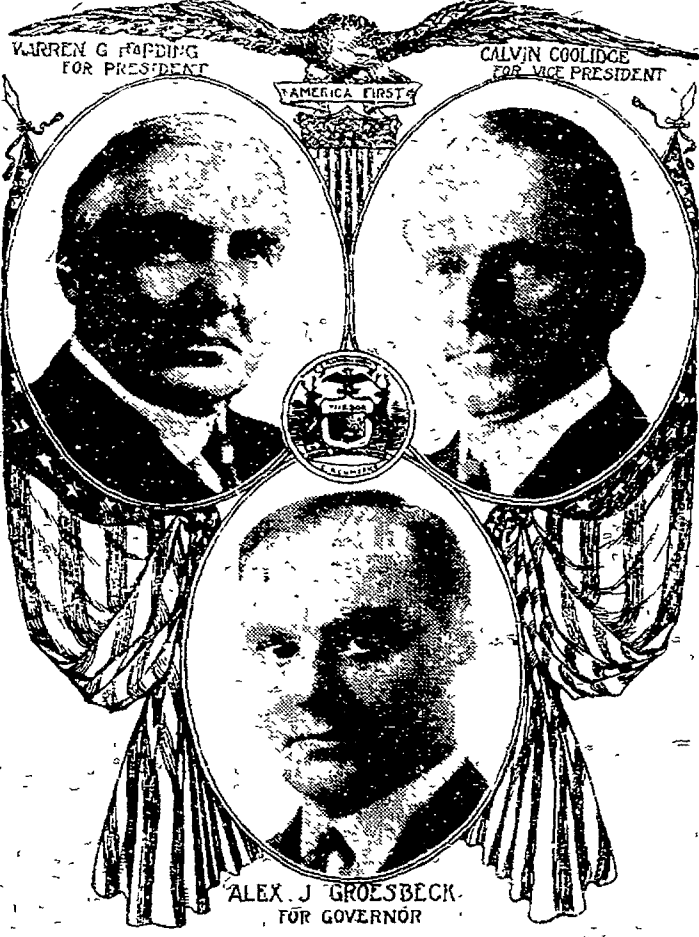

(d) Last but not least children must play. This develops sturdy bodies, and these are the best of a sound mind. This need is being filled by a trained recreation leader who now is devoting a day a week in each of the following places:

In addition to the work of recreation, the crippled or defective child has prescribed for it the best sort of corrective exercises by a doctor who is a specialist and the exercises are carried on by the recreation leader.

In all the work the American Red Cross is doing the rural communities, the hearty cooperation of these communities is the greatest help.

The Public Health program is but a part of the great work of the American Red Cross, not only in America but in foreign countries, as well. During the war the Red Cross was called "The Greatest Mother in the World" and are not its works proving its full claim?

YOUNG MEN! PARENTS! COUNTY ASKS END OF 'CONSTABULARY'.

Members of the Wayne county board of supervisors put themselves on record Monday afternoon as being unanimously opposed to the retention of the Michigan State constabulary.

This action was taken on a resolution introduced by Supervisor I Paul Taylor of Highland Park. The resolution declared that the state troops were a needless expense and infringing on the rights and liberties of the people.

Just a few minutes before Supervisor Taylor's resolution was introduced, another from the supervisors of Ingham county asking the assistance of Wayne county in bringing about the dissolution of the state force, was read in the hall.

Similar action has been taken by boards of supervisors in a number of Michigan counties during the past two weeks. People are objecting to the police because of the great expense necessary to maintain the constabulary and the matter fact that they are doing nothing that the militia force could not accomplish.

