BIG CROWDS ENJOY 8TH ANNUAL FAIR

Northville's eighth annual fair closed Saturday night after five days of fair weather, with a happy, enthusiastic crowd present each day. The weather could not have been more ideal for a fair and the people attended in large numbers. Each day was filled to overflowing and the crowds of people were generous in their praise of the attractions offered and the exhibits shown. Nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the affair in any way and the crowd was a happy and good-natured one. President H. R. Richardson and Secretary E. L. Smith, with their assistants and the members of the board of directors, received so much praise from those who attended the fair that it is not surprising that they are feeling pretty proud this week. They have a right to. Their untiring efforts covering weeks and weeks of planning were crowned with success and the fair has gained many new and enthusiastic friends, while friends of former years were there in great numbers to enjoy the fair and to meet and greet old friends. The whole community, and Northville people especially, have great reason to be proud of the displays made this year and of the program given throughout the entire five days.

Our Band Did Well

The Northville band appeared at the grounds every morning shortly after ten o'clock and remained "on the job" until the conclusion of the fair attractions at night. The members were generous with their services, and frequently visited the various departments and exhibits about the grounds where selections were given. The people in charge of the fair attractions were very generous in their praise of the work of the local band and there were a great many compliments showered upon the organization and its able director. On Plymouth day two bands were consolidated for the afternoon and evening and Mr. McArthur directed the enlarged band with skill and in a manner that delighted all who were able to enjoy the concerts given.

The New Woman's Building

The handsome new woman's building was the center of attraction all the week and the fair management was congratulated upon its appearance. As usual the building was filled to its capacity and the displays were most artistically arranged. While every department in the new building exceeded all former efforts the flower show was the best and most extensive exhibit of its kind yet given. The antique exhibit created a great deal of interest and the displays of canned fruits and jellies, baked goods and fancy needle work never looked more attractive than they did this year. The ladies in charge of the woman's building are to be congratulated upon the very interesting display they brought together.

Fruits and Vegetables Attract Many

The displays of fruits and vegetables were pronounced the best in the state by those who have visited many of the fairs held in other counties this season. The committee in charge of these departments were just a little bit nervous regarding the display on account of the backward season, but the people rallied loyally and with a fine spirit of community advancement and as a result of their combined efforts the displays were a distinct credit to the whole community. Much of the credit for the fine display of fruit should be given to E. J. Verduyn and Harry Rackham and County Agent Ralph Carr deserves great praise for the display of vegetables. The two departments were attractively arranged and were crowded with fair visitors most of the time.

Good Order Maintained

Men who have made the circuit of Michigan fairs declared they had not seen a happier or more orderly crowd this season, and they expressed surprise that everything should pass off so smoothly. Police officers had very little trouble and but very little disturbance was caused. A few reported that their pockets had been picked and some reported other articles missing, but the crowd as a rule was beat on having a good time and not on causing trouble. The police officers on the grounds and those who were responsible for their presence deserve credit for the manner in which the crowds were handled.

Base Ball Tournament

What a wonderful feast base ball fans enjoyed during the five days and each game seemed to create more interest than the one previously played. On Friday afternoon Northville and the Risdon Creamery team played a 12 inning game with the score 6 to 5 in favor of the Creamery boys. The Rough and Ready team having won first place in the first division contested for final honors with the Risdon team and were defeated, the score for the closing game being 7 to 6. The Friday afternoon game was really the best of the tournament and had it not been for two errors on the part of Northville's short stop, the result of the contest would, doubtless, have been different. Harry S. Gorman assisted N. C. Schrader in arranging for the tournament and its success reflects their good judgement and direction.

The Races

Northville people have never enjoyed three days of better racing than they were permitted to witness this year. The track was fast, the several classes were well filled and all entrants "drove for the money," many of the races being finished with horses under the whip. Friday afternoon the track record was broken in the free-for-all, the fastest mile being turned off in 2:19 1/4 by M. H. Sloan, E. M. Starkweather and H. H. Hamilton were ably assisted by F. K. Van Atta, who officiated as clerk of the course. Harry C. Robinson officiated as starting judge on Thursday and Friday and Wiley Tibbitts was in the stand part of Saturday afternoon and did well. Horsemen and spectators were well pleased with the race program given for the three days.

