MIDNIGHT PROWLERS ADMIT THEIR VISIT

Sometime during last Friday night burglars again visited Northville and made their get-away without leaving any clue. They forced an entrance to J. A. Huff's hardware store by entering from the alley and took merchandise to the value of a hundred dollars or more. Among the articles missed when the store was opened Saturday morning was a shot gun and a quantity of shells, a rifle, some flash lights and batteries, knives and watches and some small change in the cash register. They also carried away the keys to the register. Taking some tools from the hardware store the thieves then forced an entrance through the rear door of Marshall's garage and drove away a car belonging to a Detroit man.

Soon after the burglary was discovered Saturday morning Marshall Lyke telephoned the news to many of the surrounding towns and on Sunday word was received that a Ford car containing articles answering the description of those taken from Mr. Huff's store was found in the streets of Belleville early Saturday morning. Mr. Huff and Mr. Lyke went to Belleville Monday morning and found the shot gun and some of the stolen articles. It seems that burglars were discovered trying to gain entrance to a store in Belleville about three o'clock Saturday morning and the person making the discovery shot at the fellows who lost no time in making their getaway leaving the stolen car in the street. The thieves had evidently intended to make a flight should they be discovered for the shot gun stolen from the Huff store, with both barrels loaded, was found leaning against the building where the robbery was attempted. Sunday two fellows were picked up by officers on Grand River and they had in their possession a quantity of flash lights, batteries and knives, and it is said one of them admitted having stolen the stuff in Northville. The fellows, a white man and a negro, were turned over to the sheriff's force Monday.

Marshall Lyke is to be commended for the part he played in running the burglars to cover. They will doubtless be given a good long time to think about their visit to Northville.

OBITUARY—GEORGE VAN VLEET.

George VanVleet of Northville, formerly of Plymouth, died last Thursday, November 11, at the home of Mrs. Phila H. Johnson, 121 Plymouth. Mr. VanVleet was the second son of E. W. and Mary VanVleet and was born at Oyster Bay, Long Island, New York, on June 12, 1853. He had been in Northville about a year but was only confined to his bed about five weeks.

He leaves a wife, Mrs. A. VanVleet, of Northville, and brothers, Ed. of Detroit, Will of Trinidad, Colo. and a sister, Mrs. J. D. Harrison of Plymouth. The funeral was held at Schrade's Chapel on Saturday afternoon. The pall bearers were his nephews, Charles McLaren of Salem, Will McLaren of Detroit, John and George McLaren of Plymouth, Ernest VanVleet, of Tecumseh, and M. L. Thomas of Detroit.

There were many lovely floral pieces from relatives and friends. One particularly appropriate piece was a floral horse-shoe from the Ann Arbor Driving club, as Mr. VanVleet was a great lover of horses. Rev. E. V. Belles of the Northville Presbyterian church officiated and the remains were laid at rest in Riverview cemetery at Plymouth.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

Percy Carson was the victim of a peculiar accident last Thursday night. A. A. Hall had made a trip into the country during the afternoon and thinking he might see some ducks along his route he took his shot gun with him. After he returned home he was taking the shells from the gun when one of them was discharged. The contents of the shell struck the cement sidewalk some distance away and glancing upward, the shot took effect in one of Percy's legs and in his back. Fortunately they made but a slight wound, having lost their force when they struck the walk. Realizing what had happened, Mr. Hall ran to the assistance of his victim and took him to his home and called a physician. It was a narrow escape for Percy and Mr. Hall was given a "shock" he will not soon forget. Of course he regretted the accident exceedingly.

STATE POLICE MADE A FRUITLESS RAID

Saturday night between nine and ten o'clock a number of the state police stationed at Plymouth came to Northville and made a raid on the bowling alley, expecting, of course, to discover some booze and a real live "blind pig." There were about a dozen police in the searching party and they closed all entrances to the room and allowed no one to leave the place while the search was being made. Being on Saturday night there was a goodly number of men in the place when the officers entered and they all seemed to enjoy the excitement of the unexpected visit.

Everything about the building was searched and ransacked, both in the room occupied by the bowling alleys and in the two stories above, as well as the basement, but nothing could be found to indicate that the proprietors had been selling booze, or that any supply of liquor had been kept about the building. Not being satisfied with their search of the bowling alley the police went to the residence of the proprietors on Dunlap street and searched everything from cellar to garret. They found nothing there to indicate that liquor was being stored in the house, and their search only revealed two bottles which contained a small quantity of liquor—no more, doubtless, than might be found in many family medicine chests.

Men who frequent the bowling alley and whose opinions are worthy of consideration state that they have never seen anything that would in any manner suggest that the proprietors were men who desired to sell booze. If the state police were given a tip by some one, their "lead" was not in the right direction Saturday night. While they were here why did they not make a clean job of it and search other places along Main street, if they believed booze was being sold in Northville? The methods used in the raid Saturday night did not impress those who were eye witnesses to the affair as being what one ought to expect from those who are entrusted with guarding the interests of the state.

If there are any places in this village or vicinity that are selling booze or if there are any individuals who are peddling the stuff, the decent and law-abiding people of Northville desire that the guilty ones should be brought to justice, but a little less of the "pol" methods would answer the purpose, and would inspire greater confidence and regard for the state police as an organization. Had the state police made the proper use of the other six or eight hundred scouting the country for the robbers who entered Huff's hardware store, Marshall's garage on the previous night the whole affair would not have had the appearance of being a grandstand performance.

