Housewives Are Now Using the 'EASY'

Than Any Other Electric Washer

Think of it! More families have their washing done by the EASY than by other makes of electric washers—and their number is increasing. No electric washer has ever been in such great demand as the EASY!

WHY?

Because housewives know the EASY is a washer in which they can place absolute confidence—a machine based upon a principle of washing discovered half a century ago and followed successfully ever since.

NOTES ALONG THE WAY.

A happy group of Northville people numbering thirty-seven left the village Saturday for Detroit to go on a train trip to the Grand Canyon for vacation for the duration of the deer season.

The annual Senior pilgrimage set off from the old Federal Capital and the many places of interest to be visited on the American tour. It was a merry trip, a table with its unique flavor of the participants joined in company of young men and women with just enough of the old residents to give the group a little ballast.

All were glad they were on the road again, for which they had longed faithfully, and the editor of the press was proud to be numbered among the vacationists. They young people from all over the country had come to see what the exchange of the two forests in the Charter to the two national parks awaited them.

Our first stop after leaving town on our regular Pullman train was at Harper's Ferry, where we stopped for a few hours. It was then the Federated Service Club, which was then in session, and the members were receiving a hearty welcome.

The editor of the club, Mr. Edward Hagle, introduced Mr. Edward Colgate, the pianist both of the Pullman Club and the Royalton Hotel, who was a member of the Royalton Club, acting as toastmaster, introduced Mr.

John R. Brown, the president of the Northville Exchange Club, to the members of the club, who responded with a hearty round of applause.

After a short time the members returned home, and the editor received a few words of advice from the spokesman.

Both of them replied with a blue smile, and the editor said, "I hope you will be successful in your endeavor to make the club a success."

After a short time the editor left the club, and the members were soon gathered around the piano.

Sunbonnets and Prue

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(Copyright)

THOMAS DEMEREST was one of those very silent young men who speak only when they have something to say, and his frequent lapses into silence had annoyed the eldest Miss Raymond to the degree of despatch. After an hour in his company Nell Raymond usually declared exhaustion.

"What can be so interesting about all the time?" she asked, her assembled family when their neighbor at Ashley had come home across the fields.

"Wondering whether your red hair really is an indication of temper, perhaps," grinned her brother Dick.

"Not exactly." Of course he isn't interested in me," she said. "I really have tried him on every subject under the sun and the only thing he talks about much is the country and farming, and you know how I hate that. Most men are interested in the sea, and I even confided to him my engagement to a naval officer stationed in the Far East, and after a few polite inquiries and murmured congratulations, he asked a question."

"Tell me why he said—quick—the suspense is terrible," groaned Dick.

"He asked, 'Why does your sister always wear a sunbonnet?'" She laughed and Prudence smiled.

"The dear ugly old thing," she commented.

"How do you know? You never met him."

"He is fascinatingly horrid," said Prue, "what did you tell him about my sunbonnets?"

"I told him you had a delicate skin," said honest Nell.

Dick was holding the door open for his mother. "Very likely Tom believed one of three reasons—that you had ruined your skin with cosmetics that you had dyed your hair and were letting it grow out in its natural color."

"Pooh!" sniffed Prudence as she followed her mother. "I am going to the garden to pick you some roses, mother—the campania roses are in bloom."

"Be sure to put on your sunbonnet dear," cautioned Mrs. Raymond as she went into her own room for it again.

"Exit the girl, dozing, with the dyed hair and the faint skin," called Dick, running for his bicycle and instead of his father's bark in the town square fell upon the Raymond place.

The stillness of a June day, when birds sing, Polk Raymond walks along or swimming, and flower borders like Pruden's seemed the gaudy life in adoring her bending first over one and then at the blossom, smiting the sweethearts in the plainest flower. Nell and her mother were upstairs, and in the distant kitchen, Mrs. Ely was spinning clothes for the next day's laundry.

Prue and the bees and birds had the garden to themselves. Among the roses, where the strawberries seemed to grow and ripen, the yellow flowers were very dear.

A sweet sign of preyness, "Prue, blue-bellied, bent over the small campania roses, and her bright blue eyes was like a bit of blue and stars set in the garden gardens, swaying the roses, the trees, and the sound of birds. They were very dear.

She did not turn, content first.

"This will Dick," said Prue, "you are not a good boy?"

