NORTHVILLE REPRESENTED IN SAFETY PARADE.

In spite of the rain of Sunday afternoon the safety parade took place in Detroit as scheduled, bringing to a close the safety drive that had been conducted in the city and county for several weeks.

Highland Park's float and slogan, "Children First, Safety First," won first prize in the parade, says the Detroit News. Second prize was won by the Hamtramck float and third by the float entered by Sheriff Geo. A. Walters and his staff.

Twenty-seven floats appeared in the parade, which started at Erskine street at 2 p. m. and proceeded down Woodward avenue to Cadillac square. The procession ended a drive that had continued for a month.

The prize-winning Highland Park float represented a "sodded playground on which children were romping safely and hilariously. The Hamtramck exhibit was a truck on which were mounted a locomotive and an automobile wrecked in collision with the engine. In the wreckage was an "injured" boy and a banner displayed the slogan: "The Chance Taker is an Accident Maker."

The sheriff's float displayed a monument, erected by the children of Wayne County to the memory of playmates killed in traffic accidents.

The judges were Dr. Clarence L. Candler and Col. E. A. McCalla. They awarded honorable mention to the floats entered by Dearborn, Springwells, Northville and the Michigan Central Railroad.

The communities of Highland Park, Hamtramck, Wayne and Northville plan to formulate a permanent safety program during the next few weeks. It was announced at the conclusion of the county campaign.

ALBERT WILSON PLEADED GUILTY.

When the case of the People vs. Albert Wilson was called for trial in circuit court in Detroit last Friday, the defendant's attorney made a motion for dismissal of the case and the motion was overruled by the presiding judge. The jury was called and after the prosecuting attorney had excused two of the fellows who had been drawn Wilson's attorney asked the court for a private consultation, which was granted and with the judge, prosecutor and the defendant's attorney a conference was held in the judge's chambers. At the conclusion of the conference Wilson's attorney told the court that the defendant desired to change his plea of not guilty to guilty. The plea was accepted by the court and Wilson was told to appear in court on Monday to receive his sentence.

He appeared as directed and was sentenced to pay a fine of $125.

Wilson's conviction was the first one secured in the circuit court in three weeks, and our local officers are deserving of a good deal of credit for the manner in which they handled the case.

The case was tried in Judge Marschner's court.

SPECIAL SUNDAY AFTERNOON SERVICES.

On Sunday afternoon at three, Dr. Eli J. Forsythe, pastor of the Fort Street Congregational church, Detroit, will deliver one of his popular lectures in the natural amphitheatre at Eastlawn Sanatorium.

Several features are being arranged which will make this occasion one which will draw a large attendance not only from Northville, but from Detroit.

The citizens of Northville are especially invited to attend. Everything possible is being done to make this one of the most successful out-of-door meetings ever held in this vicinity.

The choir of the Detroit church will furnish the music, from a stage which is being constructed at this time.

This will be an opportunity for every citizen of Northville to hear the well-known lecturer, Dr. Forsythe, under beautiful surroundings.

The Northville churches are co-operating in making arrangements for this event.

NORTHVILLE WILL NOT CELEBRATE.

It was finally decided the first of the week not to hold the usual race meeting and celebration in Northville on July 4th this year. Some near-by towns are planning a similar celebration and it was deemed advisable for Northville to give way to its neighbors this year. Last week it was planned to have a celebration and the fact was briefly announced in The Record. Just tell your friends and neighbors that there will be nothing "doing" here on the glorious Fourth this year.

WILLIAM H. AMBLER DIED WEDNESDAY MORNING.

The many friends and acquaintances of William H. Ambler were saddened Wednesday morning when the news of his death became current about the village. He had been confined to his home but a few days when he fell asleep to awaken in that brighter and better land where loved ones were waiting to receive him.

The deceased was born in Salem township July 29, 1844, making his age nearly 80 years. His whole life has been spent in this community, his father moving to Northville when the subject of this sketch was a lad of ten years of age. Mr. Ambler's father erected the building known as the Ambler House. When he grew to manhood he was engaged in the jewelry business for a number of years, and took an active interest in local affairs until old age forced him to seek retirement. He possessed a keen and discerning mind and the people of this community entrusted to his care many of their business problems and he was true to every trust reposed in him.