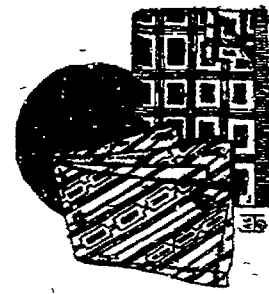

ENTERTAINED DETROIT FRIENDS.

Last Saturday afternoon, Ada Grinwood brought with her from Detroit a party of twenty young folks, when she came on her usual week-end visit home. The party consisted of several of her associates in the office and some of the instructors of the Detroit Schools of Technology. After enjoying themselves a short time in the parsonage they resorted to some woods in the neighboring country, with a plentiful supply of hot coffee, rolls and wieners, where they had a romping good time together playing various games and cooking their supper in Gipsy fashion. Some of them seemed to be a little stiff and sore as they limped their way back, nevertheless they all declared they had a fine outing and gave the impression that they thought it well worth while to come to Northville.

WENT NORTH AFTER DEER.

Monday night a merry company of Northville men left for the upper peninsula for their annual outing. The men comprising the Northville party were George Hueston, N. C. Schrader, Fred Lyke, Thomas Gibson, Glenn C. Richardson, John Schoutz, S. A. Lovevell, W. H. Stark, C. A. Sessions, and C. R. Ely. They were joined here by six gentlemen from Farmington and six from South Lyon. The hunters, chartered a special Pullman coach and expected to arrive at the "happy hunting grounds" sometime Wednesday.

We may expect the usual number of big stories and to again hear Tom, Dick and Harry relate how they "missed the big ones."

"The Kindergarten Should Become Part of Every Public School System."

By P. P. CLAXTON, U. S. Commissioner of Education.

The kindergarten is a vital factor in American education, both for its direct work with young children in the kindergarten and for its influence on the care of children in the home. The boys and girls of today are to be the nation tomorrow. Very wisely, it seems to me, is the community that refuses to insure and guarantee its country for the future, by withholding from its children an educational advantage to which they are clearly entitled and which would increase their value to the nation and to the world.

The kindergarten ought to become a part of the public school system of every city, town and village in the country, and a sufficient number of classes should be maintained to give every child the pleasures and benefits of this training.

The children of foreign origin especially should receive this preparation for American citizenship.

"Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord."

By WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE, in Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.

The next change in the Constitution may come in order to establish a prohibition of child labor, and long hours for women and minors in industry. The Constitution must be amended to give congress full rights over commerce and industry, instead of the limited rights congress now enjoys. The Constitution must be made more flexible. A revision from twenty states—through their legislatures or through the initiative—should place an amendment in the Constitution upon the ballot at any biennial where a two-third majority of the popular vote or a two-thirds of the states would establish the amendment. The right of the people to vote upon a declaration of war except in case of proclaimed insurrection should be incorporated in the American Constitution. These amendments for international peace. For if America stops a war, it can insist upon assisting with no country, a balance or a coalition of nations, which does not give the public an adequate voice. President and his cabinet should submit reports to the people on the political condition of the country, and should be subject to a referendum.

The four amendments which I have suggested are the only ones which I believe are necessary. But the amendment to the Constitution must be the law of the land. It must be a living document. It must be a living document. It must be a living document.

But now I am a soldier in the ranks. I am a soldier in the ranks. I am a soldier in the ranks. I am a soldier in the ranks. I am a soldier in the ranks.

"Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord."

"I Have Never Yet Met an American Officer Who Wished to Be at War."

By NEWTON D. BAKER, Secretary of War.

When I became secretary of war about five years ago I found I was not less well informed than the average man in the army, and yet when I think back to my state of mind at the time I am driven to wonder how many people in the United States feel as I felt then; how many have as little knowledge about the army as I have, its purposes, its performance and its real mission as I had at that time.

For instance, I had an idea that all army officers were engaged to a class which had as its chief purpose in life the bringing about of active military operations. I have since learned that the army is a very different thing. It is a machine for the exercise of their talents. I don't think I ever had a better understanding of feeling that they wanted to have a war so that they might get promotion, but I had the same as feeling that, after spending years in fighting themselves to perform every day a part of a task that they would want to see the machine work, and, therefore, that the military viewpoint was the one we would expect the professional soldier to assume.

I have learned in the course of my five years of very intimate association with army officers the fallacy of these beliefs and opinions. Having associated on most intimate terms with officers of the army, from the highest nearly through the whole official list, I can say, and am happy to say, that I have never yet met an American officer who either wished to be at war or wanted war. I think all officers I have seen have believed that it was the duty of the officer to be, in Stephen Decatur's phrase, ready for any duty which his country might summon him to perform, and that if we were going to have any army at all it should be an efficient army and an army in which the best of success was the measure of efficiency.

Greater Realization by Young America of the Value of an Education.

By CHARLES MAXWELL McCONN, University of Illinois.

The tremendous registration of this September in the state universities means a greater realization by young America of the value of education.

The student army training corps, that wartime device of the war department for enlisting men in college, deserves a great measure of the credit. Every young man in the United States had it brought home to him that the government of this country thought a college education such a fine thing that it would send him to college for a while. It was the biggest advertisement for the colleges and universities that ever was.

Coupled with it was the broadening and stimulating effect on young minds of the movement of vast bodies of young men into different parts of this country and into other countries.

They realized that if they were to go out for bigger things they must have a bigger equipment, and so this unprecedented rush to the college began. It is one of the precious results of the war and one of the most precious events in the history of human culture.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

There is no age limit. Many people do not learn how to live until they are past fifty. Gladstone, at eighty-six, was brilliant. Goethe, at eighty-four, found life full of interest. You are never old until you think you are.