The Free Attractions

The Northville Fair has always been noted for the high quality of its free attractions and this year's program fully sustained the reputation gained during the past seven years. In fact, it was generally conceded by fair visitors that the attractions this year were the best ever shown. The Aerial Youngs, Lil Kerslake with his trained pigs and Bobker Ben Ali Arabs never failed to please and to receive generous applause. The splendid attractions were the means of filling the grand stand to overflowing each afternoon and evening and hundreds were unable to secure seats.

The Auto Show

To the untiring efforts of Roy M. Terry must be attributed much of the success of the auto show and the display was a credit to the fair. A large tent provided ample show space and many of the newest and latest models were shown. H. S. Geiman & Son made an exhibit of Dodge cars under their own tent and Dayton B. Bana had an attractive display of Fords and a Fordson tractor. The auto show as a whole was a credit to those who had charge of the display.

The Baby Show

As usual the better baby contest and baby show attracted a great many people on Wednesday, the tent under which these two events were held being crowded for several hours. Mrs. Flora Larkins was in charge as in former years and she was ably assisted by Drs. Douglas Salan and Hart two nurses from the Sanatorium and Frank J. Boyle. The four winners in the better baby contest were Baby Carl of Farmington, who scored 96, Jack Holcomb of Northville with a score of 95 1/2, Baby Kent of Novi with a score of 91 and Billy Wooder of Farmington, who scored 91. Baby Kent was over one year and under two years of age and Billy Wooder was over two years and under three.

The Poultry Exhibit

The capacity of the poultry house was again taxed to its utmost when all of the entries had been received. In fact some exhibitors were asked not to come owing to the many entries offered. Messrs. E. A. Fuller and G. E. Richardson were in charge of the show, of course, and they certainly made their department very attractive. R. K. Babbitt won the Exchange Club's cup for the best display made at the show. Every inch of space was filled with a coup and each coup was filled with attractive fowls. The show attracted a great many visitors.

Live Stock Exhibits

The Northville Fair has long been noted for its splendid display of live stock but the barns, stalls and pens have never been more attractive than they were this year. Superintendents H. B. Clark, Floyd Northrup, (Continued on page 8).

CREW OF TWENTY-EIGHT LOST

Eight Michigan Sailors On Steamer Clifton, Sunk in Storm in Lake Huron.

Alpena, Mich.—Wreckage of the steamship Clifton, missing for a week which was lost in the recent storm, was picked up in Lake Huron, about 15 miles south of this city by the fishing tug Falcon, owned by R. Piepkorn of Alpena. The wreckage consisted of a section of the cabin and the cabin door, bearing the name of the ship. The tug reported that the location of the wrecked freighter is certain from the wreckage. She found a large amount of wreckage, it is said, but picked up only enough to identify the vessel.

Captain Dalton Hudson of the steamer Clifton also reported finding wreckage about 70 miles from Goderich on the Detroit Goderich course.

The Clifton was loaded with stone and was bound from Sturgeon Bay to Detroit.

The ship carried a crew of 28 men all of which were lost. The following eight Michigan men were among the crew: Peter Burns, St. James, Mich.; Joe Seheid, St. James, Mich.; Sam Stevenson, Benton Harbor, Mich.; Emil J. JAPAN REFUSES PEACE PLAN

League of Nations System Rejected By Nipponese Government

Washington—Japan's dramatic refusal to join with the other world powers in revising the League of Nations new peace system met a twofold interpretation in government circles here.

(1) It served as an ominous reminder that the League of Nations is still ranking in Tokyo.

(2) It constituted a form of notice that Japan does not intend to allow the League to use her hands in China should developments in that tumultuous country reach a stage where Tokyo might consider it expedient to intervene.

