FAIR IS NOW IN FULL SPEED AHEAD

Northville's eighth annual fair opened Tuesday under very favorable conditions. The weather was ideal and by noon it is evident that every department would be crowded to its capacity. All last week entries were refused in the live stock department but in the fruit and vegetable departments all were just a little bit disturbed because of the backward season. By Tuesday afternoon every table and counter was filled and the displays have never been more attractive.

For the first day, which is usually regarded as merely entry day, there were more people on the grounds than at any previous fair. It was a happy crowd all-out to see and to have a good time. With good weather—and we are going to have a wonderful week—the attendance will be greater than ever.

Wednesday was horsemen's day and a great many Detroit people came out to see the fancy riding horses in action.

FAIR NOTES.

Base ball today and Saturday. Who will win the championship?
 Fred W. Lyke has a very attractive booth this year—the first one to be completed. You will enjoy a visit there.

W. H. Elliott & Son have an attractive display of their Rubie Hat Brand canned goods. You will enjoy a sample.

The poultry, sheep, cattle and horse departments are filled to their limit, in fact numerous displays had to be refused for lack of room.

The Shafter Electric Shop has a very attractive booth in the main building in which are displayed numerous electrical appliances for the home.

The race horse men are here in large number and we may expect to see some pretty lively stepping today and Saturday. Harry C. Robinson of Plymouth, is official starter.

The exhibit of boys' and girls' work is more attractive than at any previous fair and the space devoted to that work is well worth a visit. Miss Lois Corbett, home demonstration for Wayne county, is in charge of the booth.

Saturday will be a big day. It is Detroit and home-coming day and many people from the city will be out to meet old friends. The 125th regimental band will be present for the afternoon and evening and will give concerts.

C. A. Ponsford has a booth in the main building from which he is offering some real bargains in merchandise each day—something different every day and his offerings are real bargains.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Boyden of Kalamazoo spent a few days during the past week at the home of their son Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Boyden.

Misses Elizabeth Beard, Elizabeth Van Valkenburgh and Ada E. Jack Blackburn (Robert MacRae, Chester Alger and Starr Norton) took up their work at the University of Michigan on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Leshe and Mr. and Mrs. John Leshe of Detroit spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Bauman.

Mrs. George Leshe of Leamington, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Parve and children of Peterboro, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Kaywood Leshe, Mrs. Susie Cealey and Mrs. Merc Casatén and granddaughter Alice and children of Detroit visited last week with Mr. and Mrs. John Bauman of Northville and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Leshe of Plymouth.

A Zimmer has a display of Essex and Tuxton cars under the big tent and H. S. Geiman & Son and D. B. Burn are showing Dodges and Fords under their own tents. The auto show is very attractive again this year.

You can get a good meal at the dining hall under the grand stand operated by the ladies of the Baptist church.

Clarence Aldrich, the nurseryman whose place is located just a short distance from Farmington Junction on Grand River, has a wonderful display of shrubbery and cut flowers from his nursery. Mr. Aldrich has a good assortment of nursery stock constantly on hand and those who make their selections there will find him reliable and the stock will be all that it is represented. He will be pleased to book orders now either for this fall or next spring planting.

The Truitt shop has a very pretty booth in the main hall, which is attracting the attention of the ladies.

CHARMING WEDDING AT LANNING HOME.

A very charming wedding occurred Friday night last at the Mrs. Mae Lanning home on North Center street, when Miss Helen-Lanning became the bride of Lieutenant Merrill Sweet.

Midst vast quantities of beautiful flowers, pink and white table decorations and profusely decorated electric light shades, the ceremony was performed by Rev. William Richards of the Northville Methodist church in the presence of about fifty guests.

The bride was beautifully attired in a white silk net, over crepe gown with crystal trimmings. An accordion pleated crown trimmed with orange blossoms adorned her forehead and she carried a wrist basket of white roses and valley lilies.

The maid of honor was Miss Helen Cunningham, who wore a very handsome gown of pink georgette and carried a huge bouquet of pink roses. The best man was William Foss. The wedding march was played by the bride's cousin, Miss Cherry Leadbeater of Detroit. The ushers were the Mesdames Helen Pehay, Nellie Barry and the Misses Mary Sowles and Carrie Litsenberger. Your reporter almost forgot to mention that the groom was also present.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Mae Lanning and for some years past has been private secretary to R. B. Brown, district manager for the Detroit Edison company here and one of Northville's most charming and popular young ladies.

