VOTED $4,500.00 FOR HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT

The annual township meeting was held at the Library building on Monday afternoon at two o'clock. Township Clerk Ernest Miller presided and Mrs. F. A. Northrop acted as clerk of the meeting. To more fully explain the plan proposed for highway improvement, as outlined in The Record last week, Superintendent Denniston of the Detroit House of Correction farm, was present and stated what the authorities of the institution were willing to do. The inmates of the farm can be employed on the highways of the township both in the construction of new highways and in maintaining and repairing present ones. Mr. Denniston stated that he believed that under this plan the township could build roads fully 60% cheaper than under any other arrangement he knew of. The men will be paid 50 cents a day from this charge and the balance will pay the expenses of board, guard, medical attendance and other expenses connected with the maintenance of the farm.

After Mr. Denniston had completed his talk the township board recommended that the sum of $4,500 be raised for highway improvement and the recommendation was adopted unanimously. The sum of $500 was appropriated for the road repair fund, and the board reported that there was a balance in the poor fund and the woodchuck fund sufficient to carry the township over for another year.

Mrs. C. R. Bentley moved that the sum of $300 be appropriated for the fund to employ a school nurse for the ensuing year and the motion was carried without opposition.

The amount voted for highway improvement is not in excess of the amounts that have been raised each year for a number of years past, Mr. Miller explained. He also stated that it was the belief of members of the township board that with the raising of $4,000 for the contingent fund that the township would be out of debt in another year. In years past it has been necessary for the township board to borrow money to meet the running expenses of the township and this has been an added expense. If nothing unforeseen occurs to require the expenditure of extra funds, it is hoped to shape matters so that it will not be necessary to make loans to meet the ordinary township expenses.

While the township board has not taken definite action in the matter it was the opinion of the members to improve South Center street this year, employing prison labor to do the work. If this plan works out satisfactorily other roads will, doubtless, be improved in like manner until all the highways of the township are put in good condition.

Monday was ideal election day and a good sized vote was polled in Northville township. For the first time in a good many years the republicans failed to elect their entire ticket. Joseph Montgomery, democratic candidate for highway commissioner, and Thomas E. Murdock, democratic candidate for member of board of review, defeating their republican opponents. The former won over M. A. Porter by 103 and the latter won over M. E. Atchison by six votes. There were 109 straight republican tickets and 101 straight democratic. The following is the result of the vote, the names of the republican candidates appearing first in the list:

HELD FITTING GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES.

The Methodist Episcopal church was comfortably filled last Friday afternoon by the people of this section who gathered to participate in the Good Friday services planned by The King's Daughters. Potted plants and flowers and bunting were used with pleasing effect in the decoration of the chancel rail and the whole service was one of inspiration and thoughtfulness. C. A. Dolph, on behalf of The King's Daughters, explained their connection with the service and expressed the appreciation of the community for their efforts. The Methodist choir led the congregation in singing a number of familiar hymns, Miss June Wilkins contributed a vocal solo, Rev. A. K. MacRae offered prayer, and Mrs. James N. Lewis of Detroit, made some fitting remarks in memory of Mrs. May Noble.

Rev. William Richards, pastor of the Methodist church, and who by the way has become in about six months the senior pastor of Northville, read the scripture lesson of the afternoon and gave the address.

The crucifixion of Jesus was the highest type of sacrifice the world has ever known, but it could not have been otherwise because the Master loved as no other human being has ever loved, and love means sacrifice. He so loved the world that he was willing to give his life—not for one particular part of the world or some particular sect or creed or people—but all the people, and who has ever given expression to love so bountiful and free. The speaker cited a number of instances which had come under his own observation where great sacrifices were made because the individuals loved greatly. He made a very fitting appeal for greater love and greater service in the every day affairs of life.

W. H. ELLIOTT & SON TO ENLARGE BUSINESS.

During the past week a great deal has been consummated by which W. H. Elliott & Son acquired the pool and billiard parlors and their equipment operated for a number of years by W. H. Tenney. As soon as the tables and other fixtures can be disposed of the interior of the building will be decorated and improved in general appearance and the waiting room and the confectionery department of the Elliott store will be moved to this location.

This will provide a lot more room in the present store and will afford Messrs. Elliott an opportunity to expand their stock and to arrange their store to meet their increased business more conveniently. Other lines will be added to the stock and present lines will be enlarged to meet the demands of the public.

