NORTHVILLE MADE GOOD SHOWING AT MONROE.

About fifteen members of the Northville Exchange club attended the semi-annual meeting of the Michigan Affiliated Exchange clubs at Monroe on Monday and took part in the parade in the afternoon. Farmington and Northville "bunched" their membership for the parade and the members and their ladies carried canes and wore attractive paper hats, two of the members being attired in female costume and the local contribution to the procession attracted as much attention and received more cheering and hand clapping than any of the other delegations represented.

The forenoon program had to be changed owing to the rain, but the clouds lifted by noon and the afternoon was bright and sunny. The ladies visited the County Club and were entertained at St. Mary's College during the morning hours, while the men paid visits of inspection to Monroe's wonderful paper mills.

The visitors were served luncheon at the various churches of the city and the ladies were served at the Masonic temple. The parade started at about two o'clock and the principal residence and business streets were traversed and all the thoroughfares were lined with people the day having been declared a holiday in the city. The schools and business places being closed for the afternoon. Members of the Monroe Exchange club and the citizens of the Rose City certainly did all within their power to make the gathering a success.

In the evening the great company gathered in the out-of-doors at Bowles Harbor on the shores of Lake Erie where a "home talent" entertainment was given, a number of the Exchange clubs of the state competing in the acts for liberal prizes offered by the local committee. Redford Exchange club carried off the honors of the evening and was awarded first prize for the splendid minstrel show given. Other towns competing were Adrian, Jackson, Highland Park, Toledo, Bay City, Ann Arbor. Adrian was awarded first prize for the best floats presented in the parade, the Maple City presenting two that were very attractive, and the Adrian club was represented "to the last man," one of the members being conveyed in the parade in an ambulance.

The entertainment given by the pupils of St. Mary's College was of a very high order of musical excellence. A symphony orchestra of 35 young women and a chorus of upwards of 90 voices furnished a delightful program, while a very cordial welcome was extended the visitors by a young woman of the senior class.

The gathering, in spite of the threatening weather in the morning, which, doubtless, kept some clubs at home, was a very gratifying success and was filled with enthusiasm and good cheer.

LADY MACCABEES OBSERVED MEMORIAL DAY.

On Wednesday afternoon officers and members of the Lady Maccabees met at the home of Mrs. August Wagner and when all had arrived marched to Oakwood cemetery where the graves of departed members of the order were strewn with flowers. The procession was again formed and proceeded to Rural Hill where a similar service of love was rendered at a number of graves, a total of 30 graves in our silent cities being decorated during the afternoon. After the flowers had been placed upon all the graves the company gathered at the grave of Mrs. Theodore Wood, who passed away a few weeks ago, where the very impressive memorial service of the order was given.

The afternoon was an ideal one for the out-of-door services and the beautiful flowers placed above each silent mound were an assurance that the departed sister had not been forgotten amid the common every day affairs of life.

TOLEDO IMPROVING ITS MERCHANDISE SERVICE.

Largely through the untiring efforts of L. G. Macomber, traffic commissioner of the Toledo Chamber of Commerce, the merchandise service to and from that city is being improved. Under present arrangements merchandise can be shipped from Toledo to Northville by electric freight in one and a half days and by the Pere Marquette railway in less than two days. Other towns in Michigan and in states surrounding Toledo have also been benefitted by the new arrangement and the promptness with which merchandise purchased there is handled.

W. F. Macomber is visiting his son, L. G. Macomber, in Toledo, Ohio.

PLYMOUTH WON THE COUNTY FIELD MEET.

The annual track and field meet of the Suburban League, composed of the schools of Plymouth, Redford, Farmington, Wayne, Dearborn and Northville, which was held at the fair grounds in this village last Friday attracted a large crowd of people from all of the towns represented. In all there were 150 athletes who competed in the several events of the day and the gathering was one of unusual enjoyment—one of the most successful ever held in the county.

Plymouth schools won the honors of the day with a total of 53 points, Stevens of the Plymouth school being high point man for the meet, winning in all a total of 20 points for his school. Farmington won second place with a total of 35 points and Northville won third place with 22½ points, both Northville girls and boys winning third place for their school.

Northville's high point winners were Margham and Wood for the boys and Marjorie Moran for the girls. Dearborn girls won 26 points, Plymouth 17, and Northville 16½.

Mr. Brown and Miss Marion Bard of Ypsilanti handled the meet and their work gave universal satisfaction. It was a happy crowd and the young people and the older ones all enjoyed the day.

The Juniors had charge of the lunch and refreshments booths and they handled the crowd in a very fine manner. This is the second of their financial projects and let us hope that the others will prove as successful.

NORTHVILLE PEOPLE IN AN AUTO WRECK.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gray, who reside in the Starkweather house on Main street in this village, were the victims of an auto accident on the Plymouth road Tuesday night. Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Gray were some children, their own and a neighbor's, and how any of them escaped with their lives will always remain a mystery. Their car, a Ford sedan, was completely wrecked. Mr. Gray had slowed down to about fifteen miles an hour when a roadster driven by Harold Cochran struck his car. Cochran had three other people crowded into the roadster with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray were both injured, Mrs. Gray sustaining three broken ribs on her left side and Mr. Gray was cut on one arm. Fortunately the children escaped without injury. Mrs. Gray was taken to the home of Harvey Hargrove and Dr. L. W. Snow was called. She was brought to her home later in the evening and is getting along nicely.