The groom was in the late war and won the commission of Lieutenant and was in a responsible position in the forest work in Florida for a number of years past he has had charge of the forest work of the Detroit Edison company, a position of no small responsibility.

Among the many and valuable presents given the popular young people was a check from the main office of the Detroit Edison company for $135 showing something of the esteem in which they were both held by their employers.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweet left later in the evening for Louisiana for a few weeks' visit at Mr. Sweet's old home. On their return to Northville they will go to housekeeping in their new home in Oakwood place at the north end of the village.

May joy, happiness and prosperity attend them all the days of their life is the sincere wish of a host of friends.

OBITUARY.

On Thursday afternoon last Mrs. Laura Fields was laid to rest in the Northville cemetery, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. A. K. MacRae, her pastor. Mrs. Fields whose maiden name is Laura N. Morse was the daughter of Charles and Mrs. Morse. She was born in Armada in 1856. At a very early age she united with the Baptist church and as long as she was able to do so she was faithful to her church and it could be said of her "She had done what she could." In 1871 she was united in marriage to Robert Fields of Canada and to the union were born five children—Alice Raymer, Edward B. Fields, Edith L., Weston, Stella R., Allen all of Northville and Marguerite LaGrange of Los Angeles, Cal. In 1859 she made her home in Armada, Mich., and at that time her family came to Northville where she resided until her death. The last days of her life were spent with her daughter, Mrs. Edith L. Weston. After an illness of eleven weeks she departed this life on September 15th. Besides her relatives she left a host of friends to mourn her death.

Our-of-town guests attending the Sweet-Lanning wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wooley and son John of Coloma, Mrs. Rose Sweet of DeRidder, Louisiana, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smith and Mrs. Zona Keyes of Kego Harbor, Miss Delphine Brighton of Wyandotte, Miss Ruth Crawford of Milford, Mr. and Mrs. Orren Stewart of Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Alexander of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. M. Litsenberger of Plymouth; George Gruebner of Detroit; Howard Riggs of Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Leadbeater and daughter, Cherrise of Detroit.

The J. L. Taylor Co. of Walled Lake has a very extensive display of Maxwell and Chrysler cars in the auto show.

Northville defeated the fast Birmingham team on Wednesday afternoon to the score of six to one.

WOMAN FINDS GEMS 3,000-YEARS OLD

Taken From Skeletons Discovered in New Mexico.

New York—There are few real pick-ax archeologists among women, but Mrs. Earl Morris has dug for prehistoric remains with her own small hands and has ridden alone into dark, unexplored canyons, seeking signs of remote occupation. With her husband, who is an archeological explorer for the American Museum of Natural History, she recently returned from New Mexico to New York, bringing trophies which students of America's ancient history will admire when they are placed upon exhibition.

"They were really my find, weren't they, Earl?" Mrs. Morris demands, pointing to two fine turquoise pendants which are one of the expedition's proudest and most significant discoveries. Mrs. Morris' specialty, however, is basket maker sandals, and to the study of these she is now giving most of her time, says the Kansas City Star.

The museum's excavations at the Aztec ruin, New Mexico, are being conducted chiefly with a view to obtaining light upon the three periods called respectively the basket makers, the post basket makers and the pueblo.

Fiber Weaving 4,000 Years Ago. Although the basket makers who furnished 4,000 or more years ago, and antedated the cliff dwellers by several thousand years, had not learned to fashion pottery, yet they displayed fine craftsmanship in the manufacture of baskets and sandals woven of yucca fiber and ornamented with intricate and beautiful designs whose colors have survived the centuries. All of the specimens in Mrs. Morris' collection are obviously intended to adorn small feet.

It was one hot day last November, when all were digging in dust masks, that her spade opened the site which was to yield those turquoise pendants. The expedition was feeling being discouraged. They had found no valuable skulls. And archeologists do not hope unless they find skulls. "Somehow don't get them much farther."

"I'm going to try one more," declared Mrs. Morris, and taking her shovel she went down the slope to a spot where the other scientific diggers had abandoned. Soon the earth crumbled. Turquoise in her hand she touched bottles. "And you cannot imagine the thrill of discovering that there were not one but three skulls." She had come upon a prehistoric cemetery, but a great fire at some period had destroyed baskets and textiles, leaving only bones. The Canyon del Muerto, where this exciting event took place, is a hundred miles from a railroad in the northeastern corner of New Mexico.