On March 5th death entered his home and removed his beloved wife and since her passing he has gradually declined. He is survived by three grandchildren, Sherrill, Leila and Carroll Ambler. A few weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Ambler moved out from Detroit to make their home with him and to care for and comfort him in his great sorrow and loneliness. Funeral services will be held at his late home this afternoon at two o'clock and interment will take place in Rural Hill cemetery.

AMBLER HOUSE CHANGED MANAGEMENT.

After having conducted the Ambler House in this village for the past several years, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ambler retired from its management on Monday morning, having sold their interest in the furnishings of the building and the business to T. M. Gillespie, who will continue the business. During the years they have conducted the hotel they have won an enviable reputation among the traveling public for the quality of the meals furnished and a great many Detroit people come out to Northville when they desire a real appetizing dinner, and they retire with the best wishes of the general public.

Mr. Gillespie has been a resident of Northville something over a year and during that time he has won the confidence and esteem of the people of this section. He will give Northville a good hotel and will endeavor to serve the public in a manner that will prove satisfactory.

OBSERVED PAST MASTERS' NIGHT.

Past masters' night, observed by Northville Lodge, F. & A. M., on Monday evening, proved one of the most enjoyable events of the year in Masonic circles. The work of conferring the M. M. degree upon a class of seven candidates was done by past masters of the lodge, and all who took part did exceedingly well. Upwards of sixty members of the order who are employed by the Parke Davis Company of Detroit, were the guests of the lodge and they were a merry crowd as they gathered about the bountifully laden tables at 7.30. After dinner work was again resumed and the full form ceremony was exemplified.

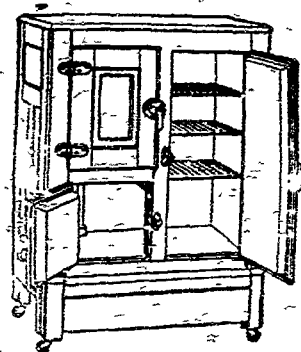

FORESTERS OBSERVED MEMORIAL DAY.

Officers and members of Court Northville, Foresters of America, observed last Sunday as memorial day, and attended services at the Presbyterian church in the morning. Rev. F. P. Knowles delivered a very interesting sermon, speaking especially of the Foresters and their work of helpfulness to one another, of their ideals and purposes. Benjamin Stewart sang a solo.

After the services were over at the church the members proceeded to the village cemeteries where the graves of departed members of the court were decorated, and the memorial service of the order was given.

DETROIT PEOPLE WILL COME OUT HERE SUNDAY.

The members of the Fort Street Congregational church of Detroit, accompanied by their pastor, Dr. Eli J. Forsythe, will come to Northville next Sunday afternoon and Mr. Forsythe will conduct services in the yard adjoining East Lawn Sanatorium at 3:00. The visitors will enjoy a picnic dinner under the spreading trees. Northville people are invited to attend the services and to again hear Dr. Forsythe.

SALEM SAYINGS.

F. C. Wheeler of Ann Arbor was a Salem caller, Monday.

Miss Pearl Youngs of Northville spent several days this week with her parents here.

Mrs. Mary Wheeler has gone on a two weeks' visit with friends near Royal Oak.

Mrs. Amelia Perkins is visiting her son, Dean and family, at Lake Odesa for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hammond, daughter and mother were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foss at Northville.

Mrs. Lottie Hammond, Mary Wheeler and Lena Hammond and daughter, Gladys, were Northville snappers last Friday.

The next regular meeting of the Federated church will be held Thursday, June 26th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crane for supper.

The chicken pie supper which was held at the town hall last Thursday night, proved a great success. About $40 was netted for the Congregational ladies.

About 200 automobiles were parked in the field where a public Kluge-Kluge meeting was held last Saturday night. An electric cross about 10 feet high was burning.

A play entitled "Rosemary" to be given by Plymouth talent will be presented at the Salem town hall on Tuesday evening, June 24th, under auspices of the Salem Congregational church. Admission, 35c and 25c. Everybody welcome.

"WHAT A WIFE" NEXT WEEK AT THE GARRICK.

"What a Wife" an American farce in three acts and five scenes, from the pens of Herbert Hall Winslow and Emil Nuyt, authors of "My Lady Friends," will be the offering of the Bonstelle company at the Garrick next week, beginning Sunday night.