MARRIED IN DETROIT.

A quiet wedding of local interest took place at the residence of Rev. Jacques at 4536 Vancouver, Detroit, when Miss Irene Hinman of this village became the bride of Harold Stewart of Plymouth at three o'clock, on June 10th. The bride wore a beautiful traveling costume of pearl gray relieved by touches of rose color and carried deep pink roses. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Van W. Hale. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will be at home to friends after June 20th at the home of the bride's father, Charles Hinman.

UNION BACCALAUREATE SERVICES.

The churches of the village will unite in the baccalaureate services which will be held at the Baptist church Sunday evening at the usual hour of service. Rev. A. K. MacRae will deliver the sermon and the evening services will be attended by the members of the graduating class of the Northville High school together with the High school teachers.

ANNUAL ALUMNI BANQUET.

The annual reunion and banquet to be given by the Northville High School association will be held at the High school building on Friday afternoon and evening, June 27th. The reunion will take place at four o'clock and the annual meeting for the election of officers will take place at that time. The banquet will be served in the gymnasium at six o'clock for which event a very interesting program is being prepared.

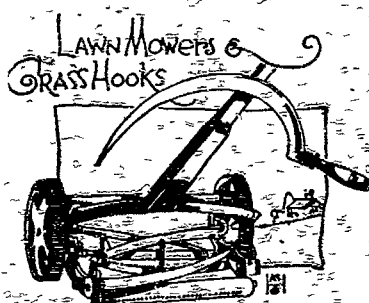

MASONS TO OBSERVE PAST MASTER'S NIGHT.

Northville Lodge, F. & A. M., will observe past master's night next Monday evening. Lodge will convene at 4:30 and the M. M. degree will be conferred upon a number of candidates. Dinner at 6:30 and labor again at the sound of the gavel. The past masters of the lodge will fill the chairs during the ceremony of initiation.

Work! Earn! Save!

One of the first things we all have to learn is that work is a necessity. We have to work in order to earn something with which to supply the necessities of life.

But that is not all. Saving is just as much a necessity as working and earning. When our working and earning days stop, expenses go on just the same. If we have saved consistently during our earning day, there will be something with which to meet expenses when we stop working.

Work, Earn and Save. It will make for independence in old age as well as in youth.

Alumnae in New York City have realized $16,147, which is 70% of their quota of $23,181.

"BLOSSOM TIME" AT THE SHUBERT-DETROIT OPERA HOUSE.

Like a warm breath of spring comes the announcement of the return of the perennial "Blossom Time" that exquiste Franz Schubert musical gem which captivated Detroit music lovers and theatregoers upon its former visits earlier this season.

"Blossom Time" is booked for a return engagement Sunday evening, June 15th, in response to thousands of requests. It comes here with the original New York Century theatre cast and production after touring south, east and west, shimmering its fascinating web wherever it has been presented.

Into the score of "Blossom Time" are heard the "Unfinished Symphony," "Ave Maria," "The Serenade," "March Militaire," "Moment Musical," "The Book," the famous "Two Waltzes," strains from the ballet "Rosamunde," "Hark, Hark the Lark," "Why?" and the "Melody Truste." Others are there too.

Dorothy Donnelly wrote the libretto. This actress (remember her Madame X?) has done well by the composer's life. The takes his love affair (unfortunately never confessed in life) with the daughter of County Esterhazy and makes it the basis for the romance of the opera.

DECLARES LIQUOR LAWS ARE BEING ENFORCED.

Judge Royal A. Hawley delivered the Memorial Day address, at Ionia, his home city, and during his splendid presentation of the thought of the day he called attention to some of the menaces of the present time.

Speaking of the liquor question he said: "One of the greatest menaces we have is the defiant law-breaker. The most defiant lawbreakers that we have are the bootleggers and booze runners, and on their account there is a great hue and cry that the prohibition law can't be enforced, but I want to say that these liquor laws, as enacted on the statute books of the federal government and of the state government are the best enforced liquor laws we have ever had in this country.

How long has it been, or when was it, within the memory of man that booze was not an outlaw, and that King Alcohol was not a menace and a law-breaker? I have been connected with the courts of this country for many, many years. I never knew the time before in the history of the country when there was so little violation of the liquor law as there is today, but some generations may come that will not remember a saloon, and what violators of the law the saloons and saloon-keepers were! This agitation may go on in regard to the ineffectiveness of the law, and when the next generation comes into young power, then, and not until then, will this menace be overcome."

COMETS HEADED THIS WAY.

Three comets—those most mysterious of all heavenly wanderers—are due for a visit to the general vicinity of the earth and sun this year, according to an announcement by the U. S. naval observatory at Washington.

Astronomers throughout the country are preparing for the arrival of the derelicts from the great open spaces of the universe and expecting new discoveries of scientific interest.

The list of 1924 comets, prepared by the naval observatory, includes Encke and Temple the first in November and Tuffe in December. In 1925 six comets are due in March, July, August and October. The scientists paint startling pictures of what might happen if the head of a comet were to strike the earth or even come close to it.

Something Wrong.

Something is wrong with the home when its occupants would rather be out of it than in it.

When a Worm Turns

If the worm would always turn when it ought, a fishworm wouldn't cross three feet of cement sidewalk when the turf is three in his away.