The Elliott store has become a popular trading place for the people of this section and its growth and expansion has been most rapid and gratifying. Mr. Elliott started in business here only a few years ago upon a very meager scale but he has always endeavored to give the public good service and offered his patrons good merchandise with the result that his business has grown by leaps and bounds.

It will require some time to make the changes and improvements in the new store building and to rearrange the stock in the present store, but the public can rest assured that the contemplated expansion will prove a very great convenience to the people of this section.

NILES AND HOLLY WIN IN BASKET BALL TOURNAMENT.

Niles is again the state interscholastic basketball champion among the class B schools and Holly is the king of class C.

These schools won their titles in Waterman gymnasium at Ann Arbor Saturday night. Niles beat Alma in the final, 34 to 9, and Holly facing Carson City, 27 to 9.

Too much speed and versatility of Niles told against Alma. The west Michigan lads ranged up and down the floor at will and never let up a moment in their dashing play. It was Niles' game almost from the first tip-off.

Alma resorted to defensive tactics in the second half but its resistance did little more than hold down the winners' total.

Carson City put up a spirited battle against Holly but met too good a team. Holly's attack was clever and once within scoring range, it rarely failed to connect. Holly's able defense kept Carson City from penetrating close to the net.

Muskegon won first place in class A.

The Woman-Hater

By ELLA SAUNDERS

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union)

Mrs. Davenant, white, determined, faced her neighbor, Henry Slade, over the privet fence.

"You scolded my little boy and made him cry," she accused him.

"All right; you keep that little boy of yours off my flower beds," said Henry Slade.

"He just climbed over to get a ball." "Climbed through and ruined my prize nasturtium. Children ought to be looked after properly."

"You're just a mean, miserable old man," said Mrs. Davenant, turning away because she was not going to let him see her cry.

Henry Slade winced, but he turned away in time to prevent her seeing it. He was not really so old—in the late forties, perhaps, but all the town knew he was a crusty old bachelor, whom even his charming neighbor had failed to soften.

"That's the woman all over," muttered Slade, as he went to repair the runs of his flower-bed. "What that little widow wants is some fool of a man to carry her and keep her in order."

Certainly things had been badly stained between them since Mrs. Davenant and her little son rented the house next to the Slade place. Henry Slade had lived so long in solitude, since his unhappy love affair of long ago, the sound of the girlish laughter and the boy's prattle were a perpetual reminder of what might have been.

And he had been harsh with the child. He knew that. A few days later, looking up from his flowers, he saw the child's figure at the gap in the hedge.

"Hello!" he said.

"Mummy says I'm not to go near you."

"Why not?"

"Cos you're a cross old man."

The boy developed a fascination for seeing his neighbor working. The next day Slade looked up and saw him at the gap again. He beckoned mysteriously, and the child went forward timidly.

"Do you like candy?"

The boy looked at it. "Tain't poisoned is it?" he said, as he took it.

"Of course not. And she—your mother—tell you that?"

"Yes, she says I'm not to go near you."

"Oh, thank you so much for the candy you gave Dicky."

"So you told him I'd give him poisoned candy, did you?"

"Nothing of the kind, Mr. Slade."

"Humph! You let him think so."

"I didn't. You are a suspicious person."

"I think the trouble with you is you've been shut away from the world so long that you've become a regular human being hater."

Henry Slade crimsoned and turned away. Mrs. Davenant ran to his side.

"—I didn't mean that," she said.

"Forgive me. And—can't we be friends?"

Mr. Slade.

Henry Slade hesitated then put his broad palm out and took Mrs. Davenant's little one. And after that they said good morning over the hedge and Danny spotted the flower beds at his sweet will.

There came a day when Slade missed Danny. Next day he felt as if some thing had gone out of his life when the house remained silent. They had not gone away, but—why, there was the doctor's car!

He hurried to the door after the doctor had gone. Mrs. Davenant was weeping. "It's poor Dicky," she said.

"He's in such pain, and—seeing for you all the time. I was going to ask you—won't you go up to him? It's not infectious for grown ups."

Henry Slade mounted the stairs. There on the bed lay Danny, flushed and moaning.

"I want the cross old man who gave me candy," he kept crying.

"Hush, darling, here he is!" said his mother.