MANY VISIT THE NEW DAIRY BARN AT FARM

Many people in this section visited the new dairy barns and milk house recently completed at the Detroit House of Correction farm, which were formally opened on Wednesday. Superintendent Edward Denniston and his corps of efficient assistants were on hand to show the visitors about the place and the tour of inspection was one of real enjoyment, because the visitors were not only privileged to inspect the new buildings but they had the pleasure of seeing all of the farm's herd of dairy cattle assembled in the new barn, upwards of 90 head of Holstein being in their stanchions at the time. This herd of Holsteins is recognized as one of the best in the state, and Mr. Denniston is justly proud of them.

The following interesting description of the new buildings was taken from the Plymouth Mail of last week.

The dairy barns are located a short distance east of the prison buildings, the several units being conveniently arranged and connected, so that the work can be carried on to the best possible advantage.

The main building is 250 feet long and 36 feet wide. Two long rows of stanchions extend the full length of this well lighted and ventilated building. The 106 stanchions are equipped with West Bend Equipment Co's modern stanchion equipment, with individual drinking bowls, which operate automatically. The animals stand on cork floors. Over each stanchion is a neatly painted sign, which gives the cow's register number, ear number and name. Provision has been made for the weighing daily of each cow's milk, and a complete record kept of the same. Rubber-tired trucks are used as litter carriers and these are wheeled to the rear of the barn, where an overhead litter carrier conveys the contents a short distance to the concrete manure pits.

The east wing of the building contains the maternity pens, twelve in number, and each pen 12x14 feet in size. Modern equipment is used here with individual drinking bowls, etc. Cork floors are used in the pens.

The west wing of the building contains the calf pens, ten in number, and two large bull pens. This building has all modern equipment.

Four silos are on the south side of the main barn, each one 16x46 feet in size. Ample space is provided between the four silos for removing the silage, all under cover. A concrete walk connects the silos with the hay barn, which is 36x100 feet in size, and has a capacity for 500 tons of hay.

The dairy plant is in a separate building at the front of the dairy barn. This building will house the refrigerating plant and the ice making equipment. Here is installed the milk cooling system and the very latest machinery for pasteurizing, bottling, washing of bottles, sterilizing tanks and built working machinery. Everything will be as sanitary and clean as it is possible to make it.

This building also contains the boiler room, and a wash room provided with shower baths and steel lockers for the men who will be employed here.

Between the milk house and connecting with the main barn is a building which contains the various kinds of feeds. Here large bins with rubber bottoms and lined with steel have a capacity of three carloads of feed. Room is also provided for an electrically operated feed grinder. A laboratory has also been provided in this building. All of the buildings are electrically lighted.

The whole plant will cost in the neighborhood of $70,000 and it is a credit to the city of Detroit, the board of trustees of the Detroit House of Correction and to Superintendent Denniston, who has taken an active interest and gave careful supervision in its construction.

Wednesday evening a barn dance was given in the commodious hay barn and the affair proved one of the most enjoyable social functions of the season. The interior of the barn was randomly decorated with products of the farm and bags of hay provided for the seats of the guests. Autumn leaves, pumpkins, cornstalks and various other trimmings were used with pleasing effect. A platform was erected for the orchestra and the dancers made merry to their heart's content. Perk up orchestra furnished the music.

Name Should Be Honored

The first institution for the education of deaf-mutes in Germany was opened in 1778 at Leipsic by Samuel Heinicke, whose experience as a teacher led him to devote all his time to the deaf and dumb.

MICHIGAN MAY BAR LA FOLLETTE MEN

DeLAND RULES PARTY ILLEGAL, FAILED TO ORGANIZE IN ODD YEAR.

AT MERCY OF COUNTY CLERK

Elect on Officials Can Refuse to Put Names on Ballots If They So Desire.

Lansing, Mich.—Presidential electors representing Robert M. La Follette are at the mercy of county election officials, according to Secretary of State Charles DeLand.

If a county clerk should refuse to place the names of the La Follette electors on the ballot for his county there is some question as to whether he can be forced to do so, according to state legal authorities.