Objected to His "Pants"

An Oregon man was trying to sell a horse. The animal was broken-winded, but sleek. The owner trotted him around for inspection and bringing him back to the prospect stroked the horse's back and remarked: "Haven't he a lovely coat?" The prospect removed his pipe and said, as he looked at the heaving flanks of the animal: "Yeah, his coat's all right; but I don't like his pants."

Where Eels Breed

The bureau of fisheries says that eels breed in salt water. The American eels breed in water 200 fathoms deep off the southwest coast of Bermuda. European eels breed within a few miles of the same place. The two species have never been known to cross-breed. Young eels migrate to fresh water. No American eel has ever been found in European waters nor a European eel in American streams.

REDFORD NOW BRANCH OF DETROIT EDISON.

Redford and immediate vicinity have been separated from the Northville district of the Detroit Edison company, and annexed to the Detroit area. This change went into effect Tuesday and as a consequence Redford now has a manager at the local office of the Detroit Edison company. He is James H. Hurms, who until recently was manager of the Edison company's branch at Hamtramck. Mr. Hurms is in full charge of the Redford office. He succeeds R. R. Brown, who is manager of the Northville district. The change is separating Redford from the Northville district is explained by the growth of this community which now requires the attention of its own manager, and also the proximity of Redford to Detroit and the possibility of this community being annexed to the metropolis within a few years.—Redford Record.

IS IT ANY WONDER BUILDING COSTS ARE HIGH.

Settlement of the strike of 500 Detroit plasterers, which has been in progress since May 1, and which threatened a tie-up of important operations, under a year's agreement signed last Monday and effective immediately, the arbitration board of the Contracting Plasterers' association agreed to a wage scale of $12.50 for an eight-hour day on the basis of a 44-hour week. Inasmuch as it is generally recognized the plasterer works seven days a week during the rush season, the schedule will mean a remuneration of $105.50 per seven-day week. Sunday and Saturday afternoon being computed on the basis of double time. The new scale is an increase of 50 cents a day over the old scale.

The 500 union plasterers in Detroit walked out May 1 with a demand for $14 a day, with a 40-hour week. This demand compares with the Chicago scale of $13 a day, and the Cleveland scale of $12. Reducing the number of work days weekly to five, would leave two whole days to be computed on the double time basis, and would add heavily to building costs in the Detroit district, it was declared.

HEREFORD BREEDERS TO TAKE STATE TOUR.

A state tour for members of the Michigan Hereford Breeders' association will be held in connection with the Livestock Feeders' Day at the Michigan Agricultural college on June 18. It was announced by officials of the association here last week.

VICIOUS DOG ATTACKS SMALL BOY.

An infant son of Walter Dudgeon, residing on the Emerson road, was badly lacerated about the face and head by a dog, on Tuesday, while at play in the dooryard of the home. The dog was a house pet and never before displayed viciousness. The animal was ordered killed, and its head will be sent to the university, at Ann Arbor, for examination for traces of rabies.—Dearborn Press.

Miss Ella Seely died at the home of her niece, Mrs. Wellie Coe, Thursday morning, aged 69 years. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon and interment took place at North Farmington.

Mrs. Belle Tuttle had as her guests during the past week her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pratt of Chicago, Ill.

The old barn on the Tuttle property in the heart of the village is being torn down this week, making a very noticeable improvement. The barn was erected about 50 years ago.

The meeting of the W. M. B. class of the Methodist Sunday school which was held at the home of Mrs. Les Welch last Wednesday night, proved one of the most enjoyable of the year.

The chief feature of the evening's festivities was a mock wedding in which Mrs. Gary Thompson, attired in a gown made of lace curtains, acted as bride. Avis Coe was bridegroom, and Ruth Bradley and Mahell Smith were bridesmaids. Beatrice Fox was ring bearer, carrying the ring in the heart of a huge leaf of rhubarb. Dorothy Rose was best man and Mrs. Upton, flower girl.

The ceremony was read by Julia Riley. This was a wreck. The gambling tables were smashed, the windows broken, the gambling paraphernalia confiscated and the operators were in the hands of the law. Its patrons had been scattered and given a fright from which they may not soon recover.

Didn't Say Anything

"You say that public official had nothing to say?" said the editor. "Yes," answered the self-confident reporter, "but he talked three-quarters of an hour before I discovered it."—Washington Star.

BIG GAMBLING HOUSE WRECKED BY TROOPERS

NEW CHESTERFIELD INN, NOTED GAMING RESORT, RAIDED BY STATE POLICE

Place Had Reputation As Hangout for Bandits and Criminals.

Public gambling in Michigan was dealt a hard blow in the raiding and wrecking of the New Chesterfield inn in Macomb county, just over the line from Wayne county. It was reported to be the fourth largest gambling place in the United States and had been notorious as the resort of bank bandits, holdup men, bootleggers and other criminals, as well as others who had come by money easily and who were there sought excitement at the green-covered tables.

Playing at the place was reputed to have gone to the extent of more than $100,000 a night and crowds as large as 1,000 people had been known to congregate there.

After the men of the Michigan Department of Public Safety had raided the place on the night of May 23, it was a wreck. The gambling tables were smashed, the windows broken, the gambling paraphernalia confiscated and the operators were in the hands of the law. Its patrons had been scattered and given a fright from which they may not soon recover.