CARROTS IN VARIOUS WAYS.

Carrots contain iron and other mineral matters especially good for the blood, and because of this mineral content are a vegetable which should be served often, especially in families with growing children. The common way of serving them is cooked and served in a white sauce. We tire of this any food served in the same way time after time, so the following recipes may be suggestive of different ways of serving this wonderful vegetable.

Carrot Glace, With Cream.—Scrape the carrots, cut in halves or quarters, according to size, then cut in short pieces, one inch and a quarter in length. Cover with cold water and cook 15 minutes, then drain and add boiling water; for each pint of water add a half teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Cook until the carrots are tender and the water is reduced to a syrup. Stir the carrots in this syrup and well glazed then add hot cream to cover. Let simmer for a moment and serve at once.

Cream of Carrot Soup.—Cook until tender a pint of diced carrots, drain and wash, put through a ricer. Scald a quart of milk with a slice of onion and a pinch of nutmeg; remove the onion after 15 minutes, add the carrot pulp, salt, sugar and a few dashes of cayenne. With a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan add a tablespoonful of oil and cook until smooth; add by the ounce a little of the milk to the hot soup. Cook until well blended and season to taste. Serve hot with croutons.

Browned Carrots.—Take uniform sized carrots, scrape and cut in halves. Put in a pan with a little oil and sugar around a pint of onion and a slice with a dash of salt to brown. Serve around the carrots. It is served on the table.

When you are in the ranks, you are in the ranks. You are in the ranks. You are in the ranks. You are in the ranks.

When you are in the ranks, you are in the ranks. You are in the ranks. You are in the ranks. You are in the ranks.

A CHAPTER ON POTATOES.

One of the best practical substitutes for a slice of bread is a potato. The salts of a potato are valuable in building body tissues. When baked it is one of the most easily digested vegetables.

Potato Puffs.—Add one-half cupful of milk to two cupfuls of mashed potato and beat until thoroughly blended. Add two beaten eggs, a teaspoonful of salt, and grate in one cupful of grated cheese. Bake in a buttered baking dish in a slow oven.

Shepherd's Pie.—Put flaked fish in a baking dish. Add a sauce made of a tablespoonful each of flour and fat, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper and a cupful of broth. Cover with two cupfuls of mashed potato, brush with cream or fat and brown in a hot oven.

Potato O'Brien.—Make a sauce of one tablespoonful each of fat and flour, one-half cupful of skimmed milk, one teaspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper. Mix two cupfuls of diced cooked potato with one green pepper cooked and chopped and one-half cupful of grated cheese. Mix with the white sauce and put into a baking dish and brown in a hot oven. Cepped red pepper may be used in place of the green when that cannot be obtained.

Potato and Lima Bean Loaf.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of lima beans cooked and put through a sieve; add two tablespoonfuls of fat, one-fourth of a cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of salt, one-third teaspoonful of sage, two cupfuls of rice cooked. Add to it one-fourth of a cupful of milk, salt and butter to season. Put the first five ingredients into a buttered baking dish, cover with the potato blended with the milk and seasonings. Bake in a quick oven. Serve with tomato sauce.

Potato Peanut Loaf.—Take one pint of mashed potato, one cupful of ground peanuts, or one-half cupful of peanut butter, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, one-half cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of melted fat and two well beaten eggs. Beat the entire mixture together and place in a greased baking dish. Set in a second pan containing hot water and bake in a hot oven for 45 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce.

VERY SIMPLE BUT DISTINCTIVE FROCKS

THE seamstress who is equal to making simple frocks for herself or her daughters, is able to touch upon the simplest of them with distinctive details in their construction or in their embellishments. Dressing has a simplicity and originality which is the best when they come to the end of the element, the simple frock is in all applied from this to the above all they are the exact opposite of the business woman's dress. Look for and look until she finds the perfect frock, but not at all as a matter of her outfitting.

When you are in the ranks, you are in the ranks. You are in the ranks. You are in the ranks. You are in the ranks.

The two practical and graceful models shown here are commended to the home dress-maker. They are made of wool jerseys—that handsome and unassuming fabric that is so strongly entrenched in the esteem of women. The frock on the left has cuffs and collar also facing of the plaid at the side, made of divetyn in a contrasting color. The collar and cuffs are ornamented with needlework in heavy silk floss. In color combination and in its simplicity, these two are opportunities for use of motifs and style. The other frock has a plain skirt and overdress with yam, the braiding in two colors used for decoration. The cuffs are made of yam also and may be braided or crocheted. Bigos of this kind are pretty and made with flower, colored of yam and used on their collars and cuffs simulate in simple offices in yam on the blouse.

Brief Story of School Hats

THE story of hats that are worn by school girls is brief this season and its main points may be gathered very quickly from the group of hats shown here. There sprung up before school bells began to ring a demand for tams, that included those for school girls but was not by any means confined to them. In answer to this call came tams and more tams. One would not believe so great a variety in one kind of hat could be made, and the school girl found in them exactly the things she liked. These tams are made of various kinds of cloth having a shaggy, velvety or suede-like surface, and are finished off with yam pompons, yarn or silk tassels or are without any ornament. There are some velvet models among them. Two pretty tams shown in the picture bring out the differences that appear in the construction of the tam. The hat at the left has a crown made of sections of shaggy cloth sewed together and topped by a wool pompo. It is mounted to a straight headband. The tam at the right has a crown made of only two pieces, one of them so arranged that the tam flares off the face and falls to the right side.

