WORKMEN'S TICKET

At the "Workingmen's" caucus held at the village hall on Monday evening, there was a large attendance. N. C. Schrader called the caucus to order and he was chosen chairman with S. E. Carlson as secretary and Mrs. Floyd Lanning and Conrad Langfield as tellers. Charles A. Dolph was chosen as a candidate for president, and Fred E. Vanatta, Fred P. Simmons and Charles L. Blackburn were nominated to succeed themselves as trustees by acclamation. Thomas E. Murdock was nominated to succeed himself as clerk without opposition and Ernest Miller was nominated for treasurer. Charles A. Sessions was again named as a candidate for assessor, an honor that has been conferred upon him for a number of years.

N. C. Schrader, Fred W. Lyke, Mrs. Ed Sessions and Mrs. F. S. Neal were named as committee for the ensuing year.

PEOPLE'S CAUCUS

The "People's" caucus was held on Tuesday night and was well attended. George Holting called the caucus to order and T. R. Carrington was elected chairman and Mr. Holting secretary.

Mrs. Helen Lanning and Otis Tewksbury were appointed tellers. The chairman stated it had been the custom of the "People's" party to present certain resolutions, and asked if it was the desire of the meeting to have a committee appointed for that purpose. A motion was made and carried to appoint such a committee and the chairman named M. S. MacEachern, F. V. Boles and Mrs. J. N. Valentine.

Willard Stark was nominated for president without opposition. John McHugh, Karl G. Bryar and A. G. Newman were nominated for trustees.

L. E. Vanatta was chosen as the candidate for clerk and Mrs. Flora Peterson was the successful candidate for treasurer. R. H. Baker was nominated without opposition for assessor.

The committee selected consists of George Holting, E. M. Ubart, Lee Shipley, Miss Ruth Gibbs and Mrs. L. D. Stagg, Jr.

The Committee on resolutions presented the following, which were adopted, unanimously:

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES.

The "People's" party of the village of Northville has always stood for the best interests of the people at large—workmen, business men and professional men, and their families—young and old rich and poor without distinction.

Though laboring under a heavy handicap during the past year, because of having elected only the minority part of our ticket, yet we have never relinquished our principles nor signed over the rights of the people to those who would subvert them.

Now, therefore, be it resolved in caucus assembled this 7th day of February, 1922, that we reaffirm our purpose to promote such enterprises and maintain such principles as shall result in the peace, prosperity, and advancement of our village and its citizenship—socially, economically, and morally.

Be it Resolved further that we specially give our adherence to the following:

1. We heartily approve the sewer system project for our village, and we pledge ourselves to carry the plans to a successful completion.

2. We realize the trend during the past few years to increased expenditures and the consequent increase in taxation which has worked hardship on many of the people of the village. We pledge ourselves, therefore, to conduct the affairs of the village with the utmost economy consistent with progress and efficient administration.

3. We welcome the women into the political affairs of the village, and seek their advice and co-operation in bringing those political affairs up to the high standard for which woman-kind has ever stood.

4. We deplore the situation obtaining here at the present time which is making Northville a by-word throughout the state, as a place where laws are, flagrantly and openly violated thus inviting to our midst the worst element in society instead of that element which stands for the best things in community and home life, and which makes for the greatest ultimate prosperity. We therefore, pledge ourselves without reserve to the enforcement of law, whether federal, state, or local; to the thorough moral cleansing of our village, and to the utmost vigilance in keeping it clean.

On the basis of these principles we appeal to every citizen of Northville who seeks the best interests of the village, who wishes to go forward and not backward, who believes in law-keeping, and law-enforcement instead of law-breaking, and we ask for their support in the coming election.