Elaborately Guarded.

George Weinbrenner, known as "St. Louis Dutch," was the owner of the place. He had long been known as a gambler by the Detroit police and had often been raided. Finally he built the New Chesterfield inn out of Gratiot avenue and opened the biggest game ever known in Michigan. Two buses were operated to Detroit and free transportation given to those desiring to risk their money. Lunch was also served free to gamblers.

The resort was elaborately guarded. Men were stationed outside at intervals along the private road leading to the place. The ground floor was occupied by a garage and entrance to the gaming rooms was through a passage requiring the passing of several guarded doors. Above the main hall, where the bigger games were played, there ran a gallery in which armed men were stationed to protect the place against holdup men.

Every precaution was taken to prevent surprise by officers of the law. When the sheriff of Macomb county and his deputies, who were known by sight to the lookouts, visited the place, they found it quiet and no gambling in progress. Immediately upon their departure the games started.

State Police Act.

Considerable time was necessary for the detectives of the Michigan State Police division of the Department of Public Safety to secure evidence upon which warrants could be obtained. The detectives had to become acquainted with frequenters of the place, visit it in the company of these habitués and be vouchered for so that they could see the gambling actually going on. When this had been done, warrants were taken out and preparations made for the raid.

Commissioner Harry H. Jackson of the Department of Public Safety gave instructions to Captain I. H. Marmon to carry out the plans. State Police were assembled from East Lansing, South Rockwood, St. Clair, Ecorse, Hamtramck, Wayne and other posts. In command of these details were Captain C. J. Scavarda, Lieutenants H. Douglas Potter, E. S. Masters, Lawrence Lyons and George Karkeet. Altogether about 40 State Police were in the party. Accompanying them were Detroit and Hamtramck police officers who were alert for criminals who might be wanted in those cities.

The force assembled in Detroit and was carried rapidly to the scene in a fleet of automobiles. No one except Captain Marmon knew the destination of the raiding party.

Axes Are Employed

Knowing that a number of gunmen were employed to protect the place, the State Police swept rapidly past the outside lookout station and got into the lower floor of the building before any alarm had been given of their approach. One door was closed to them and they smashed that in order to reach the main gaming room. Play had been suspended and the 200 patrons stood about when the officers entered.

However, Captain Marmon has sent several troopers, in disguise, into the place in advance of the raid and they were there and could testify that gambling had been in progress.

Weinbrenner and a number of his employees were placed under arrest. Guns, revolvers and ammunition were seized and gambling apparatus was confiscated. One safe was opened and another was carried away to be opened elsewhere under direction of a judge. The latter was the safe supposed to contain the greater part of the funds of the place. As a final touch, the State Police proceeded to wreck the place, destroying the tables and everything else which had been used in the gambling except such portion of the equipment as was required for evidence.

SURPRISED BY DETROIT FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hacht of the Blue Bird farm were pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening when in drove four carloads of people from Detroit, loaded with baskets of good things to eat, to remind Mr. and Mrs. Hacht that they had been married eleven years.

Cards and dancing to victrola music were the diversions of the evening followed by a beautiful midnight supper. Before leaving for their homes the guests presented Mr. and Mrs. Hacht with a nice purse.

All reported a lovely time, saying it was an evening well spent.

M. A. C. STUDENTS ENJOY OUTING.

Last Friday upwards of 25 students seniors of the M. A. C. accompanied by some of their instructors, visited the farm of Brennan Fitzgerald & Son where they spent the day in a most enjoyable manner. A bountiful lunch was served at noon and the visitors inspected the wonderful herd of Jersey cattle for which this farm is noted.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson were generous in their treatment of their guests and the students declared the outing had been one of the most enjoyable to their college career.

FARMINGTON TO CELEBRATE NEXT WEEK.

Farmington citizens will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the first settlement in that community next week—Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Thursday will be given over largely to visiting and greeting old friends, but on Friday afternoon a formal program will be given at the townhall when Dr. James McGee of New Haven Conn., a former Farmington boy will deliver an address on "The Spirit of the Pioneer." Following the program at the hall there will be sports of various kinds. Friday evening there will be a pageant, "The Making of Farmington—The Home Town." Saturday will be gala day of the celebration and the day's festivities will open with a band concert at 9:30. There will be horse show during the morning hours and after dinner a parade will form, in which there will appear numerous floats, societies, school children and citizens.

The public is invited to attend the celebration.

PLAN FOR SIXTH ANNUAL MOTOR TOUR OF FARMERS.

The sixth annual trip of the Michigan Farmers' Automobile Tours will be started east August 7, according to the announcement of J. H. Brown of Battle Creek, originator of the tours and general manager in charge. Mr. Brown believes this year's tour will bring out the largest automobile caravan ever seen in this country. Already, he said, cars have been registered for the trip from many states besides Michigan.

The tourists will gather at Frum Ridge, as in previous years, starting from there August 7. The route will be through Cleveland, O., Erie, Pa., Jamestown, Elmira and New York, N. Y., and thence to New England. The return will be by way of Utica, Syracuse and Rochester, N. Y., Niagara Falls, Hamilton and London Ont., the caravan crossing back into the United States at Port-Huron and disbanding at Detroit.

The tour, covering 1,915 miles, is scheduled to end August 21.

