NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP HAS BUT ONE TICKET.

The republican caucus for the township of Northville was held at F. W. Lyke's store on Saturday afternoon, owing to the fact the village council room was too small to accommodate all who desired to attend the further fact that the room was locked and cold. D. F. Griswold was elected chairman and Ernest Miller secretary of the meeting before adjournment. C. A. Ponsford and Richard Kilgour were appointed tellers.

W. H. Yerkes was nominated to succeed himself as supervisor, receiving all but a few scattering votes. Ernest Miller was nominated for clerk under a suspension of the rules, after the name of S. W. Knapp had been withdrawn. John Litsenberger was nominated for treasurer, receiving 12 votes to 14 cast for S. W. Knapp. Joseph Montgomery was nominated to succeed himself for highway commissioner by acclamation and M. R. Seeley was named to succeed Harley D. Johnson as overseer of highways without opposition. C. R. Ely was named to succeed himself as justice of the peace for full term under a suspension of the rules. M. N. Johnson had no opposition for member of the board of review, and Horace Green, Frank N. Perrin, Perry Austin and George Whipple were nominated for constables without opposition.

Mr. Johnson refused to permit his name to appear on the ticket for member board of review and the name of Barton W. Wheeler was substituted by the township committee.

The township committee for the ensuing year will be composed of D. F. Griswold, J. W. Perkins, Mrs. Bertha Neal, Mrs. Grace Dolph, Mrs. Mary Stewart.

The democrats of Northville township, following the pace set by many of their neighbors, decided at the caucus held last Saturday night not to place a ticket in the field at the approaching spring election. For many years past a few of the faithful followers of Jefferson have kept the party organization alive and have each year placed a full township ticket in the field. Often some of the candidates have been successful, but usually they have been outvoted by the republicans.

WORLD WAR VETERAN DIED IN PHILADELPHIA.

Earl Montgomery was in Detroit on Monday afternoon to attend the funeral of Sargeant Harry E. Whitelem, a former member of Company F, 310th Engineers, who served with distinction in the great World War. Mr. Whitelem died in Philadelphia, Pa., after a short illness and the remains were brought to Detroit where they were given a military burial.

The deceased was a brother of Miss Beatrice Whitelem, a former teacher in the Northville schools, and was well known to a number of our citizens. Interment took place at Rosedale Park cemetery.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE-TO-BE.

Mrs. Henry Salow and Miss Lenore Brüder were hostesses Saturday evening at a surprise miscellaneous and kitchen shower in honor of Miss Nellie Evert, a bride to be, at the home of Mrs. Salow. Fifteen guests were present. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion and refreshments were served. Farmington Enterprise. Miss Evert graduated from the Northville High school and is well known to many of our citizens.

AGED COUPLE TENDERED BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McCullough, two of Northville's most esteemed citizens were not born on the same day of the month, but very nearly. Mrs. McCullough's birthday occurred on the 12th and Mr. McCullough's on the 15th of March some years apart. Their friends of the L. O. T. M. compromised and invaded their home last Saturday night to assist them in celebrating the happy events. The affair was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. McCullough and the guests brought baskets filled with all the good things of the season for the daily lunch which was to be enjoyed later in the evening. Among the good things brought was a large pyramid birthday cake upon which there were 73 pink candles with pink and white frosting truly a thing of beauty, and its brilliancy was greatly enhanced when the lights were turned off and the tiny candles were lighted.

After an hour or so had been pleasantly spent with cards and conversation a beautiful lunch was served. Sometime before midnight good night and good bye was said and as the guests took their departure they expressed the wish that Mr. and Mrs. McCullough might be spared to enjoy many more happy birthdays together as they approach the sunset of life. May their journey down the "western slope" be a happy and contented one is the sincere wish of many Northville people.

ORCHARD HEIGHTS FAMILY WERE IN RACE WITH DEATH.

Receiving word on Monday, March 9th of the serious illness of an aunt in Terre Haute, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. John K. Nelson and children, Jessie and Horace, left their home in Orchard Heights at 4:30 a. m. Tuesday, March 10th and drove thru to Terre Haute in their Ford touring car, arriving there at 8:30 that night, just eleven hours ahead of the grim reaper. Considering that Mr. Nelson was a stranger to the roads, not having been home in 15 years, also the fact that the last 89 miles were made in one of the worst storms to strike that section in years, he felt that each hour was priceless, and pushed on thru lightning, thunder, hail and torrents of rain, feeling well repaid when he reached the journey's end by finding his aunt still living. Mr. Nelson reports good roads all thru heavy rains, have fallen in all parts of Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. The Nelson family returned Tuesday, March 17th. Horace Nelson brought home a letter having been written by his father in 1893 to the aunt, who just died.

PLANS MADE FOR A BIG CROWD.

Everything indicates that the attendance at the House of Correction officers' annual dance at Penniman Allen auditorium, Plymouth, on Saturday evening, March 21st, will exceed the previous record of these affairs. Busses have been chartered to bring in the visitors from the Detroit office, and ticket sales indicate that not only Detroit but Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti will be well represented.

Northville bass ball fans should be particularly interested, as the proceeds of this dance will go to the officers' ball team at the farm. During the summer bass ball games will be played nearly every Sunday afternoon on the farm diamond and Northville citizens have always been cordially invited to witness these games.

Fintel's orchestra of Detroit will furnish the music at the dance and every dancer is thereby assured the utmost in dancing pleasure.

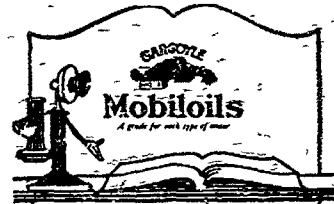

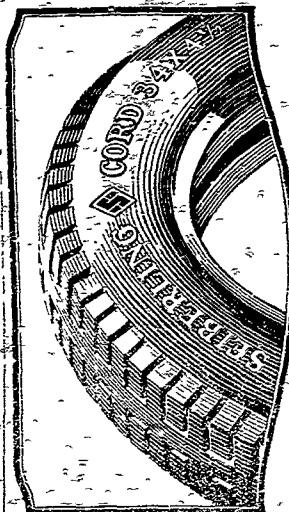

The officers' club extends a cordial invitation to attend and assures everyone an evening of real pleasure.