BIDS CAME WITHIN THE BOND LIMIT

The opening of the bids for the construction of Northville's new sewer system brought a large number of contractors from all sections of the country the first of the week. A total of nineteen bids were received by Village Clerk Murdock and these were opened and read at a meeting of the council on Monday evening. Besides the large number of contractors present the opening of the bids attracted a great deal of local interest and the hall was filled by an interested crowd of citizens as the several bids were opened and tabulated. The bidding was spirited and the fact that nineteen different firms desired to do the work indicates the competition there is in the market of sewer construction. Some bidders merely submitted bids for the construction of the sewage treatment plant and they ranged from $51,951.00 down to $24,750.00, the latter being the bid of Denison & Johnson of Saginaw, who were awarded the contract. Other bidders submitted bids for one section of the sewer system and still others submitted bids for the whole system. Some of the bids greatly exceeded the amount of the bond issue, while the bid of the Shulio Construction Co. of Akron, Ohio, who was found to be the lowest, was $60,429.50.

The total amount of the bids for the sewer system and sewage plant amounts to $151,550. To this amount must be added $1,000 paid for the land for the treatment plant and $4,750 which will be paid to the engineer, making a total of $100,909.50 for the system project. To this amount must be added some incidental expenses for advertising of contracts and bonds, leaving a good margin between the total cost of the system and the amount of the bonds voted.

At a meeting of the council to be held on Monday evening, February 10th, bids will be received for the sale of the bonds.

ANOTHER PIONEER PASSES AWAY.

In the death of Charles Seymour Seeley, mention of whose passing was made last week, Northville mourns the loss of another of its sturdy pioneer citizens. Born at Waterford on April 7th, 1845, he grew to manhood in this immediate vicinity and his whole life was spent in this township. For more than 35 years he followed the vocation of a farmer and stock-broker and a noted and popular figure among the people of the surrounding country. On February 11th, 1922, he was buried in marriage to Jessie Smitherman and to this union one child, a son, Harry P. Seeley, was born. Mr. and Mrs. Seeley were residents of Northville village for many years until about a year and a half ago when the son came to Detroit to spend the sum of their lives with them son.

Death came to Mr. Seeley on Tuesday, January 31st, his devoted wife and son being at his bedside when the final summons came, and to whom the tenderest sympathy of many friends are extended. Funeral services were held at Schrader Brothers' funeral parlors on Thursday afternoon last, being conducted by Rev. E. N. Beiles. Interment took place in Rural Hill cemetery.

OBITUARY: LEOPOLD SCHIELKEY.

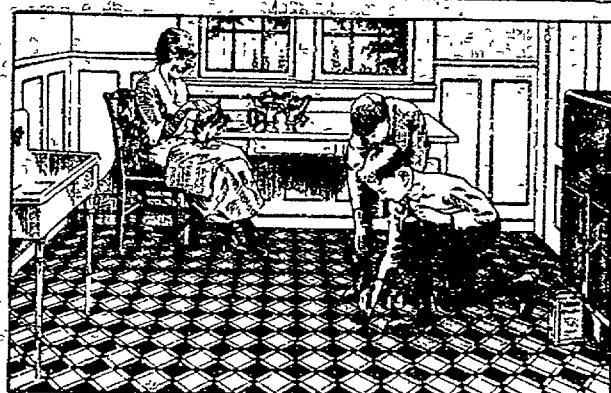

Leopold Schielkey, who resided in Northville for twenty-five years previous to moving to Plymouth, died on January 25th, aged 72 years. He is survived by his wife and three daughters—Mrs. Lizzie Baiko and Mrs. Elsie Kreiger of Northville and Mrs. Anna Thiemann of Plymouth.

Funeral services were held at Saturday, January 28th, and burial took place at the Wixom cemetery.

THIEVES CARRY OFF 500-LB. SAFE AT INKSTER.

Thieves entered the office of F. H. Ellerath & Son, coal and lumber dealers, in Inkster, on Thursday night, and carried off the 500-lb. office safe. In a nearby field they broke it open. They secured only a small amount of money from the strong box, but carried away with them office records, bank books, ledgers and other valuable papers. No clue. Dearborn Press.

Mr. Bryan notified the committee on Wednesday afternoon that he could not accept the nomination under any circumstances. The committee substituted the name of James N. Van-

Walled Lake Warbles.