Turquoise 3,000 Years Old. Under the devastated cemetery lay two skeletons, upon their breasts the turquoise ornaments. These are the earliest examples of turquoise mosaic that have been found in our South west and are at least 3,000 years old. They were the burial adornments of an old man and a young man of the basket maker people and are made of bits of turquoise and abalone set in wood.

You can see from remains which that are still in his hand mumbled that the basket maker ladies were bold but Mrs. Morris points out. Twelve prehistoric archeological excavations she explored many dark side canyon leading off from the main canyon and in some of these ancient paintings were still quite fresh upon the walls. Less appealing were the fresh bear tracks.

Mrs. Morris was instructed at the American School for Prehistoric Study in Paris. The students every summer continue investigations at the La Quina station in southern France, where fossils from 50,000 to 100,000 years old are frequently unearthed. "Some of those caves in the Pyrenees are two miles long. They open into the hillside and slope down into darkness. The walls are covered with beautiful paintings and carvings. You have to wriggle for long distances on your stomach to explore those caverns, but we thought nothing of that," said Mrs. Morris who was therefore not dismayed by the caves of Dead Man's canyon.

Swiss Pigeons Fly to Homes, Despite Fogs

Bern.—An interesting test of the reliability of pigeons as message bearers was recently made by the Swiss general staff.

Twenty doves were taken to the highest accessible point of the "Jungfrau" and released. The day was cloudless in the upper region of the Alps, but all the cities and valleys were screened from view by a thick layer of fog.

Seventeen doves started in a straight line for Bern. Two started in the wrong direction, and a third became lost for a while in the valley. But the entire 20 finally reached their destination. The three erring doves were only ten minutes behind the leaders in getting home.

Chicken Has Eight Hearts. Evening Shade, Ark.—Mrs. C. D. Evans recently killed a chicken that had eight hearts. One normal-sized organ was found and the others, which were small, were arranged under it in the form of a cluster of grapes.

CARING FOR RECORDS DIFFICULT PROBLEM

Loss of Documents Often Causes Heavy Expense.

New York.—The discovery in South Dakota not long ago of a parchment land deed, dated 1891 and disposing of a million acres along the Niagara river in New York state, directs attention anew to the difficulties presented by the problem of caring for records.

The matter will come to the attention of the American Historical Association next December, for the society is to hold its convention at Richmond, Va., and in that city the state has a special interior building the archives department of the State Library for safeguarding documents. Morgan P. Robinson, head of the archives department, was instrumental in bringing the convention to his city. In some New York towns stores of local records of historic value have been burned as junk.

The story of the archives in New York is one that has more interest than an outsider would casually attribute to such a dry-as-dust matter. It has its villains, plots, searches, clues and tense moments, extending much further back than 1817, when one villain was sentenced to prison for life for fraudulently substituting false conveyances in a record book.

It is a story not without humor also, in proof of which James P. Davenport, of the index department of the county register's office, cites the good wife of Arent Janssen Lantsman. She flourished at a period when the earliest Dutch folk in New Amsterdam was not yet filled up.

Records From Earliest Days

Such a testimony might conceivably come to life again today. It gives a moment's glimpse at New Amsterdam, and it might be cited once more if such a dispute as the Anneke Jans claim ever got as far as a court calendar. These old claims—the assertion of families and groups that they are the true owners of this or that acreage in the heart of Manhattan—are coming up all the time says Mr. Davenport.

Eastville, Northampton county, Virginia, has the country's oldest continuous court records, running back to 1632, and is said to have also the country's oldest will, dated July 18, 1632, and recorded on January 13 of the following year. In the custody of the New York secretary of state it all but, however, there are Dutch land records extending from 1630 to 1619 and from 1612 to 1761. They were among the documents that escaped in the State Library fire of 1911, which destroyed 500,000 books and 300,000 manuscripts. Much of the executive legislative and judicial record material was not in the library at the time of the fire, including Dutch Dutch and Revolutionary documents and state documents dating from 1777.

While the British held New York in the course of the Revolution many of the volumes were taken some by Americans and some by the British but were returned later. The Dutch put the books on war-tips and when the books were given back in 1788 they were pilfered from their long sojourn in England.