The Michigan election law provides presidential electors shall be named by a state convention of a party, duly called by its state central committee. It also provides that the state central committee of any party shall be named in the "odd year" and that its officers likewise shall be named in the "odd year."

The state attorney-general's department interprets "odd year" as meaning the spring convention.

Under the Michigan election law, to make La Follette's electors conform to this ruling, the state central committee and its organization should have been named last spring.

But La Follette's committee was named late in August under the ruling given La Follette's representatives when they first announced their intention of placing his electors on the Michigan presidential ballot. The attorney-general's office advised him of this condition, it is said, but also pointed out that there would be little objection to his name going on the ballot, it being generally understood that he would be a candidate.

It was pointed out that as state authorities did not have the duty of certifying his electors for purposes of going on the ballot there would be no question raised in the state house and the matter would rest with the county clerks. These officials will be asked to agree to the names going on the ballot because of the general understanding that he was a candidate.

State officials are not in a position to take the question into the courts for a ruling, it is said. Under the election law, it must arise through the refusal of a county clerk to place the electors' names on the ballot and in that event La Follette's representatives can at once ask for a court ruling.

U.S. FARM BANK AID SUCCESSFUL

Failures in Northwest Checked By Government Loans

Washington—The agricultural credit corporation, organized last February on the initiative of President Coolidge as a method of relieving agricultural distress in the northwest has been so successful in improving the banking situation in that territory that it has proposed its activities to include aid in farm diversification according to a letter from C. T. Jaffray, chairman of the corporation board to Secretary Mellon.

To date the corporation has assisted 230 banks with loans aggregating more than $5,000,000. Mr. Jaffray informed the secretary that deposits in these institutions amounted to approximately $3,000,000, and he believed it safe to assume that by the aid thus extended the number of bank failures in the northwest had been checked and at least $25,000,000 of depositors' money had been safely guarded.

MA'FERGUSON WINS COURT CASE

Restraining Order Denied, Will Be Governatorial Candidate.

Austin, Texas—Mrs. Jimmie Ma' Ferguson, Democratic nominee to governor, is eligible to become governor of Texas, Judge George Calhoun ruled in district court here in denying a temporary writ of injunction asked by Charles M. Dixon who sought to restrain Mrs. Ferguson from becoming a candidate in the November elections.

The injunction was sought on the grounds that the constitution of Texas adopted in 1876 did not qualify women to hold office and the statutes have not given them this right.

Cases decided in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Michigan and other states were brought forth by the plaintiff's counsel, to prove the common law placed the ban of legal disability on women as office holders.

RIVALS, YET NEIGHBORS

A parade of Northville residents, three miles in length, was present at Plymouth, Mich., when Plymouth was opened with fitting ceremonies at Plymouth. The country-wide group of Plymouth turned out for the affair and it was a big day for Plymouth.

Northville has a spirit—it has spirit of neighborliness, of helpfulness and of unselfishness. Why should so many Northville people leave their employment for half a day to help Plymouth celebrate a big day? Northville people could expect no selfish return from their large parade—no money would come to their pockets from the half day spent in their neighborly village.

Northville has as spirit; it is co-operation and indicates the spreading and growing of the excellent idea of happy neighborliness. There should be more of it in this world and the village of Northville may well be commended for its splendid demonstration in its sister town—Redford Record.

Two years ago Thursday of fair week was designated as Plymouth Day and our neighbors made a fine demonstration, coming over with many autos, randomly decorated and filed to their capacity. Last year they did the same and this year also, and the fine spirit of community helpfulness was greatly appreciated by the people of this section. Plymouth's recent celebration afforded Northville people their first opportunity to express their appreciation and they did in a most impressive manner.

As a result of this neighborly spirit both committees have been greatly benefited and the residents of the two towns have been drawn just a little closer together.

THE MONDAYS MISS THE FAIR.

The Record received a letter from Mrs. Charles Munday a few days ago and we pass it on to our readers because many friends of the Munday family will be interested in its contents.