All that day Henry Slade sat by the bedside, holding the little hand. The doctor found him there and raised his eyebrows ironically. Next day it was touch and go. On the third day Danny was smiling up at Slade, conscious.

The fever left no paralysis, and during convalescence Henry Slade discovered that he had an inexhaustible reservoir of stories about pirates, and fairies. The two were inseparable.

"Then I came the day when Slade said—"

"Well, I guess I won't be needed any more now he's up and about. I suppose he'll be breaking down my privet hedge again tomorrow."

He held Mrs. Davenant's hands, and the look in her eyes suddenly awakened him to realities.

"Come whenever you like," she said softly.

"It will be to see—you, then," said Henry Slade.

On His Way.

"Mose, what would you do if you received a letter from the Ku Klux Klan?" a local negro was asked.

"Well, sah, I'd read it on a train," replied Mose.

Soulful Sympathy.

"Oh," she wailed, "why did Fate deprive me of my first dear, kind, considerate husband?"

"There, there," he said consolingly, "try to bear it bravely. I'm just as sorry as you are."

GAVE TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL BANQUET.

If Northville does not hurry and secure a community memorial building of sufficient dimensions to accommodate a large crowd, the Foresters will have to hold their annual banquets in the good old summer time, when the people can gather out of doors. Foresters' hall was filled to its capacity last Friday night on the occasion of the twenty-first annual banquet given by Com. Northville and if there was any one person who did not get a good dinner and have a good time afterwards something must have been the matter with their appetite or with their ability to enter heartily in the spirit of the gathering.

Committees had labored untiringly for days in preparation for the annual affair and their faithfulness was rewarded by the great success of the undertaking. The weather conditions were ideal and the people began to gather about six o'clock, and owing to the splendid plans made by the several committees the guests did not have to wait long before dinner was announced. The rooms was a bower of beauty with its countless streamers of red, white and blue paper which were draped in a very attractive manner. The tables were resplendent with their white linen, sparkling silver and their appearance was most inviting. The dinner was bountiful and the menu was all that could have been desired.

After the large company had been served the tables were cleared away and Peter Perkins' orchestra furnished music for dancing. Those who did not care to dance spent the time visiting and renewing acquaintances. The children were there in large numbers and no one enjoyed the gathering more than the little ones who have learned to look forward to the annual event with as much enthusiasm and pleasure as their parents and other grown up folk.

The Foresters are to be congratulated upon the success of their twenty-first annual spread. The committee in charge of the affair planned well and all who attended are generous in their praise of their hospitality.

THIEVES ROB D. U. R. AT FARMINGTON JUNCTION.

Cash fares estimated at more than $1,000 were stolen between 4 and 4:30 a. m. Friday from the D. U. R. office at Farmington Junction.

The theft occurred during the absence of George Francis of Farmington, who was on duty that night as car house foreman and dispatcher. At 3:55 a. m. he had to take a car from the junction to the village to pick up members of crews of the first cars leaving the Junction Friday morning.

When he returned at 4:30 o'clock he found the money, which he says he had locked in a tin cash box and placed in a larger mail box, had been stolen. The broken panel of an inside door leading to the office, had been removed, he declares, and the thieves were thus able to open the inside latch from the outside. About $200 in small change in unlocked drawers in the office, was not disturbed.

Francis is the night dispatcher who was on duty at the same office February 6, 1922, when two armed bandits held him up and escaped with more than $1,100 of the company's money. He has been a D. U. R. employe since 1911, and is married and lives in the village of Farmington.

The cash box containing $1,227.09 was found Friday night a half mile from the office on the North Farmington road by Mr. Francis.

The cash was found by Francis after he had offered, in Sheriff James S. Butler's office, to return to Farmington with officers to help them search for it. At the time he found the money he was accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Claude Wilson, of Farmington. The box was wrapped in an old bag, and was not locked.

Pontiac—Ross Chamberlain, 33 years old, was probably fatally hurt just before noon Friday on his father's farm, a mile and a half northeast of Waterford, when a attached to a manure spreader ran away.

THE DINING ROOM FURNISHED IN OAK

The use of a small amount of vivid color to relieve an otherwise neutral color scheme is one of the cleverest effects achieved by the modern decorator. Take, for example, this dining room furnished in oak, with the new silver-gray rabbit finish. A lovely wicker tray, decorated with orange poppies on a black background hangs over the buffet. Two areas of translucent glass, shading from pale yellow to deep orange, decorate the buffet top. The draperies are of gray shantung, lined with orange. Japanese grass cloth in a gray shade, with just a suggestion of orange, covers the walls and a two-toned rug of gray completes the picture.