Few farces boast a more general mix-up than "What a Wife," which was originally produced at the 49th Street theatre, New York by Arthur Klein under the title of "What's Your Wife Doing?" with Glenn Anders playing the role of Gerald Warner, more popularly known as "Jerry."

The latter is the irresponsible character that dominates the play. He is madly in love with Edith Somers, but her father, Judge Somers, objects on the ground that all Jerry knows is to spend money. Jerry begins his final campaign on the judge's doorstep and enlisting the services of a policeman, a former "buddy" to gain entrance on a bet. He has ten thousand dollars and the judge agrees to a friendly settlement of the love match, provided that within a certain length of time Jerry can show that he still possesses the ten thousand.

He begins nobly by buying five thousand dollars worth of oil stock, and lending the other five thousand to a friend in trouble. Soon after he makes these two brave plunges in finance, he is informed by the judge that both parties he benefitted are crooks.

"What a Wife" is truly farce and the mix-up is carried along logical lines until the fall of the final curtain. Minor Watson as "Jerry" will have an unusual opportunity while the various other members of the Bonstelle company will be kept busy dodging the many situations so cleverly set up by the authors.

A New "Profession"

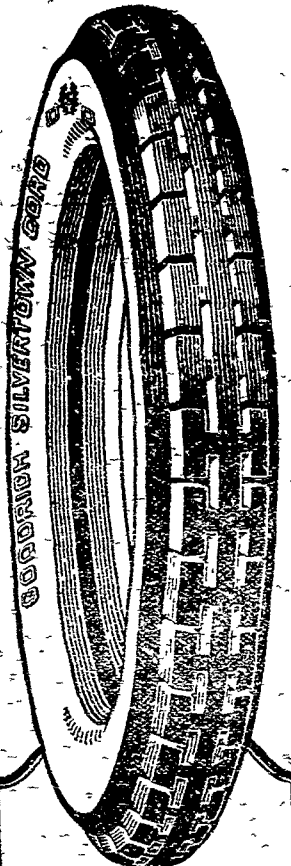

A "curious calling" is that of one New York woman who earns a living by pawning and redeeming the belongings of other women who are in need of ready cash but who do not like to be seen visiting the pawnshop. The "broker" collects a small percentage on each transaction.

Women's Feet Deformed

Ninety-nine pairs of women's feet out of a 100 are horribly deformed by the wearing of high-heeled shoes, says Sir Hubert Barker, the famous manipulative surgeon, of London, who avers that he has seen in the course of his work as a bonesetter more women's feet than any other person in the world.

Must Pay

Looting the public seems to have developed into a national pastime but the guilty fall hard when justice overtakes them. A man who steals from the treasury of his health is just as guilty as the fellow who dishonestly secures wealth and the inexorable laws of nature will much more certainly run him down.

TRAIN IS ROBBED OF OVER $3,000,000

OUTLAWS OVERCOME GUARDS WITH GAS; TAKE REGISTERED MAIL FROM THREE CARS

SEVEN SUSPECTS ARE NOW HELD

Prisoner Confesses, Police Say, After Failure of $20,000 Bribery Attempt

Chicago—Forty pouches of registered mail containing bonds and currency valued at three million dollars were stolen by train robbers when they held up a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul mail train near Rondout, Illinois, 30 miles north of Chicago, recently.

The train was enroute from Chicago to St. Paul and its first scheduled stop was at Milwaukee, Wis.

The train was stopped by bandits on the train pulling the air brakes. They had boarded at Chicago. The engineer was forced to detach the engine from the train and drive it two miles down the track.

The robbers forced their way into the first three cars, by overcoming the guards with gas. They did not attempt to get into any of the other cars for they found 40 pouches of registered mail in the first three cars.

Seven suspects have been rounded up by secret service men and police detectives. But there has as yet been no definite location of the loot.

One of the suspected men has offered the police $20,000 to turn him loose, he has also made a confession in which the whereabouts of the stolen money and bonds is said to have been divulged, but after he had made the confession it is said he refused to sign it.

Postoffice officials are chafing under alleged "covering up" tactics of the police. The federal officials cannot understand, they say, the extreme activity of Chicago police in Lake county, the scene of the robbery, in which they have no jurisdiction.