ANNUAL COUNTY FARM BUREAU MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Wayne County Farm Bureau will be held at the Inkster church on Saturday, March 28th. Business meeting and election of officers will be at 1:30 a. m. dinner at noon and program in the afternoon.

C. L. Brody, secretary-manager of the Michigan State Farm Bureau will speak for the Farm Bureau; Mrs. Louise H. Campbell, state leader of home demonstration agents; Miss Sylvia Winson, assistant club leader, C. V. Ballard, assistant county agent leader and J. G. Hays, dairy specialist, will tell of the extension work now being carried on.

Every Farm Bureau member should attend and it is hoped also that all those from the various communities who are interested in the extension program will be present.

America's Marvels

NATURAL AND OTHERWISE

By T. T. Maxey

THE WORLD'S LARGEST SHIP

If you can step-up your imagination so that it can clearly visualize a mast-todged ocean liner 956 feet long, 100 feet wide and 102 feet deep without including the smoke stacks and weighing 64,000 tons, you can form an impression of the new Queen of the Atlantic—The Majestic.

This—the world's largest ship—makes regular trips between America's largest city, New York, Southampton, England, and Cherbourg, France, in five days flat, land to land.

The hold of the Majestic contains a battery of forty-eight boilers which supply steam to four giant turbine engines, which drive a like number of screw propellers. This power plant develops the amazing capacity of 100,000 horse power. This tremendous force drives this huge craft through the water at the surprising speed of twenty-three knots or sea miles—which is the equivalent of twenty-six land miles per hour, making the Majestic one of the fastest large passenger-carrying ships on the high seas. On the fuel used.

This ship has nine decks, or to put it another way round, is nine stories high. You can gain some conception of the monstrousness of the interior by reading the following statement issued by the owners: "The space in the great ship occupied chiefly by her housing facilities, so to speak, and her engines and other machinery, is equal to that in 400 average detached suburban residences of eight rooms each, or of about 800 average four-room city apartments."

This vessel can accommodate 4,000 first, second and third-class passengers, along with a crew of 1,000 and has 1,245 state rooms. There is no end of spacious public apartments including a lounge, palm court, dining saloons, library, reading and writing rooms, smoking room, card room, gymnasium, swimming pool, children's play room and sun porches, barber shop, hair dressing parlor, tailor shop, a conservatory and quarters for pet dogs. The promenade deck is fifty feet above the water and four times around it is one mile.

Wonderful as all that is, however, one does not sense the full significance of it all until he contemplates the staggering quantities of supplies of innumerable kinds that are required to complete the equipment of such a gigantic floating palace. To illustrate, figures supplied by the owners show 17 tons of blankets, 3,000 mattresses, 75 tons of dishes, 77,000 towels, 11,000 sheets, 10,000 table cloths, 45,000 napkins, 55,000 pieces of silver and cutlery, 30,000 plates, 18,000 cups, 2,700 pitchers, 2,400 tea and coffee pots, 29,000 pieces of glassware and so on until your head swims.

STOP THAT BACKACHE!

Many Northville Folks Have Found the Way.

Is a dull, nerve-racking backache weighing you out? Do you feel older and slower than you should? Are you tired, weak and nervous, find it impossible to be happy or enjoy the good times around you? They think something wrong and likely it's your kidneys. Why not get at the cause? Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Read what this Northville resident says:

Mrs. Sarah P. Green 6 East Cady street, says: "When I bent over, sharp pains caught me in my back and it was hard to straighten. Morning, my back was lame and sore. The constant pain tired me out and nights found me weary, irritable and all ups. Dizzy spells came on occasionally and my kidneys acted too often. As soon as I used Doan's Pills from Holton's Drug Store, I felt much better."

WOLF KILLED NEAR MILFORD.

Pontiac hunters killed a good sized timber wolf Sunday on the Edsel Ford country estate in White Lake township, Oakland county.

Wolf tracks had been noticed in the vicinity of the log cabin that Mr. Ford is building on the knoll on the large estate. With the assistance of dogs, the hunters chased a female wolf to its den and killed it without difficulty.

The male wolf is believed to be in the vicinity and another hunt is soon to be organized. Timber wolves in this locality are scarce and it is seldom that they are seen anywhere in the county.

"WINGS OF CHANCE" AT THE GARRICK THEATRE.

In Alphonse Klauber's latest production "Wings of Chance," from the pen of Hugh Stanislaus Stange, which he will offer to patrons of the Garrick theatre the week commencing Sunday night, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, he is said to have chosen a play so far removed from the beaten path that it is a revelation in theme and dramatic power. Mr. Klauber, who for years has directed the professional activities of that great artist Jane Cowl, has also produced such well-known successes as Eugene O'Neill's "Emperor Jones," Arnold Bennett's "Helen of a High Hand" and "The Charleston." Hence his keen sense of judgment as to what will please the theatregoing public is an established fact.

The locale of the play permits of picturesque settings and it is said Mr. Klauber has taken full advantage of the opportunity to provide an elaborate scenic investiture.

"THE GLORY THAT WAS THE SENATE."

Vice-President Dawes, in his inaugural address, shattered a lot of senatorial precedents. It was such an unusual event for an incoming public official to hold up for public gaze the shortcomings of one branch of our national law making body that it brought a storm of protest from some political quarters.

Why shouldn't Vice-President Dawes endeavor to shake the senate into a realization of its duty to the public? The Sixty-eighth congress has ended and at the close of its three-months' session the enactment of vital measures failed utterly.

The cold truth about the United States senate will benefit the public and the nation owes General Dawes a vote of thanks for his effort to shake it into activity and awaken some of its members from their self-satisfied and "holier than thou" attitude which they have adopted toward the public and industry during recent years.

Commenting on the senate the New York Times says, editorially: "Largely through its own fault, it is coming to be thought of as the branch of congress which is either unable or unwilling to transact the public business in an orderly manner; that has too many members ready to insist with mulish obstinacy that if they cannot have their own way, the senate will not be permitted to have its way, that allows mean, personal motives and petty partisan animosities to creep into its proceedings, that it is afflicted with longwinded speakers whom there are no rules to choke off. A few senators cannot, by themselves, change the rules and transform the senate into an assembly where the majority can, after reasonable debate, have its will, but they might speak out their minds about the intolerable conditions which exist, might make appeals within the senate and outside it, and be more active and efficient than they are in endeavoring to win back a part at least, of 'the glory that was the senate'."