Mr. VanSickle, farmer, Mill St., Northville, says: "As year ago I had my first experience with Doan's Kidney Pills and I can say they did me a world of good. I had been doing some extra heavy work on the farm and I blame that for the starting of my kidney complaint. My back ached terribly. Nights I could get no sleep, because of the misery. I had blinding dizzy spots and didn't have any ambition to do a thing in the way of work. My kidneys didn't act regularly, either and showed other signs of disorder. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I went to Stanley's Drug Store and got three boxes. I used them as directed and they fixed me up in good shape. I am only too pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills." Price 60c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. VanSickle had. FAVOR OF FARMERS FOR GROESBECK WELL EXPLAINED

L. WHITNEY WATKINS SAYS THEY LIKE THE WAY GROESBECK APPROACHES PROBLEMS.

FARMERS ASK NO FAVORS

One of the most significant developments of the present campaign in Michigan has been the unusual degree of friendliness and favor that has come to Alex J. Groesbeck, the Republican candidate for Governor, from the farmers of the state and from the people of the farming sections and counties.

This feature of the campaign has been well explained, by L. Whitney Watkins, Farm Bureau leader, and a former progressive candidate for governor, in behalf of himself and his thousands of farmer friends.

"We farmers like the way Mr. Groesbeck approaches public problems," explained Mr. Watkins. "We liked the way he conducted the affairs of the attorney general's office with a saving in various ways, of 70 million dollars to the people, and we liked the way he called the farmers in after he was nominated and asked them what they thought was best for the economic welfare of not only themselves but of all the people of the State of Michigan."

"Mr. Groesbeck didn't do this when he needed the farmer vote most—before the primary. We believe his election was already assured when, after his nomination, he came to us and asked us what we needed. In the primaries he left the farmers to Mr. Campbell. The conference with our leaders afterward was the first time in history to my knowledge, a gubernatorial candidate ever sought us out to discuss affairs with us."

Thousands of farmers wanted Mr. Campbell for governor, feeling he knew the needs of the agriculturalist. Mr. Campbell's friends are now with Mr. Groesbeck. They recognize the Republican candidate is broad enough to include their own business as producers of food along with other basic industries in his plans in behalf of the state at large.

After all, what is of greatest benefit to the farmer is of benefit to the consumer and we believe Mr. Groesbeck recognizes this. Any one who trades to its ultimate destination the money he spends for commodities will discover that it isn't the farmer who gets an unjust share. The money disappears in other places between the producer and the consumer, oftentimes the cost and delays of transportation alone amounting to several times what the producer gets for his stuff. The farmer wants and demands absolutely nothing but adequate recognition and a square deal.

Mr. Ferris, the Democratic nominee is pointing to his record as a favor for sending him back to Lansing. Mr. Ferris has no personal record of achievement in public office. As Governor he was fortunate in having a corker good Republican legislator and about the only thing that can be said for Mr. Ferris is that he is nothing to block the good work of the legislature.

Mr. Watkins said he believed Mr. Groesbeck had succeeded in uniting all factions of the Republican party and had the support of an organized nation with an unbroken front.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The fourth grade is learning October's Birth Day Weather. Mrs. Beard, Mrs. VanDyne and Mrs. Anderson were visitors in Miss Sawyer's room recently.

The Student Council has arranged for a High school party to be given Friday evening, November 5. As this is the first school party of the year, all are urged to attend.

The officers of the Freshman class for the ensuing year are: Carlos Hall, president; Ruth Durfee, vice-president; Frances Sealey, secretary; Ely, treasurer.

A meeting of the football boys was called Tuesday after school and all urged to put forth their very best efforts in the coming contest with Dearborn. Under the efficient training of our coach, Mr. D. J. Wann, the boys are being well trained, and are expected to give a good account of themselves, at this time. The team is greatly handicapped however, by the loss, through injury and sickness, of four of our best men. Through the kindness of the Board of Education the boys have been splendidly equipped with an entirely new outfit. Every man who plays on the team must be eligible by qualifying in at least three objects and in good standing in the school.

A teachers meeting was recently called by Mr. Hellrich for the purpose of giving the students something worth while each Monday morning. Just as a good start is essential to the success of any business so likewise it is necessary that the pupils make a good beginning. It is believed this can be accomplished by setting aside one period each week (preferably Monday morning) for an assembly program. An attempt will be made to secure local inspiration to help them in their studies throughout the week. The first assembly program in charge of Miss Frances Yerkes was given Monday morning. Rev. Marsh gave a splendid talk on "Individuality" after which prayer was offered and the singing of America. The different teachers will have charge of programs as follows: November 1—Miss Barley, November 8—Miss Wigle, November 15—Mr.