Only one of the original Dutch record books is not represented in the fire-damaged county registers files. It is the volume for 1675 to 1685. The files are represented by the originals or by abstracts.

Documents Represent Bilucers

There has been considerable searching of old New York documents since the secretary of the colony kept the books. Now the original files are in the Court of General Sessions the surrogate has those that belong to his work, the old Mayor's court records are held by the commissioner of records, and so on. Before 1811 deeds could be recorded locally or with the secretary of state, his office at Albany has 1,400. One old book of Dutch deeds is possessed by the New York Historical society and a translation is filed in the register's office.

Old court records outside New York city contain matter bearing on realty titles here, but a tally has shown that the city departments have all the documents listed in an inventory made by the common council in 1749.

The 11,000 files on the shelves in the office of Register Anne Mathews form evidence of title to $6,000,000,000 worth of realty in Manhattan. The cost of merely gathering abstracts if such records are destroyed is tremendous. Citizens have spent millions of dollars for abstracts as a result of the fire of 1871, and the destruction of records in San Francisco in 1907 is said to have cost $3,000,000 in proceedings under a special title law aside from the cost of records in 250,000 mortgages and civil and criminal cases.

Possible Use by Spies

Bans Radio From Russia

Moscow.—Russia is one of the few countries of the world where "radio" is in the home use scarce known in all the 800,000 square miles of Russia territory, with a population of 100,000,000. It would be difficult to find more than a dozen amateur receiving outfits.

This is due to the non-manufacture of home wireless apparatus in Russia, the prohibitive duty on imported sets; to the Russian peasant's ignorance of what wireless means; and to the reluctance of the Soviet government to permit the indiscriminate use of radio apparatus, which might be used for espionage purposes.

SCIENCE DEMANDS FOUR-WEEK MONTH

Would Discard "Our Awkward Calendar."

Toronto, Ont.—"Our complex and awkward calendar with months of unequal length made up of weeks plus one, two or three days apportioned according to the whims of an old Roman emperor," says the report of a scientific committee of scientists of the University of Toronto, "is a barrier to progress in science and industry."

The committee, which is one of the United States' scientific organizations, is now in session in the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia. It is the first of a series of scientific conferences to be held in the city. The committee is composed of scientists from various countries, and its report is expected to be published in the near future.

To be fully useful to students for analysis, these data need to be appropriately assembled in suitable units of time and sectional area or representative groups, Professor Marvin explained.

Thus he would advocate in addition to simplification of the calendar, the arbitrary division of the areas of the continents more convenient than the present haphazard grouping into countries, provinces or states.

"Let us promote the adoption of the simple equal-month calendar many others are now advocating, and this make it easy for all future time at least, to summarize data in units of weeks, fortnights, four-week months, thirteen-week quarters, and years of just fifty-two weeks," Professor Marvin urged.

Leap year would just naturally fit in under this scientist's scheme.

Artificial Panama Isle

Harbors "Ark" Populace

Washington.—A Noah's ark laboratory in the heart of a six-square-mile jungle has been successfully opened by scientists right in the world's greatest man-made highway.

This scientist's paradise is Barro Colorado island in Gatun lake, Panama canal.

Barro Colorado island was formed when the valleys about it were flooded by the impounding of the waters of the Chiriqui river to form Gatun lake. It resembles Noah's ark in that there gathered in the waters rose nearly every form of animal life in the vicinity seeking escape from the rising flood.

Despite the fact that it is only two miles from the Panama railroad and a well-kept station New York it has been found to harbor amphibians of new and strange habits as yet unstudied and unnameable species of insects never described, as well as many strange and exotic plants, numbering 2,000 or more. It abounds with butterflies, snails, millipedes, lizards, tiger cats, many species of bat monkeys of various kinds and the famous black howler.

Patent Office Plans

Auction of Old Models

Washington.—What to do with all the old-time models now in the custody of the patent office is facing a problem and the office is trying to find a solution.

The idea of selling the patent office models in the market for exhibition cases at the end of the year, under the general name of "patent office models," is being considered. A proposal now being considered is to have a commission appointed to sort out the models that might prove of historic interest, and perhaps sell the others at public auction.

The general reputation of having the inventor submit a model with his patent application was discontinued about 1880. Today the law directs that the commissioner of patents in his discretion may require a model furnished.