Both postoffice sleuths and police detectives believe the seven persons they have in custody are actual participants in either the planning or execution of the great robbery, but the three men they have failed to capture are the custodians of the $3,000,000 stolen cash and securities.

ANSWER EXCLUSION PROTEST

Congress Has Final Word in Immigration Problems, Tells Japan

Washington—The United States government replied to the Japanese protest against the exclusion act in a note handed by Secretary of State Hughes to Ambassador Hanihara for transmission to Tokyo.

The reply was firm, but couched in conciliatory terms, and denied that the immigration bill violated any existing treaties between the United States and Japan.

The United States takes the position in the note that the action of congress in excluding Japanese and other Orientals by statute is irrevocable, and that the question has ceased to be one that can be regulated through diplomatic channels.

As to the abrogation of the "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan, Hughes left this question to be decided later, although it has been the understanding here that the action of congress abrogated the agreement.

BUS HITS GRAVEL, TURNS TURTLE

Skids, Turns Over Three Times, Pins Passengers Beneath

Lansing—Seven persons, four from Detroit, were injured about 14 miles west of Howell, when a bus operated on the Detroit-Lansing route by the Highway Transportation company, skidded in loose gravel and turned over three times. Mrs. Honor Phillips, of Holt, suffered internal injuries which may prove fatal.

The bus was traveling at a good rate of speed when it reached a slight incline immediately behind a light coupe. The coupe slowed down to enter a farm yard and the bus driver applied his brakes in an attempt to avoid a collision. The bus skidded in the deep gravel and turned over, pinning the passengers beneath it.

Doctors and nurses were summoned from Mason, Howell and Fowlerville and the patients were given attention in nearby farm houses.

FARMS ARE WASHED OUT BY RIVER

Missouri Swallows South Dakota Barns and Orchards

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Dependent South Dakota farmers whose homes, steads lie—on the banks of the Missouri River are gloomily contemplating the staggering bill for the annual spring meal of the voracious stream.

The big river, engaged in its annual pastime of "eating" farms at exposed points on its course, swallowed up hundreds of acres of valuable farm lands, carried whole orchards away and even whirled way in its swift current, swollen by the melting of snows along its upper reaches, barns, cribs, and even homes.

AN INSPIRING AND HELPFUL SERVICE.

The baccalaureate services which were held at the Baptist church on Sunday night were attended by a large concourse of people and they were helpful and inspiring. The members of the graduating class, accompanied by the Juniors and the teachers of the school, occupied seats of honor and the service was planned especially to do honor to our young people who have taken their farewell from our public school this week. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with potted ferns and an abundance of flowers, and the welcome extended to the young people and their friends who gathered to honor them was most sincere. Rev. F. P. Knowles read the scripture lesson of the evening and Rev. William Richards, offered prayer. Miss Fay Christ sang a solo and the choir and congregation joined in singing three familiar hymns. If the young people comprising the class, and all other Northville young people for that matter, will let the words of the opening hymn burn deeply in their hearts, and minds they will find themselves well fortified to meet life with all its varied trials and temptations.

Rev. A. K. MacRae gave the sermon of the evening and it was filled to overflowing with good advice and kindly, practical admonitions. He urged the young people to do their best, to set their aspirations and ideals high and not to be content until they had reached their goal.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

On Sunday last a spectacle never to be forgotten awaited the congregation assembled to listen to the voice of the child as it stood among the flowers that bedecked the chancel of this famous old church, dear to many hearts present from afar for the occasion, as well as those present, and none the less dear to the fathers who today are rejoicing in the church triumphant.

It was rarely a children's service maintained entirely by the primary intermediate classes.

Mrs. C. A. Dolph was chosen by the Sunday school board to be responsible for the program and to make her choice of a working committee. The program was well given and worthy of commendation. It thrilled our hearts when the organ pealed forth "Holy, Holy, Holy," and the little voices responding in the distance in professional. The hymn and the little hearts were stirred, more for what is more pure than childhood?

One of the rostrum the first steps of the pastor, carved from the Sappho-time marble found on the coast of Cornwall-England close to his birthplace. Fifteen little ones were presented for baptism and dedicated to God. This was most impressive and blessed us all. It made us more thankful for those whom He has by His keeping and who said, "There little angels do always behold my Father's face, which is in heaven."