The hats in the center of the group and at the lower left hand corner are popular felt-shapes finished with bands of grosgrain ribbon. They are made in a variety of good colors, are very durable and "classy." The remaining hat is less simple, having a draped crown of duretyn and a turned-up brim of angora cloth. Two yam balls suspended on a crocheted cord that hangs from two loops complete this ambitious affair for the young miss.

Uncle Walt's Story

BALED MUSIC

"THERE'S going to be a great concert at the opera house to-night," said the retired merchant, "and if you'll go along with me, I'll pay your way and buy you five cents' worth of peanuts. I'm sure nothing could be more liberal than that."

"You'll break yourself up in business if you go around wasting your substance in that fashion," replied the hotel keeper. But you will have to hunt up another victim. Since I bought a phonograph and a bunch of records I have quit going to concerts. There's nothing but vanity and vexation of spirit about an entertainment of that kind. It's advertised to start at a certain hour, say eight o'clock, and you are credulous enough to think that the specifications will be lived up to. You break a lame strap to get there in time, and when you arrive, at ten minutes to eight, you find you're the first one there. You sit around, waiting for an hour or two, and people walk on your feet and sit down on your hat and make things unpleasant as possible.

"By the time the curtain goes up, you are wishing you had possessed sense enough to stay at home. But, being there and having paid for the privilege, you determine to hold her nozzle, and the bank, as it were."

"The entertainment usually is opened by a talker. The man who makes a few remarks always looms up at such entertainments and should be taken to jail for obtaining money under false pretenses. Which he has said all that he can think of, the artists begin to dish up the music. It may be elegant music—it may not be. But you can't enjoy it in comfort, for the gentleman with the large splay feet, in the seat directly behind you, persists in beating time with that organ until he drives you frantic. If you turn around and get him in the face, you will be ejected from the building."

"Then you will find that the woman with a shrill, carrying voice, who has heard better singers, sits right in front of you, and she keeps on talking in a meddling way. The last concert I attended had a fine contralto who sang some stem winding songs of the kind we all like. But the woman with the shrill voice was right in front of me, and I could hear her saying, 'Really, you should hear Margaret Keyes or Christine Miller sing that selection; this woman is impossible as a vocalist.'"

"Then a man, with a hoarse voice and a name that he imported without paying duty on it, stood up and whinnied like a doggone zebra, and we were expected to believe that he was singing a Neapolitan song. I never heard anything that filed my nerves the way that voice did. It recalled the halcyon days when my father used to sharpen a hickory with a rasp. Well, when he finished his first number, the applause was frantic, and he reared up and did it all over again. Then the applause was louder than ever, and he whinnied something else. They kept that blamed pirate there for half an hour, and I don't know when I suffered so much."

"The hall was overloaded, and I was jammed in the middle of a row of seats so I couldn't get out without climbing over a number of ladies and gentlemen. We were kept there for three hours, and when I got out I swore by my Sunday hat I'd never go to another public concert."

"Next day I bought a phonograph and a lot of records of the kind I like, and now I enjoy my music. I start it when I get ready, and quit when I am tired. No punk singers are encored. No Windy Jims introduce the singers with a few pertinent remarks. If a singer displeases me, I stop the machine and throw the record into the alley. You'd better tear up your concert ticket and come and hear my music mill."

Hard Hit.

"What's wrong, old man? You look blue."

"Had a scrap with my wife this morning."

"Oh, don't let a little thing like that worry you. A thunderstorm clears the atmosphere, you know."

"Yes, but that doesn't help a man who's been struck by lightning."

Boston Transcript.

Of Course.

"You made a big howl that you were out for civic betterment."

"We did."

"Yet your program consists solely of getting your crowd into office."

"Well, ain't that civic betterment?"

"Well, what's on the tapis today?" asked the social secretary breezing in.

"I hadn't noticed," answered Maw Hoptoad.

"Maria, did you spill anything on the tapis?"

NORTHVILLE, MICH., NOV. 12, 1920.

SPECIAL MEETINGS ARE AROUSING INTEREST

The interest continues in the Union evangelistic campaign. Although planned for a two weeks' effort it was by a unanimous vote of a congregation that filled every seat and chair in the largest audience room of the Methodist church, decided to continue for another week. A union Sunday school rally was held in the Baptist church at noon. The Presbyterian and Methodist schools marching over in a combined body over two hundred strong.

Sunday afternoon a meeting for men was held in the Alseium. The song service was led by Chas. Forsythe, after which one of the most unique religious addresses ever heard in Northville was delivered by E. B. T. Shumacher of Detroit.

The meeting for women was held in the Baptist church and addressed by Dr. Chas. Kuhn of Detroit. Songs were sung by Chas. Forsythe and Mrs. T. S. Henderson, wife of Bishop Henderson. Sunday evening the Methodist church was filled and a very impressive service was held. Many old and young made decisions for Christ and many others renewed their old-time vows. Friday night (tonight), will be another meeting of especial interest to young people.

Sunday will be the last day, with the usual church and Sunday school services in the morning. In the afternoon a grand rally for both men and women will be held in the Methodist church at three p. m. Roy L. Brown of the Purchasing department of the Sigel Co. of Detroit, will deliver his great address on "Christ before Pilate" and Mrs. Henderson will again be present to sing. The closing service will be held at 7:30 with song service conducted by F. J. Holling and addresses by George N. Baker.