W. R. C. NOTES.

Memorial services of the W. R. C. will be held Saturday afternoon, June 14th. Members are requested to bring flowers to Mrs. Ina Casterline's (next to Methodist church), at 2:30 sharp. Cars will be furnished.

You may pay your village taxes any day now at the Northville State Savings bank.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES.

A junior society of the Christian Endeavor was organized Thursday afternoon with Mrs. S. E. Cranson as leader. The society will embrace within its membership boys and girls of the church and society.

The children's day exercises last Sunday were an inspiration to all and the program given by the children was especially pleasing. All who took part did well and the large audience expressed its approval by hearty applause.

The Foresters will meet with us next Sunday morning. Let us give them a hearty welcome.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

The attendance at prayer meetings is very encouraging and the results of these meetings more so. Be present at our next prayer meeting. You will enjoy it.

The meeting of the Baptist Brotherhood last Wednesday was a success. These meetings always are.

The church get-together will be in charge of the young folks and they plan a "Jazz Supper." Maggie and Jigs will be there. The date will be given next week.

Read our ad. It tells of two big services to be held in our church. Be present at both of them.

Unless the unforeseen prevents, the Baptist church will not be closed during the summer. We are planning a summer program that will be of interest to all.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Next Sunday, at 10:30 a. m. service in German. The Festival of Holy Trinity will be celebrated. Come, listen and be strengthened in your faith that there is but one God, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

The moving of the school house to the rear of the church, preliminary to the building of the parsonage, has been done this week.

The pastor has recovered from a severe neuritis attack and Mrs. Eissfeldt is able to walk about again.

Mrs. Gust Barnhart underwent an operation last Monday in Harper hospital in Detroit. The operation was successful and Mrs. Barnhart is in fair condition. A hoped prognosis recovery.

Tonight (Friday) the Y. P. S. will hold its monthly meeting which was postponed last Friday.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

Next Sunday will be rich in the expression of childhood in presenting the program to the public. It thrills our souls as these little "innocents" will breathe forth their talent.

The committee with Mrs. C. A. Dolph at its head, has labored untiring. The pipe organ will be used under the able management of Mrs. John T. Hamham. The program will start off with the children in processional singing "Holy, Holy, Holy" after the assembly in the Epworth League room.

The program will commence at 10:30. The sacrament of baptism will take place early in the program and those who have not planned up to the present for the baptism, kindly let the pastor know on Sunday morning.

This is the children's day and let us all make it happy for them by our presence.

In the evening we will unite with the Baptist church for the high school service.

Thursday mid-week service at the usual hour.

The Missionary society will meet at the home of Mrs. George Ford on Wednesday afternoon next at the usual hour. The election of officers will occur at that time and a good attendance is desired.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!—A $10,000 WAGER (?)

On Friday afternoon of next week, at the Farmington celebration, the business men of Northville will contest for base ball honors with the business men of Farmington for a purse of $10,000—so they say, but we have our "doots" about it. At any rate there will be a ball game and Arthur Lamb and John C. Clark will manage the Farmington Colts while Harry German and E. L. Smith will try and control the Northville Franchises—there is to be a horse show in connection with Farmington's celebration.

This game has been in prospect for a long time, but only until a few days ago was it possible to raise sufficient funds to insure such a large purse. Everything is now "all set" for the battle. Visitors will please leave their "fire arms" at home.

A great crowd was attracted to Northville last Saturday night—a real summer crowd. The band gave a very enjoyable concert, and as an added attraction a fellow calling himself "The Human Fly" climbed to the top of C. A. Ponsford's store, going right up the front.

An inspector of the State Food Commission was in Northville on Monday and made an inspection of the restaurants and grocery stores of the village. He complimented Mrs. Ina Ware upon the condition in which he found her place—"A Good Place to Eat."

BUILDING YOUR DREAM HOME

Your castle in Spain—how often you have pictured that attractive dwelling—now after going thru its spacious apartments—viewed its scenic splendor.

The years have gone by—some of your dream buildings may have come true for the most part they are still castles in Spain—hazy—obscure—indefinite.

The urge to build comes from the desire of possession of a center for life's work—of expressing the inner thoughts—to be established—fixed—anchored.

The Hebrew people were dreaming of the home land—of a new temple of the Judean hills—or flocks and vineyards. Their religious life had died out and they were exiles.

They came back to Jerusalem with a new religious experience and that fact inspired them to build walls for defence of life and a place of worship to safeguard their spirit life.

The house of God is central for the individual—the community—the nation. The welfare of the world depends on keeping God in the heart—home—nation.

FEDERAL LAUNDRY

HENRY FORD AND THE RIVER ROUGE.

The March and April issues of the Survey Graphic, a New York publication, appeared an article written by its editor, Paul U. Kellogg, under the caption "The Play of a Big Man with a Little River," in which the writer tells in a very interesting manner of the dream of Mr. Ford in developing the power along the Rouge river. The articles were carefully prepared and were embellished with numerous illustrations of the plants and enterprises owned and erected by the Ford Motor company. The company's buildings at Northville, Phoenix, Plymouth, Nankin, besides the great Ford plants at Highland Park and River Rouge are shown, and the accompanying articles give a very complete account of their development.

It is impossible for want of space and time to reproduce the article in The Record, but we are pleased to take from them certain portions that will prove of special interest to the people of this section.