Hornets as Fly Screen

Richmond, Va.—S. R. Harper, owner of a dairy farm in Pittsylvania county near Danville, Va., is keeping flies away from his dairy barn. Hornets recently established a large nest near the barn. Mr. Harper gave instructions that it remain and the hornets are effective in keeping flies away from the immediate area.

Deer Seen Carrying

Young in Its Mouth

Stuart, Lake N. Y.—Edward Edwin, Adirondack guide in the Bowdoiner section, asserts that deer as well as bear will take up their young in their mouths when they believe the animals are threatened.

The guide recently came upon a doe with two fawns but a few hours old. One fawn was weak and could not walk. Evidently a great fear that the guide would harm the helpless fawn, the anxious mother picked up the weakling by holding the loose skin of its back in her mouth and hastened into a swamp, the other fawn trotting by her side.

"THE FAIR"

They brought the best and sleekest of their flocks. The milkiest cow, the squarest-shouldered ox; The bull, with mimic thunder in his cry, And lightning in each eager, wicked eye; The sheep that had the heaviest garments worn. The cock that crowed the loudest in the morn; The mule, unconscious hypocrite and knave, The horse proud, high-born Asiatic slave; The playful calf, with eyes precocious-bright. The hog—grim quadrupedal appetite; The Indian corn-ears, prodigal yield, The golden pumpkin, nugget of the field; The merriest potatoes, nursed in gloom. Just resurrected from their cradle-tomb; To 'av tempted Eve to fall—to make them fall; The grapes, whose picking served strong vines to prune. The very best the farmer's land had grown, They brought to this menageries of their own. —Will Carleton.

THE NIAGARA OF OUR NORTHWEST

In the mountains of the Cascade range southeast of the city of Seattle, in the state of Washington, three rocky streams, born of melted snow, tumbling from the heights above, run together and form one larger stream. This broader, deeper stream, the Snoqualmie river, meanders along through peaceful valleys, fringed by heavily timbered hills, presses onward between great hills which threaten to stop its course and then, all of a sudden in the midst of surroundings of great beauty, flows over a strain ledge and pours down gracefully into a deeply-caved gorge 270 feet below.

For centuries this nature-made spectacle, unknown played its part in the general scheme of the universe. Even to this day it is practically unheard of, nationally and is sought out by but a very few of the thousands of well-informed folks who, intent upon broadening their horizon of information and getting acquainted with their own country, journey across the continent to see what the other side is like. But the remarkable phenomenon of a river, hidden away amid the forests and mountains, deliberately dropping a straight 270 feet, and then continuing on its way to the sea, was destined to do, eventually, come late its own as the development of our water-power resources began to claim attention.

The enormous potential power represented in this great waterfall deserved and received recognition. Engineers set to work to compel this falling water to end its wasteful and meaningless career and turn its energy to useful pursuits. And so it came to pass that an electrical generating plant was constructed a few hundred feet above the falls. Later a second power-producing plant was installed at the river's edge just below the falls. Now the force of the water which forms this great cataract is made to turn the machinery that develops hundreds of thousands of horse power of electrical energy. Much of this energy is transmitted long distances through the medium of heavily insulated high-tension cables and lights and otherwise serves the fast-growing cities of the Puget Sound region. Thus without marring its beauty man has made this majestic God made waterfall serve his majestic the American citizen.

A PORTRAIT THAT YOU CANNOT OVERLOOK

The picture of your mother - your best friend - or a mere acquaintance does not fully portray that person. Only by daily association can you learn of another person.

You have in your mind a picture of Christ. You have frequently wondered about Him.

While in Galilee He helped people in a great number of ways so that a fine portrait of the Man comes to us as pictured by friends and enemies.

His life and His power are growing with the years. Folks are paying more attention to the face of Jesus. Come next Sunday and review the first year of His public life.

Court annals have no other records to match that of a MAN on trial in old Jerusalem. Reputation, honor, life itself, together with the trust of his friends were at stake. HE had no highly paid legal talent. He spoke not even his own defence. He left his case with God and the ages. He crowned Calvary's hill for you and me.

Going to church is really a pleasure because you receive there, something that you cannot get elsewhere - the inspiration that enables you to help make the world a better place in which to live and enjoy the blessings God has given you.