Sunday was the coldest Easter Michigan has experienced in a great many years. In the central and northern portion of the state it was a white Easter and the "whiteness" was several feet deep in places.

In spite of the backward weather conditions Easter was fittingly observed by the people of Northville. Special services were given in the churches and they were enjoyed by a large number of people.

About six o'clock last Thursday night fire was discovered in the roof of the barn at the Dr. Dan Henry home and an alarm was turned in.

Quick response to the alarm and good work soon had the fire under control. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Langford spent Sunday with their son, Conrad Langford at Roosevelt hospital, Battle Creek.

It is planned to have an exhibit for every firm or individual that manufactures any article for sale, and it is believed the exhibition will prove most interesting to the public and of benefit to those who make the displays.

The final rehearsals for the doughboy minstrels to be given next Wednesday night at the Alcega theatre under the auspices of Lloyd H. Green Post, American Legion, are being held this week. A splendid program has been arranged and the parts have been well assigned. From first to last there will not be a dull moment and if you enjoy a good laugh you should attend. SETTING OUT ON AN UNMARKED

TRAIL

There was a day when our town was a part of the great west—when New Yorkers and others viewed Michigan as the land of promise—the pioneer days. Those happy men and women of 100 years ago felt called to try their fortunes in a new land.

Back in Chaldea—the city of Ur lived Abraham—an energetic, ambitious Semite 3800 years ago.

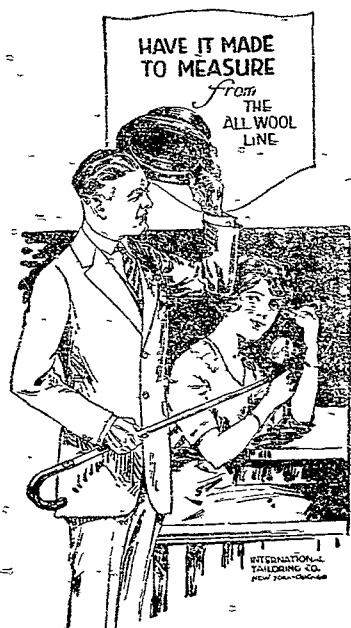

Abraham felt the urge that pioneers have—he was called to go on an untried venture—to found a new nation—to establish the worship of one god—to teach the truth of his clan and tribe.

Abraham—by faith—did as he was told—and was the means of turning world energies into new and better channels.

What Abraham did—has been a direct benefit to you and his life will be honored until the end of eternity.

It's like having two suits in one—and at a very small additional cost.

There's another way to look at it too. International made-to-measure clothes are so low in price compared to the high standard of quality that the extra trousers are practically a gift. In other words a suit of similar quality to the International bought elsewhere would cost you as much if not more than a suit and trousers ordered here.

SPEEDERS MUST MAKE LARGER DEPOSITS.

Speeders in Oakland county this season will be well to keep their eyes on the motor cops. W. A. Putnam, head of the county motorcycle squad recently said "This year the motor vehicle laws will be more stringently enforced in Oakland county than ever before. The tremendous increase in traffic and possibility of accident makes such a course imperative. We shall also require all offenders to deposit a minimum of $25 for their appearance in court or leave their machines. Too many in the past have made smaller deposits and failed to appear when they promised."

A LETTER FROM FLORIDA.

Daytona Beach, Fla., Mar. 28, '23.

Editor Record:

Dear Friend: Enclosed find check for my subscription to Record, which is past due. Thank you for getting so prompt in sending it, as I get it every Monday morning and we sure enjoy reading it, as it is from Northville. It has been reported that I have been awful lonesome and homesick down here, but don't know how I could be, living in such a climate as this. We are living on a beautiful drive between the Halifax River and the ocean, which has the most wonderful beach in the world. It is 22 miles long and about 500 feet wide at low tide with hundreds of people and autos driving every day. I didn't know I had so many friends in Northville till after the mail began to come. I have had some very interesting letters from our good president, Mr. Dolph, and the members of the council. I think Northville is very fortunate to have a president like Mr. Dolph, as no man could have worked harder or done more for the interest of Northville than he has had. He should have been re-elected without a dissenting vote. It was not my intention to let my name run any longer for trustee, as I felt I had served my time on the village council, as I have been a member for 10 years, and thought it was about time some one else would put their shoulder to the wheel, as it has got to be a real man's job. It used to be an easy matter to put $5,000 to $8,000 in the budget to run the village needs, but now as the people vote over $100,000 for improvements, and then sit back and blame the council for high taxes which they are not to blame for. The people want improvements, which is all right—no different from any other town. The people vote for it and there is no other way to get it; but to have the assessor spread it on the tax roll. The president and council figure all the year how to spend it to the best advantage. I wrote President Dolph telling him I didn't want my name to run, but as I have been elected, I want to thank my friends for the support they gave me. On account of my health and other things, I had in mind, I should much rather not have been elected at this time, but when I get home, if I don't resign, I'll give Northville the best there is in me as I have always tried to do, and that will be before long as I expect to be rolling towards Northville on April 12th, and will get there about the 25th. We haven't had much time to get homesick, as there have been quite a few Northville folks here to see us and they sure all looked good too. There were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Calkins and son, Elmer, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lafferty, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hills, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Willis, Mrs. Willis, Andrew Houk, Starr Root, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Schrader and daughter, Reva, Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Ely, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Eckles and Fred E. Fenn and family.

I expect to see you all soon. From your friend
S. MONTGOMERY AND FAMILY

WALLED LAKE THREATENED BY GRASS FIRE.

Only the persistent efforts of the entire population of the village Monday saved the cottage colony along the southwest shore of Walled Lake, from total destruction by forest fire. Fanned by a brisk wind, the fire, which had originated in a believed from a spark from a Pere Marquette locomotive swept over nearly 500 acres of Daniel Bentley's subdivision and for many hours threatened not only the summer colony but the entire village.

Hundreds of persons fought the flames with flames of their own making, seeking to stop them by back-firing. Chemicals were also used freely. From 10 in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon the villagers battled with the fire, and managed to confine it to the swamp wood and grass of the surrounding fields.

Although no one was injured, one group of 10 men narrowly escaped serious injury or perhaps death when a wall of flames 15 to 20 feet high suddenly swept toward their section of the battle ground. Warning shouted by others reached them in time and all escaped only slight discomfort.—Pontiac Press

Lyons are the speakers and the musical numbers are given by the Milford and South Lyon Presbyterian Sunday schools.

A GREAT WASTE OF MONEY.

Work will soon be started on the first unit of the hospital to be erected by the federal government at Camp Custer, near Battle Creek, and it is estimated that the structure and annexes will cost upwards of $7,000,000. If one-half of this sum had been appropriated for buildings and the other half given to the soldier boys who are in need it would seem to be a little more humane.

Work of wrecking the buildings at Camp Custer is going on at a pace and great piles of material are being accumulated. Among the salvage are a lot of bath tubs and bath room equipment that has never been used. Just why these should have been sold for a mere pittance to the wrecking company when the government will have to turn right around and buy the same things for the new hospitals explains to some extent, at least, why government expenses are high. Private individuals would have saved many thousands of dollars worth of material from the buildings at Camp Custer that could have been used to great advantage in the erection of the new hospital buildings.

The Oakland county road commission has revised its order regarding motor truck loads so that three-fourths of a normal truck load, with a maximum of 7½ tons, is now permissible. The Genesee road commission makes the same ruling.

May S. Briggs, formerly a resident of Plymouth, but for the past thirty years a resident of Detroit, died of apoplexy, March 26th.

WORLD MARKETS OPEN FOR MICHIGAN CROPS.

Recent shipments of Michigan seed grain to England and other European countries have definitely established the state crops on the world market for his quality seed stocks.

Certified seed of leading Michigan varieties has been in demand in neighboring states for several years, the value of the local strains being demonstrated over an ever widening area. Rye, oats, potatoes, beans and other crops are included in the list of prominent Michigan stock which is winning a high place in the world's list of approved crops.

Chief among the other states which have taken large shipments of certified seed this year are Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, New Hampshire, Minnesota, and California.

EUGENE O'BRIEN AT THE GAR- RICK.