"Fifty years ago, wrote Mr. Kellogg, at Northville, well up on the Rouge, there was a flour mill and another at Waterford. Below came the Phoenix and Plymouth and Beals mills. At Newburg there was a flour mill, at Nankin a flour mill and still lower down, Coon's Lumber mill. The Nankin mill was still grinding just eighty years ago, but except for that to employ Mark Twain's observation in 'Roughing It,' you could not have found a mill by a dam site. The raised banks, the ponds and willows of the old mill sites were relics of an earlier economy, long since decadent, when the countryside had lived on its own and when farmers, round about had brought their wheat to be ground by the flow of the neighboring stream, an economy that went to pieces as the railroads spanned the continent, opened by the great wheel lands, and ushered in the era of manufacturing cities and of milling centers to which wheat is carried laboriously by railroads to be laboriously carried back as flour. What Henry Ford thinks of a gloriously river is not a circumstance to what he thinks of the railroad system of the country which eclipsed its rivers and canals, and then, went cold.

Fifty years ago at Dearborn on the Rouge, was a two-story farmhouse on a two hundred and forty acre tract. A farmer, Irish born, of English stock, his wife of Dutch descent, and their five children lived on it. They were prosperous Michigan farmers then went. There was a Starlight wood stove for heat, a parlor organ and a hanging oil chandelier in the front room, rag rugs a cruet, a trimmer to plait caps and the other utilities of an old-fashioned homestead. The barn was stoutly built with a frame of hewn logs. In a carpenter shop hard by were an old two-cranked sawing machine and other tools, meager enough, of the sort which after 5,000 years the wit of man had contrived to ease or help his muscles in struggling with the soil. The rise and spread of harvesting machinery came after the close of the Civil war, when the west had need to make good its depleted man power. Father and boys worked in the fields, tended the stock, carried their wheat to mill. The faintest recollection of the eldest boy is that "considering the results, there was too much work on the place." That is the way he "still thinks about farming." The house and barn stand today intact, with every furnishing as it was fifty years ago, or with its duplicate painstakingly gathered by Henry Ford as a matter of sentiment. The Nankin mill with its water wheel and its huge timbers held in place by wooden pins, (epitome in a boy's imagination of a better day which would put the forces of nature at man's beck and call) has been cherished by him, renovated and equipped with a Ford built turbine at double the cost of new construction. But the farm and its manual labor the boy chuckled, setting off against his father's wishes, for Detroit and work in a machine shop, and since, the man to whom that boy was the father has never lost his consuming desire to "lift farm ridged-off flesh and blood and lay it on steel and motors." All his interpreters seem to agree on this point. But he soon found that the people were less interested in something that would do the work on the farms than in something that would travel the roads.

So at the start, with his gas engine achieved, he built speeders in the aftermath of bicycle racing; next, he built pleasure cars in the early days when the automobile market was supposed to be limited to the rich; next, breaking with precedent, his competitors and his associates, the Ford cars for common use, changing the habits of a generation; and finally, he has built tractors, to bring power to the farm "for to" plow and to harvest, for to churn and cut wood and to draw water. He has thus at length worked his way back to his starting point, to his boyhood conviction that there "was too much hard hand labor on our own and all other farms of the time," to the revolutionary corollary of his later years with power farming, factory workers and field workers could become interchangeable parts in a new rural economy.

WILL HAVE MODERN GARAGE BUILDING.

The Allison-Bachelor Motor-Sales have commenced the re-modeling of their garage building, which was so badly damaged by fire a few weeks ago. Mertens & VanArsdale, contractors and builders, are doing the work. The building will be considerably changed from what it was when it is completed, and will be a modern and up-to-date garage, with every convenience.

One of the most noticeable changes will be in the front of the building. A modern front will be installed with large plate glass windows. There will not be a driveway at the front as heretofore, but the car entrance will be made at the rear of the building. A doorway in the center of the front will provide entrance to the office and salesroom, which will occupy the entire front of the building. Space has been provided for a show room 30x40 feet. The front of the building will be constructed with fancy face brick, with art stone trimmings. Instead of an elevator to carry cars to the second floor, a ramp has been provided.

On the second floor will be located the repair department and the used car show room.

The building will have an arch roof, supported by steel trusses, and will have several sky lights for lighting and ventilating purposes.

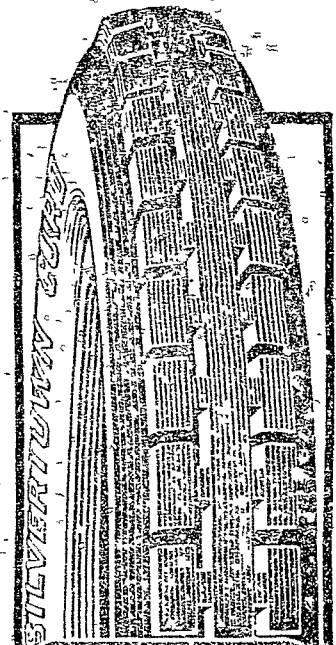

The Messrs. Allison and Bachelor are to be congratulated on their progressive spirit in providing another fine business place, which will not only be a credit to themselves, but the whole village as well. —Plymouth Mail.

Remember Last Winter

You will remember that when cold weather came last Fall your coal bin was empty and you were compelled to buy the kind of fuel your dealer was able to secure for you. You declared then you would never be caught again—that you would fill your bins early another season.