ESSAYS DESCRIBE HORRORS OF WAR

Children of Russian Refugees Write Grim Tale.

Prague.—A touching collection of human interest material has just emerged from a school in which 500 children of Russian emigrants receive their daily instruction.

All of them were asked to write down their experiences from 1917 to the time of their entering the school, and were given two hours to complete the task.

One is one of the productions from Pessa We went to Archangel and there a Nor. and London. A lot of it lived in Paris. It was a lot of it. It was a lot of it. It was a lot of it.

The following is like a story. We traveled about for a week that we traveled about in one city and one city. We traveled about in one city and one city. We traveled about in one city and one city.

What happened to one boy during the revolution is described as follows: "Both my brothers were killed. My father likewise was killed and my mother was allowed to survive. Mother returned from the hospital and said: 'You are orphans now, your father died.' Out on the street I saw a list of those shot; papa was among them. Our uncle was summoned and later we found him in a big ditch where there were others, also. When father was shot I understood what a revolution is. There were seven of us and I alone have survived. For half a year I lived on roots and berries. At the age of eleven I saw how people were shot, hanged, drowned and even blown on the wheel."

The shortest description was furnished by a twelve-year-old girl: "I saw war, pestilence and hunger. The collection of essays is to be brought out in book form."

Four Billion Matches Used Daily in America

Peterboro N. H.—The United States uses more than 1,000,000,000 matches made out of wood every year. This is about seven matches a day for every man, woman and child in the country, based on a population of 110,000,000. Recent statistics from Europe have placed the per capita consumption there at 14 matches a day.

The world output costs $200,000,000 and reaches a total of 4,675,000,000 matches a year. Eight million tons of paper are being used in the United States every year.

Emden Sailor Thought Dead 11 Years Is Home

Hamburg, Ger.—After an absence of 11 years from home, Emden Look of Vollen in eastern Prussia who was a member of the crew of the famous German sea ruder Emden has reached home. His return caused a little surprise in his native village, for everybody including his family had believed him to be dead.

When the Emden was shelled and sunk, Look was taken captive by the British who brought him to the internment camp at Singapore. Look and several companions made their escape. After a difficult journey through the jungle and through swampy regions they finally reached the coast. They espied a rowboat and started out, reaching the island of Sumatra after 12 hours. Here Look was again interned and kept prisoner until the end of the war.

Not until recently could he accumulate enough money to take him back home.

Rare Sea Monster Is Caught Near Florida

St. Augustine, Fla.—A monster from the seas on Africa's native habitat, visited its fishing grounds off the Florida coast to get a rest and promptly became entangled in fishermen's nets. The fish, known as the gigantic ox-ray or two-horned mania (mania bica), was being the scene of the day.

The fish is one of the largest specimens of this rare and for middle monster ever caught. It measured 15 feet across the back and its mouth was 3 feet wide and from it was taken more than a bushel of fish. The monster could swallow a man 15 weeks 1,100 pounds.

Four hours were required to haul the catch and one fisherman of the group was drowned in the process.

Bible Thoughts for the Week

Sunday.
SOW BOUNTIFUL.—He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully.—11 Cor. 9:6.

Monday.
THE IDEAL WAY.—They helped every one as he had need; and every one said to his brother, Be of good courage.—Isa. 41:10.

Tuesday.
DELIVERANCE.—For he shall deliver the needy when he crieth; the poor also, and him that hath no helper.—Ps. 109:27.

Wednesday.
TO THE VINDICATED.—Make me as a righteous man, O God, for I have not hid thy righteousness in my heart.—Ps. 119:27.

Thursday.
GET THE TRUTH.—Bid the truth, and sell it not; also wisdom, and instruction, and understanding.—Prov. 23:23.

Friday.
IT PROFITETH NOTHING.—Though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.—1 Cor. 13:3.

Saturday.
MAN'S BIRTHRIGHT.—Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet.—Ps. 8:6.

Exit Cant.
Honor to the strong man, in these ages, who has shaken himself loose of shame, and is something for in the way of being worthy, the first condition, surely is that one be. Let cant cease, at all risks and at all costs; till cant ceases, nothing else can begin.—Cantile.