After having lived in Walled Lake for a period of thirty-three years, Mrs. Cornelius Parmenter died at the home of her son, Fred Parmenter, on Thursday last, aged 81 years. Her husband died in 1906, and for a number of years she has made her home with her son, where she was kindly cared for. She is survived by two sons, Fred, and W. S. Parmenter, the latter residing in Pontiac. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 6:00 o'clock. Burial took place in the Walled Lake cemetery.

The Walled Lake consolidated school board, at a meeting held Wednesday night awarded the contract for the construction of the new consolidated school to W. S. Downs, of Pontiac, representing the Bloomfield Construction Co. The contract price was $76,800. The Downs bid was the lowest of 15 received. In bidding the successful contractor made three separate offers. For the completion of the school without the auditorium, his price was $73,000. For the school with auditorium erected, but not finished inside, his price was $75,000.

The contract finally awarded provides for the completion of the auditorium. Construction work was commenced Monday and the building will be completed April 15th. Thirty men will be employed on the work. The building will be the first of the new consolidated schools planned for the county to be put into operation.

Floyd Knapp has sold his interest in the poolroom to Mr. Herrenden of Pontiac.

STARVING IN THE MIDST OF PLenty IS EXPERIENCE OF WANT GROWING CHILDREN.

"We are all beggars sitting on bags of gold," is the maxim on which a certain recent popular novel is based, and in the same way, according to high-class health visitors, there are in this state many children who are starving though their homes are supplied with all the food they could want.

In the 1919 census, out of 1,441 children examined 359 were found to be suffering from malnutrition. Most of these children were in the well-to-do families on the child welfare plan. In fact, it did not get off right out of the gate. Children on the farm, in the city, in the suburbs, in the country, in the towns, with the exception of West Virginia, could be more easily fed on more nutritious vegetables and more grain of the ordinary variety. Among the general dietary kind, such as beans, legumes, cabbage, etc., are advised. Oranges, grapefruit, red beans should be more extensively used and all children should drink milk.

A general rule about malnutrition in our children is one of the most important uses of the spread of tuberculosis, and hence the Michigan State Board is anxious to take a deep interest in the subject.

MARGARET ANGLIN (OMH).

Brea bore the part of ne'er-do-well Margaret Anglin's play, "The Woman of Brigitte," will be coming to the Southgate Auditorium theater on Sunday night, February 12th, at a week's engagement. This is a present emotional drama, adapted from the French of Kistenmacher by Paul Kester. Its story is a triangular one in theme and concerns a sculptor, his wife, and the wife's cousin, Leonard Hunt is the sculptor competing for a million-dollar prize. His wife, Vivian Hunt (played by Miss Anglin) has been the source of his inspiration and his constant companion and co-worker during the long, struggling years of his career. To their house comes Vivian's young cousin seeking protection from her selfish father. She is the object of the attention of a rich financier and an honest youth but she is proud and disdainful. The evitable girl sets her cap for the sculptor, who promptly succeeds. Instantly Vivian's happiness and her husband's professional hopes are shattered to nothingness. The most crucial scene is in the second act where "Vivian" confides to a sympathetic friend the agony she is suffering while at the same time she keeps up her air of light-heartedness at the afternoon tea. But in "Hunt's" new liaison, his inspiration fails him. His masterpiece is unfinished. He cannot complete its crowning figure, the woman of bronze, who is to symbolize the suffering of the world. Suddenly in a flash he sees the expression in the face of his wife whom he has deserted and realizes with poignant despair that it is he who has printed that expression on the countenance of her he really loves.

Comments on the general condition of the automotive industry, just prior to the close of the year, the Boston News Bureau published the following, which was subsequently confirmed by Dodge Brothers:

"Because it is privately owned, relatively little in the way of figures ever appears in print concerning the activity of the Dodge Brothers motor organization of Detroit. Consequently its splendid and emphatic expansion in production this year and the maintenance even in recent weeks of a high output, which makes it one of the conspicuous bright spots of the industry, are not generally known outside of the trade."

Dodge Brothers in the third quarter of this year ranked next to Ford among the world's automobile producers, with a monthly shipment record of 11,000 cars. This average is nearly maintained within several hundred cars in October, an unusual achievement of unrelentant competition in the motor industry.