He had drawn a job from some seed corn, and was trying to get the ends of the stalks to grow up, but he failed.

He had not been there long when Dick was in the back by the old wooden fence, and sat down, so as only the top of his head was visible to the watchful turned eyes whose brown eyes blazed and whose lips twirled to smile but did not.

"Thank you," he said at last. "I should not have trespassed—no, no. I will keep the flower, if you go no farther, Miss Raymond! I will promise not to intrude again without an invitation. I am Tom Demerest from next door."

"How do you do?" said Prudence quite properly. "I have heard no family speak about you. Do you think we are going to like Asbury?" She jerked her sunbonnet down and snipped at the roses in a heedless way.

"It's just the place I'm going to—now—you may have heard that I am a farmer."

"Done you to a tee?" she asked, enviously.

"Is that an epithet?" he asked.

Prue threw back her head and the blue sunbonnet dropped off, disclosing the most beautiful hair he had ever seen! The blue eyes looked at the blue sky in vain and came back reproachfully to the admiring satisfied brown ones.

"I just had a feeling you were mighty good to look at, Miss Prudence," he had the impudence to say.

But Prue, pink with wrath, retired within her blue bonnet, and it was not until he had talked unceasingly for half an hour, apologizing and humbling himself, that at last she told him that he could keep the rosebush.

That evening Nell put her arms around her sister. "Darling, I am thrilled! How did you make that boy talk? I heard the rumble of his voice for hours."

"But the secret was such a sweet one that he could only think and share her secret."

SIX HARDY ALFALFA SEED FOR MICHIGAN

Experiments at the Michigan Experiment station and experience of farmers over the state has shown that the planting of unadapted alfalfa seed in the state has been one of the main causes of alfalfa failures, according to Prof. J. F. Cox, head of the M. S. Crop department.

The tests have shown, Hardigan, Grimm, Cossack, and Ontario varieties to be winter hardy in Michigan and well adapted. A few common strains also give fair yields under favorable conditions.

Argent, Compton, Hairy, Persian and other southwestern strains and the strains imported from Argentina, South America, and South Africa are mentioned as entirely unsatisfactory for Michigan conditions because of their lack of winter hardiness and inability to yield.

Our display of Overstuffed and Fiber Furniture for the parlor and living room would do credit to any city store—no city store is showing a better line of these goods, because they are not made—and if you will compare our prices you will find we are considerably lower than any store in this section of the state.

Our display of Rugs and Floor Coverings has never been so attractive as it is this season because we have never had room to display our stock just as we desired to. Now we have the room and the stock and we are able to show you just how your Rug will look in your home.

TURKEY PLANS ON BIG FARMS

Republic Will Make Agriculture a Science.

Constantinople.—The Turkish public is going in for agriculture on a scale the like of which the country previously has never witnessed.

Recognizing the principle that there can be no enduring prosperity in a land of oppression and unwilling producers, the government has made many changes, including contributions taken under which the peasants estimated value of which is $250,000, has been turned into a source of revenue by the Ottoman government, which has fixed it at 10 per cent. of the State's trade in oilseed.

The regular collection represents the compensation for the use of different kinds of land, and the land divided to the people. When the land is divided, the peasant went to the authorities which took one tenth of it upon itself.

To help the poor, the expert managers of the Bureau of Education have established 1,500 technical schools for which there were 2,000 applicants this year, and also is sending students to farm colleges in Europe and America.

The Department of Agriculture is encouraging scientific farming through the dissemination of information, distribution of seeds and institution of tractors and other modern machinery. It has elaborated upon a program to extend over the next ten years for the intended production of tobacco and the "three whites" of Turkey—cotton, sugar and wheat.

As for President Kemal, he is so keenly interested in the development that he is running an experimental farm of his own on the outskirts of Ankara.

OIL KING AT PLAY

Patrolmen Save a Woman After Leap Into River

New York.—One hundred and eight pounds clutched as it was when she grasped a woman, about fifty-five years old, plunged from the bridge of the following, Larchmont & Westchester, ferry ship at Twenty-third street into the Hudson River.

A strong in the water room saw the woman disappear in the six or seven feet. An unidentified young man sprang to the rescue. As the crowd watched, he dived and brought the woman to the surface.

Patrolmen Young and Morrison lowered a ladder into the ship, but found it was three feet too short. As the watchers cheered, Morrison held Young by the ankles and swung him down until his hands grasped those of the rescuer.