Merely Preparatory

"I have been told," said the football player to his fiancée, "that you have been engaged before; that I am not the first." The intensity of his passion made her shudder, but she quickly recovered herself. "And is it not proper," she demanded, "before playing a match game to try a few practice games with scrub teams?"—Boston Transcript.

Work That Counts

My friend, all speech and humor are short-lived foolish, untrue. Genuine work done, that thou workest faithfully, that is eternal. Take courage then; raise the arm, strike home, and that right lustily; the citadel of hope must yield to noble desire, this seconded by noble effort.—Thomas Carlyle.

The steamer was in commission for 25 years and at one time was the flagship of the Whitney fleet of Detroit.

Highland Park—Another step toward a new public library was taken by Highland Park, when the city council approved a contract with New York architects for the submitting of plans and specifications for the library, which will occupy the present building site on Woodward avenue, between Massachusetts and Rhode Island avenues. The new assessed valuation is $345,999,539 greater than the 1923-24 assessment, an increase of approximately 14 per cent.

Lansing—Lansing's 1924 tax rate averages seven cents higher for each $1,000 than that of last year, figures published by the city comptroller here show. The total assessed valuation of the city was set at $144,999,085, an increase of about $14,000,000 over that of last year. The budget of $1,159,799.88 is 10 per cent higher than last year.

"If at First You Don't Succeed"

By H. IRVING KING

(Copyright)

GEORGINE WALCOTT was born of rich but fairly respectable parents and was brought up surrounded by a luxury which she did not appreciate. Therefore, when her father failed in business and poverty came in at the door of the splendid family mansion and served a dispossession notice, Georgine was rather glad than otherwise. Now she would be free from those social duties and social conventions which had hitherto "cabinied and confined her life." Now she would learn life as it really was, and if she was sought in marriage would be sought for herself alone, and not for her father's money.

When a large fortune suffers shipwreck there are always some floating planks to which the survivors can cling for awhile until rescue comes or weariness overcomes them and they let go and drown. To such planks the Walcott family were now clinging, just afloat, and that was all, with no sure core in sight. Georgine made a complete about face.

More and more as the drab and dreary days went by, Georgine found herself thinking of Ernest Evans, and wondering what had become of him. Not that Ernest was the sort of husband she was looking for now, oh, no, not in the least. He had no money. He was a young mechanical engineer and inventor.

Everybody said he was a fortune hunter. When a young man without means goes into society and is attentive to wealthy girls, what else does he expect people to say about him? Just before the Walcott failure Ernest had proposed to Georgine, and she filled with her pet obsession of being sought for her money, had rejected him.

No sooner had she done so than she thought to herself: "I wonder if I have made a mistake? He asks me again 'I don't know but—' Then came the crash and the Walcotts disappeared on the trackless ocean of the impenetrable. 'It is perhaps just as well that I did reject him,' she thought now. 'We should have only been two paupers together. But I really would like to see him—or at least hear how he is getting on.' I wonder if I couldn't, of course. No, no, I must marry money for father and mother's sake, if for no other reason."

All good things come to him—or her—who waits, and at last the wealthy suitor whom Georgine was waiting for loomed on her horizon. Her father came home one day in an exceedingly cheerful mood and, chucking his handsome daughter under the chin, said: "Georgine girl, I've got a rich husband for you. What are you looking so glum about? Haven't you been saying of late that you would embrace a chance to mend the family fortunes by a suitable marriage?"

"Who is he?" asked Georgine. "Hum!" replied her father, nettled by the manner in which his daughter had taken his announcement. "I won't tell you. You will know soon enough. He is coming to see you. He is all right—you will like him. And he is going to help me get back on my feet again, too, which is the main thing. Now don't let us have any of your fool gold tricks."

Face to face with the actualities of the case, Georgine weakened. She had thought that she had brought herself to a point where she would accept the hand of a wealthy suitor cheerfully and thankfully. But now she was overcome by a strange repugnance and a great distress of mind. And from the tumult of her thoughts the specter of Ernest Evans seemed to rise up and reproach her. The flat in which the Walcotts had taken refuge was situated in the vicinity of Gramercy park.

The next day after her father had brought home his momentous news Georgine went out for a walk to compose her mind. She strolled aimlessly westward and had reached Madison square when a cheery voice said: "Why, hello, Georgine. How are you?" and in a second she was shaking hands with Ernest Evans.

"Oh, Ernest!" cried Georgine, "I am so glad to see you."

"And I you," he replied. "Come, let us sit on one of those benches and talk."

The fountain was playing, the trees rustled overhead, the birds chirped and hopped about, and the "regulators" on the park benches looked at the couple languidly and disinterestedly. Georgine poured out her heart to Ernest. "And so you see, I must marry for money," she concluded reluctantly.

"Nonsense," said Ernest, "you are going to marry me for love."

"I—I always thought you would speak again," murmured Georgine. "Well, I have—will you have me?" said Ernest.

"Yes, I suppose so," replied Georgine, "but what will father say?"

"Oh, that's all right," returned Ernest; "I spoke to him about it yesterday. He's agreeable."

"The wealthy suitor?" The same, at your service," he interrupted. "You see, Georgine, I have three companies working my inventions now, and in the past two years have made nearly a million dollars. Enough to go to housekeeping on, isn't it?"

What happened after that is nobody's business. Weary Waggles, on the next bench, was scandalized to see a young man kissing a young woman right in public!

Really Simple

He had proposed to her, as is still the custom with some people, and her answer had been—"No." "No!" Can you imagine then, why he crushed her exultantly to his manly breast and then rushed off to buy the license? Well, it's very simple. They were both English teachers and so knew very well that two negatives make an affirmative.

"The Man in the Moon"

The appearance of a face on the moon is due to the elevations and depressions on its surface, the so-called mountains of the moon, or craters. There being no atmosphere on the moon, the contrast between light and shadow is very great, and the arrangement of these shadows cast by the vast number of craters which cover the moon's surface gives the appearance of a face on the moon's surface.