Considering that production for the first quarter of the year was down to 5,000 cars, less than one-eleventh of the same quarter in 1920, and less than any single month's subsequent production, that vitality of Dodge Brothers is apparent. The company should end the year with a final output of between 91,000 and 92,000 cars and probably hold its position as the leader of the industry next to Ford.

The heritage left by the Dodge Brothers is thus being splendidly upheld by the present management."

It is understood that Dodge Brothers finished the year with a total production of 92,476 cars, which is over 12,000 cars greater production than the next nearest competitor, not in the same class.

It is understood that Dodge Brothers

Northville and Plymouth basketball teams will meet at Plymouth this Friday night, and the fans in town are urged to accompany our teams.

Mrs. Dean Griswold, who recently underwent a serious operation at the Boys' Hospital, is getting along nicely and will soon be able to be out again.

D. B. Blakeslee of Redford is the new manager of the local office of the Northville Lampel & Coal Yard.

He will move his family to Northville next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elliott went to Grand Rapids Tuesday to attend the annual convention of the Michigan Hardware Dealers Association. They visited Mrs. Elliott's sister while in that city.

On Thursday evening, February 10, a radiophone concert will be given at the Methodist church, beginning at 10. The public is invited to come and hear the latest development of a wonderful invention.

Earl Trinkaus, a former Plymouth boy, has completed his new house in Northville and moved into his same Plymouth Mail. The residence is on S. Wing Street next door to Mrs. Trinkaus' father Bill Wood.

Bill Weinsberg, near the Northville Fair Grounds, will have a booth there Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. and will be on hand to demonstrate his unique "Ergo" chair which is perfect for health and comfort.

This is the first such chair ever made in the United States, and it is the result of many years of research.

Bill Weinsberg, a member of the Highland Park High School football team last Friday evening, February 4th, was in the orthopedic under direction of Mrs. Mary Anna Wallin, a former Northville girl.

Larry Brush, the medium, will be the next guest of the Corcoran's on Saturday evening. Russell H. Corcoran, 81, of Philadelphia, purchased this as a hobby, but it has become a great interest.

This is the first time he has ever been to Northville, and he will be here Saturday evening.

There is a wireless station from all sections of the country, and the stations are also.

These stations could greatly improve if all would pay their small bills as fast as possible. Large accounts are usually received, while small ones are held as open accounts.

To merchants and business people generally, it is everybody's desire to receive so many little accounts promptly, times would improve rapidly and business conditions would soon become much more settled and satisfactory.

At the basket ball game at Redford last Friday night Northville was represented by upwards of 200 fans—as large a delegation as Redford had—and the two games were greatly enjoyed. Our girls won easily, but the Northville boys seemed to be out of condition for some reason. They played a good, fast game, but were unable to make baskets with their usual skill and dash. Redford has a very fast team, and it is no discredit to be defeated by such a lively lot of players.

A special car conveyed the members of the teams and 100 rooting fans, many others went on the regular cars and by automobile.

A "special meeting" of the King's Daughters will be held at the home of Mrs. Noble on February 16th. A pot-luck lunch will be served.

The Pedro party announced for next Wednesday night, which was to have been given by the W. R. C. has been postponed until February 22nd.

The O. E. S. will hold a regular meeting on Friday evening February 17th. On account of the annual ball occurring on the same night, members are urged to go to the ball.

Promised at 8:30.

"The Old Oaken Bucket" a play in four acts, will be presented at the Alsenum theatre Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Under the auspices of the N. C. Chamber of Commerce. This play was given at Northville last year and ga

CARDINAL RATTI IS NAMED POPE

NEW HEAD OF ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH TAKES NAME OF PIUS XI.

O'CONNELL ARRIVES TOO LATE

Archbishop of Boston Reaches Rome One Hour After Pontiff Had Been Chosen by College.

Rome—Cardinal Achille Ratti, archbishop of Milan, was proclaimed elected Pope in succession to the late Benedict XV Monday morning.