Well, now is a good time to keep that promise. We have stove-size hard coal and we expect to be able to secure more, but we cannot fill your bins with this fuel and let it lay in our yards all summer.

Let us put part of your supply in now. But our advice to you is not to wait until Fall and then expect your dealer to fill your bins with hard coal. It can't be done.

SLAYERS TO MAKE PLEA 'NOT GUILTY'

PAIR ARE ARRAIGNED ON INDICTMENTS CHARGING KIDNAPING AND MURDER.

STATE SEEKS TO PROVE SANITY

Student Friends of Leopold and Loeb Are Rounded Up to Testify On Boys' School Life.

Chicago—Nathan Leopold, Jr. and Richard Loeb, heirs to millions, who have confessed the kidnapping for ransom and murder of Robert Franks, school boy, will plead not guilty.

This statement came from Clarence Darrow, of the defense counsel, while State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe was completing what he calls "the perfect hanging case."

The prisoners, whose confessions have been published, with notes made by each while the confession of the other was being read to him, are being arraigned by Chief Justice Caverly, of the criminal court, on the indictments charging murder and kidnapping for ransom—both capital offenses in Illinois.

Aside from the decision on the defendant's plea, the case is marked chiefly by the state attorney's efforts to combat an insanity defense. A half hundred young men and women, fellow students of Loeb and Leopold, at the University of Chicago, were being rounded up and questioned through them Mr. Crowe expects to prove that Loeb and Leopold led normal lives as students.

How they conducted themselves in the classroom and on the campus was to be the subject of the interrogation of the students. The underlying motive in this testimony is to show that Leopold and Loeb could differentiate between right and wrong—the basic question a jury is called upon to decide.

NAB 34 ALIENS DODGING TAXES

Officers Stop Italians and Maltese Leaving United States.

Detroit—United States revenue officers frustrated an attempt by 34 Maltese and Italians to leave this country by the way of Canada without paying their income taxes. As the 34 men, with baggage, were about to board a Windsor ferry, the officers took them into custody and brought them to the Federal building, before Fred L. Woodworth, collector of internal revenue.

Those who had the money busily set about making out their income tax blanks, while those who did not have sufficient funds will be required to stay here and earn enough to satisfy the tax collectors.

PUBLIC DEBT CUT $350,000,000

New Short Time Loans Carry Lowest Interest Rate Since War.

Washington—Pre-war interest rates appear on government securities with the announcement of the treasury of its June fiscal program. The operation includes an issue of $150,000,000 in certificates of indebtedness and indicates a cut in the public debt of $350,000,000.

The new certificates bear interest of 2 3/4 per cent, the lowest rate the government has paid in any of its war or post-war financing and probably lower than that of any government during the period since the World war opened in 1914. The issue is dated June 15 and matures next December 15.

PLANES CRASH, KILL PILOT, BOY

Another Flier, 1,300 Feet Up Steps Into Space, Opens Parachute.

San Antonio, Tex.—Crashing together in the air two Kelly Field aeroplanes and one pilot were dangled 1,300 feet to the earth, mangling the body of one pilot and burying a Mexican boy in the ground as he chopped cotton.

Lieutenant W. W. White, with a parachute pack on his back, stepped off into space at the high altitude, shot down from the twisted mass of wreckage and pulled the rip cord on his parachute. It opened and he floated over a thousand feet, landing near the wreck.

TAX REFUND WILL BE DELAYED

Congress Fails to Act On Necessary Appropriation, No Funds.

Washington—Due to the failure of congress to act on the necessary appropriation before adjournment, refunds to taxpayers who have paid all their 1923 income tax cannot be made before next winter, it has been announced at the treasury department.

Secretary Mellon had asked an appropriation of $16,000,000 for this purpose, but it was carried in a bill which failed to pass.

The refunds were authorized under the new tax law which reduced the year's income taxes 25 per cent.

PLASTERERS WIN $12.50 DAY

Detroit Strike Ends When Men Win $105.50 for 7 Day Week

Detroit—Settlement has been made of the strike of 500 Detroit plasterers, which has been in progress since May 1, and which threatened a tie-up of important operations.

Under a year's agreement effective immediately, the arbitration board of the Contracting Plasterers' association agreed to a wage scale of $12.50 for an eight-hour day on the basis of a 44-hour week inasmuch as it is generally recognized the plasterer works seven days a week during the rush season, the schedule will mean a remuneration of $105.50 per seven-day week. Sunday and Saturday after noon being computed on the basis of double time.

The new scale is an increase of 50 cents a day over the old scale.

The 500 union plasterers in Detroit walked out May 1 with a demand for a 40-hour week.

This demand compares with the Chicago scale of $13 a day, and the Cleveland scale of $12. Reducing the number of work days weekly to five would leave two more days to be computed on the double time basis, and would add heavily to building costs in the Detroit district it was declared.

ASKS WRIT AGAINST UNIONS

Charges Conspiracy to Force Company to Adopt Closed Shop.

Chicago—Charging a conspiracy among 11 labor unions to force the company to adopt the closed shop system of employment, the Western Union Telegraph company has filed in federal court a bill for injunction to restrain the international brotherhood of electrical workers and the other unions from interfering with the company or its properties.

The company also asks that the injunction restrain the union of actions from calling a strike or destruction or damaging any of the company's property in Chicago which is valued at $400,000 according to the bill.