Phoenix, Arizona, 63 Rossmore Ave., N. Y. September 27, 1924.

Dear Sir: I am enclosing a check for The Record. We receive it promptly every week and certainly enjoy reading it. It makes me a little homesick to read about the fair. Wish we could be there. Hopes you have nice weather and a big crowd. I had a letter from my mother in Plymouth a few days ago and she said they had a fire in the turnpike. We can't realize its fall. One day last week it was 106. My sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tulligane of Plymouth arrived here the 5th of September. They had a fine trip but think it is pretty hot here.

We are going to have our garden plowed this week. I'm going to plant some Christmas flowering weeds. We have moved so please send the paper to 63 Rossmore Avenue, N. Y. We are all well and hope this finds you and family the same. Remember us to all our old friends.

As ever,

MRS. CLARA MUNDAY.

STATE TROOPERS GET IN BAD.

Two state troopers, who are employed guarding the prisoners on the road near New Hudson, came to Northville one afternoon last week. I was here at the time and they called on me. They entered the Chicago Hotel and demanded something to drink. They were served near beer but this did not satisfy them and in their rage they demanded some real liquor and created quite a disturbance. Mr. Herendson called the night watchman and swore out a warrant charging the fellows with being drunk and disorderly. Then the fellows paved their hands by having Herendson arrested charged with selling liquor. Claiming they had purchased five drinks in the place.

When the case against the troopers was called in Justice Ely's court Wednesday morning they stated they had no evidence against the hotel keeper and asked that the case be dropped and Landlord Herendson also asked that the case against the troopers be discontinued and that they be discharged.

Maher and Wagner were the names of the two troopers, and the former seemed to be the leader. He showed ample signs of having been drinking, it is alleged.

ROBBER OF MONEY AND JEWELS.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Y. Averill of Detroit were robbed of jewels and $120 in cash while returning to the city from the fair last Friday night. They claim that a car followed them off the fair grounds and when they stopped to make some adjustment to the lights on their auto the bandits covered them with revolvers and demanded their money and striped diamond rings from Mrs. Averill's fingers and a diamond stick pin from Mr. Averill's tie. Fortunately the robbers did not search their victims, because Averill had a roll of $800.00 in another pocket.

BIG CROWDS AT THE FAIR

A. Bert Eversole and C. R. Berton deserve great praise for the display they were able to bring together and for the efficient manner in which they co-operated with the exhibitors in making their departments attractive and in keeping them clean and wholesome throughout the entire week. Frequently at county fairs the stock exhibit is very attractive for the first day or so, but they become repulsive as the days go by. Not so with the Northville Fair, because everything about the exhibits was kept in good condition.

The Horse Show.

The horse show on Wednesday was one of the most unique and interesting exhibitions ever given on the local grounds. There were upwards of 75 horses and ponies shown and the exhibit was watched with keen interest by all. The several classes were well filled and the horses and their riders received hearty applause. In the saddle ponies class James Huff, Jr., a late entrant, won third prize. The polo ponies, the drag hunt, open jump and hunter's classes all attracted unusual attention and provided an afternoon's entertainment that delighted the large crowd present.

Messrs. William Hendrie and E. S. Nichols of Detroit, were judges and they were kept pretty busy. H. B. Clark was chairman of the general committee selected to arrange for this very interesting feature and he was ably assisted by Messrs. P. H. Grennan, E. G. Fuller, Harrison Johnson, L. J. Johnson, C. H. Newkirk and Roy O. Robinson. The horse show was one of the most interesting events of the entire week and Mr. Clark is to be congratulated.

Our Neighbors.