He has taken the name of Pius XI. Cardinal O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, arrived in Rome at 12:40 o'clock Monday afternoon, an hour after the new pope had been elected.

The thousands waiting in front of St. Peter's for the wisp of smoke which would tell of the election of a new pope or the failure of the Sacred College to reach a decision gave a mighty shout at 11:33 o'clock when a thin wisp of smoke came from the chimney leading from the Sistine chapel. It was then known that the Catholic church had once more a duly elected pontiff.

As soon as the two-thirds vote for Cardinal Ratti had been verified, Cardinal Vanvitelli, as dean of the Sacred College, arose and proceeded to the throne of the chosen one, accompanied on either side by Cardinals Logue and Bisletti, respectively deans of the cardinal priests and the cardinal deacons.

He was asked in Latin by Cardinal Vanvitelli, in accordance with custom, if he accepted the election to be supreme pontiff, and the new pope answered with the formula: "Since it is the will of God, I must obey."

Then the purple canopies over the thrones of the cardinals were let down, one by one, until only that of the new pontiff remained. This was done to show that the whole sacred council rendered obedience to the new head of the church. Dean Vanvitelli thereupon asked the new incumbent what name he chose to take during his pontificate, and upon his reply, "Pius XI," Monsignor Sincero, secretary of the conclave, verified his election to the papal chair.

The new pope was then dressed in the ante room within the Sistine chapel, where he discarded his cardinal's robes, assisted by the conclavists and the papal vestments which had been held in readiness since the opening of the conclave, were placed upon him.

The pontiff, fully vested in the papal garb and accompanied by his cardinals, thereupon returned to the throne he had occupied in the Sistine chapel.

The "Fisherman's Ring" was placed on his finger, and he left the chapel, the whole assembly winding its way through the Sala Ducale and the Sala Regia, along the Loggias to the Sala Clementina, the pope's official residence. All along the way he received the homage of the attachés who served during the conclave.

President Tells Departing Delegates

It Is First Step Forward

Washington—The Washington conference on disarmament, in its truly great achievements, has taken the first big forward step toward the permanent outlawry of war and the establishment of universal peace and concord among nations.

President Harding made this statement Monday in his farewell address, delivered to the thirty odd world statesmen who had just concluded their three months' efforts by signing the conference treaties.

"The torches of understanding have been lighted," said the president, "and they ought to glow and encircle the globe."

The conference adjourned sine die at 11:45 a.m.

LARGE FUND BACKS SEARCH FOR SLAYER

MOVIE CONCERN WILL SPEND
$1,000,000 TO SOLVE DEATH
OF WM. D. TAYLOR.

SEVERAL SUSPECTS WATCHED

Mabel Normand, Last Person to See Director Alive, Tells Police Letters Have Disappeared

Los Angeles—A million dollar fund has been placed behind the hunt for the man or woman who Feb. 5 shot to death William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, for whom the slain man directed a number of stellar productions, has thrown his resources behind the search and it was reported here that one of the largest rewards ever offered for a slave would be posted. Taylor had previously been known in New York as William Deane Taylor. He disappeared in 1908, leaving a wife and daughter.

The Motion Picture Directors' Association, of which Taylor was president, has appointed a special financial committee to give aid in running to earth the director's assassin. It was said in some quarters that the reward would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A motion picture actor and camera man taken into custody here by police agents and questioned at length for possible clues to the murder of William Desmond Taylor, film director, established alibi for Wednesday night, the time of the slaying, and otherwise satisfied the officers of their innocence of all complicity and were released. Their names were not made public.

Another angle, was the story told by an associate of the dead director, that a former employee had been heard to exclaim, when he heard of the slaying, "Bill Taylor got only what he deserved."

The investigation showed, the police said, that this man had been employed by the Famous Players-Lasky concern working under Taylor, in a minor capacity.

One day he was drunk when he went on duty. Taylor ordered him to move it from the place. The next day the man returned only to find, in order from Taylor that he should not be admitted.

The police said they had broken a search for him.

Mabel Normand on Sunday said that a package letter written by her to Taylor at different times gets passed from her home. Miss Normand said that she were it in a few weeks ago.