W. R. C. OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY.

Saturday afternoon several cars decorated in bunting and filled with ladies each holding a flag, passed quietly down Main street and wended their way to Rural Hill cemetery, where at the grave of Mrs. Katharine Wing, memorial services of the Woman's Relief Corps were held.

As we listened to the beautiful words of the officers and the prayer by the chaplain we realized what it really means to be a woman and a member of the W. R. C.—that we may carry aid and comfort and our hearts be filled with grateful remembrance of the heroic deeds and noble sacrifices of our brave men, who fought our country's battles.

After the services at the grave of Mrs. Wing, a marker flag and beautiful bouquet was placed at the grave of every member and as each went their way the prayer in each heart was, "Heavenly Father, bless the land we love so well, and save it from all unrighteousness; and help us all to live that when our summons shall come to lay down the burdens and cares of life that it may be said of us, 'She hath done what she could.'"

"We will pause for a moment with reverent breath, To speak of the Angel, whom mortals call Death,

That gavel has sounded, which none disobey, And our friends tried and true, we think of today."

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Next Sunday the confirmation service will be held. Those to be confirmed are Harold Miller, Elmer Kreager. The service will begin at 10:00 o'clock (not 10:30). Before the confirmation the catechumens will be examined in the Christian doctrine. The service will be conducted in English.

Mrs. Gust Barnhardt, who was operated on for gout at Harper hospital in Detroit, is expected to return home within a few days.

Help to fill the pews in our church—it will do you good.

Mrs. Essfeldt entered her 69th year of life last Sunday.

Alvin Schnute, a student at Concordia College, Fort Wayne, arrived home for the summer vacation.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

Our Sunday morning address we trust will be helpful to business men as it is prepared for them, as well as for those with home cares. The subject will be, "Duplicate Trouble and How to Overcome Them." Time, 10:30.

If you are not fortunate enough to dispense with your troubles, bring them along anyway, and if we fail to give you a solution, well, what then?

The choir will render as usual the anthem. Let us all come and worship.

The Sabbath school will meet immediately following the service. Our Epworth League will be closed during the summer months.

In the afternoon we will participate in the grove meeting at East Lawn Sanatorium at three o'clock.

There will be no evening service in our church on Sunday.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

Have you read our ad?

The case against the member of our church who is said to have gone to sleep during church service, was appealed. Trial was held last Wednesday at the Baptist Brotherhood meeting. Clifford Sinton was for the accused and Mr. MacRae was prosecutor. "Judge" Langfield awarded the verdict to Mr. Sinton.

A very fine program has been prepared for our Children's day which will be observed next Sunday evening.

Ladies will meet at the home of Mrs. William Corbin next Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. Ladies are requested to bring the money they received from Little Apron plan. Lady who has received the most money from this plan will be given a prize.

Our prayer meetings are not only informal gatherings but they are the kind that give you thought for thought. This is the only meeting you have an opportunity to talk back to the pastor if you care to and express your opinion on the subject under discussion. Be present next Thursday evening.

The pastor plans to take his vacation during August, and the young folks will fill the pulpit during his absence.

TWENTY-FIVE YOUNG PEOPLE RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

The annual commencement exercises of the Northville High school took place at the school and gymnasium on Wednesday evening, when twenty-five young people received their diplomas in the presence of an audience which taxed the capacity of the building. The stage had been elaborately decorated for the occasion with crepe paper, vases of flowers and as the young people were grouped together on the platform they presented a picture that will not soon be forgotten by the friends who had gathered to do them honor.

The following very interesting program was given, and all who took part did exceedingly well. The work of Chester Alger and Helen VanAtta was especially praiseworthy and the girls' and boys' glee clubs sang in a manner that brought forth hearty applause.

WHAT IF GOD WERE SELDOM AT HOME

Where would you go for light upon the problems of life?

Where would you go for that moral health which every one needs constantly?

Where would you go for social justice—for standards of right and wrong—for adjustment of the problems of life generally?

You must find Him at home if you would rebuild your life and get worthwhile results.

You must find Him at home to get His law—His view of relationships—His attitude to justice and truth and love.

You must find Him at home if you would learn to deal justly, walk humbly and be honorable in all things.

MR. FORD'S DEVELOPMENT OF THE ROUGE RIVER.