Winn; November 22—Mrs. Holecomb. Any of the town people who may be interested, are cordially invited to attend.

Proposed amendment to Sec. 11 of Article III:

The proposed amendment, if adopted, will extend the absent voters privilege to teachers in the public schools and the immediate family of any member of the legislature during sessions of the legislature.

"Section 29. The legislature shall have power to enact laws relative to the hours and conditions under which men, women and children may be employed."

This proposed amendment, if adopted will empower the legislature to enact laws relative to the hours and conditions under which men may be employed.

Proposed amendment of Article XIII

"Section 1. Subject to this constitution the legislature may authorize municipalities subject to reasonable limitations to condemn and to take for use more land and property than is needed in the acquiring, opening and widening the parks, boulevards, public places, streets, alleys or for any public use, and after so much of said land and property has been appropriated for any such needed public purpose the remainder may be sold or leased with or without such restrictions as may be appropriate to the improvement made. Bonds may be issued to supply the funds to pay in whole for the excess property so appropriated, but such bonds shall be a lien only on the property so acquired and they shall not be included in the limitation of the bonded indebtedness of such municipality."

The proposed amendment, if adopted will empower the legislature to authorize municipalities to condemn more land than necessary for parks, boulevards, etc., and to issue bonds therefor.

MICHIGAN BOYS WIN HIGH JUDGING HONORS

Three Michigan boys, representatives of their state at a fine of victories at Detroit and Grand Rapids fairs this fall placed high in the National Boys Club Livestock contest at Atlanta, Ga., last week. The contest was nationwide, the best junior judges from leading livestock states all over the country being entered.

Carl Johnson of Ironwood, Don Sheppard of Charlotre, and Porter Dent, of Vicksburg, were the members of the successful Michigan team. All of them won their places by virtue of actual victories in competition.

The Texans judging team, winners of first honors at the Atlanta show, will be sent to England to compete in the English Royal Agricultural show, at London later in the year. This arrangement carries the judging competition started in the local club units all over the country, to an international final, and gives American club boys a chance to compare their talents with the best from other lands.

Michigan boys have been winning many judging honors this fall. Early in October a dairy team finished seventh in the National Dairy Show club boys judging events at Chicago. Michigan scoring second highest points in judging Holsteins, competing against teams from 14 other states.

R. A. Turner, State Leader of Boys and Girls club work, went south with the team which won the recent honors at Atlanta. The boys received their training under the club leaders of the M. A. C. Extension division.

OLIN URGES UNIV.

The first step in Michigan's new health program was taken Wednesday when Dr. R. M. Olin, state health commissioner, called into conference nurses and health officials from practically every county in the state to hear suggestions.

More than 60 nurses attended and talks were given, as well as exhibits shown and a generous amount of health literature distributed.

"In order to remedy weak spots in our public health service," Dr. Olin said, in opening the meeting "it will be imperative that all active organizations be made to work as one. We now have a public welfare department under the direction of most competent persons; and it is our plan to bring about through this division close co-operation of the Red Cross, Anti-Tuberculosis Association, county health work and all other activities along such lines."

WATCH FOR CORN BORER

The Michigan Agricultural college has recently issued a bulletin regarding the European corn borer which has recently been discovered in Ontario, not far from the Michigan border. "This insect," says the bulletin, "not only attacks corn, but may infest almost any plant having a large pith or a soft stem, and is likely to injure such crops as beans, potatoes, tomatoes, beets, peas, the large stemmed grasses and even weeds. If allowed to get a foothold it will quickly spread and it will be practically impossible to check it. To prevent serious losses it should be located when it first appears."

While there are other corn earworms (the European corn borer can be distinguished by working not only in the cobs, but in the corn stalks) if any insects are found which may prove to be the European corn borer, specimens should be sent to the M. A. C. securely packed in a tin box.