Keeping Homes

Healthy

Remember the old days, how stoves baked you on one side while you froze on the other? Doors were closed so the cold couldn't creep in from the next room.

Modern heat by radiators means every room properly warmed, healthy and comfortable. Saves coal, too.

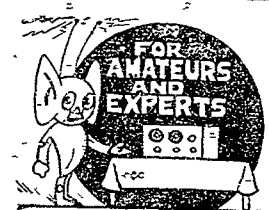

Let us tell you just how little it would cost you.

CURRENT NEWS TERSELY TOLD*U. S. Treasury—Assesses Couzens Ten Millions—Claimed In Back Taxes

Washington—The United States treasury department has moved to collect from Senator James Couzens, Republican, of Michigan, back taxes estimated at between $10,000,000 and $11,000,000 alleged to be due the government on profits accruing to Couzens in 1919 through the sale of his majority interest in the Ford Motor company to Ford.

Because the statute of limitations would void the government's claim after March 13, and because Senator Couzens refused to waive this technicality to permit a thorough investigation of the tax-dodging charge, treasury officials acting to protect the interest of the government have assessed the amount said to be in arrears. Other minority stockholders involved have waived the statute of limitations.

The government's claim is based on an alleged irregularity in the fixing of the valuation of the stock of the Ford Motor company as of 1913, to show a margin of taxable profits satisfactory to Couzens and other minority interests when they sold to Ford in 1919, for $12,500 a share.

Admits Giving Typhoid Germs

Chicago—Charles C. Balmain, professor of a school of bacteriology, has admitted according to assistant state attorneys, that he had given typhoid germs to William D. Shepherd, foster father of William Nelson McClintock, the "millionaire" orphan whose death from typhoid fever is now a subject for investigation by the grand jury. Balmain said he had given the germs to Shepherd after the latter had told him he "was going to inoculate some one with them" and that it is a million dollar deal.

Ford Railroad Value Doubles

New York—The Detroit, Toledo & Ironville Road, Henry Ford's first venture in railroading, will pay the Ford family a profit of about $4,500,000 from the redemption of the outstanding adjustment bonds of the road April 1. It was learned in Wall Street. This is not taking into account the earnings and the improved facilities of the road, for which Mr. Ford paid at the rate of $1 a share for the common stock and $5 a share for the preferred stock.

Seven storekeepers out of ten—so surveys show—content themselves with about enough light to see by; the remaining three understand the advantages of having light enough to sell by.

Experience has demonstrated beyond a doubt that sales increase with increase of lighting; and not only increase in quantity but in ease of making. An ill-lighted store—the greater number are ill-lighted—is seriously handicapped.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fry visited Milford friends last week.

R. Freydl, the popular tailor, is having his present apartments in the Joslin block enlarged preparatory to putting in a complete line of ready-made clothing and furnishings.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Little celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary last Friday night. About thirty of their immediate friends were present, and the couple were the recipients of a number of very pretty and serviceable presents.

W. S. Dickerson, manager of the Argo Mill, put his left hand into one of the feed grinders Monday to reduce a clog and when he pulled it out it was a mass of teeth. Dr. Henry was called and made the injured man as comfortable as possible.

Tuesday afternoon after school through the forethought and kindness of Mrs. W. J. Little, the little tots of the primary department were made happy at her home on Center street. S. H. Little entertained the little ones with selections from his phonograph.

GUY C. FULKINS GAVE POPULAR ORGAN RECITAL SUNDAY.

Guy C. Fulkins played a request program when he gave the organ recital at Central Methodist church Sunday afternoon, broadcast through The Free Press station. The numbers were selected from the list which had come from the organists from his unseen audience.

Joseph Kunkin, tenor of the Polka Quartet, was the assistant soloist for the afternoon concert. The organ accompaniments lent effectiveness to his two numbers, which he sang with the fine feeling that has always characterized his work. The selections were "My Hope is in the Everlasting," "Someday," and "The Old Shepherd's Song" by Fisher.

The first organ number was Gillman's Grand Chorale in D, a piece utilizing the full power of the fine instrument at Central corner. Mr. Fulkins followed this with his own arrangement of "Thy Rosary."

Particularly lovely thing was a selection by Wotsternm and the three movements of "La Cenerentola" by Verdi brought out the unique effect that the name would imply.

The quiet and tasteful melody of the "Angel's Serenade" by Diagon and Melody in F (Rohens) and, were in contrast to the rhapsodic character of "Fiducia" (Snelius), which followed.

Mr. Fulkins selected "Onward Christian Soldiers" as the hymn tune for the day. He has included some well known hymns in each of his recitals. This is the best known of the sacred numbers written by Sullivan.

The next recital will be given March 29 and Mr. Fulkins will present a program that will depict the various episodes in the life, the death and the resurrection of Christ—Detroit Free Press.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

The attendance contest was won by the men's class. The total attendance of the men's class for the five weeks was ninety-nine and the total attendance of the women's class was fifty-two. Average attendance of men was nineteen and four-fifths and of women eighteen and two-fifths. The ladies are preparing a big supper for the victors and are ready for another contest.

Last Sunday the Sunday school went over the top again. This time the attendance was one hundred and twenty-five.

Subject of prayer meeting next Thursday will be "Growth." Read 2 Peter 3:7-18. The average attendance at prayer meeting is now about fifty-five. Let us make it a hundred!

The St. Patrick's school was a big success. The program was in charge of Miss B. E. Warner and all agree it was one of the best we have had for a social or of course the cat was great.

Our new members, deserve much credit for the way they take part in church department of the church. There is not a snicker in the lot. The Martha Circle will hold a bake sale in the Palace Meat Market next Saturday.

Last Wednesday several loads of our folks went to Plymouth to hear our old friend, Rev. Joe J. Davis, who is conducting revival meetings in the Baptist church of that place.

Hearty the last of the revivals on Bible Inspiration Sunday night. See what our ad says.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

Another rich voice which was reached last Sunday is very encouraging. The choir, which has been led by the choir of the church, is now singing with confidence and joy.

We wonder why we stop in our prayers and "talk" to God as if He were a distant being, and would have done it if we had known that He was so near to us.