It is worth a lot to an individual to have good neighbors and it is also a fine thing for a fair association to have good friends. Last week our fair friends from Plymouth Farmington and Redford demonstrated their friendlyness and interest by sending a splendid delegation to attend the fair. Thursday was Plymouth day and the people of that community, working in harmony with the officers of the Chamber of Commerce, made a wonderful showing, there being upwards of 75 automobiles in the procession and all the cars were filled with a band and a platoon of police led the procession upon the grounds and around the track and the visitors were warmly greeted by the great crowd assembled. The cars were decorated with flags and bunting and each one bore the banner of the Chamber of Commerce. When all the autos had passed through the gate up-drove a handsome conveyance with a span of blacks and a coachman bearing Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Robinson, representing a group of the long ago, and as they drove about the track their appearance brought forth great applause. Plymouth citizens did themselves proud and their presence here was greatly appreciated.

On Friday afternoon which had been designated Farmington and Redford day, delegations were present from these localities forty-nine cars bearing the banner of the Farmington Exchange Club. The visitors were met at the gate with the band and were escorted past the grandstand and as they past the great crowd arose and gave them a hearty cheer.

FAIR NOTES.

Plymouth Grange won first prize for the most attractive community exhibit and the Canton Center Community Club won second. In the institutional exhibits the Wayne County Farm won first and the Detroit House of Correction claim second. These displays were very attractive and a fine assortment of garden field and orchard products were shown.

R. D. Stephens of South Lyon received nine first premiums, four second and fifteen thirds on his sheep that were entered at the Northville fair. His ram received grand championship as it did at the state fair.

The Detroit House of Correction on farms herd of Holstein cattle attracted a great deal of attention and carried home a number of premiums.

Musolf Brothers of South Lyon made an extensive display of their choice Holstein cattle and received many premiums.

A large crowd witnessed the football game Thursday afternoon between the High school teams of Plymouth and Northville. The local boys were much lighter than their opponents, but they played a plucky game. Plymouth won by an overwhelming score.

All the eating stands on the grounds did a thriving business. The Senior class took in over $900 at their booth. There were stands enough to care for the people well and all had enough to eat, and that fact helped to keep the crowd good natured.

The fireworks tent took fire from some mysterious cause on Wednesday night but the blaze was discovered in time to prevent serious consequences. A large amount of dynamite was stored in the tent.

The Brennan, Fitzgerald & Sink Jersey herd attracted a great deal of attention and Manager O'Brien Neilsen received many compliments upon the appearance of his exhibit.

A goat and two kiddies in the sheep pen attracted a great deal of attention from the children.

The Bell Furnace & Manufacturing Co. had a display of the American and Bell furnaces and made a number of sales during the week.

T. G. Richardson, superintendent of buildings, and M. R. Seeley, superintendent of grounds, received many compliments for the new woman's building and free amusement stand and for the manner in which the grounds were kept during the five days.

"AFTER THE FAIR"

Did everyone see the Northville Fair? If not, they missed a treat. For when we start to have a Fair, it's certainly hard to beat.

Our splendid corps of workers did their level best. To see that everything was right. And make it a success.

And for our fine new building (And second to none it ranks). We give our Fair committee a rising vote of thanks.

The Fair was the best we ever had. And the weather couldn't be beat. And every booth and exhibit was in every way complete.

And did you ever have such means.

As the young folks and churches put out?

Didn't the "hot dogs" taste good? Wasn't the coffee stout?

We saw folks from the country. We saw folks from the town. Some that don't amount to much. And some of great renown.

We saw the bobbed haired girls. And some old women too. We saw young men and old men. And children not a few.

They came from far, they came from near. Just like a "Home Coming" there. They were all dressed in their best. To attend the "Northville Fair."

Then there were the autos. All shone up so nice. From Packards down to Lizzies. For sale, if you had the price.

Then the ball games and the races. And the free stunts were a treat. Who'd ever think a pig could learn To do anything but eat.

So we will vote our eighth fair. Showed Northville was alive. And now let's all be boosters. For nineteen twenty-five. Jessie Roe.

Charles Adams, who has conducted a soft drink stand at Ox Bow Lake, was one of four men who were given prison sentences by Judge Covert at Pontiac Monday for violations of the liquor law. It is said to be the stiffest sentence for that offense yet meted out in Oakland county and in giving a sentence of from eight months to one year in Jackson prison the court indicated what bootleggers may expect from his hands.