Aided by several men, Morrison and Young hauled the two ashore. The rescuer shivered a few seconds, shivered his shoulders and disappeared before police could learn his name. The woman, identified as Mary Regan, fifty-five, unemployed and homeless, was taken to Bellevue Hospital to be treated for submersion.

Young Men of Pennsylvania Town Losing Their Hair

Kingston, Pa.—A strange malady which so far has defied diagnosis by physicians and scalp experts is rapidly spreading the heads of the town's young men of hair.

According to a local newspaper physician at a meeting here announced that they had received more than 300 applications for treatment for premature baldness from men ranging in age from nineteen to thirty in the past two weeks.

Young Men of Pennsylvania

Town Losing Their Hair

Bellmore, Ohio.—After being imprisoned in the Webb mine for 13 days without food and water, three horses and a mule, forgotten, while efforts were made to recover the bodies of nine miners who lost their lives in an explosion, were led from their living tomb and treated to fresh air and sustenance. There was great rejoicing among the townspeople and miners when the faithful animals were reported safe.

RUSSIAN PEASANTS FLOCK TO SEE GEMS

Gaze in Wonder at $250,000 Collection.

Moscow.—Russian workers and peasants are flocking by the scores, thousands to enjoy the dazzling splendor of the crown jewels of the Romanoffs, now the property of every poor citizen of the Communist republic. This collection of gems, the estimated value of which is $250,000, has been turned into a source of revenue by the Ottoman government, which has fixed it at 10 per cent. of the State's trade in oilseed.

The regular collection represents the compensation for the use of different kinds of land, and the land divided to the people.

The figures so stated are based on the basis of the seven percent tax on land. The owners who claim tax-exempt land may use the property as a series, have it secured for export and the land divided to the people. When the land is divided, the peasant goes to the authorities which take one tenth of it upon itself.

GOVERNMENT APPROPRIATES TWO MILLION FOR EXPOSITION.

President Coolidge has signed the bill which appropriates $2,185,500 to defray the expenses of governmental participation in the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition to be held at Philadelphia, June 1 to December 1. The bill had previously been approved by the Senate and the House.

Secretary of State Kellogg and Secretary of Commerce Hoover, comprising the federal Sesqui-Centennial commission will appoint a commissioner to direct the government's participation in the gigantic international exposition.

On the newly appointed commission will devolve the necessity of getting the departmental exhibits allocated. Of the $2,185,500, $1,000,000 will be used toward a building program at the exposition.

Most of the federal departments are ready to proceed with the installation of their exhibits as soon as the new commissioner designates their spaces and the amount of money to be allocated to each department.

In all probability, the Army-Navy exhibits will be ready first, as the congressional appropriation specifically set aside $350,000 for the Navy of which amount $250,000 is to be used for rehabilitating the Philadelphia navy yard, part of which is in the exterior grounds. The amounts to be given the other departments will be designated by the new commissioner. The cost of the exposition will exceed $24,000,000, of which the city of Philadelphia is paying nearly $12,000,000.

GENERAL MOTORS' TESTING GROUNDS ARE NEAR MILFORD.

Tucked away in the rolling hills of Oakland County near Milford, is the most unique automobile testing laboratory in the world. It is the proving ground of General Motors, and its 1,125 acres constitute one of the business nerve centers in the immense corporation.

Day and night through fair weather and storm, an engineering staff runs up a total of nearly 250,000 miles a month testing automobiles for one purpose—to obtain facts about the cars of today that heretofore have been little more than opinions and speculations. To be sure, engineers test by laboratory tests, but never proved beyond possibility of doubt by actual road performance.

Will a car climb a steep grade in high gear?

Will it hold the road nicely at that speed or turn over at gravel asphalt an acre?

Will the front wheel brakes stop it safely on any type of surface and how far? With these stops, how much pressure must the driver use to make them hold?

These and a hundred other questions that are of vital importance to the motor car owner and engineer alike, are answered by the skilled group of engineers whose only watchword is "Get the facts."

That they may get the facts of a car's performance and that these may be scientifically accurate, the 12½ miles of highway in the proving ground include virtually every type of road from dirt to concrete, hills whose grades range from 7.6 to 24 per cent and a perfect flat concrete straightaway nearly a mile and a half long. The grades are acute to a tenth of one per cent. Not content with the knowledge that their straightaway is perfectly level, the engineering tests carried out on it are run in both directions and averaged to eliminate any factor of error caused by the wind.