Let us come to the feet of Jesus on Sabbath. The plan is a gospel message for everybody. The plan is a gospel message for everybody. The plan is a gospel message for everybody.

Nothing less than the 200 mark will satisfy us at the Sunday school at 12:00 noon. We are glad the enrollment is coming to the place wanted.

At 7:30 the pastor will preach on "Christian Song" and will rehearse many memories in connection with it. Let us have a real evangelistic time.

The male quartet will sing during the evening in addition to the anthem. Everybody come.

Mid-week service at 7:30 Thursdays. Bring your favorite texts.

For three years a heavenly life had lived among earthly friends. His enemies had put him to death. He was placed in Joseph's new tomb. He rose from the dead on the third day as he had prophesied.

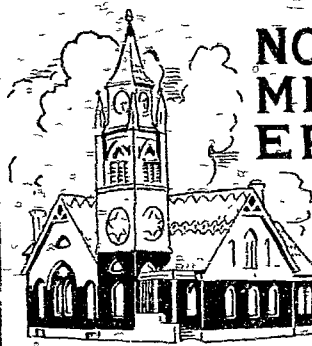

Jesus Christ spent forty days with the five hundred disciples in Jerusalem and Galilee. These meetings were well attested even though sudden and unexpected.

By infallible proof he made it clear that He was REAL—that He was ALWAYS NEAR—that you could have His help quickly, effectively, unhesitatingly, whenever, wherever—however needed.

One of the blessings of the Christian life is the privilege of doing errands for God.

God asked Moses to carry a message to Pharaoh and Moses, shaming from the task. Then God showed him that He could use the very rod in his hand and by it use a people who delivered from bondage.

It is not the size of your talent, but your willingness to use it for Him that counts with God. You will find a use for all your talents in the Church of God. Talents hid in a napkin eat no interest.

Second place at the end of the winter stretch of the contest went to a pen of Barred Rocks, entered by P. B. Eggle of East Lansing. White Leghorns, entered by the Royal Hatchery, Zeeland, Mich., stood third.

In commenting on the action of Senators Couzens and Ferris in refusing to support Charles E. Warren for a place in the cabinet of President Coolidge, the Detroit Free Press of last Friday declared "Mr. Couzens has altogether been grossly unfaithful to his public trust" in his refusal to support the President and "as to Senator Ferris, who stood with Couzens in fighting the confirmation of Mr. Warren, he is merely a pitiable figure, a shadow moving about the capitol with very little idea of what it is all about. Perhaps he means well, but he has permitted himself to be used as a gullible tool."

D. U. R. OUTLOOK IS HOPEFUL.

The Detroit United Lines, which went under receivership last Tuesday, may be back under private control within a few months, Joseph W. Simard, joint receiver with the Security Trust company, predicted Thursday. The reason he gave was that he does not believe Detroit automobile factories again will make the mistake of over-production, such as existed in 1924. This over-production, Mr. Simard explained, resulted in many thousands of workmen being thrown out of employment and this seriously affected the revenue of the Detroit United Lines.

"We are hopeful of taking the company out of a receivership soon," said Mr. Simard "because first, we are convinced it will work. Of course, much depends upon future conditions, but there certainly is reason to believe that the conditions that made receivership expedient will not prevail permanently."

There will be no marked changes in operating policy, Mr. Simard said.

MILK PRODUCED IN A YEAR

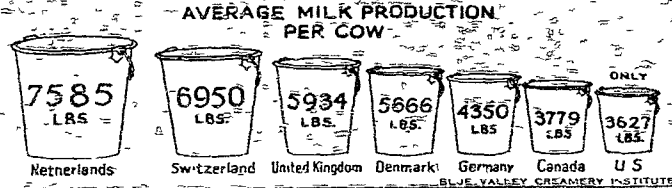

If all the milk produced in one year in the U.S. were put in one gigantic can and placed alongside the great monument the President sees each morning this is how it would look.

IF ALL the milk in the United States last year was put into one gigantic can a thousand feet in diameter it would reach almost half a mile into the clouds, being more than four times the height of the Washington monument at the national capital, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. The can would tower 2,009 feet in height, while the Washington monument is only 500 feet high.

Into the American milk can annually goes 11,927,252,441 gallons of white gold, valued at $2,568,000,000, the daily milkings of 24,675,000 cows. If the can was emptied, it would make a river five feet deep and twenty feet wide, extending 3,775 miles in length.

European Cows Yield More Milk

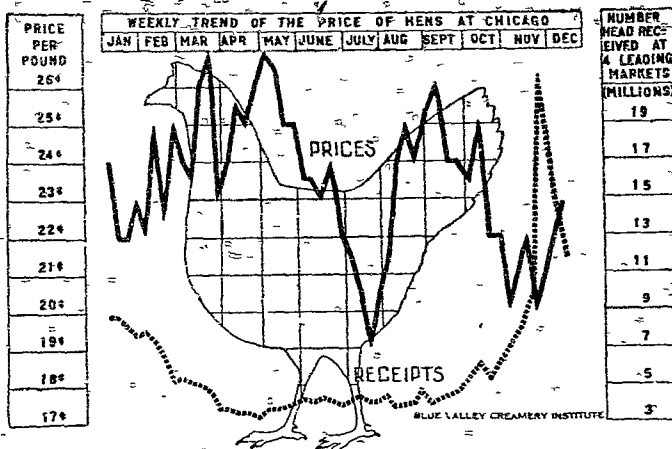

AMERICAN COWS ARE LOW IN PRODUCTION AVERAGE

AFTER all the dairyman's big job is to keep production ahead of consumption, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. In 1920 there were 23,722,000 cows, according to figures prepared by the bureau of dairying of the United States Department of Agriculture, while on January 1, 1924, there were only 24,675,000 cows—an increase of less than 4 per cent.

In spite of the small increase in the dairy herd's production has not lagged behind consumption, due to the fact that by better feeding and breeding more pounds of milk have been produced. However, as the chart shows, the average American cow would have to double her milk yield to equal the production of cows of some of the European nations. It is estimated that the average production per cow in the United States is 8,627 pounds, although many pure bred animals give six and seven times this amount. During the last quarter of a century the United States has increased her production of milk per person about 60 pounds a year, approximately 8 per cent. This increase has been sufficient to a little more than supply the same amount of milk per person that was available in 1909.