The out-of-town theatregoers and picture fans are sending in an unusual amount of money orders for seats for the engagement of Eugene O'Brien,
the famous stage and screen lover,
who will be seen at the Garrick commencing next Sunday evening,
under the direction of George H.
Gatts, who is responsible for the triumphant return to the speaking stage of Mr. O'Brien (in person) in a delightful romantic love thrill entitled, "Steve" by Robert L. Dempster.
Eugene O'Brien received some great offers for screen work but the moment he read the manuscript of "Steve,"
he had no hesitancy in accepting the contract to star in this new play which is in three acts with the scenes laid on an island off the coast of Maine, which place is gorgeously picturesque with an historical significance.
The fact that the scenes were laid in such an unusual place costs a surprising figure to reproduce, as a noted color artist and designer were sent to the location with Mr. Dempster where a perfect and detailed drawing was made from which the scenic equipment was built. The star has been surrounded with a perfect cast headed by Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, the youngest old lady of the stage, and comprising such well known players as Vivian Ogden of "Way Down East" fame,
Helen Weir, Ann Winston, Isabel
Whinlock, Peggy Whiffen, Homer
Barton, F. D. Penwarden and others of note. The entire production was made under the personal direction of Laura Hope Crews. The dramatic critics of Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Buffalo praised the play and players in the highest terms.
Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday.

RECORD LINERS PAY—TRY ONE.

The Prize-Winning Dress

By JOHN PALMER

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union)

"Here you are, Miss Firth. Take it up to Mrs. Embridge's tonight; she wants it for the ball tomorrow, and I've promised her."

Emmy Firth looked at the delicate fabric, which in its carmine and blue, wrapped the dress, a layer around it, and then the sheep. Her heart was beating. Two hundred dollars, for a ball dress and she was going to the Sons of St. Patrick's dance in the night in the cheap,
second-hand thing she had scrounged and saved to purchase. And Pat would be there.

"What would Pat think of her? She knew the dress looked ridiculous on her, and—Pat had almost told her he loved her."

On the way up town an awful temptation assailed her. Mrs. Embridge did not want her dress until the next night. She could wear it herself—it fitted her to perfection—and deliver it early the following morning.

And she did so want to look well
at the dance, and to win Patrick's admiration.

Almost unconsciously her feet took her out of the elevated at her own station, instead of staying on and waiting till she reached Mrs. Embridge's Home. In another minute she was flying down the stairs and on her way to her boarding-house.

"I'll do it! It doesn't do any harm.
And I've a right to look decent for once," she thought.

The Sons of St. Patrick's dance was under the patronage of a number of West side social leaders who were interested in civic reform. The Sons were a new organization with an "uplift" tendency.

Emmy put on the dress and surveyed herself in the cracked mirror of her hall bedroom. She hardly knew the radiant girl who looked back at her. Originally she had wavered between wearing the dress and just putting it on but there was no irresolution now.

Hasily slipping her old coat over it, she went out and took the car down town.

The dance hall was crowded. Upon a sort of dais at the end, near the musicians, the society leaders were congregated. Emmy saw Pat in a moment. He stared at her in amazed admiration.

"Emmy," he muttered, drawing her arm through his. "Say, we'll take the prize for the best fox trotters for sure."

"Are there prizes, Pat?" gulped Emmy.

"Sure. Fifty berries for you and me. Come in handy, won't it, little girl?"

Emmy could hardly believe Pat had said that. He explained a few minutes later.

"I've got my eye on the finest little three-room apartment downtown. Emmy," he said. "So, as soon as you'll say the word—what's it to be?"

"Oh, yes, I suppose, Pat," Emmy quavered.

"And we'll best win that fifty," said
Pat. "That'll come in handy for a nice little nest egg. Why, Emmy, there ain't a girl in the room's a patch on you for looks. Come on!"

They circled the dance hall, watched by the judges. It was as Pat had said, nobody looked like Emmy, and certainly no one danced like Pat. At the interval the prize winners' names were read out. Pat had entered Emmy and they won—not the first, but the second prize, of twenty-five.

When they went up to the dais to receive it, Emmy nearly fainted with horror. There, offering the prizes, as large as life, stood Mrs. Embridge and Mrs. Embridge was staring, first at the girl's face and then at her gown and then at her face again. Emmy nearly sank through the floor.

"What's the matter, darling?" asked Pat, as he saw her home. "Too hot for you in there?"

"I—I guess that must be it, Pat. I feel out of sorts like," said Emmy.