Let all eight thinking people—all who desire the final uplift of Northville—join in having the remaining services of this week. Too much cannot be said of the self-sacrificing zeal, whole-hearted sincerity and genial manner of the gentlemen, who have come into our midst with the sole desire to do us good. We owe them a debt of gratitude we will not soon pay.

M. R. C. NOTES.

The regular meeting of the Corps was held at 6:00 Wednesday evening. Four new candidates were accepted by ballot for membership. Much interest and good fellowship was manifested, with about 50 members present. Our annual inspection will be held November 24th at our regular meeting place with Mr. Effe, catcher of Pontiac as inspecting officer. Potluck supper at 7:30 and regular meeting 7:30.

A practice drill at which officers and members are requested to be present will be held Wednesday evening November 17th at the hall. Armistice Day was observed with an appropriate campfire entertainment. The G. A. R. Post was not very well represented as so many of our old boys are not well. The American Legion was present to help in the celebration and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Coffee and doughnuts were served and a grab-bag added sport. We wish to thank all those participating in the program and games for their assistance, and all the members as well. Loyalty to our country and its defenders is the object for which we are banded together and we were pleased that the efforts of each member and friend met with such success. We thank you.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

Sunday morning at 10:00, sermon by the pastor, "Cross-Formation." Sunday school at 11:30. Union revival meeting at 7:30. The Epworth League at 6:30.

The League and Queen Esther Circle attended the meetings in a body Monday and Tuesday evenings.

There is still room for canned fruit in that Home Missionary barrel. Please get it in as soon as you can, ladies.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

Next Sunday morning, November 14th, the regular morning service will be held, with preaching by the pastor at 10:30. Subject of sermon, "The Cleansing Blood." The communion will be observed at the close of the service. Sunday school at 12 noon. Many are reading the Bible now in Northville. Understand what thou readest? The Sunday school helps greatly. Be sure to come. We will participate with the other churches in the union meetings that are mentioned elsewhere in the afternoon and evening.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES.

The Sunday morning service at 10:30 o'clock, with sermon by the pastor on the subject, "Taken Alive." Regular Sunday school session at 12:00 o'clock.

In the afternoon at 3:00 and in the evening at 7:30 we join in two Union services in the Methodist church. These will be the closing meetings of the series conducted during the past three weeks which have brought blessings to many in the community. Whether you have been attending heretofore or not you are urged to come to these last meetings and help make them big with results both in your own life and in the lives of others.

Prayer meeting next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Bring the enthusiasm and helpfulness which you have shown in the special meetings into the regular prayer meeting of your own church.

WE WELCOME A FAIR AND HONORABLE SEARCH OF OUR BUSINESS PLACE AT ANY TIME.

Of course, the public is fully conversant with the raid that was made on our place of business during the busy hours Saturday night, and we trust have also heard that the officers did not find any booze in our possession. We welcome a fair and honorable search of our business place at any time, but we are frank to admit that we cannot approve of the methods adopted by the state police officers Saturday.

We came among the people of Northville entire strangers and we have endeavored at all times to conduct our business in such a manner that would merit the confidence and good will of all the people of this section. We have endeavored to treat all fairly, and to allow nothing to take place here that would in any way offend anyone, and in this effort we believe we have been successful. Our business place has offered popular recreation for the men of this section, and while we regret that our customers were disturbed by the police, we are very glad that the search was made. There never has been, nor there never will be, any liquor of any kind offered our customers. We court the patronage of those who desire to spend a little time upon the alleys or those who desire to meet their friends here, and we shall continue to conduct our business in such a way that no one need feel they are not in good company while here.

Very truly yours,

THE

TO HAVE AN UP-TO-DATE BAKERY

W. H. Elliott has engaged the services of Harry Wadsworth, who for sometime past has been in charge of the Federal Bakery at Monroe and he is now a resident of Northville and is now in charge of the new bake shop. A new mixing machine will soon be installed in the new shop and the equipment will be brought up-to-date and Northville will soon have as complete a bakery as can be found anywhere. The building has been lined with wallboard and the interior will be painted and everything about the shop will be sanitary.

It is Mr. Elliott's ambition to give Northville a bakery all may be proud of and to supply his trade with the best baked goods obtainable.

AUCTION SALE.

H. Wolfson will have an auction sale of household goods at his home on north Center street, on Saturday, November 13th, commencing at one o'clock.

ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL

The fourth annual Red Cross roll call will take place from the 11th, yesterday, up to Thanksgiving, and all will be given an opportunity to renew their membership for another year. The call for members is just as great now as at any time during the past four years and the activities of the Red Cross are reaching out into many fields which cannot be reached by any other organization. The cost for a yearly membership is but $1.00 and your dollar will go farther here than in any other movement to which you might contribute.

The people of Northville will be given an opportunity to renew their membership some time during this period when a house house canvass will be made by a committee of ladies. If it is more convenient to do so the membership fee can be left with either of the local banks, and certificates of membership and a button will be issued.

In past years the people of this section have never failed to respond to this annual appeal and we are sure they will not fail now. Let every home be represented in this annual roll call.

AUCTION SALE.

Stephen Avery will have an auction sale on the Andrew Houk farm, one mile south and three-fourths mile west of Northville, on the Salem road, on Tuesday, November 16th, commencing at 9:30 o'clock. Twenty-five head of high-grade Holstein cattle, horses, hogs, farm tools, and hay and grain will be sold to the highest bidder. George Rattenbury is the Auctioneer.

Our Lizzie is not made of tin,

With brains to spare, she's sure to win.