(Continued from Last Week.) For fifty years ago at Dearborn, below the flour mills, the cider mill and lumber mill of the old order, there was a first sketch of the new. Prophets, after the manner of arch-eologists, might have found the tracks of a boy in the mud, as he built his dam across a little feeder of the Rouge near the Ford house, backed up the creek until there was enough fall to run his water wheel, attached a rake handle as a shaft, set going his coffee grinder and brought down the wrath of a neighbor whose potato cellar he flooded.

Today, on this small Michigan river, three miles up from its mouth, stand the stacks of the tremendous River Rouge works of the Ford Motor Company which has transferred to the Detroit suburbs a great chunk of Pittsburgh—blast furnaces, by-product ovens, foundries and the work that goes on with them. Further up the river there is Ford's own home at Dearborn, with Dam No. 1, and his pond stocked with fish. The horsepower he gets from it lights his residence and tam buildings, and runs his automatic telephone system. The 9,000 acres of his holdings encompass his father's old farm. He acquired hundreds of these acres for the purpose of trying out his tractor. Each year since (spending less than a month's time) he has plowed and harvested his fields with tractors and with factory field hands drawn from the tractor plant itself. He grinds his own flour which he sells at cost to his employees, and turns over the wheat straw to be made into artificial wood for his steering wheels.

Above Dearborn, the stream grows smaller, the current swifter and here and there on the old mill sites, some of them unused for a generation, Henry Ford is putting up new dams, modern turbines and small factory buildings. To these plants with their invitation to rural labor, he is transferring his departments from his main Highland Park factory (Detroit).

On the two floors of the old Nankin mills, once white with flour sittings and now as immaculate as an engine room, seventeen men work at automatic machines making screws and carburetor parts. A small modern plant, with the look of a power station, has taken the place of the Wilcox mill at Plymouth; and within, with twenty-five horsepower from the turbine, twenty-five highly skilled mechanics work at taps and dies. One hundred and fifty girls are employed at Phoenix, making generator cutouts in a village factory above the spillway that seems as many windowed as a greenhouse. At Northville three hundred and fifty men are employed temporarily in a renovated red brick planing mill making valves for the Model T motor that goes into all Ford cars. At Waterford a new dam has been thrown across the valley which will give 230 horsepower; and the water rights and land of the old Beals, Newburgh and Coon's mill sites are in Ford's hands.

A scientist will work for years on what goes on in a test tube. Ford's test tube is a small water shed. This is his laboratory. He is putting millions in it, against the advice of some of his shrewdest executives. He is experimenting on a scale which in some ways eclipses that of research institutions or governments. In another connection Marquis compares Ford to an acrobat with a net between him and the hard earth: "I suppose the fact that one has under him, several hundred millions to fall back on renders him more or less indifferent to a tumble." The experiment is in its beginnings as yet. It may fizzle out, a rich man's plaything. But it may be that Ford is working at the sort of spark that may yet explode cities and get people back into the country, an intention as far-reaching as its influence as Ford car and tractor. He fooled with such things in his boyhood also and stuck to them as a man when they were called ideas. And whatever else may be said of Ford, he clings to a notion until he has squeezed its juice.

HISTORY OF DAWES, REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

Charles Gates Dawes, the republican nominee for vice-president, was born in Marietta, Ohio, Aug. 27, 1865, and was graduated from Marietta College in 1884. He took a course at Cincinnati Law School and was admitted to the bar in 1886 and went to Lincoln, Neb., to practice. Later he became interested in gas and electric light companies in many cities.

In 1896 he was a member of the Republican national committee. He served as Comptroller of the Currency from 1897 to 1902. He became president of the Central Trust Co. of Illinois, shortly after leaving his federal position in Washington.

When the world war broke out he became lieutenant-colonel of the 17th U. S. Railroad engineers. In October, 1917, he was appointed a member of the staff of Gen. Pershing, with headquarters in Paris.

Mr. Dawes was appointed by President Warren G. Harding to institute a Federal budget system. After getting the system in good working order he gave up his position to return to his business interests in Chicago.

His most recent public activity was as the chief American expert who examined the finances of Germany at the request of the reparations commission. The Dawes report, which Germany has accepted, was the result.

MORAL INSANITY DEFENSE PLEA

Defense Wants Boys Confined in Corrective State Institution.