The letter she said, was friendly in tone, and there was "nothing in there to be alarmed of." She was not particularly anxious for that disappearance, since the package placed much weight on this development, saying it was the first indication pointing to a possible motive for the shooting.

FORD BIDS IN LINCOLN PLANT

$8,000,000 Is Purchase Price; Fords and Islands Work Together

DETROIT—Production of automobiles will be set on an enlarged schedule it was announced Feb. 14 by officials of the Lincoln Motor Company following the purchase of the concern at yesterday's sale by Henry Ford for $8,000,000. The purchase price does not cover liabilities, and stockholders will lose all if it's paid.

Cars of from $800 to $1200 according to body type were made in the price of cars.

Production will be speeded. The Lincoln company will continue under management of the Islands, but will have the benefit of the tre, means purchasing power of the Ford organization.

The only bid submitted when William S. Savres, special master for the United States district court, opened the sale at 11 o'clock Saturday morning was that of Harold H. Emmons, acting for the Fords.

WORKS TO FREE WAR CONVICTS

Seeks Release for 113 Held for War Time Law Violations.

ST. LOUIS—Efforts are being made to release 113 prisoners now in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas, for alleged violation of the war time laws. Roger Baldwin, director of the American Civil Liberties Union of New York, has interviewed the prisoners with the permission of the department of justice.

Baldwin himself served a year's imprisonment for passive resistance to the draft.

Tourists Snowbound in California. Bakersfield, Cal.—Carrying provisions and clothing, a rescue party from Bakersfield succeeded in reaching 25 automobile tourists, isolated between Bakersfield and Los Angeles, by the blizzard which has been raging in the mountains. The marooned party had beenlodged in a ranger's cabin with only a smoldering fire, and with their food supplies exhausted. None was in a serious condition, according to officials reaching automobile club officials.

On the Edge of Civilization

BY HAROLD SINCLAIR.

Copyright 1924, Western Newspaper Union.

"I would die of fright," declared Netta Forbes, "I am sure I would. Why just think of it. Beauty way off on the very edge of civilization, wild animals, savages and mountain outlaws! No, thank you, not for me!"

"But David will be there," explained Beatrice Merrill, the bride of a week, and she spoke in a simple confident way that indicated her brave bright husband to be a power of valor and strength in her estimation.

"Well, that is a good deal," Taylor confessed. "Admittedly. But David can't be with you all of the time, can he? If he's going to be the greatest, the king he thinks he is, he must have a lot of work to do. I'm sure you will faint at the first sight of a fierce Indian, and so to those Indians—think of seeing them creeping—creeping through the grass, with their hideous tomahawks and scalping knives—ugh!" and the imaginative wife uttered in incipient hysterics.

Beatrice only smiled sweetly, optimistically.

And when the eventful departure came, every stage of the journey accomplished seemed to carry Beatrice into a new realm of delight. Then when a cavalcade of genuine cowboys came at last to escort to accompany them to the ranch their honest loyal admiration charmed the pretty bride and she felt that she was going among true friends.

"There are no bears," she wrote exultingly to Netta two weeks later. "The Indians are poor harmless creatures who come to the door begging only once in awhile, and make you glad to be able to be charitable. And the boys, dear, rough, honest fellows, who look around bashful and proud of their little sister as they call me, and who would die for me, if I asked them. And David—oh, so grand and splendid when he goes off on a horse that's right, like you!"

"As for the mountain outlaw—hobby. Once there was a few of them, but they have been driven off the trail. Come on and see me, and see what David looks like!"

David the day before had made a long trip and had gone off to a distance to negotiate for a new field. Met up with men had accompanied him. David had been given a horse. He had gone to Last Chance where he had not come alone.

Beatrice wrote again, her thoughts having turned with delight to a meeting she often attended, when her mother had come to the door, holding a package for her, to make inquiries about their young robin, sparrow and chick which had just hatched. The bird had been a real treasure, full of the rich morsels that the young bird was eating about a quarter of a dozen green flies, house flies, and gnats, and thorns in the diet there.