Why Lizzie, What makes you so happy and cheerful these days?

I'll tell you, Blanch, it's a secret, but Tom and I are going to get married and we have each taken out stock in "The Loan" for we do not intend to let any minister pull this: "Stop! You are extravagant" business on us. We'll flash our Loan Books on him before the ceremony. See?

As I was saying, there were many reasons for our joining "The Loan" but the main ones were these:

1st. It pays better. I have heard that dollars increase in "The Loan" nearly as fast as Jack Rabbits up North.

2nd. We will not need our money for some time and it can be used to help some one buy or build a home, and when we get ready to build, there will be plenty paying in to help us out—you see "The Loan" is a sort of "Help-one-another" concern.

3rd. It's the style.

Well, by what you say, I think it is a pretty good thing to belong to.

"Now You Have Said Something."

Go to McCully's any Saturday night and the man at the desk will get you started.

STATE FARMERS AFTER CHICAGO SHOW HONORS.

With more than 160 entries from over the state already in, and more arriving daily, Michigan farmers are confident of winning a generous share of the $10,000 prizes which will be up at the International Hay and Grain show in Chicago from November 27 to December 4. The show, which is the largest livestock exposition in the world, is the biggest exhibit of its kind put on anywhere and attracts entries from all over the United States and Canada.

Many prizes in their classes were won by Michigan growers last year and the value of the exhibits sent in already this fall seems to insure an even better showing at the coming meeting.

Entries for this year's show close on November 20, and farmers who wish to send their exhibits should get their samples to the secretary of the Michigan Crop Improvement association at East Lansing, before that date. Samples are being put in final form and forwarded to Chicago by the association, which is sponsoring the Michigan exhibits.

An extensive display exhibit of Michigan crops is being prepared for the Chicago show by the Michigan Agricultural college, the Seed Department of the State Farm Bureau, and the Crop Improvement association, cooperating. This exhibit is certain to advertise Michigan crops to leading farmers from all over the country who will be at the international.

"MUR" CONDON DIES.

Michael Condon, oldest employee of the University of Michigan known to thousands of the school's alumni, died Sunday afternoon at the home of his sister in Ann Arbor. He was 78 years old.

Mr Condon began his work at the university in 1888, when the school boasted but two buildings. He has seen it grow from babyhood until it now ranks as one of the best in the country. He was the only employee who had ever worked under the five presidents of the institution.

MICHIGAN HAS 14 SUGAR PLANTS.

Michigan has 14 beet sugar factories, and they are now all in commission. The slicing began about two weeks ago. The season was very favorable for the sugar beet and the long dry and warm fall developed a high percentage of sugar content.

The Michigan sugar production, it is expected, will be large and it will not be long before the new crop of sugar will be on the market. There are so many elements of uncertainty in the sugar situation that nobody is making predictions as to what the price will be, but it is believed there will be a fair degree of stability at present prices for a time.

New Telephone Rates

THE Michigan State Telephone Company has been granted an increase in telephone rates of approximately 15%, effective as of November 1, 1920.

This authorization was received after the November bills were issued. The new rates will, therefore, be billed on the December bills, which statements will carry the increase for November as well as the new rate for December.

The proper charge for the month of November may be paid, however, if you so desire, with the November payment. Information as to the amount may be secured from the local telephone office.

UNITED GUN CLUB MAKES FINE SCORES.

The United Gun club members held their regular shoot in spite of the poor light, and made some very fine scores. Six members turned in scores better than 90%, and entire club made a high average. Messrs. Ely and Pettigill lined up with the old timers, and gave very good accounts of themselves. Twelve shooters finished the regular 50 target program, seven lined up for the practice events at 18 yard targets, and five shot thru the 22 yard handicap event.

Passage made high score in the regular event. J. E. Cook was high in the practice event, 50 targets; and Chas. Beard was high in the 25 target practice event. The remarkable feature of this meet was the fact that the club had a larger attendance than usual, in spite of the fact that several members are in the woods after big game.

The regular 50 target program scores:

H. Passage	48	J. Cook	44
F. Hill	47	C. Beard	43
H. Hill	46	L. Cammon	42
M. Murray	46	G. McCall	41
W. Pettigill	46	C. Ely	39
J. Patterson	45	A. Hall	31

The 16 yard practice events:

J. Cook	47x50
F. Hill	45x50
G. McCall	30x50
J. Patterson	35x50
C. Beard	24x25
H. Passage	23x25
L. Cammon	21x25

The 22 yard handicap events (25 targets):

H. Passage	21
J. Cook	20
C. Beard	17
F. Hill	15
L. Cammon	11

As much as so many of the members were away hunting, no program was devised for the annual supper shoot. With all interested, please notify President Frank Hills, at Northville, by postal or otherwise, making any suggestions you wish. The officers of the club do not want to plan something unpopular. Please help in every way.

H. LASSAGE, Secretary

P. M. JONES IMPROVING.

Inspectors of the Pere Marquette railway have demonstrated the fact that the railway will enter upon the winter season in much better condition than last year. Since the Pere Marquette railway emerged from Federal control, considerable work has been done in money expended to bring it back to its state of efficiency. The New Buffalo division yards, which are approximately $750,000 in cost, are now being used and are expected to be in the interchange business in the month of December. Improvements at Saginaw and Plymouth are also being completed.