Chicago—Preliminary court proceedings out of the way, attorneys for Edward Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, millionaire sons and confessed slayers of 13-year-old Robert Franks, retained attorneys with a view to it is said to building up a defense of "moral insanity."

The state likewise is devoting its time to the gathering of evidence to combat such a defense. It is planned, defense attorneys have said, to have both boys examined by Dr. Carl M. Bowman, distinguished alienist of Boston. The defense has indicated that its sole fight will be to have the youths confined in a corrective state institution.

A group of physicians attending the sessions of the American Medical Association, visited the boys while inspecting the jail and attached hospital. Loeb talked a few minutes with the doctors and was pleasant and affable.

Indictment and arraignment on charges of murder and kidnapping for ransom have not affected the spirits of the boys. Loeb particularly appeared happy singing and laughing in his cell and about the jail.

TOWNS ARE SWEEP AWAY BY FLOODS

REPORT—22 DEAD; LOWLANDS ARE INUNDATED AS CLOUD-BURST SWEEPS VALLEYS.

DESTROY LAUREL FORK, BRAMER

Little Girl Swept Into Raging Torrent As Parents Leave Her Outside a Moment.

Atlanta, Ga.—Twenty-two persons were drowned and many are missing as the result of a terrific cloudburst which inundated the lowlands of northeastern Tennessee, according to word received by the southern headquarters of the Red Cross here. The villages of Laurel Fork and Bramer were completely washed away, according to the meager dispatches. Special relief workers were rushed to the scene.

At Cardens Bluff, Tenn., near Elizabethton, the body of a six-year-old girl was recovered washed against a wire fence where it had lodged. The force of the floodburst was so severe near the neighborhood of Cardens Bluffs and Hunter it carried away a heavy concrete bridge.

These creeks were suddenly transformed into great walls of water following the cloudburst, according to reports, spelling death and destruction to everything within their paths. In several places the narrow valleys were almost filled with the raging torrents.

A large number were reported missing.

The eight-year-old daughter of Nell Lewis, living north of Cardens Bluff, was carried out of the house, the father fearing the whirling waters would rise and carry the house away, and while the father and other members of the family had gone inside to bring out some belongings, the water bore the child to destruction.

KIDNAPING REMAINS MYSTERY

Little Gina Corsi's Father, Willing to Pay Ransom.

Detroit—Mystery still shrouds the kidnaping of seven-year-old Gina Corsi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Corsi, after a week of painful investigation and search. Two full days after the father received two telephone calls advising him that his daughter was safe and that he would receive a letter with full information, no communication had been received by the anxious parents.

A week ago the child, playing in a sand-pile near her father's confectionery store, was seized and carried away by a stranger described by the girl's little playmates as "awful looking." The other children, Iolane B. Co. 10 years old, and Mary Zola, 7 years old, both shrunk from the stranger's searching gaze and ran away, but Gina did not see him before he picked her up and carried her to his brown automobile the children have told.

The father has said that he is willing to pay a ransom or to keep an "ang" he has in order to get his daughter back safely.

NORTHVILLE WAS WELL RE-PRESENTED AT OTTER LAKE.

Upwards of twenty-five people of this community attended the dedication of the American Legion's children's hall at Otter Lake, in Lapeer county, on Sunday. The plan greatly interfered with the plans and the pleasure of the day, but the downpour did not dampen the enthusiasm of the men and women who gathered to bring cheer and happiness to the children gathered there. The hall, which was conceived and established by the Michigan Legionnaires, has now been taken over by the national organization, and will be maintained as a home for the children of World War veterans.

Twenty-nine children are living there under the care of Mrs. E. W.
Ingersoll, "head mother," and Mrs.
Julia Radziewski and Mrs. S. A. Wellman, who are the real mothers of some of the youngsters of the hall.
It is the policy to employ mothers of children who are here as supervisors so that they may be near their children.

The main cottage, which overlooks Otter Lake a beautiful and picture-que body of water a little more than half a mile long and almost as wide, has been open since last December.
A smaller cottage was opened Saturday. The unfinished cottage where the dedication was held, will be used as a summer camp for children of American Legion members.

It is estimated by officers of the American Legion that there are 5,000 orphans in the United States who need the care of a Legion home.
More than $750 was given Sunday by Legion posts and individuals for expansion.