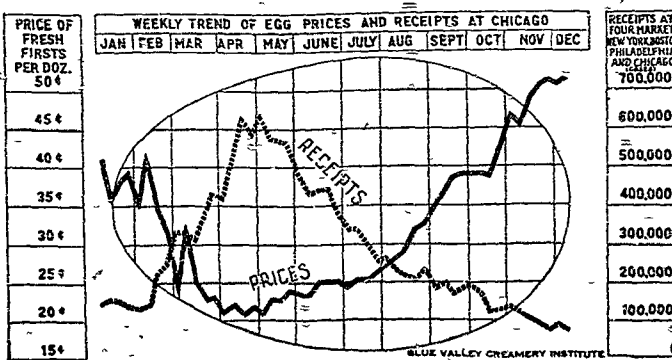

474,000,000 Chickens in U. S.

POULTRY failed to put in a record appearance for the year 1924, says a Blue Valley Creamery Institute survey just issued. The annual estimate of the United States Department of Agriculture, which placed the farm chicken population at 474,000,000 head on January 1, 1924, flooded the nation with predictions of an oversupply. This estimate was an increase of 12 per cent over 1923 and a gain of 32 per cent since the beginning of 1920.

The unfavorable spring, together with attractive prices for poultry which led to close selling, conspired to play a trick on the market and the anticipated flood of poultry and poultry products never reached the large terminals. Receipts of dressed poultry were very light during the summer, but on December 1, 1924, 16,000,000 pounds more dressed poultry were on hand than on the same day a year ago.

Fewer Eggs for "Ham and"

EGG production did not live up to its early promises during 1924, according to a review just completed by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. A survey shows that on January 1, 1924, more chickens were counted on farms throughout the country than ever before. Diversification, which has become a part of the program for poultry as well as dairy and hog products, stimulated a rapid increase in the size of poultry flocks and put the mark at 474,000,000 on the first day of the year. This was an increase of 32 per cent since 1920.

In consequence, the eggs were counted far in advance, and a record production was forecast. Prices held very low, for storage men were reluctant to buy since storage holdings had lost money during the past two years. The entire country was ready for an onslaught of eggs and prices were ready to meet the oversupply.

But the oversupply never arrived. Receipts for the year were 14,644,583 cases as against the receipts of 15,837,529 cases in 1923. This is the first decrease in receipts for the past four years.

As the Boy Saw It

Little Carl was asked if he would rather have a little sister or a little brother. He asked for a dog. "You can't have one," said his father. "Dogs cost money, and the money must go for the baby." A few days later a little brother was presented to Carl. "Look at him," he said to his grandmother. "all our money wasted on that!"

NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

Capital Punishment Bill Loses After Bitter Fight In House

Lansing—For at least two years there will be no death penalty for a murderer in Michigan. By a close vote, and yet the most pronounced of any on the subject in the last four years, the house of representatives killed the McEachron bill which would have made electrocution the punishment for a deliberate slaying in the state.

Eight votes out of the house membership of 100, was the margin of victory for the opponents of capital punishment. The tally being 46 for and 54 against. Two years ago, there was three votes difference and four years ago a single ballot prevented passage of the bill in the house.

The vote was somewhat of a surprise. The generally expressed sentiment of the house for several weeks indicated a preponderance of belief in the effectiveness of a death penalty as a crime preventive. The house had hoped down one anti-capital punishment speaker.

House Rebukes Couzens

United States Senator James Couzens was rebuked for inaccurately expressing sentiments of the people of the state and of the Michigan Republican party, when he opposed confirmation of the nomination of Charles Beecher Warren as attorney general.

Unanimously the house of representatives voted to suspend the rules and give immediate passage to a resolution repudiating Couzens as a Michigan spokesman, approving the presidential appointment of Warren.

The resolution was introduced unexpectedly by Representative Fred Wade, of Allegan. He explained that the Warren appointment was likely to be resubmitted at the senate in the next few days by President Coolidge, and that a frank statement from the Michigan legislators concerning their interpretation of general Republican sentiments in Michigan might have the effect of demonstrating that Senators Couzens and Ferris have not echoed their constituents' ideas and might swing votes from other states into the confirmation column.

U. of M. Wants Larger Income

A bill to remove the limit of $3,000,000 from the mill tax funds available to the University of Michigan will be introduced in the Legislature along with the University Appropriation Bill. Rep. Charles A. Sink, of Ann Arbor, announced removal of the limit would increase the university funds on the basis of the 1924 valuation of the property, by about $875,000. The history of the mill tax dates back to 1873 when the Legislature passed an act providing that a tax of three-eighths of a mill be levied.

Party Lining Eliminated

At a joint meeting of the house and senate election committees the question of incorporating party enrollment in the state election laws was discussed and an agreement reached that any changes in the present election laws should be contained in separate bills and not incorporated in any measure codifying the existing laws. An informal poll of the two committees showed that the sentiment for and against party enrollment was fairly well divided.

Anti-Gambling Bill Passed

The Bahorski Anti-Gambling Bill was passed by the senate by a unanimous vote. Thirty Senators cast affirmative ballots. One member, Senator Elijah E. Howarth of Royal Oak, was absent. There was no discussion. The Bahorski Bill is to take the place of the Voorhes-Bahorski Anti-Gambling Law, adopted by the 1923 Legislature, but knocked out by the State Supreme Court on a technicality.

More Judges For Detroit

Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck has signed the Condon Recorder's Court bill which allows the Detroit court 10 judges instead of the seven it now has, if the voters of the city so elect. The proposal is to go before Detroit voters at the April 6 election. The additional judges will be appointed by the Governor to hold office until the next general election, if approval is given by the voters.

No Action On Area Bill

The discovery that it will be impossible to approve the Condon joint resolution seeking amendment of the State Constitution to provide for the establishment of metropolitan districts in time to place it on the ballot in the April election has displayed final disposition of the measure.