What is a rebuilding of the railroads during the period of Federal control implied? It is implied in the case of the Pere Marquette railway. As of October 1, there was only 30.87% of Pere Marquette cars on its lines or in other words 69.13% of the company's cars were on other railroads. A railroad like any other business has a peculiar character to the particular to which it handles, and more or less equipped to make more satisfactory repairs and keep the cars in better serviceable condition than the foreign roads. So much for Federal control and the lowering of transportation efficiency incident thereto.

INSURANCE PAYMENT RULING.

An opinion upholding the plaintiff, John C. Howe, in an action brought against the Patrons Mutual Fire Insurance company, Ltd., of Michigan, was given by Judge Charles B. Collingwood, in Ingham circuit court, last week, establishing the liability of a fire insurance company of a mutual type, organized in connection with a fraternal organization, to pay losses incurred by insured persons though their dues may have lapsed in the local organization. The arbitration board of the company had decided that Howe was not entitled to insurance of $3,000. The judge declared that a by-law was illegal which forfeited the rights of the insured because the dues had lapsed, and ruled that Howe was a member in good standing of the Order of Patrons of Industry; also that the appeal to the arbitration board was not within the time limit and therefore invalid—Michigan Financial Record.

A PRACTICAL ANSWER.

"If I cut a beefsteak in two," asked the teacher, "and then cut the halves in two, what do I get?"
"Quarters," returned the boy.
"Good. And then again?"
"Eighths."
"Correct. Again?"
"Sixteenths."
"Exactly. And what then?"
"Thirty-seconds."
"And once more?"
"Hamberger," cried the boy impatiently.

THE GREATEST MOTHER IN THE WORLD

You, who live in the country. What if you had a child who was sick or who in school seemed dull and unable to learn? You know a great many times a child is not really stupid, it may be its eyes need attention and glasses would correct the trouble so the child could see. Or perhaps it has trouble in hearing. May be, the child is a cripple.

That's why the American Red Cross is doing such a splendid work in rural communities through its Public Health program. It is because it feels that if America is to grow strong in all good things, it must be through the strength of its citizens.

The children are the material from which this citizenship is to be made and it is a sacred trust to be handed down that these children be given the fullest chance to develop both mentally and physically.

Wouldn't you like to know what the Public Health program of the American Red Cross does?

It is divided into 4 main parts:

(a). Public Health. This work is carried on by 12 trained nurses in every township in Wayne county, outside Detroit. Not only do these nurses go into the homes and the schools, but there are 4 permanent clinics established now in Wyandotte, Wayne, Redford and Grosse Pointe, and it is definitely decided to have a "traveling clinic" which will go to places not now served. At any of these clinics parents can learn how to take care of their children and they are urged to come bringing their families with them. You know the old saying "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Well, that's the very purpose of these clinics. Treatment of eyes and teeth and many other ills, is given.

Then there's a clinic to take care of and make strong, crippled children. Can you imagine a finer thing than giving health and strength to a child with a badly defective body?

(b). Home-nursing promotes an educational program. Classes are formed in home-nursing and care of the sick and the aim is to reach every woman in the county through these classes.

(c). What is eaten is a big and very important question to every one and especially to children. They must have good food and properly cooked, if they are to grow strong. The American Red Cross provides a nutrition specialist for this. She teaches all about the different foods and their comparative values in building up body waste.

Just to show you how important good food is, last year in the county communities in Wayne county 50% of the children were under-weight because of malnutrition. In one rural school of 50 children the total under-weight was 250 pounds or 5 lbs. the average child.

This is entirely wrong and unproper and it is to correct just such conditions that the work of the nutrition specialist is being done.

(d). Last but not least, children must play. This develops sturdy bodies and there in turn beget a sound mind. This need is being filled by a trained recreation leader who now is devoting a day a week in each of the following places: Wayne, Springwells and Hollyville. But somehow, the days are not long enough for this very important work, so an evening session is soon to be added.

In addition to the work of recreation, the crippled or defective child has been provided for by the best sort of corrective exercises by a doctor who is a specialist and the exercises are carried on by the recreation leader.

In all the work the American Red Cross is doing in the rural communities, the hearty cooperation of these communities is of the greatest help. The Public Health program is but a part of the great work of the American Red Cross, not only in America but in foreign countries as well. During the war the Red Cross was called "The Greatest Mother in the World," and are not its works proving its full claim?

C. C. Yerkes, Attorney, Northville. COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

ADVERTISE THE FARM.

Yes, it pays to advertise the farm, and if done right it doesn't cost much. Give it a name indicating its chief characteristic, such as Spring Creek stock farm, Clover Dairy farm, or Pine Ridge poultry farm. When anything that would interest several other people happens out your way send in a report of it to this paper. When you have something special to sell, remember that an ad with us is as cheap as dirt compared with returns. A neat-looking sign near the road telling what you have to sell is also valuable. And then there is the advantage to be had from good business stationery—envelopes and letter sheets, with a picture of something on your farm—with your name, and possibly with a list of your special products.

WORTHLESS CURES.

From $15,000.00 to $25,000.00 each year is wasted by victims of consumption in the United States on worthless fake "cures," the National Tuberculosis association declared today. One of the aims of the Michigan Anti-tuberculosis association is to aid the fight against these fake "cures" in this state. The state association is to hold its annual Seal Sale December 1 to December 11, to help spread scientific knowledge about tuberculosis in Michigan.

The fake "cures" are of three types: First those exploited by well-meaning but ignorant persons. In this group are such things as deer's blood, onions, lemons, certain types of exercise, etc. The second group includes remedies and devices that can be bought, such as liquids, pills, powders, inhalers, etc., all put forth to make money for the quacks advising them. The third group is composed of so-called scientific "cures," usually emanating from European or Asiatic sources. No cure for tuberculosis has yet been discovered by any scientist anywhere in the world; and ever a bone fide cure should be found, the Michigan Anti-tuberculosis association would be the first and the most eager to trumpet the news to the world.