These engineering tests cover acceleration, deceleration, rolling friction, smooth road riding qualities, fuel economy, at various fixed speeds as well as at maximum and minimum speeds and other similar performance factors.

A four-mile speed loop with banked turns safe for a 65-mile-an-hour clip and a hill road with grades running as high as 21 and 24 per cent are utilized for endurance runs. For endurance is brought out under sustained speed lugging a trailer has been devised that when towed by the car under test can exert a constant pleasant surprise, surprised by 75 of their

SNAPS FISH AT HOME IN OCEAN.

Bartsch Tells Experience Off

Florida Coast.

Washington, the ocean floor, the world's last great unexplored region, will soon have its secrets revealed by motion pictures, according to Dr. Paul Bartsch of the United States National Museum, who has made an underwater cinema hunt for fishes among the coral groves off the coast of Florida.

With his specially constructed waterproof camera he secured hundreds of feet of records of submarine life and spent as much as five and a half hours at a time walking about the sea bottom, 20 feet below the surface.

It is at this comparatively shallow depth, he says, that life is most varied and abundant, since the corals and other sea animals build in the teeth of the breakers, where the back-and-forward flow of the water brings fresh supplies of the microscopic plants and animals which form their food. However, next season he plans to descend to greater depths with another camera better adapted to catch the slowly moving fish as they slide out of the blue breeze which hits the coral columns of their submarine retreats.

The camera man in his diving helmet has little to fear. Doctor Bartsch secures in the diving these underwater regions. Sharks are sometimes seen to him, but adds that sharks are not gentlemen. In taking his scenes, and, however, when he first saw that terror of the coast, the barracuda, instead of leveling his camera, he instinctively snatched up his tripod and prepared to battle for his life as the big fish swam around him, until curious at the diver's bubbles, risked his diving helmet. The next day Doctor Bartsch so far conquered his instinctive fear of this fish as to secure a good picture of two barracudas as they circled around him.

Horse in Roosevelt.

Statue Starts Criticism

Portland, Ore.—Goldsmyre voted by

Gov. West, ex-governor and well known horse lover that this is to be well presented to the country, statue presented to the city by Dr. Harry Waldo Co., found some opposition among horsemen.

The question of the horse's appearance and picturesqueness of its pose, however, was not regarded as particularly objectionable.

It is open to attack by either art critics or horsemen who rallied prominently against the support of a millionaire sculptor, as a work of art.

In short, the only real point in the structure leveled at the statue by Mr. West is borne out by other art critics.

Is that the choice of the type of steed was unusual rather than un-artistic or unnatural?

Miss McDougal, president of the Portland Hunt Club and authority on horses, supported the opinion of those who regard the type of horse chosen for Roosevelt as unfortunate.

However, Mr. McDougal criticized in the name terms the steed suggested by Mr. West, saying he was prepared to stand the five-gated horses mentioned by Mr. West as rather unsuited to the strenuous horsemanship

PROPOSES NATIONAL PROHIBITION POLL

Senator Edge Demands Referendum on Issue in November, 1928.

Washington.—Prohibition is to be given a public airing before a Senate committee the two weeks beginning April 5. This was determined by the Senate Judiciary Committee, which agreed with only a single dissenting vote the motion recommended by its subcommittee of five for hearings on pending measures for modification. The first week will be reserved for presentation of arguments from witnesses, the second week's set aside Washington.—The House Agriculture Committee for modifications of the Volstead Act will be seated Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in its temporary quarters in which the House is in session. The committee will be presided over by Senator Charles L. Faust of New Jersey, who has appointed a subcommittee of his present members to confer with the Senate Select Committee on Prohibition on the subject of the proposed amendment.

Washington.—A practicable plan to give the American people their first opportunity to express themselves on national prohibition at the polls in the general election of November, 1928, was proposed in the Senate by Senator Walter Edge of New Jersey, leader of the wet forces in Congress. A joint resolution, sponsored by Edge, which would require approval of the Senate and House and signature of the President, arrived in detail the motion to hold a national referendum or modification of the prohibition law. Since the bill would be taken in connection with the presidential and congressional elections, it is held it would be best to wait until the next election to submit the question to the voters. The resolution was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The resolution, incidentally, provides that the committee be held in both houses to make a full investigation and report on the proposed modification of the laws that govern under the present national prohibition.