Any of these alleged violations were committed in connection with the installation of wires and other telegraphic equipment in new office buildings in the downtown district.

DETROIT LIGHTS OUT FOR NIGHT

City Thrown Into Darkness As Fuse Box Catches Fire.

Detroit—A small blaze originating in a fuse box disabled the Public Lighting Commission plant at Alwater and Bates streets, putting out every street light in the city. All municipal buildings, including the Receiving Hospital police stations and City Hall, were plunged into darkness and surgeons at the hospital operated by candlelight on the victim of a shooting, whose assailant is thought to have escaped in the darkness.

The fire was extinguished without difficulty by a downtown apparatus, but one of the large dynamoes at the plant was drenched with water and rendered useless.

Electricians, working at top speed, succeeded in re-illumination the hospital County Jail, municipal garage and other buildings when the current was switched on over another circuit. The streets, however, continued dark until day break.

Railroads Use More Motor Trucks

Detroit—Figures recently obtained by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce show that at the beginning of 1924 there were 157 railroads which were using motor coaches in one way or another. This compared with 40 railroads that had undertaken the same experiment a year previous. Manufacturers of motor coaches for railroads maintain that the increase in the number of units in service will be practically as great during 1924 as last year.

CONGRESS ENDS HECTIC SESSION

MANY IMPORTANT MEASURES ARE LEFT UNFINISHED—ADJOURN TILL NEXT DECEMBER

PRESIDENT VETOES POSTAL BILL

No Money Is Provided to Pay Bonus, Leaders Say Only Special Session Can Provide Funds.

Washington—Congress ended its six months' session in an atmosphere of controversy and turmoil characteristic of the bitter dissension which has marked its proceedings from the start.

Unless a special session is called by the President, congress will not convene again until next December.

Senators and representatives in the final hours of the session fought and lost a desperate fight for legislation to relieve the farmer and to reform the reclamation policy of the government.

Many other measures, including a bill authorizing the construction of eight new battleships and modernization of battleships and the deficiency appropriation bill carrying $100,000,000 for many other purposes, failed in the final clash of legislation.

Not only did the deficiency bill go down in defeat in the race against time but a special resolution passed in the last five minutes by the house to make the bonus appropriation available regardless, was lost in the senate.

Republican leaders declared that this a special session of congress could provide the necessary funds for the initial costs of the compensation measure.

The deficiency bill itself was blocked at the last minute by Senator Francis McNamara, Democrat, Nevada, because of the omission of a reclamation appropriation proposed by him.

Dr. Burton, U. of M. President, Places Coolidge's Name in Nomination.

Cleveland—Dr. Marion Leroy Burton, president of the University of Michigan college friend of President Coolidge, placed the president's name before the Republican Convention on June 10th as nominee for his party.

Dr. Burton's name was prominently mentioned for the vice presidency.

The convention lacked the customary excitement of other conventions.

Coolidge had solemnly pledged to insure his nomination on the platform.

Proceeding of the convention was made tedious from a glass on the speaker's platform every 15 minutes.

Dr. Burton's name was heard as an endorsement for the vice presidency.

An armed guard was on duty every minute during the convention from the time it convened at 11 a. m. Tuesday until the last detail had been completed.

Fourteen powerful stations in 11 cities flashed proceedings and smaller stations re-broadcast isolated territories.

NEW SERUM CONQUERS CANCER

Germ Is Isolated By Philadelphia Medic, Produces Results.

Philadelphia—The North American in an article withheld from publication for 15 months says that the cause of cancer has been discovered; also a treatment for it, which "is producing remarkable results." The discoverer is Dr. T. J. Glover, formerly of Toronto, Canada.

The anti-toxic serum developed by Dr. Glover, the article says apparently is effective only in the treatment of carcinoma, the commonest and most destructive form of cancer.

The conclusion that this serum is an effective remedy for the dread disease was arrived at only after extensive and complete experimentation with it on a large number of cancer cases in a Philadelphia hospital where in a majority of the cases treated favorable results were secured.

Road Builders Intend to Visit State

Washington—The Pan-American Highway Commission, composed of highway engineers from 20 Central and South American countries, will be in Michigan from June 20 to 23, according to information issued by the Highway Education Board, that is arranging the tour. Cheesville—Avery C. Marks, of this city, who has rounded out a service of more than a third of a century with the postoffice, received a personal letter from Postmaster General New expressing the department's appreciation of his long and faithful record and extending wishes for future welfare and happiness. Marks entered the service March 15, 1888, and is a clerk. He will draw a retiring allowance for the rest of his life.

Ann Arbor—One or more graduates of universities in the British Isles will be admitted to the University of Michigan under the provisions of the Frances E. Russell Fellowship, the rules of which have been made public here. Reginald Ivan Lowell, a graduate of the University of London, is now a student at Michigan under the foundation and the donor is interested in bringing to Michigan at once some woman graduate from an English university.

Saginaw—The widening and deepening of Shiawassee River from the point where the Flint river outlet joins it, back about 12 miles to the head waters, is being considered, according to County Drain Commissioner David A. Nicol. If this project is carried through, as well as the Flint river cut off, one of the biggest steps toward solving the drainage problem of the Saginaw valley watershed will have been taken. Four other counties, besides Saginaw, would benefit by the improved drainage of the Shiawassee river.