That night the awful vision of a rest passed before her eyes. The delicate, pearl-gray dress was quite unmistakable. She cried into her pillow bitterly. She would lose Pat now, go to jail, unless—unless she could induce Mrs. Embridge to forgive her.

At half-past eight she rang the bell and timidly asked if she could see Mrs. Embridge. A moment later that lady swept into the hall.

"Please, madam, it's your dress from Madame Stahl's," faltered Emmy.

"Why, you're the girl that won the prize last night!" exclaimed the other.
"Madam, I—I want to beg—"

"You tell Madame Stahl I've decided to take the other dress, and I'll be obliged if she'll send it up by twelve o'clock," said Mrs. Embridge. "She told me this was an exclusive model,
and I saw one like it yesterday."

Emmy raised her banging head, and suddenly seemed to see a gleam of humor in Mrs. Embridge's eyes. Was it there? Or was it imagination?

"Oh, yes, I'll tell her madam," she tattered, and hurried out of the house with her parcel.

Consistent Publicity.

"Why do you retain this press agent?"

"He's such an uncompromising fellow," said the star.

"Eh?"

"No matter how often grasping managers reduce my salary, he resolutely declines to lop off any ciphers from the weekly stipend he regards as my just due."

Enuresis (Bed-Wetting) and Enuresol Tablets

Incontinence of urine in adults, commonly known as bed wetting in children, is more common in boys than in girls. Incontinence of bed wetting has been considered incurable when it persists beyond maturity.

Incontinence of urine is more common in women than in men. Constant or very frequent urination, day or night, indicates some abnormal condition or disease.

Enuresis may be caused by paralysis, the secretion of a large amount of urine, as in diabetes, calculus (gravel) cystitis, irritation, worms, unduly sound sleep, dreams or gastric disturbances.

It is claimed by many people that bed-wetting will be outgrown. This is true to a certain extent, bed-wetting may stop but the cause remains.
ENURESOL TABLETS removes the cause of which bed-wetting is only a symptom.

The theory has been proven correct by the uniformly good results obtained with ENURESOL TABLETS in young and old as the following typical cases from our records show, names of which will be furnished upon request.

R. D., Minnesota: Girl, age 14 years, had always been a bed wetter although apparently well otherwise. Her parents tried many treatments, medical and mechanical, without benefit. Seven weeks after beginning to use ENURE-SOL TABLETS she stopped wetting the bed but continued the treatment six weeks longer and she has had no return of the trouble since.

R. G., Wayne, Michigan: Boy, 11 years. Three years ago his mother ordered four boxes of ENURESOL TABLETS and four months later reported the boy had not wet the bed for six weeks, and since reports the trouble has not returned.

Mrs. W., Milwaukee, Wis.: Age 44 years had never had a full night's sleep having to get up four to eight times a night. Visited Hot Springs and baths, sanatoriums and was operated on twice in two different hospitals without benefit. Six weeks of ENURESOL cured her completely, three years ago, and has had no return of the troublesome nuisance.

E. J., Minnesota, 75 years old, is no less interesting. For over 25 years F. J. suffered with incontinence of urine, day and night. As he grew older the trouble increased, having to pass water every half hour or oftener. Had a stroke of paralysis which increased the trouble to such an extent that only a few drops of bloody urine could be voided with intense pain, causing surgeons to suspect cancer of the bladder. Being placed on ENURESOL at the dose of two tablets every two hours with a glass of cool water or milk, the troubles disappeared in twelve hours and he had a good restful sleep the next night and fully recovered perfect health in the next three months. Mr. F. J. is now 85 years old and at last report was still alive and well.

It is important to regulate the diet, and overeating, coffee and acid foods should be used sparingly.

ENURESOL TABLETS are absolutely safe and harmless, being a tonic for the kidneys, bladder and nervous system.
It is dependable for weak, nervous, restless, slow-growing, languid children.
A fair trial of ENURESOL TABLETS will convince you of their value.

FORD NEAR 6,000 CARS DAILY

The Ford Motor Company on March 22, made a new high record in production when 5,966 motor cars and trucks were turned out. The previous high record was made on March 19, when the day's output was 5,759.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL WHAT A FORD WILL DO.