Opposition to Congress around the national prohibition act is far below the administration side, though there is still opposition to the proposal of national prohibition as it has failed to get the Constitution ratified and such opponents shall not interfere with the constitutional powers of the several states to legislate with respect to intoxicating liquors as each state may deem proper?

The resolution was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

A military guard of honor for the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington cemetery has been ordered by Secretary Davis of the War department, and will take its station there within a few days.

Senators McKinley (Rep., Ill.) and Levee (Wis.) have announced that they will lead a fight against the reduction of appropriations for the elimination of bovine tuberculosis, as proposed in the conference committee report submitted to the Senate and the house.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO TEST SOIL SAMPLES

An interesting soil fertility train, sponsored by the soils department of the Michigan State College and by county extension services, will run through many counties of southern Michigan during April. Greater interest in soil fertility maintenance will be the chief aim of the train. An opportunity will be given farmers along the route of the special to have samples of their soil tested, and to consult with specialists on various soil problems. Rules for selecting soil samples to be brought to the train have been issued by the college soils department. These rules point out the need of taking samples from the different sections which show soil variation on the same farm. They tell how to take soil samples and emphasize the need of being careful not to mix samples from different varieties and the value of clear containers for the samples.

Detailed strategy for the stops the train will make will make it an easy task for the farmer to follow.

Thousands of farmers will have the chance to take their soils samples to the novel place.

What My Neighbor Says
Is of Interest to Northville Farmers
When one has had the misfortune to suffer from backache, headaches, dizziness, urinary disorders and other ills, he has found relief from all this sickness and suffering than the person's advice is of infinite value to friends and neighbors. The following case is only one of many thousands that is in the care of a Northville resident who would ask for a better example? James W. Karor, retired farmer, says: "Now and then I feel myself and usually bring a sample with me back to Mr. Karr and constantly find in him a good doctor regularly. I went to him about a year ago and got him to look at the trouble. Statement made April 14, 1921.

As a result of his treatment I am now in excellent health and am able to work and go about my business without any trouble."

SHOULD RE-ELECT SUPERVISOR

W. H. YERKES.

The electors of Northville township should make it their personal business to elect Supervisor W. H. Yerkes to succeed himself. Mr. Yerkes has had experience on the board of supervisors, a member of the most important committee of that body and is held in high esteem by his co-workers on the board. He is not only entitled to re-election because of his good record, but as a matter of business it would be a great mistake to make any change at this time. There are now four or five highway projects that are centering about Northville and in all of these our people born in the township and the village are deeply interested. Naturally, with his acquaintance, Mr. Yerkes can be of greater assistance in putting these projects across than a new man.

It was Lincoln who once said, "It is not a good policy to trade horses in the middle of a stream." The new highway projects which are headed this way need the assistance of experienced men.

WARN OF SEED CORN SHORTAGE IN STATE.

Urging Michigan farmers to test their seed corn carefully this spring and to conserve available stocks, crop specialists at the Michigan State College are sending out warnings that good seed for the crop is scarce this year.

Wet weather and early freezes last fall resulted in lowered germinating power for much of the state crop of seed corn. Tests carried out by the seed corn department at the Michigan State College have shown this condition to exist even in many stocks thought to be in good condition.

Corn for 1926 is regarded as seed corn and J. F. Conhead, head of the college crop department, compares with those of the past four years. The same situation is expected to exist again this year. Self-sown stocks are also a factor.

Full information concerning seed corn is contained in the report of the Michigan Crop Surveyor, R. S. Sharpen, of the Michigan Experiment Station, Lansing.

WAYNE COUNTY SCHOOLS PENANT WINNERS.

Four of the schools in Wayne county are penant winners in the first tournament of the Modern Health Crusade for the school years 1925-26. The tournament consists of a twelve weeks' wrestling, with health chores on the part of small jousters. The health chores comprise both things to be done and things to refrain from doing; one chore consists of abstaining from tea and coffee, while another consists of drinking milk three times daily. Children in localities where there is a large foreign population find the tea and coffee chore hard to perform. For American children, the sleep chore, ten hours of sleep each night, windows open, is sometimes hard.

The pennants are awarded by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association to those schools in which every pupil in the entire school does every week 54 or more health chores. Four Wayne county schools were enrolled in the tournament. The list of winning school together with the names of the teachers follows: Teachers, Mae Quigley, Vida Wilson Whitney, Gertrude Frieke and Miss Giese. Schools, Samson and Liberty.