Soft Drink Bill Passed

After an amendment to exclude milk and cream from its provisions had been included, the Curtis soft drink bill was passed by the House. Rep. William DeBoer, of Grand Rapids, offered the amendment. It was adopted without discussion. Mr. Curtis declared some time ago that he was not personally interested in the bill and had introduced it only as a favor to Charles E. Heating Advice Saves Fuel

We believe we can help owners if they will give us a chance to talk with them about the regulation of their boilers. The important thing is the accurate and sensitive control of fire so that it does not "run away" or "smolder out".

Make the coal pile last longer by better firing and fire control. You may need more advice this year because of the necessity of burning less coal and a different kind of coal probably, than you have been accustomed to. Be prepared and have your plant "tuned up".

If you have an OLD house—let us submit an estimate to you for installing a modern labor and fuel saving Ideal American Heating Outfit in it. It is easy to heat old homes because they are usually well built and it is a quick and easy matter to install radiator heating.

Please do not hesitate to call us in. Our heating advice is free and you will be under no obligation whatever. We stake our reputation on our work and OUR PRICES ARE REASONABLE.

GAS ONCE UNDER SUSPICIONS.

Gas was once looked upon with as much suspicion as would attach to the presence of a delegation of bootleggers at a law-enforcement meeting.

One hundred and eleven years ago a great crowd gathered on Westminster Bridge in London. A new chapter was about to be written in the world's history of inventions. The famous bridge was about to be lit by gas.

Suddenly, the bridge was flooded with light. The crowd fell back bewildered. An engineer stepped forward and touched the gas pipes. He invited a member of Parliament to do likewise. This gentleman refused until he had borrowed heavy gloves. He believed the pipes contained fire and would burn him.

When electricity supplanted gas as an illuminant, people believed that gas was doomed. But today it is one of the great heating agents of the world and is used in 5,000 different ways in industry and is produced in greater quantities than ever before.

UNIVERSITY CAP NIGHT CELEBRATED MAY 15.

"Cap night," the red letter day in the annals of the freshmen of the University of Michigan, will be held this year May 15th, it is announced by the student council. This marks the day of emancipation for the first year men, the dinky cap, badge of immaturity, is cast into the blazing bonfire and the student takes his proud place as a sophomore and is entitled to look with scorn upon the unlucky "Frosh" coming after him.

"Cane day" has been set for May 3rd and "swine out" for May 7th, when the seniors don cap and gown for the first time. Cane day they will appear with canes. May 8-9 are dates for the spring games.

All of which are signs of the approaching of the end of another college year, a year fraught with hopes and fears, with pleasures and anxieties and for some sorrow unspeakable. And the years pass on. Other students will come and other cap nights, but to this year's student it is the crowning of his freshman year. —Ypsilanti Record.

FORD EMPLOYEES PAID $254,000-000 IN 1924.

Employees in the Ford organization were paid more than a quarter of a billion dollars in wages and salaries during 1924, according to payroll totals made public recently at the offices of the Ford Motor company.

The largest payrolls were at the Highland Park and River Rouge plants of the company here, the total for these two plants alone reaching the enormous figure of $172,320,145 66 for the last year.

At other plants and at branches throughout the country the company during the last year paid employees a total of $72,532,476 53. The figures given out also include wages and salaries paid at the Lincoln Motor Company, a division of the Ford Motor Company, the C. E. Johnson Co. Inc., and the Fordor Coal Company, which totaled $8,653,965 18, bringing the grand total for the organization up to $254,001,528 37.

NOVI TOWNSHIP TO HAVE BUT ONE TICKET.

There will be but one ticket in the field at the spring election in Novi township, "something" that has not happened for a number of years. The republicans held their caucus on Saturday afternoon and they placed in nomination a full ticket as follows: Supervisor, Frank W. Durfee; clerk, Earl Banks; treasurer, Ford Brooks; justice of the peace, Lofen B. Flint; highway commissioner, Wm. Mairs; board of review, Charles Harmon; constables, Frank Deer, Elmo C. Kuhns, LaRue Bogart, and Ford S. Brooks.

A few of the faithful democrats of the township met at the town hall on Monday afternoon and after discussing the matter they decided not to nominate a ticket. Supervisor Lambert, who was elected last spring, refused to accept the nomination again and his action influenced those present in making their decision.

SALEM TOWNSHIP CAUCUS ATTRACTED GREAT CROWD.

The republican caucus for Salem township, which was held at the town hall last Friday afternoon, was the largest ever held in the township. It drew but few townships in the state can boast of a larger attendance. A similar gathering. The hall was filled to overflowing and when the ballots cast for permanent chairman of the caucus were counted it was discovered that 245 votes had been polled. B. E. Stanbro of the elevator defeating Ernest Roberts for the honor. For the office of supervisor Harry Atchison received 114 votes to 99 for Bert Nelson. The contest for every office was a spirited one but the Atchison slate went through with colors flying resulting in the nomination of the following ticket: Supervisor, Harry Atchison; clerk, Nelson; Bender treasurer; Nathan Brokaw highway commissioner; Henry Doane, justice of the peace; bull team, Kenneth Rock; justice of the peace short term, Irving Johnson; member board of review, Sherman Hartman.

Tacit will be but the first of the approaching winter season.

Ann Arbor—Finishing touches now are being put on the University Hospital. With the exception of the cupola on the demonstration wing, little part of the building have been erected in all parts. Beds, mattresses and gas ranges have been ordered for the entire building, while much of the other equipment is being assembled.

Taught Value of Potatoes

The potato owes its introduction as an article of food into France to the efforts of the French chemist Parmentier, who lived on potatoes during an imprisonment of five years from 1788 to 1789, in Germany.

Ellen's Great Temptation

By MARTHA WILLIAMS

(Copyright.)

ELLEN, picking blackberries from the hedgerow, felt weariness of all things in her daily round. She wished not for things, but wings; they would take her high and far. Nineteen, slim, lithe, and tough as a hickory sapling, a sure shot, no matter what the weapon, fearless rider, knowing and loving fields, woods, hills and waters, when was there to fear? Men, grumpy and Ellen had laughed at that, she could more than hold her own with the best of them—or the worst. Bush Creek to a man admitted the fact with reservations. "Ellen March had better look out! She's a female, in spite of being so oadacious," said Sister Maul, the minister's wife, through pursed lips. The Missionary society nodded assent, but whispered aside, behind its collective hands, that she would never forgive the ducking Johnny Maul had got at the fishing party for trying to kiss Ellen as "fisher's right" for catching the biggest trout.