George Morfous stated Wednesday evening that while he was driving to work at the Ford plant at River Rouge the rear axle of his car broke off about eight inches from the wheel. He stated he was driving about 35 miles an hour, but managed to keep his car in the road until it stopped several hundred rods down the road. He was accompanied by John Mott and Stubby Haight and they all went back to look for the wheel. They searched the ditch and side of the road three different times. At last the wheel was found over in a farmer's yard several hundred feet from the scene of the accident.

The Ford wheel had run around ahead of the car, crossed the ditch over in the farmer's yard, went around the back of the farm house, circled a chicken coop and came up against an apple tree, where it stopped. Ypsilanti Record.

NOVI REPUBLICANS LOSE ONE OFFICE

Monday's election in Novi township attracted more than ordinary interest with the result that a good vote was polled. There were a number of elements that entered into the contest, but the republicans succeeded in electing their entire ticket with the exception of Jay D. Hazen, candidate for member of board of review, who was defeated by Ruel W. Lambert by six votes. The following is the result of the vote: Supervisor Fred W. Durfee 196, Alexander Christensen 145, Earl Banks 219, Eugene Verdun 119, treasurer, Frank D. Clark 213, Jay Leavenworth 126, highway commissioner William Mairs 195, Eugene Root 144, justice of the peace Charles Harmon 205, Frank C. R. 137, constables Louis P. OTIS TEWKSBURY'S RESIDENCE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Last Saturday morning fire was discovered in the roof of the residence owned by Otis Tewksbury on North Center street and an alarm was turned in. The department responded quickly and neighbors rushed to render assistance, but the failure to get water permitted the flames to get beyond control and the building was completely destroyed. Fortunately nearly all the contents were removed.

It seems that the hydrant at the corner of North Center and Yerkes streets was damaged when the sewer was put in last season, but the fact had never been reported to the superintendent of the water works.

Mr. and Mrs. Tewksbury lost a number of personal effects, clothing, jewelry, etc., but they were fortunate in having both the building and its contents insured. They are fitting up the garage on the premises and will make their home there while they are building a new home, plans for which they are now preparing. They are very grateful to their neighbors and friends for their assistance and they especially desire to express to the firemen their sincere thanks for their promptness and their faithfulness in trying to subdue the flames and in removing their household goods.

GAVE HELPFUL TALK.

Charles A. Ward, representing the Detroit Board of Commerce, was the luncheon guest of the Exchange club on Wednesday and he gave a very interesting and helpful address. It was his first visit to Northville and he was greatly pleased with what he saw while here. He made a special appeal for civic co-operation and declared that streets and buildings and public parks, as splendid as they all are, don't make a village or a city, but they are made by the people who live in these communities that really make them. He urged his hearers to render to this particular community a service that will be helpful to all the people. Such service will bring its own reward. In the evening of April 15th the club will receive its charter and its emblem, the presentation to be made by Past National President H. S. Earle of Detroit. A number of surrounding towns will be represented at the ceremonies.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

ALSEIUM THEATRE

"THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH"

Friday and Saturday
Matinee at 2:30, Saturday
Besides all the beloved characters that step from the printed pages of Longfellow's immortal poem to real life "The Village Blacksmith" contains unusual gripping scenes, spellbinding entertainment of an exceptional standard. There is a realistic train wreck, a vivid storm, conflict between the smithy and his traders, good, human, man-to-man fights, and over it all is the very human spell of the young lovers and the humorous types of a small town.
Matinee, 10c and 15c.

"POVERTY AND RICHES"
A picture women will never forget. The greatest problem-picture of the age. It wings straight to the heart of every man and woman in the world. A thrilling drama built about the eternal quest for happiness. The elemental clash between man and woman, with happiness as the prize. Are the poor ever rich? Are the rich ever poor?

Thursday Night, April 12th

"EXPERIENCE"
Don't miss this wonderful picture. The story of a young man who heard the call of beauty and pleasure and followed the road to destruction. See him win his way back to the path of love and happiness.

To meet the demands of the public and to meet the competition of surrounding picture houses, I have decided to open the Alseium theatre on Sunday nights, beginning with April 15th. This action is not entirely of my own choosing, because I would much prefer to close on Sundays as I have in the past, but a great many people in this vicinity, regular patrons of the theatre, go to other towns on Sunday nights to be entertained with pictures. To meet this demand I have decided to book attractions of a high order for presentation on Sunday nights in the future.