Among Our Neighbors.

Work has commenced on the building of a combination store, garage and apartment house at Farmington Junction to take the place of the "Pig and Whistle" which was destroyed by fire last fall.

Two loose joints near Milford were raided, by deputy sheriffs and in both places a large quantity of whiskey and wine were found.

Robbers broke into the home of Miss Mary Hurley on Grand River road near Kensington while she was spending the winter with her son in Highland Park. A Brighton man who went there on business found the lock and casement on the back door broken, the house in great disorder and several of the furnishings removed.

Holyoke School is giving a three day art exhibit and among the artists represented is the late Mr. Harry Eaton who married Silva Baird of Holly and lived there for a time. Many of his best known paintings have scenery in that vicinity at their subject.

Heavy rains caused the collapse of the balcony building in Holly, a section of which fell on the rear wall and roof of the Liberty Theatre, utterly wrecking the silver screen and doing considerable other damage.

Harry C. Robinson was re-elected president of the village commission in Plymouth.

Redford schools won the first prize of twenty-five dollars in the third annual Music Memory Contest held at Orchestra Hall in Detroit for the Detroit public, parochial and suburban schools. Plymouth received the second award of ten dollars.

The United Lumber & Supply Company at South Lyon has put up this sign in its yards for all passers-by to see: "This is South Lyon, Michigan, Oakland County. Where Life is Worth Living."

Boys from every town in Livingston County attended the Olden Boys Conference held in Pickleev and several excellent speakers made it well worth the time spent there.

Lewis B. Langs of Livingson, affectionately known to his friends there as "Dad" passed away very suddenly within a few days of his seventieth birthday for which he had been planning elaborate celebration. The James S. Hassberger chapter of the Order of DeMolay at Birmingham gave a "Masonic Son" banquet which proved so successful that they hope to make it an annual event.

High water in Lake Orion had been causing much trouble in that district. Ceilors in many of the houses being full and flats of Flat Creek have the highest water in the past five years.

The Chamber of Commerce at Eaton

Rapids offered prizes to the three best dressed windows for Easter week. The Munro band made its first appearance for the year and the merchants gave a prize to some visitor in their stores on the night of March 31st.

AMERICAN FOREST WEEK.

President Coolidge has designated April 18-24 inclusive as the 1926 American Forest Week. The president in his annual forestry proclamation, while giving full weight to the evils resulting from impoverished forests and idle land, laid stress upon the increased attention being given to scientific forestry in industrial practice and land usage. An international aspect to this year's American Forest Week is furnished by the president's reference to the action of the Canadian government, which likewise issued a proclamation designating Canada's annual forest week for April 18-24, thus uniting the efforts of the two countries.

WHAT PRICE GLORY, AT THE GARRICK THEATRE.

"What Price Glory," the sensational war comedy by Lawrence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson, the former responsible for "The Big Parade," will enter its third and last week at the Garrick Theatre Detroit, next Sunday night, April 11th.

Countless stories have been circulated regarding this play of the great war which reflects the life and spirit of the boys under fire in dug-outs and "on leave." Perhaps some of them are true, and many undoubtedly exaggerated, but the fact remains that "What Price Glory?" has received commendable notice from the clergy, from educators, the press and the public. Seldom has the capacity of the Garrick been taxed to the extent of the past two weeks and the audience is composed of people from all walks of life.

MOVIE CAMERA AS HELP TO JUSTICE

Detroit Court Brings Solomon Up-to-Date.

Detroit, Mich.—King Solomon's methods revamped for the movies were adopted by Circuit Judge Vincent M. Brennan as a means of aiding him in deciding to which of two names he should award a three-year-old girl instead of threatening to dismember the child with a sword.

Judge Brennan announced he would award the child to neither Mrs. Julia Przybyla, natural mother of baby Irene, nor Mrs. Irene Goosen, her foster mother, formerly Mrs. Przybyla's sister-in-law.

Instead, he told the women, the child would be placed in an institution.

At the very instant he made this statement, a moving picture operator stationed behind the judge's chair trained his camera on the two women.

Judge Brennan said he would employ pay fotografos to aid him in studying the film, and he would award the child to the claimant whose features showed the greatest grief.