F. Ryan Duffy, vice-commander of the national organization of the American Legion, made the dedication address, thanking the Michigan legionnaires for the nationalization of the hall and describing it as "the most fitting monument possible for those who have died in France."

"Michigan has pointed out to the rest of the country one of our most sacred obligations," Duffy said. "The men whose orphaned children we are caring for did their duty on the field of battle. We are only doing our duty in the field of humanity. No legionnaire's child shall grow up in the streets; no soldier's wife shall drudge herself to death."

"This is not an institution. It is not an asylum. Institutional life is not what we want for these, our children. They need the life of a refined home, and we shall give it to them. To safeguard the future of their children is more lasting than any granite memorial we could erect for our dead."

Other speakers were Judge Ernest P. Lajoie, of Detroit; C. Y. Spawr, of Benton Harbor, department commander of the Legion; Mrs. Elva Pelham, of Jackson, representing the Women's Auxiliary; William R. Davis, brother of James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor; Joseph Gillis, past commander of the Charles A. Larned Post
No. 1, Detroit; Mrs. Ingersoll, Mrs.
W. F. Morgan, of Evansville, Ill., state president of the Illinois Legion's auxiliary and national chairman of the Children's Welfare Committee of the auxiliary; Dr. G. Johnson, medical superintendent of the hall; and Clarence Myers, state treasurer of the Legion.

CARSON FAMILY ENJOY REUNION.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Carson Sunday, June 15th. The occasion being Mrs. Carson's fifty-ninth birthday. A pot-luck dinner and supper was served. The table flowers were a huge bouquet of white carnations and smilax a gift from the grandchildren. Many other pretty gifts were received. Those present were Miss Harriet Carson, Mr. and Mrs. L.
B. Snipley and son Mr. and Mrs. L.
B. Rathbun, son and daughter, Mr. and Percy Carson, Mr. and Mrs.
George Carson and daughter of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hillard and little son from Muskegon Heights.
Little Junior made the fourth generation at the party. A good time was enjoyed by all. The only regret was the absence of the two oldest sons,
Will and Fred, both of California.

Mrs. McBride entertained a number of Detroit ladies at luncheon on Wednesday. The ladies were members of the same club while Mrs. McBride was a resident of the city.

E. Power of Elk Rapids spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cook,
Mr. Power and Mrs. Cook being brother

Farmington.

Mothers are urged to remember the baby clinic to be held at the High school building on Tuesday afternoon next. These clinics have proved very helpful to a number of mothers and their little ones and all are invited to avail themselves of this helpful service.

Dr. Chester B. Emerson, pastor of the North Woodward Avenue Congregational church of Detroit, has been engaged as speaker for the annual banquet of the Northville High School

Alumni Association to be held at the High school gym on Friday evening of next week, the 27th.

A Detroit mother, whose husband came home to her and her little ones in an intoxicated condition, slashed her throat with a razor and then killed himself. The children returning home from a near-by store, where they had been sent by their mother, found the bodies of their parents lying on the floor of their home. This is a new and drastic method to cure drunkenness. A good strong broom handle enthusiastically handled by the wife and mother might have brought good results and she would have been spared to her little ones.

WHY PERMIT DOGS TO RUN LOOSE

Until all danger is past all dogs ought either to be muzzled or kept tied up in the premises of their owners. At Plymouth one day last week a dog bit some children and upon examination the animal was found to be suffering from rabies.

Due notice has been given throughout the county and in this township and village, and it would seem that a little care exercised now might prevent serious consequences later.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The above will meet with Mrs.
Frank Brown, corner Cady and Wing streets, on Thursday, June 26th. All the ladies are requested to bring flowers as it is flower mission day.

Barnes Roach was fined $50.00 and costs in Justice Baker's court on Wednesday for driving an auto while intoxicated. The court added as an additional penalty that he was not to be seen in Northville for a period of 60 days. He paid his fine.

Mrs. Permelia Kohler and daughter, Miss Lena Kohler, returned to Northville last Friday after an absence of several months spent at Pensacola, Florida.

Last evening the telephone employees of the Northville and Plymouth exchanges enjoyed a dancing party at Penniman-Allen hall in Plymouth, the use of the building having been very kindly donated for the use of the association.