Then suddenly, without warning, a great, strong bear.

"I won't shoot," determined Beatrice. "Although I don't know what to do. Oh dear!"

Beating reflexes enabled the bear to make the little house, undeterred by the gun shot, and then to tear the last of the she could reach the house down the cellar door.

"What an effort to write to Netta about what a great thing to narrate to her husband!"

Beatrice hurried to get down the house rule from the gatherers over the dining room clock and placed it on the table. Then she got the axe from the yard. Next she added the poker to this warlike equipment.

About an hour later Beatrice heard the tramp of horses and the sound of human voices along the trail. Six mounted men came into view. Their leader doffed his hat as he drove up to the doorway where Beatrice stood.

"We are looking for a stray bear," he began.

"Oh, yes," announced Beatrice easily, "a great ferocious monster."

"Not at all—a harmless, toothless old animal escaped from the circus but valuable as a rich bed; and $100 offered for its capture."

"Why, what is this?" inquired David Merrill, as he and his hearty crowd sat down to the smoking supper that evening, and he found a little heap of bank notes under his plate.

Then Beatrice told her story, with dancing eyes. And David swung her up in the air and kissed her at its termination, while the enthusiastic cowboys gave "Huzz!" with an admiring echo for their brave "little sister."

When the Indian Ruled.

For generations before the white man came the Mississippi river was the dividing line between two great families of Indians, each including many tribes. The Sioux or Dakotas, who included the Missouri, the Otoes, the Kansas, the Iowas, the Sioux, the Winnebagos and many others were settled west of the Mississippi river to the Rocky mountains, north of the Arkansas river to the Platte, America, and west of the Pecos river. The tribes of the Algonquins held all New England, the northern states east of the Mississippi, and all of Canada. The Algonquins who were called Illinois, Chippewas or Delawares. Among the hundreds of tribes included in this family were the Seneca and Seneca, the Potawatamies, the Shawnees and the Kickapoos.

BASKET BALL—N. H. S. VS. BEAR-BORN H. S.

Last Tuesday our teams played Dearborn in the local gym. The girls met their first defeat of the season by a score of 17 to 8.

The boys easily won from their opponents Moffitt doing the starring for the local team. The final score stood 20 to 10, in Northville's favor.

FULTON'S WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS AGAIN WINNERS.

At the round-up poultry show held at the M. J. A. C. last week A. E. Fuller's flock again won high honors. Mr. Fuller was awarded grand champion cockerel and special for best cockerel in the show. When one realizes the number of high-class birds that are being shown, at Lansing this is a record to be proud of.

MINSTREL SHOW PLEASED ALL.

In the successful presentation of the minstrel show at the Alsium Theatre in Northville, right, the Foresters have again demonstrated that what they attempt to do well. An audience that filled every inch of available space in the theatre greeted the performers and every number on the program was received with hearty applause. The chorus of thirty voices was especially good and the orchestra under the direction of Wm. H. Cook, sounded greatly to the success of the whole affair. The individual numbers were well given and the program presented was a most creditable one.

The stage settings were especially attractive with their gay colored lights. W. H. Safford, as interlocutor, looked like a million dollars. The fire traps are very graceful to look at and added much to making the affair a wonderful success.

BASKET BALL AT REDFORD.

Last Friday night our basketball team went to Redford and lost with one victory and one defeat.

The girls game proved to be an easy victory for the Northville girls, who won by a score of 23 to 13.

The boys game, however, proved to be entirely different. In the first quarter the center, Miller Hall, was sent from the floor as a result of four personal fouls. Edgar Freydrich replaced him at center and Frank Freydrich at Edgar's position. The boys showed no headway during the entire game, but were continually scoring with "hard luck". An example of our hard luck was that the fellow made 12 baskets in as many trials. The ball always striking the edge of the basket and glancing off, rolling around the rim and then falling off to one side away from the center of the basket. At the end of the game the score stood 7 to 17, in Redford's favor. A large crowd accompanied our team to Redford. There were as many if not more Northville people in the gymnasium. Northville feels confident of defeating Redford when they play the return game at Northville.