As the movie lights were flashed on, Mrs. Goosen burst into tears and, bending over, clasped the child in her arms. Mrs. Przybyla made no demonstration.

Thrive on Spaghetti

Hoboken, N. J.—Too poor to live?

Fanny, Frances and Jake Ferrell, fourteen-month-old triplets, sat up at the table and snickered over their spaghetti. They made no comment on their extraordinary "gain in health" and, poundage since the night 14 months ago when doctors doubted the three puny babies would live, Frances and Jake can walk now, and Fanny is learning to walk, but her weight is a handicap.

The youngsters are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferrell. New Year's day they paid their first visit to New York city, stopping to eat spaghetti and other adult delicacies with an uncle residing, Mr. and Mrs. Giovanni Costa, at their home in lower Manhattan.

Fanny, who weighed three and a quarter pounds when she was born, is also the strongest of the three.

She has added 16 pounds to her original size, and Frances, who started out at four and three-quarters, has gained 20.

They have not been brought up exclusively on spaghetti but they eat a lot of it and bread, according to their parents, since they were weaned from the bottle four months ago.

Miss Myrtle Wallach of New York City probably has the longest hair in the eastern states, and caring for it has become so burdensome to her that she wants to bob it. But Mr. Wallach is afraid of his wife's feelings and will not permit her to have them cut.

Diet Tests to Find

Teeth Decay Cause

Baltimore, Md.—Johns Hopkins specialists are conducting experiments which they believe will have a profound influence on the breakfast table or the nation.

They are seeking the cause of decay of the teeth. Through the feeding of rats in a laboratory, Dr. Clarence J. Grieve already has determined that diet is one of the chief factors of decay, but the fundamental reason still is unknown.

No one knows what is the chemical or other agency which first breaks through the enamel and starts the trouble. If it is a chemical, it is not known whether it is taken into the mouth from the outside produced by a germ or is a product of the body itself.

Three Creatures

Some of the islands off the coast of New Zealand are the home of curious creatures known as tuatara, which are supposed to be the oldest living type of animal. They are distinguished by a queer organ on the top of the head, known as the pineal gland, which is in reality a third eye.

BACK TO FRANCE IN THE YEAR 1927.

"Back to France in 1927," is the slogan of the American Legion when the Second A. E. F. will invade the country where the big battles of the World War were fought. The American Legion will hold its 1927 national convention in Paris, and at the same time the veterans of the World War will re-visit the battle fields and the scenes of their triumph in 1917 and 1918.

Alton Roberts of Marquette, Michigan, a member of the "Michigan France" national committee says that everything is being done to give the veterans the best time of their lives, and arrangements have been made with a number of banks throughout Michigan where members of the American Legion can save from $3.00 to $10.00 a week for the next one hundred weeks so they will have money enough to pay all expenses to France and back again. The National Bank of Commerce, Detroit, has been named as the depository for the War and County members of the Legion. One of the stipulations the steamship companies have required of the Legion is that no veteran will be sold a reduced rate ticket to France and back again unless he is a member of some American Legion post in 1926 and 1927, and the women have to be members of the American Legion Auxiliary for the same two years. No person can pay two years dues in the Legion in 1927 and receive the reduced rate accommodations. Those contemplating making the trip will have to join the Legion during 1926, if they are not already a member, and pay his dues for that year.

Joseph Herbert, state commander of the Legion has endorsed the plan as prepared by the national "Back to France" committee, and he urges every World War veteran in Michigan to sign up with some post in the state so that he will be eligible to receive the reduced rates to France in 1927. There is an American Legion post in nearly every town and city in Michigan. Commander Herbert says that the officers in the Michigan posts have been requested to see that every veteran living in the various communities has an opportunity to take advantage of the reduced rates to France by becoming a member of the Legion and paying his dues for 1926.

MICHIGAN MAN MADE GOOD BY C.R.

Frank Harrison of Grand Rapids was probably Michigan's most valuable basketball player during the season just ended. His tabulations for the season show that he played 400 minutes in 12 conference games and made 110 points, jumping big "Ten" points. He started it in Peoria 22 out of 36 free throws and during the last four games had a perfect free throw average. Captain-elect Eddie Chapman of Niles was second with 32 points, but with a free throw record of only 10 out of a possible 41. Captain Dick Doyle, Glendale, made 82 points for his team during the season and made 16 out of 39 free throws.