Ellen smiled impulsively as Johnny came riding down the lane. "She was bare-headed, filling her straw hat with big dead-ripe berries, now that basket and bucket overflowed." Johnny stormed at her. "Here you, take my hat! Put it on, I tell you!" With the last word sending a bigger stray sailing across the hedgerow to light almost on her head. Next second it sailed back to him, with better aim, taking him full-face and pointing solidly over the bulging forehead. Smothering an oath, he raised both hands to it. As the reins fell loose, a fly struck the black coat he had under saddle. Instantly the creature set teeth on the bit, bolted, and ran his best. Ellen laughed to see it, but went on with her picking.

Halfway across the old field she meant to rest under the big walnut, but recoiled suddenly from its welcome shade as Clem Sheldrake sprang up crying, "Just the girl I want to see—best and worst. What good wind blew you?"

"When did you go bling?" Ellen asked pointedly.

"You do look fit to 'iron,' Clem said solicitously. "Rest awhile—then I'll carry the load for you—at least as far as the stile."

"I see! You can learn some things," Ellen retorted, "but not all. Anybody told you about dad's new rifle?"

"It shoots a long way further than the big gate. Moreover, my old parent, if I might say so, is a real hunter. He told you not to pester anything belonging to him, he meant it—every word."

"Do I pester you?" Sheldrake asked slowly, his voice wonderfully soft, his eyes enticingly. "Stop fooling. Ellen, you've almost got me in your grip. I'll have you in the grip of the devil's right foot. That's what I'm here for. Car out in the woods—all take us away from everything we can be married as soon as we've got a hundred under behind us."

"No, no, no!" Ellen interrupted, catching the adze tucked like a lightning bolt. "You—you—make me feel funny. But here I belong; here I stay."

"No 'Here you belong.' Here you stay," Sheldrake said, catching her hand and trying to draw her with him. "She was free just in time to see Johnny. Maul, tucked and bloody, his nose still oozing his coat split up the back of his head. He had been right with regard to all these things proclaimed a violent and for the back of his head, away he sped."

Sheldrake, aside, the heavier of almost equal strength, judged still he caught Johnny about the waist, lifted him high, in ending to slam him down on the turf, speechless and senseless.

Ellen made a lightning whip, swinging the bucket at arm's end, its contents falling out and blotting the turf, yet enough remaining to weight it like a club. It took Sheldrake fair on the side of the head. He staggered, dropped his prey, and rushed at Ellen, swearing great oaths. Luck was against him; his right foot landed in the hatful of berries which, crushing under his weight, made him slip, slide, try vainly to recover, then fall sprawling. Even then he might have escaped but for Ellen's police dog, Donnerwetter, who, scenting her across the pasture, had come dashing to meet and welcome her. Don was at once the gentlest and the savagest of things four-footed. Ellen waved her hand, saying, "Hold," and straightway he was at Sheldrake's throat, ready to murder him if he stirred. Ellen looked at the pair, her lips quivering, then at Johnny, spent, bloody, disconsolate, in tatters, and uglier than home-made sin. Her heart warmed to him—for her sake and manhood's he had tried against odds to do a man's part. Fine, indeed, of him, but not fine enough quite to make him her proper mate.

She said huskily to Sheldrake: "Don will kill you at a nod from me. He will get the nod unless you promise to go—right away—and never come back."

Sheldrake covered his eyes as he groaned. "I promise." Don followed him to the lane, then came sedately back to see Johnny, slaking his thirst with juicy blackberries, and hear Ellen say kindly: "Lie here and rest till dad comes to take you home."

Mrs. Bob Wyeth, born March, told her husband in strict confidence that only her conscience saved her from marrying Johnny Maul—such a triumph over his mother was a temptation mighty hard to resist.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS GET A RAISE

All Postoffice clerks in the United States, including Northville, have received notice of a raise in their pay of $300.00 per year commencing January 1 of this year. Substitute clerks now get 65 cents per hour instead of 60c as heretofore, to also date from January 1 last. All the clerks in the Northville office received in their envelopes last Saturday a present of $50.00 back pay, and the substitute clerks 5 cents per hour for all time they have worked during 1925.

NORTHVILLE DEFEATED MILAN WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

In their first game of the tournament at Ypsilanti Northville's basketball team defeated the fast Milan team on Wednesday night, the final score being 14 to 7. Our boys did splendid work and won over their old rivals.

Thursday afternoon at 5:00 Northville and East Tawas played.

BAND CONCERT GREATLY ENJOYED.

In spite of the rain of Wednesday night a good sized crowd attended the concert given by the State Normal College band at the High school gym. The band, which was organized only late last fall, was directed by Wilfred Wilson of Ann Arbor, who also directs the University of Michigan band, and its work was most praiseworthy. The band members were well received and the several selections rendered were given in a manner that reflected credit upon all who composed the organization. Edward Mosher, baritone, sang two numbers, Howard Helfrich rendered a cornet solo, "Caviller Polka," and responded to the hearty encore given. The "Rubroom Quartet" sang several numbers and were given generous applause. J. Burns Fuller, tenor, sang "All Alone," and was recalled. The program closed with a number by the band "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

Northville people are very grateful to the members of the band and their very able director for their kindness in coming over here and providing such an enjoyable evening's entertainment.

The visitors were served supper in the school cafeteria before the program was given.

By Air-Alone

the way to clean fine rugs

YOUR finest rugs and draperies are most quickly and thoroughly cleaned the Royal Way—by air, alone.

Powerful air suction, scientifically applied by Royal Cleaner, removes both surface litter such as thread, lint and embedded dirt.

This embedded dirt is dangerous to health because it is literally alive with disease germs—too small to be swept out by brooms or revolving brushes.

Embedded dirt also shortens the life of the rug—like sharp sand, it cuts and wears the threads at every foot-fall.

The strong air suction of the Royal Cleaner gets this doubly dangerous embedded dirt as well as surface litter—removes it all from your finest rugs without the slightest injury.

Let our Royal Man demonstrate in your home, at your convenience and of course without any obligation, the latest model