All these "cures" are not only worthless or harmful in themselves, but what is more important, they cause the victims of tuberculosis to lose precious time. The state association is using all its influence to counteracting these "cures."

Tobacco Seeds Small.

Tobacco seeds are so minute that a thumbtack will furnish enough plants for an acre of ground.

PLAN SCHOOL WEEK TO SPUR EDUCATION.

"School week" will be observed over the country December 5 to 11. Commissioner of Education Claxton has requested the governors and chief school officers of the states to cause the people to use this week in such way as it will disseminate information in regard to the conditions and needs of the schools.

Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade, Women's clubs, Rotary clubs, labor unions, farmers organizations and patriotic and civic societies are requested to devote one meeting to a discussion of the needs of education in their states. The ministers also are asked to devote one of their church services on December 5 to emphasize the importance of education.

Friday afternoon and evening of school week has been designated as the date on which community meetings in the interests of education should be held in all school houses.

MADE A GOOD RECORD.

In his State Political Gossip, published in the Detroit Sunday News, John Fitzgibbon made the following reference to one of our citizens:

"Gov. Elect Groesbeck's statement that about twice as many new laws are enacted at every legislative session as there is call for and that a legislator's usefulness is not measured by the number of new laws he proposes is corroborated by the record of Cass R. Benton, now a member of the State Tax Commission, when a legislative representative for the Northville district of Wayne county. During his first term—session of 1905—Rep. Benton became convinced that much needless legislation is considered at every session. When re-elected to the 1907 session he resolved that he would not, during the session, introduce a single bill, but would put in all his time blocking other members' bad and useless bills and helping pass their good bills. He adhered to this course, and being one of the house leaders, had, when the session closed, a record of achievements second to no other member."

GREAT DECLINE IN FURS AND HIDES OVER LAST SEASON.

At auctions of furs held in New York and London recently the decline was emphasized by the decline as it is working out in this particular industry. At the latest sale, conducted by the recently organized shippers' fur sales corporation buyers were few and enthusiasm which characterized the fur sales in the last two or three years was entirely lacking. Fur sales at a decline from May prices of 30%. The May prices were 15% below the February prices and it is said muskrat values in London never reached the high peak existing in this country. Skunk, mink, fox, seal, opossum, Kolinsky mink and wolf all sold from 40% to 50% lower than last spring. Black Bear 25% lower, brown bear 20% lower.

Last season about this time we were informed that prospects for the coming season were the brightest ever. I regret very much I cannot repeat this statement now.

Last season was the greatest the fur dealer or trapper ever witnessed and as I appreciated the business you turned my way, I feel that you should know the conditions of the present fur market. You may remember towards the close of last season's catch, the price was weakening and values started to break. Money was getting scarce among the large dealers, who were trying to hold the price up until all the furs offered them were bought. Banks called in their loans to dealers, and pre-war prices started labeling their high-priced goods, as it has, hides and wool, and is gradually creeping onto other articles in the low-price campaign. Fur workers same as shoe makers, have been on a strike most of the summer, and enormous accumulations of furs and hides from last season are on the market in the raw state yet, leaving a heavy burden on the dealers' hands.

All this means furs and hides must sell at a much lower price—many dealers will only buy at figures low enough to average down their expensive stocks of last season.

To make a long story short, you can figure about half as much on furs as you got last year, taking the time of the season in consideration and compare with this time last season—and I don't think you will be much out of the way.

I will be in the market same as ever this season. Call, write or telephone. Thanking you in advance, with best prices for your season collections.

Yours for business,
OLIVER DIX,
Salem, Mich.

FARMINGTON MAN HAS CAR STOLEN.

Clayton Walters, Farmington, Saturday night reported to the police he had lost his car from in front of the Howland theatre. He said it was taken while he and his family were in the theatre. Calls were sent out notifying all outside points to be on the watch for the car, which bore license number 295-176—Pontiac Press.

HOT SHOT.

There were two convicts, one in for stealing a watch, the other for stealing a cow. They disliked each other, and their conversation was full of innuendo. Thus the man who had stolen the cow said to the man who had stolen the watch: "Jim, what time is it?" "Milking time Joe."

The Soil Robber

Is the renter a criminal? There are plenty of people who will tell you he is. They'll say he's a blight, a national menace, a land-losing robber who is running the country. On the other hand there are folk like William Johnson, whose searching article on tenantry is coming in an early issue of

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

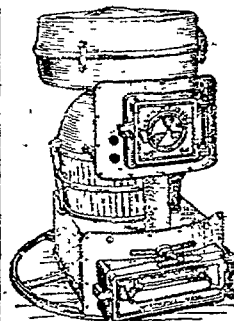

He says it's time we were getting a correct view of this important question—and then he carefully outlines that correct view.

He shows how tenantry has become almost the only way to land ownership in these days when land is high. He shows that the tenant, on the average, is a farmer of ability, who is enriching the farm he works and day to day, not a soil robber who sees no farther than immediate cash returns. You'll be interested in this splendid story—if not as a landlord or tenant, then as a friend of good farming practices. And you'll be interested, too, in the many other articles on tenantry that will come to you in the next 52 weeks, along with sound guidance every other farm problem and entertainment for the whole family—if you send me $1.00 today.