TEN SHEETS AT ONE TIME

It surprises most women when they learn that the EASY washes 10 single sheets or 8 double sheets at one time—or the equivalent in other clothes. This large capacity means a fewer number of tubful for the average family washing—and material, saving in time and energy. The capacity of the EASY is, of course, adjustable, so that a smaller amount of clothing can be washed just as well. We'll be glad to show you how much time the EASY will save in doing your own family washing.

L. W. LOVEWELL ENTERTAINED COMMISSION FIRM AT CHICKEN DINNER.

The farm house of L. W. Lovewell, south and west of the village, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering last Saturday when a company of sixteen representing the commission firm of Detroit, with whom Mr Lovewell has dealt for the past ten years, assembled there as his guests.

The lawn and interior of the house, artistically decorated with flowers, fruit and vegetables—products of the farm—presented a most pleasing appearance and was a delight to the company entertained.

The host, assisted by H L Richardson, served a deliciously appetizing chicken dinner at the noon hour, after which games were played and a general survey of the thriving Lovewell farm was taken.

Besides the commission firm of Bushop, Holmes, Hammond & Jackson with their office corps was the superintendent of stockyard with his office corps.

Late in the afternoon when the gentlemen left for their city homes, each one carried with him a beautiful bouquet of flowers, or a collection of fruit and vegetables—as a souvenir of the farm where no doubt they had experienced one of the happiest days in some time.—South Lyon Herald

M. A. C. OPENS FOR SIXTY-SEVENTH YEAR.

The Michigan Agricultural college opened its doors to the young men and women of the state on Wednesday, September 24th, for the 67th consecutive year since the college's founding in 1857.

Early enrollment which indicated one of the largest freshman classes, as well as total attendance in the history of the college featured the registration on Monday and Tuesday, Agriculture, engineering, and home economics continued to prove the most popular courses for entering students, although the new liberal arts and applied science divisions drew many registrations.

Dr. Kenyon L. Butterfield, newly installed M. A. C. president welcomed the student body at its arrival, addressing a convocation in the gymnasium Wednesday morning.

Rapid progress on the college's big building program proved the outstanding feature for the returning students. The new library had been finished during the summer and is ready for use by the student body, the college Union building is rapidly nearing completion work is under way on the new Horticultural greenhouses and building while a reworked landscape plan is being worked out on the campus.

TIMES DO CHANGE.

A man was motoring up the drive to his country house with a business friend whom he was going to entertain over the week-end. "There's part of my family," he said, "having tea on the piazza now." "Ah, yes, indeed," beamed the business friend. "What a charming group!" I suppose the young girl in the short frock is your daughter. The young fellow in the riding breeches would be of course your son, while the lovely lady in the pink silk tea gown and no hat late your wife, naturally." "No," grinned the other man. "No not at all." The young girl in the short frock is my wife's mother, the young fellow in the riding breeches is my wife herself and the lady in the pink silk tea gown is my son's sophomore who is reuniting her for the new year, while he takes a female part—Exchange.

GAS PIPE MAKES POOR RADIO GROUND.

Gas pipes have been forbidden for use as grounds for radio sets by the fire underwriters. If the pipe should happen to leak and if a spark should happen to jump at that joint, then it would very likely ignite the gas with perhaps disastrous results.

Water pipes make far better grounds than gas pipes, for the reason that they carry water and there is always a certain amount of leakage and moisture around them in the ground, which is ideal for a radio set. It is always best to connect the ground on the pipe before it enters the water meter from the street mains.

TRAFFIC COPS. ATTENTION!

Claiming that motorists are becoming contemptuous of the standardized "Stop, look and listen," signs at rail crossings, a correspondent to the Michigan Public Utility Information Bureau suggests that crossing warning be "jazzed up" a bit to attract better attention. Here is what he suggests:

"Come ahead You're unimportant."
"Try our engines. They satisfy."
"Don't stop Nobody will miss you."
"Take a chance A train can hit you only once."
"Thousands get by safely You should worry."
"It's all right There's a doctor around the corner."

Never were styles easier to make than now. The simplest fashions are the smartest and present-day patterns insure success even for the woman who has never made a dress before.

But—look well to your materials! The silks which you make up in simple styles must be good silks—Belding's Silks—from the finest cocoons, dyed with the purset dyes, and loomed with a care which permits no flaws.

Belding's Silks have been favorites with the women of three generations because of their quality—they do not crack nor split, all of them perfectly and the lighter shades may be rubbed.
